This magazine is published bi-monthly by the University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, Ind. Entered as second class matter Oct. 1, 1939, at the Post Office, Notre Dame, Ind. under the act of Aug. 24, 1912.

The reappointment of Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., as president of the University was announced April 26 by Rev. Theodore J. Mehling, C.S.C., provincial superior of the Holy Cross Fathers.

Father Hesburgh has been serving as Notre Dame president and religious superior of the Holy Cross priests and Brothers associated with the University since 1952. He will relinquish the latter post in June, Father Mehling explained, since religious superiors are limited to a maximum term of six years by canon law. A new religious superior for Notre Dame will be announced later, Father Mehling said.

In addition to his many responsibilities as the head of one of America's major universities, Father Hesburgh also holds several important posts in the world of public affairs. He is a member of the Civil Rights Commission and the National Science Board. He is also permanent Vatican City representative to the International Atomic Energy Agency.

Father Hesburgh became sixteenth president of Notre Dame at the age of thirty-five in June, 1952. During the first six years of his administration the University has experienced one of its greatest periods of physical growth and internal academic development. Twelve campus buildings have been dedicated during the six-year period and new curricula have been established in the Notre Dame Law School and the undergraduate liberal arts and commerce schools. A comprehensive self-study has also been completed in the College of Engineering.

Fr. Hesburgh Reappointed President of Notre Dame

Will Relinquish Post As Religious Superior

Faculty salaries have increased substantially in recent years and a number of internationally recognized scholars and artists have been added to the faculty under Notre Dame's Distinguished Professors Program. Father Hesburgh has encouraged a marked development of student government on the campus. There has also been a steady increase in the number of fellowships awarded to graduating seniors. Eighteen Notre Dame students received Woodrow Wilson National Fellowships this year, the fifth largest group in the nation.

Last March Father Hesburgh announced a $66,600,000 development program geared "to consolidate and further Notre Dame's academic excellence during the next ten years." The long-range plan includes $27,000,000 in endowment for increased faculty salaries, $18,600,000 for buildings, $11,000,000 for research, $5,000,000 for student aid, and $5,000,000 for administrative purposes. The University recently completed a development program launched in 1947, exceeding its ten-year goal of $25,000,000 by more than $2,000,000.

Prior to becoming Notre Dame's president in 1952, Father Hesburgh served for three years as executive vice-president of the University. During 1948-49 he was head of the religion department. He is the author of God and the World of Man, a widely used college text, and his Patterns for Educational Growth has just been published by the University of Notre Dame Press.

Father Hesburgh, who will be 41 on May 25, is a native of Syracuse, N. Y., where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bernard Hesburgh, still reside. He was educated at Notre Dame and at the Gregorian University in Rome which awarded him a bachelor of philosophy degree in 1939. He was ordained to the priesthood on June 24, 1943, in Sacred Heart Church on the Notre Dame campus. In 1945 he received the degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology from the Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C. He holds honorary degrees from Bradley University, LeMoyne College and the Catholic University of Santiago, Chile.

In addition to his membership on the Civil Rights Commission and the National Science Board, Father Hesburgh holds a number of other influential posts in the world of education, science and public affairs. He is a member of the Secretary of the Navy's newly-formed Advisory Board on Scientific Education and is a former member and president of the Board of Visitors at the U. S. Naval Academy.

Father Hesburgh is a director and member of the over-all panel of the Special Studies Project of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund. He is a member of the Policy Advisory Board of the Argonne National Library and a director of the Midwest Universities Research Association, a non-profit corporation formed by fifteen Midwest educational institutions to conduct nuclear research.

Notre Dame's president is a director and former vice president of the Institute of International Education. He is also a director of the National Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Corporation, the Freedoms Foundation, the Nutrition Foundation and the Foundation for Religious Action in the Social and Civic Order.

Father Hesburgh has just completed terms of service on the Ford Motor Company and General Motors Corporation scholarship boards. His other memberships and affiliations have included the Commission on Instruction and Evaluation of the American Council on Education; the Commission on Christian Higher Education of the Association of American Colleges; the Committee on Professional Accrediting Problems of the North Central Association.

Goglia Appointed Engineering Dean

The appointment of Dr. Mario J. Goglia as dean of the College of Engineering at Notre Dame was announced April 2.

Dr. Goglia, who will assume his new duties July 1, has been serving as Regents' Professor of Mechanical Engineering at the Georgia Institute of Technology, Atlanta. He succeeds Dean Karl E. Schoenherr who leaves Notre Dame at the end of the current school year to become technical director of the hydromechanics laboratory at the Navy's David Taylor Model Basin, Carderock, Maryland.

A specialist in thermodynamics and co-author of a text on the subject, Goglia joined the Georgia Tech faculty in 1948 after receiving his doctorate from Purdue University, West Lafayette, Ind. He taught mechanical engineering at Purdue during 1947-48 and at the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana, from 1938 to 1946. The 42-year-old engineering educator received the Naval Ordnance Award for his World War II research in the munitions development laboratories at Illinois.

Currently Dr. Goglia is a consultant to the K-25 technical division of the Union Carbide Nuclear Co., Oak Ridge, Tenn., and to the Redstone Arsenal Research Division of Rohm and Haas. One of his current research projects is concerned with the thermal diffusivity of rocket propellants. He has been a frequent contributor to professional engineering journals.

Dr. Goglia was elevated to the post of Regents' Professor by the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia in 1955. In addition to his teaching and his work as a research associate at Georgia Tech's Engineering Experiment Station, he has served on several Institute committees including the Committee on Educational Aims and Objectives, the Graduate Council, the Administrative Council, the Nuclear Energy Committee and the Cur-

John Mohardt, '22, Gipp Teammate, Wins Plaudits as VA Surgery Chief

Early in April it was announced that Dr. John H. Mohardt, '22, had been appointed assistant director of the Veterans Administration's surgical service in Washington, D. C. This is only another step in the remarkable career of the former halfback star for Notre Dame and the Chicago Bears, who seems to have achieved distinction after distinction as a surgeon in the hardest possible way.

John, who graduated with honors as a Notre Dame pre-med, used his earn-riculum Committee. He has also served as faculty advisor to a number of Georgia Tech student organizations including the campus chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Tau Beta Pi, Pi Tau Sigma and the Newman Club.

Notre Dame's new engineering dean is a member and former chairman of the Atlanta section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He is chairman of two of the ASME's national committees — the Heat Transfer Division Committee on Theory and Fundamental Research and the Instruments and Regulators Division Education Committee. He is a member of the inspection committee of the Engineers' Council for Professional Development, Region IV, and has been vice president of the Pi Tau Sigma National Council since 1953.

A registered professional engineer, Dr. Goglia is also a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. His other affiliations include the American Society for Engineering Education, Pi Mu Epsilon, Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Phi and Tau Beta Pi. In 1953 he was chosen by TIME and the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce as one of Atlanta's "100 Leaders of Tomorrow."

Born in Hoboken, N. J., Goglia studied at the Stevens Institute of Technology there, receiving the mechanical engineering and master of science degrees in 1937 and 1941 respectively. While teaching at the University of Illinois he married the former Juanita Dixon of Aledo, Ill., in 1940. They have two children: David, 14, and Rozanne, 12.

ings as a pro football and semi-pro baseball player to finance a three-year course at Northwestern's medical school.

George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears, said: "Mohardt was a man with a mission. He dedicated himself to the medical profession soon after he joined the Bears in the Twenties and never wavered. The Chicago Bears are proud of John Mohardt."

Born in Gary, Indiana, to a family of extremely modest means, Johnny showed his athletic prowess as a high school star in football, baseball and track. At Notre Dame he played under the late Knute K. Rockne and shared backfield honors with George Gipp. In his three-year collegiate career the Irish suffered only one loss, "a heart-breaker," John recalls, to Iowa, 10-7, in 1921.

John started his pro football career with the Chicago Cardinals, switching to the Bears and finishing as a playing coach of the old Chicago Bulls. A teammate of Red Grange, he says: "I guess I was the only player who had the pleasure of blocking for both Gipp and Grange."

After serving his internship at Mercy Hospital in Chicago, the young surgeon was appointed to the world-famed Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota, on a fellowship. He returned to Chicago in 1933 and set up private practice, followed by election to the College of Surgeons and appointments to the staffs of Northwestern's Rush Medical School, Mercy, Cook County, Wesley and Hines Hospitals.

Enlisting in the army at the opening of World War II in 1941, John served overseas in North Africa and Italy with the 12th General Hospital Unit. After his discharge as a lieutenant colonel he returned to private practice in Chicago.

In 1955 he accepted an appointment with the VA as chief surgeon of the veterans hospital at Fort Bayard, New Mexico, where he has served until the recent appointment to Washington.

Having met and married Dorothy Harrison while he was at Mayo in the Thirties, John is now the father of two children, Mona and John, and the grandfather of three.

Editorial Comments from your Alumni Secretary

Big is not a bad word.

Webster's first meaning is "strong, mighty." His second meaning is "large in size, bulk, extent." His third meaning is "pregnant, swelling, teeming." He says of the voice, "full and loud." His fifth meaning is "important, imposing." And his last meaning is "magnanimous."

James E. Armstrong

In working on Universal Notre Dame Night and on the new program of the Foundation in this significant year of 1958, I have received the impression that one of the hidden fears of our alumni is that Notre Dame is becoming big. And I think the fallacy of this fear is that it is interpreted only in the second meaning of Webster — large in size, bulk, extent.

Even this quality is not essentially bad. But it is not enough in itself. Football coaches will tell you that. Empty factories can prove it. Some universities are suffering from it.

What we want you to do is to interpret the whole definition when the concept is decried.

We want Notre Dame to be strong and mighty. We feel that when its physical plant and its faculty were much smaller, its student body much smaller, the purpose, the teaching and the courage of Notre Dame was strong and mighty. We know that in bygone years the athletic teams were strong and mighty when their organization, preparation and incentives were far less.

Notre Dame would not be properly big unless its classrooms and laboratories and residence halls were pregnant, swelling and teeming with the processes of life that join the knowledge of the past to the creative provisions for the future in the young minds of embryo leaders. And in the small gift, the modest evidence of faith, the little sacrifices that reflect themselves in the small gift, lie the seeds of desired bigness, just as the hands and the offerings of thousands went into the old cathedrals.

We want the voice of Notre Dame to be full and loud. Unless its voice can carry the truth which is the great heritage of its teaching into the many channels of the world which challenges this truth while it needs it most, much of its value and much of its purpose will be lost. This is an era when truth especially needs a voice that is full and loud. It is essential to the destiny of Notre Dame that its voice as a University be full and loud, and that in turn the voices of its thousands of alumni become full and loud amplifiers of this fundamental truth.

We want Notre Dame to be important and imposing. These will not come from the tangibles alone, from buildings and landscape. They must come, as Father Cavanaugh and Father Hesburgh have repeated over and over, from faculty and students and alumni who are important and imposing reflections of the proper pursuit of its great purpose as a University. Many of the parents of alumni foresaw the necessity of higher education for the important and imposing men of the future and lighted the fires of ambition and held out the incentives of effort to give you this education. From Father Sorin on, Notre Dame has sought important and imposing teachers to hasten and enlarge this process. Now you are being asked to prepare your own children for the more intensive demands that the progressive world makes on a man before he achieves important or imposing stature.

The last meaning is far from the least in significance — magnanimous. If Notre Dame is to retain the qualities of magnanimity that mark its whole history, the help to its students, the consideration for its faculty, the relations with its alumni in the increasing importance of this continuing tie, and to contribute generously to the whole development of Catholic education, Catholic culture, Catholic influence in this country, it can only seek those resources essential to the implementing of this traditional generosity.

So, to the small Club, to the small Class, to the small gift donor, look at this broad and real definition of bigness. You possess many of its real attributes. You will grow into others. You should be afraid of none.

—James E. Armstrong, Editor

These latter-day "minims" are all sons of Notre Dame alumni enrolled at Notre Dame Camp, Bankson Lake, Lawton, Michigan, operated and staffed by the Brothers of Holy Cross for boys age 9 to 14. Their busy day includes communal prayer, work and play, including daily Mass, study, crafts and competitive sports, plus riding, archery, hiking, boating and swimming. The first of three two-week sessions opens this year on June 29, and the third closes August 9. In the front row, left to right, are Gary Kohs, Ralph Staunton, Peter Haller, Curtis Kohs and Gerard Gausselein; behind them, left to right, are John Niezer, Charles Niezer, Dennis Humphrey, Terry Quinn and Walter Riley.

News of the NOTRE DAME LAW SCHOOL

SUPREME COURT

The "Role of the Supreme Court in the American Constitutional System" was the subject of a symposium at the Notre Dame Law School on April 18. Mr. David F. Maxwell of Philadelphia, immediate past president of the American Bar Association, presided. In ringing terms he called upon American lawyers to rally to the defense of the Supreme Court against irresponsible attacks.

In opening the Symposium, Dean O'Meara said:

"Criticism is helpful to the Supreme Court, as to other human institutions. The attacks upon the Court in the last years have nevertheless resulted in a serious situation, because the attackers have had the field pretty much to themselves. It is this situation which has called for our Symposium. Its purpose is to examine the function of the Supreme Court and the conditions under which it necessarily operates, and in this way to illuminate some of the far reaching questions involved.

"It is no part of our program to debate the merits or demerits of the decisions on which critics of the Court base their assaults upon it. Our concern is for the Supreme Court as an institution — for the Court as the ultimate guardian under the Constitution of the rights and liberties which have made America the promised land, for the Court as the chief spokesman for the Rule of Law in an increasingly lawless world."

The participants in the Symposium, in addition to Mr. Maxwell, were: Mr. Carl McGowan, a member of the Chicago firm of Ross & O'Keefe and General Counsel of the Chicago and North Western Railroad; Professor Robert A. Leflar of the University of Arkansas School of Law, formerly a member of the Supreme Court of that state; Dean Eugene V. Rostow of the Yale University Law School; and Professor Sheldon D. Elliott, Director of the Institute of Judicial Administration at New York University School of Law and Secretary of the American Bar Association's Section of Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar.

An editorial in the Philadelphia Daily News for April 19 applauds the Symposium. The editorial begins by observing that "all is not punts and passes and touchdowns at the University of Notre Dame." Then, after discussing the Symposium, it concludes as follows:

"'Cheer, cheer for Old Notre Dame' for becoming vocal about the attack on the Court. The bar in general has been much too silent."

LAW DAY IN U. S. A.

Law Day U. S. A. was observed jointly by the Notre Dame Law School and the St. Joseph County Bar Association with a dinner at the Indiana Club on May 1. Judge John S. Hastings of the United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit was the speaker. Students and faculty of the Schools were invited to attend a guests of the Association — a wonderful demonstration of interest and generosity on the part of the practicing bar.

In addition, the School arranged to present for the entire faculty and student body of the University the motion picture entitled "With Liberty and Justice For All." This was first produced on the Omnibus television program, with Joseph Welch as narrator. It tells the story of the great cases, beginning with Ex parte Milligan, in which the Supreme Court of the United States has upheld "the principle of guaranteed fundamental rights of individuals under the law" which President Eisenhower has described as "the heart and sinew of our nation." The film was shown twice, at 4:15 in the afternoon and again at 8:15 in the evening on May 1 — LAW DAY U. S. A.

LAW HONOR BANQUET

The president of the American Bar Association, Charles S. Rhyne of Washington, D. C., was the featured speaker at the Law Honor Banquet on May 10. This annual affair affords an opportunity to salute the members of the graduating class and, at the same time, to recognize the achievements of all members of the student body who have distinguished themselves in one way or another. Speakers in previous years include Robert F. Kennedy, Chief Counsel of the United States Senate's Select Committee on Improper Activities in the Labor or Management Field, and Justice Stanley F. Reed of the Supreme Court of the United States.

STUDENTS APPOINTED

Notre Dame is on the list of law schools which is visited annually by a representative of the Attorney General of the United States in connection with the Attorney General's Recruitment Program for Honor Law Graduates. Offers of employment, under this program, have been received by three members of this year's graduating class, namely, John F. Murray of Elmira, New York; Edward N. Denn of Utica, New York; and George A. Patterson of Miami, Florida. Mr. Murray, who ranks second in his class, has accepted; Mr. Patterson had a previous commitment to go to work for Uncle Sam as a lieutenant in the Army; Mr. Denn had already accepted appointment as law clerk for Judge Charles Fahy of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. Mr. Denn is Editor-in-Chief of the Notre Dame Lawyer and Mr. Patterson is Articles Editor. The Associate Editor, Mr. Eugene F. Wayne of Levittown, Pennsylvania, will be law clerk for Judge John Biggs, Jr. of the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit; the Managing Editor, Mr. John P. Callahan, Jr., of Chicago, will be law clerk for Judge Roger J. Kiley of the Appellate Court of Illinois.

FACULTY PROFILES

DEVERE T. PLUNKETT

Assistant Dean of the College of Arts and Letters

An associate professor in history, Devere Plunkett has served for several years as assistant dean of Arts and Letters. He has taught American history since graduation in 1930.

Born in 1907 in Cadillac, Michigan, son of Irish-Americans Alexander and Sarah Plunkett, both deceased, Professor Plunkett is the brother of the late Professor Donald Plunkett, who was head of the biology department at the time of his death last year. Known to friends and classmates as "Dev," he is secretary of the Class of '30 and conducts its column in the ALUMNUS.

Professor Plunkett obtained the degree of Master of Arts at Notre Dame in 1936 and pursued advanced studies at the University of Chicago in 1946-47. He is a member of the American Association of University Professors and the American Historical Association. An authority on U. S. constitutional history, he is the author of articles including a study of former Chief Justice Vinson in The Grail magazine.

During World War II he served as a captain in the U. S. Air Force training command. He is unmarried.

THOMAS T. MURPHY

Assistant Dean of the College of Commerce

Thomas Murphy, a faculty member since 1946, holds the rank of associate professor in the department of finance. Last year he succeeded Prof. Edmund A. Smith as assistant dean of Commerce.

A specialist in business finance, he has been on the teaching staff of the Program for Administrators since 1952 and was named director in 1955. Currently he is director of the Summer

Management Program for Notre Dame alumni, an extension of a program recently instituted for local business and industrial leaders.

Professor Murphy was awarded undergraduate and master's degrees by Boston University, has had advanced study at the University of Michigan and is a candidate for a doctorate at Notre Dame. He is also a graduate of the U. S. Naval War College, a former destroyer officer and a lieutenant commander in the U. S. Navy Reserve.

Prior to joining the Notre Dame faculty he taught at Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass., and Aquinas College, Grand Rapids, Mich., and served as a finance consultant to several firms. He is a member of the American Economic Association, the American Finance Association and the Indiana Academy of Social Sciences.

RAYMOND J. SCHUBMEHL

Assistant Dean of the College of Engineering

Professor Schubmehl has been with the faculty since 1922. Possessor of Bachelor and Master of Science degrees from the University, he is an associate professor of engineering mechanics.

He was born in Perkinsville, N. Y., in 1896, to William F. and Mary Schubmehl, now deceased, and served in the U. S. Navy in 1918-19 while still a student. In 1927 he married Natalie Smith of South Bend, now deceased. He has two children, William and Barbara June. Since 1949 he has been married to the former Ann McCartney of South Bend.

Among Professor Schubmehl's academic affiliations is membership in the Advisory Council for Engineering of the Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C. He has been employed by the Mamer Co. of Benton Harbor, Michigan, and the Hildebrand Nelson and E. R. Newland companies of South Bend.

NOTED ALUMNI NAMED TO ADVISORY COUNCIL

Five prominent industrial executives and an eminent heart surgeon, all but one of them alumni, have been appointed members of Notre Dame's Advisory Council for Science and Engineering.

They are Arthur N. BecVar, '33, industrial design manager of major appliances for The General Electric Co., Louisville, Ky.; Paul J. Harrington, '26, assistant chief engineer of The Standard Oil Development Corp., New York, N. Y.; Dr. Charles A. Hufnagel, '37, Georgetown University Medical Center, Washington, D. C.; William E. Mahin, '28, president of the Malleable Research and Development Foundation, Granville, Ohio; Thomas H. Vaughn, '31, executive vice-president, Pabst Brewing Company, Chicago, Ill. and John J. Powers, president of Pfizer International, New York, N. Y.

The newly completed group met on the campus May 2-3. The Council is composed of thirty-three nationally prominent industrialists, scientists and engineers who meet semi-annually at Notre Dame to consult with University officials on the curricula, research programs and other policy matters affecting the Colleges of Science and Engineering.

BecVar has served as president of the American Society of Industrial Designers. He has been associated with General Electric since 1946 and has headed its appliance design section since 1951. He received an advanced degree in industrial design from Charles University, Prague, Czechoslovakia.

Harrington, a chemical engineering graduate, took a master's degree at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He has been a member of the Standard Oil organization since 1929. As a Notre Dame undergraduate Harrington was captain of the track team.

Hufnagel has won international recognition by developing new techniques for heart surgery. He is a professor of surgical research and associate professor of surgery at the Georgetown University Medical School. He is a consultant to the Bethesda Naval Medical Center and the National Institutes of Health and is also a graduate of the Harvard University Medical School.

Mahin, specialist in metallurgical research, formerly was associated with

"GOLDEN THREADS WOVEN FOREVER . . ."

University Says Good-Bye To 'Women of Notre Dame'

Notre Dame said a prayerful thank you and a reluctant good-bye May 4 to a group of Holy Cross nuns who with their predecessors have served the University for 115 years.

A Solemn High Mass in the convent chapel on the campus marked the departure of virtually all the nuns from the Notre Dame scene. Whereas more than one hundred nuns at one time filled the campus convent, only five Sisters will now remain at the University to care for altar linens and to staff the Student Infirmary where they will reside.

Rev. Eugene P. Burke, C.S.C., their longtime chaplain and a veteran Notre Dame faculty member, celebrated the Mass. The sermon was preached by Rev. Arthur Hope, C.S.C., author of Notre Dame—One Hundred Years, the official history of the University. A citation of appreciation to the Sisters was read during the services by Father Hesburgh.

The first four Sisters of the Holy Cross came to Notre Dame in July, 1843, less than a year after Rev. Edward F. Sorin, C.S.C., Notre Dame's first president, and his companions arrived at the site of the future University. Their quarters were the loft of the log chapel whose replica on the campus today is a reminder of the frontier hardships which these courageous and holy women endured.

For the first Notre Dame men — Holy Cross priests, Brothers and a small group of students — the nuns prepared meals, washed and mended clothes and cleaned their spartan quarters. The group of Holy Cross nuns at Notre Dame, many of them recruited for the religious life by Father Sorin himself, grew steadily with the University. Eventually Sorin built to the rear of Sacred Heart Church and the Administration Building what is now known as the convent. It was large enough to accommodate more than one hundred nuns.

By this time there were some 500 priests, Brothers and students at Notre Dame to wash, clean and cook for. The Sisters also served as proofreaders and in various other capacities at The Ave Maria, a weekly Catholic magazine published on the campus. Still another of their responsibilities was the "Minims," a group of grade school youngsters who were quartered in St. Edward's Hall. Until 1921 it was possible for a boy to receive his entire education — grade school, high school and college — at Notre Dame.

Through the years the Holy Cross Sisters have operated the Student Infirmary on the campus, caring solicitously for the sick and injured. Their patients have included thousands of victims of flu and measles and many other maladies as well as athletes and would-be athletes who broke an arm or leg when they zigged when they should have zagged. Still others, aging priests and students, too, they have ministered to in the final hours of their lives.

For a period of eighty-four years, from 1843 to 1927, the Holy Cross Sisters prepared and served meals three times a day to Notre Dame's student body and religious faculty. Many of the dishes they served and the pastries they prepared are still remembered with relish by older generations of Notre Dame men. They relinquished their culinary work thirty years ago when a growing student body necessitated the erection of a dining hall.

In recent years the Holy Cross Sisters have continued their labors in the Notre Dame laundry. Until a few weeks ago two of the nuns folded thousands of students' handkerchiefs each week. Alumni recall one Holy Cross nun who remembered them years after their graduation not by their names but by their laundry numbers!

On Monday morning, just a few hours after Notre Dame's official farewell, thirteen Holy Cross nuns, some of whom served the University for more than fifty years, went "across the road" to St. Mary's College to spend the rest of their days at the Motherhouse. Most of the labors which the Sisters performed at Notre Dame have now been taken over by younger hands and automatic equipment. Without their more than a century of service, Notre Dame would not be what it is today.

In the words of the citation read by Father Hesburgh:

"While you leave the campus which has been your home for so many years, you can never leave the hearts and affectionate memory of the priests and Brothers of Holy Cross and the administrators, faculty and students of the University of Notre Dame. You have been golden threads woven forever into the tapestry of her life."

Another Suggestion For Organization of Library Association

The letter on this page was received from John T. Frederick, professor of English at the University. Professor

Frederick is well known in the world of letters, having edited The Midland, a famous regional literary magazine, and conducted the popular CBS radio series "Of Men and Books" for many years while on leave from the University at Northwestern's Medill School of Journalism. He is author and editor of several books and anthologies including, with the late Rev. Leo L. Ward, C.S.C., the classic English composition textbook Reading for Writing.

Students Establish Fund for Scholarships

The Notre Dame student body has presented a check for $9,000 to the University administration to establish a series of scholarships beginning with the 1958-59 school year. Designated the Notre Dame Student Body Scholarship Fund, the money represents a substantial portion of the receipts from the 1958 campus Mardi Gras.

Participating in the presentation were Jerry M. Brady, Idaho Falls, Idaho, retiring student body president; William D. Shaul, Akron, Ohio, newly elected president; Father Hesburgh; and Rev. Richard Murphy, C.S.C., director of admissions and scholarships at the University. Establishment of the fund marks the first major student gift in the University's ten year, $66,600,000 development program.

According to Brady, $6,000 of the new fund is to provide scholarships for freshmen entering Notre Dame next September. Three incoming freshmen will be awarded $500 grants for each of their four years at the University. Grants totalling $3,000 will be allocated to sophomores, juniors and seniors at the discretion of the University's scholarship committee. Brady and Shaul indicated that the student-sponsored scholarships will be continued in future years.

UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME NOTRE DAME, INDIANA

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Mr. James E. Armstrong, Editor,
The Notre Dame ALUMNUS,

Dear Mr. Armstrong:

I have been deeply interested in the letters you have published recently, from Mr. Walter Trohan and Mr. Vern Sneider, concerning the importance of our University Library and its future prospects.

As a teacher, I share with my colleagues a strong conviction of the importance of our library in relation to the total function of the University. In almost all departments, the library is our one essential tool and resource. I suppose that our degree of success in helping our students to prepare themselves for rewarding and useful lives depends, first of all, upon our own capacity and dedication as teachers, and on our cooperation with one another in the common cause. But beyond this we are more dependent on the resources of the library and the help of its staff than on any other factor. Indeed, it is not too much to say that we cannot have a great university in the fullest sense without a great library.

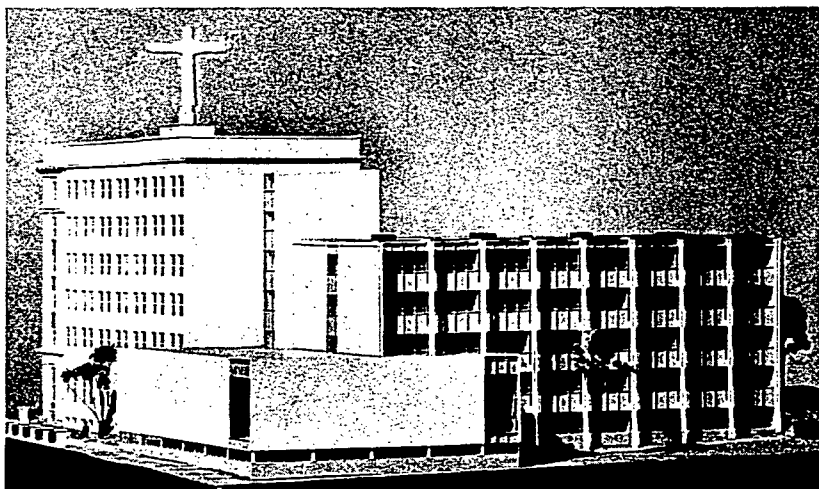

A great university library is first of all one able to supply all the books and other printed materials needful or desirable for the student's best interest in every course, from the freshman year to the doctoral level, and able to supply these promptly when and as they are needed. But it is something more than that. It is the intellectual center of university life. This means that it is more than a tool. It is a vitalizing power, a challenge and inspiration, as well as an essential practical resource.

I believe that the best thing that can happen to a young man in his university life, intellectually speaking, is to learn to read "on his own" — for the intrinsic pleasure and reward of reading, beyond and even apart from course requirements. This is a habit that he will carry with him, after courses are completed and degrees attained, to the immeasurable enrichment of his whole life. The acquirement of this habit is a deeper and broader thing, even, than his actual enjoyment of his rights as an heir to all the thought and experience of the ages, waiting for him in books. It is an essential part of his realization of himself as a human person, in the development of his own standards of taste and conduct and of his understanding of others.

For this high function, the University Library needs to be a concrete expression of the best possibilities not only for the working student but also for the free reader. To this end special collections of the work of writers old and new, of books on widely varied subjects of special interest and importance, and simply of books worth reading for themselves apart from class assignments, are not only desirable but necessary. It is in this aspect of its work especially that I feel the University Library can be signally enriched and strengthened by the contributions both large and small and the organized interest and help of all those who desire to make the library of our University as rich in resources and as adequate in offerings and services as the high achievement and the great destiny of Notre Dame demand.

Sincerely yours,

/s/ John T. Frederick

Engineers Mark Tenth Birthday Of Prize Student Publication

(By Frank Moore and Chet Raymo, associate editors of the Technical Review)

Ten years ago an unusual experiment began at Notre Dame when the official publication of the College of Engineering was born under the guidance of Dean Schoenherr. This experiment continues each year as the Notre Dame Technical Review grows in quality and reputation. The story of the Technical Review is typical of what students can produce when given the opportunity.

In 1948 when Notre Dame decided to start its own engineering publication the initiative came from the students. Two mechanical engineers, John Wechmann and Ernest Okleshen, undertook the job of publishing a periodical for their department. The idea soon grew into a magazine encompassing all departments of the college. The backing of the University was secured, and the first issue of the TR rolled off the presses the following fall.

Writing in that first issue, William J. Ruoff, the first editor, stated, "It is only fitting and proper that the College of Engineering of the University of Notre Dame, the oldest Catholic engineering school in this country, and one of the oldest in the Midwest, should support a technical magazine — and one that is second to none."

In 1951 the TR was accepted as a member of the Engineering College Magazine Association, a group with high magazine standards.

Each year this organization makes awards for superiority in the various phases of magazine make-up and Notre Dame has succeeded in taking its share of the honors. The Technical Review has won first prizes in such diverse accomplishments as Best Editorials, Best Illustrations, Best Single Issue, and Year's Best Covers. In 1953 it was awarded second prize as Best All-Around Magazine. This is quite an accomplishment for the youngest member of the Notre Dame family of magazines and a publication which belongs entirely to engineering students.

The Technical Review is divided into six all-student staffs: business, features, copy, articles, art and layout, and circulation.

An article begins its journey toward publication in the hands of the articles editor who has selected it from those submitted to him by any student in the college. It is then passed on to the copy editor, who, with his staff, rewrites all passages that fail to meet editorial standards. This article is forwarded to the associate editors for additional comment and lastly to the editor-in-chief where final corrections are made.

Feature articles, that is, articles written by actual staff members and usually concerned with local matters, follow a similar path except they pass through the features editor.

After retyping, the copy is read before it is sent to the Ave Maria Press for publication in the form of long columns of print known as galleys. In the meantime, the art and layout staff, in coordination with the editor and business manager, begins work on the actual layout of the magazine.

When the galleys are received from the printer they are proofread for mistakes and pasted in the pages of a dummy, or sample magazine, courtesy of the art and layout department, in the manner in which they will appear in the regular edition. This dummy is sent to the printers, completing the final step, save for the reading of the final page proofs, in creating a magazine.

In one sense, the most important staff mentioned is the business staff with the duty of selling ads, both local and national, the latter obtained from an advertising firm, and assisting in the layout. This staff controls the finances and hence the income of the Technical Review, which derives its basic capital from the sale of advertisements in conjunction with the sale of subscriptions.

The size of the TR and number of subscriptions has steadily increased. Today approximately 2500 people receive an eighty-page issue of the TR quarterly during the school year. Since Volume One, Number One, it has moved into the black, and is now self-supporting.

Yet, the Technical Review has not met with financial success alone. Many of its articles have been reprinted for use in industry. It is also continually reviewed by scientific journals throughout the world, for example, The Journal of the Russian Academy of Science.

Throughout its growth many things have remained the same. In the original office on the third floor of the engineering building it is still the engineering students who prepare the magazine for press. The TR has added a professional touch to Notre Dame, and in so doing has increased the standing of the engineering college. It has actively participated in all external and internal college affairs fulfilling the hope of its first editor "to serve the students of the College of Engineering in a way that will make it a thing of pride to all men of Notre Dame."

Rocket Chief Bill O'Sullivan, '37, Has Key Role in Satellite Race

Guides Research for International Geophysical Year

An aeronautical engineering graduate who tinkered with telescopes and home-made rockets as a boy in Louisville, Kentucky, is playing a leading part in the nation's satellite program.

William J. O'Sullivan, Jr., '37, heads the space-vehicle group of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics. Among his projects at the N.A.C.A.'s Langley Laboratory near Hampton, Va., is a balloon-like "subsattellite" to orbit around the globe like Explorer I.

The quarter-pound subsattellite, a 9-pound corner reflector and a 40-pound nose cone containing delicate measuring instruments will play an important part in the success of this country's research during the International Geophysical Year. These relatively small objects represent the contribution of the N.A.C.A. in the field of space research. Add to them a 12-foot subsattellite that the N.A.C.A. has tested for an Army Explorer satellite launch- ing.

The group devising these inexpensive but delicate instruments is headed by Bill O'Sullivan, assistant to the chief of the Pilotless Aircraft Research Division of the Langley Air Force Base N.A.C.A. Laboratory. Bill explains the space vehicles this way:

The subsattellite for the Vanguard (Navy) satellite project is a 30-inch diameter aluminum-coated plastic sphere folded like an accordion just under the main satellite and released in the third stage inflated by a small tank of nitrogen gas weighing .19 of a pound. The complete unit weighs just .69 of a pound and is designed to orbit around the earth about 150 times and remain aloft about 10 days at altitudes ranging from 250 to 300 miles. The corner reflector is also designed to be a satellite, sending back radar signals of reflected sunlight.

The nose cone contains the "brains" of the N.A.C.A.'s inexpensive rocket, a space device that functions like sounding equipment in geological study, sending back atmospheric data. The rocket has two solid propellant motors that carry the instruments to altitudes of more than 100 miles at speeds over 4,000 m.p.h. About 100 launchings are scheduled for the I.G.Y., which ends in December. The two stage rocket has a Nike booster as its first stage and an N.A.C.A. high-performance Cajun as the second. At its test site in Virginia the N.A.C.A. has launched rockets with as many as five stages, propelling research vehicles more than a million feet into space at speeds exceeding 8,000 m.p.h. More than 3,000 rockets and missiles have been launched at the station since 1945.

Engineers Entertain Thousands At Seventh Annual Open House

The seventh annual Engineering Open House was held on April 25, 26, and 27. "Explorama" was the theme of the 1958 exposition which included departmental displays, an auto show, an air show, a professional engineering demonstration, and the traditional chariot race.

During the three days thousands of people came to the campus to view the exhibits, watch the demonstrations, and hear about engineering. The purpose of the Open House was to display advances in the engineering profession and the activities of the Notre Dame engineer. Under the chairmanship of Bob Norris, the Open House committee developed a series of displays and events worthy of a show which is traditionally bigger and better every year. This year a special effort was made to invite local high school students in order that they might have a better idea of what an engineering education entails.

The Auto Show which was in progress in the Drill Hall on each of the dates of the Open House, included many of the "Detroit Dream Cars" and a line of foreign and domestic sports cars. On Saturday a representative of Indiana Bell Telephone spoke on "Our National Defense." Each department of the college vied for the coveted trophy in the Chariot Race that followed. The Air Show Sunday afternoon featured light aircraft and stunt flying.

Bill has also co-ordinated work of the group on sounding rockets. He lives in Hampton with his wife and five children.

A cousin recalls him as a boy "who was always experimenting with things. . . . He ground a telescope lens once." The cousin was present when Bill conducted what was probably his first experiment in missiles and rocketry: "We found a 22-caliber cartridge somewhere. He put it in a small piece of pipe and we fired it somehow."

Bill's picture appeared in an article on N.A.C.A. in the February 15 Saturday Evening Post. He was shown mounting a deflated plastic-aluminum subsattellite on a rocket nose.

These visitors to the Engineering Open House view an X-ray diffraction exhibit showing models of crystal structure and how X-rays are used to determine them.

Three New Study Programs Widen Academic Horizons

Three new programs added recently to Notre Dame's graduate and undergraduate curricula will further extend the academic frontiers of the University when they are undertaken this summer and fall. Exemplifying the internal development that underlies the physical expansion of the past ten years, the programs include: advanced studies in business administration for religious attending summer sessions, inaugurated in recent years, the first graduate course ever available in the College of Commerce; a graduate course in theology, heretofore available only in summer school, now open to lay and religious students in the regular school year; and an undergraduate program in engineering science to meet the need for a general familiarity with the many branches of engineering occasioned by today's complex technology.

SUMMER M.B.A.

A new program of courses leading to a master's degree in business administration and specifically designed for members of religious communities will be continued by the College of Commerce at this year's summer session, June 20 to August 5, and the first M.B.A. degrees will be conferred by 1960.

According to Dean James W. Culliton, the summer business administration program will provide advanced professional training for the competent teaching of business subjects and for effective leadership in eleemosynary institutions. Priests, Brothers and Sisters engaged in high school and college teaching or in the management of hospitals and other institutions will find the program "especially attractive," he said, because of the emphasis placed upon the knowledge and skills needed in such work.

GRADUATE THEOLOGY

A graduate program leading to the degree of master of arts in theology will be inaugurated next September. Designed primarily as a preparation for doctoral studies, the new three-semester program will be open to priests, Brothers, Sisters and laymen, Father Beichner said.

While the Notre Dame religion department has conducted a highly successful summer graduate teaching-training program for eleven years, the new master's degree sequence in theology is the first to be offered during the regular school year. According to Rev. Roland Simonitsch, C.S.C., head of the department, the new program is geared "to produce educators who are well prepared to cope with the challenge and demands of mature religious education as well as to give the proper theological insight necessary for effective lay leadership."

ENGINEERING SCIENCE

An undergraduate program in engineering science will be inaugurated in the College of Engineering in September, according to Rev. Philip S. Moore, C.S.C., vice-president for academic affairs. Father Moore also disclosed that the department of engineering mechanics, exclusively a graduate unit until now, has been renamed the department of engineering science and will administer the new program of studies. Dr. Adolph G. Strandhagen will continue as head of the newly designated department.

According to Strandhagen today's complex engineering systems, such as those required by rockets and nuclear installations, have created the need for engineering graduates with an over-all perspective. While specialists in the several traditional branches of engineering are still very much in demand, modern engineering systems also require that someone coordinate and properly balance the various specialties for smooth operation of the whole system.

Notre Dame's new engineering science program, Strandhagen continued, will be geared "to produce a flexible student, one who can adapt himself to the rapidly changing technology of modern times. It will provide the student with a broad foundation, a preparation, a potential for entering and advancing in new and as yet undeveloped fields of engineering, not as a specialist in any isolated portion, but as one who can grasp, visualize and coordinate the whole."

Two Senior Awards Increase Fulbright Scholars to Five

Two additional members of the University of Notre Dame's senior class have been awarded Fulbright grants for graduate study abroad during the 1958-59 school year, the International Educational Exchange Service of the State Department has announced.

They are William B. Griffith, Smithfield, Texas, and Michael F. Kennedy, Boston, Massachusetts. Both have been enrolled in Notre Dame's General Program of Liberal Education.

Griffith plans to take advanced studies in philosophy at the University of Louvain in Belgium while Kennedy will study acting at the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Art.

Previously announced Notre Dame winners of Fulbright awards include Theodore J. Collins, Waitsburg, Washington; Victor R. Kopidlansky, Cato, Wisconsin; and Ralph C. Nelson, Park Ridge, Illinois. Their plans for future study are detailed in the students section of the "Campus Today" feature on page 17.

Rubber Companies Grant Fellowships

The General Tire and Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, has made a grant of $8,800 to support two fellowships in the Notre Dame physics department, according to an announcement by Assistant Dean Francis X. Bradley of the Graduate School. The fellowships, which provide a stipend of $3,400 each, have been awarded to Bernard J. Weigman, Baltimore, Md., and Louis G. LaMarca, Schenectady, N. Y. The balance of the grant, Bradley said, is being used to purchase equipment for their research in polymer physics under the supervision of Dr. Robert L. Anthony.

Notre Dame also recently received a grant of $2,200 renewing the United States Rubber Foundation Fellowship, Bradley said. The fellowship will be held in the spring and fall semester by Robert H. Becker, Greenville, Pa., a graduate student in chemistry.

Five Retiring Faculty Men Feted at President's Dinner

Five retiring faculty members who have served Notre Dame a total of 170 years were awarded plaques at the annual President's Dinner for the Faculty in the New North Dining Hall on campus May 14.

Paul R. Byrne, '13, curator of the University Art Galleries, has been on the campus since 1922. For many years he was director of the University Library. He has degrees from Notre Dame and the University of the State of New York.

Thomas P. Madden, '27, professor of English, has taught since 1929, having received his degree from the University two years prior.

Gilbert J. Coty, '25, professor of modern languages, has been teaching French at Notre Dame since graduation. He received his A.M. from the University of Michigan. Professor Coty's wife died recently.

Frank Horan, professor of civil engineering, has served in the department since 1921. A graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, he is the only non-alumnus.

Elton E. Richter, J.D. '26, professor of law, has taught in the Law School since 1923. He received A.B. and A.M. degrees from the University of Chicago.

Honored for twenty-five years of service to the University were Rev. Philip S. Moore, C.S.C., vice-president for academic affairs; Dean Lawrence Baldinger of the College of Science; Rev. Thomas T. McAvoy, C.S.C., head of the history department; Ronald E. Rich, head of the chemical engineering department; Edward A. Coomes, physics; Rev. Edward A. Keller, C.S.C., economics; Rev. James E. Moran, C.S.C., classics; Dominick J. Napolitano, physical education; and Francis J. O'Malley, English.

Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., was host and principal speaker at the dinner which honored the five retiring faculty members, the nine professors who are observing their 25th anniversary on the faculty, and forty newly promoted professors. Approximately 700 members of the faculty and the University administration and their wives attended the event which was held for the first time in the new dining facility.

The elevation of Dr. Patrick Mc-

Cusker and Dr. Boleslaw Szczesniak to the rank of professor was announced by Father Moore. McCusker, who joined the faculty in 1937, has specialized in inorganic chemistry. Szczesniak, an authority on the history of Russia and the Far East, has been teaching at Notre Dame since 1949.

Father Moore disclosed the promotion of twenty-three faculty members to the rank of associate professor. They are Cornelius Browne, physics; James L. Cullather, accounting; Rev. Ralph Davis, C.S.C., chemistry; Joseph Evans and Boleslaw Sobocinski, philosophy; Irving Glicksberg, Joseph Sullivan and Robert Weinstock, mathematics; Rev. Philip Hanley, O.P. and Rev. Francis Nealy, O.P., religion; Francis Kobayashi, mechanical engineering; Rev. Anthony J. Lauck, C.S.C., and Robert A. Leader, art; Eugene J. Leahy and Robert O'Brien, music; Robert D. Nuner, modern languages; Robert Rodes and Bernard Ward, law; Richard Schoeck, English; Robert W. Strickler, education; George W. Viger, finance; Milton Wilcox, electrical engineering; and Bernard Wostmann, Lobund Institute.

OLDEST LIVING ALUMNUS IS ACTIVE IN POLITICS

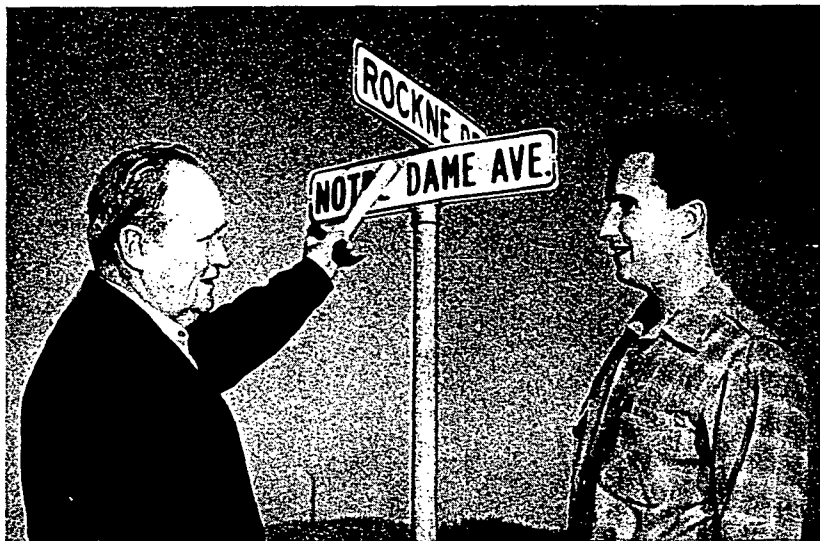

Arthur P. Perley, '82, believed to be the oldest living Notre Dame alumnus, is still extremely active in politics in South Bend, Indiana.

Mr. Perley is president of the South Bend Regular Democratic Club. In May a letter over his signature was sent to all registered Democrats in the city urging support of candidates slated by the regular party organization in the St. Joseph County primaries May 6. All but three slated candidates for major offices were nominated for the Democratic ballot in the fall.

CINCINNATI N.D. CLUB SETS UP PERPETUAL SCHOLARSHIP FUND

The Notre Dame Club of Cincinnati, Ohio, has sent the Notre Dame Foundation, via Coach Terry Brennan, a check for $4,111.11, the proceeds from the last Scholarship Ball.

This addition to Cincinnati's principal fund for scholarships brings the fund to $25,000, the intended goal of the Club, and establishes the scholarship grants of the Cincinnati Club in perpetuity.

Edward P. "Slip" Madigan, '20 (left), Notre Dame football great and former coach at St. Mary's in California, shows his son Ed, '54, a typical street sign in a subdivision he is erecting in Concord, Calif. A lawyer and architect, he has been building housing developments for 10 years, loves to bestow such street names as Four Horseman Lane. Slip and Jimmy Phelan, '17, were ushered into the Helms Athletic Foundation Hall of Fame May 10 in a ceremony emceed by actor Pat O'Brien. Slip was the subject of a recent profile by John Dengel in the Oakland, Calif., Tribune.

In the past few months nine Notre Dame alumni have been recognized for outstanding civic leadership and service to their respective communities all over the eastern United States. They have won distinguished service and "man of the year" awards not from Notre Dame clubs but from newspapers and civic organizations, including several "Young Man of the Year" citations from local branches of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Following are brief accounts of their achievements.

William F. Grant, '45

His work in improving traffic conditions in Erie, Pa., has won for William F. Grant, '45, advertising manager of the Firsch Baking Co., Inc., the Erie Jaycees award as "Outstanding Young Man of the Year." Bill has been on the boards of directors of both the Erie Safety Council, a Chamber of Commerce activity, and the Erie Civic Theater Association, which operates the "Playhouse." He has been co-chairman of the United Fund, active in the Y.M.C.A. and other civic projects and charities. On Universal Notre Dame Night he was installed as vice president of the Notre Dame Club of Erie. Bill and his wife Mary Agnes have three sons, Patrick J., 6½, William F. II, 5, and Christopher M., 3.

Frank R. Paxton, '48

Frank R. Paxton, '48, who in 1957 "headed the most successful Community Chest campaign ever staged in Paducah and McCracken County," has won the Distinguished Service Award of the Paducah, Ky., Jaycees. Frank is vice president and a director of Paducah Newspapers, Inc., which publishes the Paducah Sun-Democrat, and an officer of WPSD television. He is a member of the Riverside Hospital Commission, Paducah Association of Commerce, the mayor's labor-management panel, Rotary Club and several other civic and religious organizations. In the wake of many Community Chest failures Frank organized a group which raised $87,000 for the 10 Chest agencies in 1958, $2,000 more than the most ambitious Chest goal ever set for the Kentucky community. This summer he intends to be married to Miss Margery Ann Gepner of Paducah.

Men of the Year

George F. O'Brien, '34

George F. O'Brien, '34, "a leader in public housing, slum clearance and community betterment programs for the past decade" in Danbury, Conn., was the first recipient of the Danbury News-Times Civic Achievement Award, bestowed in February. An insurance and travel agent in the firm of Stevens, Allen & O'Brien, Inc., George received a silver bowl engraved with his name and his citation. He was nominated in a poll of the newspaper's readers, one of whom expressed the views of many by saying that his work in public housing and urban renewal was "without doubt the greatest single contribution in the community." Since 1947 George has been a member of the Town Housing Authority for veterans; the City Housing Authority, of which he has been chairman for five years; the recently established City Redevelopment Agency, of which he has also been elected chairman, and a director of the Greater Danbury Association. A member of the Danbury hospital board, he has been chairman of Red Cross and Community Chest drives, president of Rotary, commander of his VFW post and a member of a dozen other business, civic, religious and military organizations, plus the Notre Dame Club of Western Connecticut. George and his wife Florence have five children, three boys and two girls.

Richard E. O'Connell, Jr., '48

"Marshall's Outstanding Young Man of 1957," named at a recent Distinguished Service Award banquet of the Marshall, Minn., Jaycees, is Richard E. O'Connell, Jr., '48, known to nearly all the citizens of the Minnesota community as "Dick," a local Ford and Mercury dealer. He was president of the Marshall Civic and Commerce Association in 1956 and 1957 and remains on the board, plus the boards of the Marshall Police Commission, the Lions, Marshall Community Chest and the Marshall Golf Club, having served several of these as chairman. Among several other organizations, Dick has been chairman of the Marshall and Lyon County chapters of the Red Cross and a local and area chairman of the National Automobile Dealers Association. A member of the Ford Dealers Council and Ford's National Advertising committee, he received outstanding dealer awards from both Ford and Mercury divisions in 1957. Dick and his wife Edith ("Bubbles") have five children, Dickie, Peg, Betsy, Tom and Michele.

Harvey E. O'Neill, '51

The Peru, Ind., Daily Tribune recently announced the selection of Harvey E. O'Neill, '51, vice-president of Kingsbury & Co., as the newspaper's Man of the Year. Harvey, a relative newcomer to Peru and Miami County, was chosen principally for his personal dedication as chairman of the first Miami County United Fund drive held in 1957, the largest drive ever held in the area. When others were lax in their efforts, the paper said, Harvey "picked up the responsibilities himself rather than complain that others were not doing the job." Giving every free moment, including week ends, to the work, he found it encroaching on business hours and took a week of his annual vacation so he could devote full time to the UF. "Rarely," the citation concluded, "does a person dedicate himself so entirely with such great personal sacrifice." Harvey and his wife Nancy have two sons.

Frank E. Sullivan, '49

Frank E. Sullivan, '49, was selected by the South Bend Junior Chamber of Commerce as the city's Outstanding Young Man over the past year. He was chosen from among eight finalists for his "outstanding community service through his loyal, faithful and unselfish efforts resulting in a lasting contribution to the community." Commended for his participation in several community projects including the United Fund campaign, hospital fund drive, Moreau Seminary campaign and South Bend Chamber of Commerce membership activities, Frank has also been chosen to lead the 1958 United Fund drive. Once a secretary to Frank Leahy, he is now a member of McArdle-Sullivan Agency, Inc., and American United Life Insurance Company's "Man of the Year" in premium volume for 1957, leading all other agents throughout the nation. In 1956 he qualified for the Million Dollar Round Table for the third consecutive year, thereby achieving life membership. His 1957 sales were also in excess of $1 million. "Sully" and his wife Collette have four children, two boys and two girls.

Ronald S. Malec, '51

Ronald S. Malec, '51, trustee of the Village of LaGrange Park, LaGrange, Ill., is his community's distinguished citizen for 1958, having rated the title after considerable winnowing of candidates by the Jaycees of Chicago's West Suburbs. Ron's citation includes special praise for his work as president of the Garfield Civic Association and public works chairman of the Village Board, for his efforts in the paving of area streets at substantial savings and a neighborhood tree-planting program. An honor grad in commerce and law, Ron is a member of the Illinois and Indiana bars and won a gold medal for the highest grade in the Indiana C.P.A. examination. He belongs to several professional and church organizations. Formerly senior tax accountant with Arthur Anderson & Co., Ron is now assistant to the treasurer of Signode Steel Strapping Co., is married and has three daughters.

