This magazine is published bi-monthly by the University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, Ind. Entered as second class matter Oct. 1, 1939, at the Post Office, Notre Dame, Ind. under the act of Aug. 24, 1912.

We have nurtured our fraternal traditions. (The Reunions just past attest to this.)

We cherish our athletic traditions. (The winter just past was eloquent testimony.)

James E. Armstrong

Apostolic Delegate.)

Next issue, the ALUMNUS will introduce a new department in an effort to promote, regularly and consistently the intellectual tradition of Notre Dame.

Msgr. John Tracy Ellis observes: "... to whom, one may ask, may the leaders of the coming generation turn with more rightful expectancy in their search for enlightenment and guidance in the realm of religion and morality than to American Catholic intellectuals? For it is they who are in possession of the oldest, wisest, and most sublime tradition of learning that the world has ever known ..."

Our project, simply and hopefully, it to foster this "sublime tradition."

With the background of literally years serious discussion by your national Board of Directors and the University administration, and through the current cooperation of a faculty committee headed by Rev. Philip S. Moore, C.S.C., academic assistant to Father Hesburgh, the ALUMNUS has scheduled a series of four 4-page inserts in the next four issues of the ALUMNUS magazine.

These inserts will deal with single fields of liberal education, sometimes presented by one faculty author, sometimes by several. The treatment may be unified or segmented within the broad subject.

Each topic will be supplemented by a suggestion of one or several authoritative and interesting books or other available treatments which will permit alumni with more intense interest to pursue the topic in detail.

The first planned fall insert is a universally significant topic "What America Stands For."

The presentation is a current, vital summary by Dr. Stephen Kertesz, chairman of the Committee on International Relations and professor of political science, on two symposia conducted by Notre Dame on this broad topic, "What America Stands For." Dr. Kertesz will treat the present status of the United States in its relation to world problems, and review the many facets of our rich heritage treated in the symposia by a group of outstanding leaders, including a number of Notre Dame alumni and faculty members.

Announcing a new feature:

THE SUBLIME TRADITION

In the current era of world crisis, no opening topic seemed so universally adapted.

The second proposed winter insert, directed by Dr. John T. Frederick, head of the Department of English, will feature several short analyses of current fields of literature by members of the Department, with suggested reading under the separate headings. This should be a great contribution to the reading search of the educated man, for method as well as content.

The Department of History, under Rev. Thomas T. McAvoy, and the Department of Sociology, under Dr. John Kane, will, as presently programmed, provide the significant contents of the third and fourth inserts.

This announcement is obviously understatement. But the area of thought is not new to you.

For me, it represents my own "30 Years War." I was sold on what was then called "adult education" in 1927. In subsequent issues of the ALUMNUS you will find a "Book Page" authored by the late Father John W. Cavanaugh, C.S.C. You will find Reading Lists, in the magazine and separately sent, prepared by Colleges or by Departments. You will find articles by faculty members on broader fields of interest. Frankly, we never felt we had hit a general pattern of success. But there is evidence of revived interest, not only among Notre Dame men, but everywhere. And we believe this simple pattern may prove a most effective spearhead to as broad a program of continuing education as your increasing activity of mind can create.

Our project is based on some assumptions.

1. Your business and professional reading is adequately covered in your business and professional journals.

2. Your basic general reading is adequately covered in the magazines and newspapers which inform you.

3. In every alumnus there is a cultural urge, created by the concept of liberal education, and contact with it, not satisfied by any undergraduate curriculum.

4. This urge is too often diverted after college by the competition of required reading for business or professional progress, or by the sugar-coating of the picture or digest media that permit a superficial short-cut to our world scene.

5. If voices of familiar faculty members, from the campus on which the intellectual world unfolded its vastness to us, can bring us an occasional reminder that education is a continuing, never-ending process, with a simple new picture of some attractive new horizon, and a quick colorful chart on how to get there, the urge will not so often be diverted.

6. You are as anxious as the University, or the faculty, or your Association officers, to foster this Sublime Tradition.

So look for your next ALUMNUS. The insert will be on a different color stock, readily identifiable.

Read it. That is the first appeal to you, and the primary purpose of the insert. Then, if you will, let us have your reaction — the Alumni Office, or the Editor, or the faculty writer or writers who have intrigued you.

We believe this is the opening of a bigger, brighter era of richer alumni life. Many of you are already enjoying it. We hope this multiplies the number. It is intended as a service from the University to you, in return for another rich tradition — your generous support of the University. We believe it can repay you as many times over as you will let it. —J.E.A.

REUNION RECAP

Divots flew as duffers vied for prizes at Monogram and Alumni golf tournaments.

30th ANNIVERSARY REUNION CLASS OF 1919 — As if to symbolize their elusive classmates, reunionists Rademaker, Fenlon and Carroll dodged photographers, may have darted behind these trees to talk.

35th ANNIVERSARY REUNION CLASS OF 1924 — Boasting one of the smallest, noisiest and liveliest delegations were the boisterous beatniks of '24.

Gaiety...

THURSDAY, June 11, 1959, found early arrivals all but breaking down the doors of Morrissey and Lyons Halls, shattering the silence for rector and prefects winding up a week-long retreat.

Officially the 1959 Class Reunions were not to begin until the following evening.

Part of the unexpected influx may have resulted from confusion about the Monogram Golf Day and annual meeting, traditionally scheduled by the Monogram Club on the eve of the Big Weekend. The athletes quartered in Alumni Hall and spent the day chipping down the fairways, protected from the critical gaze of non-lettermen. In the evening, after cocktails and dinner at the Morris Inn, Monogrammers elected Oregonian Bill Schmitt, '10, to succeed Detroit's "Pep" Panelli, '49, as president.

Meanwhile, early reunionists had leisure for private rubbernecking at the magnificent Moreau Seminary and other recent campus construction, visits to favorite chapels and shrines. . . and, after dusk, quiet chats over glowing cigarettes in the darkened quads.

10th ANNIVERSARY REUNION CLASS OF 1949 — Beyond the size of their contingent, '49ers were prominent in golf, food consumption and liquid capacity departments.

REUNION RECAP

FRIDAY, June 12, dawned on a jam of cars and taxis at the Circle. . . a steady stream of sportshirted registrants into the reunion center at the Law Building and on to registration desks in half a dozen halls on the old "Gold Coast," the West Quadrangle dominated by the Rockne Memorial. . . a mass invasion of the Burke Memorial Golf Course by duffers and pros alike, to compete for high, low and middle prizes in the most indiscriminate golf tournament known to man. . . a campus swarming with caps of every imaginable hue (but pink) . . . and — most marvelous of marvels — the draining of ten thousand cans of chilled and frothy beverage with hardly a stagger to be seen.

20th ANNIVERSARY REUNION CLASS OF 1939—Substituting enthusiasm for numbers, '39 was notable in its taste for vermouth.

This was the scene until the shadows lengthened and enveloped the grass. Then the rainbow of caps broke up into solid colors, in the courtyards, the dining halls and the Morris Inn, for the Class Dinners, business meetings, elections and various entertainments. The dinners differed in form—from hearty outdoor buffets of pizza or grilled seafood for the younger alumni to linen-and-silver sit-down feasts for older grads — and programs ran from raillery to music to sports movies to plain nostalgia, but all dissolved into chatter over cheese-on-rye in the late — and early — hours.

... and Jubilation

SILVER JUBILEE CLASS OF 1934 — Regaled with music, movies and martinis, the 25-Year Class assembled (minus the brass band) after luncheon with Father Hesburgh.

5th ANNIVERSARY REUNION CLASS OF 1954—Remarkable for quantity alone, '54 also boasted a domestic prelate just appointed by Pope John XXIII. Rt. Rev. Msgr. Osmundo Calip (front row center, to right of Rev. Thomas Cady, C.S.C.), a papal chamberlain since 1953, directs press, schools and Catholic Action in the Philippines.

The Young . . .

Saturday morning, June 13, saw an always amazing phenomenon. Hundreds of clear-eyed citizens, showing few effects of the conversation marathons and horseplay of the night before, turned out in the hall chapels for Mass and Communion in memory of their departed classmates. Then some dawdled over coffee in the Caf, while others toured the changing campus or returned to the fray on the fairways.

By noon most of the wanderers returned to the hall areas for box-lunch picnics of fried chicken, and majorities were mustered for pictures at the Library before scattering for more golf or a quick nap. The 25-Year Class, probably the most athletic of all, hiked back to the remote scene of the previous night's merriment for their President's Luncheon at the North Dining Hall.

In the afternoon alumni were invited to their respective schools for the College Hours, open houses and meetings with deans and faculty representa-

After golf, luncheons, tours, meetings and cocktails there was just enough time to tidy up for the event of the evening, an exodus to the North Dining Hall for the annual Alumni Banquet.

30th ANNIVERSARY REUNION CLASS OF 1929—See page 4 for examples of the relaxed sociability that characterized '29 in program and in person.

REUNION RECAP

Stars of the Alumni Banquet program included (l. to r.) Fathers Cornelius Hagerty and Eugene Burke; Bill Cotter, Alumni Assn. president; Father Hesburgh, N.D. president; Jim Armstrong, Alumni Assn. secretary; Father Thomas Irving; Ed Krause, N.D. athletic director, and Father George Holderith, N.D. golf coach.

Feasts . . .

As usual, the Alumni Banquet was a crowded affair, both physically and program-wise.

A traditional feature was the appearance of Rev. George Holderith, C.S.C., University golf coach, to award prizes to the winners in the unorthodox categories of a gruelling golf tournament. There was a fairly even distribution in all but the five- and ten-year classes, battling, again as usual, for the lion's share.

Special guests abounded, but toastmaster Jim Armstrong, '25, singled out only the most special. Fathers Eugene Burke, Cornelius Hagerty and Thomas Irving were the hit of the evening, the eve of their Golden Jubilee as priests of the Congregation of Holy Cross. Ed Krause, '34, recounted the impressive 1958-59 record of athletic teams under the coaches present at the banquet (see Athletics, page 27), but a coach with his record still before him was the only one required to speak. Head football coach Joe Kuharich, '38, introduced his staff, of whom only two members, freshman mentor Hugh Devore, '34, and executive assistant Dave Slattery, '48, are alumni. Newcomers Bill Daddio, Dick Evans, Dick Stanfel and Joe Scudero seemed happy to be aboard.

Alumni President Bill Cotter, '41, reported on developments of vital interest to alumni (see page 19).

Speaker of the evening was Notre Dame's president, Father Hesburgh, whose "State of the University" address was both harrowing and inspiring. Describing his thoughts as he watched a huge rocket rise into space at Cape Canaveral, Father Hesburgh examined the terrible responsibility of Christian education, and particularly of Notre Dame in her possibly destined role as Queen of Catholic Universities, in the light of man's tremendous power for progress or destruction in the Age of Early grads had seats of honor in the spacious North Dining Hall, jammed for the second straight year with a thousand Notre Dame men.

Space. The grads returned, haunted by the thought, to their halls, for snacks and bull sessions far into the night.

On Sunday morning, June 14, alumni trooped out of their residence halls and northward to the Grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes for the crowning event of the Reunions, the Alumni Mass offered for the intentions of Notre Dame men throughout the world. The significance of the Mass in this setting was beautifully expressed in the sermon of Right Rev. Monsignor Edward J. Seward, '34, chancellor of the Diocese of Cleveland and a former flying chaplain in World War II. Msgr. Seward called on N.D. men to rededicate their lives to the Patroness of their student years, the Lady who has appeared on earth so often in the past 100 years to warn the modern world of the possible consequences of its folly and to urge our prayer for the conversion of Russia.

Armed with a plenary indulgence recently renewed at the Grotto by the Holy See, reunionists strolled back across campus for a last leisurely look before returning to their families and everyday occupations.

The Need for an Adult Theological Education

REV. LOUIS J. PUTZ, C.S.C.

William Francis Fox, Jr., '20, (left) dean of Indiana sports writers, awarded an honorary monogram July 23 at the Indianapolis Club golf outing, is helped into his jacket by N.D. sports publicity director Charlie Callahan, '38, himself an honorary Monogrammer. Eighth man to be elected to Monogram Club membership, Bill was further honored a week later when he was chosen to receive the Grantland Rice Memorial Award for 1959, presented by the Sportsmanship Brotherhood for "outstanding sports writing in the Rice tradition."

The Popes of recent decades have put a great stress on an active responsible laity in the Church. Now this call would be principally addressed to College graduates. The question that immediately presents itself is whether the religious equipment received in College is enough to carry one through to solve the many problems that must invariably face a man going from school to life. Every profession has its own particular moral and spiritual challenges that need more specific answers than either the catechism of the elementary school or the religion texts of high school or college could solve, not to mention that for the most part these problems were not even known to the teacher.

Therefore, a big gap needs to be filled both from the point of view of the professional field by way of bridging religion and life in the layman's world, but also one of possessing a mature hold on religious truths adequate for the more mature mind. Religious knowledge should grow with one's greater responsibilities as life unfolds. Familiarity with religious literature both in book and magazine form would have to be the simplest form of catching up with all the new developments in the life of the Church.

One graduate told me recently that he formed a group of interested people who read a book a month (a religious book in this instance) and every month they meet to discuss the book. One man is assigned to learn as much about the author as possible, another leads the discussion of the book, others try to get a background on related issues. This group has been going for several years with great profit to all of them and more than a hundred books have been thus read and digested. He maintains that without this challenge and regularity he would not have been kept spiritually alive.

FRANK DONOVAN
Pagliacci meets Savoldi

TWO Notre Dame men, each an "impresario" in the original sense (entrepreneur or enterpriser), have gone a long way toward exploding the myth that the interests of Irish grads are narrowly athletic. A Detroit lawyer and a Chicago chemical executive, they are typical of hundreds of N.D. alumni who have assumed cultural or artistic leadership in their communities.

In the case of Frank W. Donovan, '26, and Alfred C. Stepan, Jr., '31, this leadership is manifested primarily in music and specifically in the esoteric world of grand opera. As presidents of the leading opera associations in America's two largest inland cities, Messrs. Donovan and Stepan are shining proof (to jumble a metaphor) that Notre Dame men don't live on bread and circuses alone. Or, in the words of Jim Armstrong, that "Pagliacci" is as much a Notre Dame byword as "Savoldi."

Stepan, president of Chicago's Stepan Chemical Company, was elected unanimously to the post of president of the Lyric Opera of Chicago, the city's only major opera company, at a meeting of the corporation's board of directors last spring.

Attorney Donovan distinguished himself this year as president of the Detroit Grand Opera Association in its first year as host to the Metropolitan Opera in Detroit — the Met's first local appearance in 49 years.

Frank Donovan's achievements were threefold. He organized a huge guarantor program of more than twice the required amount. He engineered a special benefit performance program for the Detroit Museum of Art Founders Society and enlisted the active services of Mrs. Henry Ford II as general chairman of the entire program. He strengthened the membership of the Opera Board, enlisted municipal cooperation, and widened community support for opera to a degree where the entire season was 25% oversold. The 39-member board of directors includes Mrs. Edsel Ford, Roger Kyes and George Romney.

In view of the great success of the opera season, not only from an attendance standpoint, but in its favorable nation-wide publicity and its benefit performance contribution of almost $40,000 to the City's Art Purchase Fund, Frank was unanimously re-elected president of the Detroit Grand Opera Association at the annual meeting on June 23. Reuben Ryding is vice-president and manager.

Frank's extensive contacts in the business and professional world were important factors in the success of the Met's first season in Detroit since 1910, but the greatest item in his achievement was the unflagging effort he devoted personally toward organizing Detroit's plans for properly launching a Metropolitan Opera season in Detroit.

As a result of these efforts Detroit is to have a longer season in 1960 and plans are already under way to make next year's Metropolitan Opera Festival an even greater success.

Contributing reason for Frank's success was the formation of a strong promotional organization, ably directed by Mrs. Henry Ford II, whose interest and extremely generous devotion of time to meetings, special projects and publicity were of vital importance. In fact, Mrs. Ford's active participation was Donovan's tenstrike — a widely recognized asset, which Donovan has re-enlisted and confirmed for the 1960 season.

His appointment of Mayor Louis C. Miriani as Honorary Chairman, the by-product of which was the establishment of a separate Mayor's Committee, produced excellent results in a field hitherto untouched in previous Opera Festivals with other opera companies. Mayor Miriani has also been re-elected to another term as Honorary Opera Chairman for 1960.

Frank is presently setting up financing plans for 1960 and has been instructed by the Opera Association's Board to negotiate next year's contract with the Metropolitan Opera.

Also Art and Symphony

A member of the N. D. Club of Detroit, Frank is also a director of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, treasurer and trustee of the Archives of American Art and trustee of the Etruscan Foundation. But, lest anyone think that he is a one-sided culture vulture, he was a tennis enthusiast at Notre Dame and remains a staunch admirer of the late Knute Rockne.