William G. Greif, '51

William G. Greif, '51, a partner in the law firm of Walker & Walker, was recently named winner of the Distinguished Service Award presented by the Evansville, Ind., Jaycees. A former assistant city attorney, Bill was appointed by the mayor of Evansville in 1957 as executive secretary of the city's Redevelopment Commission, directing a $1.5 million urban renewal and slum clearance program. He is also chairman of the Mayor's Sidewalk Committee, directing the laying of miles of sidewalks, and has been chairman of the fund-raising committee for the Children's rehabilitation Center. Having directed the Jaycees' first annual Rodeo last year, he has been named general chairman for the 1958 version and is active in several other organizations. Bill and his wife Connie have five children.

Frank J. Pavalko, '53

The Key West, Fla., Junior Chamber of Commerce gave its 20th anniversary Distinguished Service Award for "Outstanding Young Man" to Frank J. Pavalko, M.A. '53, Key West High School teacher and "all around man," choosing him over a director of the Salvation Army and a local business and political leader. The letter nominating Frank enumerated ten services he had performed for the community, all extra-curricular, including personal help and counsel in employment and education; writing, producing, and directing numerous shows for charity or to entertain the handicapped; directing Community Chest and March of Dimes campaigns; and filling a wide range of necessary jobs at the high school.

The ALUMNUS salutes these men for enterprise, leadership and a spirit of public service worthy of sons of Notre Dame.

Three Schools Will Confer Degrees on President Hesburgh

Father Hesburgh will be the commencement speaker and receive honorary degrees at three colleges and universities during the coming month.

The institutions honoring Father Hesburgh include Dartmouth College, Hanover, New Hampshire; Villanova University, Villanova, Pennsylvania; and Saint Benedict's College, Atchison, Kansas.

Father Hesburgh will deliver the principal address and receive an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from St. Benedict's College May 28. Villanova University will confer an honorary Doctor of Science degree on the Notre Dame president at its commencement exercises June 2. He will be awarded another honorary Doctor of Laws degree and give a major address June 8 at Dartmouth College's commencement.

Cornerstone Laid for New Moreau Seminary

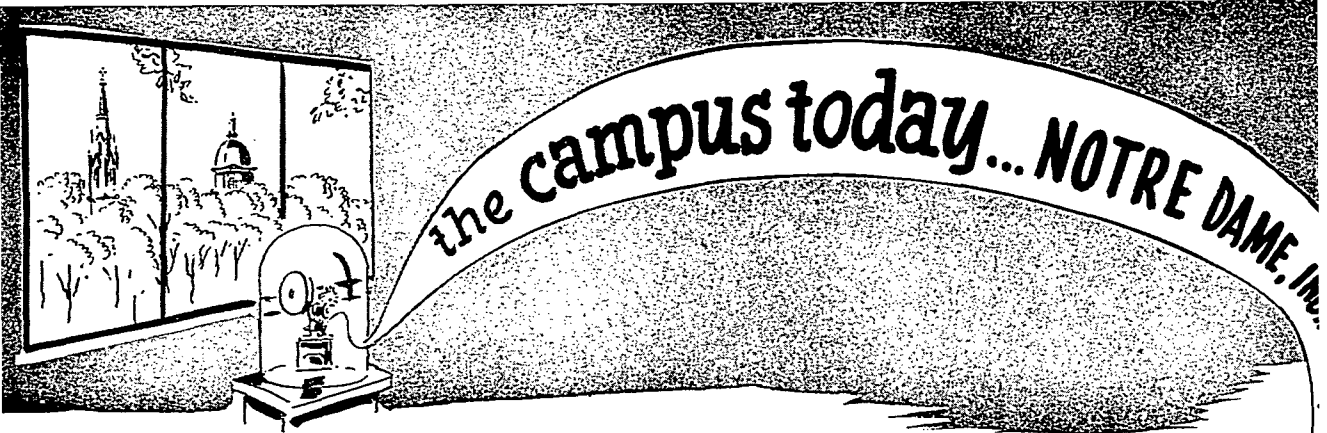

Cornerstone laying ceremonies for the new $3,000,000 Moreau Seminary on the University of Notre Dame campus were held May 13. Rev. Theodore J. Mehling, C.S.C., provincial superior of the Holy Cross Fathers, trowelled mortar on the huge block in a quiet morning ritual.

The blessing of the cornerstone followed a Solemn High Mass celebrated by Father Mehling in Sacred Heart Church on the campus at 9:30 a.m. The two events marked the close of the centennial observance of the Vatican's approval of the constitutions of the Congregation of Holy Cross in 1857.

Assisting Father Mehling at the Mass was Rev. Charles Callahan, C.S.C., superior of the Holy Cross Mission Band, deacon, and Rev. Bernard Niemier, C.S.C., pastor of St. Casimir's Church, South Bend, sub-deacon. The sermon was preached by Rev. Alfred Mendez, C.S.C., director of province development.

Ground was broken for the new four-story seminary last May 13 and the buff brick structure will be dedicated and occupied in the fall. The building is named for the founder of the Congregation of Holy Cross, Rev. Basil Anthony Moreau, whose cause for beatification has been introduced at the Vatican.

Moreau Seminary will accommodate approximately 200 seminarians and faculty members. The building includes living quarters, a chapel, dining room, classrooms and a gymnasium. The new house of studies for Holy Cross seminarians attending Notre Dame is situated on the north shore of St. Joseph Lake opposite the campus proper. The architect is Belli and Belli, Incorporated, Chicago, Illinois, and the general contractor is McCarthy Brothers Construction Company of St. Louis, Missouri. Funds for the building are being raised jointly by the province development organization and the Notre Dame Foundation.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR: Austria's Chancellor Julius Raab received an honorary LL.D. and delivered a major address in Washington Hall at a special University convocation May 22. The Austrian chief of state arrived from Washington, where he had conferred with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles at the White House. He was honored at a reception and luncheon at the Morris Inn and toured the campus with Father Hesburgh, who had met him in Vienna while attending the general conference of the International Atomic Energy Agency last fall as a permanent Vatican City representative. . . .

MANAGEMENT PROGRAM: Preparations are completed for the new Summer Management Program instituted by the College of Commerce and designed for Notre Dame alumni who wish to keep abreast of current trends and prepare for new opportunities in business management. The program will be conducted in one-week cycles beginning July 7, 14 and 21, and will cover marketing management, business finance, human relations and communications, economic environment, control and the humanities. It is directed by Assistant Dean Thomas T. Murphy. . . .

ARCHITECTS MEET: Architects from four Midwestern states convened at the University April 17 for a three-day regional conference of the American Institute of Architects on "Urban Planning and the Architect." More than 100 members of AIA's Great Lakes District attended sessions in the Morris Inn. . . .

STILL TOPS: Notre Dame is still the largest Catholic university for men, according to the January 11 issue of America magazine, with 5,911 full-time students. Among all Catholic schools the enrollment is still second to that of Marquette with 6,722 full-time students, 1,966 of whom are co-eds, and a total (including part-time students) of 9,949 to Notre Dame's 6,039. . . .

BIOLOGY BUILDING NAMED: The University's biology building, erected in 1937 but never formally named, has been designated Wenninger-Kirsch Biology Hall in memory of two of Notre Dame's outstanding priest-scientists. The three-story building will memorialize Rev. Alexander Kirsch, C.S.C., Luxembourg-born scientist who taught 44 years at the University and directed scientific studies from 1874 to 1918; and Rev. Francis J. Wenninger, C.S.C., a native of Austria who served as dean of the College of Science from 1923 to 1940. . . .

HISTORY WORKSHOPS: Rev. Thomas T. McAvoy, head of the history department, has announced two workshops during the summer session to formulate syllabi for high school courses in American and world history. The American History Workshop will be held from June 23 to July 11, World History from July 14 to August 1, sponsored by the history department and the History Teachers Club. . . .

IT & T GRANTS: Notre Dame is one of 26 schools named by International Telephone and Telegraph as recipients of $100,000 for scholarships, fellowships and educational grants to schools offering degrees in electrical engineering, physics and mathematics. . . .

LAW SYMPOSIUM: The Notre Dame Law School held a symposium April 18 on "The Role of the Supreme Court in the American Constitutional System. (See Law page.)

Faculty-Administration

THE PRESIDENT: Father Hesburgh, just reappointed to another term as president of the University, attended the first meeting of the Navy's newly-formed Advisory Board on Scientific Education April 28-29 in the Pentagon. His term recently expired on the U. S. Naval Academy Board of Visitors. . . .

GRANTS FOR CAPONIGRI: Dr. A. Robert Caponigri, professor of philosophy, has received grants totalling $4,200 to support his research and writing, including a Grace Foundation grant of $3,000 to complete and publish Modern Catholic Thinkers, an anthology of recent European Catholic writings, and $1,200 from the American Philosophical Society to conduct research for an intellectual biography of the late Italian philosopher Benedetto Croce. . . .

MEDIAEVALIST LECTURES: Rev. A. L. Gabriel, O. Praem., director of Notre Dame's Mediaeval Institute, has been lecturing at several European universities on "International Cooperation at the Mediaeval Universities." A knight of the Legion of Honor, he has received the French Academy's Thorlet prize for his latest book. . . .

KERTESZ ON GUGGENHEIM: Dr. Stephen Kertesz, professor of political science and head of the Committee on International Relations, has been awarded a Guggenheim fellowship to conduct research on multilateral diplomacy in the U. N. and NATO, will take a semester's leave next fall to study at the U. N., the State Department and in Western Europe. The former Hungarian diplomat intends to publish his findings in another book. . . . REILLY LECTURER: Dr. James Westwater, associate professor of chemical engineering at the University of Illinois, delivered three Reilly lectures on boiling liquids under the auspices of the chemical engineering department in March. . . . PRIZE PAINTING: Prof. Stanley S. Sessler, head of the art department, was awarded first prize in oil painting at the 15th Annual Art Salon of Northern Indiana for a still life, "The Iron Kettle." . . . ATTENDS CONVENTION: Rev. Thomas J. McDonagh, C.S.C., chairman of the economics department, attended April meetings of the Midwest Economics Association in Des Moines, Iowa. . . . HISTORIAN TO VISIT: Rev. Guillaume de Bertier de Sauvigny, C.J.M., of the Catholic Institute of Paris, will lecture in the history department next fall on European diplomatic history during the French Restoration. He will also give four public lectures on Metternich marking the centenary of the Austrian diplomat's death. . . . ARTIST SPEAKS: Rev. Anthony Lauck, C.S.C., of the art department, gave a talk on "The Christocentric Artist" at the Newman Club's ninth annual Christocentric Arts Festival at the University of Illinois March 30. . . . AID TO S.M.U.: Dr. James A. Reyniers, former director of Lobund Institute, has been consulted by trustees of Southern Methodist University's new Graduate Research Center on problems of organization and curriculum. . . . CHEMIST HONORED: Dr. William S. Johnson, professor of chemistry at the U. of Wisconsin and the 1956 Reilly lecturer at Notre Dame, has received the $1,000 American Chemical Society Award for creative work in synthetic organic chemistry. . . . ADVISORS MEET: Rev. Robert J. Lochner, C.S.C., foreign student advisor, participated in discussions of East-West student exchanges at a conference of the National Association of Foreign Student Advisors at the U. of Michigan April 27-30. . . . MAGICIAN: G. Herbert True, assistant professor of marketing, used magic tricks to illustrate points in his talk at a recent management development conference at Marquette U., included pouring a beaker of milk into the conference director's ear.

MASS BEATS MISSILES: Despite the launching of rockets and satellites, the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass remains "the most marvellous victory which has been won over time and space," said Rev. Frank Gartland, C.S.C., editor of The Catholic Boy, in a nationwide radio address on the CBS "Church of the Air." The Mass is "a projection through time and space of the sacrifice of Christ upon the cross . . . the mystery of our redemption on Calvary daily renewed around the earth, circling it, uninterrupted for nineteen centuries, from altar to altar over countless orbits of divine grace." . . . CONFRATERNITY BLESSED: Pope Pius XII has extended his special apostolic benediction to members of the Confraternity of the Immaculate Conception of Our Lady of Lourdes with headquarters on the Notre Dame campus. The announcement cablegram, prompted by efforts of the Notre Dame Club of Rome and signed by Msgr. Dell'Acqua, Vatican substitute secretary of state, said: "The Holy Father is deeply gratified and greatly consoled to learn of the reorganization of the Confraternity. . . . On the occasion of the Lourdes Centenary year he prays that your efforts be crowned with comforting success and cordially imparts to the director, officers and members of the Confraternity his special apostolic benediction." . . . REFORMATION STUDY: After five years of research in German archives Rev. John P. Dolan, C.S.C., has finished a book on Erasmian influences in the Church ordinances of the lower Rhine in the 16th Century, published in Germany as a part of the Church history series Corpus Catholicorum. . . . PROGRESS IN PAKISTAN: Rev. Vincent McCauley, C.S.C., Superior of Holy Cross Foreign mission, has been touring the missions of Pakistan and has written to describe a great expansion of parishes and schools in Dacca. . . . BEATIFICATION STARTED: The beatification cause of Brother Andre, C.S.C., has been introduced before the Sacred Congregation of Rites in Vatican City.

Students

18 WILSONS WON: Eighteen Notre Dame seniors have been awarded Woodrow Wilson National Fellowships for graduate study in 1958-59, of which only 1,000 were available. The N.D. group is fifth largest nationally, fourth among male schools and the largest at any Catholic school. Winners are: Robert G. Bowman, Sacramento, Calif.; Michael J. Crowe, Kansas City, Mo.; Peter F. DeVito, Staten Island, N. Y.; William E. Dorenbusch, Middletown, O.; George K. Francis, South Bend; Gerald J. Goodwin, Cambridge, Mass.; William B. Griffith, Smithfield, Texas; Ernest V. Haberkern, University City, Mo.; David L. Karnath, Kenmore, N. Y.; John T. Kearns, Champaign, Ill.; James L. McDonald, Cincinnati, Ohio; Paul F. McGraw, Sherman, Texas; Paul R. Moran, Coudersport, Pa.; George T. Oser, Houston, Texas; Steve A. Piascek, South Bend; Michael A. Schork, Elyria, Ohio; John M. Steczynsky, and Thomas D. Walsh, Chicago, Ill. . . . 3 FULBRIGHT SCHOLARS: The State Department's International Educational Exchange Service has awarded Fulbright grants to three Notre Dame students for graduate study abroad during 1958-59. Theodore J. Collins, Waitsburg, Wash., a senior in economics, will study at Rhenish Friedrich Wilhelms University, Bonn, Germany. Victor R. Kopilansky, Cato, Wisc., a Grace Foundation fellow in the N. D. Medieval Institute, will study medieval history in Copenhagen, Denmark. Ralph C. Nelson, Park Ridge, Ill., a Ph.D. candidate, will study philosophy at the Catholic Institute of Paris, France. . . .

CAVANAUGH WINNERS: Rev. John J. Cavanaugh Law Scholarships, established in honor of the director of the N. D. Foundation and former president and awarded annually to two seniors with "exceptional scholastic ability," went this year to Thomas M. Clusserath, Fort Wayne, Ind., and Paul B. Coffey, Lorrain, Ohio, graduating seniors in liberal arts and commerce, respectively. . . .

ADVERTISING HONOR: Loran R. Sheffer, a senior from Lansing, Mich., represented the University at "Inside Advertising Week," an annual event sponsored by the advertising industry, in New York City April 6-11. He was selected by a faculty committee as the outstanding advertising student in the College of Commerce. . . .

MUSICIANS TRAVEL: The Notre Dame Band and Glee Club spent the Easter vacation on separate cross-country tours. The concert band, directed by Prof. F. O'Brien, headed East and Northeast for eleven performances in Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts and Ohio. The glee club, under Prof. Daniel H. Pedtke, swung South and Southwest for eight concerts in Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Texas and Kentucky. Among the souvenirs of the band trip was a crucifix made of anthracite presented by sponsoring King's College alumni in Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Lobund Institute Gets Ten-Member Advisory Board

The creation of an advisory board for the University's Lobund Institute was announced in March.

The ten-man group, composed of outstanding biological and medical scientists, held its first meeting on the campus March 17. Dr. Lowell T. Coggeshall, dean of the Division of Biological Sciences at the University of Chicago, was elected chairman of the board.

At its inaugural meeting the Lobund advisory board reviewed the Institute's research program and discussed plans for its future development. The group also studied plans for the administrative reorganization of the famed germ-free research center.

Members of the Lobund advisory board, in addition to Dean Coggeshall, are Dr. William D. McElroy, director of the McCollum-Pratt Institute, The Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.; Dr. Richard E. Shope and Dr. Maclyn McCarty, Rockefeller Institute, New York City; Dr. Thomas Francis, Jr., School of Public Health, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor; Dr. Gail M. Dack, director of the Food Research Institute, University of Chicago; Dr. Charles K. Whitehair, professor of animal nutrition and physiology, and Dr. H. J. Stafseth, professor of microbiology and public health, Michigan

State University, East Lansing; Dr. Gilbert F. Otto, Abbott Laboratories, Chicago; and Dr. Benjamin W. Zweifach, professor of pathology at New York University's Bellevue Medical Center.

All were present for the first meeting of the advisory board except Doctor Francis. Also in attendance were representatives of the Notre Dame administration and the Lobund staff.

ST. JOSEPH VALLEY—Bert Metzger, '31, "watch charm" guard under Coach Knute Rockne, was the featured speaker at the Valley Club's annual Rockne Communion Breakfast March 30. In ceremonies at Highland Cemetery after the breakfast Bert placed wreaths at the graves of Rockne, late track coach John Nicholson, and late basketball coach George Keogan.

Joseph Scott, Laetare Medalist, Dies at 90

Joseph Scott, LL.D. '15, attorney, civic leader, Catholic layman and Notre Dame's 1918 Laetare medalist, died March 24 in Los Angeles, Calif., at the age of 90.

A Scotch-Irish immigrant, Mr. Scott came to the United States in 1889, worked in Boston as a hod carrier and in 1893 arrived in Los Angeles to study law. He established the Knights of Columbus in California in 1902 and during World War I directed K. of C. welfare work in France and England. In 1928 he was named a Knight Commander of St. Gregory.

His Eminence James Francis Cardinal McIntyre presided at Requiem Mass March 29 in St. Vibiana's Cathedral, Los Angeles, offered by Mr. Scott's son Msgr. George M. Scott, pastor of Mary Star of the Sea Church, San Pedro. In his sermon Bishop Joseph T. McCucken of Sacramento said: "It would be impossible to separate in the life of Joseph Scott his activities as a lay apostle and as a citizen and patriot. One is the support and inspiration of the other. Only so long as the teaching of religion, which the government can neither impart nor forbid, is encouraged through freedom of education will our way of life survive."

Mr. Scott is survived by his wife Bertha, three daughters and three sons, all Notre Dame alumni, Judge A. A. Scott, LL.B. '22, Rt. Rev. George, '22, and Cuthbert J., '24. Another son, Father Patrick Scott, died in 1948.

This Irish starting lineup guided the Notre Dame baseball team, coached by Jake Kline, through an early-season winning streak. Left to right are Gene Duffy, cf; Dick Selcer, 2b; Harold Trapp, 3b; Jim Morris, 1b; Bob Senecal, lf; Joe Geneser, ss; Bob Giarrantano, rf; Ed Wojcik, c, and Chuck Symeon, p. Symeon struck out 14 in hurling the Irish to a 15-2 victory over Ohio University April 19.

NOTRE DAME BOOKS

AN EDUCATOR SPEAKS

PATTERNS FOR EDUCATIONAL GROWTH, Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., University of Notre Dame Press, Notre Dame, $2.25.

His views, as president of the University of Notre Dame, on different aspects of university education are expressed in six discourses delivered by Father Hesburgh between 1952 and 1957 at the formal opening of the University's academic year. Each of the inaugural sermons was given in Sacred Heart Church on the campus during a Solemn High Mass traditionally attended by all Notre Dame faculty members.

The scope of Patterns for Educational Growth is indicated by the titles of the Notre Dame president's discourses. They are "Wisdom and Education," 1952; "A Theology of History and Education," 1953; "The Mission of a Catholic University," 1954; "Education in a World of Social Challenge," 1955; "The Divine Element in Education," 1956; and "Education in a World of Science," 1957.

In an introduction to the small volume, Father Hesburgh notes that the six presidential discourses "express the guiding lines of our educational endeavor at Notre Dame." Originally addressed to the University faculty, they are now being made available to a wider public because "our University has been the recipient of so much enlightened interest and help from such a multitude of people during these past years," Father Hesburgh writes.

SCHOLARLY CONTROVERSY

SCIENCE VERSUS PHILOSOPHY, Rev. Frederick G. Connolly, Philosophical Library, New York City, $3.75.

In the volume, Father Connolly describes the relationship between science and philosophy in ancient, mediaeval and modern times. The problem today, he writes, is whether science is a field of knowledge distinct from philosophy and, if so, where lies the boundary between them.

Thomistic philosopher Jacques Maritain, he points out, maintains that science is a field of knowledge distinct from philosophy. Other groups of Thomistic philosophers "disagree heartily" on several aspects of the problem, Father Connolly notes. "It is indeed unfortunate that this conflict still remains unresolved," he says.

Catholic intellectual life will have little impact upon the American scene as long as Catholic intellectuals can come to no agreement on the problem of modern times, Father Connolly contends. "This is the age of science and no school of thought that is unable to fit this modern development into the system of ideas that it presents to the world, and to do this in a clear and convincing manner, can expect much attention, let alone gain much influence," he asserts.

Father Connolly, a native of St. Johns, New Brunswick, Canada, has been a Notre Dame faculty member since 1948. From 1932 to 1948 he taught philosophy and theology at St.

Joseph's Major Seminary, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada. He holds a doctorate from the Angelicum in Rome.

LANGUAGE OF THE CHURCH

LITURGICAL LATIN: ITS ORIGINS AND CHARACTER, Christine Mohrmann, Catholic University of America Press, Washington, D. C., $2.50.

Dr. Mohrmann's new book presents a panoramic view of the birth, development, and eventual perfection of the liturgical language of the Western Church. Coming as it does, at a time when a renewed interest in the liturgy and in the life of the Early Church is becoming increasingly evident, this book might appeal to a reading public far beyond the circle of Latin specialists.

At present Dr. Mohrmann is professor of Latin at the Roman Catholic University of Nijmegen and at the University of the City of Amsterdam. In recent years she has lectured or given courses at the Universities of Cambridge, Paris, Turin, Munster, Strasbourg, Munich, and Bonn, as well as at University College in Dublin and the Catholic University of Milan.

Curator Paul Byrne examines one of 394 cartoons of the late John T. McCutcheon which have been presented to the University of Notre Dame gallery by his widow, Mrs. Evelyn Shaw McCutcheon, Lake Forest, Illinois. McCutcheon was cartoonist for The Chicago Tribune for forty-five years until his death in 1949. In 1931 he received a Pulitzer Prize as well as an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Notre Dame.

Although this is the first of her books to be published in America, Dr. Mohrmann is not a stranger to our shores. She has lectured at a number of institutions of higher learning in this country, including Notre Dame, St. John's Abbey in Minnesota, and The Catholic University of America. This summer will find her lecturing once again at Notre Dame.

HANDBOOK OF SECTARIANS

SEPARATED BRETHREN, William J. Whalen, Bruce Publishing Co., Milwaukee, $4.50.

This popular survey and handbook of the non-Catholic Christian denominations was written by the university editor and assistant professor of English at Purdue University, West Lafayette, Ind. Whalen is a Notre Dame alumnus, having attended the University during 1943-44. Educated also at Marquette and Northwestern where he specialized in religious journalism, Whalen is currently faculty advisor to the Purdue Newman Club. He has contributed a number of articles to Catholic periodicals.

In his new book, which bears the imprimatur of the late Bishop John G. Bennett of Lafayette, Whalen takes a reportorial rather than a theological approach. The volume describes the beliefs, practices and history of the larger and more significant of the 260 or more non-Catholic churches and sects. Included are a bibliography, statistics on church membership and a graph on the genealogy of the major denominations.

Individual chapters are devoted to the Lutherans, Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Methodists, Baptists, Quakers, Disciples of Christ, Mormons, Christian Scientists, Jehovah's Witnesses, Unitarians, Old Catholics and Eastern Orthodox Catholics.

SPIRITUAL ODYSSEYS

WHY I BECAME A CATHOLIC, edited by Rev. John A. O'Brien, University of Notre Dame Press, Notre Dame, 25c.

This is an attractive pocket book in which twelve men and women tell the intimate, personal stories of their conversions. Father O'Brien, the editor, is a research professor at Notre Dame and a leader of the convert movement in America.

Seven of the ten men whose stories appear in the 156-page book became not only Catholics but also priests. The two women who write of their conversion to Catholicism eventually became nuns. Two of the converts represented in the volume withdrew from the Protestant ministry to embrace the Catholic faith and one of these was ordained to the priesthood.

Dr. Rudolph M. Lippert, one of the contributors to Why I Became a Catholic, tells of leaving the ministry, embracing Catholicism, and becoming a lay leader in the annual Crusade for Souls in the Diocese of San Diego. Arthur B. Klyber narrates the moving story of his journey from the synagogue to the Redemptorist priesthood. Others whose spiritual Aeneids are described in the book include Cranor Franklin Graves, Rebecca Hirsch, Rollins E. Lambert, Edmund Lester, Charles W. Albright, Cora Stevens, William Lambert Brandt, Francis Joseph Fitzpatrick, Adelbert Young and William R. Rush.

"The stories of these pilgrims," Father O'Brien writes in an introductory chapter, "are told with reverence, humility, charity towards members of all faiths, and a sincere desire to help others. They are neither propaganda nor chapters of a sales talk. They narrate their stories of a spiritual Odyssey with the sole thought that their disclosures may point out to other groping souls the paths that lead to Christ and His Church."

NOVEL OF AFRICA

FIRE IN THE BUSH, Rev. Paul Bernier, C.S.Sp., translated by Roch LePage, P. J. Kenedy & Sons, New York City, $3.00.

This exciting fictional account of a missionary priest's experiences in West Africa is drawn from Father Bernier's actual experiences as a Holy Ghost missionary. Avoiding the stereotypes of this kind of fiction, the book is notable for its acute characterization and its insights on the African mind and French colonialism. The translation by J. Roch LePage, Jr., '40, is in easy idiomatic, even slangy, English. Originally entitled Un Missionnaire, the novel was aptly retitled by its translator; the phrase "fire in the bush" is a symbolic play on words connoting both African unrest and the Holy Spirit, the "burning bush" of the Old Testament.

LIFT FOR THE LAYMAN

THE MODERN APOSTLE, Rev. Louis J. Putz, C.S.C., Fides Publishers Association, Chicago, $2.95.

This book, according to a review by James H. Manahan in Jubilee Magazine, "is a corrective to an overemphasis on withdrawal and solitude. The so-called 'lay apostolate' is often badly understood both by its supporters and its opponents, and Father Putz attempts, with pronounced success, to set matters straight. His basic premise is that while priests have the responsibility for expounding doctrine, the work of spreading Christianity through the world — in an apostolic, not strictly missionary sense — lies in the province of the laity. Whatever the layman can do depends mostly on his education for the job; as this improves the area of his responsibility should broaden. Technically, Father Putz advises, the most effective means of action rests in small groups, organized along occupational or situational lines — students, married couples — or within separate parishes. As a sort of priming of the spirit in which laymen should approach their enlarged task, Father Putz adds to his specific instructions a number of brilliant insights into the meaning of the Mass and of charity and a long section of meditations on the Gospels."

MOOT COURT

The Appellate Court of Indiana, sitting in two divisions of three judges each, heard the arguments in the semi-final round of the 1957-58 Moot Court Competition on April 28. Students who have survived the earlier rounds and participated in the arguments on April 28 are: Altero J. Alteri of Michigan, Dana C. Devoe of Maine, James A. Durkin of Illinois, Kosma J. Glavas of Ohio, Jerome M. Lynes of New Jersey, Robert F. Mone of Ohio, Milton Munk, Jr. of Pennsylvania and Arthur J. Perry of Indiana.

The final round in the competition will be held next October. Those who are judged the winners at that time will constitute Notre Dame's moot court team and will represent the school in the national competition. Last year the Notre Dame team won the championship of Region 9, comprising Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin.

FACULTY NOTES

"Immensely scholarly" — that is the term applied to Professor Chroust's new book Socrates, Man and Myth in a review appearing in the April 12 issue of America. To quote from the review: "The Socrates of literature, says Mr. Chroust, is essentially a legend: rival schools built up rival fictions. And an examination of all the available facts by the conscientious author reads like some scholarly detective story." The reviewer concludes that Professor Chroust's book has made a "very important contribution."

Professor Rodas made the principal address at the closing session of the convention of the National Catholic Educational Association in Philadelphia on April 11. He is one of about 60 scholars who have been invited to participate in a five-day seminar on "Religion in a Democratic Society." The Seminar will open with remarks by Father John Courtney Murray, S.J., and Reinhold Niebuhr. On the final day of the Seminar, there will be talks by three well-known theologians, namely, Abraham Joshua Heschel of the Jewish Theological Seminary, Father Gustave Weigel, S.J., of Woodstock College, and Paul Tillich of the Harvard Divinity School. The Seminar is sponsored by The Fund for the Republic.

ALUMNI CLUBS

The 35th Universal Notre Dame Night may well go down in history as the greatest—certainly the greatest to date.

Not only is this true in scope—so far as we know, more Clubs had bigger and better meetings than ever before, with few of the 169 failing in some form of observance—but in depth.

The double-barreled theme of the Night found two major targets of interest to all alumni and to every friend in the growing family of Notre Dame. First was the extenuation of the challenging new Development Program, the stimulating and balanced proposal for faculty, student, staff, plant and research growth that will total some $66,600,000.

And second was the slightly less tangible, but equally stimulating and interesting challenge to alumni to think. The urge to continue the interest and benefits of liberal education appealed not only to Notre Dame men but to their wives, their guests, to parents and friends, from whatever college or university, or whatever plateau of education.

Small wonder then that the usual demands for campus speakers were augmented this year by the use of local college presidents or other national figures. It was closely allied to the general theme.

The Club reports in this, and in the next ALUMNUS, will give you the growing panorama of interest, enthusiasm, loyalty, prestige and public relations that is increasingly Universal Notre Dame. This annual Night brings it dramatically into the limelight.—JEA

Akron

DR. JAMES W. CULLITON, Dean of the Notre Dame College of Commerce, was the Universal Notre Dame Night speaker on April 14.

A general meeting was held on February 4th at the Son's of Herman Club. Chairmen for upcoming activities were named and discussion was held on new plans for the scholarship award. Some familiar (but too long absent) faces were: JIM COULTER, CLAUDE HORNING, JOHN MOIR, ED BARCH and TOM AMER.

The following meeting was held on March 4th at the home of new member MAURICE WELSH. The club was honored at this meeting with a visit from JOHN MACCAULEY of the Notre Dame Foundation, who very excellently briefed us on the functions and program of Foundation operations. Order of business included a report on progress of preparation for Universal Notre Dame Night from Chairmen BILL BURKHARDT and GEORGE DEKANY—also plans for establishing new club constitution and by-laws. Election of new officers was held—the following being installed on Universal Notre Dame Night: President, BOB KAPISH, '52; Vice President, DAN MOTZ, '54; Treasurer, JOHN DARAGO, '54; Secretary, GEORGE DEKANY, '49. Among the fine turnout it was a pleasant surprise to see: STEVE SITKO, "DOC" SOLOMAN, JOE KRAKER, JIM WALTER, BOB KOLB, HUGH COLOPY, TOM WEIGAND and BILL O'NEIL. The film of 1957 football highlights rounded out the evening.

On March 16th a club Communion Breakfast was held at the Newman Hall at Akron University. FATHER SULLIVAN offered Mass and later complimented the group of 45 alumni and members of their families on the fine example of Notre Dame spirit. Chairman for the affair TOM REYMANN introduced guest speaker Mr. Cale L. Coulter, President of the Summit County Council for the Retarded Child. More familiar but long absent faces were: TOM BOTZUM, ED RAUB, JOHN DETTLING, JACK DOYLE, GEORGE GMITTER and TIM RAUH.

—DAN MOTZ, '54, Vice-Pres.

Atlanta

REV. EDMUND P. JOYCE, C.S.C., executive vice-president of the University, addressed a Universal Notre Dame Night gathering of the Atlanta Club on April 16.

Aurora

The Notre Dame Club of Aurora held its annual Notre Dame Christmas dinner dance at the Leland Hotel, Dec. 28, 1957. It was extremely successful with over 100 persons in attendance.

Among the guests were former tackle ZIGGIE CZAROSKI and line coach BILL FISCHER. Chairman of the affair was JACK MOYER.

—OWEN KANE, '38, Pres.

Black Hills

The Notre Dame Club of the Black Hills met at the Arrowhead Country Club, Rapid City, South Dakota, on Tuesday, April 8, 1958, in order to celebrate Universal Notre Dame Night.

After an excellent dinner and a few remarks by the officers who had recently been elected we enjoyed the Notre Dame 1957 Football Highlights film. We had approximately 45 people.

The new officers are: BERNARD GIRA, '10, President; BOB ROMAKER, '50, Vice President, and myself, '49.

—WILLIAM H. CARNAHAN, Secy.-Treas.

Baltimore

Thirty-five members of the Notre Dame Alumni Club of Baltimore attended a cocktail party and dinner on April 14th in observance of Universal Notre Dame Night. JAMES MURRAY, '41, was chairman for the affair.

A short talk by last year's President, FRANK M. SANDERA, '34, and FATHER T. AUSTIN MURPHY, chaplain for the club preceded the showing of the Notre Dame Foundation movie.

New officers were installed for the coming year: President, FRANCIS HERB, '37; Vice-President, CHARLES NORTON, '39; Secretary, WILLIAM RYAN, '52, and Treasurer, JIM MUTSCHELLER, '52.

—FRANK M. SANDERA, Retiring Pres.

Boston

On Dec. 8, we held our annual Communion Breakfast and once again we had an excellent turnout of alumni. Mass was celebrated by FATHER CORNELIUS DONOVAN in the Blessed Sacrament Chapel of the Holy Cross Cathedral and was followed by breakfast at the Red Coach Grill in Boston. Chairman of this affair was JOHN HICKEY, '44, who had his father, THOMAS HICKEY, '02, come from South Bend to be the guest speaker. Mr. Hickey was God-father of KNUTE ROCKNE and his constant traveling companion. His subject was "Rock—as a neighbor and leader of men." All those present were treated to many humorous and intimate stories of Mr. Hickey's personal association with Knute Rockne.

On Dec. 27, the Undergraduate Club of New England held their annual Christmas dance at the University Club in Boston, and they also had an excellent turnout for this event.

DOUG ROBERTSON, '52, has done an excellent job as publicity chairman of our film, "Notre Dame." In cooperation with many of our alumni, this film has been shown to over 30 schools in and around Boston and has been enthusiastically received by all those who have seen it. JOE GARGAN, '52, succeeded in having it shown on television, March 22. Our next objective will be to offer it to any local clubs such as the K. of C., Holy Name, Rotary, etc. Any alumni who would like to obtain this film for his club or any school can do so by contacting Doug Robertson.

We are pleased to announce that JOE CLANCY, '50, was recently made District Sales Director for the General Foods Corporation.

We regret to announce that DICK KIRK, '49, has contracted tuberculosis and is now at the Norfolk County Hospital in South Braintree, Mass. Dick has always been a very staunch alumni supporter and we ask all of you to pray for his speedy recovery. He would certainly welcome cards or letters from his many friends who can write to him at the above address.

WALTER H. JOHNSON, '39, vice-president of American Airlines, was the speaker at the Executive Luncheon of the New England Sales Management conference held on Jan. 10.

We were pleased to have BILL WALSH with us for a few days recently. Bill has offered several suggestions in regard to organizing a scholarship program for promising high school athletes in our area.

Our annual Retreat was held at St. Gabriel's Passionist Monastery in Brighton the week end of February 21. FATHER LUCIAN DUCIE was the Retreat Director and for all those that attended, it was a wonderful rest physically and an opportunity to reflect, read and pray for spiritual guidance. I was chairman of this affair.

On March 18, we held our annual business and election meeting at the University Club in Boston. The meeting was started with CHUCK PATTERSON, '47, showing a color movie on the Milwaukee Braves team of last year. Last year's events were briefly reported and then the Treasurer, BILL DACEY, '49, presented the annual Treasurer's report which was indeed encouraging. Our Scholarship Fund has grown from $450 to over $1900 in one year due to the drive put on in the fall of last year.

An up to date directory will be published again in the Fall, and anyone wishing to advertise in this directory can contact CHUCK POWERS, '45, or myself. Information on this will be forthcoming.

The Constitution has been amended in several places due to motions for amendments made by JOHN KARLE, '56, NEIL FOWLER, '47 and CHUCK POWERS.

BILL DACEY spoke briefly in regard to the establishment of a system and procedure for any high school graduate who appears to be excellent college material and wishes to go to Notre Dame on a possible scholarship. Bill has been instrumental in obtaining scholarships from the University for three local boys, and the need of an established system was realized at that time.

The Nominating Committee: JACK SAUNDERS, '31, LOU DI GIOVANNI, '49, and DICK HERLIHY, '48—presented a full slate of candidates for the new term. Nominations were also made from the floor for every office and the results of this election are as follows: President—DICK HYLAND, '50; Vice Pres.—CHUCK POWERS, '45; Secretary—NEIL FOWLER, '47; Treasurer—BILL DACEY, '49; Directors for 3 years—JOE GARGAN, '52, and BILL McCORMICK, '47.

BILL DACEY was chairman of Universal Notre Dame Night which was held at the Commonwealth Country Club on April 14. "MOOSE" KRAUSE was the speaker from the University, and Philip J. Driscoll, director of admission for Brandeis University, was a guest speaker.

LOU DIGIOVANNI's wife gave birth to a baby boy in February.

—DICK HYLAND, Pres.

Buffalo

The Notre Dame Alumni Club of Buffalo met at the Hotel Sheraton, Delaware Ave., Buffalo, N. Y., for the regular monthly meeting February 4, 1958. The following members were elected to a three-year term on the Board of Governors: HENRY BALLING, JR., '52; JOHN F. ENDERS, JR., '53; JOHN FOGARTY, '43; DONALD G. JACOBI, '35.

During a recess at this same meeting the entire Board of Governors met and elected the following officers for the coming year: President, JOHN A. LaVIGNE, '49; Vice President; ANTHONY C. ROCCO, '48; Treasurer, JOHN F. ENDERS, JR., '53; Financial Secretary, HENRY J. BALLING, JR., '52; Corresponding Secretary, DONALD G. JACOBI, '35.

The new President, JOHN A. LaVIGNE, outlined the program for the coming year, after accepting the Treasurers report that the Club was currently in a very liquid financial condition.

MAURICE F. QUINN, '38, Chairman of the week-end retreat at St. Columban Retreat House March 22, 23, 24, Derby, N. Y., reported the club had thirty-five Notre Dame men in attendance at the retreat.

ANTHONY W. BRICK, JR., '30, reported on Club standing with reference to the Foundation. At present 120 members of the Buffalo Club are contributing to the Foundation. Tony outlined the ten-year plan that the Foundation is currently undertaking. A committee is being formed to contact the balance of the membership to enlist their cooperation.

JOSEPH F. RYAN, '38, will again head the Committee to continue the Parochial School Football League with Notre Dame Trophy being awarded to the winner. George Ferrick reported that the Club in conjunction with the Notre Dame Alumni wives was sponsoring a couples, Bowling and Supper Party, May 17, 1958. This is usually a sell-out and a tremendous social evening. JOHN F. ENDERS, JR., reported on his Theatre Party, "Eighty Days Around the World" and turned in a sizeable check to be used for the local Notre Dame Scholarship Fund.

HENRY BALLING, JR., '52, was chairman of Universal Notre Dame Night, April 21. Our guest speakers of the evening were REV. JEROME J. WILSON, C.S.C., from the University and Congressman WILLIAM E. MILLER, Notre Dame Class of '36. The Club hosted the dinner at the Lafayette Hotel, cocktails of course.

—DONALD G. JACOBI, Secy.

Canada

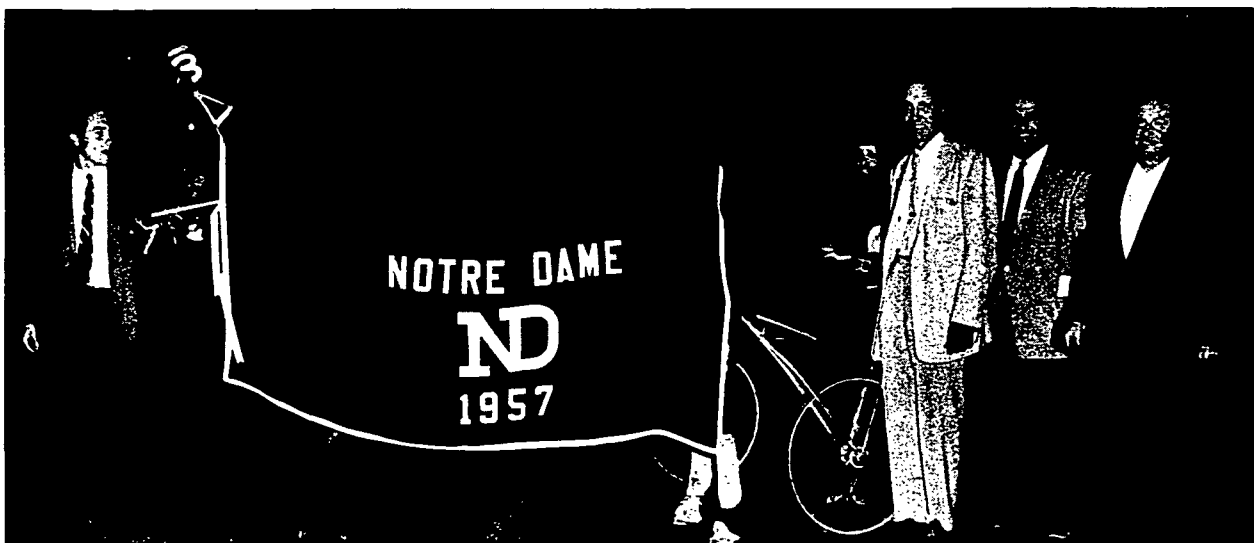

The Notre Dame Club of Canada held its Universal Notre Dame Night celebration on April 15 in Montreal, Quebec. Present from the University was ALEX WILSON, Notre Dame track coach.

Calumet

Following an enjoyable Christmas dinner dance, the Calumet Region club held its annual sports stag dinner, February 5 at the Hotel Gary in Gary, Ind. TERRY BRENNAN was guest speaker, bringing backfield coach HENRY STRAM and 1958 co-captain CHUCK PUNTILLO, and the event was one of the most successful in club history, attended by 190 alumni and friends. The last time Terry Brennan spoke to the club was at the sports stag several years ago just prior to his appointment as head football coach.

The Christmas dance was held at the Lansing Sportsmen's Club in Lansing, Ill., under the chairmanship of Vice President BILL O'CONNOR. Committee members included President TOM CLIFFORD, Treasurer; AUSTIN BOYLE, Secretary; CHARLES COHN and Directors JAMES R. MORRISON, ERNIE HOFFMAN and JACK OGREN.

A talk by REV. ARTHUR HOPE, C.S.C., and award of "man of the year" honors to JOHN B. RADIGAN of Gary, highlighted the Universal Notre Dame Night celebration of the Notre Dame Club of the Calumet Region. A dinner meeting was held April 7 at Phil Smidt's restaurant in Whiting, Ind.

Father Hope, author of "Notre Dame—100 Years," gave an interesting account of the university's history and development.

THOMAS H. CLIFFORD of Gary, outgoing club president, presented the Man of the Year scroll to Mr. Radigan, pioneer furniture dealer of Gary and benefactor of many Catholic causes.

New officers of the Calumet Club for the coming two years were installed. They are: WILLIAM O'CONNOR of Hammond, president; AUSTIN BOYLE of Whiting, vice president; DAVE OGREN of Hammond, treasurer, and BENEDICT DANKO of Whiting, secretary. Directors are Clifford, Edward Burke and Charles Cohn, all of Gary.

—AUSTIN BOYLE, Vice-Pres.

Canton

Thirty members of the Canton (Ohio) Club of Notre Dame received Holy Communion together December 8 at St. John's Catholic Church in Canton. After Mass the group moved to the school cafeteria at the church for breakfast. Club chaplain, REV. REGIS MCCOY, a Notre Dame alumnus and pastor of St. Benedict's Church in Canton was the speaker. The movie "Notre Dame" was shown and newly elected officers were introduced. JAMES F. WEBER, '57, is the new president. ROBERT A. RICHARD, '56, is vice-president and ED MACHUGA, '55, is the secretary-treasurer. On December 27 the "Holiday Ball" Christmas dance, sponsored by the alumni was held at the Onesto Hotel with a very good turnout. The club sponsored a seasonal Communion breakfast Feb. 23.

—JAMIE WEBER.

Cedar Rapids

DR. LAWRENCE H. BALDINGER, Dean of the College of Science at Notre Dame, was guest speaker at the Universal Notre Dame Night observance of the Notre Dame Club of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, April 12.

Central New York

EDWARD W. KRAUSE represented the University at a Universal Notre Dame Night meeting of the Central New York Club April 12 in Syracuse.

Central West Virginia

The Central West Virginia Club held a dinner in honor of DR. THOMAS DOOLEY in January at the Stonewall Jackson Hotel, Clarksburg, W. Va.

Members present were: JOHN JULIAN, president; DR. MARCUS FARRELL, a director of the club; FRANK WELCH, C. E. AUCREMANNE, JEROME MALFREGEOT and J. F. AUCREMANNE. Special guests were: Msgr. J. J. O'Brien, Rev. Andrew Heaney, and Rev. John McDonald. C. E. Aucremanne was program chairman.

Dr. Dooley told of his experiences in Laos and outlined future plans.

Chicago

The Notre Dame Club of Chicago now has its own suite of offices in the First National Bank Building, 38 South Dearborn Street, Room 1337. All Notre Dame men, and particularly those members of the Chicago Notre Dame Club are cordially invited to drop in any time. The club office belongs to all of us, and we can all be very proud of it.

H. GILBERT SEAMAN was appointed by the club Board of Governors to be Chairman of the Nominating Committee which passed on nominations for the 1958 club officers and board members. The Board of Governors also appointed LUKE J. TIERNAN, Chairman of the Notre Dame Man of the Year Selections Awards Committee.

The monthly luncheon meeting February 3rd presented filmed highlights of 1957 Notre Dame football, and was an outstanding success. The March meeting was equally interesting with Ray Meyers, De Paul Basketball Coach, as principal speaker.

BOB LEANDER, RAY DURST and the Freshman Applicant Interviewing Committee have been doing an excellent job in interviewing all the applicants for the 1958 Freshman Class from the Chicago area. They have already interviewed over 200 applicants, and the job is still continuing. Also very active have been JIM FERSTEL, new chairman JERRY FRAZEL and the Prep School Committee in "telling the N.D. story." The Board of Governors has decided to set up a KNUTE ROCKNE Award for the football player in the Catholic League of Chicago who demonstrates the most outstanding qualities of sportsmanship, leadership, athletic ability, and scholarship as exemplified by Rockne himself. Also under attack is the problem of local job placement for seniors and alumni. Suggestions are urgently solicited.

Our print of the 30-minute color film "Notre Dame" is still available to all in the area who would like to show it.

PRIAL CURRAN, and BILL WHITE are to be congratulated on the largest crowd in recent years at the Communion Breakfast, December 1, which they so ably organized. Father John Cavanaugh spoke on "The Challenge to Catholic Education to Produce National Leaders." Other guests were: FATHER MATTHEW WALSH, FATHER "RED" BRENNAN, and FATHER LAWRENCE BROESTL.

Local alumni turned out in large numbers for Father Walsh's Jubilee celebration at St. Thomas Aquinas Parish on December 29. This was his fiftieth anniversary in the priesthood.

Universal Notre Dame Night was celebrated Monday, April 21, at the Lake Shore Club Ballroom. The theme was "Notre Dame Sportsdom," with DAVE CONDON, Chicago Daily Tribune sports columnist, as toastmaster and FATHER NED JOYCE, C.S.C., Notre Dame vice president and athletics chairman, representing the University. ROBERT K. WILMOUTH was general chairman.

American Legion National Commander JOHN S. GLEASON, JR., received a plaque naming him Chicago's Notre Dame Man of the Year.

The following officers were installed: President, JOHN F. MORLEY, '35; First Vice President, PHILIP J. FACCEMDA, '51; Second Vice President, GEORGE M. MENARD, '32; Secretary, KENNETH G. ENRIGHT, '48; Treasurer, JAMES T. DOYLE, '31; Honorary President, HON. NORMAN C. BARRY, '21; Board of Governors (3 years), NORMAN J. BARRY, '43, M. PRIAL CURRAN, '37, BERNARD E. GOTTA, '45, VERNE F. KELLEY, '50, ANTHONY J. MAZZIOTTI, JR., '36, JOHN J. MULDOON, '51, and FRANK J. O'LAUGHLIN, '38.

Cincinnati

The Club Christmas Scholarship Ball held annually at the Netherlands Hilton was a fine success. STEVE HEEKIN was general chairman, and ably assisted by BOB LEONARD and JOHN FEAD. The Club gave a mink stole as a door prize.

The winner of the stole was Mrs. Patricia Long.

The Club will award a four-year scholarship in the sum of $900.00 per year starting next September. Applications from the high school seniors of the Greater Cincinnati area are now being accepted. The Scholarship Committee will make the award in June.

The February meeting was held at the Hudepohl Rathskellar. A member of the Club, Councilman JOHN GILLIGAN, introduced Mr. Charles Stamm, Director of Urban Renewal for the City of Cincinnati, who gave an interesting report on the city's program.

On Thursday, April 10, the Club, in co-operation with the Fenwick Club, sponsored a smoker. Coach TERRY BRENNAN spoke and showed movies of the Army Game. WALTER NIENABER is chairman.

On Sunday, March 16, the club members and their families joined with the Memorial Committee of the Friends of Ireland for Mass and Communion at the recently rededicated St. Peter in Chains Cathedral. Following the Mass, which was attended by over 1700 people, a program was held in the Undercroft. Our own AL CASTELLINI was master of ceremonies. Speakers included JIM CROWLEY of the "Four Horsemen," WALTER O'KEEFE of radio-TV fame and our own club President, RAY GUDMENS.

At the March meeting, held at the Fenwick Club, President Gudmens appointed BOB McCAFFERTY and JOHN BRODBERGER chairmen of the nominating committees and BOB BURKE chairman of the Man of the Year Award Committee.

—JOHN McCORMICK, Secy.

Cleveland

The annual Cleveland N.D. retreat was held the first week end of Lent, with about 50 members in attendance, at St. Stanislaus. JOHN MENDENHALL was chairman of this spiritual activity. The Rockne Memorial Communion Breakfast will be held at the Statler Hotel, after Mass at St. John's Cathedral on April 20th. REV. FRANK GARTLAND, C.S.C., editor of the Catholic Boy and HARRY STUHLDRERER spoke.

FATHER RICHARD D. MURPHY, C.S.C., Director of Admissions visited several club members to explain the new interviewing process of applicants to N.D. by local alumni members. Leo Burby is in charge of the Cleveland members who are conducting these interviews of September 1958 applicants.

We are proud of club members who are seeking public office in forthcoming elections: RAY T. MILLER, Jr., State senator, RON MOTTIL, state representative, and DON C. MILLER, county commissioner.

—TOM McHALE, Secy.

Dallas

Universal Notre Dame Night was held April 9 at the beautiful new Dallas Country Club. We had the place filled to capacity with about 205 people. HAL TEHAN, who has done a great job as president, was master of ceremonies. TERRY BRENNAN was our guest speaker, and our committee was composed of LANK SMITH, JOE NEUHOFF and EMMETT O'NEIL.

The new slate of officers was announced: President, LANK SMITH; First Vice-President, FRANK FINN; Second Vice-President, DAVE COWDIN; Secretary, JOE NEUHOFF, and Treasurer, EDWARD HARGAN.

The "Man of the Year" presentation was made by last year's winner, ARTHUR HUGHES, and JOE HAGGAR was the recipient of the award for this year. We had JUDGE NORMAN BARRY of Chicago as an out-of-town guest; REV. J. M. RICK, C.S.C., and BROTHER HILARION BREZIK, C.S.C., from Boys Ranch, Bedford, Texas.

Our next Club activity was the Nine-Day Novena beginning May 11, which was held on the grounds of Jesuit High School. JOHN DARROUZET and JAKE REICHENSTEIN were co-chairmen of this event. We assembled a replica of the Grotto at Notre Dame, and all of the Parishes in the city of Dallas as well as the Notre Dame Club members were cordially invited to attend. One of our new Club members is EDWARD BOYLE, '38, who is head of the local F.B.I. Office, transferred here from El Paso. The new club roster was prepared by HENRY NEUHOFF, and mailed to all members who now total 141.