Al Stepan has been on the board of directors of the Lyric Opera of Chicago since 1957 and is the second president since the present corporate structure of the Lyric was formed in 1956. Others on the 27-member board are Dr. Morris Fishbein, Alfred O'Gara, Edward Ryerson and General Robert E. Wood, and Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley is honorary chairman. The board handles the tremendous business problems of running a major opera company, while general manager Carol Fox and her staff direct artistic affairs—scores, sets, costumes, conductors and, presumably, the temperaments of artists like Maria Callas. Al finds the opera business very exciting, rather far removed from chemicals, but a long-time avocation.

Music is traditional in the Stepan family. Al's late father, also a chemical executive, was an accomplished singer. The elder Stepan was soloist in the Marble Collegiate church in New York City the first time Henley's celebrated "Invictus" was sung, on Easter, 1912. Al treasures a program from a performance of Rigoletto in Mannheim, Germany, in 1859. In that performance 100 years ago Rigoletto was sung by his great-grandfather, one of the leading operatic baritones of his day.

Al himself has sung with the N. D. Glee Club and Chicago's Paulist Choir. As a small boy he sat in the third row from the rear in the highest balcony ("with the real opera experts") every Saturday afternoon for five seasons. During World War I he was in his "perch" when soldiers from Fort Sheridan and sailors from Great Lakes gave the great Galli-Curci such an ovation that she took a record number of bows.

At 50, Al has been listening to opera for 42 years. He started making the musical rounds of Europe in 1924, and in the summer of 1956 he and Mrs. Stepan went behind the "Iron Curtain" for a month to hear performances in Russia, Czechoslovakia, Poland and East Germany.

Studied European Methods

In May, before taking office as president of the Lyric, Al toured European opera houses to study their operating procedures, administrative methods, finances, etc. He visited the Staatsoper in Vienna, La Scala in Milan, and the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, London.

Al has been a member of the University's Associate Board of Lay Trustees since 1957. His son Alfred III, '58, is a Marine lieutenant on two-year leave to attend Baliol College, Oxford, where he won his Oxford "blue" this past summer swimming against Cambridge. A second son, Quinn, '59, is a lieutenant in missile training at Fort Bliss, Texas, while a third, Stratford, is entering his junior year at N. D. A daughter, Marilee, is an Olympic swimming veteran at 22.

Exciting Season Promised

Famed for revivals of forgotten masterpieces and imaginative productions of more familiar works, the Lyric Opera promises a thrilling sixth season beginning October 12. Included are fresh settings of old favorites like Bizet's Carmen, Massenet's Thais, Verdi's Masked Ball, Ponchielli's La Gioconda and Mozart's Così fan tutte, plus seldom-heard gems like Wagner's Flying Dutchman, Rossini's La Cenerentola (Cinderella), Verdi's Simon Boccanegra, a repeat of Puccini's lush Turandot and the Chicago premiere of the Czech masterwork Jenufa by Leos Janacek.

Lyric's roster of singers is dazzling—such American stars as Richard Tucker, Eileen Farrell, Leontyne Price and Jean Madeira; international favorites like Tito Gobbi, Birgit Nilsson, Giuseppe di Stefano, Elizabeth Schwarzkopf, etc., lesser artists and talented newcomers from both sides of the Atlantic. The company has also signed directors, conductors and designers from the world's finest opera houses.

Bringing to the business of grand opera the same enthusiasm and proficiency they have shown in law and chemistry, Frank Donovan and Alfred Stepan are demonstrating again that the "whole man" is nurtured at Notre Dame.

Van Wallace, '27, totally disabled since a swimming accident in his freshman year, appears with the new Ford station wagon from which he'll view Notre Dame football games this fall, the third car presented to Van by the N.D. Club of Detroit since 1937. Club members and University officials with him are (second from left to right) Pete Kernan, Bill Roney, Marce Verbiest, Joe Carey, Father George Bernard, Gil Schaefer, Father Jerome Wilson, John Panelli, Tommy Sheehan and Tim Cruice.

YOUR ALUMNI BOARD

Field Secretary . . . General Survey of Alumni . . . Non-Graduate Membership . . . Continuing Education Program . . . Highlights of June Meeting

Your national Board of Directors of the Alumni Association is one of the most effective, least spotlighted factors in our alumni development. This comes from their own unselfish generosity and the fact that what the ALUMNUS and its editors say about the Board may seem on occasion like self-adulation. But in the increasing diversity and significance of your Association program, it becomes vital to waive these minor amenities in favor of acquainting you with the fine representation and the many benefits your Board is bringing you.

The Board, composed as you know, of twelve Directors, four elected each year for a three-year term, with the retiring past president an ex officio member for one year, elects its own officers, and works now largely through sub-Committees. It meets three times each year — usually in January, June and October.

The University Placement Office, the Annual Alumni Fund, the Notre Dame Foundation, Universal Notre Dame Communion Sunday, are only a few of the strong programs which the Board has sponsored in the past.

Its present programs are manifold, but two are of immediate interest and concern to all alumni.

SURVEY

I. One is a Survey of Alumni, to be conducted in this 1959-60 year by John F. X. Ryan, South Bend, former member of the University faculty, now heading the Catholic Schools Psychological Services.

No Survey of our alumni has been made since 1941, the Centennial Survey. More than 60% of our alumni have been graduated since that time, and many of our older graduates were permanently displaced by the World War II years. No Religious Survey of alumni has been made since 1940.

It is vital to proper planning in the Alumni Association program, in the Admissions Office, in Placement, and in the Foundation, that we have a much clearer picture of our alumni.

Dr. Ryan conducted a pilot study of 600 scientifically selected alumni, and in the basis of this interesting preliminary report, the general Survey, to be launched this fall, will be made. Every effort is being made to revise the pilot study to achieve maximum utility and maximum brevity. Most of the questions will be check answers, with only a few essay questions for more detailed data.

The effectiveness of the Survey will depend entirely on participation, and individual alumni, Clubs and Classes, will be urged to work toward 70 to 80% results.

LOCAL CLUB ORGANIZER

II. The second major Board project is a special representative of the University and the Alumni Association to serve as a spur to Local Alumni Club organization.

Our Clubs have grown since 1925 from 40 to 170 in number, and Club programs have grown within each Club to impressive proportions. The benefits of well-organized Clubs to the members, to the community, and to the University has become increasingly apparent.

The Board feels that it owes a tremendous debt of gratitude to the Club officers whose volunteer work has led to this great stature, but it feels that to consolidate these gains, to insure continuing growth, and to achieve a more uniform program, more attention must be given from the campus to the Club organization.

Further announcement on this project will be forthcoming soon to the Clubs and the alumni generally.

NON-GRADUATE MEMBERSHIP

III. Over the years, the Alumni Association has offered full membership constitutionally to those non-graduate former students "whose entering Class shall have been graduated," and who make application for such membership on available forms to the Alumni Board. Activity in our Local Clubs, correspondence with Class Secretaries, interest in football games, prominence in the community or in a business or profession, have been our major sources of contact with these former students. In interest and in activity, to the Association and to the University, they have made valuable additions. The Board encourages this program.

SYMPATHY

To J. Patrick Canny, '28, past president of the Alumni Association,

on the death of his beloved wife August 25, 1959

REUNION REVISION

IV. The Committee on Class Activities is concerned with the imminent need for a change in the Class Reunion pattern, when the increasing number in attendance (now totalling 1,000) will demand some change in our tradition. It is appealing to the Class Secretaries (and to all of you) to devote thought to the preservation of present Reunion benefits and still adapt ourselves to the space demands of the dining halls, for example, the Church, and our auditorium facilities.

OTHER ALUMNI

V. The Committee on Inter-Alumni Affairs has given long study to our relations with the alumni of other colleges and universities. Its present conclusion is that our smaller Local Clubs can find much interested augmentation for their programs in the local graduates of other colleges and universities, especially Catholic, who do not yet have local organization. This is particularly true for family social functions or for speakers on topics of educational importance.

BOARD NOMINEES

VI. The Nominating Committees are working on proposals to improve the nominating procedures. But your Board is agreed that over the last 15 years, under the present structure, an amazing amount of representation (consciously sought for by previous Committees) has been achieved in geography, in Class grouping, in business and professional activities, and that this broad pattern, especially in view of the limited number of Directors, ought to be studied most carefully before changes are made. Club and Class officers suggestions have aided the Board Committees greatly. Your suggestions are always welcome.

CONTINUING EDUCATION

VII. Elsewhere in this issue you will find the announcement (see Editorial Comments) on one of the most significant projects of your Board, achieved as are many of its projects with University cooperation — this time the creation of a department in the ALUMNUS for continuing the intellectual stimulus of our alumni after they have left the campus, through articles and suggested reading material from faculty members.

Conclusion: This is only a summary of one Board meeting. It is the hope of the Editor that it will give you a deeper insight into the long hours which your Board devotes to you and to Notre Dame. It is the Board's hope that calling these diverse programs to your attention will enlist your suggestions.

The University Today . . .

ALUMNI: ACCOMPLISHMENT AND CONTROVERSY

A total of 51 grants for graduate study and research have been awarded to '59 graduates and current graduate students at Notre Dame. The University's 22 Woodrow Wilson Fellowship winners constituted the fifth largest group at any college or university in the nation. Record totals were also registered with National Science Foundation, Danforth, Fulbright and Smith-Mundt Act grants.

In a recent issue of Cap and Gown, the Notre Dame faculty publication, Alumni Secretary James E. Armstrong roundly condemned a practice employed in the paragraph above—"the lumping of alumni in statistical form." In observations entitled "Wasting Our Natural Resources," he also denounced the labeling of alumni as one of the University's "publics" and "treating the embryo alumnus, the student, as a 'number' or an IBM card, rather than as a person."

Urging faculty members to treat incoming freshmen—and, incidentally, themselves—as individuals with individual backgrounds, attributes and potentialities, he also appealed to all advisors to keep up Notre Dame's person-to-person tradition and added: "Rectors and prefects and other administrators can help greatly by trying to avoid the excess demands that keep them from meeting students (and alumni, and parents). . . . The difference in atmosphere comes from more demands on the priests outside the old rector and prefect relationships."

From Rev. Charles W. Harris, C.S.C., rector of Howard Hall, came this rejoinder: "I should like to point up one of the facts that contribute to some of the impersonalization. . . . twenty years ago, 1936-37, there were 55 Holy Cross priests on the faculty plus four engaged in full-time administration . . . 2818 students . . . one priest for every 51.2 students. . . . In 1956-57 there were 68 Holy Cross priests on the faculty—an increase of 13 in twenty years—plus 10 in full-time administration. With 5600 students . . . this means one priest for every 82.3 students. . . . I think you will agree that this is a decided decrease in the ratio of priests to students. . . .

"The present situation is even less satisfactory. There exist today three vacancies among the prefects simply because there have been no replacements for priests who have become too ill to continue their duties there. . . .

"Under these circumstances it is not surprising that contact with students, relatives of students and alumni has diminished. Many of us have made it a point to reduce contact with alumni and relatives of students simply to have time for the students who are our direct responsibility. This is not a desirable situation, but perhaps if the alumni were aware of the facts they might understand why we seem to have so little time for the person-to-person contact we all value."

PERIODICALS: MILESTONES FOR THE REVIEW AND NATURALIST

Twenty years of publication for the Notre Dame quarterly Review of Politics are represented by 28 outstanding articles from its pages in The Image of Man, a book published recently by the Notre Dame Press ($6.00). Edited by Professors M. A. Fitzsimons, Frank O'Malley and Rev. Thomas T. McAvoy, C.S.C., associated with the Review since its inception in 1939, the volume includes articles by the late founding editor Waldemar Gurian, Jacques Maritain, the late Don Luigi Sturzo, Christopher Dawson, Yves Simon, John Nef, Aaron Abell, etc.

Celebrating its 50th birthday this year, The American Midland Naturalist, a scientific journal founded by Rev. Julius A. Nieuwland, C.S.C., in 1909, has international prestige and subscribers in 45 foreign countries as well as throughout the United States. A general biological periodical, the Naturalist also includes studies in paleontology, zoology and botany, for which field it was named by its celebrated botanist-chemist founder. It is currently edited by Dr. Robert E. Gordon, assisted by Rev. Cletus Bachofer, C.S.C., and Profs. George R. Bernard, George B. Craig and Robert P. McIntosh, all of the biology faculty, and 16 associate editors who are specialists in American universities, museums, etc.

FACULTY: APPOINTMENTS, APPEARANCES, PROMOTIONS AND PUBLICATIONS

Forty-two new faculty members have been appointed for the 1959-60 school year. Full professorships were awarded to five men, three of them named department heads and the other two to serve as visiting professors for the year.

Beginning as department heads will be Profs. Julius T. Banchemo in chemical engineering, a heat transfer specialist from the University of Michigan; Harry C. Saxe in civil engineering, a structural theorist from the University of Cincinnati, and Ralph E. Thorson in biology, an alumnus who has been a professor of parasitology at Auburn.

Also named full professors are R. Gordon Brown, city planning authority and former dean of architecture at the University of Hong Kong, and Hans Sassenhaus, algebraist and group theorist from McGill University, in mathematics. San-ichiro Mizushima, professor of physical chemistry at Tokyo University and former Reilly lecturer, will be a visiting professor of chemistry.

Promotion of thirteen established faculty members was announced earlier at the annual President's Dinner, attended by approximately 700 members of faculty and administration and their wives. Honored guests were Rev. Eugene P. Burke, C.S.C., and Prof. Leo Kuntz, who retired this year, and Professor Emeritus Knowles B. Smith and Rev. Francis P. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., observing 50th and 25th anniversaries respectively at Notre Dame.

Rev. Chester Soleta, C.S.C., vice president for academic affairs, announced the promotion of the following: Professors Otto Bird (General Program), Rev. Cletus Bachofer, C.S.C. (biology), and Bernard D. Cullity (metallurgy); Associate Professors Robert F. Christin (English), Journet D. Kahn (Gen. Program), Louis Pierce (chemistry), and Kwang-Tzu Yang (mechanical engineering); and Assistant Professors Rev. John P. Dolan, C.S.C., (history), Rev. Henry A. Guess, C.S.C. (classics), Robert J. Lordi (English), Rev. Patrick H. Maloney, C.S.C. (music), Gilbert L. Rathbun (communication arts), and Rev. Ernan McMullin (philosophy).

A veteran faculty member, Rev. Robert Pelton, C.S.C., was appointed head of the department of religion, succeeding Rev. Roland Simonitsch, C.S.C., who joins the faculty of the University of Portland (Ore.). Father Pelton received his S.T.D. from the Angelicum in Rome, is a planner for the annual Institutes of Spirituality, author and editor of works on spiritual direction. Active in Latin-American student affairs, he has also been rector of several residence halls.

Two faculty members are lecturing and researching in Europe during the 1959-60 academic year on Fulbright grants. Wienczyslaw J. Wagner, associate professor in the Law School, will lecture on American and comparative law at the University of Paris and University of Rennes in France. Ralph M. McNerny, assistant professor of philosophy, will conduct philosophical research at the University of Louvain in Belgium.

Dr. Erhard M. Winkler, associate professor of geology, has been awarded a grant by the Office of Naval Research to team up with his wife, a pilot, on an aerial photography project with special camouflage detection film developed by the Navy, with which he will interpret glacial deposits from color photos.

Professor Wagner, mentioned above, has written The Federal States and Their Judiciary, a 390-page comparative study of the judicial systems of seven nations, published in English by Mouton and Co., The Hague, Holland.

Three Notre Dame mathematicians have collaborated on Introduction to Analysis, the first textbook of a two-volume course in mathematical analysis published by Ginn and Co. The authors are Dr. Norman Haaser and Dr. Joseph Sullivan, associate professors of mathematics, and a former professor, Dr. Joseph LaSalle.

Representatives of the economics faculty appeared at various meetings last spring. Professor Warren J. Bilkey addressed the Central Michigan Chapter of the National Machine Accountants Assn. on "Economic Problems in Personal Financing." Rev. Mark J. Fitzgerald, C.S.C., and Prof. John Sheehan attended a seminar at Cornell University sponsored by the AFL-CIO, while Profs. Paul Montavon and Warren Bilkey represented the department at meetings of the Midwestern Economic Association.

SUMMER SESSION: RECORD ENROLLMENT, EXPERIMENT AND COMMENCEMENT

More than 1,700 nuns, priests and brothers from the Catholic educational system studied for advanced degrees during the 37th annual summer session, while lay students swelled the total summer enrollment to 2,627, the largest in the University's history. Approximately 300 summer courses were offered, largely on the graduate level, with education and art boasting the largest enrollments. The National Science Foundation sponsored well-attended institutes in mathematics and chemistry for teacher training programs. Also highly enrolled, mostly by religious, school and hospital superiors, was the College of Commerce M.B.A. program. The summer liturgy program, with a faculty of liturgical authorities from Europe and the U.S., and writing workshops of the department of communication arts, attracted a great number of registrants.