We had a splendid turnout for the Fall Communion Breakfast on October 27 held at the Lakewood Country Club. FRANK FINN was in charge and had for our guest speaker Mr. DALE FRANCIS who is currently associated with St. Edward's University and editor of the Lone Star Catholic.

There was a large turnout at the airport to meet the team on the afternoon of December 4th. FATHER HESBURGH was met Wednesday night at Love Field by Club President HAL TEHAN, and JIM FRICK of the Foundation. A score of reporters were there to interview Father Hesburgh on the subject of education which was carried on the front page of the local papers. Friday night, December 6th, at the Cipango Club, ED HAGGAR was host for a nice dinner in honor of Father Hesburgh.

JOE HAGGAR was the chairman of the SMU-N.D. Rally held at the Statler-Hilton. We had a capacity crowd and the profit will be used for the club's Scholarship Fund. LANK SMITH was toastmaster and introduced Club President HAL TEHAN, Coaches, TERRY BRENNAN and Bill Meek, Athletic Directors, Matty Bell and MOOSE KRAUSE, President Tate and Father Hesburgh.

Sunday morning, we had a brunch at the Dallas Club for club members, alumni, university officials and members of the team. DAVE COWDIN assisted by JOE NEUHOFF did a very fine job. Three hundred people attended this function which is the largest in the club's history.

Jesuit High School had Catholic College Day on December 11 at which time approximately twenty students interested in attending Notre Dame were interviewed by Hal Tehan. These attended our Communion Breakfast March 9, a very successful affair. Guest speaker was REV. JAMES E. NORTON, C.S.C.

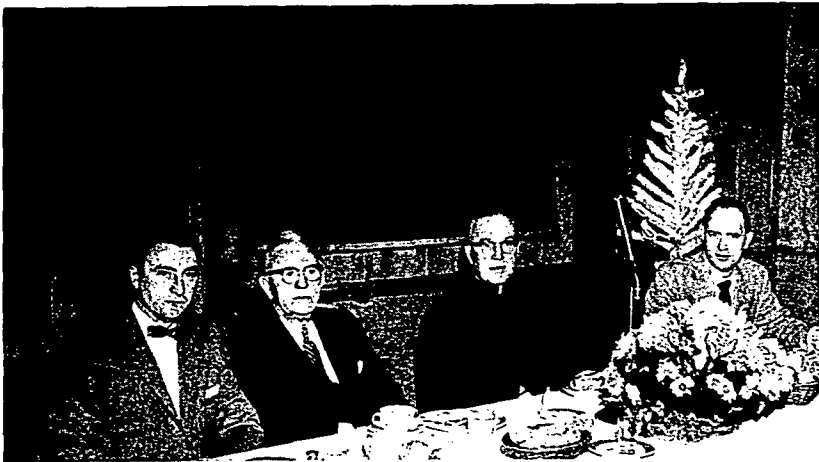

The Christmas Dance was held December 27th at the Glen Lakes Country Club. We had a better than average turnout and the affair was ably handled by LEE SHIPP. The club also backed a St. Patrick's dance of the Ancient Order of Hibernians March 15.

—HENRY NEUHOFF, III, Secy.

Dayton

The Notre Dame Alumni Club of Dayton observed Universal Notre Dame Night on April 15 with a Dinner at the Gibbons Hotel. A Guest Speaker, F. X. "TIM" BRADLEY, Assistant Dean of the Grad School and Acting Director of LOBUND, came from the University for the occasion. Election of Officers for the coming year will be announced. BILL HOYNE recently served as Chairman of the Dayton Polio Drive.

A Square Dance was held at Miami Valley

Dearborn

January 11 found a large gathering of Dearborn Club members at the Westwood Inn attending the Annual Dinner Dance. The filet mignon was excellent. TONI TUCKER, '49, and JERRY SARB, '48, and their wives did an outstanding job of organization. Some of those present were Ruth and GERRY GASS, '48; Ann and PETER KERNAN, '49; Pat and TOM NELSON, '52; Dr. and Mrs. JOHN FISCHER, '50; Marie and JOHN W. COURTNEY, '25; the DICK KINGS, '37; Gerry and GEORGE TOBIN, '48; the JOE BYRNES, '52; the LARRY DOLANS, '47; Pat and ED SNYDER, '49; Pat and JOHN E. COURTNEY, '50; the JERRY WAYNOS, '47, and the JOHN FISHES, '52.

A large portion of the expense of this dance is underwritten by the Club; it's the club's method of thanking its members for their work and loyalty throughout the year.

Last November the Club sponsored a bus trip to the Notre Dame-Michigan State game. In spite of the score, four buses of members and their friends enjoyed the outing. JIM KING, '50, JOE BYRNE, '52, JOHN SCHAEFER, '48, and GEORGE BALL, '49, made up the committee handling all the arrangements.

GEORGE TOBIN, '48, was chairman of the Stag Dinner on March 13, attended by BILL EARLEY from the University. LARRY DOLAN, '47, handled arrangements for our Day of Recollection March 8 at Duns Scotus College. Our elections came in April, and our new officers, installed in May at the annual Communion Breakfast, are: President, JOHN E. COURTNEY, '50; Vice-President, DAVID L. DOLAN, '47, and Secretary-Treasurer, JAMES A. KING, '50.

Decatur

On the fourth Wednesday of every month for a period of a year the local Alumni gathered at Jack and DAVE GREIDER'S '35, Cafeteria for an excellent lunch (plug) and increasing camaraderie. Since none of these gatherings resulted in a lake party, we launched into more sociable endeavors. These included Universal Notre Dame Night, a golf outing, and a fall dinner party at which the membership formally elected officers. It was a dandy!

The right man, time and place had much to do with electing BERNARD A. MARTY, '37, President. Since graduation, he has been associated with Irwin-

Neister Company, a manufacturer of pharmaceuticals. During the Company's extensive post-war expansion period, Bernard has organized every new department and energetically applied these same talents in shaping our program.

ROBERT R. UHL, '49, and law '50, of the legal firm of Redmon, Smith & Hull and a past President of the Decatur Jr. Assn. of Commerce was elected Vice President. He had expeditiously organized our constitution and proceedings.

GEORGE H. HUBBARD, '54, teamed with his classmate in keeping the fire ablaze and seeing that our activities were equitably financed. He is our Club Treasurer and propitiously is in the Treasurers' office of the Illinois Power Company.

Continued correspondence, both with Notre Dame and local Alumni, was carried out by MILTON J. BEAUDINE, '54. Our new Secretary is a chemical engineer with A. E. Staley Manufacturing Co. It may appear that good work is rewarded by more work, could be. But perhaps the fall-out of his correspondence may engender other individuals or clubs. Also, his class should become aware of his secretarial follow-through come class elections, 1959.

FATHER A. D. LeBRETON, '42, was elected Chaplain.

BERNARD B. LIVERGOOD, '24; SY RAPIER, '34; and A. C. MORAN, JR., were elected directors.

All this was properly brought before the membership by JOHN FOY, '34, Chairman of the nominations committee, consisting of himself and ALLAN LANDOLT '50. It was such a classic nominating speech that the swish of the train was hardly audible.

When Sy Rapiere humorously commented on the political ethics of Fey's engineering, Rapiere was promptly named Chairman of our Communion Breakfast, December 14, 1957.

Bernard Marty and Bob Uhl are Co-Chairmen of the annual fall dinner party, October 15, 1958.

BERNARD LIVERGOOD resourcefully provided last summer's golf outing and accepted to repeat June 25, 1958.

It's difficult to believe that a man who spends less than ten seconds a day on his hair can rate such an attractive fiancée but somehow Beaudine does. He's getting married June 14th, he was Chairman of Universal Notre Dame night, May 7, 1958!

—STEPHEN G. GRALIKER, C. L. U., '42.

Decatur celebrated the "Wearin' of the Green" on Monday night, March 17, with a party and dance at the Decatur Club. BUZZ MORAN was chairman of the event and did a wonderful job. About 11:30 p.m. Buzz brought out the corned beef on rye to go with the beer that had been and continued to be consumed. Everyone had a wonderful time, and our green derbies are off to Buzz.

We celebrated Universal Notre Dame Night on Wednesday, May 7, with a dinner party at the Blue Mill. Speeches were capped by a showing of the color film "Notre Dame." This was our first annual UND Night celebration and from the support it received these affairs will continue for a long time to come.

ALLAN LANDOLT has been appointed loan officer of the Northtown Bank, Decatur.

BERNIE LIVERGOOD is cooking up plans for a golf outing in June, while our one-man membership committee JIM UHL is busy bringing new members into the fold. Fruit of his efforts so far are: CHARLES NELSON, ED KEENAN, GEORGE JOHNSON, LEO V. GREEN and JIM MONTE-DONICO.

We are having trouble trying to keep up on the whereabouts of our esteemed president BERNIE MARTY, who is flitting about the country attending sales meetings. I myself was fortunate to get away from it all for a few weeks at the expense of the U. S. Navy for a two-week training cruise in San Diego.

We are still holding our monthly luncheons on the fourth Wednesday of each month at Greiders Cafe. And we are still looking for our first out-of-town visiting alumni.

—MILT BEAUDINE, Secy.

Denver

FRANK LEAHY was scheduled as guest speaker at the Denver Club celebration of Universal Notre Dame Night on April 7.

Des Moines

On December 8th, the feast of the Immaculate Conception, the Notre Dame Alumni Club of Des Moines held its annual communion breakfast. About twenty-five members of the club were present for the Mass at St. Ambrose Cathedral in downtown Des Moines, and the breakfast which followed at the Hotel Fort Des Moines.

On December 27th our club held its annual blue and gold ball at the Savory Hotel in Des Moines. Approximately three hundred fifty alumni and friends of the University attended. As always this was the social highlight of the club year.

Prospects for the forth coming year appear very favorable. As always the club is endeavoring to increase the warm and enthusiastic feeling for the University which exists here in Des Moines.

—TOM NOLAN, Secy.-Treas.

Duluth

About 40 alumni and friends of Notre Dame gathered in April to pay tribute to the University on Universal Notre Dame Night.

Eastern Kansas

At a Universal Notre Dame Night celebration in Topeka, Kansas, April 7, an unrestricted check for $415 was presented to the Notre Dame Foundation by the Notre Dame Club of Eastern Kansas. About 25 were present for the meeting including wives and friends. REV. RICHARD J. GRIMM represented the University and gave a talk on the future of Notre Dame. The latest campus movies were also shown. Father Grimm was introduced by Club President, T. HENRY DEVLIN. Chairman was JOHN PARRY.

El Paso

National Alumni President F. L. "MIKE" LAYDEN was a guest of the El Paso Club for Universal Notre Dame Night on April 29.

Evansville

On Sunday, December 8, a communion breakfast was held for Notre Dame men and members of their families at the Evansville Country Club. Featured at the breakfast was the new Notre Dame Campus Film which drew high praise from all.

Saturday, January 11, was the date of the annual Notre Dame Christmas party for the area alumni and their guests. The party this year was attended by 63 couples who were treated to a cocktail hour, under the supervision of ED KEMPF and FRED DEWES, followed by a smorgasbord and dancing to some real lively music.

REV. ALFRED F. MENDEZ, C.S.C., represented the University at Evansville's Universal Notre Dame Night April 14.

—R. EUGENE JOHNSON, Secy.-Treas

The following men have been elected for office for this year at our meeting of March 13: President, ROBERT K. GRIFFIN, 43; Vice-President, ROBERT A. TEWKSBURY, '47; Secretary, WILLIAM F. GRIFFIN, '48, and Treasurer, JOHN H. DWYER, '55.

—FRANCIS J. KOWALSKI, Past Pres.

Flint

REV. JOHN J. CAVANAUGH, C.S.C., Director of the Notre Dame Foundation, represented the University at the Universal Notre Dame Night meeting of the Flint Club on April 8.

Fort Lauderdale

The new officers of the Notre Dame Club of Fort Lauderdale include: FRANK McDONOUGH, FRANK McGINN, and JOHN McGINN, all in the real estate business in nearby Pompano Beach; and Tom Murray, teaching at Rogers Jr. High at the Naval Air Station.

Elected to the board of directors were: CHARLIE BACHMAN and BILL McALPIN.

At the January meeting a large group heard FATHER CUNNINGHAM, C.S.C., Director of the Faculty at the University, tell of the new curricula and latest developments at school. FATHER EDWARD KELLER, C.S.C., Director of the Economic Institute at Notre Dame, also spoke.

The Club recently started a blood bank for members and their families, and DICK FEDDERS, swimming coach at Fort Lauderdale High, became the first to have his membership card stamped "paid in blood."

At the February meeting members and their guests heard FATHER TOM O'DONNELL from the University, and JIM FRICK, Foundation Area Director for the Southeastern United States. They had films to show from the University to keep us abreast of our Alma Mater.

The Notre Dame Florida Convention, which is becoming a southeastern states convention, was held here this year on April 18th, 19th, and 20th. Convention-goers are agreed that the Sea Ranch Hotel and Cabana Club is the ultimate in Gold Coast vacationing, so there was no change of locale. The big convention news was the speaker: FATHER EDMUND JOYCE, C.S.C., executive vice-president of the University.

—TOM MURRAY, Secy.

Fort Wayne

On Sunday, December 8, 1957, the Notre Dame club of Fort Wayne held its annual Communion Breakfast. The Mass was at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception and the breakfast was at the Keenan hotel. FATHER WILLIAM LESTER, club chaplain, was the speaker. Chairman for this event was HENRY HASLEY, '28. Co-chairman was JAMES BATES, '51.

Another December event for the local club was its co-sponsorship of a Christmas dance (December 27) with the campus Notre Dame Club. The annual dance was held at the American Legion Post No. 47. Chairman for this event was JEROME J. O'DOWD, '42. His committee included JACK SCHENKEL, ED GEORGE, and RALPH BLUME.

On January 10, 1958 the Fort Wayne alumni had the opportunity to see the current Notre Dame basketball team play Valparaiso University as the feature of a high school and college doubleheader program. It was a double victory for the Irish. Our local Central Catholic Irish defeated Concordia Lutheran High School and the Notre Dame Irish easily defeated Valparaiso. The local club, under the chairmanship of DICK ROSENTHAL, '54, assisted the host school Valparaiso in making this event a financial success. Attendance numbered more than 7,000 people. Dick was also chairman of the Pre-Lenten Smoker held at the Centlivre Social Room February 10. TERRY COONAN, C.C.H.S. basketball coach, was guest speaker and showed movies of Central Catholic games.

ART FRERICKS was chairman of a very successful retreat held Sunday, March 9, at Sacred Heart Seminary.

FATHER JOHN J. CAVANAUGH, C.S.C., was the University guest at the Club's Universal Notre Dame Night observance April 22.

—JOSEPH H. DANIEL, Secy.

Green Bay

TOM HEARDEN is rapidly recovering from a stroke suffered last summer and gradually working into duties as defensive coach with the Green Bay Packers. LOU RYMKUS resigned as Packer line coach to accept a similar job with the Los Angeles Rams.

Prexy JOE NEUFELD acquired the Schmitt Brothers quartet, former national SPESQSA champions, for Universal Notre Dame Night. The foursome, incidentally, sang at Joe's wedding to the former Eveleen Everson last October.

Some 70 couples attended our U.N.D. Night celebration.

Newcomers to the Green Bay area include: DR. RICHARD L. MYERS, DR. DANIEL W. SHEA, JERRY KUSKOWSKI, and JOHN HOFF. They were officially welcomed to the club (i.e., dues taken) on U.N.D. Night.

—TOM MURPHY, Secy.

Harrisburg

On February 20 the Notre Dame Club of Harrisburg held a stag party at the home of EDWARD R. ECKENRODE, SR. Highlights of the 1957 Football Season and a film of Notre Dame were shown. The party was well attended and a fine time was had by all.

The Club regrets the death of EDWARD C. SMITH, SR., Class of 1901, who died this month. Mr. Smith was the oldest member in the Club and was active in club activities while his health permitted. The Club had a Mass said for Mr. Smith and extended its sympathy to the family of the deceased.

Universal Notre Dame Night was an extremely successful occasion bringing REV. THOMAS J. O'DONNELL, C.S.C., and JOHN MacCAULEY as guests from the University.

—ROLAND H. BERGER, JR., '52, Secy.

Hiawathaland

JIM ARMSTRONG, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, was guest speaker at the Club's annual Universal Notre Dame dinner at the Riverside Country Club, Menominee, Mich. About 65 alumni and friends from the area attended the event at which MIKE O'HARA was a surprised recipient of the "Notre Dame Man of the Year" award.

Houston

March 16th, 1958 was the occasion of the Club's Annual Lenten Communion breakfast with the Ladies Auxiliary. Seventy-five members were present, and everyone profited by the fine talk made by the Auxiliary Chaplain, FATHER FRANCIS MONAGHAN. After receiving Communion in a body at St. Anne's Church the group assembled at the Briar Club for breakfast and the program in keeping with Lent.

Response has been very good to our club's efforts for locating alumni who are new to our area. Interest in our activities by new members has been most gratifying.

President LEIGHTON YOUNG '37, set April 16 as Universal Notre Dame Night and everyone was very pleased to have FATHER JOHN CAVANAUGH as the principal speaker. The setting of this annual event was at the River Oaks Country Club. About 300 members and guests attended.

The University Golf Team was the guest of the local club during the Easter vacation. While in Houston they played in the Southwestern Intercollegiate sponsored by the University of Houston. It was a great pleasure having the boys here, and we look forward to their visit being an annual affair.

—LEO LINBECK, JR., Secy.

Indianapolis

Members enjoyed seeing the "Football Highlights of 1957" film and meeting Assistant Coach BERNIE WITUCKI at a special meeting February 11.

The Indianapolis Club held its Universal Notre Dame Night dinner, at the Athenaeum April 21, under the chairmanship of TOM O'BRIEN, '53. The main speaker was FATHER JOHN J. CAVANAUGH.

BILL WELCH, '57, has accepted appointment by the directors as executive secretary of the club. His address is 23 W. Ohio St., Indianapolis.

—JOE HERRINGTON, '50, Secy.

Jackson

The new officers for the coming year for the Jackson Notre Dame Club are: President, JAMES F. MORTELL; Vice-President, WILLIAM A. DOTTERWEICH; Secretary, GERARD L. MEYER; Treasurer, CYRIL J. HARTMAN; to the Board of Directors were elected LESTER WISDA and LYMAN HILL.

The club observed Universal Notre Dame Night with MORTELL and BLAIR MCGOWAN handling the arrangements. A golf stag outing and Communion breakfast are being planned for the late spring.

—GERARD L. MEYER, Secy.

Kankakee Valley

Alumni Secretary JAMES E. ARMSTRONG was a University guest at the Valley Club's observance of Universal Notre Dame Night April 17.

Kansas City

The last affair of the club here in Kansas City was the annual Christmas dance that was held last year on the night of December 26 at the Hotel President in downtown Kansas City. Activities got under way promptly at 7:30 when the cocktail hour began. At 8:30 the dinner bell was sounded and 310 people sat down to a roast beef dinner. Dress was informal throughout the whole evening. Music by Les Copley and his orchestra drifted over the crowd from 9:30 until 1 a.m., when the affair came to an end. The crowd was made up of both alumni and students, and was one of the largest crowds in the history of the dance. An autographed football, donated by the student club, was the door prize, and appropriately enough was won by a student, STEVE SHERWOOD. Corsages were passed out at the door to the ladies. Co-chairman for the affair were GEORGE HIGGINS and BERNIE FINUCANE, assisted as always by the officers of the club and Mr. RUSS FARRELL, immediate past president of the club. Thanks to many others, on a list too long to put down, are also extended. Proceeds from the dance, which were not too large, were given to the WILLIAM ROCKHILL NELSON Scholarship Fund.

The 1957 Alumni Fund Drive, under the able supervision of Mr. JOE STEWART, came to a close in December. Final results were not available at this writing, but from rough estimates received to this date, the club and all alumni in this area made an outstanding showing. Final percentage of all local alumni will be included in our next report.

Congratulations are extended to Joe Stewart on his election to the Alumni Association Board in December.

On March 3rd a number of the officers and members attended the annual Rockne Dinner, an event held in Kansas City each year to commemorate the passing of Knute Rockne. Although not sponsored by the Club itself, it always has many of its audience drawn from the Alumni Club membership. Awards are presented to various sports luminaries for deeds during the past year.

St. Patrick's Day did not find any scheduled Notre Dame Club function, but many of its members were noticeable at many of the Irish establishments around town, such as Danny Hogarty's and The Famous downtown, to name a few.

The big event was Universal Notre Dame Night, which was held here in Kansas City on Monday night, April 14, at the Hotel President. We were fortunate in having the REV. EDMUND P. JOYCE, C.S.C., vice-president of the University, come down and talk to us. A crowd of about 200 people included alumni, wives and friends interested in the doings of the University.

The week preceding the Notre Dame Night affair, the student club at the University held its annual Easter dance at Drexel Hall in Kansas City. As in the past, the attendance was largely made up of students and their dates, but there was a good sprinkling of alumni to be seen.

With the reunion week end coming around the corner in June, many of the members here in Kansas City are anticipating a week end at Notre Dame. Among this hale and hearty group are JACK RUSSELL, '43, BOB OWEN, '43, JOHN TROUP, '43, RUSS FARRELL, '48, ED AYLWARD, '48, BUD MASSMAN, '53, GEORGE HIGGINS, '53, and H. J. MASSMAN, JR., '28, to name a few. I understand that there will be more, but at this writing the complete list has not yet been made up. Congratulations to all of them for what will be undoubtedly a fine week end.

The 1938 Scholarship Program, under the able direction of CRAIG WHITAKER, is now getting off to a start. The popular movie "Notre Dame" is being shown around town, and the applicants for the scholarship from Kansas City will soon be getting set to take the first battery of tests.

A new innovation of the Club is the up and coming stage nights. Present plans call for the Club to arrange a movie from the University to be shown, and have a program of good cheer, via various liquid stabilizers, and the movies. The nominal fee for admittance will more than be enough to reimburse to those attending through the good cheer and informal gathering.

Summer plans in the background call for the students picnic to be held in the early part of the summer, followed by the annual alumni barbecue picnic in August. Plans for these two affairs are in the making, and at this writing, it is too early to tell just where, when, how, etc.

The next report of the Notre Dame Club here in Kansas City may be postmarked Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, as your writer is presently awaiting orders to report to active duty in the Army Reserve. Anyway, we'll see you next time!

—JOHN T. MASSMAN, '56, Secy.

Kentucky

The Notre Dame Club of Kentucky held three monthly business meetings during December, January and February respectively. Plans were laid during these meetings for the Christmas Dance, Notre Dame—University of Louisville Basketball Game, Universal Notre Dame Night, Corporate Communion Breakfast, election of officers, Annual Retreat at Gethsemani, Ky., and other local matters.

The club gathered together to say the rosary for two members who died during this period, namely, MARTIN F. SULLIVAN, SR., and FRANK R. CAHILL. Our sympathy is extended to the families of these men.

The club sent congratulations to Mrs. LOUIS M. NICOLIN on the arrival of their little girl, Eleanor Carol.

Our winter Corporate Communion Breakfast was a family affair and the attendance was not so good due to the cold weather and sickness that prevailed during the time. The next Communion Sunday was held on March 30, 1938 at St. Mary Magdalen Church. Special effort brought a good turnout in Our Lady's honor.

The Christmas Dance was held December 26, 1937 at the Provincial House. A very good showing was made by both students and alumni to give a real boost to the Holiday Season. The dance was very capably supervised by President JIM HENNESSY, with the students doing an excellent job on the decorations.

May 23, 24 and 25, 1938 was set as the week end of the Annual Retreat at The Abbey of Our Lady of Gethsemani, Trappist, Ky. All members were urged to make a special effort to bring a non-Catholic friend to enjoy the quiet and peace of the Kentucky hills.

On April 19 we put on our Universal Notre Dame Night. The guest speaker was REV. JOHN J. CAVANAUGH, C.S.C.

—JOSEPH S. BOWLING, '52, Secy.

La Crosse

The Notre Dame Club of La Crosse held the annual Memorial Mass and Communion Breakfast on February 23, 1938 at St. Dominic's Monastery. FATHER THOMAS NINNEMAN, club Chaplain, was celebrant at Mass and principal speaker at the breakfast.

The series of Holy Hours inaugurated by the club have met with great success. They are held on special feasts of the Blessed Mother. On February 3, 1938, the feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin, the club had a fine turn out of Alumni, their wives and friends. The next Holy Hour was March 25, 1938, the feast of the Annunciation. FATHER THOMAS NINNEMAN conducts the services. ROGER ZOELLNER and JIM KRONER, the co-chairmen, have done a fine job getting the club out.

April 13 was our Universal Notre Dame Night. JOE BECKER, president and chairman of the celebration, planned a fine evening. A banquet at the Stoddard Hotel was preceded by a cocktail reception for the members, their wives and friends. FATHER THOMAS BRENNAN, C.S.C., Ph.D., of the Philosophy Department of the University, was guest speaker. JIM KRONER and STEVE PAVELA were on the committee. Another great success was achieved.

The club is proud of the fine attendance at their functions this past year and welcome to the club TOM SAGGAU who recently transferred to La Crosse

—JERRY HEBERLEIN, Secy.

Lehigh Valley

The annual Communion Sunday was observed on December 8, 1937 at Mary Immaculate Seminary, breakfast following in the Hotel Bethlehem. Reverend Francis L. Meade, C.M., was the speaker. ROBERT P. (BERT) DADAY acted as Chairman of the event and our thanks to him for a fine job done.

The annual reception for students and their guests was held in the Livingston Club on December 28, 1937. This year the affair was extended to include dinner and dancing, and a good time was had by all. TOM LENNON and TOM MAGILL were the co-chairmen, and our thanks also to them for an equally fine job.

We are pleased to have as a new member KIRK REILLY who has moved to Allentown recently to become business manager of the Allentown area baseball team. Kirk attended our regular monthly meeting on January 24, 1938, and we are indebted to him for the showing of the film on the Boston Red Sox (Parent of the local club). Welcome to the club Kirk and the best of success in your new venture!

New officers were installed on Universal Notre Dame Night observed this year on April 12, 1938. They will be announced in the next issue. FATHER TOM O'DONNELL and JOHN MACCAULEY of the N. D. Foundation were guests at this event.

—LOU WYNNE, Secy.

Los Angeles

The L.A. Club Universal Notre Dame Night Banquet was held Monday, April 14, in the Main Dining Room of the Los Angeles Athletic Club. The principal speaker was Laughlin Waters, U. S. District Attorney.

New officers installed at the banquet were: DONLEY L. BRADY, '49, President; ED. W. SHEERAN, '31, First Vice-President; FRANK J. MEYER, '38, Second Vice-President, and EUGENE CALHOUN, '33, Secretary-Treasurer.

New directors include JIM BACON, DONLEY L. BRADY, EUGENE CALHOUN, GERALD COWHIG, WALTER J. COVINGTON, FRANK M. DE LA VINA, ART C. FIEDLER, STEVE FINAN, ROBERT HEUTHER, BOB K. KELLEY, JACK LEONARD, ROBERT P. LONERGAN, JOHN B. McARDLE, GEORGE R. MEEKER, FRANK J. MEYER, DR. WM. MOLONY, JR., HOWARD J. O'NEIL, CARL J. RAUSCH, PAUL J. RIGALI, ART T. RYAN, BEN SALVATY, ED. W. SHEERAN, EZRA SMITH, CHARLES E. STINE, DR. LEO V. TURGEON and PAUL WADDELL.

Memphis

Assistant Coach BERNIE CRIMMINS was a guest of honor at the Memphis Club Universal Notre Dame Night April 8.

Miami

The annual Christmas dinner-dance of the Greater Miami Notre Dame Alumni Club was held on December 14 at the Miami Shores Country Club. The affair, preceded by a cocktail party was a huge success and enjoyed by the alumni and friends, who followed the dinner in singing Christmas carols.

Father Keller, a guest visitor from the University attended. The party was planned and completely arranged for by the wives of the alumni, headed by Betty Zorovich.

On January 9th the Notre Dame Club of Greater Miami held its first meeting at the Urney Hotel, 34 S.E. 2nd Ave., downtown Miami, the future meeting place on the first Thursday (night) of each month. Among the visiting guests attending was Buckey O'Connor.

The highlight of the meeting was the election and installation of the new Club Officers and members of the Board of Directors. They are as follows: President, CHAS. E. MAHER, '35; 1st Vice-Pres., JAMES A. SMITH, '48; 2nd Vice-Pres., W. DAN ROWLANDS, '50; Secretary, DR. WILLIAM B. WELCH, '48, and Treasurer, ARTHUR C. BERGEN, '31. To the Board of Directors: MICHAEL J. ZOROVICH, EDWARD J. HANLY, JR., MICHAEL O'NEIL and JEROME P. HOLLAND. Holdover Directors: EDWARD A. KELLY, GEORGE A. BRAUTIGAM and JOHN A. KOTTE.

The Miami Club took part in a joint observance of Universal Notre Dame Night at the Florida State Convention at Fort Lauderdale, where the guest speaker was the University's Executive Vice-President FATHER NED JOYCE.

JACK HOUGHTLING and CHARLIE MAHER attended the football banquet of West Palm Beach St. Ann's High on January 21 and presented Miami Club All-Florida Catholic football honors to grid aces Dick Lepeska and Jack DeMarco.

Well over a hundred "Irish" showed up for Mass and Communion at Gesu Church and breakfast atop the Columbus Hotel February 23. Visiting fireman from the campus were Foundation execs JIM FRICK and FATHER TOM O'DONNELL, who celebrated Mass. Thanks to FATHER H. A. GAUDIN, S.J., pastor at Gesu.

The March meeting brought one of the largest turnouts ever enjoyed at a regular meeting. GEORGE COURY gave an interesting and informative talk on the Arab problem in the Near East.

Coming events this year include a Christmas party to be held at Coral Gables Country Club and a Universal Notre Dame Communion Sunday on Nov. 30.

Michigan City

On Saturday February 1st of this year the Notre Dame Club of Michigan City held its annual Mid Winter Frolic at the Skwiat Legion Post in Michigan City. The following officers were installed at this meeting: Pres., LOUIS BLACK, '49; Vice-Pres., EDWARD DWYER, '50; Secretary, NORBERT SCHAAF, '50, and Treasurer, WILLIAM PRIEBE, '53.

As a Program for the evening the alumni and their wives and guests viewed the "Notre Dame" film sponsored by the Notre Dame Foundation. The meal was served cabaret style and there was dancing following the film.

All the members were saddened by the unexpected death of one of their members, WILLIAM A. PFISTER, B.S. Com., '47, who lived at Stop 27 Long Beach Michigan City. Bill died Sept. 15, 1957, and funeral services were held at Notre Dame Parish at Long Beach.

Universal Notre Dame Night was observed April 12.

—NORBERT SCHAAF, Secy.

Milwaukee

"The University Today" was the topic for the speech given by Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., at the Universal Notre Dame Night Banquet held April 14. His tremendously received talk highlighted the affair which was attended by the largest turnout in the history of the Milwaukee Club. Honored guests in attendance to honor the President of the University of Notre Dame included: Honorable Vernon W. Thomson, Governor of the State of Wisconsin; Honorable Frank P. Zeidler, Mayor of the City of Milwaukee; Dr. J. Martin Klotche, Provost of the University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee; Mr. Harold Vincent, Superintendent of Milwaukee Public Schools; BROTHER LAWRENCE MILLER, C.S.C., Director of St. Charles Boys Home; and numerous business and civic leaders from the Wisconsin area. Toastmaster JAMES A. BYRNE, President of the University of Notre Dame Club of Milwaukee, presented the Man-of-the-Year Award to JOHN P. CULLEN. Mr. Cullen was chosen for the award based on his activities as Manager of the Veteran's Administration in Milwaukee and the state of Wisconsin, his exemplary Christian leadership in Church and civic affairs, and his participation in the activities of the local organization. Co-Chairmen for the U.N.D. Night Banquet were Vice-President R. J. SULLIVAN and CHARLES O'NEILL, Executive Secretary of the St. Vincent De Paul Society; Public Relations was headed by HENRY GARVEY; Finances were handled by WALT SCHNEIDER and ANGELO GALDABINI. A reception at the Milwaukee Athletic Club was attended by the honored guests, officers of the Milwaukee Club, and members of the committee and their wives.

March 10 found the Milwaukee Club hosting at a Sports Night Smoker in the St. John's Cathedral Auditorium. The large crowd in attendance witnessed the 1957 Notre Dame Football Highlights and heard Coach TERRY BRENNAN review his career as grid mentor at Notre Dame and were very pleased to hear of his optimism for the 1958 season. The session was enlivened by Toastmaster LARRY "MOON" MULLINS who called on a number of sports celebrities on hand to ask Terry Brennan some questions. Former Notre Dame sports greats who took a bow and put questions to Coach Brennan included LOU RYMKUS, JACK VAINISI, BILL SCHALLER, TOM VEECH, JOHN MAZUR, FRANK "BLACKIE" JOHNSON, ED MIEZKOWSKI. Such other notables in the sports world as "Baby Joe" Gans, Hank Marino, C. R. "Buckets" Goldenberg, George McBride, Charlie Blossfield, Russ Rebholz, and Eddie Race attended. Profits from the event were turned into the Notre Dame Scholarship Fund. WALT SCHNEIDER, R. J. SULLIVAN, and BILL WOODWARD, handled the finances; JOE MESEC and MARK HEALY were in charge of the concessions, and JOHN MANION directed the arrangements.

All members of the Milwaukee organization were asked to attend the general meeting held in May. Its purpose was to elect officers for the 1958-59 fiscal year.

Muskegon

JOHN JORDAN, head coach of the Notre Dame basketball team, was a guest of honor from the University at the Universal Notre Dame Night observation of the Notre Dame Club of Greater Muskegon.

Naugatuck Valley

EDWARD W. KRAUSE, Athletic Director of the University, spoke at the Universal Notre Dame Night gathering of the Naugatuck Valley Club in Waterbury, Connecticut, April 13.

New Jersey

Throwing down a challenge they'd like very much to see taken up across the country, the New Jersey alumni made their club the first Notre Dame association to contribute to the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame. Club President RAY TROY, '34, presented Executive Committeeman JIM McGOLDRICK, '39, with a check for $250.00 in support of the National Football Foundation's program to erect a fitting Hall of Fame at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, New Jersey. Jim has been assigned a substantial quota and will need all the assistance his many friends can give him. To assure that our own all-time greats receive consideration and recognition, it seems proper that the individual alumni clubs play a leading role in raising the Notre Dame quota. Of the 110 players and 43 coaches elected to the Hall of Fame so far, only 3 players (Gipp, Carideo and Layden) and 1 coach (Rockne) come from Notre Dame. By contrast, players from eastern schools are being admitted by squads and platoons. Let's give Jim the help he needs.

Presentation of our check was made at the Annual Communion Breakfast, which was held at Sorrento's Restaurant in Newark on December 7, after Mass celebrated at Sacred Heart Cathedral. Speakers included the Rt. Rev. MSGR. THOMAS J. CONROY, HARRY STUHLDRER, JOSEPH M. BYRNE, JR., '15, and JIM MCGOLDRICK. Chairman JIM FITZSIMMONS, '50, surprised the group by presenting Alice McCoy for a delightful interlude of tastefully chosen songs.

Visitors to the Newark area are reminded of the Club's First Friday luncheons at Kelly's Sea Food Restaurant.

Universal Notre Dame Night was celebrated on April 9 at Mayfair Farms under the direction of ELMER MATTHEWS, '47, and GEORGE PLAIN, '39. REV. THEODORE HESBURGH, C.S.C., was the guest of honor at the event.

New Mexico

FRANCIS L. "MIKE" LAYDEN, 1958 President of the Notre Dame Alumni Association, was the guest of the New Mexico Club for its Universal Notre Dame Night celebration in Albuquerque, N. M., April 28.

New Orleans

The Notre Dame Club of New Orleans has had large gatherings within the past few months.

A cocktail party and buffet luncheon was held at the Metairie Country Club to watch the Notre Dame-Oklahoma Game on Television. This party was very well attended and needless to say the results were very gratifying. As the guests of the Notre Dame Club of New Orleans we were honored in having Mr. and Mrs. JOSEPH ECUYER, parents of ALLE ECUYER. Arrangements for this party were handled by JOSEPH B. DAVID III and TOM McMAHON, JR.,

Our Club had its annual holiday gathering with the students and their parents Sunday night, December 29th. It was at this party that ALLEN ECUYER was presented his International News Service All-America award and the Club was very fortunate in having Line Coach BILL FISCHER as principal speaker.

On Thursday, January 30th, the Notre Dame Club of New Orleans had a farewell luncheon for JOHN MAZUR, who is leaving New Orleans to become an assistant coach at Marquette University in Milwaukee.

REV. JOHN J. CAVANAUGH, C.S.C., Director of the Notre Dame Foundation, was our guest for Universal Notre Dame Night on Monday, April 14.

CHARLES DUKE, new Managing Director of Moisant International Airport here in New Orleans, was pleasantly surprised to meet BILL FISCHER at our December 29th party, the two having been neighbors in South Bend.

The members of the Notre Dame Club of New Orleans extend their heartfelt sympathy to ANDY PILNEY on the recent death of his mother.

—JAMES E. SMITH, Pres.

New York

On November 13, 1957, a good old fashioned smoker was held at the New York Athletic Club. Over one hundred New York alumni gathered around to shoot the bull. I am sure that the Army was replayed yard by yard innumerable times during the evening.

The Twentieth Annual Communion Breakfast of the Notre Dame Club of New York was held on Sunday, December 8, 1957 at the Park Lane Hotel, Park Avenue, New York City. The New York Club was the originator of this activity and this year's breakfast, we considered to be the most successful ever sponsored by the Club.

Guests of Honor included the Junior Senator

ERIE—Thirty-five Notre Dame alumni took part in the 39th annual Communion Breakfast sponsored in March by the Guard of Honor of St. Ann's Church, Erie, Pa., founder of the Communion breakfast movement in the Erie diocese. At the head table were (left to right); Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., '23, director of the Notre Dame Foundation; His Excellency Most Rev. John Mark Gannon, D.D., D.C.L., LL.D., Archbishop-Bishop of Erie and the senior prelate of the U. S.; Robert A. Barber, '40, toastmaster and president of the Guard of Honor, and Rev. J. Joseph Downing, pastor of St. Ann's.

from Massachusetts and possible presidential candidate for 1960, Senator JOHN KENNEDY; the Vatican City Representative to the Atoms for Peace Conference in Vienna, Mr. FRANK FOLSOM, Rt. Rev. MSGR. VOIGHT, Secretary for Education in the Diocese of New York and FATHER WILLIAM MORRISON, C.S.C., representing the University.

Over two hundred thirty-eight alumni and their wives were present at this wonderful gathering.

The Annual Scholarship Fund Drive arrived at a successful conclusion on January 15, 1958. Over $3,800.00 was raised to send a boy to Notre Dame.

The 1958 Ford Country Squire stationwagon was won by Mr. JOSEPH J. CERVONE of West Medford, Massachusetts, who had purchased the chance while traveling from New York to Philadelphia for the Army-Notre Dame game.

The Seller's Prize, which was a choice of one of the following: 1. a mink stole; 2. a $1,000.00 U.S. "E" Bond; 3. a complete wardrobe of Ceil Chapman Originals; 4. a Crosby-Alison fiberglass motorboat, or 5. a two weeks cruise (for two) to the Caribbean on the S.S. Homeric, was won by Mr. LOUIS J. BREITER, the father of ROBERT BREITER, '52. Mr. Breiter selected the $1,000.00 U.S. "E" Bond.

We wish to thank the following for assisting the Club in this worthy activity: JIM SHIELS, HUBERT SCHLAFLY, TOM McEVILY, BOB REALE, HERB KENYON, JACK MURPHY, MIKE MAL-LARDI, JACK HOYT, JOHN DUFFY, GENE MAGUIRE, DONN DUFFY, BILL FALLON, FLO MCCARTHY, JOHN ZWICKER, JOSEPH FRIEL, BILL MURPHY, HERB McDADE, TOM LANTRY, JOHN ABATEMARCO, BUD MULVEY and JIM KOMINSKEY.

The following men have been elected Officers of the Notre Dame Club of New York for the year 1958: BUD MULVEY, President; GUS HARDART, Secretary; JIM SPELLMAN, Treasurer; ED NEAHER, Vice-President; TONY DIBARI, Vice-President, and JOE LORDI, Vice-President.

The Notre Dame Club of New York observed Universal Notre Dame Night at a formal dinner dance at the Park Lane Hotel on Thursday, April 10th. Father Hesburgh was the guest of honor. This year's U.N.D. Night was attended by over three hundred guests, and the Club considered it a very successful affair.

The Trust Fund of the Club has announced that it will receive applications for several scholarships to Notre Dame. BUD MULVEY, Club President, reported that, so far, he has received over a hundred applications for these scholarships.

The Club, conducted a very successful dinner party at Toots Shor's in conjunction with the Notre Dame-N.Y.U. basketball game. Bill Rogers chaired the affair, and approximately 100 turned out for the occasion. FATHER JOE BARRY, MOOSE KRAUSE, and BOB CAHILL were among the distinguished guests from the University.

—AUGUSTIN S. HARDART, JR., Sec.

Northern California

The N.D. Club of Northern California celebrated Universal Notre Dame Night on Monday, April 21, at Rickey's Red Chimney Restaurant in San Francisco. REV. THOMAS J. LANE, C.S.C., from the Notre Dame chemistry department, represented the University, and representatives were invited from Bay area colleges and universities.

North Florida

Universal Notre Dame Night was celebrated by the North Florida Notre Dame Club on Thursday, April 17, at the Officers Club, Naval Air Station, Jacksonville, Fla. The featured guest was FATHER EDMUND JOYCE, executive vice-president of Notre Dame. CHARLES M. MOUCH, JR., and AL KESSING shared the arrangements.

Oklahoma City

REV. GLENN BOARMAN, C.S.C., was honor guest from the University and featured speaker at the Universal Notre Dame Night observance of the Oklahoma City Club on April 29.

Orange County

EUGENE KENNEDY, a Vice-President and Director of the Notre Dame Alumni Association, was a guest at the Universal Notre Dame Night celebration of the Notre Dame Club of Orange County California on April 14.

Philadelphia

Club elections were held in January. WALTER GROTHAUS was re-elected to serve as President; JOHN MOORHEAD, Vice-President; BART JOHNSON, Treasurer; and JIM LEYDON, Secretary. Elected to serve on the Board of Directors were: JOHN P. DEMPSEY, THOMAS F. DEMPSEY, JOHN VOIT, BARTON B. JOHNSON and WILLIAM BURNS.

Mr. WILLIAM B. BALL, Professor of Law at Villanova University spoke to club members at the February meeting on the "Censorship Controversy." All who attended left the meeting better informed on the subject after Mr. Ball's fine presentation.

CLIFF JRODEHL, Chairman of Laetare Sunday activities, presented altar vestments on behalf of the Club of St. Ignatius Parish in Philadelphia.

The Philadelphia Club was host to the football coaches attending the NCAA Coaches' Conference held in Philadelphia in January. It was a real opportunity for club members to meet and talk with the top coaches from all over the country. This affair was a tremendous success and all who attended enjoyed it.

Universal Notre Dame Night was held again this year at the Cherry Hill Inn in New Jersey on April 27th. Our chairman was JERRY VOIT. We were fortunate to have JOHN JORDAN as our guest speaker.

The 1958 Man of the Year Award went to JOHN MOORHEAD for his untiring efforts in behalf of the University and our local club.

Another Philadelphian received recognition on this Universal Notre Dame Night. BOB DEVINE, Captain of the Notre Dame Basketball team, received special recognition for his contribution to Notre Dame's successful year on the court.

—JIM LEYDON, '49, Secy.

Pittsburgh

Our Dec. 8th Communion Breakfast was held at Srs. Cyril and Methodius Byzantine Catholic Seminary, with some 49 members attending. Program included a High Mass sung by the Choir, a wonderful Breakfast, Group Rosary, and last but not least, a showing of the new Notre Dame Film, which the members received with great enthusiasm.

We also had a wonderful 32nd Annual Christmas Ball, which was a social as well as a financial success, with Messrs. Joe Gasparella and Joe Celento as Co-chairmen. There were some 210 people in attendance. A local Notre Dame Glee Club provided entertainment. Favors included large Santa Claus, which were raffled off to the most deserving woman at each table. Plans are now being made for our Communion Breakfast to be held February 23rd with Mr. George Corvin acting as Chairman.

The 35th Annual Observance of Notre Dame Night was held traditional second Monday after Easter. The Pittsburgh Club joined this worldwide commemoration with a dinner for Notre Dame men, their wives, their families and their friends at the Webster Hall Hotel.

Our guest of honor was The Very Reverend Vernon F. Gallagher, President of Duquesne University, and our Toastmaster was the well-known Mr. HARRY STUHLREHER. We had FATHER GALLAGHER as our main speaker to incorporate the University of Notre Dame with our local Institution, and how they tie into our over-all program for the local alumni. Mr. Stuhldreher gave us his usual fine job as Toastmaster, as well as presenting an over-all picture of Notre Dame's ten-year program. Many local men in the field of education were guests.

One of the events of the evening was the induction President-elect, CHARLES L. CHRISTEN; Vice-President, PETE FLAHERTY, Secretary: DON BEBENEK, and Treasurer HARRY PATTERSON, plus new Governors JIM McNULTY, CARL LINK, JOE GASPARELLA, PAUL ANDERSON and EARL BREIGER.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Notre Dame Man-of-the-Year award to a very wonderful member of the Club, DR. J. WM. MCGOWAN. Dr. McGowan graduated in 1925, and received a Masters Degree in 1926; he was the founder, and has been the head of the Catholic Youth Association of the Pittsburgh Diocese for the past 32 years; and he has been a Professor of Sociology at Duquesne University since 1930.

Phoenix

National Alumni President MIKE LAYDEN was a visitor at the Phoenix Club's Universal Notre Dame Night on April 26.

R. I. & S. E. Mass.

The club sponsored the appearance of the Notre Dame Concert Band in conjunction with its U.N.D. Night celebration. As in the most recent appearance of the Glee Club, this affair was held at Bayview

FORT LAUDERDALE—The Notre Dame Club of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., elected the four Notre Dame graduates pictured above to officership for the year 1958. Academy. In the past, the full proceeds from this affair were turned over to the Sisters of Mercy, but this year a portion of the proceeds will be channeled into the clubs loan fund and the balance will be given to the Sisters of Mercy.

The U.N.D. Night committee was headed by JAMES McMULLEN and he was helped by JOHN MAGUIRE, JOHN McLAUGHLIN, JOSEPH McDONALD and JAMES MURPHY.

JAMES MURPHY gathered front page headlines, complete with pictures, for his activities at the recent Rhode Island constitutional convention. James and Mrs. Murphy are also to be congratulated on the birth of a daughter.

The club has set up a no interest loan fund to help Notre Dame students from the area. It is hoped that this fund will continue to grow and that worthwhile aid can be given to all who need it.

—JOHN J. CURTIN, '48, Secy.

Rochester

A very successful Christmas dance was enjoyed by 175 couples at the University Club on the last Saturday in December. A roast beef dinner and dancing to Vic Sweet's orchestra was arranged by BILL DEMPSEY and Mrs. DON BOOTH co-chairmen. A committee of Mr. and Mrs. TOM HIGGINS, Mr. and Mrs. JACK DUFFY, Mr. and Mrs. JACK HEAGNEY, Mr. and Mrs. JOHN CASEY and Mr. and Mrs. TED KINTNER aided in making the evening very enjoyable.

A club smoker was held in February. Football Highlights of 1957 was shown at the meeting.

At the annual meeting in March a new slate of officers for the coming year was selected. DICK KLEE is the new President. He will be assisted by REGGIE MORRISON, Vice-President, PHIL FINNEGAN, Secretary, and BILL McCARTY, Treasurer. The new officers succeed TOM HIGGINS, JACK BURKE, BILL DEMPSEY and JOE CATTALANI, respectively.

Universal Notre Dame Night was held in Rochester on Friday April 11, on the Starlight roof of the Sheraton Hotel. BILL REEVES, GUS FALCONE and Mrs. JACK BURKE were in charge of the affair. We were fortunate to have ED "MOOSE" KRAUSE as our guest speaker.

The Ladies Auxiliary staged a Fashion Show for Mothers and Daughters in February. Mrs. REGGIE MORRISON and Mrs. MARK DOWLING were co-chairmen. Several events are in the planning stage for the late spring and early summer activities.

Rockford

REV. THOMAS J. BRENNAN addressed the Universal Notre Dame Night meeting of the Notre Dame Club of Rockford, Ill., April 14.

Rock River Valley

HUGH DEVORE, new Freshman football coach at the University, was guest speaker at the Universal Notre Dame Night dinner of the Notre Dame Club of Rock River Valley in Dixon, Ill., April 28.

Rome

The climax of 1957 was our annual Communion Day which happily took place on the Feast of The Immaculate Conception itself. As usual we celebrated this spiritual reunion at the General Curia of the Congregation of Holy Cross. Our Chaplain, FATHER EDWARD L. HESTON, C.S.C., offered a Solemn High Mass assisted by REV. JAMES DOIG, C.S.C., '54, as Deacon, and REV. LEVITE THERIAULT, C.S.C., as Sub Deacon. Father Heston preached on "Our Lady of Lourdes and Notre Dame" in honor of the forthcoming Lourdes Year.

The main feature of the breakfast following Mass was the installation of the Rome Club's first set of officers. Acting as Installing officer, FATHER BERNARD E. RANSING, C.S.C., Assistant General of the Congregation of Holy Cross, seated the following as club officers for 1958: WARREN J. ASHLEY, '33, President; GEORGE GLEASON, '37, Vice-President; VINCENT G. McALOON, '34, Secretary, and FATHER EDWARD L. HESTON, C.S.C., '30, Chaplain. With over sixty alumni and friends in attendance, we had as our special guests, members of the newly formed Student Council of Notre Dame International School.

In reply to a letter sent by the club president to President Eisenhower during his recent illness, we received a very cordial note of gratitude thanking the club for its prayers in Rome.

New N.D. people among us: MOTHER M. ALOYSI, S.N.D., '22, who has taken three degrees at N.D. and will be in Rome for some time. FATHER JAMES DATKO, O.M.I., '54, studying in Rome. BROTHER LUCIAN, C.R., a warm "subway" alumnus from South Bend itself, here on a microfilming assignment.

To start 1958 out well the club was honored to take part in a "triangular" charitable project: Father Ransing, TWA, and the N.D. Club succeeded in delivering to the door of St. Charles Hospital, Brooklyn, little Paul Tufano, seven-year-old son of AL TUFANO, our Rome "subway" alumnus, and employee of TWA. Paul is to receive gratis, treatment for polio at St. Charles at the request of Father Ransing; TWA flew the boy and his parents "for free" and the N.D. Club contacted the N.D. Club of New York City through its Chaplain, FATHER SEBASTIAN EGAN, O.F.M., '34, plus other friends, to offer assistance on the U. S. end.

His Eminence Gregory Peter XV CARDINAL AGAGIANIAN, Patriarch of Armenia of the Cilicians, was made an honorary member of the Rome Club before 120 alumni and guests at a Universal Notre Dame Night ceremony at Holy Cross International College April 14 in Vatican City. He spoke on Christian education and the Lourdes Centenary. Other guests were MSGR. WILLIAM DOHENY, C.S.C., of the Sacred Roman Rota, and REV. CHRISTOPHER O'TOOLE, C.S.C., Superior General of Holy Cross.

Finally, we always wish to repeat that our hospitality mat is out in Rome for all comers. Currently we are listed in the United States Embassy weekly bulletin. So come to Rome and let us make you feel at home.

—VINCE McALOON, Secy.

Saginaw Valley

Our Universal Notre Dame Night was held on April 7. FATHER CAVANAUGH was our honored guest for the evening. We extended invitations to members and their wives, along with a host of civic and educational leaders in the tri-cities of Midland, Bay City and Saginaw. Mayors and editors in each city were also invited. Industrial leaders in these communities attended a luncheon the same day to hear an informal talk by Father Cavanaugh. CARL W. DOOZAN headed the committee for Universal Notre Dame Night, and this was one of the biggest we have had. The major event was held at the Hotel Bancroft in Saginaw.

Our Family Communion Sunday was observed at St. James Church in Bay City, March 30, with a breakfast following at St. James for the families. Gerry Carroll was chairman of this event.

TOM CARROLL, GERRY CARROLL, BILL MEAGHER, and JOHN MEAGHER represented the Notre Dame Club's contribution toward the annual St. Patrick's Day Parade Committee in Bay City. This event has grown in stature until it is one of the largest parades outside of New York. On March 16, 20 marching units and 30 floats stretched a mile long before an estimated 50,000 people. 400 "Friendly Sons of St. Patrick" journeyed from Detroit to march in the parade. The preceding evening the University of Notre Dame Concert Band performed before a sellout crowd of 1200. The band was entertained that night at a party at the Wenonah Hotel in Bay City.

—CHARLES J. LENZ, Secy.