The University expanded its experiment with closed-circuit television as a teaching medium in advanced math. About 180 teachers, most of them nuns, took the summer course in "Higher Algebra and Analytic Geometry" via TV lectures by Dr. Arnold Ross, head of the mathematics department, viewed by a small audience in the WNDU-TV studios and on monitors in several classrooms in the Engineering Building. Supplementing the daily lectures were regular seminars conducted by the mathematics faculty. Still considered the infant phase of a large project, the experiment employed a full studio staff, new graphic devices, and microphones in the classrooms. Dr. Ross considers the experiment a necessary response to mushrooming enrollments.

Degrees were awarded to approximately 250 graduates, most of them nuns, at summer commencement exercises August 4. Honorary doctorates were conferred on Rev. Eugene P. Burke, C.S.C., veteran teacher and editor in his 50th year of priesthood, now serving as chaplain of the Student Infirmary, and Sister Mary Emil Penet, I.H.M., national leader of the Sister Formation Conferences. Dr. Otto Bird, director of the General Program, was commencement speaker, and Rev. James Doll, C.S.C., of Lobund, delivered the baccalaureate sermon.

LATE SUMMER: CONFERENCES, CONVENTIONS AND CONVOCATIONS

His Eminence Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, addressing the formal opening of the seventh annual Institute of Spirituality in August, told more than a thousand leaders of women's religious communities that intelligence, emotional stability and capacity for adjustment to change are requisites of a good religious superior. Balancing prudence and piety, the practical and speculative, the New England prelate told the nuns that the qualities of spiritual leadership have analogies in secular administration. The week-long institute, sponsored by the religion department, featured lectures and workshops on the theme "The Superior and the Personal Development of the Subject-Religious," treating everything from Christian womanhood to mental health.

The annual meeting of the History Teachers' Club of Notre Dame, attended by 150 high school history teachers back in July, included talks and panels by Dr. Jean Belliard, French consul general in Chicago; Drs. Stephen Kertesz and John J. Kennedy of the N. D. Committee on International Relations.

In mid-August Rev. Gilbert Hartke, O.P., head of the drama department at Catholic University, keynoted the 12th biennial convention of the National Catholic Theater Conference, attended by 1600 high school, college and community thespians. Under the theme "God Behind the Masque," workshops dealt with all phases of dramatic production.

His Eminence Giacomo Cardinal Lercaro, Archbishop of Bologna, came to the U. S. to deliver a major address on "Liturgy and Social Action" and receive an honorary LL.D. from Notre Dame in a special convocation August 24, as part of the 20th annual North American Liturgical week observed on campus by 1500 religious and laymen. Bishop Leo Pursley of Fort Wayne opened the week, marked by numerous studies and displays on the renewed liturgy.

Archbishop Albert G. Meyer of Chicago was a major speaker at the 11th annual convention of the Christian Family Movement, also addressed by Senator Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, former Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell and other experts on politics. About 700 CFM couples and 200 chaplains came to study the role of the family in political and international life.

FAMILY POSTSCRIPTS

O'Shaughnessy, Laetare medalist and trustee, and donor with him of O'Shaughnessy Hall of Liberal and Fine Arts. . . . Rev. Alfonso Scott, grandson of late medalist Joseph Scott, was ordained in Los Angeles in May. . . . The trophy room in the Student Center is dedicated to the memory of Robert C. Herlihy, '52, killed in action on the day of the Korean Armistice. . . . A scholarship honoring Bishop Fulton J. Sheen has been established by the family of John J. THE NEED FOR TALENTED LAW STUDENTS.

In his Annual Report for 1958-59, Dean O'Meara makes a personal plea to every Notre Dame lawyer and every friend of Notre Dame to be on the watch for talented prospective law students and to bring to their attention the many advantages of the Notre Dame Law School.

The number of lawyers in relation to population has been declining, Dean O'Meara said, calling attention to figures compiled recently by the Survey of the Legal Profession. The Dean's Report continues:

"Briefly, the figures compiled by the Survey of the Legal Profession show that:

1. There were 25,732 fewer lawyers admitted to practice in the decade 1940-49 than in the previous decade, notwithstanding a population increase of 27,000,000.

2. Since 1949 the number of lawyers admitted to practice has decreased steadily from 89 per million of the population in that year to 57 per million of the population in 1956.

3. Thus the number admitted to practice, relative to the population, has been declining for 26 years.

"And, taking the country as a whole, there has been a long-term downward trend in the number of law students. Even more serious, the ablest college graduates, by and large, are not studying law; they are being beguiled into graduate work looking toward a scientific or an academic career. Now, it may be true that we need more scientists and engineers. But if more scientists and engineers are needed, they are needed to advance the arts of war. That is dreadfully important, I agree. But it is even more important to learn to keep the peace and . . . for that purpose it is lawyers that we need, not scientists and engineers.

"As for the widely heralded need for more teachers, I agree with Mr. Beardsley Ruml: if all the trivia were removed from high school and college curricula, I think it altogether likely there would be teachers aplenty — and higher salaries for those who deserve them.

"The American Bar Association is concerned about the decrease in the number and quality of law students. President Malone has said:

'. . . one of the two major factors which control the quality of the legal profession is the quality and character of the individuals who are attracted to the study of law . . . the current national emphasis on the need for a greater number of scientifically trained men and women, combined with the dramatic accomplishments of science during the last decade, have combined to affect materially the quantity and quality of young men and young women applying for admission to law schools.

' . . . there is . . . general concurrence that we have not yet felt the full impact of the situation and that it will get worse before it gets better. . . .

'The problem was presented to the Board of Governors of the American Bar Association at its fall meeting. . . . At that time the Board of Governors authorized the institution of a program to accelerate the recruitment of law students with emphasis on ability.'

"We at Notre Dame have a responsibility to turn out our share — yes, and more than our share — of the lawyers so urgently needed to meet the awful challenges of the modern world — lawyers technically competent to serve their clients well who, at the same time, are equipped for responsible leadership in a troubled world. Accordingly, we are going to have to extend and intensify our recruitment program.

"As I said in my last Annual Report: 'The recruitment program is not designed merely to enlarge the student body. Its primary purpose is to attract outstanding students — students who have the ability to become great lawyers and leaders. Excellence is our platform and we can be content with nothing less. Just as Notre Dame athletic teams always play to win, so the Notre Dame Law School is determined that its graduates shall be able to compete with and excel the best from the best schools in the land. To that end it is just as necessary for us as it is for the coaches to get the very best talent available.'"

Bill Cotter Speaks

On Four Matters

Of Importance To The Family

By WILLIAM E. COTTER, JR., '41

ALUMNI PRESIDENT

(Ed. Note: This statement is condensed from President Cotter's Report to the Alumni at the Reunion Banquet of June 13, 1959. J. L.)

To many of you the work of the Alumni Board may be a mystery. Let me assure you at the outset that the Board is a real and living thing and that the twelve men who compose it look on their three-year responsibility to represent the Alumni with very serious respect. Our official job is to represent you and all the members of our Alumni in the undertakings of our association. We try hard to assist the University and the Alumni in the several areas of our committee assignments to advise and to act on matters of Club and Class Activities, Preparatory School work, Placement, Inter-Alumni Affairs, N. D. Foundation efforts, Student Admissions, Religion and Citizenship, Association budgets and many other vital things.

Underlying all of the objectives of our Association is the family concept of the alumni — that whatever we do must be done for the good of the integral family of faculty, students, administration and alumni. What we do is done to strengthen this family relationship so that our alumnus feels a close personal attachment to the family and can share in all the joys and sorrows which any family must bear. With this thought in mind I want to report to you on some of the matters which your Alumni Board considers to be of importance to all of us in the family.

Gratitude

The most important matter I have to talk about has to do with gratitude — with an expression of very sincere thanks to all the members of our association for your many contributions to Notre Dame. I use the word contribution in the broad sense — to encompass not just the dollars we have given but to include all of the personal sacrifices — your time and your efforts in the past in those many activities throughout the country which mean so much to Notre Dame's valued name. Too often we consider Alumni work as money-raising effort only and too often we fail to realize that a tremendous amount of prestige and great reputation of Notre Dame is due to the personal attention of many Notre Dame graduates to matters not concerned with fund raising. We must not forget that the Alumnus who may not have given to the Foundation may have made a greater gift to Notre Dame by the advice and guidance he provided high school boys who are interested in Notre Dame — or by giving his time and studied attention to the great variety of effective Notre Dame Club activities, or by the example he has set in his community as a recognized Notre Dame man who appreciates his responsibilities as a Catholic layman. This Alumnus deserves all the appreciation we can show. And for such effort I extend the fondest thanks of the Alumni Association. The record of the past speaks eloquently of the significance of such help to Notre Dame by Alumni acting as individuals or as Notre Dame club committee men.

Foundation

Now before Father Cavanaugh and the able members of his staff accuse me of undoing their Foundation efforts, let me also express a loud and clear word of thanks to the Alumni for their great part in the Foundation in 1958.

The report for 1958 shows that Alumni contributions amounted to almost $700,000 and that we had a 19% increase in the average gift from the individual Alumnus.

Certainly we can be rightfully proud of our record of Alumni giving. You all noted, I am sure, in a recent mailing from the Foundation office that according to a 1957-58 survey published this year by the American Alumni Council, Notre Dame ranked fourth out of 610 schools in Private University Alumni participation. Approximately 50% of all Notre Dame Alumni contributed something to Alumni support in the 1957-58 periods. This compares most favorably with the average participation for the 610 schools of only 22.5%. Needless to say the Association and the University are most grateful.

Self Study

In an organization as large and as widespread as ours there are a great many important matters with which the Alumni Directors can be concerned. One of our difficult tasks is to determine those things which are important to you as individuals, to the classes, and, of course, to the 170 Notre Dame Clubs throughout the world. We think that by concentration on our present committee responsibilities we are covering important areas. We do not feel, however, that we know enough about our own Alumni to perform a completely satisfactory service to them, or to the University nor are we in a position to do the kind of long-range planning we must do for our future good. It was with this thought in mind that a self-study survey of all Alumni has been undertaken to gather and evaluate information concerned with Notre Dame Alumni which can be of use to us and the University in areas of Alumni Programming, Public Relations, Placement, Foundation and others.

We think that a survey which reaches all Notre Dame men can provide the Alumni Office and the University with valuable information which can be used for such a purpose as: The projection of enrollment expected from Alumni families in future years so that some specific planning can be performed to assist the sons of Alumni; to assist in our efforts to maintain our Alumni Association in a manner which best serves the Alumni and the University.

The survey will be conducted by an experienced and competent professional firm which has already made the necessary pilot study. After several months of refinement work have taken place, a final form of a questionnaire will be mailed to each member of the Alumni Association. The success of these efforts is entirely dependent upon the willingness and cooperation of the individual Alumnus. Knowing the great spirit

Grateful for your time.

To Manifest Faith Against Austrian Prelate Tells How Prayer Was Tested by Anschluss Terrors

His Eminence Franz Cardinal Konig, Archbishop of Vienna, and Chairman John A. McCone of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission were the principal speakers at the University of Notre Dame's 114th annual commencement exercises June 7.

The Austrian prelate preached the baccalaureate sermon during a Solemn Pontifical Mass celebrated by Bishop Leo A. Pursley of Fort Wayne in the stadium at 9 a.m.

Baccalaureate Sermon

Cardinal Konig commented on the outstanding contribution Father Hesburgh had made and the honor he brought to Notre Dame as Vatican representative with Mr. Frank Folsom in Vienna in 1958 "by his skill and friendliness in several critical situations."

He praised Cardinal O'Hara, who, at the Consistory, "stood next to me, and afterwards as he talked to me with enthusiasm about his years of work at Notre Dame, I felt that the Holy Father honored in him also the University of Notre Dame . . ."

"Entirely in God's Hands"

Cardinal Konig said, "I would like to address a few words to the graduates this morning about the virtues that our age demands from intelligent young men. I can speak of these from my own experience as chaplain to high school and university students during those dark years when you were still children and my country was under the rule of un-Christian forces between 1938 and 1945. Many of those young students had to fight in the schools against un-Christian teachings. Later they were forced into military service during the atrocities of those terrible years. I was very often surprised how well they could live up to the ideals of their Catholic religion. I was also often afraid that they might give way to their milieu, but when I received their letters from the battlefields, I saw how deeply rooted was their faith and how they had grown to the fullness of Christian life. That showed me how important it is for a young man to carry out

Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C. (second from right, front row), president, conferred honorary degrees on seven distinguished figures at the 114th annual commencement. Honorary doctorates were awarded to (l. to r., front row) Sir Hugh Stott Taylor, president of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, Princeton, N. J.; His Eminence Franz Cardinal Koenig, Archbishop of Vienna, and Chairman John A. McCone of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, the commencement speaker. Other honorary degree recipients were (second row, l. to r.) Rev. John A. O'Brien, noted author and veteran Notre Dame faculty member; Prof. Frederick D. Rossini, head of the department of chemistry at Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Harry Hagerty, financial vice president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., New York, N. Y.; and John Walker, director of the National Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C. Approximately 1,300 Notre Dame students received graduate and undergraduate degrees at the exercises in the stadium.

Cardinal Konig collected many of these letters and published them under the title "Entirely in God's Hands." He read some of the profound and touching excerpts from several of these letters. He commented:

"From this you can see how important prayer is to remain in close touch with God and to feel His special protection. For everybody the moment comes when all creation, all the things that were familiar to him, start passing away. Even family, friends, his profession — all those things begin to lose their importance. At such a time, only one thing matters having served God truly and having been a devoted member of the Church. Every man seeks peace and happiness in hours of danger. . . .

Perhaps you will even be able to help others and to make the world better, but through prayer you will first have the strength within yourself."

Cardinal Konig concluded, "These young men had been students and they found the real test of their life when they were in danger of death . . . I would also like to remind you once more of the importance of the counsels given to you very often in the past. They have their meaning now and always. It does not matter if you succeed only in your profession, but it does matter very much for you to master your life so that your career and all your actions correspond to the Will of God. You must know that you are on the right way. From prayer, from the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, you must find strength to overcome all difficulties."

the Challenge of the Atom

AEC Chairman Describes Impact and Implications of Nuclear Development

Chairman McCone was the commencement speaker at exercises beginning at 2 p.m. in the stadium.

Commencement Address

Chairman McCone said, "I deeply and sincerely appreciate the great honor that Notre Dame has today given me. I accept it as a trust. With God's help I shall try to be worthy of that trust.

"This honor links me to the glorious tradition of Notre Dame. Through the tradition of great teaching and sound direction, young men are equipped, as few others in this country, to face with hope and faith the challenging and perplexing world of today.

"Thus, when you leave these halls with your degree you start with the advantage of an unusual endowment in mind and in Christian spirit.

"In this scientific era, many of you will enter fields of specialization. Some of you will find careers in sciences, others in the humanities. May I, as one who was trained as an engineer in a less exacting era, suggest that you do not overlook the rich rewards that come from enriching your minds through a knowledge of many areas of human concern. The life of the fully developed person, the truly cultured man, is marked by an understanding of the humanities and the social sciences, as well as technical and scientific matters. To that we add the requirement of a belief in God, and a trust in the Christian way of life. . .

"My concern, as you men know, and as Father Hesburgh has said, is the atom.

"The Atomic Energy Commission's responsibility in this new and exciting scientific field is all encompassing.

"Let me briefly discuss the scope of our activities. We are, on the one hand, our nation's nuclear armorer. On the other hand, we are charged by law with the challenge of bringing the atom into the daily lives of the people of our great country and, indeed, of the world.

"We hope and we pray that understanding among men will improve as we pursue and succeed in the second of these two responsibilities — the use of the atom for peaceful purposes. Then we and all others will know that the atom will serve always for man's benefit and advancement, never for his destruction."

Chairman McCone, after an outline of the Commission functions, added:

"Beyond our direct support of such vital research programs, we help universities acquire the specialized equipment needed for instruction in the advanced fields of our concern. Grants-in-aid have been made for the purchase of simple subcritical assemblies to acquaint students with the nature and control of the fission process. Some universities have also been provided laboratory equipment for use in other instruction. By such means will this nation be ensured a supply of well-trained scientists and engineers so essential to its welfare and future development.

"The management of our laboratories, the direction of our research effort, the performance of essential work in your own institutions in cooperation with us represents the link between the University and the Atomic Energy Commission.

"There exists a carefully designed and well-constructed bridge between the university and the Atomic Energy Commission in our relentless search for new knowledge in nuclear science.

"Specific examples of this relationship are the advanced genetics program of the California Institute of Technology, the high energy physics research of Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and the basic materials research at Iowa State at Ames. But none, in my opinion, is of greater importance to us, and to the people of the world, than the basic research in radiology and radiation chemistry carried on year after year here in Notre Dame. In these fields you excel. We consider your efforts pillars of our research program, and I believe this work will expand substantially with time.

Foresees Radiation Lab

"I can foresee a new, fine laboratory on this campus which will be devoted exclusively to basic research in radiation chemistry. Your faculty feels it essential. Ways will be found to provide it. Personally, I feel it is within the province of the Government to help universities with their scientific work by providing facilities essential to both Government and university needs. I am an advocate of these programs.

I believe that our progress in atomic energy, in defense, and in the space age, require the best in the university. This is the starting point, as I have said, of the search for new scientific knowledge.

"In these few minutes my purpose has been to present in the broadest terms a picture of our activities and the interrelationship of the university and the Atomic Energy Commission in the conduct of our affairs.

"Without the university in its persistent drive for truth and basic knowledge, the atom might never have been split. The great plants at Oak Ridge, Paducah, and Hanford, might never have been built. Without the university our nation's progress in the application of the atom in the fields of biology, medicine, agriculture, and industry — and for the production of power — would, in my opinion, be at a standstill . . .

"The atom will bear on the lives of all of you. It will change the world in which you live. Thus, it demands your thoughtful concern. Basic research now in progress will open new vistas for you. Theories being formulated and tested this very moment may give you new ways to obtain energy, food, transportation, water, and almost every material human needs.

"Present-day work of mathematicians and physicists — some no older than you — will provide new means to sustain and enrich man's lives.

"During your lifetime man will produce electricity on this earth by a means which heretofore the sun alone had used. Before that, however, the energy of your era will increasingly be supplied by the nuclear reactor. This in itself will change many things in your lifetime — the economics of industrial geography, the standards of engineering practice, the raw material needs of the giant utility manufacturing industry.

"Lastly, you will be citizens of an age of change. Whatever you do — you will do in new ways with new tools and new products and new ideas . . .

"There is need in public life for men of your training; men who have had the privilege of Catholic education; men whose ideals and values of life have been molded by the dedicated Fathers in Notre Dame as they have given you the instruction which you have this day completed . . .

"Many of you will find your future in the field of my principal concern, atomic energy. I hope this will be so, for I believe man's ability to survive on this earth hinges upon his success in developing ways to use the atom for the benefit of mankind — never for its destruction. Men with the training and the deep convictions which provisionally have come to you are needed to undertake this task and to do it well."

Father Hesburgh conferred eight honorary degrees and 1,280 graduate and undergraduate degrees during the ceremonies.

Honorary degree recipients, in addition to the two speakers, include Dr. Frederick D. Rossini, head of the department of chemistry, Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Sir Hugh Stott Taylor, president of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, Princeton, N. J.; Rev. John A. O'Brien, author of religious and philosophical books and a veteran Notre Dame faculty member; Harry C. Hagerty, financial vice president, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., New York City; and John Walker, director of the National Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C.

Following the Baccalaureate Mass in the morning Father Hesburgh blessed the American flag which the senior class presented to the University on Washington's Birthday.

On the day before graduation 236 members of the senior class received commissions in the Army, Air Force, Navy and Marines Corps during Class Day exercises in the University Drill Hall. The program also included the awarding of prizes to outstanding students. Student speakers included class president John Hayward, Toledo, Ohio; valedictorian Lucio A. Noto, Englewood Cliffs, N. J.; and class orator John M. Maloney, Fairless Hills, Pa.

The senior class made its traditional "Last Visit" to Sacred Heart Church on the campus. The ceremony was con-

A new nuclear reactor at the University is prepared for operation by inserting natural uranium fuel rods. Dr. Marcel K. Newman (left) head of the department of mechanical engineering and director of nuclear engineering, supervises the project. Assisting him is Conrad Szubert, '54, assistant professor of mechanical engineering. The new reactor, provided by grants from the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, will be used primarily for instructing more than 40 students enrolled in nuclear engineering courses.

A highlight event of the 1959 Commencement week end was the Special Convocation in Sacred Heart Church on Saturday morning, June 6 at which the University conferred its Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, on Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, "a Prince of the Church, whose high distinction as an authority in canon law is brilliantly matched by the high offices he has held in the Vatican, including the Congregation of the Holy Office, the Congregation of Extraordinary Ecclesiastical Affairs, and the Secretariat of State. In welcoming him to Notre Dame, we laud him for his great achievement in the compilation of the public law of the Church; and we praise him for his unrelenting care in maintaining the order and discipline of the Church, the Universal Kingdom. At this special ritual of the graduating seniors, their traditional last visit to the University Church of the Sacred Heart, we gladly honor him as a renowned protector of God's word in a Society generally alienated from God."

Cardinal Konig became a Prince of the Church last December, having succeeded Cardinal Innitzer as Archbishop of Vienna in May, 1956. A native of Rabenstein in lower Austria, the 53-year-old prelate is an outstanding Biblical scholar and an exceptional linguist with a command of most European languages including Russian. During World War II he served as chaplain to University of Vienna students. With the end of hostilities he became lector in Biblical studies at the University of Vienna and later was appointed to the chair of moral theology at the Salzburg Theological Faculty. He was elevated to the hierarchy and made Coadjutor Bishop of his native diocese of Sankt Poelten on June 3, 1952. He was ordained in Rome on October 27, 1933.

John A. McCone was sworn in as chairman of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission on July 14, 1958. During 1950-51 he had served as Under Secretary of the Air Force in charge of new aircraft procurement and the construction of air bases throughout the world. A native of San Francisco, McCone is a 1922 engineering graduate of the University of California. Before assuming his present duties, he was president of the Joshua Hendy Corp., Los Angeles, which operates tankers in world trade and cargo ships in the Pacific.

ATHLETICS

Irish Drill 73 Candidates For 1959 Football Season

ONLY ELEVEN VETERANS REPORT

Seventy-three candidates were invited back for the start of practice preparations for the 71st football season of the University, according to Head Football Coach Joe Kuharich.

Workouts began on Tuesday, Sept. 1, with Monday, Aug. 31, having been set aside for picture day purposes.

Only 11 monogram winners from last year's team have returned, the smallest number returning from one year to the next since World War II. Among the losses from last year have been three of the first four ends, the first five tackles, three of the first four guards, and the first three fullbacks.

Captain Ken Adamson, senior right guard from Colorado Springs, Colo., is one of the 11 monogram returnees. He played behind All-American Al Ecuyer, a year ago. The other 1958 returning monogram men are: Bob Scholtz, senior center, Tulsa, Okla.; Monty Stickles, senior end, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Al Sabal, senior guard, Chicago, Ill.; Myron Pottios, junior guard, Van-Voorhis, Pa.; George Izo, senior quarterback, Barberton, Ohio; Don White, senior quarterback, Haverhill, Mass.; Jim Crotty, senior halfback, Seattle, Wash.; Bill (Red) Mack, junior halfback, Allison Park, Pa.; Bob Scarpitto, junior halfback, Rahway, N. J., and Pat Doyle, senior fullback, Sioux City, Ia. (Note: Doyle made his monogram as a halfback last year, and Pottios his as a center.) Also returning will be Dick Ciesielski, senior tackle from South Bend, and Jim Colosimo, senior end from Eveleth, Minn. Ciesielski made a monogram as a soph in 1956, was out of school in 1957, returned last year but did not see any action. Colosimo won a monogram in 1957, as a junior, was not in school last season.

The breakdown on the squad returning shows 12 ends, 13 tackles, 14 guards, seven centers, seven quarterbacks, 13 halfbacks and seven fullbacks. Of the total of 73, there will be only 18 seniors and 20 juniors, which indicates the heavy dependency there will be on the 35 sophomores.

Coach Joe Kuharich has stated: "We are aware that there is no substitute for experience, but circumstances are going to force us to rely greatly on the sophomores."

Kuharich indicated there would be two sessions a day for about two weeks. The first game will be on Sept. 26, at home, against the University of North Carolina.

DRAKE RELAYS 50-YEAR HISTORY PUBLISHED

On the golden jubilee of the celebrated track event Drake University has published "The Drake Relays—50 Golden Years," a picture history packed with statistics of the classic. Pictures and records of Irish stars Jack Elder, Alex Wilson, Greg Rick, Bernie Allard, etc., are included. The book can be ordered from Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa, for $2.00 plus 25 cents for mailing.

Notice for Fall Visitors:

Football Moves To Rockne Memorial

This is just a reminder to the alumni that the football department offices are now located in the Rockne Memorial. Coach Joe Kuharich and his staff completed the move from their old offices in Breen-Phillips Hall during the summer.

Alumni visiting the campus during the fall season are more than welcome to drop in on an inspection tour of the new offices.

Also, on a home football game, the Rockne Memorial Lounge will be open as a meeting place for friends and parents of football players.

In the past there really was no place for the players to meet with their parents and friends and a great deal of confusion resulted in and around the dressing room doors. Now, however, the players are expected to take full advantage of the Rockne Lounge and make arrangements to meet their friends and parents there.

As far as the dressing room itself is concerned, no one will be admitted prior to or after a home football game except the players, members of the coaching staff and University personnel carrying out working assignments.

Sincerely,

DAVID D. SLATTERY, '48
Executive Assistant to the Head Coach

AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF A NUN-POET-SCHOLAR

Sister Mary Madeleva, C.S.C., '18, My First Seventy Years (New York, The Macmillan Company, 1959), 172 pp. $3.50.

One of Notre Dame's first and most distinguished woman graduates, Sister Mary Madeleva, poet-president of St. Mary's College, has compressed her life story into book form.

Undertaking the task of writing her autobiography at the request of her publisher Sister Madeleva accepted the assignment as casually as she does appointments with scholars and public figures or her many requests to lecture.

Celebrities Mentioned

In two weeks she filled four notepads with angular penciled handwriting, outlining her fabulous journey from a small Wisconsin town to the big business of heading one of the oldest Catholic colleges for women in the United States. The book is made up of 30 chapters, with such breezy titles as "The Cat Is Black," "Varsity, Varsity," "7,000 Boys and 1,000 Girls" and "I Enter Oxford." Incidents in her autobiography embrace the worlds of the theater, letters and education. Names like Helen Hayes, Clare Boothe Luce, Irene Dunne and Marian Anderson are mentioned.

50 Years in Congregation

This year marks the dynamic nun's 50th year as a member of the Congregation of the Sisters of the Holy Cross and her 25th year as president of St. Mary's.

Though her career has been devoted to the religious life of poverty, chastity and obedience, Sister Madeleva's story is not the conventional "nun's story." It is also the story of a poet, philosopher, educator and administrator whose advice and counsel has been sought by world-famous persons in politics, the theater and education.

A dozen volumes of her poetry have been published over the years. Her poems have also appeared in many national magazines. Honored by a host of colleges and organizations with degrees and citations, she returned to N. D. for an honorary doctorate in 1953.

A copy of My First Seventy Years will be presented to His Holiness Pope John XXIII. The company prepared the special copy bound in white leather with gold lettering.

HOW-TO OF CHRISTIAN YOUTH GUIDANCE

Vincent J. Giese, '50, Training for Leadership. (Chicago, Fides Publishers, 1959), 159 pp. $2.95.

Here is a new book on youth guidance by Vincent J. Giese, editorial director of Fides and also author of The Apostolic Itch and Patterns for Teenagers.

Combining principles for training lay leaders with his broad experiences with young people in the Young Christian Workers, the Young Christian Students, and the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, Giese has written a realistic handbook for anyone concerned with the training of youth for leadership.

Special chapters are devoted to the role of the school, the parish, and the clergy in working with youth. The author also discusses the apostolate of the CCD, professional and work life, and world responsibility. One chapter is devoted to the elements of spirituality of lay leaders.

Holding degrees from St. Joseph's College, Indiana, and Marquette beside his master's from Notre Dame, Giese is a member of the national lay committee of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine. He represented the CCD at the II World Congress of the lay apostolate in Rome, October, 1957. He also serves on the board of adult education centers in the Archdiocese of Chicago and is an active member of St. Francis de Paula parish.

Training for Leadership is illustrated with photographs.

HISTORY OF REPUBLICAN INROADS IN SOUTH

Vincent P. DeSantis, Republicans Face the Southern Question — the New Departure Years, 1877-1897 (Baltimore, The Johns Hopkins Press, 1959), 283 pp. $5.00.

Filling a gap in Southern history, this book is a study of the Republican party and the South after Reconstruction. It deals with the Republican efforts to solve the Southern question that has both handicapped and sectionalized the party since its formation in 1854. It is the story of the attempts by the national Republican leadership to establish a Republican party in the South over the period of 1876-1896. Each Republican administration tried a different strategy, as it sought to build the party's strength in the old Confederacy, and these contrasts become clear in the detailed account of the GOP's pursuit of a hitherto hopeless endeavor.

Adds to Political History

An associate professor in the history department, Mr. DeSantis came to Notre Dame from Johns Hopkins and is a specialist in Southern studies.

The subject is one of growing importance and interest and it is an important addition to the meager literature of American party history.

of cooperation within our Alumni we are certain that the survey will succeed and will be of significant help to all of us.

Recognizing that such a survey can attain a real purpose, we also know that we can never replace the advantages to Notre Dame of personal contact with you, with class officers and with the various clubs. We hope to make continued improvements in personal contact with Alumni so that all Alumni will feel their part in the close family relationship with Notre Dame—so that all Alumni will know more of the needs, the problems, the good things, the mistakes, the honors, the plans, and the future of Notre Dame.

Admissions

One of the matters which is apparently in the minds of a great majority of Alumni (if we can judge from the many discussions about it at the Universal Notre Dame Night gatherings) has to do with the present University policy on student admissions. We are all faced with questions about admissions either from our own family or from friends and associates. These questions say:

"Does a candidate for admissions have to be a straight A student?

Why are the standards so rigid and so high? What are the chances of the average high school boy? Is it true that Notre Dame wants only the genius of the classroom?"

These questions must be answered with fact, and speaking as one who has just consulted with Father Moran, the Director of Student Admissions, let me say this to you:

Notre Dame seeks the well balanced student, not the young man who is scholar alone, or athlete alone, or whose record shows an abundance of social activities only. Being a student only is not enough, just as being an athlete only is not enough. Naturally everyone expects the best from Notre Dame in all her undertakings. Therefore, Notre Dame seeks the best and tries to provide the best in her graduates. This does not mean, however, that all candidates must be straight A in high school. It means, rather, that to be admitted, a student must have proven his scholastic ability and must have shown some recognizable leadership potential. The best applicant is one who has exhibited successful interest in study, in play, in fun and in prayer—with an understanding of the relationship of one to the other.

Certainly the scholastic standards of admission and of study have become more difficult to meet. Before any graduates—or faculty members—of any vintage, may feel that the change in standards is a reflection on them let me point out with a well worn expression that "times have changed." Who can deny that our social and business world is much more competitive than it was just a few years ago. Any college degree is not the key which will open all doors. And if Notre Dame is going to train men to be responsible Catholic leaders in this competitive world, she must begin with the best balanced charge of raw material and she must bear down hard on classroom standards so that facing the world will not be a freshman experience for the graduating senior.

As Alumni we can make a very real personal contribution to Notre Dame by a good understanding of this policy. We can all help, just as so many hundreds of graduates are now helping, by advising, and counseling, and screening with honest judgment those young men, including our own sons, who come to us with admission to Notre Dame in mind. We cannot do the job of the Admissions office but we can act as scouts and counselors. And to those of you who have been so helpful in this area in the past may I express the warm appreciation of the Alumni Association as well as the University for a most valuable service.

ordinary ability and great promise and we welcome him most warmly.

Mr. John A. Buczkowski, '48L, has been appointed lecturer on law and will teach the course on Torts while Professor Wagner is on leave next year. Mr. Buczkowski received an LL.M. from New York University in 1949. He is engaged in the active practice of law in South Bend.

Dean O'Meara participated in a conference on legal education held in June under the auspices of the University of Michigan Law School. He took part in a national conference on "Law and The Layman," held in Miami in connection with the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

SYMPOSIUM ISSUE

The Notre Dame Lawyer will publish a Symposium Issue. It will contain the papers read at the Symposium on the Problems and Responsibilities of School Desegregation, held at the Notre Dame Law School last May. Also to be included is an extensive student analysis and discussion of the legal aspects of desegregation. This latter, it is believed, will fill a real need, as there is not now in existence any such comprehensive examination of the many legal problems involved in desegregation.

Minutes of the Meeting of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association of the University of Notre Dame, June 11, 1959.