St. Louis

Our spring meeting was held early in February. The gathering was limited strictly to Club business with a discussion of our Scholarship Program by committee chairman RAY DONLAN.

Following the spring meeting a mail ballot was sent out for the election of four new members to the Board of Directors. Those taking office at U.N.D. Night were: BOB CHICKEY, BOB CONGANNON, PAT O'MEARA and JIM PHELAN. Also announced at Universal Notre Dame Night were the Club's officers for the next year, the Man-of-the-Year Winner and the Club's four-year Scholarship winner.

Unfortunately, at deadline, the names of these people were not available. However, we'll have a complete report in the next issue.

Our plans for Universal Notre Dame Night were handled by DICK MUCKERMAN and AL RAVARINO. The annual observance was held at the Hotel Chase on April 8 and was a couples affair. TERRY BRENNAN was the guest of honor.

Following U.N.D. Night on the Club's calendar of events will be our Second Annual Retreat to Our Lady of Fatima Retreat House at Notre Dame. JACK SULLIVAN and DICK KARR are in charge of arrangements. BOB ROSENTHAL and BILL EGGERS are handling this year's family picnic which is scheduled for June 14th. Rounding out the activities schedule will be our Annual Golf Tourney and Dinner on July 29. GEORGE DESLOGE and WARD DRISCOLL will be in charge.

Our monthly luncheons are still being held the second Monday of the month at the Key Club of the Hotel Sieraton-Jefferson.

—DON RATCHFORD, '50, Retiring Secy.-Treas.

St. Joseph Valley

After an extremely successful testimonial dinner for the Notre Dame football team and newly instituted Family Communion Breakfast in December the Valley Club had a large delegation at the Villager's March basketball testimonial, at which they were officially represented by Retiring President DON FISHER.

BERT METZGER, who played under KNUTE ROCKNE in his latter years as coach, was the featured speaker at the club's annual Rockne Memorial Communion Breakfast in the Morris Inn on the campus March 30. Other speakers were: Alumni Secretary JIM ARMSTRONG, and Club Chaplain REV. PHILIP MOORE, C.S.C. The breakfast was followed by a trip to Highland Cemetery for ceremonies at the graves of Rockne, Track Coach JOHN NICHOLSON and Basketball Coach GEORGE KEOGAN. Members of Rockne's family were in attendance.

Universal Notre Dame Night was also observed in the Morris Inn on April 28. REV. JOHN J. CAVANAUGH, C.S.C., was the featured speaker, describing the University's new development program. Members of the neighboring Elkhart Club were invited to this joint celebration.

Officers installed during the evening were: JOHN CACKLEY, '37, President; RUDY GOEPPFRICH, '26, Vice-President; JOE HICKEY, '50, Secretary, and ED MEEHAN, JR., '49, continuing as Treasurer. HERB JONES is Honorary President, and the new Club Chaplain is REV. JOHN E. WALSH, C.S.C. New Directors are: BILL GIBBONS, HARRY KOEHLER, JR., JAKE JANOWSKI and JACK POWERS.

The traditional Football Preview pitting the 1958 Notre Dame Varsity against the Irish Old Timers was held May 10. Proceeds go to the Valley Club's Scholarship Fund.

St. Petersburg-Tampa

St. Petersburg's Notre Dame Club held a dinner meeting at Al Kareem Club on Pinellas Point on Thursday, March 6, honoring FATHER THOMAS O'DONNELL and JIM FRICK, Directors of the Notre Dame Foundation.

Salina

On January 7 the new Bishop of the Salina Diocese was installed in Sacred Heart Cathedral. He is Frederick W. Freking. The Salina Notre Dame Club had a 700-foot movie made of the installation ceremonies, and ROBERT McAULIFFE presented the 700-foot film to Bishop Freking. The club received a lot of favorable comment locally.

At present the Salina Club is polling its supporters on the annual football trips. We are trying to determine if it is possible to get up a special train for the Southern California Game in Los Angeles. It's a big job and an expensive trip and I don't know if we're going to be able to get the necessary 150 people. So far, we've had about 40 replies to our questionnaire with about 50% indicating they would make the California trip, and the other 50% being divided as to whether they'd rather go to South Bend to a game or to Dallas for the Southern Methodist Game.

The Club sponsored a Retreat in Kansas City in March and although it's quite a trip over there we got two carloads lined up to go. Our Oklahoma trip was a decided success and we will have another nice contribution for the Foundation.

—ALBERT J. SCHWARTZ, Secy-Treas.

San Antonio

Officers and Directors of the San Antonio Club were elected at a luncheon meeting March 20.

New officers are: JOHN M. O'CONNELL, '53, President; EMMET CATER, '52, Vice-President, and WILLIAM F. MARKEY, '51, Secretary-Treasurer.

Directors include Past President JESSE POSTON, '49, MIKE CONLEY, '49, CHARLIE BLOMFIELD, '49, and A. C. "DOC" WADE, '36.

—JOHN M. O'CONNELL, Pres.

San Diego

The Notre Dame Club of San Diego conducted a business meeting March 10 for the election of new officers for the coming year, and the main topic of business after said election was, of course, the 35th Universal Notre Dame Night.

MSGR. STORM was the speaker at our local celebration.

The newly elected officers are as follows: President, F. J. (RED) DAVIS, '48; Vice-President, DICK DERENTHAL, '51; Secretary, JACK MURPHY,

'51; Treasurer, WALT GEUDTNER, '50; Chaplain, REV. JOHN D. GALLAGHER, '33, and Board of Directors: HUGO ROSSI, '42.

—F. J. (RED) DAVIS, Pres.

Scranton

At a recent meeting of our Scranton Club we elected new officers as follows: President, THOMAS J. HARRINGTON, '34; Vice-President, THOMAS P. COMERFORD, '42; Secretary, RICHARD J. JORDAN, '51, and Treasurer, JOSEPH M. McDADE, '53.

South Carolina

Our February meeting was held at the Holiday Inn in Charleston to welcome Coach Terry Brennan who was in town to address the CYO of S. C. Due to a delay in plane arrival Terry was unable to join us—but we were able to see him later at his hotel.

March 15 we held our St. Patrick's meeting in Columbia to present a Man of the Year plaque to REX ENRIGHT, '26, Athletic Director at the University of South Carolina.

Congratulations were in order for family additions to GEORGE NICHOLS, '49, twins (boy and girl); RONNIE McMANUS, '55, a girl, and NEIL McMANUS, '47, a girl.

We welcomed JOE JUDGE, '51, who with his wife Mary and four children recently moved to Charleston as manager of the Orkin Company. Joe came down from South Bend where he had been with the Associates Investment Corporation for seven years.

JOE CONDON, '49, was appointed Vice-President to fill out the term of LEO MAHONEY, '52, who recently moved out of the state. Our meeting in May was a family affair—a beach week end at Sullivan's Island.

—BILL GWINN, Secy.

Southeastern Wisconsin

Our annual Communion breakfast was held December 29 at St. Edward's Church in Racine and was well attended—even got some members there that hadn't been going to meetings.

We are all sorry to hear that WALT McDERMOTT, '45, our club president, is moving to California. He's sold his business in Kenosha and plans to set up again out West. We'll all miss him a lot—at organizing beer drinking picnics he was tops.

We held a business meeting in March for election of officers. ED RAYMOND is the new President; DONALD KOTZ, Vice-President; and JOSEPH KIVLIN, Secretary-Treasurer. Joe was also elected assistant secretary of S. C. Johnson and Son recently. This second position is a paid one incidentally.

At this meeting we also inaugurated a noon luncheon get-together on the first Friday of every month at the Racine Elks Club. We've found it gives the boys a chance to talk about everything except business. You'd be amazed how this has shortened the business meetings. If any of our readers are in the Racine vicinity on a First Friday, they are cordially invited to join us for lunch.

U.N.D. Night for our club was held April 22 at the Elks Club. Our speaker for the evening was FATHER JOYCE. Needless to say, we were very flattered to have him gracing our table. A good crowd was on hand for his remarks about the development of the University.

—RICHARD WM. MURPHY, 50, Secy-Treas.

Terre Haute

The University of Notre Dame Club of Terre Haute, Indiana had quite an active winter season. Under the guiding hand of President JOHN MURPHY many activities were enjoyed. On December 8, REV. JOHN CAVANAUGH, past president of Notre Dame, addressed a deanery-wide Communion Breakfast in honor of the Immaculate Conception. The Notre Dame Club of Terre Haute acted as host under the chairmanship of RICHARD KELLEY. Over 500 guests attended to make the occasion a real success.

On January 11 a post-holiday dance was held in the Blue Room of the Terre Haute House. RAYMOND KEARNS was chairman of the festivities and was well assisted by JIM SULLIVAN. Prior to the dance everyone enjoyed himself at the cocktail party given by our honorable president and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy.

Plans are underway to have a large attendance at the Universal Notre Dame Night meeting.

Our club held the elections of new officers and the following members were elected: President, DRUIE CAVENDER, '46; Vice-President, RICHARD KELLY, '43; Secretary, PAUL MARIETTA, '44; and Treasurer, CHARLES METZGER. PETE VARDIA and JOHN BOYER were appointed to the board of directors. Mr. Jim Boyer will act as historian for the club.

On April 14 we held our Universal Notre Dame Night Banquet. FRED CHRISTMAN was acting chairman. FATHER NORTON was the guest speaker. The affair was held at the Terre Haute House.

President JOHN MURPHY has finished his tenure of office in grand style. Recently he innovated the Notre Dame Club Newsletter which keeps the members informed on the club's programs and activities. Father Culhane, Club Chaplain, has entertained the group with football movies after the meetings. The membership is quite proud of the meeting room that the Terre Haute House has granted them.

—PETER R. VARDIA, Secy.

Tri-Cities

DEAN LAWRENCE BALDINGER of the Notre Dame College of Science was guest speaker from the University at the Tri-Cities Club's observance of Universal Notre Dame Night April 13.

Tucson

The president of the Notre Dame Alumni Association, MIKE LAYDEN, was a guest of the Notre Dame Club of Tucson, Arizona, at its celebration of Universal Notre Dame Night on April 24.

Toledo

The annual Universal Notre Dame Night of the Toledo Notre Dame Club was held at the Park Lane Hotel on May 1, 1958. This was a wonderful get-together of Notre Dame alumni, their wives, and friends. Cocktails, dinner and dancing were on the agenda under the chairmanship of RONALD BYERSMITH, '49, assisted by BLAINE WILEY, '57 and JACK BECKHAM, '50.

The meeting of the Toledo Club's Board of Directors was held previously to elect the new officers for the 1958-59 term. The active alumni members voted by ballot to elect two new members to the Board of Directors for a three year term. They are: ROBERT SCHRAMM, '39, JAMES MALONE, '44, and FRANCIS MALONE, '45, who is past president of the club.

April 13 was the date of the Notre Dame Communion Breakfast held this year at the Toledo Club. FRANCIS X. "TIM" BRADLEY, director of LOBUND and assistant dean of the Notre Dame Graduate School, was a guest speaker from the University. JAMES MURTAUGH, '48, was chairman.

Tulsa

FRANK LEAHY visited Tulsa early in November and was special guest at a club luncheon held at the Tulsa Club. After lunch, Frank gave an informal talk and answered a series of questions concerning present and past activities of N.D. football teams.

Over 600 persons from Tulsa and vicinity patronized the Club's football "Special" to the N.D.-O.U. game which was played at Norman. All proceeds went to our academic scholarship fund and the trip chairman was BOB LAIRD. A fried chicken dinner was served en route and a good time was had by all. Needless to say, all members were overjoyed with the team's victory over the "Big Red."

Since October, the Club has enjoyed two Communion breakfasts, both of which were well attended. At the second breakfast, FATHER CHARLES STATHAM, club chaplain, gave an excellent talk on the responsibilities of the Catholic college graduate.

The Annual Christmas dance was held at the Cimarron Ballroom on December 28th. Over 500 Tulsans were guests of club members and N.D. students. FRANK REIDY was general dance chairman with BOB JONES and BUDDY LA-FORTUNE handling decorations. This year's dance broke all attendance records and was again the highlight of Tulsa's Christmas season.

On February 3, club members gathered in the Barn of the Bliss Hotel for the annual stag dinner. An excellent steak was served and N.D. football films were run afterwards. JOHN MADDEN was presented with a Man-of-the-Year award for his outstanding service and reports were given by the Treasurer, LARRY SCHMIDT, and by Scholarship Chairman, SPIKE SULLIVAN.

A one-day retreat for club members only took place at Benedictine Heights College Sunday, February 16. Father Eric Beavers conducted the retreat and a large turnout was achieved.

LEO FAGAN, former president of the N.D. Club of Tulsa and one of its finest members, died unexpectedly on January 26th. Leo was president of Braden Steel Co. and an outstanding Catholic layman. He will be sorely missed by Club members who held a special rosary for him the day after his death.

New officers of the Tulsa Club are: JOHN H. CONWAY, '44, President; DAVID M. THORNTON, '48, Vice-President; JACK MOHATT, '32, Secretary, and ROBERT O. LAIRD, 52, Treasurer.

—ROBERT D. MANNIX, Secy.

Twin Cities

JAMES E. ARMSTRONG, executive secretary of the Notre Dame Alumni Association, was a guest of the Notre Dame Club of the Twin Cities April 14 for Universal Notre Dame Night at the Normandy Hotel, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Washington, D. C.

On Sunday, March 9, the Washington Club held a Family Communion Breakfast at Pilgrimage Hall following Mass at the Franciscan Monastery. The speaker was MSGR. IRVING L. DeBLANC, director of the Family Life Bureau of the N.C.W.C. JOE FITZMAURICE was chairman of the affair.

An election meeting and belated St. Patrick's Party took place March 18 at the Sheraton-Carlton Hotel under the chairmanship of BILL MIDDENDORF. JACK McGRATH, BILL MIDDENDORF, BILL DENNING and PAUL FISHER were returned to office. JOE KUCHARICH and JIM McGLOON joined the Board.

Universal Notre Dame Night was celebrated on April 28. VIRGIL EXNER, vice president of the Chrysler Corporation, and REV. EDMUND P. JOYCE, C.S.C., vice-president of the University were guest speakers. JOSEPH L. KUCHARICH, Washington Redskins coach newly elected to the Board of Governors, was honored as Notre Dame Man of the Year. TIGHE WOODS was chairman.

Western Washington

The Notre Dame Club of Western Washington held Universal Notre Dame Night Thursday, April 17, at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, Seattle, Washington. Featured guest was Notre Dame Alumnus MIKE STEPOVICH, Governor of Alaska, while FATHER THOMAS LANE, C.S.C., represented the University.

Wichita

At a meeting of the Wichita Club held February 17 the following officers were elected: President, THEODORE (TED) P. JOCHEMS, '40; and Secretary-Treasurer, DR. WILLIAM P. GALLAHAN, JR.

Mrs. Leo Feehan, Odell, Ill., sister of recently departed DANIEL L. MURPHY, had some notes on her late brother in a letter to the Alumni Office. She wrote: "Dan . . . was president of his (Law School) class. His nickname was 'Sox,' short for Socrates, for he was a talented speaker. I can remember some of his classmates were EDWARD SCHWAB, THOMAS WELCH and EARL GRUBER, and COL. HOYNES was dean of the Law School. Dan and two others attended the golden jubilee of his class in 1955. He played on the Varsity football team, and I understand that he was one of the oldest living lettermen. He dearly loved Notre Dame, and I did too!"

PUERTO RICO—Juan Cintron, former president of the Notre Dame Club of Puerto Rico, and his son John, now residing in South Bend, place a wreath at the grave of Knute Rockne on behalf of the Puerto Rico Club after the St. Joe Valley Club's annual Rockne Communion Breakfast March 30.

WILLIAM A. "BILL" DAUNT was a surprised and delighted guest-of-honor at a reception and cocktail-hour dance given in honor of his 50th anniversary as a Notre Dame alumnus by the Long Island Division of the Notre Dame Club of New York. Bill was feted February 9 at the Garden City Hotel on Long Island and received many letters and telegrams with the heartfelt absentee wishes of Governor Averell Harriman, Father Hesburgh and other friends in New York, on campus and throughout the land.

Nuovo Bambino 2 Kilos 26 Jan. Joan is Fine. This cabled message awakened CECIL E. BIRDER, '14, before dawn a few weeks ago to let him know his grandchildren now total ten. Joan is Cyd's eldest daughter; married to Lt. Col. T. J. Michel, and now living in Naples. The new 8-pound boy is her seventh child.

Cyd's other grandchildren are the three sons of his son, DUDLEY BIRDER who received his Master's Degree from Notre Dame in 1951, and who is now working toward his Doctorate at the University of Minnesota.

It may be "news" to some of '14 to know that feminine roles in the student plays in Washington Hall are now played by girls from St. Mary's. They do a wonderful job, but as we watch them they seem to lack something of the dedicated enthusiasm of the Julietts, Lady MacBeths and Cordelias as played, in our day, by CECIL BIRDER, FRED GUSHURST, BILLY RYAN, and the beloved KNUTE ROCKNE!

In your charity, remember the soul of our classmate THOMAS J. WALSH, who died at Huntington Park, California, on Christmas eve.

That's the news—a birth and a death, the beginning and the end of God's great mystery of life. Other things are happening, in between, to us of '14. You can read and know about them if you'll just drop a postcard or note to your secretary concerning the doings of any man of the great class of 1914.

We extend our sympathy to Mrs. George A. Schock whose husband passed away on November 27, 1957. GEORGE SCHOCK received his LL.B. from Notre Dame in 1918 and was engaged in the practice of law in South Bend since his graduation. Throughout his life he was active in Civic affairs and his passing will be missed by the many friends and business associates with whom he came in contact. May his soul rest in peace.

THIS IS THE YEAR—June 6th, 7th and 8th will mark our 40th anniversary. Believe me, when I get out of bed in the morning I know I am getting no younger fast. Let's make it a good reunion.

First returns are already coming in: JOHN LEMMER, FATHER WILLIAMS and many others are going to be there. How about you?

JIM SWEENEY, who is managing the Faust Hotel in Rockford, Illinois, tells us that JUDGE ALBERT O'SULLIVAN comes in occasionally to chew the fat. Hope both of you can make the reunion.

LOUIS A. HELLERT, LL.B., '1918, still clings to the West Coast. He lives at 4409 N. Williamette Blvd., Portland, Oregon, and has the latch string out to any of his classmates who are visiting Portland.

See you in June.

OSCAR SIDENFADEN, of 1320 Hauser Street, South Los Angeles, died February 27, 1958. To Mrs. Sidenfaden and members of our class he will be remembered as one of Notre Dame's noble gentlemen.

REV. JAMES J. RYAN, C.S.C., one of the fine seminarians of our class if you will recall, wrote poems that found their way to the pages of the Scholastic time and time again. I often received credit for them. An exceptional English student in our day, I am sure he prepares sermons today that you would enjoy. He is in Kalamazoo now, Chaplain to the Sisters of St. Joseph at Nazareth.

For "outstanding service to industry and to the people of British Columbia" HAROLD S. FOLEY, board chairman of the Powell River Company, Vancouver, received an honorary LL.D. from the University of British Columbia, and, along with Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, another honorary degree from St. Mary's University, Halifax, for "outstanding assistance to Hungarian students."

BILL ALLEN wrote regarding the promotion of DR. JOHN MOHARDT, '22, by the V.A. in Washington, D. C., added: "I see GEORGE WITTERED frequently. He is in excellent health and takes good care of himself. NORM BARRY is slated for election as honorary president of the Notre Dame Club of Chicago at our annual dinner on April 21."

MASS FUND

(Ed. Note: The Editor has been asked to suggest to the Class of 1922 that contributions for Class Masses be sent to Dr. Matthew Weis, 7379 Northmoor, St. Louis 5, Mo., Class Treasurer. The Class Secretary has been willingly arranging the Masses without a Mass Fund, but others of the Class would prefer to make this a Class Fund project. The usual Mass stipend is five dollars, and the Fund need not be large.)

Miss Dorothy W. Clark, daughter of the widow of our classmate, the late U.S. Senator D. WORTH CLARK of Idaho, was killed in an auto accident last December near Gilroy, California, along with a fellow Stanford senior, Miss Nancy Harker. We tender our sympathy and prayers to the families of the deceased. Mrs. Clark resides at 401 South Burnside Avenue, apt. 21, Los Angeles 36, Calif.

Mrs. Phyllis Heneghan of South Bend, widow of our beloved classmate GEORGE HENEGHAN, writes to tell us of the death last August 14 of FRED HENEGHAN, '32, George's only brother. We extend our sincere sympathy and prayers to the Heneghans.

Our best wishes go to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sullivan of 99 Hickory Hill Road, New Britain, Conn. They were married last September 18. Mrs. Sullivan, whom we all know as Helen, is the widow of CYRIL GAFFNEY, our classmate who was prominent in Connecticut legal circles, and keeps us well informed on the doings of their husky sons Bernard and Brian, both in law school.

We are very tardy in sending our best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. JACK T. HIGGINS of 400 Townsend Street, Birmingham, Mich., who were married December 27, 1956. Our society editors should be "dusted off" for their tardiness on that one. At any rate, we rejoice with Margareta and Jack, and wish them much happiness.

LAWRENCE T. (BUCK) SHAW, who has been head football coach at the Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo., since January 1, 1956, resigned his position in late January and very shortly thereafter signed to coach the professional Philadelphia Eagles football team. This is Buck's second venture among the professionals, for previously he had been affiliated with the San Francisco '49ers before going to the A. F. Academy. In addition to his service with the pro footballers, Buck coached at North Carolina State, Nevada, and the University of California, and his teams at Santa Clara were outstandingly good before that institution discontinued football during World War II. Also Shaw-coached West teams in the annual Shrine football classic held in San Francisco have enjoyed fine success. We wish Buck lots of success at Philadelphia.

VINCE HANRAHAN stated in a Christmas note that he saw Buck in Washington last fall at the George Washington - Air Force Academy football game. It was their first meeting in 35 years.

STEVE CARMODY bemoans the fact that he was obliged to miss our 33th Anniversary Reunion last June. It seems that Steve was at N.D. on the week previous to see his son Thomas P. receive his degree in law. The son is now practicing in MIKE SEYFRIT's old law office in Carlinville, Illinois.

Our secretary was a bit hasty in directing one of our beloved class chaplains to turn in his uniform for failure to show at our class reunion. FATHER PAT HAGGERTY, C.S.C., writes from Holy Cross High School at New Orleans:

"Sorry to disappoint you last June but I spent 17 days in the hospital from which I am now well recovered. I lost 20 pounds in the process and was rather weak for quite a long period. Indeed I did get to N.D. after you all had departed. I am now about as good as ever despite a recent bout with arthritis which I beat. It is hard to keep an old horse down. I am now 73½ years of age. Best wishes to all of your gang."

It is just wonderful to hear from you, Father Pat. We did miss you much and hope you are blessed with many more happy years in God's vineyard.

From Indianapolis comes a fine letter from Mildred Stuhldreher, widow of one of our closest classmate friends. She writes:

"You couldn't possibly know how much I appreciate hearing from such a good friend of Walter's at Christmas—somehow it makes the twenty-fourth easier!"

"And I did so enjoy reading about your thirty-fifth reunion. With the three boys alumni of Notre Dame I find keeping track of the activities of the class of '22 very easy through the ALUMNUS. I always enjoy your interesting column—and I shall always be tremendously interested.

"We were certainly busy with graduation in June. The twins received their Master's degrees in Business Administration at Indiana University, and Donald was graduated from N.D.

"In August I flew to Juneau, Alaska, for a visit of six weeks with our daughter and husband who are living there. Marge's husband is with Associated Press, and he was sent there to establish an A.P. bureau in Alaska. Their closest friends are the governor and his wife. Governor MIKE STEPOVICH received his law degree at N.D. Another close friend—the head of the Democratic party in Alaska—was graduated from N.D. Too, the treasurer of Alaska has a son who is presently a student at N.D. Though it was far away, there was much in common."

A note from the DR. DAN SEXTONS of St. Louis gives the information that they made a family motor trip to the Navy base. They had a pleasant visit with FATHER BOB SHEEHAN on the campus. Out of Wilmette, Ill., came Christmas greetings from the FRANK W. CONNELLYS, also good news that our class has another grandfather.

MRS. CHARLES (PAT) HIRSCHBUHL spent this Christmas in Portland, Ore., for a change even though that city is home to her. Just previously she had a wonderful visit with GERRY AND MARION JONES in San Mateo, California. Latter are very happy in their new setting. Formerly they lived in Dixon, Illinois.

Speaking of San Mateo, we must not forget to mention that MRS. CLETUS (GERTRUDE) LYNCH is a resident of the same city. She lives at 10 De Sabla Road. Gertrude spent Christmas in her old home city of Peoria, Ill.

EDDIE PFEIFFER of Louisville promises to visit the N.D. campus more frequently if he can get his son into N.D. next September.

FATHER GEORGE FISCHER, C.S.C., writes:

"While in Brooklyn in late November and early December on a Mission (Holy Cross Mission Band), I had a visit from JOHN (RED) HEFFERNAN who is a parishioner where we were working. He is an attorney with the Brooklyn division of the Appellate Court of N. Y. State. He looked fine. Getting ready to leave January 18 for two weeks at East 96th St., Manhattan. Thereafter I work in Jersey, Delaware and elsewhere before Easter. Hope you are well. I have often lived over those wonderful few hours of our reunion, and shall always be glad I made the trip to be there with the Ol' Gang."

HAROLD WEBER writes this one:

"I hope this tardy card finds you in good health and in the state of grace.

"Lucy and I have just returned from a three month motor and air tour of Central and Southern Europe. We made the rounds of the Rhine country, Southern Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Italy, Portugal, Spain, Tangiers, Greece, Istanbul and vicinity, Crete, Rhodes and then back to Rome, Naples and Florence, thence to Paris and home on the S.S. United States. We arrived in N. Y. on Dec. 3, and the next day we experienced that wild snowstorm in N. Y.

"We were fortunate in having two audiences with His Holiness—one at Castel Gandolfo and the other at the Vatican. His Holiness looked very well and was vigorous in his speech and movements.

"It was a very enjoyable and stimulating trip, but we are happy to be home again. While in New York, Lucy learned that her father, age 87, was critically ill, so within 24 hours of our homecoming Lucy left for her father's home in Cannelton, Ind., and was with him during his last week. He died a very peaceful and prayerful death on December 15 (God rest his soul).

"We are sorry you did not drive out to Diamond Lake last June with GEORGE KERVER and his friend. We had a very enjoyable afternoon. We had hoped more '22ers would spend the day with us, and we were overstocked with food and other supplies. We missed you and hope that you will make amends by visiting us in the very early future."

The FORREST (FOD) COTTONS of Kansas City report five grandchildren.

AL FICKS very kindly invites us down to Phoenix, Ariz., for a golf game. What did you do with my golf clubs, Hawkins?

Do hope that CULLEN BURKE of Albany got over that Christmastime siege of flu he reported.

The MARTIN BRENNANS of Buffalo report their No. 3 boy Tommy is a right halfback on the Canisius High School varsity and, of course, Dad Brennan is correcting all the mistakes Tommy makes. Martin reports also that he and Geraldine only have 21 years to go for their Golden Wedding anniversary.

We are very grateful to all who so kindly remembered us with Christmas greetings, and that includes all those already mentioned in this report. Other include: ARCHBISHOP J. F. O'HARA, C.S.C., FATHER THOMAS LAHEY, C.S.C., FATHER ROBERT SHEEHAN, C.S.C., FATHER MARCEL KELIHER of Omaha, ED GOTTRY, MORGAN SHEEDY, OLLIE SCHELL, MRS. CHARLES FOLEY, MRS. CLETUS LYNCH, MISS DOROTHY LYNCH; also the JIM JONES, JOE FARLEYS, TOM McCABES, GERALD "MIDNIGHT" MURPHY'S, RAY McGARRY'S, CHARLIE CROWLEYS, HAROLD McKEE'S, WILFRED DWYERS JACK HIGGINS, JOHN PAUL CULLENS and JEROME DIXONS.

Joyce Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. GEORGE G. KERVER of Lakewood, Ohio, was married to James Joseph Dunn of the U. S. Army on November 30 at St. James Church, Lakewood. We salute the newlyweds with our best wishes, also the parents of the bride and groom.

Mrs. Gertrude Foley, widow of CHARLES (CHUCK) FOLEY is living in Portland, Ore., with daughter Mary Ann who is trying hard for a Fulbright scholarship at the University of Portland. We hope she is successful in her quest. A second Charles Foley is married and lives in Seattle and has two fine sons, Christopher and Michael.

Credit TON ASHE, '31, for arranging a nice '22 luncheon at the Los Angeles Athletic Club on December 27. Of course it was not intended to be exclusively for '22 men, but we did have a good representation present, including GENE KENNEDY, JIM McCABE, JUDGE AL SCOTT and your secretary. From other classes were such standouts as LEO WARD, ED ASHE and EDWARD (DOG) WHITE. You may remember the latter as a football center under KNUTE ROCKNE. CLIPPER SMITH, another grand football operator of ye olden days at N.D., almost got to the affair.

REV. THOMAS M. FITZPATRICK, C.S.C., director of the Holy Cross Foreign Mission Society, suggests a splendid spiritual bouquet for deceased relatives and friends is enrollment in the Holy Cross Purgatorial Society, Holy Cross Missions, Washington 17, D. C. In so doing, we greatly assist the priests in their mission work.

As part of the maximum effort by the officers of the Class of '23 to bring out a full turnout of members for our 35th reunion next June, your Secretary is purposely writing these notes with some restraint. Long before this column meets your gaze, all the news it could hold plus much more will have reached the '23 men by means of the Sec's yellow journal news letter. The correspondence and activities in preparation for our 35th has piled on my desk correspondence in volume unprecedented in the 35 years we have been apart.

What is uppermost in my mind is to invite on behalf of all the men who are officially "Skidoo Graduates," all those men whom we consider one of us—the "old students, the deferred graduates of 1923-24, and the accelerated graduates of 1922-23—to "MAKE IT A DATE IN '58" with us. I can't but hearken back to FOD COTTON'S letter of some months ago in which he suggested that although his sheepskin reads "the V day of August MCMXXIV," he still considers himself a member of the Class of '23 and wants to join our 35th on June 6-7-8, 1958. Various circumstances—sickness, finances, change in courses pursued, and similar unforeseen developments—separated many a man from the group who started out with us in the fall of 1919.

We consider you one of us, even though policies of the Alumni Office cause you to be listed elsewhere than with us. Come join us—

"MAKE IT A DATE IN '58."

Send me a post card at the address above. All particulars will go forward to you with alacrity.

Death continues to dog our steps. We are reporting with unusual regret the death of another classmate, MICKEY KANE, who was found dead in his law office in Springfield, Mass., the day after Christmas, according to word relayed to this desk by JIM ARMSTRONG. This brings to a total of 51 the number of known dead in our Class, and eight in two months. The previous issue of the ALUMNUS, of course, carried word of the death of EDWARD D. KELLY of Emmetsburg, Iowa, who was on our national Reunion committee, and who was enthusiastically beating the drums via U. S. Mail for our next reunion. More than one man, we think, will be with us in June due to Ed's exhortations, but sadly enough, Ed will be greatly missed, as he was greatly enjoyed at our 30th in 1953.

Also among those departed is the name of RICHARD J. REYNOLDS, JR., who died about Nov. 25 in Long Beach, N. Y. Dick was one of that group referred to above who left school before graduation but whom we consider "one of us," even though his name is not on our roster. The date of his death, although not official, is more nearly correct than the date of Dec. 15 given in the last issue of the ALUMNUS.

See you in June. "MAKE IT A DATE IN '58." From the Alumni Office:

Word came from the Alumni Office of three deaths in the past few weeks. Your secretary has no details on these classmates other than the time of their passing.

CHARLES E. DE LA VERGNE of 472 Walnut, New Orleans, Louisiana. Charlie died on February 1, 1958. This was certainly a shock to me as Charlie and I not only went through our four years of college but we were in prep school at Notre Dame. It is indeed strange that within a week after hearing about Charlie, I received word about another pal of our prep school days, MARTIN F. SULLIVAN, SR., of 1825 Spring Drive, Louisville, Kentucky. To both their widows I want to express our sincere sympathy on the death of their beloved husbands. I am sure they may be comforted in knowing that HENRY WURZER our class treasurer has arranged to have a High Mass offered for them . . . from the Mass Fund of the Class of 1925. Mrs. GILBERT COTY the wife of Prof. GILBERT COTY, Ph. BFC, '25, died in March, 1958. Gil is still teaching at the University, and his address is 417 Napoleon Blvd. When we hear about these deaths, Hank arranges for the Mass and writes to the widow. In case you ever hear about any of our classmates dying, be sure to notify JIM ARMSTRONG at once because REV. THOMAS J. O'DONNELL C.S.C., associate director of the Notre Dame Foundation, offers a Mass for the deceased members of alumni families on the first Saturday of every month.

TERRY BRENNAN and his able assistants have been working with the "Fighting Irish" during Spring Training. Next Fall will be a tough one for the Irish, and the best game at Notre Dame will be Army on October 11th. It is a date you 25ers must remember. We will have our annual reunion

THOMAS H. O'CONNOR, '16

When the Notre Dame Club of Rochester, N. Y., named Tom O'Connor as 1957 Notre Dame Man of the Year, Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, C.S.C., was on hand to join in the applause. Such honors have been coming thick and fast for Tom as he approaches his 35th year with the Catholic press.

News editor of the Catholic Courier Journal, official weekly of the Rochester Diocese, Tom was recently honored by the staff for 25 years on the paper. Having started as manager of the Rochester Echo in 1924, he was hailed at a Silver Jubilee testimonial dinner by Bishop James E. Kearney and several Catholic editors in 1949, and in 1950 he was awarded the Monroe County Catholic War Veterans Medal as "Outstanding Catholic Layman" at a Communion Breakfast with Bishop Kearney present. Tom has witnessed the growth of the Catholic press from the days of delayed paychecks to a day when diocesan press runs are well over 50,000.

A K. of C. member for 40 years, 29 of them as an officer, he is past grand knight of the Rochester Council and a past grand scribe in the Order of Alhambra. For more than 30 years he has edited newspapers and written publicity for the Knights of Columbus and St. John, Alhambra, Catholic Central Verein, Rochester N.D. Club, etc.

Tom went to Notre Dame with Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., served as a sergeant in 1918, was once lost for days in the Florida Everglades while on an aerial photographic mission. His six sons, three married, have followed in their dad's footsteps. Three have been in the Navy, three in the Army; one is now in Germany; the two oldest boys are in the publishing field. A daughter is a freshman at Nazareth College.

cocktail party after the Army game in the same Mahogany Room in Morris Inn. So many fellows tell me we don't let them know early enough. This is the date boys, so ORDER YOUR TICKETS EARLY.

Whenever there is a shortage of news we go back to that questionnaire information and continue coverage on fellows whom we haven't told you about as yet. WALTER D. HALL of 4119 Pillsbury Ave., Minneapolis, Minn., is credit manager of Red Owl Stores, Inc. He has a wonderful family of six children: Mary Jeanne, 24; Charles, 22; Michael, 20; Kathleen, 17; Thomas, 15, and Jerry, 13. Walt writes "Everything is going quite well with me John. Still enjoying good health, and raising a family of six has kept me busy. Charlie, the oldest boy is still in Major Sem in St. Paul. Maybe Tom or Jerry will reach Notre Dame when they are ready. I hope to see you and the rest of our '25ers at the next reunion." Great, Walt . . . that's October 11th after that Army game this fall. TOM F. CARFAGNO, 601 E. Middle St., Hanover, Pa., writes that he has three daughters. "I do drop in to see JIM ARMSTRONG about twice a year. I travel around the country quite a bit but I don't seem to run into many in our class. I have seen RIP MILLER on the train occasionally. I see FRANK MCSORLEY at N.D. meetings in Pittsburgh. I called 'BUGS' WALTHER sometime ago in New York and had a nice chat." JOHN A. YUNG writes that he is retired but was formerly a lawyer. He's living in Jasmine Hill Rd., Wetumpka, Alabama. He sees LEN HESS and BILL DIELMANN in San Antonio, Texas, occasionally. John said he would like to hear from BILL HURLEY. DICK FUITE of Bolinas Rd., Fairfax, Cal., is a manufacturer's agent. Inez his wife was one of the original and first group of eight Airline stewardesses of United Air Lines in 1930. Dick writes "I am not in the spotlight but doing fine. I'm the boss both at home and at the office and my only worry is keep the weight down." He sees ANDY McMULLEN, who is manager of National Cash Register Co. in San Francisco. He would like to hear from LES DAVEY, TOM GOSS and CHARLIE DE LA VERGNE. As you have read in the first part of this column, Charlie died last month. I know you and the rest of the '25ers will remember him in your prayers. EDWARD "OATS" G. BYRNES of 505 Egerton Place, Pittsburgh, Penna., has four children: Katherine, 26; Ann, 24; Sally, 22, and Edward, 17. He is president of Byrnes & Kiefer Co. He sees the Pittsburgh fellows FRANK MCSORLEY, HARRY STUHL-DREHER and AL DASCHBACH. Ed, it was good hearing from you . . . come again with more news and be on deck this fall. ROBERT M. WORTH, Route 2, Greenville, Ohio, is a sales executive of Electric Auto Lite Co., of Toledo, Ohio. Bob has six children: Dorothy, M.D., 27; Alice Worth Murray, 23; Sister Mary Grace, O.S.U. (Elizabeth Ann), 21; Patricia, 19; Ruth, 18, and Bob, Jr., 14. Bob writes "The four children went to Marquette and Dot went to St. Louis for her M.D. Ruth is at M.U. since N.D. is not co-ed. Butch, the only N.D. prospect, is at present planning on 'Police School.'" Bob, maybe one of these days we will catch up with each other but it's hard getting these traveling men together. When I am near your home during the week you are on the road and vice versa. WILLIAM E. VOOR, 1602 Devon Circle, South Bend, is a lawyer. Bill has three children, Marjorie Ann, Mary Louise and William E., Jr. Bill writes that he would like to hear from "any Notre Dame man and particularly those who have a million or better estates and need some 'classy' estate planning. Any N.D. man in the 'clink' with two bucks or more. There's nothing much to tell except I'm going nuts trying to satisfy these cookies who call during the week of a game and say 'Get me six tickets and a hotel room, etc. etc.'" Well, Bill, it's Army this year, so just tell them to come out to Morris Inn and see the game on T.V. and then join our party on Oct. 11th . . . it's as simple as that.

BERNARD W. LEY is in Real Estate-Mortgage & Insurance in Akron, Ohio. Bernie is president of Heminger-Ritsman Co. and will complete thirty years in the real estate field in Akron. Bernie was selected "The Akron Realtor of the year for 1956" by the Akron Real Estate Board. Belated congratulations, Bernie—it was swell hearing from you. JOHN MONAGHAN, 335 19th St., S.E., Cedar Rapids, Iowa, is the owner of Acousticon of Cedar Rapids. John has two daughters, Mrs. Richard Seger and Mary Fae, both of Cedar Rapids. John has for eighteen years owned his own business and engaged in the sales and service of Acousticon Hearing Aids. Well John, it was "good hearing" from you . . . let's have an encore. MAURICE WEBER, Six Peoples State Bank Bldg., St. Joseph, Michigan. Attorney at Law. Maurice G., 25, was graduated from St. Joseph's College after three years in A.S.A. Sybil, 21, senior at Marquette; Michael, 19, Holy Ghost Missionary Seminary, and Susan, 11, at home. Our own class didn't have many vocations, but we certainly have a lot of vocations among the children of the members of the Class of 1925. JOSEPH W. McCARTHY of 1401 Chestnut St., Alameda, Cal., writes "I want to thank you for your services to the Class of '25 all these years, John." Joe is retired but before he decided to take it easy he was in the restaurant business, banking, shipyard work and the accounting section of Dept. of Motor Vehicles. He plans to move down to Long Beach. Well, Joe, you picked a good part of the country in which to live and retire. When you aren't doing anything say a few prayers for the classmates who can't come back to an earthly reunion. Don't forget our Mass Fund, fellows. Mail your offering to Hank Wurzer, Blackhawk Hotels Inc., Davenport, Iowa. GILBERT E. UHL, 3612 N. Drexel Ave., Indianapolis, Indiana, has a married son, J. Robert, living in Detroit and a married daughter, Mrs. Joseph W. Fontana, Jr., who lives in Miami, Fla. Gil is with Standard Oil and was transferred from South Bend to Indianapolis not too long ago. JOSEPH M. HAGERTY, 312 19th St., Bessemer, Ala., is in engineering and equipment, and he owns a drug store. He writes to tell HERB JONES and JIM ARMSTRONG "hello" as well as BEN KESTING there in Toledo. Joe writes: "I spent three years after graduation at M.I.T. in electrical. I was listed as 'unknown' till 1955 reunion. Eleven years in utilities from pillar to post through Central and South and then back here (my home) when I entered private business. Three years 'vacation' in the Navy during the War. I am now sorry I lost contact those thirty years. How the old school has changed. Best wishes for all of 1925." Thanks, Joe, come back to N.D. often and make up for lost time. PAUL HOEFFLER, 230 Spencer Ave., East Greenwich, R. I., has been in life insurance 29 years. He has a son "Bucky," 20. Paul hasn't been back to school in over 15 years. He writes: "It is always enjoyable to read the '25 news in the ALUMNUS . . . finding the latest on the oldsters who were youngsters 33 years ago. I hope you can always have the page filled, John. We are all well and remember our almost two years with your active gang in Toledo. Good luck!" Just like old times, Paul . . . whenever I look up that policy you sold me . . . I realize its been a long, long time. Better get back this fall. GEORGE F. FITZGERALD, 41 N. American St., Woodbury, N. J., is a Chemical Engineer for Socony Mobil Oil Co., Inc. He has a wife and one daughter, Ellen, 14 years of age. George writes that he would like to hear from CLARENCE KAISER, SEB MILLER and TOM LOFTUS as well as NICK POLHAUS, CLARENCE BUNCE and GEORGE LUDWIG. "Socony plant in Olean was shut down and I was transferred to the Paulsboro plant. There are three or four N.D. men in the plant but no club activities outside of Camden and Phila., which are a little inconvenient." CHANCIE L. SNYDER, Silver City, New Mexico, is in general insurance. His family consists of Mildred, his wife, and Lee E. Snyder and Leona M., a daughter. Chancie writes: "I have been active in Boy Scouts and Game Protective Assn. here in New Mexico. I was honored by the Boy Scouts by being awarded the Silver Beaver Award a few years ago. I have been president of the New Mexico State Game Protective Assn. which is affiliated with the National Wildlife Federation." Nice going, Chancie . . . leave those boys for a few days and come up for that reunion October 11th. We will all be glad to see you.

I have had this secretary job over a quarter of a century but this is the first time I ever received a long wire that just made the "deadline" . . . it came today from Batavia, New York. Right you are, from "JUDGE" LARRY CASEY. "Dear John, I certainly enjoyed your contents of the class of '25 Notre Dame Alumnus news. Say hello to the gang and tell them to take it easy, the sun is setting in the West for the rest of us, as I note FRANK McCARTHY'S death was very untimely. Tell HANK WURZER of the Black Hawk Hotel chain that I will reciprocate in the Masses. Congratulations to TOM BARRY, ARCHBISHOP O'HARA'S nephew as Tom was one of my favorite boys. Best regards to JIM ARMSTRONG and a Happy March 17th. I think it is St. Patrick's Day. Soberly yours, Larry Casey, Atty. at Large, 110 Main St., Batavia, New York." Thanks a million, Larry, and let's keep those prayers and Masses coming for the '25ers. In case you don't already know . . . in addition to the High Masses for each member we are having a Mass said every month. JOE TOOLIN of Indianialant, Fla., dropped me a short note telling me about the death of JOHN

DANIEL J. BRADLEY, M.D., '28

Dr. Dan Bradley of Amityville, N. Y., a member of the executive board and speaker's bureau of the National Catholic Physicians Guild, recently appeared on the popular "Nightbeat" television show. Dan's presentation of the Catholic medico-moral position, on everything from birth control to mercy killing, was so outstanding that the interview was reproduced in the March issue of Information, national magazine of the Paulist Fathers. Entitled "Cross Examination of a Catholic Doctor," it has been widely reprinted.

A native of Brooklyn, N. Y., Dan went to medical school at Cornell and interned at Brooklyn's St. Mary's Hospital after graduation (magna cum laude) from Notre Dame. He has been practicing in Amityville since 1934, except for four years with the Medical Corps in World War II. In 26 months in the South Pacific he made five combat landings as a battalion surgeon and finished as chief of medical service of the 167th Evacuation Hospital at Aomori, Japan.

Dan is a diplomate in the A.A.G.P., a member of the A.M.A. and the Suffolk County Medical Society; founder, first president and a member of the board of the Rockville Center Catholic Physicians Guild; president of the medical board of Good Samaritan Diocesan Hospital; past president at Brunswick General Hospital, and a director of the Suffolk County Cancer Society. He finds time for such non-professional activities as the N.C.C.J., N.A.A.C.P., Catholic Charities, K. of C., Holy Name, the Bishop's lay committee and trusteeships at St. Martin's Church and Molloy College for Women in Rockville Center, L. I.

In 1934 Dan married Winifred Marie Conway. They have three daughters, Ann Marie, Rose Marie and Danielle Marie.

DEVEREUX of Chicago. Joe sent a check for Masses saying he felt sure the boys in the class would want to remember him in their prayers. John had many friends in our class . . . even though he graduated a year later with the class of '26. Thanks, Joe, for keeping us informed. Your note was mailed to HANK WURZER.

FATHER JOHN P. LYNCH, C.S.C., first pastor of St. Francis Xavier Church in Burbank, Calif., was the subject of a recent parish profile in the Burbank Independent. FATHER WILLIAM G. O'CONNOR, '45, is his assistant.

DR. RALPH G. GLADEN, Modesto, Calif., won the sweepstakes award in Sacramento's 34th annual camellia show recently, winning over hundreds of other camellia growers from throughout the state.

JOHN J. KANE, JR., former U. S. district attorney in Cleveland, has been appointed police prosecutor and assistant law director of Lakewood, Ohio.

Commenting on Mayor GEORGE VERGARA'S constructing a new $4 million city hall in New Rochelle, N. Y., HARRY FLANNERY, '23, writes: "My main memory of George Vergara came at the time the Klan invaded South Bend. George met one of the contingents at the interurban station, told them: 'The town is full of trouble-makers. It's dangerous. Follow me.' Then he proceeded to lead the band up an alley, down another alley, into a third, stopped and said: 'Wait here for me till I check ahead.' He went to the corner, turned, never came back . . ."

In the Class Secretaries' Conference, which was held at Notre Dame in January, there was a lot of enthusiasm displayed by those classes which are having their reunion this year. We believe it is not too early to start plugging our 35th Reunion in 1961. Be sure to mention it when you are talking to a classmate.

PETER M. LA CAVA, who came to Notre Dame from Hartford, Conn., is now firmly entrenched in Mishawaka, Ind., where he has a law office and where he is Judge in the City Court. He is also owner and operator of the "Casa Maria Restaurant" at beautiful Lake Wawasee, Ind. In 1924, Pete married Ann E. Arnot and they have five children and five grandchildren.

JOHN J. ENDRES, from McCook, Nebraska, now lives in Oak Park, Ill., and is General Auditor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago. In 1927 he married Alice Kane, and they have two sons: Father Benedict John and William, and three grandchildren.

JOHN F. O'DONNELL is back in his home town of Maysville, Ky., where he is night editor of the Ledger Publishing Company. He has just completed a term as member of the Maysville City Commission. He married Opal Moore in 1936; they have no children.

Another Judge in our class is JOSEPH J. DAWES, who is Judge, District Court, First Judicial District, Leavenworth, Kansas. Before becoming Judge, he was County Attorney, City Attorney and U. S. Commissioner. He was married in 1927 and has eight children, ranging in ages 29 to 16, and 15 grandchildren. We wonder if this is the largest family in our class?

BROTHER JAMES OF MARY, F.S.C., is teaching in Saint Patrick's High School in Chicago.

WILLIAM R. BARR is back in his home town of Chalmers, Ind. He says he has attended all previous reunions and expects to be on hand in 1961.

Most of us know J. ARTHUR HALEY, the genial Director of Public Relations at Notre Dame. However, we don't all know that he married Mary Virginia Matson in 1928 and that they have three sons, John A. Jr., George M. M.D., and Thomas W., all graduates of N.D., and a daughter Patricia Haley McCaffery; also one granddaughter. Art's hobbies are golfing and fishing.

PAUL F. JACKSON is an attorney in Michigan City Ind. He is also President of the Kanney Systems, Inc., an Outdoor Advertising firm. Being there on Lake Michigan, Paul is naturally interested in yachting and fishing. Among other offices, he is a member of the Michigan City Yacht Club, the Naval Advisory Board, and the National Rivers and Harbors Congress. In 1930, Paul married Ruth Mattes and they have a daughter, Barbara, a son Robert, and one grandchild.

RICHARD N. KAVANAUGH is an attorney in Portland, Oregon. We are sorry to hear that he has curtailed most of his extracurricular activities because of an arthritic condition and that he will not be able to make the '61 reunion.

From Indianapolis, we hear from CLAUD M. PITSENBERGER. He is with Schmid and Smith, Inc., and is Real Estate Property Manager and handles insurance. As a secondary business, he is Chief Deputy, Center Township Assessor. In 1929, Claude married Carol Josephine Calmes. They have three daughters: Joan; Ann, who is Sister Claude of the Hospital Sisters of the Third Order of St. Francis, and Nancy. Claud is active in the K of C, and in many of the Real Estate societies.

DR. J. WORDEN KANE, M.D., whose home is in Binghamton, N. Y., is a busy doctor. He is the Attending Neurosurgeon at Lourdes Hospital, Binghamton City Hospital, and Wilson Memorial Hospital. Also Consultant at Binghamton State Hospital, Thompkins Memorial Hospital, Ithaca; Delaware County Hospital, Delhi; Cornell University Medical Clinic, and The Hospital, Sidney. The Kanes have two sons, a daughter and one grandchild.

BROTHER VICTOR, C.S.C., is teaching at Holy Trinity High School in Chicago. Brother says he's usually very busy at reunion time and that, besides, he's getting too old. He's 76.

BEN H. MAHANK, who came to N.D. from Mishawaka, Ind., is now in Saginaw, Michigan, where he is Senior Tool Engineer at the Saginaw Steering Gear Division of General Motors. In 1936 Ben married Martha Quintance and they have a son, John. Ben was Executive Vice Chairman in large Convent and Seminary Fund Drives in St. Mary's Cathedral Parish. (Ben, JOHN PROBST asked about you lately when I talked to him in Detroit.)

We received a wonderful Christmas card from DENNIS J. O'NEILL, in which were pictured Dennis, his wife Dorothy, and the children: Susan, Mary, Michael, Darcy and Denny. Darcy is playing a harp. On a second picture were shown Anne O'Neill Wallace and her husband Bob and the grandchildren: Robbie, Will and Peggy. Dennis now lives in Lakewood, Ohio, and is Vice-President of the D'Arcy Advertising Co. As a secondary business, he is the publisher of the Ancestral Map of Ireland. In 1927, Dennis married Dorothy Cunningham. Dennis, Jr., was in the N.D. Class of '51, and Michael is in the Class of '61. Our Dennis was named Man of the Year in 1956 by the Notre Dame Club of Cleveland. He is also active in many civic and religious organizations. He writes: "CHUCK MOONEY has just been re-elected President of the Cleveland School Board for the umpteenth time after a lapse of a year as a mere member. FRANK DEITTE wins the distinguished brother-in-law title of the year, awarded by the undersigned."

JAMES J. GLYNN, originally from Terre Haute, Ind., and lately from Indianapolis, is now living in St. Petersburg Beach, Fla., and is owner of a Gift Shop there. In 1933, Jim married Mary Virginia Griffith; they have a daughter, Mary Ann. Jim is Director of Athletics at St. John's Grade School. He would like to hear from JOE WAGNER of Tiffin, Ohio.

DR. THOMAS E. LEAHY, M.D., is a practicing physician and surgeon in Chicago. In 1933, he married Kathryn Downey and they have three children: Thomas, Jr., Ellen and Martha. Dr. Leahy is on the Interstate Postgraduate Staff of Mercy and Little Company of Mary Hospitals, and Ass't Clinical Instructor at Stritch School of Medicine.

RAYMOND J. KEISER is an editor for Associated Press. He has been with A.P. for 25 years, and was Chief of Bureau in Phoenix from 1944-49 and in Detroit from 1948-53. He is now in the New York Office and lives in Pelham, N. Y. Ray's first wife died in 1937 and in 1944 he married Janet Prendergast. He has three girls, two boys, and three grandchildren. Hobby, gardening.

Our GEORGE "DUTCH" O'DAY made the front page of the Chicago Daily News on two successive days, Dec. 30 and 31. It seems that one evening the O'Days' paper boy heaved the paper through their living room window and Dutch wrote the editor a long, humorous letter about it. This was printed, in full, on Dec. 30. The next day the

SEYMOUR WEISBERGER is a practicing attorney in South Bend. In 1932, he married Edyth Landy. They have no children. Seymour is a past president of the Indiana State B'Nai B'Rith Ass'n.

THOMAS E. FERGUSON is now living in Hartford, Conn., where he is a Claim Auditor for the Travelers Insurance Co. In 1936, he married Helen Carlson and they have two girls, Anne and Katharine, and a boy, John. Tom is a past president of the Notre Dame Club of the Connecticut Valley.

Of the above 20 classmates, 12 indicated that they intended to come to the '61 reunion, 3 said no, and 5 didn't know.

From the Alumni Office:

ROBERT L. CAHILL, a New York Stock Exchange specialist in New York Central stock, handled the frantic NYC trading activity after Robert R. Young's death.

JOHN BRINKMAN has written me from Chicago that he has three sons. The youngest son is a graduate of St. Louis University and is a Second Lieutenant in the Air Force. The middle one will finish at Marquette in May. John points out that JOHN McKEVITT of our Class is on the staff of the Engineering College at Marquette. John Brinkman's oldest son is a Jesuit Scholastic, and is finishing his third year of philosophy at West Baden, Indiana. I was very glad to hear from John because to date letters from classmates still have not been too plentiful. John is fortunate indeed to have three boys who have graduated from college. He has every right to be proud. John himself, incidentally, has also had further college work since his graduation. He received his doctorate in education at Loyola in February, 1958.

To show you how time marches on, (as if you didn't know), I was delighted a couple months ago to hear from JACK DAILY, who as you know practices law at Burlington, Iowa. One of Jack's daughters, Mary, plans to get married this summer, and will live in Aurora. I had the pleasure of talking to Mary and her fiance a few weeks ago. My home town will benefit greatly by the addition of this splendid young couple, although it still is rather hard for me to realize that my classmates are old enough to be parents of children who are marrying.

THEODORE BEDNARD teaches at Marmion Military Academy in Aurora. He has been there for many years and is almost a part of the institution. He is undoubtedly one of the reasons that so many Marmion graduates continue their education at Notre Dame.

It is with regret that I report the deaths of two of our classmates. You may have noticed that the preceding issue of the ALUMNUS told of the death of JOHN Q. CAREY of Toledo. All the Law School classmates remember John well. He achieved marked success in his profession and was Judge of the Court of Common Pleas in Toledo for many years. I kept track of him from time to time through a friend we had in common, and understand that John was considered one of the best Judges on the Bench.

JOHN PATTON also died recently. He had been living in Mitchell, South Dakota, and his loss also will be deeply felt.

You may have observed that the Class Secretaries had a meeting at Notre Dame on January 18. I was not able to attend because of another event which concerned one of our most illustrious classmates. PAUL BUTLER was in Aurora on that day to speak at a meeting sponsored by the Young Democrats' Club. It was my good fortune to be asked to introduce Paul. I accepted the opportunity with alacrity. Paul's advancement in national affairs has not affected his personality one bit. I will not bring politics into the Class Notes, but I think I can be allowed to say that we can all be proud of Paul's conduct as National Chairman of one of the major political parties.

From the Alumni Office:

WILLIAM S. CATE, Detroit regional manager of the Acme Fast Freight Company, celebrated his 30th anniversary with Acme on January 25. Bill now is a grandfather, courtesy of his daughter Jane. Last June Bill, Jr., graduated from Notre Dame just 30 years after his father, and son John is now a freshman.

ARTHUR "BUD" BOERINGER, former All-

NEW ORLEANS—This was just part of the happy throng at the New Orleans Club's annual gathering of students and parents. From left to right: President James E. Smith, John Petitbon; Bill Fischer, Notre Dame line coach and principal speaker; C. A. Spurl, Jr.; W. S. Smith, Jr.; Joseph Ecuyer, Harold D. Spurl and Allen Ecuyer, who presented the I.N.S. All-America award.

American lineman under K. K. ROCKNE and Detroit line coach under GUS DORAIS, is employed by Foley Brothers at the firm's huge taconite project at Hoyt Lakes, Minn.

CHARLES A. O'NEILL, veteran executive secretary of St. Vincent de Paul in Milwaukee, recently received a Pere Marquette Award from Marquette University.

A. J. BRADLEY, recreation supervisor at Newark State School, Newark, N. Y., wrote to describe the appearance of Pennsylvania Boxing Chairman JIM CROWLEY, '25, at a local sports dinner and to furnish some lore on the Victory March.

W. W. (RED) SMITH, syndicated sports columnist of the New York Herald Tribune, received the tenth annual award of the Catholic Institute of the Press.

Some of you may remember BROTHER CORNELIUS G. MACMAHON, a student at N.D. from 1925 to 1929, and who was listed on our '28 class roster. Brother passed away on October 30, 1957, after fifty years of service as a teaching Brother in the Christian Brothers of Ireland.

I wish to extend our sympathy to JOHN RICKORD on the death of his mother in October, to ARTHUR ZIMMERMAN, whose mother died in November, and to FRANK CREADON, whose mother passed away in February. My father died in December. Please remember them in your prayers.

The sister of JAMES PARKER advises that Jim is a patient in the Veterans Hospital, Gulfport Division, Biloxi, Mississippi, where he is suffering from Alzheimer's disease. Please pray for his recovery.

I trust all of you received my Newsletter giving details on the following items: the appointment of HOWIE PHALIN as executive vice president of the Field Enterprises Educational Corporation and director of World Book Encyclopedia sales, Dr. DAN BRADLEY'S appearance on the "Nightbeat" television program (Ed. Note: Dan is a "Spotlight Alumnus" in this issue. J.L.), the accidental meeting of JOHN CARROLL and GEORGE LEPPIG in the Virgin Islands, my get-together with TOM BOV, and the report of the illness of FATHER JIM McSHANE.

News has reached me concerning a number of men whose names have not appeared in this column in years. LIONEL E. AUSTIN is owner of the Gally Box Company in Chicago, Illinois. Lionel has six children, ages 10 to 21. RAY DAHMAN is working at the U. S. Post Office in Youngstown, Ohio. Ray has one son. PHIL BERTHAUME is Regional Manager of the Bankers Life Company in Portland, Oregon, and Secretary-treasurer of the Melina Company, property and investments. Phil has served as city chairman of the Notre Dame Foundation.

FRANK CREADON sent me a clipping from the December 14, 1957, issue of the Chicago Tribune in which a report of the Civic Federation was quoted concerning the installation of a new mechanized system of records dealing with the assessment of property and the billing and collection of property taxes. Mentioned particularly in the report was EDMUND J. BRENNAN, Director of Central Services in Cook County, Illinois. "For his competent and painstaking efforts in overseeing the vast amount of detail involved in the operation." Ed also serves as chairman, Committee on Public Records, Municipal Finance Officers Association of the U. S. and Canada.

HAROLD RUPPEL tells me that he noticed on TV that HAL HUDSON is listed as producer of the Dick Powell "Zane Grey Theatre" in Hollywood. RALPH NOLAN is President of the Connor Investment Co. in Joplin, Missouri.

EDWARD J. MOWERY, who was with our class during our freshman year, is a special writer for the Newhouse newspapers. You will recall that Ed received a Pulitzer prize in 1953 for his successful seven-year fight to free falsely convicted Louis Hoffner, serving a life term for murder. Ed is returning for our reunion in June.

JOSEPH C. NORTON is head of the electrical engineering staff at Union Carbide Chemicals Co. in South Charleston, West Virginia. GREGORY PARKER is a teacher in the Riley High School in South Bend. CARL PETTERICH is director of graduate studies and extension services at State Teachers College in Danbury, Conn. PHIL PITON is assistant to the president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues and is located in Columbus, Ohio. JOHN ROBINSON is taking on a building program for the Robinson School in Hartford, Conn., which will enable them to teach youngsters from the kindergarten through the 12th grade. John has his oldest daughter as kindergarten teacher in his school. TOM RODGERS is sales manager in the Buffalo district office for Penn-Dixie Cement Corporation. GEORGE SARGUS reports from Wheeling, West Virginia, that DON BUTTER, his roommate in Freshman Hall, is now living in Phoenix, Arizona. Incidentally, my Freshman Hall roommate, JOE BRANNON, is with Sears in Phoenix.

RUSS SMITH, president and general manager of the Sandusky Cement Prod. Co., advised that he expected to see JOHN GAUGHAN soon in Dallas, Texas. I am anxious to locate John's address. Russ sees CHET RICE of Avon Lake, Ohio, regularly. JOHN SONNHALTER is treasurer of the Visual-Tech Publications, Inc., in Cleveland, Ohio. He is also manager of the art department at Jack & Heintz, Inc. ED THOMAN is a project engineer in the plant department with the Indiana Bell Telephone Co. in South Bend. Ed, who is a widower, has five children, including two sets of twins.

JOHN WINBERRY, an attorney in Rutherford, N. J., has four children, ages 2 to 7. John has served as general counsel for the Congressional Committee to investigate executive agencies and as special consultant for the U. S. Senate Committee to investigate crime in interstate commerce.

I attended the Notre Dame Club Communion breakfast in Boston on December 8, 1957. JOHN HERBERT was the only other '28 man present. TIM TWOMEY, '29, was inquiring about a number of classmates, including WILLARD WAGNER. JOHN RICKORD reported that he saw DICK PHELAN and HOWIE PHALIN at the Chicago N.D. Communion breakfast.

Father JIM McSHANE reports following a serious illness that his nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital in Denver was the daughter of BILL CRAIG, '29. Although Bill was not in our class, he was well known to many of us through debating and the Wranglers. Bill is co-owner of the Tri-City Radio Corporation in Muncie, Indiana, and has 10 children. Bill's first wife died, leaving three children. Father Jim reported that ELMER WYNNE visited him in the hospital. Elmer is in industrial relations work with the Safeway Stores in Denver. Father Jim offered a Mass for the deceased members of our class in December.

ALBION GRIFFIN is assistant head of the patent division of Bethlehem Steel Co. in Bethlehem, Pa. MIKE McGEOGHEGAN is director of the electronic data processing center, U. S. Treasury Dept., at Parkersburg, West Virginia. JOHN POLISKY is physical director of the Catholic Community Center at Steubenville, Ohio. JOHN "CLIPPER" SMITH is in personnel administration with Pratt and Whitney Aircraft in Meriden, Conn. JOSEPH S. SULLIVAN is vice president and general counsel for the Amalgamated Labor Life Insurance Co. in Chicago. MAURICE COUGHLIN is an attorney in Erie, Pa., and is assistant city solicitor. Maurice has served as chairman of the Erie County Democratic Committee.

BOB DEGNAN is with the E. F. Johnson Co., an electronic parts manufacturing company, in Waseca, Minn., as material control supervisor. Bob has a daughter who is a medical technologist at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester. BERNARD KORNZEN is Clerk of the Probate Court in Cook County and attorney for the Cook County Recorder of Deeds and for the Chicago Board of Education.

ART ZIMMERMAN is comptroller and assistant secretary of the Eagle-Picher Co. of Ridge Rouge, Michigan. He visited with TOM JOHNSON last summer. Art sees BOB VOGELWEDE, '29, frequently. Bob is a partner with Peat Marwick Mitchell & Co. in Detroit.

JOHN CARLIN is office manager of the Clemence-Morrison Livestock Commission and has cattle and farming as a secondary interest. John has two children and lives in Mentor, Kansas. LOUIS CARR is vice president and general manager of Coast Cities Coaches in Neptune City, N. J. He has five children, ages 16 to 21. JOHN S. CULLEN is manager for Western New York for the Industrial Appraisal Company. John lives in Buffalo and has four children, ages 8 to 21. DR. JOHN GOCKE has served as physician for the Los Angeles police and fire department for 22 years. John has seven children, ages 6 to 22. JIM HARTLEY is plant auditor for the American Can Co. in Hoboken, N. J. BERNARD LOEFFLER is division plant engineer for the Indiana Bell Telephone Co. in Kokomo, Indiana. EUGENE McVEIGH is an attorney in Long Branch, N. J.

Two items which crossed my desk at the Boston Regional office of the U. S. Department of Labor referred to classmates. One was with respect to JOE McNAMARA, assistant to the president and in charge of industrial relations at the Bridgeport

Brass Company. Joe is doing an outstanding job for his company and for his community as a member of the Bridgeport Manpower Council. The other item referred to JOHN DEVLIN, manager of the employment security office in Dayton, Ohio. Reference was made to Jim as "the good quarterback who calls the plays in winning not only the cooperation of the local office employees, but also the respect of the community."

I have located a copy of the November 1957 issue of the Columbia magazine, called to my attention by TOM MAHON. A picture is carried on page 27 of the Fourth Degree class at Vicksburg, Miss., named in honor of BOB EVAN's father who presented his seven sons, including Bob, and two sons-in-law for initiation.

In the last issue of the ALUMNUS we listed those who are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary the first six months of this year. Those for which we have data for the rest of the year are as follows: RAY LUSSON, July 1; JIM WHITE, July 15; JOHN P. MURPHY, July 29; HERB McGABE, Sept. 9; MAURICE CONLEY, Sept. 15; ROBERT GRANT, Sept. 17; NORB SEIDENSTICKER, Sept. 20; JOHN FONTANA, Oct. 19; MARCUS FARRELL, Oct. 4; LOUIS CARR, Nov. 25; HENRY HASLEY, Dec. 30. Those celebrating their 30th wedding anniversary include JOHN LARSEN, July 4; WM. MAHON, Aug. 10; JOHN RICKORD, Aug. 25; ED McCLARNON, Oct. 10; ED QUINN and BILL McGEE on Nov. 29. I regret my records are not complete on anniversaries, so all could be included.

FATHER MARK FITZGERALD, C.S.C., and I attended the meeting of the Catholic Economic Association in Philadelphia on December 27-28. Father Mark gave an excellent Presidential address on the subject of National Resources and Public Policy. I spoke on "The Migrant Worker Today." We also attended a meeting of the Executive Board of the National Catholic Social Action Conference. Father Mark is a member and I am chairman of that Board.

This will supplement my report in the last ALUMNUS of classmates with sons attending the following colleges: Indiana University, GEORGE BEAMER; Western Reserve University, PAT CANNY; U. S. Merchant Marine Academy, LOUIS CARR; Ohio University, RUSSELL COLLINS; Buffalo University, JOHN CULLEN; Illinois University, RAY DAHMAN; Georgia State College, BILL DAILY; Loyola University, ED DUFFY; John Hopkins, TERENCE DONAHUE; Michigan State, AUGUSTUS JENKINS; Assumption College, MAX GAUTHIER; Georgia University, JOHN GOCCKE; St. Ambrose, HAYES MURPHY; St. Paul Novitiate, THOMAS J. NOON; San Diego State, THOMAS NOON; Marquette University, JOSEPH NORTON; St. Joseph's College, JOHN RICKORD; Maryland University, RICHARD WEPPNER; Catholic University, RICHARD WEPPNER; Yale University, ALBION GRIFFIN; Holy Cross College, JOSEPH SULLIVAN.

You will recall that we listed the '28 men with sons at N.D. in the last ALUMNUS. I have heard that the sons of FRANK CREADON and MARCUS FARRELL are following in their fathers' footsteps in the N.D. Glee Club. Are there other '28 sons doing the same?

The following is a continuation of my round-up in the last issue of the ALUMNUS on where daughters are attending college: Stanford University, PHIL BERTHIAUME; St. Mary's College, JOE GRIFFIN, PAT CANNY, WM. McGEE; Rosary College, FRANCIS CREADON, ROBERT RIGNEY; Buffalo University, JOHN CULLEN; Sorbonne, Paris, ED DUFFY; Trinity College, JOE KISSLING, ED DUFFY; Marymount College, JOHN GOCCKE; Marquette University, HENRY HASLEY; Oregon University, JOE E. MORRISSEY; Arkansas University, JOHN P. MURPHY; St. Elizabeth College, JOHN ROBINSON; D'Youville, THOMAS RODGERS; Newton College, HAROLD RUPPEL; Florida State University, JAMES O'BRIEN; Skidmore College, EUGENE A. SCHILTZ; Illinois University, FRANCIS MEYER; Salve Regina College, JAMES GIVREN (deceased). BERNIE GARBBER sent me a clipping announcing that BILL CRONIN's daughter, a student at Manhattanville College was crowned Columbian Queen of Westchester at the annual charity ball at White Plains.

The following classmates are serving on committees, boards, etc., as follows: GEORGE BEAMER, member of the South Bend School Board, trustee of Ashland College, President of the St.

Joseph County Bar Association, and the South Bend Advisory Council, University of Notre Dame; DR. BERNARD CROWLEY, President, N. D. Club of Wichita, Kansas; GEORGE CORY, Chairman of Eisenhower Committee to employ the Handicapped for Southeast Florida; BILL DAILY, Chairman, Atlanta Area Council, Boy Scouts, and Governor of N.D. Foundation for State of Georgia; EDWARD J. DUFFY is a member of the Essex Fells Board of Education and trustee of the lay board of Trinity College. DR. MARCUS FARRELL is president of the West Virginia Pediatric Society, chairman of the Harrison City-Clarksburg Board of Health, and president of the Coordinating Committee, Clarksburg Deanery of Roman Catholic Churches; HENRY HASLEY is master of Northern district of Indiana Fourth degree, trustee of Father Gibault School for boys, and member of the advisory board, St. Francis College; BOB LAMEY is president of the Evansville N.D. Club; JOHN P. MURPHY is president of the Fort Smith N.D. Club and city chairman of the N.D. Foundation; JOHN ROBINSON is chairman of the board of Albertus Magnus College; HAROLD RUPPEL is councilman in Moreland Hills Village, Ohio; JOHN WINBERRY is governor of the N.D. foundation in New Jersey; LAURENCE WINGERTER is a member of the Board of Governors, St. Mary's University, president and trustee of the Bexar Foundation, Inc., San Antonio, and director in the Common Carrier Motor Freight Association, the Transportation League, and the Texas Safety Council; JOHN FONTANA is a member of the Democratic Executive Committee, Franklin County, Ohio, and Columbus chairman of N.D. Foundation; JOE GERAGHTY is diocesan chairman of the Bishop's Committee on Scouting in Rochester, N. Y.; JOSEPH HILGER is trustee of the Indiana Hospital Association; RON RICH is secretary of the Y.M.C.A. Board of Directors, South Bend; FLOYD SEARER is a member of the Board of Aviation Commissions, St. Joseph County; F. X. JAMES O'BRIEN is a director of the University of Miami Alumni Association.

I have additional reports on children and grandchildren of classmates to supplement that given in the March ALUMNUS. The following have had children since our 25th reunion: MARTIN RINT,

PAUL BRUST, BERNARD CROWLEY, JOSEPH GRIFFIN, FRANK HEGARTY, JOHN WINBERRY, PAT VARRAVETO, BILL O'NEILL, MIKE HOGAN, and MIKE RICKS. Are there others who should be added to this list?

My last report in the ALUMNUS on grandparents is supplemented as follows with the number of grandchildren in parenthesis: ED THOMAS (9), TOM RODGERS (8), F. X. JAMES O'BRIEN (5), TERENCE DONAHUE (4), CHRISTIE FLANAGAN (4), LOUIS BUCKLEY (4), JOSEPH NORTON (4), RICHARD WEPNER (3), BOB EVANS (3), JOHN DAVIS (2), ROBERT RIGNEY (2), AUGUSTUS JENKINS (2), RUSSELL SMITH (2), GEORGE BEAMER (2). Those added to the list of grandfathers with one each are: JOHN CULLEN, RAY DAHMAN, BILL DAILY, GERALD MCGILL, ED DUFFY, JOHN RICKORD, MIKE MCGEOHEGAN, LEO SCHULTHEIS, THOMAS JAMES, JOHN SCHMITZ, and JOSEPH SIMONIN. FRANK HEGARTY and RALPH NOLAN reported that they expected to become grandfathers soon.

I noticed in the March 3 issue of the Congressional Record a comment on the observance of the silver jubilee of the ordination of our classmate, REV. GEORGE BENAGLIA, C.S.C., president of King's College as follows: "To serve as president of two colleges, superior of a seminary, and director of a foundation in the brief span of 25 years is impressive recognition for a clergyman, testifying to his executive capacity, his intellectual attainments, and the respect he commands." Congratulations, Father George, and best wishes on his important milestone.

The sister of LEO PAUL advises that Leo is still confined in Mercy State Hospital, Mercy, N. Y., where he has been since 1940. Please remember Paul in your prayers.

GEORGE SCHEUER, who has been helping ATER ANDY MULREANY, C.S.C., on plans for the reunion and who got out a mailing in February, has been out to talk to the Journalism majors on the campus. George, who is chief of the copy desk and aviation editor at the South Bend Tribune, has a schedule set up for Journalism students to sit in on the run of the copy desk at the South Bend Tribune for a few Saturday nights of practice, like many of our classmates used to do at the old News Times. George is planning luncheon for Journalists on Saturday noon during reunion week end.

JOHN SCHMITZ is southeastern merchandise manager for the Oregon Washington-California Pear ureau. John lives in Atlanta and has one daughter and grandchild. ANDY KANE called me recently. He is an attorney for the City of Boston. Andy, who finished law at Boston University, has one daughter, a student at Radcliffe.

GUS JENKINS of Williamsville, N. Y., has retired from active service, although he retains his office of vice-president of Dunn Welding Co., and is a partner in the Airways Hotels, Inc. Gus is teaching some classes in English in high school. Gus, who is following the example of JOHN SEITER who also recently returned to teaching, always liked teaching.

With the cooperation of the Alumni Office, we sent letters to all the fellows listed as freshmen in the 1924-25 student directory who were not on our class roster, inviting them to return to the reunion. Since the addresses were 34 years old, a number of the letters were returned unclaimed, as anticipated. We were advised that the following men were deceased: GEORGE D. GILLIS, FRANCIS KRAUS, JULIUS M. SCHUH, JOSEPH M. MCCARTHY, ALBERT C. MOORE, FRANK W. WINSLOW, CYRIL W. BRADFORD (April 28, 1944), A. J. FINK (March 25, 1957), and WM. H. MCCORMICK (March 2, 1957). Please remember these men in your prayers.

I obtained news on the following men in response to this mailing to old students: MARK BRADLEY, who was from Hickman, Kentucky, in our freshman and sophomore days, is now REV. PATRICK BRADLEY, O.S.B., procurator for St. Procopius Abbey at Lisle, Illinois; JOHN JACKSON is owner and manager of the Merchants Advertising Service in his home town of Coldwater, Michigan, where he served as Mayor from 1952 to 1956. JOHN HANNAN is territory manager in Iowa for the James Lees & Sons, manufacturers of carpets. He lives at 243-51st St., Des Moines, Iowa. GEORGE H. STADEL is a naval architect in Stamford, Conn., where he lives at 426 Sheppan Ave. George played hockey for New York A. C. several years. He has six children. JOHN WATHEN, who was called J.B. when he was with us during our freshman and sophomore years, is in the field of sales and servicing of personal aircraft. His address is 391 Mockingbird Valley Rd., Louisville 7, Ky. ED SHORT is in the insurance business in his home town of Moberly, Missouri. His son was graduated in law from Notre Dame in 1956.

I trust you are making plans to attend our 30-year reunion which opens with the class dinner on Friday evening, June 6. As I write these notes on March 8 over 200 classmates have advised they will attend our reunion. I have been particularly impressed by the number of classmates who are returning for the first time since graduation.

BERNIE GARBOR, with the help of a number of classmates, has carried out a great publicity campaign. VINCE CARNEY has the '28 clothing ready for distribution in Lyons Hall on June 6. FATHER ANDY MULREANY, C.S.C. and his local committee have done a great job in making plans for the week end that will set a new high in reunions and at least a few new records for the historians, as JIM ARMSTRONG has predicted. This is a final invitation to return to the Notre Dame campus on June 6, 7, and 8—to one of the most beloved dwelling places that we have ever had. I hope that I will see each of you at Lyons Hall on June 6.

From the Alumni Office:

The National Catholic Social Action Conference, mentioned briefly by Your Secretary, is a new national organization dedicated to bringing Christian principles to bear on American social problems. Replacing the National Conference on Industrial Problems, it is made up of priests and laymen active in various social fields. Its chairman is LOU BUCKLEY, who also headed the previous group. N.C.S.A.C. holds its first national meeting on the Notre Dame campus Sept. 4-7.

COL. LEO J. SCHULTHEIS, who plans to travel to the reunion all the way from Laos, where he is Army Attache at the American Embassy, has made a gift to the University Library of three rare volumes in the Lao language pertaining to the teachings of Buddha.

Should you care to remember a deceased friend or relative with a Perpetual Remembrance in over 800 daily masses and many other spiritual works you will want more information from REV. THOMAS M. FITZPATRICK, C.S.C., Holy Cross Purgatorial Society, Holy Cross Missions, Washington 17, D. C. He has available a framed certificate of membership (with donor's name) which he mails promptly to the family of the deceased. Offering is $5 for each person enrolled. Be sure to send him complete information should you wish to enroll a member either living or deceased. Perhaps you have been aware of this program. If you have wanted details this is your opportunity to obtain them. The Class of '29 might well establish a class-sponsored remembrance of its deceased within this program of Father Fitzpatrick.

Many of us may not be aware that on the first Saturday of every month a Mass is offered for deceased members of alumni families. On April 5, REV. THOMAS J. O'DONNELL, C.S.C., included in his Mass intention the repose of the soul of Katherine G. Daley (died, Jan. 29), mother of J. HARVEY DALEY, '29. Your classmates send you their sincere sympathy, Harvey.

If you missed the Spotlight Alumnus story on HAROLD J. MARSHALL, '29, in the last ALUMNUS you didn't read page 58.

WALT MULFLUR, 1031 Queen St., Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, is a Division Superintendent for Algoma Steel Corp. Son JOE MULFLUR (23) is an N.D. graduate of '56; daughter Mary is a senior at St. Mary's. John, age 19, is with FATHER WILL CRADDICK, '30, at Sacred Heart Novitiate, Jordan, Minn. At home are Jimmy, 11, and Loretta, 9. The Mulflurs moved to Canada in June, 1954. We saw them on the campus frequently before that time and look forward to their next visit. Mike O'Donnell, Walt's nephew, aspires to enter as an N.D. freshman this fall. Walt would like to hear from HAROLD BOWLS and DOC DOUGHERTY. Doc is now Chief Metallurgist of Weirton Steel Corp. If the correspondence that your secretary receives is a valid statistical sample Doc is a leading candidate for Class of '29 man of this year or any year.

BILL CRAIG of Muncie, Indiana, vice-president of Tri-City Radio Corp., and wife Ann are proud parents of Tim, born Feb. 2, 1958. Tim is Craig number ten. His brothers and sisters are Bill, Jr., Margie, Patty, Mike, Bob, Tom, Jim, Don and Joe. Tim is already uncle to three, namely Jeff, Dave and Steve, sons of Bill, Jr. That 1958 Muncie basketball team is tops and has excellent long-term prospects. Bill would like to hear from ARNOLD WILLIAMS and JOE McNAMARA.

JOE WHALEN, '29's representative on the Alumni Board to 1958 and a very active one, writes as follows:

"MARK WONDERLIN is the other '29er living in Des Moines. He is chief of the Claims Division of the Aetna Casualty and surety Company office here.

"H. A. 'HUB' SCHIMBERG is in Des Moines frequently on business trips. Hub has a fine dry cleaning establishment in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and is the immediate past president of the Iowa State Cleaners and Dyers Association.

"MARK WALSH, long a resident of Beatrice, Nebraska, moved to California with his family a few years ago and continued in the hotel business there. He has recently made a new connection and is general manager of a hotel chain on the West Coast. I have misplaced his last letter so, if he reads this, he will understand why I failed to answer it.

"We were honored by a short visit from JOE LENIHAN a few months ago. He stopped over on a business trip to the West Coast.

"Have seen or heard from a number of the '29ers recently, and among them—EMMETT McCABE, San Diego; AL WELZENBACH, Los Angeles; LARRY STAUDER, Notre Dame; MICK- EY McMAHON, New Orleans, and GEORGE MONROE, Freeport, Ill."

The Burns boys, Joseph P., Class of '58, and Henry, Jr., an entering freshman, are just two more reasons why HENRY BURNS will be here from Kenmore, N. Y., for our class reunion in '59—and before. Henry is President of the Ran- burn Co., Inc.—which ANG GALDABINI de- scribes as one of the outstanding paper box plants in the country. Henry's family includes Mary Ruth, 23, and Michael, 10, as well as Joe and Henry, Jr. Henry has recently seen EARL LEACH, JACK ELDER, BOB TROTTER and JOHN LAW. John is distributor for Miller Brewing Co. in New York State. HENRY BURNS would like to hear from TOM RYAN and REGIS BITTNER.

From Milwaukee ANGELO GALDABINI reports his family as: sons John, 21, at Marquette U.; Jim, 19, at Holy Cross, and Tom, 16 (an N.D. prospect), at Dominican High, Whitefish Bay. Ang is still managing Manufacturers Box Co. and Manufacturers Chemical Co. He would like to hear from IVAN WOLF and EARL KEEZER.

JIM NOWERY continues his oil well drilling and related activities in North Louisiana, East Texas and Arkansas. Son Charles R. is now a sophomore at N.D. living in Morrissey Hall. James B. is now 22 and daughter Patricia Elizabeth is thirteen. "Shorty" heard recently from BILL MILLER, '30, of Jackson, Miss., who is doing well.

Another prospect for N.D. is Fred Baum, age 15, son of DR. CHARLES BAUM and wife Dorothy. Doctor practices dentistry in Hamilton, Ohio, and finds time for service to his community as this partial list of his activities indicates: former president of Keely (Butler County) Dental Society; past chairman of Hamilton Quarterback Club; former president, Y.M.C.A. Swimming Club, where son Fred has won six swimming letters since age 9; member, Elks, K. of C., and N.D. Club of Hamilton. Doctor Baum is a staff member of Mercy and Fort Hamilton Hospitals where he does oral surgery. (Thank you, Charles, for briefing us on your activities; now your classmates know you better. Your class secretary would like to have similar information from others.)

JOE HISS, Oakland, California, was recently appointed assistant vice-president of the First Western Bank and Trust Co. He is vice-chairman of the bank properties committee. Son Joseph Mark is age 9. Joe sees BERNIE ABBOTT, FRED PEAK, LES and ED Ryan. He would like to hear from the Corby Hall Tribe—which must include ROCCO PERONE.

Joe has this sad news to relay. MICHAEL J. CUNNINGHAM, '29, of 10335 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, died in mid-January. Joe attended the recitation of the rosary at St. Paul's Church, West Los Angeles. WILLIAM S. O'CONNOR, '29, of Indianapolis, died in April. The Class of '29 sends its sincere sympathy to their families and to the family of OSCAR L. SIDENFADEN, '20, who died very recently. Among the survivors is his brother, WILLIAM R. (SID) SIDENFADEN, '29.

John Kearns, a senior in A.B., son of JACK KEARNS, '29, was recently awarded a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship for graduate study in the 1958-59 school year. John was awarded a monogram in fencing this spring.

We hope you have time to say a prayer for BILL DONELAN, Colorado Springs, Colo., who is on the mend from a stroke suffered late last fall.

1930 Devere Plunkett O'Shaughnessy Hall Notre Dame, Indiana

TOM MEDLAND brings us up to date on a lot of people seen by him in his varied activities:

"In Logansport HAROLD TUBERTY, '31, is City Judge and TOM HIRSCHAUER, '41, is City Attorney. JIM DIGAN, '29, is a manufacturers representative with residence in Logansport and offices in Chicago. Jim is the third Notre Dame man presently included in the official municipal family, serving on the City Council. DICK MOLIQUE, '36, is a successful attorney and LEO HENDRICKS, '34, is in the printing business. ART McGRATH, '50, is with the Pennsylvania Railroad and ED MALAY, '25, is still a resident of Logansport, though I don't see Art or Ed very often. My brother, Ed, '29, is in the construction business. GALE BARTER, '49, is an important cog in my architectural office.

ED HICKEY, '38, who spent several years in Logansport following graduation is back in South Bend in the air conditioning business. JOHN TIERNEY, '49, after a few years in Logansport was transferred back to South Bend by the Great Lakes Distributing Corp. PAUL BOTT, '31, a native of Logansport, is now Purchasing Agent for the H. W. Gossard Co. and is living in White Plains, New York. BILL RAMMEL, '49, also a native of Logansport is practicing architecture in Fort Wayne. DR. JIM HARRINGTON, '45, a native of Richmond, after several years in the West has established practice in Logansport within the past year. DICK HAUGH, '29, is with the U. S. Employment Service. His territory includes Logansport and I see him periodically.

"Surrounding the time I served as Indiana State Deputy of the Knights of Columbus from 1952-1954 I attended Supreme Conventions for four or five successive years. At those meetings and other Knights of Columbus activities I made contact with several Notre Dame men including His Excellency ARCHBISHOP JOHN F. O'HARA, in Philadelphia, CHARLIE DUCEY, '28, and BILL PIEDMONT, '39 Supreme offices, Supreme Director CONROY SCOGGINS, ('24), PAUL CASTNER, '23, in St. Paul, and then Oklahoma State Deputy, MARION BLAKE, '33. I have just learned that Marion recently welcomed a new addition to his family.

"Others I have seen particularly through Knights of Columbus activities in Indiana are: BOB LAMEY, '28, of Evansville, PAT FISHER, '35, JOHN O'CONNOR, '38, JIM, '38, and JOHN ROCAP, JACK ELDER, and TED ABEL of Indianapolis. Jim Freeman, '33, is in the clothing manufacturing business in Winamac, Indiana.

"Past State Deputies of the Indiana State Knights of Columbus are also members of the Board of Directors of the Father Gibault School for Boys at Terre Haute, Indiana. This is a school for delinquent boys, sponsored by the Indiana Knights of Columbus and operated by the Brothers of Holy Cross. Fellow Past State Deputies and Board members include TIM GALVIN, '16, HENRY HASLEY, '28, and JOHN ROCAP. Tim is Past Deputy Supreme Knight and Henry is a Master of the Fourth Degree in Indiana. John is presently a member of the Supreme Board of the Knights of Columbus and has a son studying for the priesthood. I see these men regularly. Tim has two sons, Tim and Pat at Notre Dame. Henry's son, Jack, is also a Notre Dame student, as is my son, Tom, who is President of the Sophomore Class. A year ago last December Tim, Henry and I as Past State Deputies, were privileged to be guests of Notre Dame Council to see our sons, Tim, Jack and Tom respectively, become members of that council. Joining us on this unusual occasion was RAY MILLER, '14, of Cleveland, former Supreme Director and his son DICK, '54, a former Deputy Grand Knight of Notre Dame Council. To complete the picture was Ray's son BOB, '57, who was then serving as Grand Knight of Notre Dame council. During the week end we visited Virginia and PAT MANION, '22, at their home.

PHILADELPHIA—Notre Dame men at a reception held by the Philadelphia Notre Dame Club at time of N.C.A.A. meetings in January at Philadelphia, included: (seated) Wally Fromhart, head coach University of Detroit; Andy Pilney, head coach, Tulane; Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, C.S.C., executive vice-president, Notre Dame; George Terlep, head coach, Regina Roughriders; Henry Stram, asst. coach, Notre Dame; Terry Brennan, head coach, Notre Dame; Ed Krause, athletic director, Notre Dame; Adam Walsh, head coach, Bowdoin; (standing) Phil Yanoschik, asst. coach, Wayne Univ.; Frank (Blackie) Johnston, asst. coach, Marquette; Walter Grothaus, football, '45-'47-'48-'49, (Philadelphia club); Bill Whiteside, football, 1950 (Philadelphia club); George Dickson, asst. coach, College of the Pacific; John Mazur, asst. coach, Marquette; Tom Brock, asst. coach, Omaha Univ.; Ed Crotty, coach, Danbury (Conn.) High School; Lou Rymkus, asst. coach, Los Angeles Rams; Milt Piepul, asst. coach, Brown Univ.; Jake Kline, baseball coach, Notre Dame; Wally Ziemba; former asst. coach, Notre Dame; Rex Enright, athletic director, South Carolina; Jack Vainisi, scout, Green Bay Packers; Bud Kerr, head coach, University of Dayton; Bob Dove, asst. coach, Detroit Lions; Bill Smith, coach, Canadian football league; Jack Zilly, asst. coach, Notre Dame; Larry (Moon) Mullins, athletic director, Marquette; Ed Mieszkowski, asst. coach, Marquette; Harry Stuhldreher, former head coach, Wisconsin; Johnny Druze, head coach, Marquette; Larry Sullivan, head coach, McGill Univ.; Bill Regan, high school coach, Morristown, N. J.; Ambrose Dudley, former athletic director, Villanova; Ernie Zalejski, coach, Joliet Catholic High, Joliet, Ill.; and Frank Spaniel, football, 1947-48-49.

"A few weeks later we were privileged to attend a Testimonial Dinner given for ELI SHAHEEN, '34, by the Notre Dame Council and the attendance consisted principally of Notre Dame men, too numerous to mention.

"In the early 1930's five of us lived together in Chicago. The group consisted of BILL DWYER, '28, JIM ALLAN, '28, BOB VOGLEWEDE, '29, LARRY O'CONNOR and myself.

"With the proper planning we held a reunion in Lafayette the week end of the N.D.-Purdue game last September. Eleanor and Bill, who is in the advertising business, came from Chicago; and Kay and Jim, who is a legal representative, came from Evanston; Virginia and Bob, who is a C.P.A., came from Detroit and Mary and I went down from Logansport. We were guests of Fran and LARRY O'CONNOR at their beautiful new home in Lafayette. Larry is the very successful manager of the Sears store in Lafayette. BOB EGGEMAN of Fort Wayne stopped by with his wife for a short visit. Jim has a son, Jimmy, at Notre Dame and Bob has a son who is studying for the priesthood.

As for me, "DEV", I keep busy with my architectural profession and through the years our office has been privileged to do many Catholic projects, particularly in the Lafayette and Fort Wayne Dioceses. Through the Indiana Society of Architects, I see FRANK MONTANA, Head of the N. D. Architecture Dept, who is President of the Society. In addition to Tom at Notre Dame, Mary and I have three other sons. Dick is a High School Junior, Bill is in the eighth grade and Tim in the fourth grade, both at St. Bridgets. All of them help to make life interesting and to keep Mary and me busy. In communities of this size there are many extracurricular activities and I, of course, have my share. This year among several outside interests, the Presidency of the Logansport Rotary Club and Presidency of the Logansport Board of Aviation Commissioners occupies a good deal of time."

CAPT. GEORGE O'MALLEY, whose son is a freshman at Notre Dame, writes from his post abroad: "I am enjoying my work here in London as the Staff Legal Officer for Commander in Chief, U. S. Naval Forces, Eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean. This command covers all of Europe and part of the Middle East and our legal problems are numerous and varied. I have had the opportunity to travel in Germany, Italy and Spain.

As you know, I was fortunate in having a private audience with the Pope last summer, along with Admiral Ward, the Judge Advocate General of the Navy.

"I do not have the opportunity to see many Notre Dame men. My new boss, ADMIRAL HOLLOWAY, as you probably know, has an honorary degree from Notre Dame, so at least I have one fellow alumnus in the command.

"I am going to Madrid, Spain, on the 16th of April to attend an Inter-Service Legal Committee Meeting, of which I am the chairman. This committee is composed of the senior legal officers of the Army, Navy and Air Force in Europe. We are primarily concerned with the NATO Status of Forces Agreement, and particularly with criminal jurisdiction and claims. From my past visit to Spain, I know that knowledge of Spanish would be very helpful. I wish now that I had joined SPIKE McADAMS' Spanish Club while I was at Notre Dame. If any of our classmates get to London, I would be happy to see them. My office address is at 7 North Audley Street, London, W.1, which is on Grosvenor Square, now considered by most Englishmen to be a part of the U. S."

CHET ASHMAN has a note of thanks addressed to a lot of 1930 men:

"Last October I contacted all the fellows in our class inviting them to participate in a raffle and Festival we were having to raise funds for our church building fund project. All the names sent in from here remained in our building fund after expenses. It was most gratifying, and most encouraging to hear from 80 of the fellows, and a little over $275 was received.

"A number of the fellows suggested making it an annual affair and I would sure like for our class over a period of a few years to contribute enough to build some permanent part of the church—such as the altar, sacristy, etc. In other words something within the range we could raise. A plaque could state this fact, it was built by the class of '30. It would be a most enduring project and one we could all be extremely proud of participating in such an undertaking.

"I wish you would thank all those that sent in donations in your column, and any ideas you might have on the above project would be appreciated."

BO RICHARDS completes his report out of the Kansas City area:

"As to the Richards tribe, I am thankful to report all are well and thriving. The kids are growing like weeds and the "old man" is hard put in keeping up with the pace set by them. Our oldest, David, 18, is continuing his education at Marquette. He originally planned to go to N.D. then later registered at Georgetown, my other alma mater, and finally decided on Marquette. The reason for the change is still a mystery to us, but, nevertheless, we are happy he selected a fine Catholic institution to further his education. Although we miss Dave, I am sort of relieved that he is on his own now as I had to speak softly in the household when he was around in recent months on account of his size—6' 1" and 194 lbs.!! The way kids spring up these days startles me! Sue, 15, is in her junior year at St. Teresa's Academy. Kathy, 13, feels very important now that she is a freshman at St. Teresa's. My daughters are just as much my pride and joy as my sons—they are all equals in my estimation. Lastly, Donnie Joe, 9, is the last representative of the Richards clan at St. Elizabeth School. From all accounts, he seems to be carrying on in fine fashion from the point where his older brother and sisters left off. There are indications that I will be compelled to drag the "coaching harness" out of moth balls where they have been since I wound up a 5-year tenure of coaching the South team in the Annual Small Fry Bowl Game here in Kansas City. This game was really fun as there were no rabid alumni or barbershop quarterbacks to worry you. If Donnie Joe persists, I may have to call on PAT CANNY or "BOTTS" CROWLEY to send me their special preparation of liniment and some bicycle tape so I will be able to stay in one piece. I am still in Government service, in which I am employed by Commodity Credit Corporation as an adjudicator. I also have a little private practice, in addition to teaching law three evenings a week at the College of St. Teresa, and at Junior College of Kansas City. I just started my seventh year in the teaching profession on a part time basis. Frankly, I like it "Dev" because I find it very satisfactory work. However, I still wonder at times how I got into it since I didn't have too much enthusiasm about hitting the books in my time. Maybe it's because we develop a deeper sense of appreciation of a good education as the years pile up on us. Before I forget, I must add that Alice, my wife, is still doing a magnificent job looking after the family and maintaining organization despite the bedlam that frequently occurs in any normal family home where youthful vigor predominates.

NEW YORK—Senator John Kennedy was guest speaker at the 20th annual New York Club Communion Breakfast at the Park Lane Hotel. Other speakers were (seated, left to right) Mayor George Vergara of New Rochelle, toastmaster; Frank M. Folsom, RCA board chairman and 1958 Lactare medalist; and retiring President William Fallon, who recalled the club's having founded this national event in 1937 and presented a check for $2350 to University representative Rev. William T. Morrison, C.S.C. (not shown).

"Just received a note addressed to the class of '30 from "CHET" ASHMAN, which was enclosed in Father Bernard's letter, making an appeal for the missions at Greenville, Tennessee. "Chet", the Tennessee philosophy expressed by your wife Sara is certainly apropos. Besides, it will be returned in some form here or hereafter where it will count the most. "Chet" having lived my boyhood days in mission country down in Oklahoma, I can very well appreciate the predicament of Father Bernard and those of the Faith, though small in number are high in spirit, in the Greenville Mission territory. I feel certain all '30-ers will respond generously to Father Bernard's appeal.

"Speaking of Marquette, with particular reference to our good friend LARRY "MOON" MULLINS, who is director of athletics at that institution, I would like to add a few words concerning that fine character before closing. I realize at least officially and as a matter of record, "Moon" graduated in the class of '31. However, I believe we have sufficient evidence to claim him as a '30-er on technical grounds and it probably would stand up if we had a hearing on the question. In any event, he's still missed in these parts by K-State and his friends, of which they are legion. His services as an athletic director (and he is one of the best) are not only missed, but his great personality as well. Anytime a fellow has solid friends in the enemy camp, so to speak, he's got plenty on the ball. It's a pity that guy didn't get into politics! It is a matter of record that "Moon" did a tremendous job in bringing K-State out of its athletic lethargy of many years standing. We all know he has the drive, determination and the necessary wherewithal and will be successful in building up the athletic fortunes of Marquette in due time. We say this notwithstanding the 60-6 score of last week's game with Wisconsin. Aside from athletics, "Moon" is a great asset to any institution in many ways and we are all mighty proud of him. There's another guy who has always looked trim and full of spirit over the years. I believe I asked "Moon" some years ago, to give us the "secret formula" and I think he said he has an exclusive on it. Moon, I know all the '30-ers join me in wishing you new successes at Marquette.

"My very best to all the Plunketts, McGees, Englands, Keegans, O'Keefes, O'Mahoneys, Kassis', O'Donaghues, Higgins', Horkas, Toomeys, Smiths, Cannons, O'Connors, McCabes, Mullins', McCarthys, Lennons, Kuhns, Hellrungs, Kozaks, Goldens, Kegowitzs, Brennans, Redmonds, Kersjes', Kennels, Vilks, Fogels, Bradleys and all the other '30-ers and their families, which I regret are too numerous to mention as much as I would like to do so."

TIM TOOMEY, who can be reached at American Casualty Co., Atlantic Avenue, Boston, Mass., sent along a summary of news contributed by many eastern 1930 people:

"We are passing on the sad news of DINNY SHANAHAN's death to FATHER JIM RIZER in Alexandria, Va., and will ask him to offer a Requiem on behalf of all the class. We were advised he remembered BOB MULHALL as soon as he learned of Bob's sudden passing. Poor Dinny and yours truly both resided in Brooklyn not too far from each other, but we never did run across each other through the years. That is not strange for us. We met a friend we hadn't seen in 20 years of working in the neighborhood in New York back on the campus for a football game.

"It pleased us no end to read the nice things BO RICHARDS had to say about our reporting of class news from the Eastern Seaboard. It is indeed a pleasant task for us to list the doings of the "Brothers" and to keep the "Lodge" posted.

"Since our last essays we have bounced around a bit and in our wanderings have picked up a news item or two. JIM SKAHAN, an old friend of "Cardboard Palace" days, was a table companion at the Boston Club Communion Breakfast. James has established a fine law practice in Cambridge and resides in nearby Belmont. Another tablemate was JOHN V. MORAN, ever active as a leader in N.D. and civic affairs in Boston.

"We also met CHARLEY COLTON, '29, another

SPOTLIGHT ALUMNUS

RAYMOND F. CONNORS, '31

Ray Connors has been appointed director of public relations on the Pacific Coast for N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc., one of the world's largest advertising agencies. He will supervise public relations activities for Plymouth cars in the 11 western states. The Plymouth Division of the Chrysler Corporation has been a client of the Ayer agency for more than 15 years.

Ray has been in public relations since leaving newspaper work in New England. Following several years as United Air Lines public relations regional manager in New York, he directed public relations activities for Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, American Can Company and General Petroleum Corporation on the West Coast.

His duties during the past four years have included supervision of the annual Mobilgas Economy Run, an internationally known automotive competition; coverage of the Indianapolis 500-mile race in which Mobiloil is used by nearly all of the competing cars, and similar automotive events.

In his new assignment, Ray will be in charge of national programs emanating from the West, in the area from Seattle, Wash., to Dallas, Texas, including Plymouth participation in network television programs, magazine features and wire service coverage.

Ray lives in Hollywood with his wife, the former Jeannette Couture of Springfield, Mass., and two daughters, students at Immaculate Heart School in Hollywood.

sparring partner of the initial dining crew for the opening of the building in 1927. Charley has a fine administration assignment with the State Hospital Department and is located in Taunton, Mass.

"The holidays brought messages from BERNIE CONROY who stated he visited the campus for the Pitt game but missed the CANNONS. He remarked the lads from Columbus, O., were not in town while he was in South Bend as all things were running smoothly.

"We pray the class horse players took a few hints from the data which we furnished in the last issue regarding the performances of DR. JOHN PREECE's fine thoroughbred Arion. The speedster is enjoying a highly successful season at the Florida tracks.

"A flock of cards requesting news were forwarded to some of the real travelers here. As usual the busiest ones were the first to answer the pleas which we scribbled.

"A recent story in the Boston sports pages about the Mass. Rangers, one of America's great amateur hockey teams 25 years ago, told of plans for the silver anniversary reunion of the outfit made up of ranking American college players. On the team was FRANK HOLLAND, who is a native of the Bay State. Can one ever forget the hockey rink between Walsh and Badin? The water never froze and suited bathing rather than skating. Frank, "CHICKEN" DRISCOLL, and DR. JOE CONWAY all were Boston schoolboy hockey stars. As a matter of fact, they played as freshmen with the last University-sponsored team. When the University played Club rather than college teams the Bostonians were allowed to play and performed like winners.

"We had a recent luncheon with JERRY CROWLEY, '29, and the conversation covered much ground. Jerry is in the insurance field. '29er JIM CURRY's daughter is attending Regis College for Ladies here.

"DICK BLOOM sent us a nice note from Oneida, N. Y. He classifies himself as a spoon salesman, but in reality he is sales vice-president of Oneida, Ltd., leading silversmiths. His oldest son Bob, '54, is with the firm after a hitch in service and younger son Ron is a junior at the University. Dick had a happy meeting last year in Minneapolis with LARRY MULLINS. The Blooms and the AL SHIPACASSES joined forces when Dick and his wife stopped in Cleveland to visit. One of Al's daughters is in the convent. He has a fine family of four including a young son. It was sure good to hear from Dick.

We took a short trip to N. Y. over Washington's Birthday weekend to revisit some of the old scenes where we spent 24 crowded years. Our first stop was at Madison Square Garden to watch N.D. chase N.Y.U. "down 8th Avenue." JOE ABBOTT was the only classmate we met although we chatted with JIM MCGOLDRICK, '40, JACK LAVELLE, '28, JOE FRIEL, '29, and had dinner with JOHN-NY BURNS, '31. Our nephew ran in the National Interscholastic mile run in the Garden. JOE LORDI extended the training facilities of the N.Y.A.C. to us. It pleased us to learn Joe was re-elected vice president of the club and also of the Notre Dame Club of N. Y. Both organizations will benefit from his leadership. Joe still plays a mean game of handball and for years was one of America's leading squash players.

"The announcement of CHUCK ROHR's election to the National Alumni Board was a source of much satisfaction in these here parts. We know Chuck has served a long apprenticeship and few members of our class have labored as diligently for the things that are Notre Dame. Chuck, save a place for me at your Army game party!

"JIM FRIEL came through with a newsy letter just before we signed off. He rejoined the Meade Johnson organization some months ago and resides in Rumson, N. J. Neighbors are brother-in-law JOE LENIHAN, '29, and VINNY McCUE, the barrister from nearby Red Bank. He also occasionally hears from LARRY CARTON, '29, another neighbor. Anyone in Jersey who lives within 15 miles is a neighbor. Jim attended the Friendly Sons Dinner on St. Patrick's Day in N. Y. along with brother Joe and Joe Lenihan. There they had conversation with J. E. MCCARTHY, Dean Emeritus of the College of Commerce. Jim said he was forced to write. He stated he read a letter in the last issue contributed by the Great Driscoll, his roommate in Corby-by-the-Sea and Sorin. Said statement from our Standard Bearer came as a surprise as he didn't think Chick could write. James Friel, Jr., is a freshman at Mt. St. Mary's, Maryland. Our attention was called by Jim to the TV program "Nightbeat" which featured DR. DAN BRADLEY, '28." [Ed. note: see "Spotlight Alumnus" this issue. J.L.]

FATHER THOMAS FITZPATRICK, Director of the Holy Cross Foreign Mission Society wrote us about the fine certificate and folder Notre Dame men may procure to insure continued remembrance of their relatives by the Mission priests. In this issue of the ALUMNUS you will see this excellent form of tribute described for you.

This week end (March 15-16) on the campus highlighted the visit of the parents of Junior class students. At the reception in the O'Shaughnessy Art galleries given by the College of Arts and Letters, we saw JOE MORAN, BILL BROMANN, WALT BERNARD, HENRY HASLEY, CHARLEY CUSHWA, LOU HASLEY and DICK SULLIVAN.

JOE ABBOTT of Paterson, N. J., has been named to the Pasaic Valley Water Commission.

Members of the 1930 class were shocked to learn of the death of DENNIS SHANAHAN. Dennis received a degree here from the College of Commerce. He will be remembered in the prayers of his many friends in the 1930 class.