Resolution

CHARLES E. ROHR, DECEASED

WHEREAS, Charles E. Rohr, '30, a member of this Board 1958-1961, died in Cleveland, Ohio, on April 3, 1959,

BE IT RESOLVED, that this Board express its grief and its condolences to his family.

Charles Rohr was a Notre Dame man. He was jealous of the stature of Notre Dame and generous to everything that contributed to its increase.

He was a man aggressive in his loyalties, to his Church, to his family, to his business, and to his University.

In each of these areas of his devotion he cherished and advanced the traditions by his own participation, and contributed much to the concept of charity by his forgiving acceptance of so many who fell far short of his example.

The Board concurs in the many tributes from friends in all walks of life who have expressed their sense of appreciation and loss. It brings its own tribute to a close with the knowledge that the spiritual strength and the intangible enrichment that flow from association with a man like Charles Rohr encounter far too soon the limitation of human expression. It is here that the great teachings which had motivated Charles Rohr's life bring their consolation to those who survive him—his reward and his recognition are happily in the hands of God.

Akron

The Darago Administration, named for banker JOHN DARAGO, '34, the Akron club's new President, has been established with JOHN B. HUMMEL, II, '49, as its Vice-President, BRUCE W. RAFF, JR., '49, as its Secretary, and JOSEPH J. WEIBEL as its Treasurer. This administration's platform has been evolved and launched already.

JOE BOLAND, '27, and DON MILLER, '25, were made television celebrities again when they were honored guests on Universal Notre Dame Night. That night WILLIAM G. BURKHARDT, '35, was presented the Man of the Year Award by HUGH M. COLOPY, '33, and JOSEPH H. KRAKER, '29, served as the Master of Ceremonies for the Universal Notre Dame Night dinner at Akron's Sheraton Hotel.

—JOHN B. HUMMEL II, '49, Vice-Pres.

Alabama

The joint Purdue-N. D. boat excursion on May 9 was the last event of the Alabama Club until cooler weather, but now is as good a time as any to present the short prayer composed by the Club Chaplain for use before each meeting:

Our Lady of the Golden Dome. . . lovely Queen of our Indiana home. . . smile upon your sons here and there. . . who look to you for motherly care. . . Listen to voices from the Goldenrod State. . . seeking your help at the Heavenly Gate. . . In the Heart of Dixie we labor and live. . . Send us, O Mary, love only Christ can give.

—Rev. J.P.S., '49.

Boston

Officers of the Notre Dame Club of Boston for 1959-60 are: WILLIAM E. DACEY, JR., '49, Randolph, Mass., president; JOHN F. CONNELL, JR., '51, Lowell, Mass., vice-president; JOHN P. KARLE, '56, Scituate, Mass., secretary; and DOUGLAS D. ROBERTSON, '52, Hyde Park, Mass., treasurer.

The Boston Club's annual family outing was held on Sunday, June 21 at Stonehill College, "Notre Dame of the East."

Buffalo

President HENRY BALLING, JR., '52 and Vice-President JOHN ENDERS, Jr., '53, spent a very profitable week end on campus at Notre Dame. These two current leaders of the Buffalo Alumni Club's destiny went right to the top folks on campus to clear one of the most ambitious club programs ever undertaken. Needless to say, Armstrong, Krause, Cahill, Laughlin, Father Joyce, et al, were most co-operative in firming up the program for the coming year.

The stag outing for the Buffalo Club is traditionally an afternoon and evening affair, but this year after the pleasant trip to Strykersville, N.Y., most of the attending stags made the most of a whole week end away. . . . This on top of several of the men having been back to school for their annual class reunion put a few of the "men-about-town" way back in the left field doghouse. . . . Some of the committee that made the party so interesting (and extended) were JIM DONOGHUE, '48, and PAUL CARROLL, '48, in charge of the beer concession. WALLY NEVERLIN, '53; PAT NEVILLE, '52, and ED KING, '51, programmed the games (both amateur and professional). TOM KELLY was official photographer. Tom is of the Class of '49 and has been spending lots of photographic time trying to bring out the best photographic qualities of BOB WEBER, also a forty-niner. . . . The food was continuous and delicious, most everyone had a hand in it at one time or another, but those most responsible for having it in the right town on the given week end were: FRANK SHINSKEY, '52 (fresh from being a benedict), DON SEIFERT, '49; TED FLANIGAN, '38; ED HAYES, '37 (all the way from Dunkirk); DICK WAGNER, '53; FRANK KELLNER, '36; TED KUMROW, '36; CY RICKARD, '34, and the NOVAK boys CHARLIE, FRANK and JOHN. FRANK GAGLIONE and FRANK PUSATERI (the furniture men) together with AL IFFLANDER, '49, were in charge of the tables (for games) both indoors and outdoors. Over all were the sergeants-in-charge, the Brothers BALLING (HENRY and PAUL) assisted by JACK LaVIGNE. This was a stag that will be a long remembered date in the Greater Buffalo history. JOE DUFFY, '48, now in Buffalo, by way of Indianapolis and Louisville, through Tonawanda, has made a motion that Strykersville annex Buffalo. . . . It might be easier to find!

After the stag the "sports" and their friends made the big night at Buffalo Raceway for the annual running of the Notre Dame Handicap. . . . This outstanding event on the Buffalo Club calendar is made possible through the co-operation of James J. Dunnigan and his Buffalo Raceway organization. . . . This year JACK BOLAND and President HENRY BALLING with the assistance of James J. Dunnigan, president of Buffalo Raceway, presented the Notre Dame cooler blanket to the winning horse in the Notre Dame Trot. JACK BOLAND, chairman, and DON JACOBI, co-chairman, were ably assisted by GENE MILLER, '43; DON LOVE, '35; TONY ROCCO, '49; JOE WATSON, '42; JERRY TERHAAR, '50, and JOE MARCIN, '43. Incidentally, Joe Marcin is the man responsible for the very professional publicity work that has been going out for the Buffalo Club.

President Balling has invited all members of the Buffalo Club to get in the "act." There are many interesting projects that could use more manpower. Why not get to know your fellow members better. Work with them.

—DON JACOBI, '35, Secy.

Calumet Region

MURPHY, former Deputy Under Secretary of State, now Under Secretary for political affairs.

Details next issue on the golf tournament and sportsnight dinner held August 3 at Elmhurst Country Club under the chairmanship of JOHN URBAIN, '52, assisted by JIM JENNINGS and president PHIL FACCEMDA, '51; TOM FOLEY, BOB KING, HANK MCCORMACK, BUD ORR and BILL WHITE, all '52, and PAUL FULLMER, '53.

Dearborn

The Notre Dame Club of Dearborn 1959-60 election disclosed JOHN FISH, JR., '53, President; JIM KING, '50, Vice-President; and JOE BYRNE, '52, Secretary-Treasurer.

Our annual Family Picnic, ably planned, organized and executed by JERRY KELLY, was a grand success. Familiar faces were mirrored in the families of TOM NELSON, JACK COURTNEY, JERRY SARB, DON HICKS, DICK KING, JERRY WAYNO and JACK LAKE among the families represented.

The Mid-Summer Dinner-Dance received excellent cooperation from the weather and overwhelming attendance from members and friends. Mary Fish, Jeanne King, and Doris Byrne collaborated with the wives of the Board of Directors to present an evening filled with good music and fine food. Acting as hosts for this event were Jerry and Rita Wayno.

LEE LARACQUE, JACK SCHAEFER, and Dick King have been busy with preparation for Future Events.

Lee is chairman of the Stag Golf Day which will have been held August 13 at Glen Oaks C.C. This is an open event for all N.D.ers in the metropolitan Detroit area.

Jack Schaefer and Dick King are co-chairmen of the Club's biggest yearly event, socially and financially, the N.D. and M.S.U. football game Raffle and Trip. Plans are well underway for this renewal of an old rivalry on October 17, at East Lansing.

J. W. BYRNE, Sec.-Treas.

Decatur

It's a little late but worth reporting that our St. Patrick's Day Dance was a huge success. BUZZ MORAN was chairman of the event for the second straight year, and never was more effort exerted in planning a good time. Somehow Buzz managed to get an eight-piece band on our limited budget, which really added to things. Much thanks, Buzz!

On April 22, 1959, Universal Notre Dame Night was celebrated at the Blue Mill in Decatur. ALLAN LANDOLT was chairman, with GEORGE HUBBARD, BOB UHL and STEVE GRALIKER as committee. There were over 50 assembled for cocktails, dinner and a most excellent talk by JOHN BRODERICK, ass. dean of the N.D. Law School. His informal words got right down to the core of the educator's problems today and just what steps Notre Dame is taking to find a solution. Also at U.N.D. Night in Decatur it was our young club's greatest privilege to present the "Man of the Year" award to our president BERNARD MARTY. Award to Bernard's efforts and guidance, the Decatur Notre Dame Club would still be a dream. Our Notre Dame family is increasing: to FRANK LEX and BOB UHL baby boys, to MILT BEAUDINE a baby girl.

Since the first of the year we have five new members. They are POYNTELLE DOWNING and his son BILL DOWNING, BOB MURRAY, JACK MULLIGAN and STEVE FORAN, JR. There are still some N. D. men in the area who haven't joined us yet.

The next event was our third annual Golf & Stag, held on July 16. JOHN FOY, his reputation now world-wide for having a ball, refereed the 19th hole and saw that the food and drinks were in ample supply. Actually the golf outing was just a warm-up for our golf team, who expected to grab off honors at the Chicago Club Golf Tournament in August. Representing Decatur in the Windy City were BERNIE LIVERGOOD, captain and trainer; BERNIE MARTY, STEVE GRALIKER and G. HAROLD HUBBARD, anchorman.

BERNARD DWYER will manage the new Thrifty drug store at N. Main and Pershing Rd. in Decatur. GEORGE HUBBARD is now selling stocks and bonds for Tabor & Co. in Decatur. At the moment he has a good deal going on municipal bonds and is willing to handle mail orders (62 Greenridge Drive).

JIM RICHESON of the Pangborn Corp. (familiar name) has been frequenting our monthly luncheons; in fact, he came to our April luncheon which was called off. Jim works out of St. Louis. Our luncheons are as usual on the fourth Wednesday of each month at Grieders Cafe, N. Main St., Decatur.

Last but not least, STEVE GRALIKER has lost the distinction of being Decatur's most eligible bachelor to JIM UHL. Steve is now Decatur's most confirmed bachelor. Some people are just slow. —MILT BEAUDINE, '54.

Denver

Activities of the Denver Notre Dame Club seem to be suffering through a mild lull. Last spring's Universal Notre Dame Night celebration, with FATHER HESBURGH as honored guest and featured speaker, was certainly the biggest social event ever held by the local club. The excitement from that event evidently has not worn off yet.

Two annual events are scheduled, however. The many local Notre Dame sports stars were expected to attend the Denver Notre Dame Club's second annual Sports Luncheon. Included in the list of featured guests were former Notre Dame all-American JOHNNY LATNER, ex Irish basketball star JOHNNY DEE and freshman coach HUGH DEVORE via telephone interview. Also expected to attend new Colorado University football coach and former Michigan State all-American Sonny Grandelius. The year's other annual happening will be the club's annual late summer picnic. Plans are now being laid for a gala affair that will be reported on in the next edition.

DENVER DIARY

New Denver Realtor, recently moved from Columbus, Ohio, is BOB POISSON, '49. . . . Running unopposed for his second term as Denver City Auditor in last May's municipal election was TOM CURRIGAN, '41. . . . Detroit

The Notre Dame Club of Detroit held its annual Universal Notre Dame Night dinner at the Latin Quarter on April 8, 1959. Under the chairmanship of LOU CONROY some 500 Alumni and friends gathered to pay tribute to the School of Our Lady.

We in the Motor City were indeed honored to have FATHER THEODORE M. HESBURGH, President of the University, as our guest speaker. In his talk, Father Hesburgh reiterated remarks made earlier in the day at a press conference. He stressed the University's ideals to inspire and motivate young students, who are not necessarily geniuses, but who have the basic intelligence to do good, hard, solid study. He pointed out that a university's responsibility is to make each student "use what God has given him" and to develop an imagination, initiative and moral responsibility which will mold him into a "whole man."

Father Hesburgh also outlined the Foundation's Ten-Year Plan and just what we hope to accomplish by strengthening the faculty and facilities to entrench Notre Dame among the top Universities of the World. Currently Notre Dame is running sixth from the top in scholarships and fellowships in open competition with 1,800 colleges and universities across the nation which, indeed, is a true indication of the quality of education offered at Notre Dame. Father Hesburgh concluded his talk by re-dedicating the School to Notre Dame du Lac.

Preceding Father Hesburgh's inspiring talk awards were given to EDWARD A. GAGE, Detroit's 1959 "Notre Dame Man of the Year" and to JOSEPH H. CAREY, retiring President of Notre Dame Club of Detroit.

An impressive array of 33 guests representing leaders of the local civic, business and educational fields were introduced by Byron J. Nichols, Chrysler Corporation group vice president for automotive sales, who presided as toastmaster.

The newly elected officers for 1959-60 were installed: President, DON HERRON; First Vice President, LOU CONROY; Second Vice President, WILLIAM RONEY; Secretary, JERRY ASHLEY, and Treasurer, THOMAS J. VERBIEST.

Numerous events are being planned for the '59-'60 season.

The Notre Dame Club of Detroit had its annual summer golf party at Oakland Hill Country Club on Tuesday, June 30.

JOHN PANELLI, All-American fullback in 1948 at Notre Dame and former Detroit Lion and Chicago Cardinal star, was chairman of this year's event.

JOE KUCHARICH, head football coach of the Fighting Irish, was guest speaker at dinner following golf. Athletic director ED KRAUSE and FATHER JEROME WILSON, business vice president, were also invited.

As an added attraction, Oakland Hills made arrangements to have Sammy Sneed demonstrate the finer points of golf.

The Notre Dame Club presented a specially built 1939 Ford station wagon to VAN WALLACE, a former student from Mt. Clements injured in a swimming accident on July 4, 1924. Van, who had just completed his freshman year at South Bend, has been confined to bed ever since.

Ecuador

From Quito, Ecuador, S.A., Club President JOHN MOELLER reports on the state of the organization. Organized under the stimulus of visits by FATHERS HESBURGH, KENNA and CUNNINGHAM, with John as president and ANTONIO MORTENSEN as secretary-treasurer, the Ecuador Club has been in existence for three years. At first there were frequent meetings in the homes of various members, but the practice was discontinued because, with typical Latin hospitality, each host would try to outdo the others in the lavishness of arrangements. At the end of the summer season John will attempt to reorganize on a different basis.

President Moeller, married and the father of a family, is the owner of a dairy farm and is executive director of the Fulbright Commission in Ecuador. He sent the following information on other members. Secretary Mortensen is married and employed as manager of a match company in Quito. JAIME PINTO, married, with children, is the owner of a textile factory, as is family man FRANCISCO PINTO. JOSE ANDRADE, a farmer, is married and has children. So does OSWALDO ARROYO, partner in an architectural-engineering firm. ALFONSO GRIJALVA is single, a farmer and active in politics, while farmer RAMIRO SAMANIEGO is married and has a family. Bachelor LUIS GALVEZ works for the government. Farmers ALEJANDRO VILLAVICENCIO and JORGE ESPINOSA are both married and fathers. GONZALO SERRANO, also a farmer at present, is a bachelor. Temporarily missing from Quito but expected to return as members are ALBERTO PEREZ and, of course, JOSE GARCIA, who is a graduate student at N. D. on a Fulbright grant.

In October, when members will return to town to start their children in school, John hopes to begin a series of more enjoyable and less pretentious stag events, with perhaps one party a year to include the ladies.

Erie

The Erie Club held its first annual week-end retreat Feb. 21 and 22 at Mission Manor in Girard, Pa. Father Ralph Roimer, S.V.D., was retreat master and the theme of the retreat was "Faith."

This was undoubtedly the most inspiring and worthwhile function that the club has ever participated in. Retreatants were JACK BERTGES, DR. FELIX SHUBERT, JOE GLASS, TONY ZAMBROSKI, MIKE CAREY, DON BUSECK, BOB LUKES, LEO BRUGGER, DR. FREDERICK GABRIEL, JOE BARBER, LARRY STADLER, HERB KERN, ED KERN, JOHN MCCORMICK, RICH MCCORMICK and JOHN WALSH.

At the club's March dinner meeting, held at Martucci's Tavern, after a dish (large) of that delicious spaghetti, two new directors were elected. Directors whose terms expired are DON BUSECK, '50, and EARL O'CONNOR, '16. Newly-elected are ED KERN, '56, and RICH MCCORMICK, '55. Mr. and Mrs. JAMES ARMSTRONG were honored guests on the occasion of Universal Notre Dame Night in Erie. Mr. Armstrong spoke on the qualities required of the Notre Dame Man of the future and Mrs. Armstrong charmed the group with a few words from the women's side.