Comes that time again when I must sit down to the pleasant task of keeping the loyal and wonderful '31ers informed of the doings of our class. Christmas seems but a short time away, (and will seem further away when this column will be in print) and I wish to thank the following out-of-towners for their Christmas remembrances: SPIKE SULLIVAN, FREDDIE SWINT, TOM ASHE, CLARK BENKENDORF, FRANCIS HENNEBERGER, TOM MONAHAN, F. X. MURPHY and FATHER JIM DONNELLY of Lampassas, Texas. F. X. Murphy sent a note saying he was in Chicago last summer and tried to phone. Mike, his oldest boy, is a Marine Sergeant, weighs 190 pounds. I mention this only for comparison with the campus bantam weight we knew his dad as. He has one daughter in New York and two children at home with Mrs. M. Speaking of New Mexico, "Land of Enchantment" EDDIE RYAN is currently in Phoenix and I hope he had a chance to contact BOB KENDALL there. GIL SEAMAN and his wife are in Florida and this time I hope he will return with news of classmates from that area. I ran into GENE VALLEE and JACK RYAN, '26 who had just attended the N. D. Club of Chicago Regular Monthly Luncheon, February 4th. Gene was shortly to leave for the west coast on business. About a week later I was in the loop and had the pleasure of a corner conference with REV. C. BOURKE MOTSETT. This was a real surprise. He said he had just phoned DON O'TOOLE and managed to spoof him a bit with some foreign dialect. Bourke could not join me for lunch and I met him about an hour later. Needless to say he looks well. I called Don the same day and he mentioned seeing JOE BLANEY. He had a note from GERRY DESMOND who is now engaged in Social Service work in Kalamazoo, Michigan, and quite happy with his position. Don's oldest boy will graduate from Loras College in June. He also, was taking off for some fishing on the Florida Keys. The same day I met WALT CAHILL in the Field Building. From Olive Geis Harcombe, St. Mary's, I learned that VINCE BUSCH is president of Geneva Country Club this year.

As I mentioned in previous notes, I talked with MAURICE GOODEVE who was visiting GEORGE COSTELLO in Chicago. He made good on his promise and sent the following:

"But time I wrote you that letter I promised George Costello I would write to you.

"First of all, my sincere sympathy to you on the death of your mother, Jim. Rather late—but better than never.

"JIM MORSE, football captain at N.D. in '56 played professional football this year with the Calgary Stampers in the Western Canada league. He was highly regarded as a player, and was handicapped by injuries. Our team got into the playoffs, but was defeated by the Winnipeg team, who went on to play in the Grey Cup against the Eastern Canada champions. There are many American college players playing football in Canada, which you probably know.

"Am still employed as an estate officer with a trust company, and will complete 25 years service next March. Manage to get in a weekly game of golf during our lovely summer weather. We are supposed to have winter now, but today the temperature was 62 above, and no snow around. So, you see, it is not all ice and cold up here.

"Often think of the swell reunion you and the other fellows put on for us last year. It felt good to be back at N.D. after 20 years absence and see again many of my classmates. Could be that I will be attending the 30th reunion, but it is still too far away to say definitely."

Maurice's address is No. 4 Bryant Apts., 320 17th Ave., West, Calgary, Alberta, Canada.

I have received notes from the widows of KARL

W. SCHERER and JOHN KOEHL thanking the class for Masses said for their late husbands at the request of the class. At the Class Secretaries Conference in January, I met FATHER CLEM KANE of our class and managed to spend some time with FATHER MATTHEW WALSH who told some interesting stories of old Freshman and Sophomore Halls. He said Freshman Hall was built in six weeks, and I doubt if there is one among you who will disagree with him. Now the University has two dining halls. When he was president there were only 144 students having meals on the campus.

The football season is a memory, but SPIKE SULLIVAN sent a note in December reporting on his country-wide meanderings:

"At the Army game upon which TOM MONAHAN and I collaborated in Philadelphia, it was AL STEPAN and JACK SAUNDERS for the small world department. Tom, by the way, has an eldest playing an end on the Freshman squad at Notre Dame. CARL CRONIN is his tolerant spouse, Ruth, whom we saw at the Navy game, likewise have their first-born in the Freshman Class. Others we saw in South Bend were ED MURRAY and CHARLEY CUSHWA. On a bit more local basis, I ran into BERT MALONEY at the Oklahoma game and had a satisfactorily extended visit, including refreshments, with him and his traveling squad at the wind-up in Dallas. HASKELL ASKEW likewise attended both of these functions. He looks like bankers would prefer to look (without the ballast), and I see him around. FRANK LEAHY while in Tulsa overnight spent a very good evening with us. He travels extensively on business but still manages to see faithfully the entire schedule of games.

"Now for you and Kay the very kindest greetings and good wishes."

A news item mentioned recently that the Stepan Chemical Co., had purchased all the outstanding capital stock of Ninol Laboratories, Inc., Chicago chemical manufacturer. HARRY KENNEDY's current address is: Coca-Cola de Colombia S. A. Apartado Aereo 2077 Cali Columbia, S. A. I will appreciate a letter from you, Harry, for the next ALUMNUS. TOM GOLDEN has left Montana and is now at 423 Phelps, Prince City, Mo. RICHARD L. DONOGHUE moved across the country from Syracuse to San Diego, California, where he is living at the Hotel Embassy. JOHN FULTE is now at 314 Ash Ave., Chula Vista, Calif., where he can look up an old Howard Haller, JACK LEDDY.

The radio and TV Stations were telling of FRANCIS FEDDER, Mayor of Michigan City about the middle of February when a surprise storm dumped over four feet of snow on the town in a matter of hours. This memory should help to cool him off next summer.

As usual, I close with a plea for your help with news. All manuscripts will be cheerfully returned when requested.

DR. DICK BAKER, an associate professor of philosophy at the University of Dayton, got into the controversy about waning Catholic brainpower with a thoughtful article, "The Catholic Intellectual," in the Dayton alumni magazine, drawn from his recent commencement address. His main thesis is that too many Catholic students faith is regarded as a substitute for reason rather than its complement.

JOHN G. BURNS wrote from Brooklyn to tell of many contacts with friends and classmates on the coast.

The sad news of the death of two members of the Class was received recently.

LEO FAGAN died while playing golf on January 29 at the Tulsa country club, from a heart attack. He had not been ill and his death was entirely unexpected.

Leo was president of the Braden Steel Company, and very prominent in religious and civic activities in Tulsa since graduation. He was married and had one daughter, Suzanne, a student at Grinnell College. He attended the 25th Reunion last June and will be sorely missed by everyone.

CHARLES D. JONES died in Washington late in January but no details of his death were received. C. D., as he was familiarly known, went into the Air Force several years before World War II and made a wonderful record during that war and the Korean War. He rose to Brigadier General, and remained on active duty. He held many important command posts in the Air Force, and was doing strategic planning when he died. His home address was 4100 N. Richmond Street, Arlington 8, Va.

A Mass was said in the name of the class at Catholic University for both Leo and C. D. on March 1, as well as those arranged by the local clubs.

We're running for the wire! In a couple of short weeks many—wish I could say all—of us will be gathered again under the Golden Dome, bowing our olden domes to the dictates of time . . . but still thrilling to the recaptured springtime of youth, if only for a few hours.

This will be the last column dedicated to the prelude to reunion. So let's start off in fitting fashion with a letter from Class President GEORGE ROHRS:

"The burst of activity between yourself, Jack Hoyt, John O'Shaughnessy, and our various other class officers and representatives is refreshing—reminds me of Cape Canaveral just before the launching of Explorer No. 1.

"Incidentally, your Class Letter brings us pretty much up to date and, according to Hoyt and O'Shaughnessy, our program on Campus is worth striving for, especially the tours to new buildings and to LOBUND. I also think the summary of the class questionnaire which Hoyt presents is most interesting. Now let's hope we can keep things soaring on high for the remaining weeks up to the big days—June 6, 7 and 8th—and our great Jubilee Anniversary celebrating 25 years out of Notre Dame.

"You know, Joe, I guess it is rather sobering to most of us in the class to consider our returning to Notre Dame for the big Reunion—the Jubilee—the 25th. Just think of us as the 25 Yearers—the old ones as we ourselves once thought and now it is actually us back for probably our last big Reunion together. The thoughts of this, the memories of other days, and other reunions, and of years to come, make a fellow think and pray God in thanksgiving for how fortunate we are and how fortunate we have been for our families, our parents and now our wives and children—and, of course, for our Notre Dame.

"I have many times felt very inadequate in what I have been able to give back to Notre Dame for what she gave me. Sorta sum it up as my Sunday Missal does in the words, 'What return can I give for the favors you have given me?' Money, or at least money alone, can't be the answer here for it is something deeper we owe to Notre Dame—it is a desire and an ambition to work and to serve as laymen to carry forth the word and to help the University in its tremendous work.

"On March 1, 1958 Father Hesburgh announced a 10-year $66,000,000 development program. It is the biggest fund drive in the 116-year history of Notre Dame and we of the Class of 1933 in our Jubilee Anniversary Year are the first class of the older graduates that can show the world what we think of this appeal. We can prove that Notre Dame men believe in this appeal and that Notre Dame men will put it over—and we as individuals, and according to our own circumstances can make our personal class gift our own testimony of our gratitude for her gifts to us over the years. The amount is up to each individual—we should judge it by the axiom, 'This is my greatest gift to Our Lady—my Notre Dame.'

"Thanks, and congratulations for your fine work.

"P.S.—Bishop O'Hara wishes he could come talk to us, but —just too darn many graduations in Philadelphia, June 1-15th."

George mentions the summary of the class questionnaire prepared by JACK HOYT; here it is, and I'm sure you'll find it interesting:

"For those of you who thought well enough of our idea to make a class survey through a class questionnaire, here are some of the results that have been compiled to date:

"Favorite magazines are Saturday Evening Post and Time. Favorite radio programs are News and music. Favorite TV programs are Sports, Westerns and Comco.

"Some seven members of our class have made discoveries in either science or medicine.

"Approximately 7½% of those responding are still bachelors after twenty-five years.

"We have one graduate with 11 children, one with 10 children and five families with 8 children.

"Politically the class is almost evenly divided as between the two major parties, with the balance of power in those eleven who indicated they were "independents." Only five members of the class have ever held public office.

"Strangely, only 45% have indicated activity in local alumni activities, and of those who evidenced interest less than 37% of them ever held local alumni office.

"On the question of the effects of cafeteria type dining on students' manners and social graces, the class opinion indicated an adverse effect on the present type of cafeteria dining service.

"Opinion was overwhelming in indicating that the present cost of attending Notre Dame was beyond the reach of most people.

"In keeping with a fact long recognized among insurance actuaries, mothers long outlive fathers. This should afford interesting debate at the reunion."

While we're on the summary, let me express our thanks for the way you responded to the questionnaire. I don't think there's any doubt that it reflects a picture of a substantial portion of the class . . . what they think, what they like, how they are living. Sounds like an oversimplification? Perhaps so, but I want to emphasize the point that, in direct mail trade thinking, if you want a true indication of what your market actually thinks of you or your product or your industry, send 'em a poll which they don't have to sign. Sure, you'll get a certain percentage of oddballs who'll bust a ballpoint to be funny; but the majority of those who answer (granted there may not be many—2% is considered pretty good) will level with the questionnaire.

Some other column when we have more cause for ruminating, and less pressure to dwell on room-mating in 1933, perhaps a further study of the class quiz may fill some space and arouse a little reader interest.

Right now—let's go into the reunion again. At the risk of getting the here-we-go-again reaction, I'll run through the schedule as it looks from here. We told you in the last golden-prod letter that JOHN McNAMARA has consented to play the martyr-hero by accepting the local chairman of arrangements role. He'll nail down the last minute details, but in general the plot is that we have the class dinner somewhere on campus Friday night, class Masses Saturday morning (for those willing and able to get up—the new fasting rules come in mighty handy here!) the Silver Anniversary lunch Saturday noon, where we are the guest of President Hesburgh, the state dinner Saturday night (and I hope everyone is in a pretty good state) and the official Class Mass Sunday, with special prayers for the suffering who have to return to the cast of I Remember Mamma.

For the last time we strongly urge all of you to give your all to get back for the 25th. It's the BIG ONE! We only get one—don't miss it. Most of us have business meetings or household concerns which can trap you into passing up the reunion—but pass them up for this once: look the boss (vocational or avocational) right in the eye and say "I'm going back 25 years." While they stop to think that one over, grab your briefs, brief case, case of (Coke, 7-Up or any other refresher) and hit the road.

When we left to buck the world, it was a pretty sorry place—and that was about the only buck around. We've weathered 25 years and done a pretty darn good job of it . . . let's go back and tell each other about it. (Exaggerations up to 100% permitted.)

Now to get to the response to our last mailing. The deadline for this issue of the ALUMNUS came hard upon the date of our mailing, so we don't have too many answers yet—but we did pick up $500, in spite of the small time interval! That gives us a total in the pot of $2200—we're half way toward our goal.

Lots of the fellows we know will send theirs in later, so we'll give you a full report at the reunion—or later if they are still coming in. Consensus of answers favors the Moreau Seminary gift, so we're inclined to make that the form our donation will take. We'll have final dope on that at the meeting.

Here are some of the replies received so far: JULES DE LA VERGNE, 413 Pere Marquette Bldg., New Orleans:

"I prefer the seminary. Regards to all the gang." FRANCIS A. WERNER, 804 Dickinson St., New London, Wis.: "Our son Spike, our oldest, finished Culver and is now at N.D.; Jim, 18, is a senior at K.M.I.; Mike and Beth are at home."

Here's one of our most prized correspondents; the good and very active pastor of St. Mary's Missions at Lampasas, Texas — FATHER JIM

ANTHONY F. ANZLOVAR, '34

Late last year the Mercast Manufacturing Corporation of La Verne, California, announced the appointment of A. F. Anzlovar as vice president and general manager of the corporation.

Tony's advancement with Mercast, western producer of precision castings by the frozen mercury investment casting process, was part of a program of expansion through which the firm, according to his public statement "plans to continue the production and delivery of structural aircraft parts with the critical metallurgical properties demanded by the nation's aircraft and missiles manufacturers."

The company is a subsidiary of the Mercast Corporation of California and is affiliated with the Atlas Corporation of which Floyd B. Odlum is president.

Prior to the opening of Mercast in 1955 Tony was special assistant to Everard F. Kohl, N.D. '25, inventor of the frozen mercury casting process; assisted in the organizing of Kolcast Industries, Cleveland, Ohio, (the first frozen mercury casting company) and assisted in the organization of Industrial Metal Castings Company, Cleveland, the company which later became Mercast Manufacturing.

After receiving his A.B. degree at Notre Dame Tony attended the Harvard School of Business Administration. During World War II he served the army as a captain. He was on the staff of General Friedenall of the 2nd Army, and General Eichelberger of the 8th.

He is the father of six children, Kathleen, Patricia, Richard, Kenneth, Anthony, Jr., and Thomas. Tony is a resident of West Covina, California, where he resides with his wife, the former Eileen Hennessy, at 2814 Mesa Drive.

and joints and frankly it's just a darn nuisance. I certainly hope it will clear up in time so that I will be able to attend the reunion. Of course, none of us are as young as we used to be and I presume we must all pay for our early pranks and foolishness.

"I have little news to convey except to say that my 16-year-old daughter who attends Regis Academy and in her second year has recently qualified for a six weeks summer scholarship at Laval University in Quebec to continue her studies in French. I don't know as yet if she will attend, as she is going to be 16 next month and may be a little young for that much advancement. Speaking of French it reminds me of MIKE O'HARA of Menominee, Michigan. Remember Mike? I understand he has done very well.

"Unless something unforeseen happens I hope to attend the reunion in June."

Thanks, Tom—we'll be looking forward to seeing you at the reunion. Be sure to come along, stiff or not; you'll be one with a justified excuse!

Our deadline calls for closing this now—apologies to all who have sent donations and letters that are en route. We'll list them elsewhere.

Once again let's all make every effort to get back to reunion. Increase your prayers for your classmates, living and dead. After all, one of the first things done on arrival back at campus is to look up at the Lady on the Dome and murmur a prayer of thanks that She has protected us during many a trying period, and brought us back after a quarter of a century . . . a little baldier, a little fatter; but still young in heart and in her love.

See you in June!

Here we are again, gang, snowbound at this writing in the second blizzard of '58. We all thought that we "had it" in February, but March 19 hit Baltimore (along with a few other communities) with 2 feet of wet snow that took down 50 ft. trees, utility poles and wires all over town. We were among the lucky ones with only a few hours of power loss. Some people still have no heat or lights after three days, and telephone service is coming back slowly too.

As we said in February, "as long as the fire wood, food and Scotch hold out we can hole in for a long time." And how was your first week of Spring?

In January we made a fast trip to Notre Dame for the Class Secretaries meeting and found two other '35ers on campus. PAT FISHER was attending his last Alumni Board meeting and JIM SHEILS was out for his first session as a new Board member. Our own conference was attended by 31 secretaries. They came from as far West as California, as far East as New York, and as far South as Virginia and West Virginia.

Your Scribe was privileged to lead an open forum on the "Election and Role of Class Officers." And may we say right now that organization-and-function-wise your own Class of '35 is up with the best and far ahead of the pack. Our reunions were again the talk of the conference, our current Treasury was considered in awe, and our class promotion in anticipation of our 25th drew many a question. We were proud to be your representative, fellows!

We made contact with DAN YOUNGERMAN on Friday and Dan came out that evening to go over a few details so that our notes would be accurate for our meeting Saturday. Later on we will give you his financial statement as of January 15, 1958. But, first we want to send you all a letter.

Dan showed us the draft of a letter which PAUL FERGUS had planned to send to you, but we DONNELLY, one of our classmates-of-the-cloth. He says: "I finally got the Bishop to promise he will get someone to take my place for June 8th. I'm going to be with you for the reunion. I will contact Lucien and perhaps we can make the trip together. I do hope our gift will be to the new Seminary." (That should help clinch the matter! JAM.) That's really good news, Father—all the boys will be anxious to see you and hear more about the great work you are doing down there in the missions among the shepherds, especially about the soil conservation program, credit union and other projects you've launched.

Father's letter mentioned Lucien. He was referring to our class Midwest VP, LUCIAN S. KEMPF of Lindsay, Oklahoma, who sent an outstanding contribution of $100, with the following news: "Just finished building a new warehouse of 12,000 square feet. Family is all well, and pray that my boys will be in the classes of '65 and '68. I hear from Father Jim Donnelly (a brother act!) in Lampasas quite often. He is doing wonderful work with his mission. I suggest we use the gift for Moreau Seminary in honor of Bishop O'Hara." Thanks a million, Lucian, and we'll certainly pass the word along to the committee.

SAMUEL Y. HYDE, manager, Industrial Advertising, American Can Company, Crestwood, N. Y.: "Apparently the need is great, so I'm making a second contribution ($25.) And the top of the morning to you on St. Patrick's Day." Thanks, Sam—we can use it.

By a remarkable coincidence we received a donation from ED ROXAS, 42 McKinley Rd., Forbes Park, Makati, Rizal, Philippines. In the same mail as the others we've quoted. Puzzler: how did our letter get TO Ed in time for him to get a reply BACK to us with those from the states? JOHN O'SHAUGHNESSY played Sherlock and pointed out that Ed must be answering the first letter we sent out, some months ago! Must be something in this telepathy business! Thanks worlds, Ed, for your $50 contribution.

Incidentally, all the men who replied made contributions, all of at least $10—so in order to save space we'll just mention the exceptional ones. Before we leave Ed, he has four children and is managing partner of Roxas y Cia, which my high school Spanish translates as Roxas and Company.

JERRY GREER, manager of Sales Equipment Division, International Harvester Company, in Melrose Park, Ill., informs us he just got back to this Chicago rangeland after being located at another branch elsewhere. He writes: "This $25 donation along with my earlier one should equal the 'dollar a year' since I got out (sure does. Jer—thanks loads!). Saw JOHN PENOTE and NORM GREENEY recently. Norm will be back for reunion, but John will be in Europe at the time."

ROGER BRENNAN, 21015 Claythorn Rd., Shaker Heights, Cleveland 22, O., passes word along that his family stands at four boys and three girls.

HUGH COLOPY, 829 Second Nat'l Bldg., Akron, O.: "Have practiced law in Akron since graduating from U. of Michigan Law school in 1936, other than four years in service." Hugh has one son.

PAT BURNS, 711 N. Union St., Natchez, Miss., with 2 sons, 6 daughters: "I see very few N.D. men in this area, except the eight that live in Natchez. I will be glad to renew friendships with many such as JACK HOYT, JR., ED ECKERT, ED GAUSSELIN, LUCIEN KEMPF, MARTIN LINSKY and JACK TRAVERS. I expect to bring my wife Edith to the reunion, but not the eight children." (Aw come on, Pat—why not?)

Along with his donation, TOM DOWNS, 219½ S. Barstow St., Eau Claire, Wis., sent along a very interesting letter:

"The enclosed check, while not large, should be of some assistance to your committee in reaching its goal of $5000.00. I note with interest some of the names listed on the committee and particularly PAT CROWLEY, JOE McCABE and TOM KENNEDY. Should you see them please extend my regards to them. During the war while I was in Chicago with the Ordinance I attended several cell meetings in various offices of members and Pat Crowley was one of them. As I recall FRANK CROWE was also an interested party. It seems to me that either you or your brother was also interested. At any rate should you see some of these lads, say howdy for me. What ever happened to DON DRAPER? He and I were pretty good friends except when playing against each other in bridge.

"Not long ago, I injured both of my knees and of late I am having arthritic attacks in knee cap thought it might appear in the '35 column to advantage. For one thing—look at the postage we are saving! The material is a little old, but the point can still be made—PROMOTION FOR THE 25th REUNION. So, here goes.

Paul heads his letter "The BIG Meeting of the BIG Minds or How a Committee Flows Oyer a Week end." In other words, this is a report of the class officers meeting in South Bend the end of October, 1957.

"Four thousand miles had been belted—THE MEETING was closing—and 4,000 miles were again to be belted!

"What a MEETING! Everyone agreed it was a MEETING! Standing in the crowded lounge of the Morris Inn, with a Sunday breakfast of hominy grits already tightening against his Louisiana waistline, CAMILLE GRAVEL, in no uncertain tone, voiced, 'I'm awfully glad I've traveled 3,000 miles to be at this IMPORTANT MEETING!'

"This sentiment was echoed by ED VAN HUISSELING (less 2,800 miles!). Both men were bifocaled by the worthy president from Racine, (JIM HAMILTON to you non-dues-paying-members), who in his usual innocence, proffered his agreement that this was a REAL IMPORTANT MEETING! PHIL PURCELL couldn't vocal his feelings to this world-shaking thought because Phil was busy voicing his own thoughts to our wives, which activity he had been busily engaged in since arriving Friday afternoon. (What a salesman!)

"Such general agreement of things accomplished has never been equalled by any committee: Reunion, NATO, Lawn Tennis, or otherwise. Little BILL RYAN, with his high forehead newly vanished, started to comment on beating Pittsburgh; but DAN YOUNGERMAN, by a quick and not too subtle interruption, ran the item of importance to the top of the flag pole with the genuine salute of 'It's the BEST REAL IMPORTANT MEETING this committee's ever had!'

"YOUNGERMAN'S tremendous summation was the climax! Everyone just looked at each other and silently but thoughtfully nodded their heads, and with firm handclaps wishing God-speed and quick return, departed with committee halos hovering over their heads.

"What gave rise to this meeting of the minds? What happened that made these men feel so strongly?

"Let us go back to Friday afternoon, October 25. The place: Elouise and BILL RYAN's new recreation room. In attendance are: Louise and JIM HAMILTON, Tes and KURT SIMON, Dorothy and DAN YOUNGERMAN, Til and ED VAN HUISSELING, and Lenore and PAUL FERGUS—all anxiously awaiting good ole PHIL PURCELL flying in from Salt Lake and CAMILLE GRAVEL flying in from Alexandria.

"Sweet thoughts, kind thoughts, about the expected arrivals flowed back and forth. Hors d'oeuvres of creamed herring, shrimp, nuts, olives were tasted between flights to Ryan's new bar. An hour flows by. Sweet thoughts, kind thoughts, continue to flow when through Ryan's phone flows the news that Purcell and Gravel's planes are 'flowing' late!

"Another hour flows by and everyone is flowing to the bar, and flowing from hors d'oeuvres, when in flows Purcell. Much flowing is now done by Phil to flow up to the flowing of everyone else's flow, while everyone else flows more to flow better. In the meantime, we learn that Gravel will stay in Chicago and flow in Saturday A.M. (A collect call to FRANK HOCHREITER flows in completely because circuits to Baltimore are flowed up!) A flow to the restaurant and back to Ryan's and soooooo into the night!

"Saturday's luncheon at Leonore and PAUL FERGUS' was an interesting repetition of the night before, while Saturday evening at the country club put the cork in the bottle.

"Which brings us up to Sunday with Mass at Sacred Heart Church, breakfast at the Morris Inn, and the MEETING! Gravel, Purcell, Van Huis-seling, Youngerman and Hamilton made their respective reports. Contacts with '35ers in each territory have and are being made and the money is 'flowing' in—(Scribe's note: This is a flow?) Attached is a complete report."

And now, if you will all rise and quietly sing "Flow Gently Sweet Afton" you will get into the mood for a Class Officers annual meeting! Thanks much, Paul. We hope that the Veeps around the country will continue to ride that "jet-stream" and get money in the bank.

Shortly after our return to Baltimore, Dan sent us a corrected financial statement bringing us into focus as of January 1, 1958, with an early January contribution added to it. So, here we go.

We closed 1957 as follows:

Balance at end of 1956	$ 980.68
Contributions during 1957	664.50
Gross Receipts, December 31.....	$1,645.18
Expenditures—1956, 1957	283.38
Net Assets, Dec. 31, 1957.	$1,361.80

An $8.00 contribution came in during January, before the financial report was written. That meant that as of January 15, 1958 we had on hand $1,369.80. Not bad, but far from what we need to go into our TWENTY-FIFTH REUNION in two years with easy minds.

Remember we had hoped to hit the $5,000 mark by '60. There is no reason why we could not make it if we all did just our part—no more no less. We are 500. Multiply that by $10 (the $2 a year we asked from everyone in the class) and you have the $5,000.

Do you know how many had contributed by the end of last year? Not even half of the class. There were 169 contributors or 33.8% of the 500. And how did they contribute? Well, here is their breakdown:

One maa sent in $61; another $35; and another $30; 2 at $25; 5 at $20; 4 at $15; 3 at $12; 100 at $10; 1 at $7; 8 at $6; 4 at $5; 1 at $4.50; 7 at $4; 29 at $2; and 2 at $1. This report takes into account the $53.00 received in January which brought a former $2.00 man up to the $10.00 class.

Well, gang, how do you shape up in the tally? Are you among the 67% who are too busy or not interested in identifying with the class of '35? Or are you among the 33% who are on the beam because they want to be "counted in" as loyal "35ers? How about the wives of '35? Why not ask your husbands if they have sent in that check to DAN YOUNGERMAN? We'd like to think that we have you with us. If every wife who reads this column made it her business to give her husband a prod, our bank account would skyrocket! Well, girls—will you do your part? We are depending on you! PLEASE DON'T LET US DOWN!

Last January we had a surprise call from a long lost soul—"THE MOL." that's right, JERRY MOLINARI. Jerry was in town for the company he is representing—Buffalo Metal Container Corp. We told him that we were rehearsing for "Witness for the Prosecution" so he drove into town from his motel to meet us at the theatre. After rehearsal we had a swell visit, and next night we found he had moved into the Congress Hotel where the theatre is located. Jerry still has the hotel in Oneonta, N. Y. but he is trying selling. Hey "MOL" where's your class dues?

Word comes through that BILL FARRELL is with the Industrial and Development Commission in Lowell, Mass.

And so we come to the address changes and a few "lost souls." Incidentally, DON JACOBI, from whom we have heard nothing in many years, dropped us a fast note on March 6. We quote: "Notice in your write-up that you have the 'arm' out for MIKE SHEEDY. His brother, Dan, was in yesterday and advises me that his address is: M. M. Sheedy, Jr., Hacienda El Palmar, Estada Aragua, Venezuela, South America. Hope to see you in 1960."

A word about Don. He is apparently still an important part of Jacobi Brothers in Buffalo. This is one of the Western New York town's better clothiers. A few weeks ago a Baltimore girl member of the U. S. Olympic ice skating team was on the show ahead of our own weekly TV stint. During the interview she mentioned that there was a "Jacobi" from Buffalo on the U. S. team going abroad. We got a note to her as we went on the air asking her to wait. It turned out that her skating companion on the U. S. Olympic team was our Don's son. Are we correct, Don? Maybe this way we can get a long letter from you about what you have been doing—including that instruction in the Adirondacks. And how about your dues for the next two years? We appreciated getting you on the beam for the original $2.00.

Here are the address changes:

We would like to extend to the family of STURLA CANALE the sincere sympathy of the '35 class. Sturla died of a heart attack on November 11, 1957. To his wife and son our very special condolences and an assurance of our prayers for Sturla in the future.

Has anyone heard anything of FRANK McLAUGHLIN? He was last heard of at 1708 N. 24th Place, Phoenix, Arizona. In December he was stated as "unclaimed." Then in February we got some code that meant nothing to us. So, where is McLAUGHLIN?

Our very good friend JOHN CACKLEY just moved from the Alumni Office to the Notre Dame Foundation. He has been replaced by JOHN LAUGHLIN who we met when we were on campus in January. We'll miss CACKLEY—he was truly our friend for he understood the '35 problems and dreams. But he has moved on and in his future we wish him well. JOHN LAUGHLIN is new but able. As the new Managing Editor of the ALUMNUS he will need patience and good humor—we wish him success in his exercise of both.

Let's have your letters—we can't write a column without them.

1936 Robert F. Ervin

Grosse Pointe Park, Mich.

Your secretary will take part of the blame for the blank space in the last ALUMNUS where our class column should have been. Even though I had very little news at dead line time I should have gotten something in there if only to remind you that most of our class looks at that space every issue and they're hoping to see some news about you.

LARRY PALKOVIC, our most consistent correspondent, wrote about seeing ANDY PILNEY'S Tulane team play the Army and the fine battle the Green Wave gave the Cadets. Andy certainly deserved his citation as Southeastern Conference Coach of the Year. Larry had a reunion with CHRIS MATTHEWS after the game. FRED GABRIEL also wrote a letter in which he told us of his completion of a year at the University of Pennsylvania postgraduate school in Radiology. FRED ARMINGTON, now a Navy captain in the Medical Corps, was taking an advanced course in Cardiology while Fred was there. Fred's brother, LEW GABRIEL, is a surgeon in Allentown, Pennsylvania. Nice to hear from you Fred, and don't delay too long before another letter.

BILL WALSH, in a Christmas card, told us that HOWIE CUSACK is a fellow townsman in Yonkers, New York and is manager of the Travelers' Insurance office there, where Bill is practicing law.

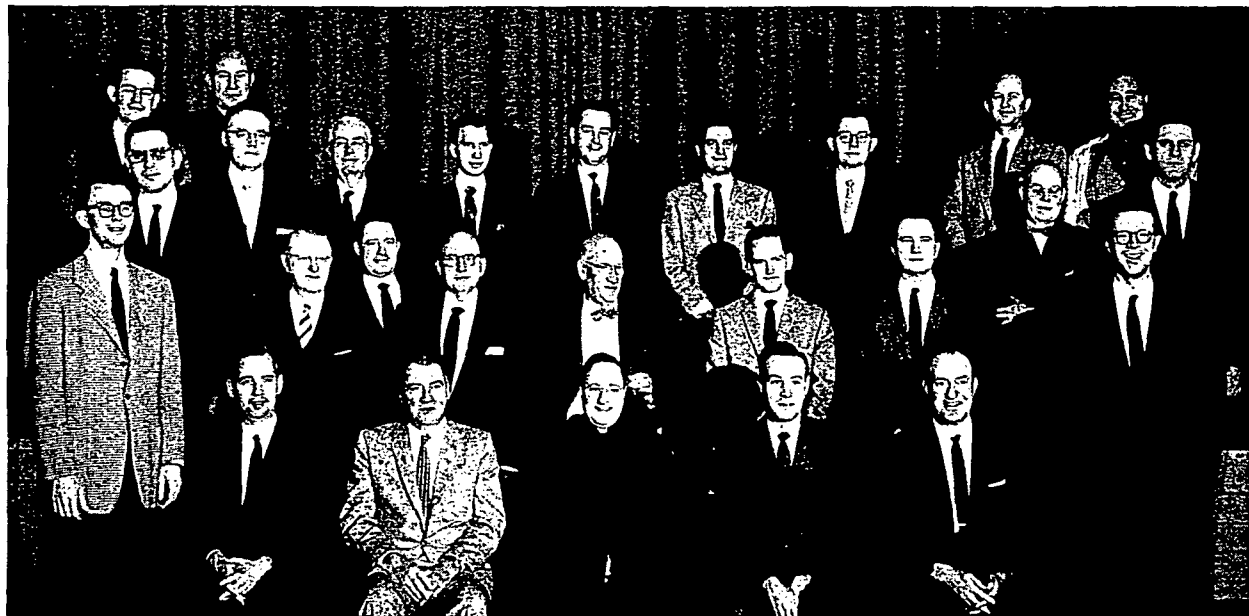

NORV CASPER'S Christmas card pictured his family which now consists of eleven children, the youngest arriving in 1957. I wonder if Norv has the largest family in our class.

During the past few weeks we have had welcome visits from BILL BAYER, who is manager of the Wax Division of Quaker State Oil, and FRAN JOYCE, who is Vice President of the Maumee Chemical Company in Toledo, Ohio. We certainly hope that other classmates who might be in town will give us a ring either at work (Parke, Davis & Co.) or at home (TU 2-3332). As part of my welcome to the Motor City, LEE MOORMAN and ART CRONIN entertained with a swell Christ-Craft ride on the Detroit River and a lot of fun at the Bay View Yacht Club. Lee and Art are co-owners of the boat and have themselves quite a time on it.

As some of you may have noted in the last issue of the ALUMNUS, the biennial conference of class secretaries was held at Notre Dame, January 17 and 18. This was not only an enjoyable meeting but very instructive and I came away from it with the certainty that our class has lagged behind the parade very badly. I was amazed at the fine organization and closely knit communications of many other classes. While I realize that all of us are extremely busy and we have more than enough meetings, correspondence, 20th century red tape and family responsibilities, it is a shame that our class as a class has fallen apart so badly. It seems to me that as we grow older the need for a better organization increases. It is unbelievable that the members of our class would be any less interested in what happens to our classmates than any other class.

I learned at this meeting, to my dismay, that the Alumni Association sometime ago urged all classes to have a president, four vice presidents, a secretary and a treasurer. Most of the classes which are closely knit and whose news items in the ALUMNUS are sizable every issue are so organized. The purpose of the four vice presidents is to coordinate and stimulate class interests in their respective regions. Thus one is located in the East, one in the Midwest, one in the West and one in the South. It is also recommended that if possible the treasurer or the secretary be located in South Bend. The reason for this is to permit closer liaison with the main Alumni office, to coordinate planning for reunions, to more easily take care of having Masses said for our deceased classmates, and many other activities which are essential to good class operation.

Let's contrast this with our class. We have two

TULSA—This was the scene as the Notre Dame Club of Tulsa held its second annual retreat at the Benedictine Heights College with The Very Reverend Erick Beavers, Ph.D., (center, seated) as retreatmaster. officers, JIM SHERRY, our president, is in Flint, Michigan. I am both secretary and treasurer. While I expect to talk this whole matter over with Jim one of these days, I would appreciate hearing from you to see if you feel that it would be worth while to exert the effort to get better organization. If so Jim should come up with a nominating committee which would select a suggested slate of officers and you could approve these by replying to a special mailing to be sent out of the Alumni Office. From where I sit, I think the effort would be worth while. Every other attempt has failed to improve our column, to keep better track of our class, to provide larger attendance at reunions and to make us feel that we are still a unit. The quality of our class makes it worth salvaging. No better testimonial could be made for this statement than the fact that in the past two years, two of the Class of 1936 have been presidents of the Notre Dame Alumni Association, first JOE O'NEILL and now MIKE LAYDEN. Congratulations to both of them and special best wishes to Mike as he starts his presidential year.

In closing, your secretary would like to give special tribute to JOHN CACKLEY who has recently been made Assistant Director of the Notre Dame Foundation after many successful and hard working years as Managing Editor of the ALUMNUS. John has contributed greatly to the Alumni Association and we know he will be equally effective with the Foundation.

From the Alumni Office:

American Legion National Commander JOHN S. GLEASON, JR., addressing the student body of St. Mary's College in O'Laughlin Auditorium recently, charged that the teaching of American history and government has been tragically neglected in primary and secondary schools. He cited the rise in juvenile delinquency and crime and cases of collaboration in Korea as evidence of this failure and urged schools to instill patriotism and pride in country.

A typographical error in the last issue took 20 years from the record of JOHN J. HOBAN. The first Republican to be elected State's Attorney in his county in 33 (not 13) years. John has been appointed by Illinois Governor William G. Stratton to a committee to revise the state's tax laws.

JAMES J. SHERRY, JR., has been named Assistant General Production Manager of the Buick Motor Division of General Motors.

ROBERT T. BURKE, JR., has written and wishes his friends to know "that I am alive and well and as happy as could be under those circumstances."

Many thanks to the "well wishers" for their cards of sympathy to my appointment as Secretary—the return cards and notes are appreciated. I am also going to ignore Cackley's introduction and his "cultural comments."

The Secretary can finally report on the officers elected by the Committee appointed at the fracas at the Rock (The 20th Reunion). President, JERRY CLAEYS, JR., Eastern Vice Pres., BILL FALLON; Midwestern Vice Pres., CHARLES "BUCKY" JORDON; Far Western Vice Pres., AL SCHWARTZ; Southern Vice Pres., WIL KIRK; and Treasurer, ROBERT WEAVER.

All the fine officers have been notified of their appointment and election and already we have had a volunteer for all the odd ball jobs. WIL KIRK will go along with anything and he is glad they gave him the wide open spaces to cover. In his acceptance note, Wil, on the letterhead of the Texas Bank & Trust Co., Dallas, reports that BOB SIEGFRIED and his dad were in town for the General Contractors Convention, only mentioning how young Bobby's dad looks. Wil had taken a trip to NYC and put up with all the PINKY CARROLL children for the night. Another visitor to Dallas was TOM HUGHES, with Continental Can. Tom also sent the Secretary a card from Florida stating he was "on business" and would answer more when he returned (what year). Kirk also has a brother, FATHER CASSIAN, with the Franciscan Padres—which group owns about half of the good land in Jersey.

PABLO SHEEDY, fair tonic peddler, reports plenty of winter and snow in Buffalo after he had

ARTHUR L. CONRAD, '35

Author of a recent article in Extension magazine entitled "Profile of a 20th Century Capitalist," Art Conrad is president of the Heritage Foundation, Inc., and has been president of the National Institute of Professional Services, Inc., (publishing and public relations) since 1949.

Since taking his A.B. at Notre Dame Art has received an Ed.M. from DePaul, an LL.D. from Loyola, and has done post-graduate work at Northwestern.

In its relatively short history the Heritage Foundation has had the distinction of publishing several "best sellers," including Clarence Manion's The Key to Peace, selected by the American Legion, as part of its Americanism Program, to be placed in every library in high schools, colleges and universities throughout the United States; The Case for Right-to-Work Laws by Rev. Edward A. Keller, C.S.C., of Notre Dame, and Monsignor John Tracy Ellis' classic American Catholics and the Intellectual Life.

In 1956 Art Conrad was appointed director of the Traffic Education and Safety Division of the Municipal Court of Chicago and founded its Driver Improvement School. His school has been so successful it is looked upon by United States and Canadian traffic officials as a model in the field of traffic safety education.

He is active in many civic and religious organizations; is especially interested in St. Mary's College, having married Virginia Jarecki, a graduate of St. Mary's, and is a member of its lay Board of Trustees.

The Conrads have four children—two girls and two boys. Their current address is 3601 North Harding Street, Chicago, Ill.

taken a quick trip through the west in January, for Wildroot. Reports son, Brian, 16, is interested in pre-med at the U., and that his gals are getting there at ages 14 and 11. I have requested Pablo to add my name to the list of beer lovers to MIKE BRIAS. Seems as though Mike manages to forward a case of San Miguel beer from the Philippines—can it compete with Millers? The Schwartz clan size amazes the Sheedy family at Christmas time.

BILL GOMBER was the first to reply to the early flyer sent out. He turns up to be a local resident of New Jersey, still single, having received no proposals over the years, and is available for a good bull session. Next note came from DR. FRANK HARDART practicing Obstetrics and Gynecology in Manhattan and also still single. Frank reports a cousin being a neighbor of mine, and I noted that the New York Club elected AUGUSTIN HARDART as Secretary. Our BILL FALLON just completed a most successful year as President of the N. Y. Club—this comes right from a couple of lads who worked with Bill, another single lad. One of the newly elected V.P.'s of the N.Y. Club is ED NEAHER of Garden City who is an attorney in N. Y. C.

Under letterhead of Indiana Products Co. we hear from JOE DRUECKER, who was expecting to treat me to some Cutty Sark during the Secy. Conference. Joe's company, which he purchased in 1950 moved to So. Bend last year after being in Kokomo for forty years. They feature Foundry Sand, supplies, etc., and feel that South Bend is more centrally located to the market. He met up with LOUIE ALAMAN at the Iowa game and he reports no improvement in Lou's conduct. JACK "G.E." HURLEY reports in—nothing on the latest price situation. He reports 12 years with G.E., now manager of sales promotion and training in capital goods distribution. (Should make a good speaker for Rotary, etc.) The family score is 2 and 2, with the "extra" due any time. Fellow townsmen are LARRY WEISS, also with G.E. and a manager of Accounting Division, and DR. JOHN PHILLIPS an "O.B." in the area of Schenectady. John missed the 20th, but hopes to make the 25th and had better. Jack also met DELANCY DAVIS while in Phila., and hated to avoid one on the house—also hopes to meet FRANK REILLY some time in New York. (Jack, I checked the libel laws before reporting your news.) New York press reported DR. CHARLES HUFNAGEL speaking at the Conference on Cardiovascular Surgery, sponsored by the N. Y. Heart Association in January, and he later appeared on radio with Tex McCrary. Not content with the plastic heart valves and arteries he has made so successfully, he's designed an artificial heart.

Have located JERRY ZEILLER in West Lebanon, N. H., with the Vets Adm. Let's have more news, Jerry.

BOB RUSSELL of Marengo, Ill., a former roomie, later PHIL BONDI'S, called from New York, being there on official business with Miller High Life—also a bachelor. I am recommending him to the 25th committee as a prospective contributing member. Bob's commercial is "now my hair has turned to silver," whose hasn't, except GENE LING'S and PETE JOHNEN'S. Talked to MOOSE KRAUSE before the NYU game and he stated they were having a dinner at TOOTS SHORS, per arrangements of BILL FALLON and committee—a successful game followed.

Plenty of photos of '37 in the last issue. I had the cover framed to prove to the wife that I made one meeting at the conference at the Morris Inn. (If you haven't been back there to stay, do so—its living—nothing like Freshman Hall, Brownson, etc). Pictures of Ward Leader BERNARD MARTY, the new President of the Decatur club; LOU FEHLIG active in the St. Louis Club; GEORGE GLEASON in Rome; FR. NED JOYCE and Fallon. Looked for JIM DWYER in the Erie Club shot. Jim is with the law firm of Quinn, Leemhuis, Plate and Dwyer. Missed SKIP CORMIER'S picture in the Lewiston, Me., picture at Ray Geiger's home.

AL SCHWARTZ sent his file on the Seminary Drive. (Keep up sending the donations). Finally news from PARKER SULLIVAN—"Pappy" has two running around the house and is listed as President of the General Telephone Co. of Upstate New York, Johnston, N. Y. This is a long ways from Ky. CLEM MCGOWAN reports 4 boys and 3 gals, a good entry for a prize at the 25th. As for BILL LYNCH—the committee receives no fees—fine compliment for a Construction "Consultant" to make. MAURICE SCHAFER wrote to Al from Seattle, Washington reporting that FR. BOB LOCHNER keeps him up to date. (We will try hard to do this in the column too—with help from all hands).

DR. J. D. MANNING is in charge of Surgery at the Fallon Clinic at Worcester, Mass., for anyone needing attention in that area. Jay promises to make the 25th. ED GOLDSMITH wrote that he and AL SMITH, Chicago, had been together recently. Ed is with Unican Plastics Co., Northboro, Mass., as Sales Manager. To BOB WALDECK we report that Al's conduct was outstanding regardless of what BOB WEAVER (Treas.) reported. Waldeck is with Overseas Operations, Ltd. in Los Angeles 13, Calif.

National Toy "Jobber" reports that Frank Lesselyong has been appointed Sales Manager of Tonka Toys, Inc., of Mound, Minn. Frank has been associated with the toy field for years, previously with Slinky Toys in Phila., and with Smith Miller in Calif. Our class certainly is a good field for a toy man. Frank has three of his own.

Believe it or not, but PINKY CARROLL sings in a choir (director: named John Quinn, no relative) lives in New Jersey with plenty of Carrolls—makes his annual trip to Salina and vicinity for the summer. Many thanks for the note "Pinky." Since the last column we regret to report GORDON MURPHY lost his mother and JACK GILLESPIE his father.

Let's hear more from '37—border to border and coast to coast. The next lad you will hear from is Treasurer Weaver, as the Class finances are kaput.

From the Alumni Office:

Former Scribe PAUL FOLEY has been promoted to senior vice-president and elected a director of McCann-Erickson, Inc., with headquarters in both New York City and Detroit.

JAMES W. McHUGH, with Billboard Publishing Co. in New York, has launched a new trade magazine and is now editor of Funspot, "the Magazine of Amusement Management."

From Hal Williams:

In the past two issues we began by listing the classmates with the largest families. The leaders were DR. TOM HUGHES, of Columbus, Ohio, "CHUCK" SWEENEY, of South Bend, and FRANK J. MEYER, of Glendale, California, with nine each. BERNIE PETERSON now steps to the head of the class among those reporting. He has ten children—seven boys and three girls. Bernie is a farmer living in Belvue, Kansas. He says, "I work for myself against Benson. And I'm probably the only farmer in the class."

"RIGGIE DIBRIENZA, or A. William DiBrienza, M.D., as he now signs his name, returned his questionnaire several months ago, but, somehow or other, it got misplaced. Consequently he deserves to be mentioned next. He is a physician, practicing in Brooklyn, N. Y. He says that he is the father of two boys; the oldest is in high school. He is the president of the local civic organization, the Bay Ridge Community Council, and the secretary of the Bay Ridge Medical Society.

Three other doctors—two physicians and a dentist—also returned questionnaires. JIM BLUNT is practicing in Brockton, Mass., his home town. He specializes in internal medicine. He has five girls and two boys—the oldest is eight; four are red-heads, two blondes and one brunette. And I still have all my hair."

JOHN R. TOBIN, who lives in Elgin, Ill., writes, "Twenty years. It seems impossible. Upon leaving Notre Dame I entered the University of Chicago. I received my M.D. in 1942. I interned at the Presbyterian Hospital in Chicago until 1943 when I went into the army. I was discharged in 1946 as a major in the medical corps. I was with the 85th Infantry Division and we served in Italy. One of our classmates, JAMES MULCAHEY, of Taunton, Mass., was a lieutenant of infantry in this

WILLIAM J. RILEY, '38

A banker who worked every position during his apprenticeship from messenger to the note cage, Bill Riley is slated for election in June as president of the Indiana Bankers Association. He is president of the First National and the Union National Banks in East Chicago, Ind., is chairman of the board of Riley Company, which deals in real estate and insurance, and is president of O. F. Jordan Co., manufacturers of spreaders, ditchers and snowplows for the world's railroads.

A native of Chicago, Bill attended Northwestern University law school for one year after graduation from Notre Dame, and obtained an LL.B. degree after two more years in the law school of Indiana University. Admitted to the Indiana bar in 1941, he worked in the banks' legal department four months and joined the Navy as an ensign in January, 1942. He was discharged in 1946 as a full lieutenant after 51 months with Naval Intelligence in Washington and the Pacific area.

Bill re-entered the banks in 1946, became a vice president and director in 1947, and was elected president on January 11, 1949. Last year he was elected vice president of the Indiana Bankers Association. Besides his banking activities, he has wide ranging civic interests. He served as president of the Notre Dame Club of the Calumet Region in 1951-52.

He was married to the former Charlotte Marie Ready of Chicago in the log chapel at Notre Dame in May, 1950. They have three sons, William J. III, Charles Henry and Robert.

division and was killed in action. I was a resident physician in pathology at the University of Chicago, and from 1947 to 1950 a fellow in Internal Medicine of the Mayo Clinic. Then I was an assistant staff member at Mayo. From 1951 to 1955 I was a member of the Staff of the Rockwood Clinic in Spokane, Wash. In 1955 I was appointed as senior physician in the Department of Medical Education of Cook County Hospital, Chicago, and assistant professor of Medicine, Stritch School of Medicine, Loyola University. We are chiefly concerned with the teaching and supervision of internal medicine for resident physicians, interns and medical students. In 1942 I was married to Margaret Callanan. We have one child, a beautiful girl of six, Mary Catherine."

DR. JOSEPH C. CLIFFORD—we heard from his brother John in the last issue—is a dentist practicing in Hamden, Conn. He has two boys and a girl. He says, "I misplaced the questionnaire. Then my daughter filled it out, but was too shy to write more. I've got a reunion idea—why not tax all the fellows who were late returning the questionnaire or who never got around to sending it in." (Secretary's note: We wouldn't be able to spend all that money in a reunion weekend.)

"CHUCK" BEASLEY, writing from Ho-Ho-Kus, N. J., says that he has two boys and is vice president of finance for, if I'm reading his writing correctly, Metal and Thermit Corp. He says that he would like to see some of the priests and professors who taught us featured in the ALUMNUS. And, he adds, "at the reunion why don't we have a special Our Lady of Fatima devotion."

One of the nicest letters we received came from WILLIAM T. MAHONEY, now W. B. MAHONEY, O.P. He writes, "In August after graduation I entered the Dominican novitiate at Springfield, Ky., acquiring the religious name of Bertrand (that accounts for the change in middle initial) along with the habit of the Order. In the fall of '39 I started my ecclesiastical studies at the Dominican House of Studies in River Forest, Ill. I was ordained there in 1945, and remained for another year of theology. From '46 to '48 I worked for a Ph.D., at this institute of higher studies—the full name of which is—hang on—the International Pontifical Athenaeum 'Angelicum'. It is conducted by the Order, but draws its students, roughly a thousand on the average, from all over the world, and from a number of different dioceses and religious communities.

"From '48 to the fall of '51 I was teaching philosophy (Cosmology and Special Philosophical Questions connected with the Sciences) at River Forest. In '51 I was called back here to teach, a job originally scheduled for three years, but which stretched to five. I was back at River Forest for the school year '56-'57, but was called here as a replacement last fall. Present prospects have me Stateside after June, but one never knows.

"My summer jobs have a bit more variety than the academic beat indicated. So far, I've taught in Chicago (DePaul), Oklahoma, Florida, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Cincinnati; filled in as a vacation replacement for a country pastor in South Dakota; and for three months (also as a replacement) as an African missionary in Gusau, Northern Nigeria. Distinctions: None. Publications: Only the doctoral dissertation and a few articles in Cross & Crown. Official position: Magister Studiorum for my Province and the Pontifical Faculty at River Forest—a job roughly corresponding to assistant dean.

"As to connections with alumni: I see BOB McGRATH fairly regularly when I'm in River Forest and saw something of JOHNNY BUCKLEY before he moved to Texas, plus an occasional brush with RICH BOWES. I ran into SCOTT REARDON (his younger brother is with us in the Order, by the way) two years ago in Sioux Falls and had dinner and a couple of picnic outings with him. Thanks to my unchallenged position as the world's worst correspondent, an exchange of letters with GEORGE KEENEN has just about ceased. Technically, though not actively, I am one of the initial members of the recently chartered Notre Dame club of Rome. . . . I had hoped to make the reunion, but our school year goes right to the end of June, so that's out."

Bill's address in case you want to write him is "Angelicum," Salita del Grillo, Roma 2, Italy.

Then came some more questionnaires. PHIL BAYER is branch manager for the Quaker State Oil Refining Corp. and lives in St. Marys, West Va. He has one daughter. He writes that he has built a new home with too much lawn. F. H. MAY, JR., is vice president, secretary and treasurer of the L. O. F. Glass Fibers Co., and lives in Toledo, Ohio. He has two boys and a daughter. JACK SEXTON is branch manager of John Sexton & Co., wholesale grocers. He lives in Wynnewood, Pa., has two boys, 16 and 13, and two girls, 11 and 7. He says he is proud to admit that he once bid and made a grand slam in bridge.

JOSEPH "RED" GLEASON lives in Chicago and has four children, a boy, 9, and three girls, 15, 14 and 10. He is a supervisor for the Chicago Park District in charge of a new field house. He retired from coaching last year (Mendel Catholic); one of his players, Al Sabal (if I'm reading his writing correctly) earned his letter at Notre Dame last fall.

Now a few more letters.