JOSEPH C. BARBER, '36, was presented the Notre Dame Man of the Year award. Atty. Barber was singled out for his exemplary professional activities and his achievements in alumni circles.

Other honored guests included Father Richard Carter and Father Edward Wojniak, SVD, author of "The Atomic Apostle." Also — Mr. and Mrs. HERBERT G. KERN, JR., Mr. and Mrs. ANTHONY ZAMBROSKI, Mr. and Mrs. THOMAS BARBER, Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT BARBER, Mr. and Mrs. LEO BRUGGER, Mr. and Mrs. CHARLES WITTMANN, Mr. and Mrs. DONALD C. BUSECK, Mr. and Mrs. HOWARD ESSICK, Mr. and Mrs. WILLIAM GRANT, Mr. and Mrs. JOHN J. MCCORMICK, JR., Mr. and Mrs. RICH MCCORMICK, Mr. and Mrs. JOHN S. YOUNG, Mr. JOHN WALSH, Mr. and Mrs. JOHN DUCATO, Dr. and Mrs. FREDERICK R. GABRIEL, Mr. and Mrs. JOSEPH T. STADLER, Mr. and Mrs. LAWRENCE STADLER, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. HEINLEIN, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. MCCARTHY, Mr. and Mrs. JACK BERTGES, Mrs. Marian Shaaf and Mr. F. H. Hipp.

It was decided at the club's May meeting, held at Carmen's Restaurant, that a raffle would be held for a trip for two to the 1959 N. D.-Navy football game. The motion for this particular game, made by HUMPHREY SULLIVAN, was seconded by E. Erdlatz. The raffle is being held for the benefit of the Notre Dame Foundation.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. FRED STRASER, '57, on the arrival of their daughter, Fred, who is now in the Army at Ft. Carson, Colo., is anxiously awaiting his magic date.

The club is looking forward to having BILL O'BRIEN of Pittsburgh with them for the summer as he and his family will be at his summer cottage in Edinboro, Pa.

DICK DALEY, '53, is selling surgical supplies for The American Sterilizer Co. He is presently located in Davenport, Iowa.

JOHN WALSH, '57, is also selling for the American Sterilizer Co. in the Meadville, Pa., area. John married Miss Helen Cavanaugh on July 25 in Lansing, Mich.

ED KERN, '56, and Miss Cathy Carrig were married on May 2, 1959.

It was the club's pleasure to welcome Mary and BOB LUKES, '49, into our ranks recently. LEO BRUGGER, '34, and CHARLIE WITTMANN, '31, working feverishly for an annual yacht excursion to places unknown.

JACK GOULD, '57, is all set for those cool summer evening rides in his new MG sports car. It looks as though Jack will be the favorite at the club's annual golf outing unless TOM YOUNG, '53, comes home or TONY ZAMBROSKI, '52, scrapes the rust off his clubs.

HIAWATHALAND—Mrs. Phil McCanna, Marinette, Wis., accepts her husband's Man-of-the-Year award from Mike O'Hara, Menominee, Mich., attorney, on U.N.D. Night in Escanaba, Mich. Dr. McCanna, unable to attend, was also named secretary-treasurer of the Hiawathaland Club.

It's hard to pick a winner at the golf outing and will be especially difficult this year, as rumor has it, that if JOE BARBER, '36, can get into his golf knickers this year he's going to go the eighteen.

DON BUSECK, '50, has been hitting those shag balls quite a bit lately and has been heard to say that JOHN DUCATO, '47, who made a stir last year, ought to be "duck soup" this year.

Our regular caddies — LARRY STADLER, '28, and PHIL HAGGERTY, '53, will be on hand again this year.

RAY LEGLER, '57, and JOHN WALSH, '57, are not entering as they seem to think one can do better at making side bets throughout the day.

I certainly hope that those of you who are interested in the outcome of our outing will read this column in the next issue for results. As a matter of fact, we members of the Erie Club will have to do the same for the results as it is a gross breach of ethics and etiquette to divulge anyone's score during or for the two weeks immediately following the outing.

—RICHARD T. MCCORMICK, '55, Secy.

Fairfield County

At a summer meeting WILLIAM MULRENAN, '37, of Fairfield, Conn., was elected president of the Fairfield County Club, succeeding ROBERT K. GRIFFIN.

Fort Lauderdale

The fifth annual State Convention of the Notre Dame Clubs of Florida was held at the Sea Ranch Hotel, Lauderdale-by-the-Sea, on April 24, 25 and 26.

Perfect weather again greeted the over 100 Notre Dame Men and their wives who traveled from all sections of the state, and from out-of-state as well, to assist in making this one of our most outstanding affairs.

Once again, hard working BOB GORE, JR., '31, served as General Chairman, and together with his lovely wife, Marge and Club President JOHN CALLAN, '21, and his wife, Eileen, acted as official hosts for the Convention. Assisting Chairman Gore were committee members GEORGE ERNST, '29; DICK WHELAN, '42; FRANK McDONOUGH, '41, and TOM WALKER, '42.

We were particularly honored this year by the attendance of His Excellency, Most Rev. COLEMAN F. CARROLL, the first Bishop of the newly-formed Diocese of Miami. Also in attendance and representing the University were Rev. EDMUND JOYCE, C.S.C., executive vice president, and JAMES E. ARMSTRONG, alumni secretary, accompanied by Mrs. Armstrong.

The Convention got under way Friday evening with a particularly fine fish dinner, with the fish being supplied through the efforts of Club Members

WILLAR MOSS and BOB GORE, JR., who "slaved" all the previous day in the Florida sun to provide the catch. The dinner was followed by a Mardi Gras Night, a new and most successful innovation this year, and as a result of which, through the efforts of the conventioners at the various games of chance, the associated clubs of the state were able to contribute $240 to the University.

The 36th Universal Notre Dame Night banquet was held in the main dining room of the Sea Ranch Saturday evening with many additional members and guests in attendance who were unable to spend the entire week-end with us. Father Joyce was principal speaker and told us a great deal of the University's present and future plans. Jim Armstrong then proceeded to tell us in his own inimitable manner how we all could play a part in those plans. President Callan presented Father Joyce with a check for $700 from the club treasury.

Another highlight of the dinner was the presentation to FRANK J. McDONOUGH, '41, of the Man of the Year award for the Fort Lauderdale Club. Frank, who served as Club President in 1958, well deserved the award for his accomplishments, not only within the Club, but also in business and civic ventures.

On Sunday morning Bishop Carroll celebrated eight o'clock Mass at nearby Church of the Assumption and then presided at the Communion breakfast. Bishop Carroll was awarded the Miami Club's Man of the Year award at the breakfast (see Miami Club notes). The rest of Sunday was devoted to enjoying the famous Sea Ranch Buffet and the awarding of tournament prizes. Prize winners were as follows:

Putting tournament (men), FRED BAUMER and (ladies) Mrs. C. P. SADOWSKI; shuffleboard, Mr. and Mrs. JOHN R. ATKINS; ping pong (singles), CHET SADOWSKI; (doubles), C. H. NETTER and TOM WALKER; horse shoes, JIM ARMSTRONG and GEORGE ERNST.

CONVENTION NOTES . . .

FATHER JOYCE had an unscheduled thrill when MIKE ZOROVICH, '44, flew him in his private plane from Fort Lauderdale to Miami to catch his scheduled plane north. . . . Everyone was saddened by the death last month of Missy Glass, 13-year-old daughter of club member PAUL GLASS, '40. Father Joyce offered his Mass for her on Sunday morning of the Convention. . . . JIM ARMSTRONG'S practice Horse Shoe pitching on Campus has paid dividends as he was second in the Convention Horse Shoe Contest with sharp-eyed partner GEORGE ERNST, '29, the winner and still champ.

BILL HICKEY, '42, and his wife, Pat, traveled the longest distance to attend the Convention—all the way from Chicago. Bill, of course, is FORCED to attend these affairs as Secretary of the Class of 1942. . . . Club Member BILL RICKIE, '39, deserves a vote of thanks for his fine candid camera work during the weekend. . . . CY STROK-

ER, '37, Lakeland, enjoyed the reunion with his old roommate, Father Joyce. Cy is due for a fine promotion at Davison Chemical Company at Bartow, Florida. . . . GEORGE RUDOLPH, '42, also of Lakeland, is fast gaining the title of the baldest man in the Class of '42 (perhaps it can be attributed to the used car business). . . . BILL RICKE's camera proved that DR. BILL WELCH, '48, still can cut a mean rug on the dance floor. . . . EMMET MORAN, '42, formerly of Chicago, is now a resident of South Miami.

Fort Wayne

Since our last report to the ALUMNUS, many club activities have taken place. In February we had election of officers at a meeting held at the Centivire Social Room. The new officers are PAUL SCHIRMMEYER, President; RALPH BLUME, Vice-President; JOE DANIEL, Vice-President; AL WARD, Treasurer; and BOB LUTHER, Secretary. The program for the evening included sport movies shown by BOB O'REILLY.

In March we held our annual Day of Recollection at the Crosier House of Studies. Father JOSEPH FIGHTNER, O.C.S., was our retreat master; JIM and JACK SCHENKEL were co-chairmen of this event.

The highlight of this year's activities occurred in April on Universal Notre Dame Night. We were honored with the presence of JAMES ARMSTRONG as our guest speaker. The event was held at the Orchard Ridge Country Club. Included in the program was the selection of JOSEPH COLIGAN as our Notre Dame Man of the Year. The presentation of this award was made by DONNELLY P. McDONALD, Jr., a former recipient of this award. DICK ROSENTHAL was chairman and toastmaster of this annual event which proved very successful as always.

—JOE DANIEL, Retiring Secretary

Hiawathaland

At the Hiawathaland Club's Universal Notre Dame Night ceremony in Escanaba, Mich., DR. PHIL McCANNA of Marinette, Wis., was named as Notre Dame Man of the Year. His wife accepted the award since he was unable to attend. The new Hiawathaland officers are: T. J. BERGAN, Escanaba, president; DON TROTTER, Escanaba, vice-president; and DR. PHILIP R. McCANNA, secretary-treasurer.

Club members were saddened by the death of Mr. Frank Lauerman, father of Ray and Frank and uncle of Henry Lauerman. In the past year L. T. PLOUFF visited Rome (enjoying an audience with the Holy Father and the hospitality of the N.D. Club of Rome) and also toured Central and South America.

Houston

Some 150 members of the Houston Notre Dame Club and the Ladies' Auxiliary gathered on Wednesday evening, April 1, at the River Oaks Country Club for the Universal Notre Dame Night Dinner. ED "MOOSE" KRAUSE was the honored guest for the evening. His address was a highlight as he recalled his greatest days in Notre Dame, paid tribute to the alumni of the school, and then outlined the aims of the university in its athletic and educational program.

PAUL J. DOYLE, '36, a native of South Chicago, Illinois, and now the father of four children, was selected as the Notre Dame Man of the Year. He was presented a plaque by outgoing president LEIGHTON YOUNG for his outstanding service to the Church, his community, and Notre Dame.

The new officers of the Club were introduced by the master of ceremonies R. CONROY SCOGGINS. They are: LARRY KELLEY, '42, president; LEO LINBECK, JR., '56, vice-president; DON McCORRY, '57, secretary, and JERRY ODDO, '57, treasurer. MRS. MARY MILLER, the newly elected president of the Notre Dame Auxiliary was introduced, and MRS. GEORGE T. ADAM was commended for her job as outgoing president.

—E. D. McCORRY, JR., Secy.

Indianapolis

Since this is the initial article of your new correspondent, I find it difficult to determine where to begin this report of our club activities. So we will start with our very successful Universal Notre Dame Night, way back on April 7th where JOE KUCHARICH was our excellent principal speaker. At this dinner, which was attended by 400 alumni and friends from the Greater Indianapolis area, the nominating committee announced the elections for

The Prompter's Box

MAN OF THE YEAR

You will notice that this year's Universal Notre Dame Night reports and pictures are peppered with the phrase, "Notre Dame Man of the Year." The word "peppered" is used advisedly: the Man-of-the-Year award is the spice of U. N. D. Night and, like any spice, demands care and caution in application. Thus Men of the Year are not nearly so universal as U. N. D. Night itself.

Until recently the Alumni Office supplied Man-of-the-Year scrolls to every Notre Dame Club. The practice was abandoned lest each Club feel obliged to make an award every year regardless of the fitness of candidates. The expense of the general distribution was secondary to the danger of cheapening the award itself as a reason for the decision. In recent years the scrolls have been supplied only on request. The recipients may be fewer, but they are outstanding in their exemplification of the ideals and aspirations implicit in the phrase "Notre Dame man."

The award is susceptible of all kinds of modifications. The Philadelphia Club named Cardinal O'Hara "N. D. Man of the Years," since a single year seemed inadequate. Most nominees are alumni, but awards to distinguished non-alumni are often timely and, as with smaller groups whose members would otherwise merely trade awards, sometimes downright necessary. The N. D. Club of Jackson, Mich., has recognized a penitentiary warden, a Felician nun, and this year the whole Jackson police force along with the chief as "Men of the Year." Possibilities are endless as long as merit is high.

A popular device for choosing candidates is the appointment of a selection committee made up of former winners. This will spare a possible nominee the embarrassment of having to rule on his own candidacy and eliminate the danger that a leading candidate will disqualify himself.

the 1959-60 club year. BOB WELCH, '50, was elected president, and PAT FITZGERALD, '52, as vice-president. The secretary's post went to BILL McGOWAN, '57, and the re-elected "banker" was DICK OWENS, '42. These four edged out JOE QUILL, '48; JACK O'HARA, '49; BILL MOONEY, '57, and FRANK HURLEY, '50. The entire club membership would like to thank last year's officers for a job more than well done. Credits go to LEO BARNHORST, '49; TOM BULGER, '39; CHUCK STIMMING, '53, and DICK OWENS, '42. Hope this year's group can carry on the fine programs they inaugurated during their term.

One week after the dinner the officers and board of directors met to discuss old and new plans for the coming year. Besides the newly-elected officers previously named, all of the following board members were present: JACK ELDER, '30; HENRY ENGEL, '40; JOHN FORD, '37; JOHN HARRINGTON, '29; TOM CARNEY, '37; BUD TURNER, '48, and the past president, LEO BARNHORST, '49 (ex-officio).

MIAMI — Bishop Coleman F. Carroll (right), shown with Mrs. Jim Armstrong and Father Joyce, addressed the Communion Breakfast and was named Miami's "Man of the Year" during the Lauderdale Convention.

Our hard working president then sent out several letters to the entire membership, setting up committees and telling of the coming events.

On June 18, BILL SAHM, '51, and his committee ran one of our largest annual Stag Outings. One of the reasons (besides the beverages) for the good turnout was the newly installed phone committee. This committee, headed by the Veep and this writer, proved to be very beneficial in reminding the alumni to "come on out." The honored guests at this function were the 15 June graduates. JOHN VAN BENTON, '44, heads the job counseling committee, which is attempting to help the graduates procure jobs in the Indianapolis area.

The club now has an executive secretary in JACK BRADSHAW, '54, and our permanent downtown club address will be 1006 Chamber of Commerce Bldg. We hope that all the members will keep Jack informed as to any changes of address by calling his law office, ME 4-7588. Also we hope when you alumni are in town you will contact the members by phoning Jack.

We planned a real professional golf tournament for July 23. JOHN FOLEY, captain of the golf team at school in '55, was made chairman of the event and was ruled ineligible to play since he wins it too often.

President Bob has created a great deal of spirit and interest in the club, combining the talents of the young and old. Briefly I would like to mention some of our tentative plans for the future: (1) Our N. D. Family Picnic will be held at Ladywood School on Sunday, Aug. 23, with JACK ELDER, '30, "running the show." (2) The Interview Committee for boys entering Notre Dame, in September, 1959, is in operation. (3) Plans are under way for the Indianapolis Scholarship trip to possibly the Northwestern game, and we are considering bringing Notre Dame away-football games to the Indiana Theater via closed circuit TV. (The profits from this would also help keep our four scholarship winners in Notre Dame.) (4) The Father & Son Corporate Communion Breakfast will be December 6. (5) To promote more interest in the Alumni Christmas Dance is another new plan for this year.

I hope this was not too windy but our president requested me to "tell all" and the editors of this magazine said "fill space." Thanks, and hope to see you soon.

—BILL McGOWAN, JR., '57, Secy.

Kansas City

The start of summer brought the activities of our club into high gear. The Auxiliary was active as usual and Mrs. W. J. SHARP is the new President. Our President, JOHN MASSMAN, presided at the installation and in return, received a substantial donation to be forwarded to the University. This was the result of the profits of the many and varied fund raising functions of the busy auxiliary. The club offers their congratulations and thanks to the outgoing officers led by MRS. JOE VANDYKE.