BOB LEONARD writes from Kingston, N. C., "Thanks for the enjoyable reading about the classmates. If I had any reservations about attending our reunion they are gone now. I just have to see if JACK ANTON is as pretty as he says he is. My son Pat is an applicant for the freshman class this fall. If there are any others we might form a '38-'62 club. I don't think I could take what would come out of their first 'bull session' but it certainly would make good listening.

"I would like to make a suggestion for the 'Spotlight Alumnus.' . . . I'm very much interested in the present family status, activities, etc., of the boys. In short if we could present each month a short biographical sketch of a small number of classmates, with pictures, it would systematically insure that we would get contributions over a period of years. If you think this has merit you might try it out on a few to see what the reaction would be." What do you fellows think?

Here's a good biographical sketch from WILLIAM R. "RED" DUGGAN, now officer-in-charge of West African Affairs for the Department of State. He writes from Washington. "After graduation I remained at Notre Dame to receive my master's degree in 1939 and to serve as business manager and secretary of Dr. Gurian's Review of Politics. I worked for the Social Security Board for several years thereafter and then entered the Foreign Service. My tours of duty as a Consul and Diplomatic Officer have included posts at Lisbon; Durban, South Africa; Vancouver and Victoria in Canada, and Copenhagen.

"I have had a year of special training at the African Research and Studies Center in Boston (1955-56) where I have attempted to become a specialist on African Affairs. During the Eleventh General Assembly of the United Nations I had the privilege of serving on the U. S. Delegation as an advisor. This session, as you recall, was the one which concerned Suez and Hungary and was naturally a most exciting experience. Since then I have served as Officer-in-Charge of West African Affairs in the Department of State with an 'empire' ranging from French West Africa through the Congo, and that too—with Africa 'emerging'—has been proving to be a most rewarding and wonderful experience. I am married and have one son."

And now from probably the most faithful correspondent, and certainly one of the grandest guys of the class, DON HICKEY, of South Bend—"Made a killing this past week (January 20). Saw RAY MEYER and his DePaul Demons play Notre Dame, and N.D. won. Sunday after Mass dropped into the Morris Inn and this time I didn't bump into "DEACON" ANTON; he's lost quite a bit of weight. Jack says he was visiting with FATHER CAREY and JOHN O'CONNOR. And he was on his way to St. Joseph's Hospital to see CHARLIE CALLAHAN who was taking his annual post-football season rest. You fellows across the country shouldn't be so hard on Charlie at those Friday night rallies. Sunday I talked with ED HAGGAR, up from Dallas, for the annual Alumni Association meeting. Ed, as you know, was elected first vice president. Anton and Ed said that they would be here for the reunion."

That's it. There are no more letters or questionnaires to pass along. Less than half the class answered. I'm particularly and personally sorry such fellows as LOU DaPRA, '39, JOHN SCHEMMER, "TIGER" McGRATH, JOHN CLEARY, BILL ROBINSON, RUSS REDGATE, ED BARTNETT, JOHN WATERS, ED UNACKE, NEL VOGEL, '39, VIC MERCADO, BOB V. MULLEN and at least 200 others didn't send some word along about themselves.

If you can't write at least turn out for the reunion. See you then.

CHARLES B. McFARLAND, '39

Elected governor of the Oklahoma-Texas District of Kiwanis International for the year 1958, Charles McFarland is the next-to-youngest governor ever elected in Kiwanis. There are 272 local clubs in his two-state territory. He has served also as president of his home club, and as lieutenant-governor of his Division.

Chuck graduated cum laude with a Bachelor of Science degree in Commerce, taught one year at St. Gregory's College, Shawnee, Oklahoma, before he was inducted into military service in 1941. He left the Army in 1945 with the rank of captain, having served on General Eichelberger's staff in the Pacific. He received a law degree from Oklahoma City School of Law in 1949 and is a member of the Oklahoma Bar Association.

A native of Oklahoma City, Chuck has been active in community work of various kinds and is a past president of the Warr Acres, Oklahoma, Chamber of Commerce. He is unmarried, and at the present time he is active in real estate development, theatre business, investments, and heads a landscape nursery firm.

He is a member of St. Charles parish, Warr Acres, Oklahoma, where he is active in the Men's Club. Currently Charles is also president of the Notre Dame Club of Oklahoma City.

Scully was chairman of the board of Scully-Jones Co., Chicago, of which Len is a vice-president.

Your secretary was on campus in January. Enjoyed seeing all the new buildings, the great plans for the future and participating in a very instructive two day conference. Our twentieth reunion is the summer of '39 so we want it to be a big one. Very soon I will get together with CHUCK REDDY and others to formulate definite ideas for our class. More of this later.

JOHN PLANALP is a theatrical booking agent in Des Moines, Iowa, where he lives with his wife Mary (Mary Scott of St. Mary's) and his two sons John Robert, 9, and John Eugene, 6. Please note, class: JOHN can spell his name backward or forward (all the same). He has been in this business for the past ten years and recently has joined George Hamill, who handles such stars as Perry Como and Patti Page. I think it would be nice for you JOHN to handle the entertainment on our 20th reunion with such talent.

FRANK GEORGE called me the other day, which was a very pleasant surprise. Frank is a supervisor of the employment services at the Great Lakes Steel Corporation. He lives in Lincoln Park with his wife and four wonderful (quote from your letter) kids, Mary Elizabeth, 11, Paul, 9, Michael, 7, and Susan, 5. FRANK would like to hear from WALT SHORT, ART DAVIS, TOM MAHER and BOB SCHULTZ (as would I).

Our sincere sympathy to JOE McDONALD whose mother died this past December. I am sure all you classmates will say one extra prayer for her.

LOUIS G. CACCHIOLI is an old country doctor (according to him). Louis is married to a sweetening called Polly and has three fine children Linda, 12, Susan, 8 and Beth, 3.

HENRY F. JOHANTGEN also is a physician, but he is a city doctor. Henry's new address is 96 Adams St., Brockport, N. Y., (alumni office please take note) where he lives with his wife Anne and five happy children, Henry, 11, Anne Marie, 9, Elizabeth, 7, Mary Ellen, 5, and Peter, 1.

JOHN D. SULLIVAN lives at Cumberland, Maryland, where he is an engineer at the Hercules Powder Co. John married a St. Mary's girl (class of '38) in 1941, formerly Marguerite Craig. They have four beautiful children named Kathleen, 13, Denise, 11, Margaret, 8 and John, Jr., 5.

WALTER J. GEREND lives in Dayton, Ohio, where he is the contracting officer at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base. Walter and his wife Louise have five fabulous daughters named Kathleen Mary, 9, Patricia Louise, 6, Jean Therese, 4, Carol Anne, 2 and Betty Frances, 3 months. The picture you sent me of your 5 daughters is terrific. You are a lucky lad—count your blessings. Walter heard from JUDGE GEORGE HATHCOCK who is politicizing in Washington. Walter would like to hear from TED FRERICKS, JULE KRISTAN, BILL MEYERS, JOE ADRIAN, and all his old Feather Merchant buddies. Walter saw HANK ROHL, '40, at a dinner dance held in Dayton in December. If you can be there in '39 we have just added one more to the growing list.

JAMES A. CLIFFORD is credit sales manager at Sears in Tucson, Arizona where he lives with his wife Marge and four children, Mary 13, Margaret 11, Ann 9, and Neita 5 (I hope I spelled that name correctly). Will write to you when I get back from Florida—leaving tomorrow, March 26th. JIM has been in Tucson for 3 years, before which he was located in Duluth, Minn. Hope you can get back for our 20th. Saw TOM McINTYRE in Detroit last summer. He is fine and hasn't changed any more than we all have. Would like to get in a "bull session" just like the good old days.

CARL J. NAGEL lives in Snyder, New York, where he is treasurer of the Elliott Paint Co., Inc. He has 2 children, Carl, 9, and Myrella, 6. Wished you had called when you were in Detroit—try to do so next time. Carl would like to hear from DAN SHEEDY, JOE RYAN and FRANK BENNETT.

There are still quite a few who haven't answered my first or second questionnaires—would be grand to hear from you. I have received some that I will include in the next issue and hope to make it a large one with all the ones that are yet to come. Thanks, one and all.

Your secretary attended a conference in January on the campus. The subject of the intensive day of discussions was YOU; how best to serve YOU; what pleases YOU most in the ALUMNUS; how to get YOU to let us know your present status; how YOU can help all of us keep alive the wonderful memories of our stay at Notre Dame. Many ideas were advanced as to the best way of contacting various alumni of all classes; some suggested questionnaires; others, letters. All agree that only YOU can make the ALUMNUS a successful medium of communication between our far-flung graduates. Space does not permit me to tell you all that happened at the Secretaries Conference. Suffice to say, it was a most productive gathering; and the few hours on the campus gave us a real spiritual uplifting.

I have again started writing to more of our class, in the hope that you will jot down a few notes about yourself and send them on to me. You can read how welcome to others this news is. Letters to MAL FRASER, FRANCIS CROSS, EMERY BERES, and JIM CARBERRY were returned to me undelivered. How about it, fellows. Let me know your correct addresses. On the successful side, your scribe received news as follows:

From BOB DOWD—Bob missed the reunion in June 1956 because of "family complications"—a new son, Thomas Francis, born Dec. 5, 1956. That makes four; and Bob is trying to sell his present home and buy another. After this month (March) Bob's new address will be 19413 Scottsdale, Shaker Heights 22, Ohio. He reports seeing BOB STACK, JERRY HAMMER, ED MURRAY and JOE MULLIGAN. Joe has gone to Nashville with Murray Company. MARTY INWGERSON received a nice promotion in his firm—American Shipbuilding; FRANK MCGRODER left the Cleveland area for New York, around Syracuse, I believe. (I wrote about Frank way back in 1956, Bob). Bob also saw JERRY RYAN and BILL HOYNE at the 25th Bengal Bouts (remember?). Bob is with Mueller Electric Company as Comptroller; likes it very much; a wonderfully aggressive firm. Best of good luck, Bob, keep me posted on anything else.

BILL DALY writes that he hasn't bumped into any '41ers in a long time; MIKE KEEGAN was out in California for a couple of years, and lived only two blocks away from Bill in Redwood City; but has gone back to Minneapolis. Bill has also moved to 2807 Panay Court, Carmichael, Calif., a suburb of Sacramento. He is Asst. Regional Claim Manager for All-state Insurance Co. Wants any of our class in his area to get in touch with him. Bill returned to N.D. after the war and got his law degree in 1948; married a St. Mary's gal, Martha Abberger, also a '41er, who was secretary to Father Cavanaugh when he was President. They have five children from 9 months to 9 years. They get to the U.S.C. game at L. A. every other year, and are looking forward to the California game at Berkeley in 1959. Bill is also Foundation Chairman of Northern California. He likes my letter idea. Thanks, Bill; hope others follow your example and give me something to report.

SAMUEL E. LEMAN, '40

When the Indiana Veterans of Foreign Wars hold their Departmental Convention in South Bend this summer, State Commander Sam Leman will have completed another chapter in a distinguished record of service in veterans affairs.

Starting with two terms as commander of Bremen Post No. 8972, during which he inaugurated construction of a new $75,000 VFW home, Sam served successively as Indiana 3rd District commander, Indiana inspector, membership chairman, chief of staff, junior and senior vice commander, and at last year's convention at French Lick was elected commander of the VFW Department of Indiana.

Sam was commissioned in the U. S. Naval Reserve early in 1943 and served in World War II as a landing craft commander, making the invasion of Normandy on Utah Beach and receiving a letter of commendation for this action. Before he was released to inactive duty as a full lieutenant he was officer in charge of Chemical Warfare School in Little Creek, Virginia.

Equally active in business and civic affairs, Sam has been affiliated with William Leman, Inc., since graduation (cum laude) and is now vice president in charge of the firm's analytical laboratory and rectification plant. He is serving his third term as president of the Bremen planning commission, is assistant chief of the Volunteer Fire Department and a member of the Board of Zoning Appeals and Chamber of Commerce.

Sam, an avid golfer, lives in Bremen with his wife Ruth and their three children, Jimmy, Mary Ann and Sam, Jr.

is only a few miles north) Elvin has been in Miami for the past ten years; has five children, ages five to fifteen; represents the Sunbeam Corp. of Chicago, in Miami. Has little time for anything except his family. Your note, however brief, is most welcome, Elvin. You know, when we left the campus, it was the last time that many of us would actually see one another again. We have spread in all directions. So, the only way that any of us has to fill the void is to see familiar names appearing in the ALUMNUS from time to time. I'm sure your roommates and other campus acquaintances will enjoy knowing a little about your whereabouts. Many thanks for replying. WALTER J. BRENNAN, M.D., 706 Duke St., Alexandria, Va., writes. Walt enjoyed FRANK McDONOUGH'S letter which appears in the current ALUMNUS. What was NOT in the letter is a story of profound faith and courage that I am privileged to report. During a dread polio epidemic in Chicago in 1949 or '50, DICK WHALEN contracted the disease. With Frank's help, they got Dick into a VA hospital in Chicago, and then transferred to the Rehabilitation Center at Richmond. Then began a long uphill battle without a murmur or complaint from Dick. As he progressed, he indicated a desire to study law. So, to Florida, where Dick attended classes in a wheelchair. His wonderful wife, Libby, helped him immensely. A real study in courage that is an inspiration to all of us.

Walt is a psychiatrist (I'll need your help, Walt, after this income tax season!); finds his profession most absorbing and time consuming. He recalls a phone call "last week" (That would be around the end of Feb.) from JOE MULQUEEN. Joe was of the class of '40, but hung around doing graduate work until spring of 1941. About that time, as a result of "greetings," Joe and three or four others were given a sendoff at the main building by FATHER JOHN P. LYNCH. I don't know where Joe et al. ended up. Anyway, Joe gets to Washington frequently, and Walt hopes to have a local reunion. If I get down that way on one of my intended Air Force Reserve trips, Walt, I'll give you a ring. How about HOWIE SCHELLENBERG? He is in Washington, at last rollecall. The N.D. Club of Washington is an active group, and Walt has worked with JACK McGRATH on a couple of projects. Also, MILTON RILEY, Class of '50 or '51, met up with Walt. Many thanks for the news, Walt; keep up the good work.

Now, with your indulgence, I'll recount a little ancient history. When I was hopping bells at the old Pancoast Hotel, 29th St. and Collins Ave., Miami Beach, early 1937, a certain N.D. student was spending a brief vacation at this swanky joint. He heard that I was interested in attending N.D. We talked; and as a result, your secretary headed for the campus that fall. One of my classmates is a brother to this student; one of my teachers is also his brother. The student is of course PAT CAREY from Kokomo; FATHER CHARLES CAREY tried to teach me English; and FRANK CAREY is my classmate. This all leads up to a phone call I didn't receive this week from Pat. He called, all right, but I wasn't in and Pat left no number. The last time I saw either Pat or Frank was in 1944 and 1945. Frank was in Honolulu, and Pat was on the USS Abatan, anchored in Ulithi Lagoon. I was on my way to Okinawa and we were tied up for a week at Ulithi. Out of the blue Pacific, JOE DRUECKER, a good N.D. man (class in doubt) draws along side the ship I was traveling on and tells me that Pat Carey is nearby. So, with Joe's help I had a swell visit with Pat. Joe also chauffeured my boys ashore a number of times. A really swell guy, whom I'd like to see again. Gee, Pat, I sure would like to see you again. Please, leave a number next time if you are staying in the city.

My next deadline is May 23th, fellow '41ers, about the same time you read this. Please don't wait for my written plea for information on your classmates. When you read these few incoherent lines, resolve to sit down at once and give me some assistance. The longer you wait, the harder it is to do it, and the farther away we all get from Notre Dame.

"THE BIGGEST E," MR. ED DUNLAVY, now residing at 216 Casterton Avenue, Akron, Ohio, was curious to know if DON HOGAN wore his foam rubber reunion cap during the winter. He can visualize the cap being soaked in water and frozen to Hogan's head in the sub-zero weather. Ed reports WALT MCCOURT is taking his wife, Peg, to Hawaii for a ten-day trip as reward for his selling more General Truck tires than anyone else in a nation-wide contest. Who wants to guess how much over-weight they will charge Walt on the airplane? Ed also reports that he sees BOB COLEMAN, and they took their sons to the Navy game. Ed is still working for Goodyear and would be happy to hear from any of our classmates.

Next day I wrote "The Scientist." ED MANGELSDORF, who answered first thing this year. Fellows, Ed has been ill (nothing that we didn't take in stride at school), but that isn't the real reason you haven't received your Flying Irish Cuff Links. Ed is in the seed business and, though the gestation period of cuff links is now unknown, it will be when yours arrive.

"The next hero depicted was met minutes before a lovely wedding. I was a little nervous about whether my tie was finally knotted correctly when BYRON KANALEY '42, sidled up whispering—"Brown shoes are never worn with a blue suit." I didn't realize I had such big feet. (OTTO MOLITOR, please note.) "In December, confidence was restored when Byron and Sallie entertained a sizeable gather heavily infiltrated by Notre Dame men of several classes. Also, more former St. Mary's students than has been seen since the tea dances. By a circuitous route I arrived with MEL and JINI McNULTY to behold a station wagon eight hands high and two bodies long. BILL HICKEY acquired it in a three-way trade involving Parmalee Transfer. It was loaded with Class of '42 Southsiders.

This will be the last column before the Reunion week end. We certainly expect to see a record turnout. BILL EARLEY has been hard at work making the arrangements as local chairman for the 15 year Reunion. We have had many indications from our questionnaires that would indicate a large turnout. If you haven't been back since graduation or the 5-year Reunion, I doubt that you will recognize the campus. For those who visited the 10-year Reunion, there are further changes on campus since that gathering.

The fee of twenty dollars will cover a fine week end at a minimum cost. So, plan now to attend. A special added incentive during this centennial year of the Virgin Mary's apparitions at Lourdes, a plenary indulgence may be obtained by members of any group that visits the Grotto during the centennial year.

At the recent Class Secretaries Conference held on the campus, and reported in the last issue of the ALUMNUS, we received some interesting statistics. Did you know that a survey made during last year's reunion disclosed that of the returning reunionites, approximately 93% said they read the ALUMNUS; over 50% stated they read the class notes section first, specifically their respective class column; and did you know that 45% of the wives of those surveyed read the ALUMNUS? I would imagine these same percentages would carry over to any given class, and the problem of gathering news to satisfy the appetites and interests of these many readers (of which group you obviously are a member) presents for the class secretary a never-ending headache. Numerous suggestions were given to conquer the problem—some said mail questionnaires to the men; others suggested personal letters begging for news; still others said send postcards, etc. Well, I am using this space for my personal appeal to you. If you are a reader of this column and if you enjoy reading about your classmates, I feel you owe it to them to take time out sometime today and send me a few lines about yourself and others you have heard about or are wondering about, so I'll have some news to report in the next column. I'll gladly pay the postman if the letter comes "postage due," but do help!

Just one year, nearly to the day, from when this piece reaches you, we'll be trekking back to the campus for our fifteenth reunion! Naturally, we are anxious to top the turnout we had for our "fifth" and "tenth," and the time to begin preparing for this memorable event is now. In the course of the coming year a number of mailings will reach you, previewing the big event of our 15th. I am now open to suggestions from our class officers and from all members of the class for ideas how we can make this reunion the best yet. Naturally, we want as near a 100% turnout as possible. To assure this we will need booster committees working all across the country, and several in each of the larger cities. I would like to hear from some volunteers to work on the reunion plans. There will be a local committee in South Bend again headed by JOHN LYNCH and BOB LEHMAN, both of whom did a bangup job for our 10th. These men will be working close with the Alumni Office in setting up the basic plans. Let's all start thinking about this important event and resolve now each to do his part in making our "15th" a truly memorable occasion.

Back to the current news. I recently got caught up on the Fort Wayne gang and learned that DICK DOERMER has retired from the active practice of the law to become president of the Dime Bank and Trust Co. of Fort Wayne. . . . ARTIE HOFFMAN is operating a retail sporting goods store in town. . . . DONNELLY MacDONALD, cashier of the People's Bank and Trust Co., recently served a term in the Indiana state legislature and is still enjoying bachelor-bliss. . . . TOM O'REILLY retired this year as president of the Fort Wayne Alumni Club and is busy in his business, the O'Reilly Office Supply Co.

A welcome letter from GEORGE EUSTERMAN dropped on my desk in time to make the deadline for this issue. George writes that he is still doing internal medicine with the Garberson Clinic (6 North 7th St., Miles City, Montana), but that he will be taking a breather for a few years as head physician at Montana State College for the Student Health Service, as well as associate professor of bacteriology, beginning in September. George completed his medical education at Creighton School of Medicine in '49, is married and expecting his 5th child momentarily. He reports that JACK UTZ at last word was somewhere in Maryland. George also inquires for DICK HINES, "that hot piano player from Brockline, Mass.," and asks whether FRITZ FUNK is still in LaCrosse, Wis.

JOHN CONNELLY is practicing medicine at the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal. . . . JIM COOGAN is manager of the Coogan Gravel Co. in Peoria. . . . ROBERTO de ROMANA is manager of Vulcanex Rubber Co. in Peru . . . and JOE RUD is comptroller of James K. Wilson Co., clothiers, in Dallas.

Before closing for this time (and please forgive the repetition), may I ask that you accept my invitation to write me a few lines, thereby saving the column from disaster . . . and also please give some thought to, and send along any suggestions for, making our 15th reunion next year "the greatest!"

CLASS SECRETARIES' CONFERENCE

During the week end of January 17 and 18, 1958, '45 was represented at the Class Secretaries' Conference held at the University by the Alumni Association. Several problems and their solutions were discussed, and an interesting discussion was held on such matters as the Class Column, election of officers, ALUMNUS magazine, editorial problems, reunions, and Class projects. The meeting was a very enlightening and interesting one, and it paved the way for an increased effort by all of us in the ranks to try to stimulate YOU, who read this column, into participating by sending in notes. So get a note off to me immediately as a vote-of-confidence for the work we are doing.

"DID-YOU-KNOW-THAT" DEPARTMENT

In browsing through my several sources of information, there are a few items which may be of interest to you. For example, did you know that . . . MIKE MANZO is a teacher-coach in Medford, Massachusetts . . . that he is married and the father of Michael (5 years) and Rose Marie (1 year) . . . that he teaches Mathematics and Science, and is a line coach in football . . . that he is selling athletic trophies, operating under the name of Mission Trophy Company . . . that he reported seeing ED CALLAHAN, "BOLEY" DANCEWICZ, and DICK HERLIHY at the Boston Club Communion Breakfast this past December . . . that mail to WILLIAM PICCONE comes back undelivered . . . that ROBERT C. REARDON, of Houston, Texas is another of the "lost" of the class . . . that EDWARD FAUST, JR., has a wonderful family consisting of Joseph, 8; Deborah, 7; David, 6; Mary, 3; and Carol, 4 months . . . that he is working for Nelson and Warren, Inc., consulting actuaries as a group and casualty insurance Actuary . . . that Ed would love to hear from his classmates, and also from any Notre Dame man who may also be in the actuarial business, or related field . . . that Ed participated in the St. Louis Club Golf Tourney, and he and his wife, Kathleen, attended the recent club dinner . . . that your Secretary would like to get the latest correct address for ARCADE J. PLANTE, WELTON R. ABELL, and JOHN W. ADAMS . . . that DICK SAYERS and his wife, Ellen, are the happy parents of Kathleen, Michael, Brian, Monica, and were expecting a fifth child early this month . . . that Dick is with the Monsanto Chemical Co., as Manager, Plant Purchasing Offices, doing general supervisory duties relating to the company's 20-Plant Purchasing Offices . . . that our '45 Class 15-Year Reunion is now only two years away . . . that I hope to locate FREDERICK J. BIGGS, EDWARD MULCAIR, and DICK YOUNG before that time, and that any leads in this direction would be much appreciated by this department . . . that FATHER CHARLES A. DELANEY, C.S.C. has been Pastor of Seven Dolors Church in Austin, Texas, since its beginning in 1953 . . . that TOM SCHERER is with Atco Transporters, Inc., as president . . . that the firm transports petroleum products . . . that he and his wife, Billie, are the proud parents of Rose Marie, 7 years; Kathy, 5 years; Tommy, Jr., 4 years; and Suzanne, 7 months; . . . that Tom was out to Notre Dame a year ago for one of the football games . . . that he wonders what has happened to Digby . . . that Tom is a member of the Tulsa Notre Dame Club . . . that JOHN J. CONNELLY and DR. EMMET T. SHEERAN did not leave a forwarding address when they last moved, and that all mail to them comes back undelivered . . . that JOHN N. CACKLEY, JR., long-time ALUMNUS managing editor has been assigned by FATHER JOHN CAVANAUGH to fulltime status on the Foundation's multi-million dollar program . . . that the class wishes him good luck, as well as a happy welcome to JOHN LAUGHLIN who will assist JIM ARMSTRONG in doing alumni work, and issuing the ALUMNUS . . . that DAVE CARTWRIGHT'S new address is 2600 Norfolk, Cleveland 6, Ohio . . . that we want to hear from YOU who read this column . . . that JAMES LAMB is living at 1016 Chestnut Street, Grand Forks, North Dakota . . . that Mary Jean, his wife, is the boss over 7-year old Larry; 5-year old David; 3-year old Timmy; 1-year old Brian; and Daddy Jim, of course . . . that Jim is one of the partners of Degnan, Hager, McElroy and Lamb, law firm . . . that Jim has a "natural" gripe when he says: "that was a great idea to send out pencils to everyone, but there must be a crook in the Postal Service between here and there, Al, or maybe you can lay my loss to the general inefficiency of the Republican Administration" . . . that, in effect, your Secretary must take all the blame since he has found out that the best reaction to mailing pieces is saying that a pencil is enclosed, and then not sending one—everyone always gets so mad . . . that we do all this just to hear from YOU, so don't make it so hard for us to do our job, but sit down and write . . . that BILL MOORE, Class Treasurer is still waiting to get dues from some of you.

"LETTERS-FROM" DEPARTMENT

From JIM SCHWEICKERT: "My new address is 121 Muncion Street, Coldwater, Michigan. However, for mailing I am using my office address which is Lock Box 148, Coldwater, Michigan.

"I am now Superintendent of Nurses at the local State Home and Training School, which brings me closer to N.D. also."

From Dinkie Hartnett (wife of DENNIS B. HARTNETT): "I thought I better take it upon myself to write a brief note to you and enclose Gabby's dues. Please forward it to the Class Treasurer. I have no idea if I am enclosing the right amount or not. Please let me know. Gabby is with Chicago Standard Transformer Corporation in Sales Administration. We have a comfy home in Glenview, Illinois (2413 Robin Crest Lane), a 6-year old daughter, Deborah Anne, in first grade; and a future N.D. boy 2½ months old, James Michael, born December 14th.

"Even though JUDY and AL WADE live in Davenport, Iowa, we see them often.

"I can't think why Gabby is so busy that he couldn't do this—but he just doesn't get around to it."

Rev. Vincent G. (Vic) Cullen, S.J., '43, talks to some young parishioners in the hinterlands of the Philippine Islands. Located at Immaculate Conception Church, Impasugong, Bukidnon, Philippines, Vic covers many mountain villages in his area by jeep and by foot, as priest, teacher, doctor and jack-of-all-trades.

From GEORGE J. DESPOT: "Upon my return to Shreveport, a mass of detail has delayed my writing to you. I just wanted to drop you a short note and express my sincere appreciation for your kindness to us while we were in New York."

"We enjoyed your company and Betty's, and we are looking forward to seeing both of you again later this year."

From CHUCK SARTORE: "Marilyn and DAVE CARTWRIGHT spent a few days with us last winter while he was in Memphis on business. He lives in Cleveland, Ohio, and they had their sixth child on December 29th. I also received a Christmas card from VINCE CUSHING."

"Last week Dave called and asked us to be godparents (by proxy) of the new boy, Terence Christian."

Well, that's all the news this time. If YOU don't write in, we won't have any news for the next issue.

From the Alumni Office:

Your modest Secretary neglected to mention one news item: AL LESMEZ achieved section head status with Sperry Gyroscope Co. when he was appointed countermeasures reports supervisor in the Countermeasures Division, with full responsibility for reports. (Ed. Note: this includes reports on the Class of 1945. Congratulations, Al. J. L.)

DR. ELMER F. GILLESPIE, is a major and chief of medical services at Eglin Air Force Base in Florida.

SPOTLIGHT ALUMNUS

FRANK J. McDONOUGH, JR., '41

Frank McDonough, an associate of M. N. Weir and Sons, Inc., Florida realtors, for the past two years, was named general sales manager of the firm in February by Milton N. Weir, Jr., president.

Frank will supervise activities of Weir offices in Fort Lauderdale, Boca Raton and Delray Beach, and his headquarters will be in the Weir Building Atlantic Boulevard, Pompano Beach.

He came to Florida from Chicago, where he was president and general manager of Live Stock Press Publishers for eight years. He is an Arts and Letters graduate of Notre Dame and is the current president of the Notre Dame Club of Fort Lauderdale.

Frank also worked for advertising and public relation firms in Chicago, and for the International News Service.

He is secretary-treasurer of the Pompano Beach Kiwanis Club; is a member of the Pompano Beach JayCees and an associate of the Board of Realtors. He lives with his wife, Marge, and three children at 2675 N. E. 25th Street, Lighthouse Point.

born. He is married to the former Anne Marie Harl, a French girl with an authentic and charming accent, whose father is an N.D. grad and who herself is a "Notre Dame man" for she is pursuing her M.A. in English. Charlie is teaching at St. Mary's and he met her there, she being also on the faculty.

Part III of the BROTHER IVAN DOLAN, C.S.C., Story: "How is the collection for him coming along?" That is a good question; unfortunately, the answer isn't nearly as good.

So far your Secretary has dispatched just $30 to Pakistan, and one third of that amount has come from an "outsider" . . . a Fort Dodge, Iowa, lawyer named DON N. KERSTEN who graduated in 1948!

Writes Don: "Just read THE ALUMNUS and note your appeal for funds. Can't think of a better project for your class. I also knew FATHER FRANK McFARLAND and Brother Ivan's brother, now FATHER PAT DOLAN, at N.D. All of the Holy Cross men in Pakistan are doing a wonderful job under trying conditions. . . . Enclosed—my small bit."

With the permission of our President, JOHN MASTRANGELO, I'd like to propose Don for honorary membership in the '47 class entitled to all the privileges and rights adhering thereunto . . . like having his name capitalized in the news notes, for instance. Thanks, DON KERSTEN, for your gratuitous gesture.

"I got hold of the October issue of THE ALUMNUS just a few days before Christmas," Brother Ivan reveals, "while I was in Dacca town trying to get more cement for the work I am doing . . . My spirits and hopes are high because there are a lot of swell fellows in the class of '47 and I know they are going to come through with some more donations. There will be no end to the work we will be able to do."

" . . . These days I hardly have time to think (this was written Jan. 18. Ed. note). The new school year began on Jan. 6. We have more than 1,100 boys in the school again this year. Many more applied for admission, but I couldn't take them all; no room, too few teachers. . . . Thanks again to you and all the members of the class of '47 for everything you are doing to help in the mission work. Keep me in your good prayers."

Keep this phrase from that letter in mind: " . . . I KNOW they are going to come through with some more donations." Are you?

Personal to DONNELLY McDONALD: We're all sorry the grads weren't sufficiently aware of your considerable ability to vote you to the Alumni Board of Directors. It's a select group you missed joining. Don, but I know your friends of '47 join me in laying odds you'll make it one day . . . as will others of our class, we trust.

Memories of the great victory over Oklahoma were revived by a letter from JACK NOONAN, who has been with the FBI since 1950 and in the Chicago office of that great organization since 1951.

"In November," he recounts, "I had the good fortune of being in Oklahoma City and got over to Norman to watch the biggest upset of the year. I didn't know that I was going to Oklahoma until three days before the game, so I had to rely upon an agent in the Oklahoma City office. 'Spot' Gentry, who was quite a ball player for Oklahoma some years back. He was able to get a pair on the 50. (Ed. note!!!) and we watched the game together. Notre Dame was excellent in beating a great Oklahoma team."

Jack reports a heavy concentration of Notre Dame men in the Bureau's Windy City office—TOM KERRIGAN, JACK McDONAGH, MAURY WHITE, BILL ROEMER, EDWARD "MIKE" HALLORAN, FRANK MATTHYS, and BILL MCCORMICK—and apologizes for having to miss the reunion because of the coincident responsibilities of moving to a new home and of welcoming the fourth child born to him and the former Joan Hitchner of Mishawaka.

WILLIAM T. (BILL) PECK has bought out C. A. Girard & Co. in Niles, Mich., and will continue the 15-year-old firm's policy of serving as distribution headquarters for the sheet metal and heating equipment trade in northern Indiana and southern Michigan. Bill, who lives with his wife and five children in South Bend, assumed command of the company the first of March; he gained considerable experience in the field during his nine years with the Tiffin Art Metal Co. of South Bend, having been its branch manager prior to his resignation.

New addresses are available for: REV. THOMAS O. BARROSSE, C.S.C.; WILLIAM R. BARTLETT, WALTER S. BIVENOUR, DANIEL J. BOYLE, JR., ANDREW J. BURKE, PAUL M. CEDERWALL, PHILIP A. COSTELLO, ROBERT F. CUTTER, MAURICE C. DAVIS, THOMAS L. DUFFY, JOHN L. DUGGAN, DANIEL M. EICH, JAMES H. EVANS, BERNARD F. FALLON, JR., ROBERT J. FOERSTNER, ROBERT A. FOOS, JOHN S. FORSTER, EDWARD J. FRERICKS, VENTURA GONZALEZ, PAUL P. GOODMAN, JOHN R. HOUGHTLING, DR. RICHARD F. HUCK, JR., CHARLES J. JOINER, ROBERT R. KEENAN, BROTHER KERIC DEVER, C.S.C., CHARLES E. KOEGLER, ROBERT B. KURTZ, VERNON D. McARDLE, PATRICK J. McCULLOUGH, PATRICK L. McSHANE, WILLIAM A. MADDEN, ALVIN C. MARRERO, JOHN L. MARTIN, CLEO E. MELCHER, FRANCIS E. REY, NELLO A. SALVATI, FRANCIS J. SHANNON, JOHN J. TAYLOR, JOHN C. THOMAS, WILLIAM J. THOMPSON, JAMES J. TORPY, ROBERT H. WATERBURY, JR., ROBERT F.

Sadly we must report the death of another of our classmates.

WILLIAM ANDREW PFISTER of Long Beach, Ind., died of a cerebral hemorrhage Sept. 15 in Michigan City, Ind.; he would have been 33 in another month.

Employed at the time of his death as export manager for the U. S. Slicing Machine Co., Inc., at nearby LaPorte, Bill is survived by his wife, the former Emy Lou Fargo; two children, Kay, 8, and Mark, 3; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Pfister, and by three brothers and a sister. After completing the Navy program at Notre Dame, he served in the South Pacific and was recalled to active duty during the Korean war.

FATHER JOHN A. DRISCOLL, C.S.C., offered a Requiem High Mass for the repose of Bill's soul, Ash Wednesday, at the request of his class, in St. Patrick's Church in South Bend. Please remember him—and his aggrieved family as well—in your prayers.

Those of you who have been meaning to send $2 or more for the class Mass fund will do well to let this be the time for mailing me a check or a bill; we never know which action will be our last.

Shortly before deadline, we received a note from Emy Lou Pfister expressing her thanks for the Requiem Mass and assuring us it gave her great comfort. "I'm sure that nothing could have made Bill happier," she wrote, "as Notre Dame was very special to him. . . . Please thank Father Driscoll and the Class of '47 for me."

Congratulations to Charles Poinsette on his first-

WEYBURN, EDWARD H. WILHELMI, and CHARLES W. YAKEMONIS.

How 'bout dropping a line my way, men? And how 'bout doing it TODAY? To give or glean information, just pen a few lines and your classmates will appreciate hearing about you. To move you to action (or hara-kiri, I don't know which), permit me to close with "An Ode written On Glancing Over The Usual Contents Of My Mailbox:"

"Bills I see
Of every size
But precious little
From YOU guys!"

Remember those three great days—June 6, 7 and 8.

At the meeting of the Class Secretaries in January I conferred with Local Reunion Chairman JOHN LAUGHLIN. In the following weeks we appointed a South Bend reunion committee which includes: JOHN CREEVY, JOHN DEFANT, JOE KRUYER, JIM MELLO, BOB SCHOONOVER, LARRY SCHUBERT, JULIAN VANDEWALLE, BILL VOLL and LEO ZUCKOWSKY. These fellows have been busy with arrangements for a memorable week end which will include billets and refreshments in our old stomping ground, Dillon Hall, a trek across campus for Mass at the Grotto and meals at the beautiful new North Dining Hall, and many more events.

In the past couple of months you have received mail regarding the reunion details. If you misplaced your "early bird" card you can fire off a postcard to let us know you're coming. Get on the phone and call your classmates. Get a group together and drive up for the big week end.

Coach VINCE BORYLA of the New York Knickerbockers pro basketball team is a guy who likes to speak his mind. Vince found talk is not cheap, however, when his remarks to and about a referee in a January game with the Philadelphia Warriors drew a fine of $325, the second largest penalty in the history of the N.B.A., and got a humorous write up in the usually staid New York Times. Hope you'll give us the real lowdown at the reunion, Vince.

TOM DOOLEY continues to pop up on so many fronts he makes us dizzy. On top of his old appearances with Arlene Francis and Dave Garroway he has showed up in a picture spread in Life Magazine, for a lecture in Clarksburg, W. Va., and is getting to be a regular on Jack Paar's midnight TV opus, plugging MEDICO, his jungle hospital in Laos, his books and, by dressing thousands of Laotian kids in Notre Dame tee shirts, BROTHER CONAN and the N.D. bookstore. Tom's latest award was honorary membership in the Oblates of Mary Immaculate for his medical aid to the missions. Author of "Deliver Us From Evil," best selling account of Vietnam after the fall of Dienbienphu, he is bringing out a new book, "Edge of Tomorrow," dealing with his medical work in the Oblate missions of Laos.

JOHN J. GOONEN recently announced his resignation as basketball coach and teacher at St. Augustine's High, Kalamazoo, Mich. Possessor

JACKSON B. CHUNG, '42

Recently named chief engineer at Dodge Manufacturing Corporation, Mishawaka, Ind., manufacturer of power transmission machinery, Jackson Chung has a colorful personal history in addition to an impressive record in the field of engineering.

Born in Shansi, China, in 1914, Jackson served as a fighter pilot in the Chinese Air Force prior to his matriculation at Notre Dame and had also studied civil engineering in Shanghai.

After graduation in mechanical engineering Jackson continued his education at Notre Dame and received his M.S. in physical metallurgy in 1943. He spent two years traveling around the U. S. for advanced training with eleven of the major American machine tool manufacturers before joining the export division of Studebaker Corporation in South Bend as engineer in charge of Chinese operations. Later he served as a machine tool specialist with William Hunt and Company of New York.

Since 1948 he has been associated with Dodge Manufacturing in various engineering capacities and was chief development engineer before his promotion early in March.

A United States citizen, Jackson is married, has two children and lives in Mishawaka.

Never start anything with an apology, I'm told—but I broke a rule by not making the last ALUMNUS, so I'll break another and apologize. It is probably a good thing, though, because without that news there wouldn't be a column this time.

His wife Nancy writes for DAN BAGLEY, that since getting out of service two years ago, Dan is a sales representative for Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. They have three children, Daniel, Jr., 3, Joseph, 2, and Beth Ann, born June 20, 1957. Their address: 216 1st Avenue S., Escanaba, Mich.

Announcement—Joanne and JACK MURPHY, a son, Patrick John, born February 22, 1958. Comment: "Future N.D. quarterback of 1976." Dad is coaching in San Diego. Address: 5665 Jackson Drive, LaMesa, Calif.

CHARLES TALLEY writes that he graduated from Harvard Law School in '54, then spent two years in the army. He is married—has two girls and a boy. Business address: 1st National Bank Bldg., Tampa 2, Fla.

LOU REICH, a captain in the Medical Corps, writes that he graduated from Tulane Medical School in '55, and while interning he met and married a lovely nurse from Macon, Ga., Carolyn. His residency in radiology was interrupted by Uncle Sam, and now he is a flight surgeon stationed in Prestwick, Scotland. Address: Captain, USAF (MC), 1631st USAF Dispensary "A," APO 202, New York, N. Y.

Lou also writes about some other fellows: AL LINDEN, '52, a navigator with Air Rescue; ED BATTERSBY, who finished at Johns Hopkins in '56, and he and his pediatrician wife are taking further training. Lou reports that JIM WACK was starting in flight surgery as he finished in Texas; TEX ATCHISON is married, has three children and is working with an oil company in Houston, Texas, as a geologist; NED WEDLAKE was in army basic training for doctors at Fort Sam Houston and is now assigned to the Soldier's Home in Washington, D. C.

BOB NICKODEM writes that his first girl was born on Nov. 21, '57, after three boys, Bobby, 3½, Michael, 2, and Kevin, 1. Bob was made an assistant trust officer and he and Margaret are building a new four-bedroom home. Bob attended a meeting in New York last October and reports on two bachelors: JACK McKELVEY, who is doing well with Prudential Insurance Co., and AL BAILEY, who is teaching history in a high school in North Haledon, N. J. Bob also wrote about visiting BILL CAREY, Helen and Billy in Skokie, Ill., last summer.

My wife and I took in the Army game and saw BOB EDMONDSON and his wife Mary the Friday night before. Saturday of the game Mary went to the hospital, and on Sunday, Oct. 13, their first-born John, arrived. (How did you stand up to Friday night, Saturday's game and your son's birth, Ease?) At the game I saw BOB WILLIAMS, who is in the real estate business in Baltimore, Maryland; JERRY GROOM, is in the trucking business in Denver, Colo., and had been attending a meeting in New York; JOE SHELLY, who had driven out from Chicago for the game, and PAT GALLAGHER and Kitty, who are living in Garden City, New York. At a cocktail party following the game we saw GEORGE KEOUGH and his parents; HOBY TAYLOR, who also drove out from Chicago; M. O'DONNELL, now living in Washington, D. C., and BILL COONEY, who had just returned from Korea and is now in San Francisco.

From Fort Wayne, JIM BATES, who has been practicing law here, has enrolled at Loyola in Chicago and plans to enter the Major Seminary next fall after a six-month course in Latin.

JACK TRACY writes that after three years in the Navy he spent three years in Europe on the G.I. Bill and married a Dutch girl last October. Congratulations and best wishes, Jack. They intend to move to and settle in San Francisco.

BILL ANHUT writes that he is still in the hotel business, managing two hotels, has four children and bought a home last year in N.W. Detroit.

Sally writes for HANK MADDEN (20 Oakmont Lane, Timberlinks, Signal Mountain, Tenn.), says that they have just moved into their new home and at present have two girls, 3 and 2, and a son about 1 year old. (Sally, at present we still have two, Jerry, 2½, and Mary Beth, 15 months.) Sally also wrote that they have seen JOE DELANEY, who is in the foundry business with his father, has two boys and a girl. Also, they have seen DON SONDAG and his wife, who are now stationed at Fort Benning, Columbus, Ga.

AL ABBEY has been appointed, among 70 out of a group of approximately 600, by the Attorney General's 1957 Recruitment Program for Honor Law Graduates, to a post in the Department of Justice. Al received his LL.B. from Vanderbilt University Law School last June. He was managing editor of the Law Review, president of the Student Bar Assn., bearer of a Delta Theta Phi scholarship key and received the Order of the Coif. Congratulations, Al.

Margery, wife of TONY DaDAMIO, writes that they have three girls, ages 4, 2, and 6 weeks. Tony is coaching track, assisting at basketball and teaching at Exeter High School in Reading, Pennsylvania. After leaving the service Tony attended Penn State University and received a master's degree.

Following is a list of Christmas cards received with addresses and any comments contained therein: HARVEY O'NEILL, wife Nancy and two sons, R.R. No. 4, Peru, Indiana; PAT BARRETT, wife Joan (Pat is in the third year of medical school at Kansas University), 5916 Goodman St., Merriam, Kansas; BILL COONEY; DICK McDONALD, wife Joey, two sons and a daughter, 241 Schilling, West Lafayette, Indiana; MATT O'DONNELL, wife Peggy and daughters Patty and Kathy; FRANK BOLLER, wife Anne and family, 16244 Kingside Drive, Covina, Calif.; PAT O'SULLIVAN, wife Maureen, 2015 Military Road, Port Huron, Mich.; BUD HERR, wife Barbara, Tommy, Susan and Stephen, Box H, Chatsworth, Ill.; BILL ANHUT and wife Mary Claire; JIM FRICK, wife Bonny and the five children; STEVE MARTIN, who became engaged at Christmas and plans a spring wedding, 1319 Balfour, Grosse Pointe Park 30, Mich.; HARRY HANIGAN, wife Marie, 9414 Laflin, Chicago, Ill.; JOHN MOORE, who reported he is "taking the big step in April;" AL GUARNERI, wife Ann, Robbie and Pattie.

PAT CROWE, JR., became the father of a third child, Michael Samuel, on St. Patrick's Day in Chattanooga, Tenn. Others are Candace, 5, and Pat III, 3. Pat's father hails from Tipperary, and his brother Frank is at Notre Dame.

WILLIAM J. DANER has resigned as counsel for the North Dakota legislative research committee to enter private law practice as a member of the firm of Lord, Ulmer, Bair & Daner, Mandan and Bismarck, N. D.

PAUL C. RAYMOND is in Midland, Tex., with the Texas Co.

RICHARD GILLIS, who took his Ph.D. here, is also a graduate of Melbourne and Sydney Universities in his native Australia but says "N.D. is considerably higher in my affection and interest" because "Australian universities take no interest in their graduates, who reciprocate wholeheartedly." Richard, who lives at 6 Curral Road, Elsternwick, S. 4, Victoria, Australia, says he can't make the reunion but asks us to "let alumni know I have an open door for any visiting Melbourne."

DAVID W. STEARNS is in Houston, Tex., working toward a Ph.D. at Rice Institute at Shell Oil's expense.

CHARLES E. STIMMING has been promoted from accounting assistant to results supervisor by Indiana Bell in Indianapolis.

ROBERT G. STRALEY is working toward an M.S. at L.S.U. and part time for Shell in Baton Rouge, La., plans to attend the reunion.

Coach Tony DaDamio, '51 (right), N.D. track monogrammer now in his second year as track and basketball coach at Exeter High School, Reading, Pa., checks the form of track hopefuls Marlin Stoltzfus, Charles Willis and Duane Faust.

JOHN F. SULIK, now an M.S., is working for the Texas Co. out of Houston.

GEORGE C. THOMAS is on leave from Ohio Oil working for a master's from the U. of Arizona.

ROBERT T. ZENZINGER, has been promoted to personnel manager of the Sorg Paper Co., Middletown, O. Bob and his wife live at 1920 Arlington Ave., Middletown.

EUGENE A. ZIMPFER, S.J., is at Loyola Seminary, Shrub Oak, N. Y., busy showing Notre Dame campus and football movies to all comers.

You will remember a few issues back your extremely gufty class secretary had the nerve to run a picture of his first-born for all to admire. The response to this bold act drew no complaint, and even worse no other pictures, so it leads this same secretary to thoughts of further advertisement. Therefore, I issue the following warning to you, your wives, and I am sure your proud parents. If I don't receive a picture and a short biography of your nomination for SPOTLIGHT ALUMNUS, I am going to take some very drastic steps. Therefore, Class of '54, here is your opportunity to head me off. I am open for suggestions and welcome any material you can supply me. I think that we have gone along too long without a representative of our class in the SPOTLIGHT ALUMNUS feature of this magazine. It's up to you, don't be shy!

I'd like to say that at this point I'll swing right into the stack of mail that confronts me, but such an industrious sounding verb far overstates the real situation. If I were to swing I'm afraid I'd scatter this small stack beyond replacement. I know the effect of these recent postal rate increases, but surely you can set aside enough for a stamp and direct a mention of your activities my way. If things don't get better, I might even offer to accept postage-due mail from any or all of you.

My thanks to all of you who sent greetings at Christmas time and especially for those that enclosed the following news. AL SUWALSKI says that he just returned to the States from overseas and will join the First Marine Division in California after the first of the year. Al reports that SKIP DOYLE is at Camp LeJeune, North Carolina and that KEN PATTERSON is at the Naval Air Station, Atsugi, Japan. KEN MELCHIOR is living in Kansas City and works with an investment company there. PAUL KEARNEY is in Newport, Rhode Island doing a little graduate work there. FRANK RATH, JR., is living at 36 Fairwood Street, Milford, Connecticut. Second LT. ED LEWIS, G. A. R., Helen and their two children, Sharon and Megan, can be contacted at 323 Bryn Mauer, San Antonio, Texas. RICH HOHMAN reports in from the Marine Base at Jacksonville, North Carolina, where he is stationed along with LARRY CORBETT and DICK MORAN. Rich is holding orders that will send him to Okinawa in the spring. JACK PITTAS is still attending Georgetown Law School and working at the Securities and Exchange Commission. He will receive mail at 3337B South Wakefield Street, Arlington 6, Virginia. PHIL BOLIN is the manager of survey operations for the advertising agency, Young and Rubican, in Providence, Rhode Island. He reported a proposed transfer for him to the New York area in the spring.

Three other formal-looking cards that I have in front of me report some recent additions. JOHN LEO ROSSHIRT, JR., joined JACK and Alana on December 14, 1957 at St. Luke's hospital in Pasadena, California. Marianne Elizabeth joined Patty and DAVE MAHER on November 12, at 23 Wilson Avenue, S.E., St. Cloud, Minnesota. Rowe and RICH HOHMAN welcomed their third arrival, Howard Joseph, to the fold on February 24.

Through the courtesy of TOM FIELD at Balliol, Oxford, England, I enjoyed reading the "G. P. Poop Sheet" dated October, 1957. In it I discovered the following: ANDY BAUER was serving as an inspector-instructor with the Marine Corps at their reserve training center in Augusta, Maine. DAVE BURRELL, C.S.C., is continuing his studies in Europe. JIM CANNON has completed two full years in the philosophy department of the graduate school, Yale University, and is continuing his work towards his Ph.D. DAN COLEMAN and family live at 215 Kroiak Road, Park Forest Illinois. Dan is with Popular Mechanics as manager of Sales

DR. FRANCIS J. SHORTSLEEVE, '43

In the Metals Research Laboratories, keystone of the Electro-Metallurgical Co. Division of Union Carbide Corp., a young metallurgist from Notre Dame has risen in five years from assistant research engineer, through assistant group manager and group manager, to assistant director of research, both basic and applied, on everything from ores to final alloy compositions.

Frank Shortsleeve returned to the University in 1945, after two years in Air Corps cadet training, for graduate study in metallurgy under Dr. Troiano. After receiving his M.S. he organized a small business in Elmira, N. Y., selling brass ingots to foundries in the area. Faced with a plummeting brass market, he dissolved the business to accept a position in the Engineering Research Laboratory of Standard Oil of Indiana in Chicago, where he engaged in three years of solid state equilibria studies in the iron-chromium-nickel system. In the fall of 1949 he moved to Cleveland, Ohio, to study toward a Ph.D. at Case Institute of Technology. His doctoral work completed, he joined the staff of "Electromet" research laboratories in Niagara Falls, N. Y., in 1952.

Co-author of a book published last year and several papers on iron and steel alloys for the American Society for Metals and the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers, Frank holds a patent on stainless steel alloy and apparatus for converting hydrocarbons. He is a member of Sigma Xi and the Metallurgy Technical Advisory Committee for the Erie County Technical Institute.

Having married Mary Katherine Weaver of South Bend in 1946, Frank now has three children, Frederick Francis, Ann Estella and Mary Beth.

Promotion and Merchandising. BOB DINEEN was recently discharged from the Army and is presently at Indiana University working on a Master's Degree in Business Management. BOB ETTLEBRICK lives at 2 Meadow Park Lane, Springfield, Illinois. He is working with a construction company in the position of field office manager. PETER FRANK is doing graduate study at Catholic University in the English department. JOHN GRIFFIN completed his tour with the Navy and entered St. John's Seminary in Brighton, Mass. BRYON JENNINGS is working with the New York Telephone Company and also attending the New York University, working towards a Master's Degree in Business Administration. You may reach him at 110-30 63rd Road, Forest Hills, New York. CHARLIE KELLER is currently working for a Master's Degree in English at Brown University. At last report, TOM SCHWIEZ was with the Air Force flying B-47s. His mailing address was 14460 S.W., 291 Street, Leising City, Florida.

Ann and CHARLIE TOUHEY reside at 13 Costa Street, North Dartmouth, Massachusetts. I saw them both in Boston last fall and Charlie was most enthusiastic about his sales position with a chemical company. RAY TILLEY is working with the General Electric Company in Oxnard, California.

Lt. TOM SHORT called while I was in the process of writing this article. He was on a week-end cross country flight getting in some flying time for the Air Force. After finishing Law School at Notre Dame, Tom went through the AF flight program. Since then he has been doing contract negotiations for them with the IBM Company. He was recently in Washington to act as Godfather for BILL VOOR's first-born, a boy. BILL is doing legal work with the Air Force in the Washington area. PUD RICE is also in Washington, attending Law School at Georgetown University. Tom can be reached at the following address: Asst. Officer in Charge, USAF IBM Plant Office, Kingston, New York.

I received the following nice letter from BILL GARTELL. "Since graduation in '54 I was married shortly afterward and worked for Sikorsky Aircraft Co., Bridgeport, Conn. for three months and was then called into the Air Force. I was stationed at the beautiful oasis, Webb A.F. Base, Big Spring, Texas where our first boy was born and deceased shortly afterward, and Cheryl Ann was born (now 18 mos.). After much debate and two years of Air Force life I started to work for my Dad selling DeSotos and Plymouths. I have been selling cars for a year and a half now, and really enjoy it. We bought a home on Long Island. Our address is 27 Loretta Drive, Syosset, New York. What really prompted me to write was the arrival of our twin boys on November 23, 1957, Stephen Michael and Daniel James, and it was quite a surprise to us, too. I have been keeping posted with 'MIKE' LYONS. He is working for Lockheed Aircraft in Hollywood, California. Peggy and AL WALTER live in Jamaica, New York. He works for Metropolitan Life and seems to be doing fine. They have a daughter, Maureen, 1 year. ED FITZPATRICK and Betty live in Mineola, New York and he works for the Texas Co. They have a daughter Kathy, 1 year, and a boy, Eddie, Jr., 2 months."

I received the following note from Mrs. DICK MORAN which I am going to quote in its entirety. I think it is a fine example of how the better half of those married to '54s can keep me posted for the benefit of others.

"Allow me to introduce myself. I'm Mary Miles Moran, daughter of J. Frank Miles, N.D. '21, sister of Jack Miles, N.D. '47 and, since June of 1956, wife of DICK MORAN, N.D. '54. Now the plot thickens! The purpose of this note (which will probably turn out to be half a dozen pages long) is to catch you up on the whereabouts of Dick since you are the Alumni secretary of his graduating class. Dick received his M.A. from Notre Dame in '56. Then he entered OCS in the Marine Corps and was commissioned 2nd Lt. in December, 1956. Following 8 months of Basic School at Quantico, Virginia, we were stationed at Camp Lejeune, N. Carolina. On October 22, 1957 our twosome became a threesome with the addition of our lovely daughter, Margaret Mary. In January of this year Dick left on a five month cruise to Europe and writes that he is truly enjoying this opportunity to travel and visit several European countries. And now to ask a favor. Do you have current addresses for PAT CARRICO and HUGH BRAUN? If so, we sure would appreciate receiving them."

I'm sorry I can't fill your request for the addresses, Mary, but I am sure if my readership is what it should be, these gentlemen will contact you. The Morans may be reached at 1405 E. McKinley, South Bend, Indiana.

JOE JOYCE has recently completed his six-month period of defending our shores and has rejoined the law firm of Holliday, Miller, Myers and Stewart in Des Moines, Iowa. We had the pleasure of a visit with him and his charming wife, Donna, here in Dayton last fall. At that time PAT KIRSCH stopped by to see us; too, so we all had a fine reunion. Joe and Donna are living at 1800 Watrous No. 29B, Des Moines, Iowa. Joe reports seeing JIM BOESEN quite frequently. Jim is actively engaged with his father as a florist in Des Moines.

CHARLES G. WAGNER, President, Wagner Commission Lumber Sales, Eugene, Oregon sends the following:

"Paper boys make good once in a while, even the former Alumni paper peddler. My eight-digit serial number prefixed by a 'US' drew a dandy assignment in Frankfurt, Germany with a joint service unit handling air transportation for troops and dependents. Worked with the civilian air lines, and during one long TDY met a Catholic Bostonian who was at the time a flight nurse with one of the non-scheduled airlines under contract with the Dept. of Army. We were married last May, ably assisted by TOM (Roomer) MURPHY and DICK McNAMARA. CHAS. TOUHEY got to the wedding, too, and we had a chance to meet Ann Porter, who now has added the name Touhey, we hear. Presently, my wife and I are living here in Eugene, Oregon. After working in a lumber mill all summer, I started my own business here in September. Naptown is still where we intend to live, and will return there in the spring after I have made all my needed contacts out here.

"Back in '34 you thought you'd be an old man by the time of our 1st 5-year reunion. Now that it's just a year away, how do you feel? Couldn't possibly be fatter than you were, but I'll bet you're balder." (Secretary's note: He's right!) Come spring, Charlie and the new Mrs. can be reached at 6815 N. Pennsylvania Street, Indianapolis, Indiana.

On the official stationery of the Secretary of the Notre Dame Club of Decatur, Illinois I received the following message from MILT BEAUDINE. "I've done it. On Christmas Eve I became engaged to Marie Ladie. I met her in September. She is a nurse and graduated from St. Joseph's in South Bend. I didn't know her there. She's not from St. Mary's but its as close as I could get. We expect to be married here in Decatur on June 14, 1958. Can you-all possibly make it? Drinks to follow! (And I owe you a few.)"

From 1924, E. Rees Street, Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, BILL GUILFOILE furnishes the following:

"I'm working here in Fond du Lac for the A. C. Nielson Co. (marketing research and analysis). They started a branch here about two years ago and I was quite fortunate to find an opening.

"Now for the alumni news. The status of JOE IMBRIACO and DAVE GILSDORF is still unchanged. Joe is with a law firm in New York and Dave is with Westinghouse in Pittsburgh. JOE BILSINGER is working in Milwaukee for the telephone company. He's married to a girl from Milwaukee and they have one child. DICK DENIGER is in the seed business with his father in Beaver Dam, Wisconsin. Dick has 2 children. JIM FERRON and family are still residing in Appleton. BOB CRESPI is in the insurance business in New Castle, Pa. KEN BOULAY and his wife, Phyllis, were over last night. They have a lovely daughter, Michele, 2½ years old. Ken is in the feed and grain business here in Fond du Lac with his father. He had the following news:

"DICK ANTON is attending Law School in Pittsburgh and will graduate in June, 1959. WALT BABCOCK was married February 15 to a girl from New York and is working for the Avon Corporation there. ED WHITE attended the Notre Dame Law School and is working in Wall Street. JIM BOULEY is working for Motorola in Chicago and doing grad work at Northwestern. JACK BRISETTE is in New York in the training program of Merrill Lynch. JIM SCHRADER is living in Washington, D.C. BILL KEARY is working in Baltimore for the Maryland Blue Cross and Blue Shield. He's planning on law school in September. ED GESCHWIN is still in the Naval Air Force (South Sea Islands, I believe). BOB FRIES was recently discharged from the Army after a siege in Germany."

JOSEPH S. SIGNAIGO, '48

This year Joe Signaigo was appointed to the newly-created position of Southern area sales manager by Milwaukee's Miller Brewing Company, responsible for twelve Southern states and the District of Columbia. Since July, 1955, he has managed sales for Miller in Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee, with headquarters in the Dermon Building, Memphis.

Former general sales manager of the Tennessee Brewing Co., Memphis, Joe is even better known in football, having earned All-America honors as a captain and guard at Notre Dame. He later played with the New York Yankees in the All-American Conference and with the New York Giants in the National Football League, winning All-Pro honors in 1950.

For the last few years, Joe has been active in the Prep All-American football classic, played every summer in Memphis. In 1957, he presented to Ronnie Hartline of Oklahoma, on behalf of the brewery, the Frank Leahy trophy, which was established in 1952 by the late Fred Miller and is awarded to the outstanding player of the annual gridiron spectacle.

Besides the aforementioned states, Joe will be responsible for Miller sales in Florida, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

He presently lives with his wife and three children at 945 Colonial Road, Memphis, but is expected to make his headquarters in Milwaukee after a replacement has been named.

Well, gentlemen, that's the picture for this issue. Please excuse the brevity, those of you that supplied something; those of you that didn't, please assume the blame. Before I close, may I ask your aid in a very important project. One of our classmates is having a very difficult time of it financially. You would never know this to see him or spend any time with him, but it is disclosed by the fact that the lad can't supply himself with ink, stationery, or postage stamps. A formal campaign to help this individual has been started and I ask you for your generosity. Contributions toward these supplies may be made directly to him. Address your contributions to: JAKE NOONAN, 3915 Orchard Street, Sioux City, Iowa. As Jake's former roommate, I will sincerely appreciate anything you can do in this effort.

From the Alumni Office:

FATHER JOSEPH D. BARRY, C.S.C., will offer a Mass on May 31 for departed members of the Class of 1954 requested in behalf of the class, by a member who wishes to remain anonymous. He suggests that all members join in the intention and remember their deceased classmates in a special way on that day.

DAVID B. FOY has been appointed a field engineer by the Norton Company, Worcester, Mass.

EUGENE W. HENRY has been awarded a renewal of his fellowship from the National Academy of Sciences—National Research Council to continue his electronic computer research at Stanford.

JOHNNY LATTNER is all signed up to coach football at the new St. Joseph High School in Kenosha, Wis.

THOMAS F. MOORE is in his third year at Wayne State University Medical School.

JOHN S. DEFATO is working towards his M.S. on a fellowship at the University of Arizona.

CHARLES J. CAZEAU is in Lubbock, Tex., mapping for Humble Oil Co., plans to go for a doctorate at an eastern school.

First Lieutenant JAMES E. MURRAY has been assigned to the legal staff of the Judge Advocate General Section, Headquarters, Second U. S. Army.

KENNETH A. SCHWARZ is still flying photo missions for the Air Force, has a year-old son.

REV. THOMAS J. SCHWINN of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, finished his studies at Mt. St. Bernard Seminary and was ordained in Dubuque, Iowa, February 1. His brother DR. CHARLES "PETE" SCHWINN is now a pathologist at Anderson Hospital, Houston, Texas.

TIMOTHY C. SOTTEK is in grad school at South Dakota School of Mines.

Congratulations to DON ROSS, who is now an assistant to J. ARTHUR HALEY in Notre Dame's public relations office, and to JIM KELLEHER, who was chairman of the South Bend Press Club's "Hoaxes of 1938."

It's that time again, so lean back, light up, and prepare to be briefed on the class of '55, past, present, and future. At the start, a personal "thank you" to all of those who contributed the class news that makes this column possible. I know that sometimes it's rather difficult to take the time to write a letter, and considering this, I appreciate your efforts even more. I know that there are still those who read the column every time that it appears but who have never taken the time to contribute anything. It's never too late, men, to fill me in on yourselves and any other grads that you might have bumped into during the last two years.

I would like to begin by speaking for the class in offering our deepest sympathy to Dr. and Mrs. Edward J. McCormick on the death of their son MICHAEL J. MCCORMICK, December 22, 1957. They can be sure that he will be remembered in our prayers.

This Christmas was rather an interesting one since you people came up with some of the most original greeting cards that I had ever seen. Greetings came inscribed on elephant skin from HUGH SCHAEFER, who is still holding forth in Tulsa. Now I'm convinced, Hugh, those new pens will write on anything. Buried in a large potato I discovered a note from LARRY HARRISON and his wife Nancy. They now live in Idaho Falls, Idaho, and Larry is working for Phillips Petroleum. He mentions hearing from PHIL POWELL, who is due home from Germany and the Army before too long.

It's always good to hear from FRANK BURKE and his wife Ann and they manage to have something new to report every time. So you ask what's new? Well, I'm not much good at guessing names, but I can say that a "he," or "she" Burke was expected to arrive sometime near St. Patrick's Day. Congratulations to the Wisconsin's ex-D.O. and spouse. MIKE COSTELLO sent Christmas greetings from the land of milk, honey, and rented cars—Las Vegas. Mike was in service the last time I heard and I imagine that it will be a little while yet before he's released. Don't worry, Mike, those last two years just fly by.

Ah, that gumbo at Mary's place was just like I remembered it. However, they could have used a little more heat in the place.

PAT McGAHAN sent a card from Chula Vista, Calif., where he's stationed with the Navy. If I know Pat he's already made his reservations to fly home to the 500 mile classic on Memorial Day. It's a great day at the brickyard. Received a holiday "hello" from CARL PETERS and his wife Maureen. They're now living in LaJolla, Calif. RON RENE checked in with a card from Bristol, R.I. but as always, he forgot to send money. Hate to mention it, Ron, but a fiver at Easter sure would buy a lot of egg dye. They celebrated Christmas at Georgetown Medical School and just to prove it, I received a card from TED LAUGHLIN who hadn't been heard from since he was swallowed into the crowd at the Penn game in 1955. I had given up all hope of him ever being found alive. Welcome back, Ted, and while I'm at it, congratulations on your marriage to Margie on the 8th of April. She's a lucky girl, but have you told her that you can't cook? Ted says that all is well with JOE SWIFT, KEVIN O'DONNELL, ED TOOMEY, TONY MICALE, and STEVE CONWAY.

JIM CAHILL let me know that he was celebrating Christmas in fine style and I'm sure that he's enjoying civilian life as much as the rest of us. As was reported in my last column, DAVE METZ finally listened long and hard to the "Teeneey One" and decided that it wasn't good for man to live alone. So Dave took a roommate. Sandra Metz by name, and pitched a tent at 2510 Central Avenue, Alameda, Calif. They sent Christmas greetings to let me know that all is well. Dave is still in the Navy and has about a year left to do. You could do it standing on your head partner, it's that easy.

Now I've heard everything! ROY BELKNAP wins the award for the worst and most exacting military duty known to man. The U.S.S. Daniel A. Joy is berthed at Randolph St. at the lake in Chicago. Roy is her supply officer. In between convoy missions, Roy, his wife Maureen, and their baby daughter are living in Glenview at 2198 O'Hare Drive. Anyone in the area be sure to drop in for a few sea stories. BILL STOUTENBURGH writes that he's out of service and working in New York City. Write and fill me in on the particulars, Bill.

PAUL FULLMER does his usual good job of keeping in touch and he writes that he completed his six month active duty with the Army on September 27. He's now working for Lawrence H. Selz Organization Inc., public relations consultant, in Chicago. LEE CREAN and his wife Mary send greetings from Menasha, Wis., but I don't have any idea what they're doing there. The last time that Lee wrote, he was on the West Coast with the Army. What's the latest, folks?

BOB HOFFMASTER was passing through Kansas City the other day and tried to reach me at the house. Unfortunately I was on the road all week. Bob, or at least we could have done some overdue visiting. I might mention here that I'd like to hear from any of you that happen to be in and around Kansas City. The number's in the phone book so don't go through without at least saying "hello." BILL WALSH and the former Miss Joan Kennedy were married on the 28th of December in Winnetka, Ill. Congratulations and best wishes to them both. It was a pleasant surprise to hear from FRANK SCHILLO and to receive some much needed class news. Frank was drafted into the Army in August of '55 and spent quite a bit of the time in Germany. He was returned to the States for a short time and then discharged last August. He now works for Ross Laboratories who manufacture and distribute Similac infant formula. Okay, fathers of '55, let's show a little class loyalty and feed those babies Similac. Even if they don't like it, it's for the cause. According to Frank, it tastes good like a formula should. End of commercial and beginning of congratulations and best wishes to Mr. Schillo and Miss Marion Travers of Milwaukee who will be married on the 3rd of May. As a final note, Frank asks that I mention that his address is 65 East Helena St., Dayton 5, Ohio. SKIP REINER is stationed in Japan with the Army and is having such a good time that he wonders what the big fight was all about. When last seen, JOHN ACQUILLA was playing the old Army game at Fort Meade, Maryland. TOM O'DONNELL is working in Dayton for E. F. MacDonnell and Co. and in his spare time is a referee for local football and basketball games. CHUCK KLEE flashed his Navy experience and landed a job as assistant purser with the Grace Lines. He's now on his way to South America but probably misses the Navy more every day. After all, when one gets used to chipped beef for breakfast, it's hard to go back to bacon and eggs again. BOB HUBER, from Milwaukee, is married and has a son, Mark. Don't mind the pun, Bob, but mark my words. I'd like to hear from you. DICK BLACK is spending some time in the Army and is stationed in El Paso, Texas. Dick's married and has a son, Jimmy.

BERNIE TRACEY certainly did his part this time to bring me up to date on the activities of the sea-going graduates. Bernie is aboard the U.S.S. Fechteler (DDR-870), FPO, San Francisco, Calif., and has been touring the Far East. During his travels he encountered many a familiar face and the news that follows will be from his letter. JOE KEARNEY is chief engineer aboard the U.S.S. Passumic and was last seen operating in Subic Bay. Operating aboard ship, that is. Another boy-sen seen in the Nippon area was BOB NEVERIL who is aboard the U.S.S. Jupiter, a station ship at Yokosuka, Japan. For the information of those not in the know, a station ship is practically welded to the dock. Sounds nice. The welcoming committee for the incoming ships at San Francisco is none other than CHUCK MINGES. Chuck was given the job to aid his recovery from the nine days spent at sea before his ship was deactivated. Feeling better, Chuck? JOE SMITH said his sobbing goodbyes to the Navy and made his way out into the cold and cruel. He's now working for Detroit Edison but rumor has it that he misses the Navy and might return sometime in June of 1978. BILL KREBS and FRANK CONKLIN have also become civilians since the last time that I reported and I wonder if they experienced the same feeling that I did when I was released. You get this feeling after being away from the service for about three months. It's hard to describe if you haven't been through it. It's like . . . well . . . actually it's hunger pangs! PAT CANNON was also in the Long Beach area awaiting discharge and planned to return to Cleveland as soon as it was final. Holding an impromptu alumni meeting in the vicinity of Pearl Harbor seems to have been the order of the day as HAL WILLENBORG, CARL BRATTON, and TOM WELLY were all discovered in church, and even on a Sunday. This may be old news by now, but the last message we received indicated that

JOHN BENDEL was serving aboard the U.S.S. Purdy as CIC Officer. CHUCK COLLINS is also aboard a destroyer and recently made the rounds of Subic Bay. Jumping back to the civilians for a moment, FRED DANNER is still working for Sperry gyroscope in Great Neck, L.I.

One of the unsung heroes of this peace-time Army managed to tear himself away from the blackeyed peas and lushpuppies long enough to fill me in on his southern hijinks. As previously reported, the Army finally got BILL MULLER about eighteen months ago and sent him to Fort Jackson, S. C. for his basic. Needing someone in the combat areas, they then sent him to a civilian component assignment in Nashville, Tenn. Sounds pretty nice. Bill, but doesn't it get on your nerves? Bill says that he was able to get home for the holidays and attended FRANK CUNNINGHAM'S New Years party. WALT KAVANAUGH also was able to make the party and I understand that his bird dog kennels are prospering. Congratulations, Walt. JACK HOBLITZELL and his wife, Sally, expect their first corvette sometime in the spring. Congratulations to them both.

JACK FLYNN is now passing the time in the Marine Corps and is stationed in North Carolina. He's married and has a baby girl, Sheila Marie. Our condolences to you and your family, Jack, on the death of your father last November. You may be assured that he has our prayers.

It was a real pleasure to hear from ED KELLY since I had lost track of him when he was released from the Navy in June. He had been stationed at Grosse Ile, Mich., and met and married a girl from the area. All of the details were given in one of the past columns. Upon his release from the service, he became a sales trainee for the Mineral Products Division of the Food Machinery and Chemical Corporation. He and his wife are now living in Brighton, Mass. and Ed is working the Boston area for his company. Alas, alack! The best news last! Ed and his wife are the proud, and what else could they be, parents of a baby daughter born Feb. 15th. By name, Kimberly Ann, and I hope that she looks like her mother. Congratulations. Score and spouse, and I'll bet that being a father beats eating ham heroes at Jo's Pleasant Manor any day, Ed. BOB STUKAS lives in the next town from the Kellys and has been over to see them several times. Bob mentioned that GEORGE MEYERS has been under the weather. We all wish you a speedy recovery, George. Pop Kelly requests information on JOHN WEITHERS, JACK SOR-ANNO, ED DEMPSEY, and PHIL SHERIDAN.

If it were possible to award citations for correspondence above and beyond the call of duty, LARRY BREHL would be one of the many to receive such an honor. He's certainly done his part towards helping me to write this column and it's greatly appreciated. Larry was released from the Navy on the 8th of August and is now working for Westinghouse in the Employee Communications Department. He and his wife, Dot, are looking for a home in Pittsburgh but haven't decided on one as yet. Larry reports seeing FRANK FLORIAN who is also working for Westinghouse in Pittsburgh. BOB MOORE and his wife, Abigail, have one youngster now and another is expected soon. Forget the Pirates, Larry, and remember that just as you can be sure if it's Westinghouse, so also you can be sure if it's the Kansas City Athletics.

I don't know who to thank for including my name on the mailing list, but I do appreciate the mail order information from Polly Pacific, Honolulu, T. H. I was astonished at the wonderful items that could be sent for at very reasonable prices. Let me give you an example. The first items that caught my eye were a natural raffia hula skirt, Hawaiian print bras, colored paper lei, ukulele, and instruction sheet. The only thing I couldn't figure out was what article you needed the instructions for. Another interesting item: the gleaming wooden bowls of Monkey Pod wood, in popular pineapple shape. The description said that either hot or cold monkey could be served in these bowls. I didn't mean to digress, men, but I did think that this subject was worthy of note.

FRED ECKART sent greetings wafting in on the balmy breezes from Pearl Harbor. It seems that his days on the U.S.S. Bennington are gone for good and he's now in communications work for CinC Pac Flt. CinC Pac Flt. . . . what a wonderful language that Hawaiian. It just flows. Fred hopes to make LTJG in April and BVD, NRA, and WPA in early June. It seems that ART SULLIVAN has been spending some time in Japan, namely the Erimo-zaki Air Station on the island of Hokkaido. I thought that Erimo-zaki was something to drink. Art is the commander of an Aircraft Control and Warning Base and enjoys his work so much that he mentions that he's to be released from service in the very near future. It's with heavy heart that he'll leave all of his friends on Hokkaido. JERRY HILLSMAN and his wife were on Okinawa but he's been released from service and I'm sure that they didn't waste any time getting home. DICK GLENNON has also been spending some time in Japan with the Air Force but no details are known on his present duty station. CHRIS TAISEN was also in Japan but has since returned to the states for separation. BUCKY JANSSEN is working in the Marketing Dept. for Hams Brewery in Milwaukee.

I saved one letter until last to point up that you're never too busy or too far away to forward class news. I received a very interesting and enjoyable letter from PAUL HAHNAR, P.O. Champ-hai, MIZO DIST., Assam-INDIA. Paul mentions his days in Alumni Hall and how much he misses the things that this country meant to him. Naturally he was happy to return home after graduation since it had been three years since he had seen his family. He has four children: Peter, 8, Augustine, 5½, Julia, 2, and Patrick 1 month. In closing his letter, Paul requests the addresses of WALLY GUGLIEMO, TOM ARMSTRONG, BOB MOORE, and BILL CLUSSERATH. Why not drop him a line, men, I'm sure that he'd like to hear from you.

Before closing, I would like to comment on something that I consider very important and worth while. We all know the wonderful work that the Holy Cross Fathers are doing in their foreign missions and we should all be aware of their need for funds to finance this work. There is now a way to help this cause and at the same time provide perpetual remembrance for deceased family and friends. The deceased person of your choice will receive Purgatorial Membership in the Holy Cross Foreign Mission Society. The family of the deceased will receive a beautiful framed certificate of membership. Donor's name is included. Once enrolled, the deceased person will have a daily remembrance in over 800 masses. Every Sunday he will share in a High Mass offered at Foreign Mission Seminary in Washington. Finally, the deceased person will be remembered yearly in four annual novenas. Offering is $3 for each person enrolled.

All membership offerings help Holy Cross missioners overseas and provide the training and equipment for future missionaries educated at the Foreign Mission Seminary in Washington. Mail offering with necessary names and mailing instructions to: Holy Cross Purgatorial Society, Holy Cross Missions, Washington 17, D. C. If any further information is needed, you may write to this same address.

From the Alumni Office:

A recent picture in the Fort Wayne News Sentinel showed JOE CASASANTA reading to his six mopeys, Susie, Kathy, Pattie, Danny, Johnny and Chris while wife Naomi volunteered for the Mother's March on Polio. Having trained in New York, Joe is now settling back in South Bend as assistant manager of the local Metropolitan Life office.

JOSEPH D. CROWLEY is now a master of arts from Ohio State.

The 1958 Centenary of OUR LADY OF LOURDES

GROTTO: Throughout the Lourdes Centenary Year every visit to the Grotto merits these indulgences accorded by the Holy See:

1. A Plenary Indulgence is granted for each visit made by a group (5 or 6) of the faithful who have duly confessed their sins and received Communion, and who pray for the intention of the Holy Father (PATER, AVE, GLORIA). A single family could be considered a group.

2. A Partial Indulgence of seven years is granted to any individual who visits the Grotto with suitable dispositions of mind and heart (PATER, AVE, GLORIA).

CONFRATERNITY: Other Indulgences can be gained throughout your lifetime by membership in the Confraternity of the Immaculate Conception of Our Lady of Lourdes at Notre Dame. Benefits include Lourdes water, intentions in Mass every Saturday on the campus, and a Plenary Indulgence under the ordinary conditions (Confession, Communion, etc.) on the day of admission, at the hour of death, and each year on several feasts of the Blessed Virgin plus, by recent Vatican decision, the Feast of St. Bernadette, Feb. 18.

To obtain LOURDES WATER from the Shrine in France, write to:

LOURDES
Notre Dame 5, Indiana

REV. BRIAN EGAN, O.S.B., has been appointed president of St. Bernard College, Ala.

MICHAEL J. ELLIS has another year to go at the South Dakota School of Mines.

PATRICK C. HALEY is on a core boat for Humble Oil, Los Angeles, Calif.

JOHN B. O'SULLIVAN plans to leave Iowa State U. in June for geological field work in Point Barrow, Alaska.

THOMAS L. PRENDERGAST, JR., received an M.S. in December from the University of Minnesota.

ARTHUR E. JOHNSON is studying at the American Institute for Foreign Trade, Phoenix, Ariz.

RALPH E. WEBER has been named registrar and director of admissions at Marquette University.

ROBERT E. WHIPPO, working for his M.S. at South Dakota School of Mines, is instructing in the optical mineralogy lab.

That should take care of the column for this time. Thanks for your help and remember, if you haven't written yet, it's never too late. If you have written in the past, don't ruin your record. Let's hear from you again. Don't keep the faith, spread it! I'll see you on Old Shell Road.

1956 John P. Deasy
5697 North Lincoln Avenue
Chicago 45, Illinois

Had the opportunity to attend the biennial Class Secretaries' Conference last January 17-18, which was held in the "Morris Inn." It was a pleasure meeting all the "scribes" and discussing the various problems of the column. Since the purpose of this column is to pass news to the Class of '56, and today is the deadline, here goes:

From Oceanside, Calif., Barbara and JOHN BRODERICK have announced the arrival of Patrick Joseph on Jan. 14, 1958. The 7 lb. 2 oz. chip is rumored to be already smoking cigars. Congratulations to Barb and Skinny.

JIM SHUMAKER presently living in the Extern Quarters of the Indianapolis General Hospital while studying medicine at Indiana U. asks that anyone passing through "Nap" town, be sure to look him up.

News from JERRY HIGGINS and bride, Margaret, just missed the last issue, but reported they took time out to see the "Irish" check Oklahoma while being stationed at (Hq. Btry. 597th AFA Bn., Fort Sill, Okla.). Their next door neighbors in Lawton are Gerry and JIM WALLACE from Detroit. Gerry heard from JIM GWINNER and JOHN KELLY under orders with the Air Force stationed at Malden Air Base in Missouri. DICK CARROLL and wife are living in Suffield, Conn. while Richard works for Kaman Aircraft. PAUL LA POINTE is working for Hamilton Standard—next town from Dick. TIM DRISCOLL and his new wife, Norma Lee, visited the two while on their honeymoon. The Wallace's heard word of JIM ZAJESKI's marriage while stationed in Puerto Rico, to a former SMC Senorita and that BOB KESTELOOT was somewhere at sea with the Navy between Calif. and Japan.

Typewritten words no less, arrived from Senator BOB O'MALLEY, Box 185, 710 N. Lake Shore Drive, Chicago . . . who along with JACK CASEY is studying law at Northwestern. Bob informs the column that GEORGE BLAKE and BOB RUHL are playing military games at Fort Chaffee, Ark. PHIL BRADTKE has been making periodic visits to their Abbott Hall residence during his free time with Belli & Belli, the Chicago architectural firm. JACK FIEHRER in the Army somewhere in Germany. . . . PHIL BOHNERT and DICK LEWIS are also living in Abbott Hall while in Northwestern U's Med. school. . . . Thanks for the letter, Bob.

LT. BOB WELSH (Btry. C, 46th AAA Bn. Ft. Lewis, Wash.), thanks for the card. Bob, your world traveling Alumni Hall partner is now in the hands of . . . The Jesuits at Loyola U. studying latin in preparation for the Maryknoll Foreign Missions. . . . Yes, LT. MICHAEL CLUNE MOONEY is no longer running from Russian tanks in Hungary, but sincerely devoting his time in preparation for the Priesthood. Mike entered last Sept. after serving his six months at Ft. Sam Houston . . . had a 7-UP with him last week near his (6531 Sheridan Rd. c/o Loyola Hall) address. . . . P. Ewitt in Dallas, N. B. . . .

A big hello came from WILLIE KEARNEY (250th General Hospital, Brooke Army Medical Center, Ft. Sam Houston, Texas). Bill's only complaint of the Army was that there was nothing to do at his "Country Club" while in charge of the classification and assignment section of the personnel office of the 250th. . . . Bill, during his C. C. travels, has seen MIKE REGAN stationed at Ellington Air Force base. MOOSE PATES is stationed at Ft. Hood, Texas and was seen in Chicago by the column not too long ago. TOMMY RUSSELL is stationed at some Air Force Base deep in the heart of Texas. CHARLIE USHER was shipped to Germany after spending his second eight in the panhandle.

BOB DOWD (7028 Osborn Ave., Hammond, Ind.) has recently been appointed Traffic Manager in the Traffic Division of the Purchasing Dept. at the No. Indiana Public Service Co. in Hammond; recently wrote that MIKE MURPHY was attending Cornell U. Hotel Mgt. school and is now stationed in Germany.

Many thanks to BRIAN WALSH for his letter while he was home for the holidays, on leave as an instructor for the signal corp. Engineering Laboratories at Ft. Monmouth, N. J. Brian announced his M-day to Rita Schneberger, which took place in the Log Chapel last December. Fr. Schlitzer, C.S.C., witnessed. . . .

Happy to have read of the progress of many of his former students, MAJOR J. S. CHIMENTO of 1619 Dove Drive, Orlando, Florida, wrote of his present assignment as officer-in-charge of the B-47 Flight Simulator group in SAC since Oct. '56. As part of the Grad school class of '56 and Prof. of the AF ROTC detachment from 1952-1956, the Major expressed his wish to have his address and phone number (Garden 3-7307) passed along in the hope that his buddies would call on him and his family.

The postman brings word that Ens. DON WALZ and his wife, Evelyn, are now living in San Diego, where Don is Supply Officer aboard the Destroyer U.S.S. Laws.

To JOHN RAUB (Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, Norwood 12, Ohio) the Class of '56 extends best wishes for continued success as you prepare for the greatest call of all.

From JOHN MANION:

"The Manions (John and Mary Ann) will be expecting on or about October 23 in their Milwaukee, Wisconsin home. Same word comes from the NICK RAICH family with the number two offspring on the way. GENE GORDON has finished his six months military training and is back in the Rock River Valley (Sterling) working with the Willett Engineering Company. BILL STOTZER is about ready to get out of the Navy after two years with his commission; but it seems that he's been playing so much great basketball and enjoying his life on the U.S.S. Forestal that he may not want to give up his present life. LARRY WAHL was still at Treasure Island, Calif., waiting for his 24 month hitch to end. HAP MEYER recently sent in his dues for the alumni club in Milwaukee, so it's figured he's still in the brewery capital. Letters from DON LOGAR inform that he's riding carriers from Hawaii to Japan once a month and flying back to the Islands to await the next carrier. Don ran into three G.I.'s in Hawaii who called themselves ART NAKAMARU, ERNIE MURATA, and HARRY HIGA, who are fulfilling their Army obligations. PAUL NOLAND gave with the news that he's giving us his bachelorhood in June to marry a gal from Oak Park; they are planning to live in Hawaii after the marriage while Paul finishes his hitch. JIM FITZGERALD is still under the care of John Manion's grandmother in Freeport, Ill. while he works for Micro-Switch; Jim rooms with Mrs. Manion during the week and commutes to Chicago for his week ends."

You will probably hear from The Reverend THOMAS M. FITZPATRICK, C.S.C., Director of the Holy Cross Foreign Mission Society, who suggests a certificate of enrollment in the Holy Cross Foreign Purgatorial Society as an excellent memorial for the families of deceased classmates, friends and relatives. At the same time you will be giving the very much needed help to the foreign mission work of Holy Cross. If you want to write Father Fitzpatrick directly, you can address him at the Holy Cross Missions, Washington 17, D. C. Your consideration of his appeal will be greatly appreciated.

Many thanks to Mrs. L. E. Killian, 214 W. Division, Bloomington, Ill., for the note about her son DON KILLIAN aboard the U.S.S. Rowan. Don expects to return to the States sometime this April. Thanks, Mrs. Killian.

The Class of 1956 is asked to remember in their prayers the father of ANDY and TEDDY LUM. Mr. Andrew T. Lum of 4264 Sierra Drive, Honolulu 16, Hawaii passed away last December 19

Letter from ROBERT MILLER, (ENS, CEC, USN, MCB No. 6 c/o FPO, N. Y., N. Y.) reports that 2nd LT. KEN WINKLER is living at Ft. Leonard Wood, Missouri and while in the Corps of Engineers broke his leg playing football for the post, but is O.K. now. . . . 2nd LT. DICK MERKEL, USMC, is now sweating out a fourteen month tour on Okinawa. ENS, JOE SCHIFFGENS, CEC, USN, is holding down a civil engineer corps billet as assistant resident officer in charge of construction at Naval Air Station, Sanford, Fla. . . . ENS. JOHN JUERLING is doing the same thing in Panama City, Fla. . . . JIM MASON is working and living in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, where Mrs. Mason is expecting their second. As for Bob, who is stationed with the "Seabees," and has just completed a six months tour in Cuba and living in Puerto Rico, is now engaged to Margie Hoefler, a Senior at St. Mary's.

Lt. (j.g.) DON FAUSH, USN, 1001 Ridgecrest Drive, Clarksville, Tenn., has just served 18 months on the attack aircraft carrier, U.S.S. Essex, and has visited such far off lands as Japan, Hong Kong, Philippines, South America, England and Scotland. Don and his wife, Judy, are now parents of a daughter, Terry Lynn, born last November 25, 1957. Don has recently heard from JIM HIGGINS, JIM BRUNGARDT and JIM KRAEMER, who are all finishing up their term with Uncle Sam. Let's keep hearing from you, Don.

Through the grapevine comes the following: President WILLIAM WARREN is now a daddy. . . . JIM QUETCH, studying law at Chicago—Kent, is now expecting a second.

Before signing off, word came from the Alumni office that the duties of the Managing Editor, JOHN CACKLEY, have been terminated so as to assist Father Cavanaugh on the Foundation's multi-million dollar program. Our new editor is JOHN LAUGHLIN who brings you this issue.

From the Alumni Office:

JACK GUEGUEN got an M.A. at Notre Dame's Center for Soviet and East European Studies, is on the editorial staff of Soul Magazine, national publication of the Blue Army of Our Lady of Fatima, an international crusade for peace through prayer and penance as requested by the Blessed Virgin at Fatima in 1917. Jack strongly recommends the Blue Army to all members of the Notre Dame family. Address: Ave Maria Institute, Washington, N. J.

JOHN J. DROEGE still has three years of duty with SAC; ROBERT J. HURD is in Washington with the army, and JAMES E. MILAS has been in Camp Lejeune, N. C., may be bound for the West Coast.

BOB MORSCHES, Ensign, USNR, newly married and out of advanced intelligence school, has shipped off with his bride to Port Lyautey, French Morocco for the remainder of his tour of duty, about two years. Bob and his family spent the Army game week end last fall with Ensign and Mrs. JIM McPARTLIN.

PETER J. STURTEVANT has been elected research editor of the New York University Law Review.

BENJAMIN F. TAYLOR has been promoted to First Lieutenant at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

EDWARD F. VIZARD has an M.A. degree from the University of Minnesota.

Thanks for the many letters and cards that have been coming in since the previous issues of the ALUMNUS have hit the mail boxes back home, and have been forwarded to our illustrious "alums" all over the nation. It seems a few of the "troops" are traveling incognito and won't let us in on their devious destinations and dastardly misdeeds—but all told, the class of '57 has given light to the whereabouts of many of its members. Here are a few words on our erstwhile grads.

PAT SWEENEY sent yours truly a copy of the Aeronautical Engineering newsletter that is being published by the grads of said department. It makes quite a formidable piece of copy—three typewritten pages, all single spaced. Naturally, only the highlights will appear here.

Number one man of the Aero class, JOHN DAIBER (we're number one?) is now working at Cornell on an MS in Aero Eng. John brings word that he is accompanied by LEON RING, JERRY BRAINARD, and JOHN CASSIDY at Cornell—and that CHRIS COGAN was married at San Diego and is working there.

DICK KOLODZIEJ was in flight at Pensacola with the USN. It seems that the swabbies found he had a bad ear—so Dick has been reassigned to the U.S.S. St. Paul, CA-73. As of last word, TOM McMURTRY, PAUL O'CONNOR and TOM BETTERTON are all playing junior birdmen at Pensacola. BILL ALLEN, MATT WEY and JOHN REARDON declined the required year and a half extension of Navy flyers.

JOHN THOMAS, JIM FLUHR, and BOB KELLY were due to start flying at the end of '57 at San Antonio, but no word since then.

STEVE JENDRAS is married and working for McDonnell in St. Louis. BILL KUCERA, Steve's junior roommate is at Oak Ridge—and is married. Bill Meyers started work at McDonnell in late Sept.

RON WITT scored—how would you like to be operations officer on a mine sweeper?

BOB LONCHARICK, LEO BOLLAR, and DON RIGALI share a little grass shack on the sands of the New Mexico desert—Albuquerque—with all apologies to any of the residents of said town for the spelling). It seems this happy group is doing tests for Sandia on (and I quote) "Atomic Blah."

JOHN SULLIVAN is giving his multitudinous, shining talents to Princeton grad school in Aero work.

ROY DeBELLIS and Diane DeBellis plus one very cute daughter, by the looks of their Christmas card picture, are enjoying the sun in Southern Calif. Uncle Sam has use for Second Lts. in the Air Force.

PAT SWEENEY is giving the benefit of his sagacity and height to North American Aviation at last word. He was one of the few people in our class besides JOHN PALUMBO and JOHN THOMAS who was short enough so that I could look him in the eye. The Air Force should get him in the merry month of May—but when will Jack Tucker?—to his friends that is a good question.

As has been said in the last issue of the ALUMNUS AL REICKERT tied the golden knot—but at the Log Chapel no less. Al and Marilyn are at Greenville, Miss. with the USAF.

JIM KIWUS met his match and at last word they are living in Calif. where Jim is employed by Convair.

AL JOWID graduated from N.D. at half time—and it was a long grind.

DAVE NOON last heard from at the Patent office in Washington, D. C.

BILL THOMPSON is a technical writer for Sperry Gyroscope.

PAUL JOHNS and ED BURNS are at present plotting against Babcock and Wilcox. Sween says Tom Mariani is driving an ice cream truck—but he should have returned to school by now.

JIM KURTH sent a note and an invitation to all his old crew to visit him at Lauderdale. Jim and his wife of last June are enjoying the sunny south, where he is coaching football at Central Catholic High School. In the truest traditions of his Alma Mater's recent example, Jim had a good win-loss record.

While rummaging through old notes and papers, out of the debris came a newspaper article given to me by DICK SWIFT. It had been sent to him by his mother, and gave a little lowdown on the work being done by one TOM KRISTOFIT. Tom is working up a master plan for the expansion of the Davenport, Iowa metropolitan area. Tom's study is to be completed in June.

A few other items of interest on Davenport people—DICK SWIFT, Second Lt., USMC, is at the writing of this letter nodding his way toward Florida on leave. After that he will join BOB HAVERKAMP and yours truly at Camp Lejeune where the three of us will be Communications officers. Now what could be more logical than to make us Communications Officers—when we are all so familiar with radio and electronics. Bob has his BA in English—Dick his B.S. in Finance and me a general science major. C'est la vie. Yours is not to reason.

DENNY BRITT of Davenport is at N.D. Law—more on this later. JACK REISTROFFER is at IBM in Chi town—and BUZZ WURZER is still lending his talents to the Chicago Tribune, and more recently to Mrs. Wurzer.

In my possession still is some ancient news that may interest some and be amusing to others. Ensign BUD FRIEDHEIM had the Junior Officer of the Deck Watch on his ship at sea late last summer. While on duty there was a collision with another ship. Officer of the Deck of said other ship was an N.D. grad of three years ago. You can never tell where we'll meet those of the Notre Dame family—but to collide in the middle of the ocean—Pacific Ocean—is too much. N.D. scores again.

MIKE BOYLE should be returning at the writing of this from a Far East cruise aboard the U.S.S. Lewis. Mike's home port is San Francisco.

General Motors seems to have grabbed a few of the N.D. men of '57—JACK COOK, JIM WOLTERS and BOB BOGG all look as though they're heading the way of the Charles Wilsons.

JERRY TANION and BOB JASON decided to go to the Navy for a few years via the OC program. As did TERRY CROWLEY some months ago. He sent me a note on the back of his Thanksgiving dinner menu.

DICK STREIT was at International Harvester in Milwaukee from the latest word that had been received.

I've got to assume BURKE CUENY is with Security Sash and Screen in Detroit. His letter bears their heading and a lot of news. Thanks very much.

If any of the Class could have seen CHUCK GRACE in South Bend several months ago they would have dropped. Forty pounds off the old frame made him look like a new man. Chuck plus the future Mrs. Grace were really enjoying life after he had finished his six months with the Army. To be a civilian again!!

The occasion of my seeing Chuck was the trip I'd made to Notre Dame for the Class Secretaries Conference in January. The Law students were in the process of exams and they had a few get-togethers. JOHN SLEVIN and his wife Mary, Mr. and Mrs. BOB BERSHINSKI, JACK MOYNAHAN, DENNY BRITT and many others were celebrating after knocking off some of the Law exams.

JOE REICH sounds as though his Navy life is too much. His letter dropped names such as Cannes, Rome, Valencia, Naples, Athens, etc.—it can make us USMC ground-pounders wonder a bit.

Then there is the story of Cogan's crutch. JACK COGAN was on one of our rugged (?) night patrols at Quantico. And as he was snooping and popping through the bondocks he stepped on a dummy mine and sprained his ankle. But Jack is on Okinawa now, and his worries are over—he found a home in the Corps.

JIM WEBER is playing Steve Wilson for the Canton Repository.

CHUCK KOEHLER of Canton was married to Jane Moulin last August, and is working for Republic Steel while attending grad school at the Univ. of Akron at night. His ex-roommate, DICK SHAGER, is going to grad school at Ohio State and is now engaged, planning to be married this summer.

DON PARVIS is in the Air Force—but where? BRIAN P. McMAHON is working in New York in public relations—thinks the USAF will wait awhile. He's, and again we quote, "a Vice President of sorts."

Small world—PAT CONWAY on his honeymoon had, as the man across the hall in hotel, none other than JAMES KENNEY of Joliet, Ill. Mrs. Conway is teaching in Palo Alto, California, while Pat is at Stanford grad school in business. Pat recommends marriage to all bachelors—quote "it's tre-men-gious."

JIM KENNEY of Rochester, Minn. is in St. Louis Med. School.

BOB ST. CLAIR is working for Minn. Mining and Manufacturing selling outdoor advertising in Minn., Iowa, and the Dakotas.

DICK GALLE was married Nov. 23 to Del Cutler in Hackensack, New Jersey.

TOM O'BRYAN is so lazy that his sister Joan wrote me a note and gave me the news of his old crowd. JOHN McDONNELL is at Loyola Law—and this is news—studying up a storm. John missed being rep of the freshmen class to the Bar Association by one vote—his own. Tom is also at Loyola, but no storms have been heard yet.

DAVE MURPHY is working for his Dad in LaCrosse, Wis. DON BULLEIT is in Law School at Memphis.

FRANK HALL is back in Jamaica coaching track, and working for a travel agency. Frank plans to return for Med. school in this country in the not-too-distant future.

And don't ask how—but JIM O'SULLIVAN was stationed at Ft. Sheridan—must be the luck of the Irish. BOB CALABRESE was last heard from working in Chicago—he blew that big nose of his and was charged with disturbing the peace.

TOM JACOBS and wife Char are in Texas City, Texas. Tom is now a proud Papa of Kathleen Mary and is employed by Union Carbide. Also in Texas City are Pat and DON MCGRORY.

DON DOHERTY of Rockford was also the proud papa of a Kathleen Mary last fall. Don is employed by IBM and is living in Rockford with his wife. A note from Don's parents say the Irish lass is a bit of a doll.

LT. RALPH SCHULER of Ellensburg, Wash., is now stationed at Ft. Eustis, Va. Ralph is assigned to U. S. Army Transportation, Research and Engineering Command.

JACK SOUCY dropped a note these past few days and gave me the lowdown on St. Louis Med. Things are tough, but the crew consisting of Jack, BILL HUMMELL, MARSH CATANZARO, JIM KENNEDY, KEN RASHID, and ART SALADIN all made it through first semester exams.

MATT WEIS and GUS LEUPKE are enjoying St. Louis Law School.

BOB GRIFFIN is now stationed at Great Lakes, as is JACK CROWLEY. BILL GROGAN and his wife must be having a nice life in Jacksonville—these Navy people are living. Also the USN has MARK MALEY in the Mediterranean and he won't be home until July.

RICH KRIEGBAUSER has spent six months with the USAF and is now back home and engaged.

RAY LESCHER is in Law School at Ill. DICK EGAN, PAUL SCHIERL, JACK McCABE and TOM GUILFOILE all left the Army in December after six months.

Word has it that TOM O'BRIEN from Green Bay is in the seminary, but it is not known where. NICK GRASBERGER is in Milwaukee with Allis Chalmers. While CARROLL DOYLE is burning up Columbia Law School—knowing Carroll, one might take that literally.

JOE NEUHOFF is learning the meat packing business in Texas "from the bottom up." He is employed at Neuhoff Bros. in Dallas.

ROBERT KILEY is now a traveling vice president for NSA and is covering the nation giving great pep talks. This is a surprise for some who thought he was at Harvard Law. Bob seems very happy in the present post, and headquarters out of Philadelphia.

CARROLL DOYLE and Barbara Wood of Barat College in Chicago have just recently announced their engagement.

BOB PLEUS' father passed away recently, and the prayers of the class are requested for the repose of his soul.

While on Christmas leave, RAY DeSUTTER's father, R. A. DeSutter, senior, and I took a trip down to Gethsemani, Ky., to see Ray. We got there and met JIM QUINN and DON SCHRANDT both of Loyola Med. and N.D. '57. We had a little get together for several days but had no luck in visiting Ray. We were able to physically see him—who could miss that red head even with the clerical tonsure.

Ray has as a novice master Thomas Merton, which is certainly wonderful. His Dad showed me some of his letters and they are certainly as humorous as could be. If you'll bear with me a moment I'll relate an incident which he wrote in one of his letters. Ray (FR. MARY ROBERT) was requested to do the spiritual reading during the evening meal one day, as is the Trappist custom. As the signal to stop, the Abbott is to tap his glass and the reading ceases. Well, it seems Ray didn't hear the cue in the noise of clanging dishes in the dining room. He read . . . and read . . . Finally he heard a few snickers from his fellow monks and realized what happened. Ray got red in the face about this time and stepped off the platform, and as he stepped he kicked over a small dinner bell. The dinner bell bounced down several steps then rolled around in circles singing its merry song as only a hell could do.

If anyone wishes to write Ray—his address is: Father Mary Robert, Our Lady of Gethsemani, Trappist, Kentucky. He will not be able to answer—but would appreciate a note, I'm sure. Fellow alums—about time to close. Hope all is well with everyone. And drop a note!!

It is a well known fact (at least we like to think so) that N.D. men brag a great deal about N.D. but seldom about themselves. Consequently, any parents or wives whose sons or spouses are still hiding from the inquiring eye of the ALUMNUS—please give us any information you may have plus any quips or comments you may have about any N.D. '57s. Bye for now—Write. . .

From the Alumni Office:

GARLAND R. DEVER, JR., has his permanent duty station in Port Tynsett, French Morocco.

DONALD J. FLINN is in the South Dakota School of Mines working for an M.S. in geological engineering.

A pleasant Sunday afternoon spent with JIM BOOTH and Martha Jacob recently caught me up on a great deal of news. In the headlines was TOM BEELER'S release from active duty and a week spent vacationing in Cuba. He's currently looking around for a legal position somewhere in Indiana. DOC BLUME is still practicing in Fort Wayne. PHIL BROWN has opened his own office in St. Joseph, Michigan, after a somewhat fruitless search for other employment.

TOM MEGARGLE is engaged to be married to a girl from St. Mary-of-the-Woods College in Terre Haute. TOM CALDER has taken a job with a law firm in Cincinnati. LARRY KANE is practicing in his father's office and is very active in local civic affairs. Sounds as though he's making quite a name for himself. Larry's old marine pal, DAVE BARNES, took the big step and was married. Congratulations, Chip!

R. HOLLERAN MIHLBAUGH is living in South Bend and is the law clerk for Judge Grant of Indiana's northern Federal district. No doubt in this way Bob can keep a close tab on the Chief! BOB GORMAN is planning to take a job with a law firm in Washington, and his wife, Gen, is expecting a baby soon. Here's something which could only happen to an Irishman like MIKE HEGARTY. While his appeal of the results of his Michigan bar exam were pending, the Supreme Court of Michigan resolved the issue in the question he was contesting by using his reasoning rather than that of the bar examiner. On the strength of that, he is a member of the legal bar of Michigan. ZEKE ZANARDI will be leaving the service soon and is contemplating going back to school. Really, Zeke?

Yours truly has been separated from active duty and I plan to practice at home in Toledo. It was with a great deal of pleasure that I bid fond adieu to the rainy confines of Ft. Knox. Let me hear from you.

Alumni Association

Fellow Alumni:

Evansville, Indiana, May 10, 1958

Thinking big can be a mistake, if it seeks to avoid or to ignore the parts that must make any bigness.

When I first looked at the formidable figure of $66,600,000 sought by Notre Dame in the next decade, I said to myself, "Our Alma Mater is thinking big." And I almost added, because our traditions and our history and our ambitions are modest, "too big."

But as I read the brochure which John Cackley so ably edited, and saw how the infinite patience for taking pains had blossomed for a hundred years before its genius was apparent, I changed my attitude.

The new program has been growing in department after department from their origin. Bigness, where it exists, has won its victory over the status quo by merit alone.

The first endowment campaign was before my student days, but I have heard much about it. The University reluctantly sought a million dollars for endowment for lay faculty salaries, and a million dollars for buildings—to meet the rapid upsurge of the years after World War I.

This was thinking big at the time—and proved utterly inadequate in the years that followed.

In 1947, when post-war conditions were repeating themselves on a much larger scale, smothering the University as it tried to fulfill its basic obligations, Father John Cavanaugh permitted the President of the Alumni Association, Harry G. Hogan, to launch a financial program to meet the physical needs of the hour, which was established by the University as a separate program, the Notre Dame Foundation.

More important than money, the Foundation was set up to tell the real story of Notre Dame to all its alumni and to a purposely multiplied family of friends. Its $25,000,000 goal again seemed big. Again it was achieved. And again it is already inadequate in the analysis of immediate opportunities and obligations.

So we come to a new 10-year program, which again looms large.

But as we consider its parts, we realize several things that are new at Notre Dame, things which the Foundation has done in its first decade.

First, Notre Dame has many real and demonstrated families—the alumni have long since proved their loyalty and generosity. In addition, we have acquired a splendid spirit among the parents of students. We have attracted a growing number of benefactions from individual philanthropists. The large foundations have included us in their grants. Industry has multiplied our research appropriations. And most importantly and recently, corporate gifts have begun to help us solve our problems substantially.

Secondly, the problems of Notre Dame are not only similar enough to those of all private higher education to be familiar, but all our family has learned to take an active and enlightened interest in the University's programs.

Faculty development, non-teaching staff security, student aid, research grants, and physical plant expansion are no longer just expressions. We know now what they are and why they are.

That is why our new program will succeed. It is not just a 10-year arbitrary time span for raising an arbitrary big sum of money, $66,600,000.

It is a carefully thought out, detailed, logical outline of the parts still needed in the immediate years ahead to allow Notre Dame to consolidate the progress it has already made, and to insure for its students and its other families the development as a great American Catholic university which their faith dictates.

I know alumni will increase their efforts accordingly.

Sincerely,