The Schlitz Brewery held a "Schlitzfest" in honor of HUGH DEVORE and DICK BOWES. We turned out 150 strong. The full proceeds went to the scholarship fund. Hugh did a great job and the University received plenty of good publicity as the event was covered by local newspapers and television stations. This is an annual affair for local alumni.

Five days later, June 13, to be exact, the auxiliary held its summer cocktail party. Two hundred guests swelled the Scholarship Fund with their contributions. Frankly, we're extremely proud of the ladies, God bless them. They are an active, interested group furthering the best interest of the University. We are sure no finer auxiliary exists anywhere and, gentlemen, they average over a thousands dollars a year in monetary gifts to University.

LOCAL ALUMNI IN THE NEWS: PAUL RUPPS' Auto Parts Company opened a new addition recently and the Chillicothe paper honored them with a 32-page supplement. TOM CARROLL joined CONNIE MACK as N.D. representatives on the Kansas City Athletics so the Victory March is now a part of Zenas' daily selections on the Municipal Stadium organ.

TOM O'MALLEY is in the midst of producing our first roster in eight years. He believes delivery will take place in July. While Tom wrestles the printers, CRAIG WHITAKER is interviewing applicants for the annual $1600 scholarship. This award is the result of the many functions of the club so the choice of the worthiest applicant is an important and difficult task. Craig and his committee do a remarkable job.

RUSSELL FARRELL and BOB METZLER announced a football trip to the N.D.-Northwestern game. Plans to be announced later. In the meantime, we'll have two more functions prior to the game. The annual summer picnic in August followed by a freshman kickoff dinner.

Visiting alumni are always invited to attend our functions and information is available by calling Plaza 1-2360.

Kentucky

Members of the Kentucky club took part in a closed retreat at the famed Abbey of Our Lady of Gethsemani, Trappist-Cistercian monastery at Trap-pist, Ky., in late May.

La Crosse

FATHER TOM NINNEMAN conducted the club's second holy hour of the season May 25 at St. Dominic's Monastery. This spiritual function is open to Notre Dame Club members, their wives, families and friends. Four such holy hours are held each year. Incidentally, Father Tom, who is athletic director of Aquinas High School, heads for Catholic University in Washington, D. C., this summer to take courses in higher education.

TOM JAEK, Caledonia, Minn., and BOB KELLY, Winona, Minn., are two recent additions to our club. We lost a loyal member of long standing when BOB PADESKY and family moved to Port Huron, Mich., in June.

Members are now pointing to the steak fry held annually in September at PETE RAU's cottage. BERNIE LAVINS, JERRY HEBERLEIN, ROGER ZOELLNER and TOM SAGGAU head the committee geared to make the event a success.

Tom Saggau has recently joined the personnel department of the Trane Company here in the city.

Lehigh Valley

Summertime has been a busy time with the Notre Dame Club of the Lehigh Valley. After the regular May membership meeting at the Hotel Bethlehem, the new year under President JIM WALSH got under way. The June membership meeting held on June 25 at the Hotel Easton in Easton, Pa., featured the showing of the Prudential Insurance Company film, "Rockne of Notre Dame." The film which appeared over CBS-TV's "Twentieth Century" show last fall was a tremendous success. TOM FOGARTY handled arrangements for the meeting.

Highlight event of July was the annual family picnic. JOHN SMITZ and his fine committee arranged the outing for the alumni, students, and guests. Although the Old Timers spent several weeks in training, the outcome of the annual softball game was unchanged as the youngsters won again.

August will see the second golf outing. Prizes for ability as well as the "most honest golfer" will be awarded.

Los Angeles

After U.N.D. Night under the capable chairmanship of BILL HUSTON, the continuing officers, through President DON BRADY, reported that the year's activities had netted $2,500, $2,000 of which went into the scholarship fund, which now approaches $7,000. A committee is being set up to determine the basis for scholarship awards.

The summer picnic, managed by PAUL RUBLY, will be followed shortly by a retreat, Sept. 11-13 (EUGENE CALHOUN, chairman) and a Freshman Sendoff under the direction of BOB KELLEY. Future events will include a Sports Dinner in November (under LEO TURGEON), December Communion Breakfast (PAUL ROONEY) and Christmas Dance (MARK WALSH), and next April's U.N.D. Night under the chairmanship of MORT GOODMAN.

Miami

The fifth annual State Convention of Florida Notre Dame Clubs was again held at the Sea Ranch

MIDLAND-ODESSA — This gay throng greeted N. D. athletic director Ed Krause (seated, center) on a U. N. D. Night visit to Midland, Texas.

Hotel in Ft. Lauderdale, April 24-25-26. In attendance from the University was FATHER JOYCE, executive vice president and JIM ARMSTRONG, Alumni Secretary, both of whom gave talks at the Universal Notre Dame Night Banquet. JOHN L. CALLAN, President of Lauderdale Club was M.C. of the affair. The highlight of the weekend insofar as our local club is concerned, was the awarding of the title "Notre Dame Man of the Year 1958" to His Excellency, the Most Reverend COLEMAN F. CARROLL, Bishop of Miami. This presentation by the Miami Club was made by President CHARLIE MAHER at the breakfast following the Bishop's Mass on Sunday morning. BOB GORE was convention chairman.

Those who attended from Miami included Amelia and GEORGE COURY, Mary K. and URBAN KOKENGE, Florence and CHET SADOWSKI, Dorothy Brautigam and Mrs. Duhaime, Betty and MIKE ZOROVICH, Corinne & RICHARD SADOWSKI, Betty and ED KELLY, Mary and I. I. PROBST, Pat and HENRY KEEL, Mary and ED HANLEY, JR.; Becky and DON JARRETT, Lois and JIM SMITH, Patty and BILL WELCH, the JACK HOUGHTSELINGS, FATHER McLAUGHLIN, and CHARLIE MAHER.

Our gang distinguished itself in the Pingpong, Champagne, Roulette, Craps, and Statue Moving contests; and registered as also-rans in the putting, shuffleboard, horseshoes and assorted sports; a few got their bathing suits wet and nobody was late for the meals and cocktail parties. The Keel-Goren system was tried, redoubled and hung on the third day . . . Kelly displayed phenomenal finesse as an "ox-eener" and as a second story artist, proving that the door "ain't been made" that the ol' revooner can't get thru. The Courys put on another of their famous coffee-breaks in the wee small hours following the dance. The UK camera service recorded numerous scheduled and unscheduled events.

The May meeting, held at the University Club, featured "Blaze" five-card game of skill by Wilson, Streeter, Keel, Reilly, Lyons and Welch. Activities for the remainder of the year were discussed and committees were assigned as follows: Annual Picnic, JOHN THORNTON, chmn., scheduled for late August; Sweepstakes, DAN ROWLANDS, chmn., scheduled for September; Christmas Party, JIM SMITH, chmn., scheduled for December.

A vote of supreme confidence was registered as to the preference of the University Club as a meeting place, and Silent Sen. Sadowski made some prodigious promises about his endorsement of the Urney "meetin'house" . . . JIM BOYLE was reminiscent of the days Badin Hall was the crossroads of N.D. life. Your Club is making arrangements for a showing at one of the coming meetings of the film, "Rockne at Notre Dame."

The June meeting featured a joint venture wherein the Notre Dame Club and the University Club joined in an evening of open bar buffet, and an interesting program arranged for by our Club under the direction of BILL WELCH, program chairman for the evening. The University Club with Prexy Art Sells handily arranged for us to join their stag bar and buffet with some fifty of their members, which was to precede Rocky Marciano and a beer smoker. Due to an emergency trip north at the last minute by Rocky, a revised program was quickly put together by Chairman Welch, which featured Clint McGeary, manager of Rocky, who brought a fine film of the Marciano-Moore fight, and who gave a nice talk on the only undefeated ex-heavyweight boxing champion. There were an estimated forty plus NDers on hand.

Our heartiest congratulations to Dan and Dee Rowlands, who have just added another candidate for the Notre Dame roster of 1979, Douglas Rowlands, born June 5 at Doctor's Hospital. Father, Mother and baby are all doing fine!

Midland-Odessa

H. BYRNE O'NEILL succeeded JOHN BUCKLEY as president of the N.D. Club of Midland-Odessa after a highly successful U.N.D. Night deep in the heart of Texas, featuring athletic director ED KRAUSE.

Milwaukee

JOHN LINNEHAN, '40, of Wauwatosa, Wis., succeeded WALTER O. SCHNEIDER as president of the Notre Dame Club of Milwaukee after elections on July 15. Other new officers are JOHN WILKINSON, '56, vice-president; THOMAS HERMAN, '57, secretary, and CHARLES O'BRIEN, '55, treasurer, all of Milwaukee.

Mohawk Valley

The annual Mohawk Valley Club picnic was held under rather adverse conditions (doesn't it always happen?) on June 17 at Twin Ponds Golf and Country Club in New York Mills. Although it was pretty damp on the outside, we were able to move the "picnic" inside. More than 30 faithful turned out (or in), the food and drinks and ourselves stayed dry, and everyone who attended seemed to have a real fine time. CHARLIE HITZELBERGER, '32, was chairman of the affair and did a good job in taking care of everything but the weather.

Among those who attended was FRANK HACKETT, '11, who has supplanted FRANK OTT, '22, as the "elder statesman" of the club.

"SLEEPY JIM" CROWLEY was in the area just prior to the picnic to act as main speaker at an athletic banquet in honor of the Utica Catholic Academy High School basketball and baseball squads. He did a really terrific job, as did emcee CHARLIE HITZELBERGER, '32. Among those who turned out for this affair and to wish Jim well were FRANK DONALTY, '32; ED SWEENEY, '30; LOUIE CLARK, '34, and KEN MURPHY, '54 (along with his dad, who is one of the leading subway alumni).

FELIX (PHIL) AQUINO, '30, a teacher at Kernan School in Utica, was a recipient of the Utica newspapers' scholarship which enabled him to attend a Syracuse University workshop on "The Newspaper in the Classroom."

ED REAGAN, '42, is in line for congratulations on his recent appointment to the presidency of the Mohawk Valley Chapter of the Society of Industrial Engineers.

The club is mourning the passing of the mother of ED SWEENEY, '30, who was 89 years young.

ROOT, Mr. and Mrs. JERRY KELLY, Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT ROHLING, Mr. and Mrs. HERB SAMPSON, JACK MCCOUN, JIM BUCKLEY, J. L. New Jersey

Seventy-five New Jerseyites turned out for the election of officers and the annual Alumni Club Golf Outing June 2 at the Glen Ridge Country Club.

Despite a heavy rain that nearly washed out the affair, about 25 die-hard duffers survived the 18-hole test and were later revived at the 19th hole in the clubhouse.

ANGELO BERTELLI, '43, more noted for his long passes, played golf, awarded the prizes (one to himself) and acted as toastmaster of the dinner. BRUCE DOLD, '53, perennial chairman of the event, was elected club treasurer for the coming year at the annual election meeting which followed the pot roast.

Besides Dold, the other officers elected were: BILL KIRCHNER, '51, president; JOE McKEON, '40, vice-president, and JACK SAND, '54, secretary. All will serve one year terms. Kirchner, a lawyer, replaced outgoing presy JOHN KELLY, '40, an investigator. Question is — who's watching who?

Some of the waterlogged winners of the golf match were: JOE SCULLY and BRUCE DOLD. Low gross: JOE BYRNE III and GEORGE WENZ, 2nd low gross; Dold again, longest drive: HANK KUNZE, closest to the pin on the eighth hole, and JOHN FAGAN, closest on the 13th; GENE DEAN, best dressed; JOE McKEON, worst dressed; BOB RICKER, biggest duffer; JOE O'TOOLE, biggest griper; BOB JOYCE, shortest drive; FRANK TRIPUCKA, short hitter; BUNKY REGAN, big swinger; JOHN SKUDRIS, scourge of the greens-keeper; JIM SEBOLD, crime of soliciting business during round; BERTELLI, sneaking a nip between ninth and tenth holes and par busters, Byrne, BILL WALDRON and JACK LONG.

Prizes were contributed by JACK QUINN, JERRY HAYES, BILL RILEY, PETE QUINN, GEORGE KEENAN, JOHN KELLY, and Messrs. Waldron, Joyce, Sebald, Fagan, Dean, Tripucka, Bertelli, Dold, Wenz and Long, all of whom won at least one award ranging from golf balls to vitamin pills.

Other New Jersey Club Alumni members attending the affair were BILL DEGNEN, PETE LUSARDI, DON LUSARDI, JIM BOHEM, HARMON WADE, DR. JERRY HAYES, TOM KRUG, PETE REGAN, Ray TROY, JOHN WINBERRY, FRANK MATT, BILL DONOVAN, JIM BRESLIN, HANK BORDA, BOB McKEE, DAN O'NEILL, GEORGE PLAIN, BOB LARKIN, LEO COSTELLO, GENE CODEY, JERRY DeROSA, DICK O'DONNELL, HARRY STEVENSON and ED VON HOENE. There were probably others who sneaked in later, but we failed to get their names.

JACK SAND, '54, Secy.

New York

The Club followed up U.N.D. Night with two of its most successful smokers on May 13 and 14. The first, sponsored by the Long Island Chapter was held at the Garden City Hotel. The principal speaker was JOE KUCHARICH who made an excellent impression on the crowd of over 300, notwithstanding his guarded prognosis for the future. Chairman AL LESMEZ, his Committee, and the Chapter officers did an excellent job.

The second smoker, sponsored by the Westchester Chapter, was held at the Westchester Country Club. Another crowd in excess of 300 heard JOE KUCHARICH and MALCOLM WILSON, Acting Governor of the State of New York. JOE DURKIN and his Committee likewise did a particularly outstanding job.

One of the Club's most worthwhile endeavors has been its Scholarship Trust Fund. The Committee, chairmanned by DAN HIGGINS, JR., is comprised of BILL FUGAZY, TOOTS SHOR, BILL FALLON, RICHARD REID, FRANCIS FEE, JAMES MULVEY, GEORGE HORN, HAROLD MARSHALL, CLAUDE CARTIER, and JAMES SHEILS, secretary. The Committee selected THOMAS HALE MORROW of St. Francis Prep and Forest Hills, and STEPHEN McMAHON of Seton Hall H.S. and Rockville Centre, as this year's winners.

The Club has found it increasingly difficult to raise the necessary funds for the scholarships and is exploring the possibility of using new media for this purpose, e.g., theater party, directory, etc.

The annual golf outing, under the chairmanship of FLO MCCARTHY, HOWIE FAHEY, and GORDON FORESTER, was held on June 30 at the Leewood Golf Club. It was followed by, appropriately enough, a corned beef and cabbage dinner. There were prizes galore for golfers and non-golfers. (JACK HOYT, a former Club President, is now President of Leewood.) Details next issue.

The annual beach party, sponsored by the Long Island Chapter, was held on July 15 at Gilgo Beach (details also forthcoming). This is a particularly popular affair inasmuch as it is strictly for the family. This year's chairman is JOHN MARTIN.

—WILLIAM V. CUDDY, Secy.

Philadelphia

On May 22 a happy throng of friends gathered at the Barclay Hotel to congratulate CHARLES M. DOUGHERTY, '26, on his appointment by Governor Lawrence as Secretary of Revenue for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The occasion was "Charlie Dougherty Day," an informal testimonial luncheon honoring Charlie, one of the Philly Club's favorite sons. RAY BRODERICK promoted tickets on a committee consisting of co-Chairman CHARLEY CONLEY, TOM MATTHEWS, JACK DEMPSEY, BUD DUDLEY, BILL WHITESIDE, CHARLIE McKINNEY and CLIFF PRODEHL, luncheon chairman. Also on the program were Club President JOHN MOORHEAD and BILL GREEN, who introduced "Charlie."

Cliff was also chairman of the gala Philadelphia Club Outing and Clam Bake June 20 at the Commercial Club, Port Indian, on the Skuylkill River. The picnic featured chicken, lobster tails, beer, dancing, movies, etc. Charlie Conley was in charge of a drawing for an all-expense trip to the Southern Cal-N.D. game.

Pittsburgh

The Pittsburgh Club's happiest summer function was the Father and Son Baseball Night on August 14, for the assembled dads and lads saw the Pirates edge the visiting champion Milwaukee Braves 2-1. The dinner and group attendance at the game was under the capable chairmanship of JOHN VUONO.

BILL MEYER and TOM NOURIE have been in charge of tickets for a drawing on an all-expense week end on campus for the Navy game.

The annual golf party will be held on September 16, 1959. SMOKEY COYNE once again has made the arrangements and further information will be distributed to members.

—DONALD W. BEBENIK, Secy.

Rochester

The Notre Dame Club of Rochester held its annual summer meeting on August 2 with a family type picnic at secluded Corbett's Glen, supplying games, prizes, beverages and hot charcoal for do-it-yourself barbecuers. Handling arrangements were JACK BURKE, LEE WESLEY and JOHN SCOTT.

September events include the Fall Dance (VIC DESIMON and TOM MURRAY, co-chairmen), Golf at Oak Hill (J. WILLIAM REEVES in charge) and distribution of chances on the sold-out Northwestern game of October 24. And next April, by real advance planning, Athletic Director ED KRAUSE is booked as the U.N.D. Night speaker.

Rockford

The Notre Dame Club of Rockford, Ill., has the distinction of being the only N.D. Club to observe the 36th anniversary of Universal Notre Dame Night (traditionally held in the Easter season) in the middle of the summer.

On Tuesday, June 30, REV. THOMAS J. O'DONNELL, C.S.C., associate director of the N. D. Foundation, was guest speaker.

At a meeting back in February the following officers were elected: WILLIAM H. LICHTENBERGER, '50, of Freeport, president; and from Rockford, THOMAS A. KEEGAN and GEORGE O'LEARY, JR., first and second vice presidents, respectively; RICHARD L. WILLSON, secretary, and ALBERT CARROLL, treasurer.

We have a very active schedule planned for this year, including two baseball trips to Milwaukee and a trip to the campus for a football game. In June we planned a golf stag at Forest Hills Country Club in Rockford, followed by another golf stag at the Freeport Country Club in July. L. W. CONDON, JR., of Rockford and DR. F. J. LOWNIK of Freeport are co-chairmen for the two events.

—RICHARD L. WILLSON, '58, Secy.

Rome

Another N. D. man has come to live in Rome: CHRIS W. COCHRANE, '46, of Toledo, Ohio. Chris is selling jeeps for Willys all over the Near East. He is now second Vice President of our Rome Club.

Circumstances made us forego N. D. Night this year but an affair — in character — is being planned for the fall when our presxy, Jerry Ashley of Detroit, will come over to firm up plans for the first N. D. Alumni Pilgrimage to Rome next spring (inquire of the Alumni office for details).

N. D.ers visiting Rome: Mrs. Charles Hickman, office secretary of the N. D. Chicago Club with Mrs. Loretta Tennes. Mrs. Hickman reminded us of her brother JOE MERRION, '20, and her three N. D. sons: Charles, '58; William, '59; Thomas, '63. DAVE HICKEY, '27, and wife from Los Gatos, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. JEROME CROWLEY, '31, from South Bend; Dr. and Mrs. FRANK MURPHY, '42, of Marion, O.; CHARLES CUSHWA, JR., '56, of Youngstown, Ohio; JOHN KENNEDY, '56, Mr. and Mrs. RAY GEIGER, '32, editor of the famous Farmer's Almanac, of Lewiston, Me., where he is president of the Maine N. The second annual Family Picnic was well attended by young and old on August 20. BILL GIBBONS was chairman, assisted by BURNIE BAUER.

The new diocesan Immaculate Heart Retreat House on Moran Prairie was the scene of the retreat and Father Edward Jennings, C.S.S.R., was the retreat master. Wyoming

A brand new alumni organization began in Casper, Wyo., last fall under the guiding hand of ROBERT A. MEYER, '41. After several meetings the Notre Dame alumni started what they hope will become an annual event in Casper. The group met April 7 for a very fine celebration of Universal Notre Dame Night at the Riverside Club in Casper. Bob Meyer was general chairman of the event.

Wyoming has never had an alumni club despite the fact that the Notre Dame men in our state are some of Wyoming's outstanding citizens. Lack of numerical strength, not lack of spirit, has been responsible. Our club can only succeed through a continuation of this spirit, since we still are few in number. Casper is the largest city in Wyoming and the most important economically. Our U.N.D. Night dinner was the only public relations action ever taken on the University's behalf. We received very good local publicity in press and radio and state-wide publicity with a story in the diocesan paper.

50-YEAR CLUB

From Green Bay, Wis., comes word from the recent widow and family of ROBERT E. LYNCH, '03. Green Bay's oldest and most distinguished alumnus, Mr. Lynch died May 1. He was a baseball star and coach at N. D., coached at Northwestern and Clemson and played semi-pro and minor league baseball. A Wisconsin Democratic assemblyman for 20 years, Mr. Lynch was responsible for a great deal of the state's progressive legislation. He received the Green Bay N. D. Club's Man-of-the-Year award twice in the last ten years. Mrs. Lynch wrote: "He had great devotion to Our Blessed Mother all his life, and she really took care of him," referring to his short, painless illness. "He was a promoter for her Miraculous Medal. . . had enrolled about 1500 people and had them praying to her. They were from all stations in life, none too high or none too low for Bob to enroll them."

HON. ERNEST E. L. HAMMER, '04, of New York City, recently referred by his classmate, HON. GALLITZEN A. FARABAUGH, to the book, "Colonel Hoynes of Notre Dame," in which he was quoted by REV. THOMAS A. LAHEY, C.S.C., wrote: "I have read the book from beginning to end with keen interest and aroused sentiments of deep emotion. Wonderful memories were reawakened by the lifelike portrayal of the beloved but frequently student-caricatured COL. WILLIAM HOYNES as he marched with dignity and friendliness across the pages, or was depicted as teacher in class, judge in moot court, orator at all patriotic celebrations and as a lovable human being on campus, in refectory and about his living quarters in Sorin Hall.

"I also greatly enjoyed and was pleasantly moved by the tributes to the Colonel by FATHER JOHN CAVANAUGH, of beloved memory, and by former students, most of whom were my own classmates or in attendance in my time.

"It all seemed as if we old students were gathered together in a conversation memorializing the wonderful events of our own student days at Notre Dame. Naturally it seemed this brought forth memories expressed of the lovable, though occasionally pompous, but always loyal and friendly Colonel Hoynes. He enjoyed a place of high renown with Notre Dame and we pray Our Lady has obtained for him a fitting place of rest in Heaven."

SPOTLIGHT ALUMINUS

PHILLIP P. PITON, '28
Majoring in the Minors

Phillip Piton, veteran administrative official, has served more than a quarter of a century as a quiet, behind-the-scenes executive of professional baseball.

Phil resided in Brownson Hall in 1924-25 while enrolled as a pre-law student. His career as a baseball official began with 15 years of close association with the professional sport's first commissioner, Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis. Following rejection as a Navy volunteer in W.W. II, for reasons of health, he did his stint during the war years as an examiner for the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

In 1945 and 1946, Phil served as staff executive for the National Patent Council and the American Fair Trade Council, public relations organizations devoted to preservation of the patent system and the fair trade laws.

Early in 1947, he joined his old friend George M. Trautman as executive assistant. Trautman had been named president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, succeeding Judge William Bramham. This is the administrative office of the Minor Leagues which spread across the United States, Canada, Mexico, and Cuba, as well as of seven Winter Leagues which operate in various Caribbean countries.

An authority on baseball law, Phil is the originator of many of the regulations which govern the day-to-day activities of the sport. Personal friend of every executive in baseball, he works closely with each as a liaison man between the Majors and Minors.

Phil married Mary Alice Brady of Quincy, Ill., in 1944. They reside with their daughter, Margaret Alice, at 4458 Sellers Avenue, Columbus, Ohio.

From the Alumni Office:

The death of DON HAMILTON of Columbus, Ohio, on June 2, was a great loss to the Alumni Association, to which his term as president was only one of many contributions as a lawyer, coach and athlete. As an undergrad Don quarterbacked the 1909 Western Champions and also won monograms in baseball. He played baseball for Louisville in the American Assn. and coached at Wittenburg U. before his long career as an attorney and athletic official. N. D. never had a more loyal fan.

An era seemed to close as wreckers began to dismantle the natatorium, headquarters of FATHER BERNARD LANGE's weight-lifting classes in their assault on the crumbling-but-beloved French Quarter behind the Main Building. Father Lange is still very active in quarters at the Student Infirmary.

FRANK MULCAHY, 500 "J" Avenue, Coronado, Calif., at which address he and his wife have been living since his retirement from the Marine Corps Aviation in '46, was one of the '14 Class who wrote a good account of himself though unable to be present.

Since his retirement as a high ranking officer in the Marine Corps Aviation (General) after service dating from the beginning of World War I, Frank has been admitted to the Bar and is now active in civil affairs. His son, Thomas, has two degrees from Notre Dame and is on active duty now with the Marine Corps Reserve. His daughter, Patricia, graduated this year from San Diego College for Women. Frank invites any class members out his way to come by and see him. He hopes to return the compliment when he can.

CLARENCE DERRICK is another transplanted Californian. He is an instructor in engineering at USC. His specific work is construction that will absorb earthquake shocks. This is quite a pioneer field of instruction and Clarence does some of his own textbook writing.

RON O'NEILL who usually writes these notes is fast improving at home. He was spunky enough lately to write his disapproval of talk about replacing and removing the Court House in South Bend.

E. A. KANE (Ned to you) wrote he couldn't make it because he would be in the East visiting his grandchildren.

Richard, the son of FRANK RYAN, writes for his father that the latter was counting on coming but illness prevented it. He had had a slight stroke. He would be pleased to hear from any of you at his address which is 6721 Southeast 34th Avenue, Portland 2, Oregon.

JOHN F. HYNES, chairman of the board of Employers Mutual in Des Moines, Iowa, extended his greetings to members of the class and said he would be with us in spirit.

WILLIAM CUSACK (Cutie to you) extends his regrets and says he was not able to come because he and his wife had planned an extended trip.

RICHARD BROWN is still busy taking care of the affairs of his company at Port Arthur, Texas, but was planning on coming for the reunion when he found at the last moment he had to make a business trip to California.

It's funny how California figures so strong in these notes and you don't hear a word about New York. But SAM FLANAGAN from New York City was here and FRANK CANNING, who I believe is a native son of California, wrote from Los Angeles that this is the time for getting out of the hills with some old pals and he was going to do it while he could. He sent word to FATHER DOREMUS and POYNT DOWNING.

ELMER J. WHITTY of Whitty & McGah, Chicago, Ill., was another who expressed his regret at being unable to attend.

From the Alumni Office:

HENRY J. FRAWLEY of Spearfish, So. Dak., who was a graduate of the Minims and the old Prep School as well as a Ph.B., has a son, Henry, Jr., going into the senior year at N.D. Unable to make the reunion, Henry was on campus last fall with Mrs. Frawley and TIM GALVIN, SR.

Something most of us surely didn't know until now — JIM LOGAN is 12 times a grandfather. Also there's a street named after him in Denver, or maybe, more accurately, he lives on Logan street.

With his long career of Superintendent of Schools of Escanaba, Mich., behind him, JOHN LEMMER, twice our Class President, 40 years apart, is a new District Governor of Rotary International. He intends to lend his talents generously to that well known organization.

Imagine reading a lengthy and most interesting article about PETE RONCHETTI in the American Legion section of the Voice-Chronicle, of Corpus Christi, Texas, and not finding that such a bundle of aggressiveness played on Notre Dame's great football teams. No mention of his mirth-provoking punning of the accordion, either. But as a young lieutenant he was in the thick of the St. Mihiel drive, and the Meuse-Argonne offensive, in World War I, and since then has travelled far and wide for the Corn Products Co. He shoots 80 at golf, and maybe his "semi-retirement" has a great deal to do with the score.

When our Class were Freshmen it was awe-inspiring to hear about how Notre Dame beat Michigan at football in 1909. Of course that's high 50 years ago. We recently ran into one of the players in that memorable game — BERT "RED" KELLY. He's been handicapped with a bad leg the last dozen years, and surely would be glad to hear from any real oldtimer, at his home in Zephyrhills, Fla.

DAN McGLYNN, who was handed his law degree at the Marne River in 1918 by Chaplain Father MATTHEW WALSH, is the subject of a long and flattering article in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, telling how he has long endured as the political boss of East St. Louis. Accompanying the article is a mammoth three-column picture of Dan, and a slicker super-executive look on any 63-year-old lawyer certainly would be hard to find. There were even a graduation picture and excerpts from the 1918 Dome write-up of Dan. "Never run for office; run your friends; if they win it means you got them elected; if they lose — well, they were just slow horses" — was the advice Dan's father gave him when Dan was just starting up the ladder.

TED RADEMACHER has not been heard from since June and may be dependant about the showing at the fortieth anniversary gathering, at which St. Louis' MAURICE CARROLL was the only non-Hoosier registrant. Ted might be consoled by statistics. Possibly the most war-ravaged of N.D. Classes, with a third to gather no more except for the Great Reunion Up Yonder, another third scattered and most of the rest unable to return after W.W.I, 1919 does nearly as well as some of the great Classes of the last two decades when they muster only 100. Many, like FRANK LAUERMAN up in Marinette, Wis., couldn't get away from the store. Others, like JOHN ROCHE (who vanished like a leprechaun on the Emerald Isle), couldn't even be contacted. But the absence of others (like "good time" CHARLIE LENTZ, retired Singer exec and South Bend's merriest widower) is hard to account for. With the Class of '14 as an inspiration, plans should start immediately for a 50% to 75% turnout at the 45th in 1964.

Also a consultant at Triboro Hospital, Dr. Tom has been on the TB Association board since 1949 and was chairman of the Manhattan Christmas Seal campaign in 1954. We are delighted to hear the grand news of the ordination to holy priesthood of two sons of our classmates — Father Robert L. Mahoney, son of the late LEO A. MAHONEY and Mrs. (Julia Loo-tens) Mahoney of South Bend, who was ordained at St. Mary's Cathedral, Galveston, Texas, May 23, and of Father Alfonso Scott, son of the Hon. and Mrs. ALFONSO A. SCOTT of Los Angeles, who was ordained at St. Vibianis Cathedral in Los Angeles, April 30. Father Mahoney's first Solemn High Mass was celebrated Sunday, May 31 at Church of Christ the King on Dixie Highway north of South Bend. Father Robert is the second son of our beloved classmate, Leo, to enter the priesthood. Father Bernard Mahoney is now serving at St. Mary's Church, Brownwood, Texas. Father Scott sang his first Solemn High Mass in his home city on Sunday, May 3. We do heartily congratulate the newly ordained priests, also their very proud parents, and extend our best wishes. The A. A. Scotts live at 1669 Wellington, Los Angeles 6, Calif. and Mrs. Julia Mahoney resides at 5328 Juniper Road, South Bend.

Thanks to a great assist from our able and popular class president, RALPH CORYN, the boys have been more active of late in the correspondence department. Everybody in our class is pleased to read of the doings of our classmates, but not too many feel that they, too, should do something about passing along news items to the class secretary or other class officers for printing in the ALUMNUS. Ralph kindly sends along some interesting news about his own family. He writes: "Last June our daughter Mary Ann finished St. Mary's, and that finished my school program. I feel that the good Lord was very nice to me in allowing me to put three boys through Notre Dame, and the girl through St. Mary's. Our daughter just returned from Panama where she had been teaching since last July. Two of the boys are now practicing law here (Moline, Ill.) and Jack, also, the City Attorney. Bob is a salesman, and on Jan.

"Notre Dammers all" could be the caption for this photo of principals at a wedding on campus June 27: (front row, l. to r.) Thomas E. Powers, '55; Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., '23, director of the N.D. Foundation, celebrant; the bride, the former Marilyn Dolores Friel (Marymount College, but pursuing her master's at N.D. summer school); the bridegroom, Allan J. Powers, '51, Foundation area director; (back row, l. to r.) James E. Friel, Jr., '30, father of the bride; his brother, Joseph G. Friel, '29; brother-in-law Joseph V. Lenihan, '29, and John F. Powers, '55.

I had his third child — a little girl. He has two boys so the Coryn name is doing nicely."

Here is a note from FRANK BLOEMER, JR., class vice-president of the southern domain, who says: "Our girls are now very much knee deep in house work — Mary Frances (Schaeffers) and their four in Louisville are kept very busy. Jim, the oldest boy, made his First Communion and was confirmed Sunday. Ruth (Vivianos) and her three live in Tampa, Fla. They enjoy the sunny South very much, and, of course, that gives us an excuse to head South occasionally."

PIERRE "PETE" CHAMPION of Cleveland reports in with this message: "In accordance with memo received from RALPH CORYN, I am pleased to send my check to Doc Weis, our class treasurer, to build up our Memorial Mass fund. I, too, hope the fund will last for a long time. Agnes and I sold our big house about four years ago. We now live in an apartment. I love it, no grass to cut or snow to shovel. We now have almost ten grandchildren — with only two of our children married, David and Patsy. Our two youngest boys, Peter and Bill, are students at Notre Dame. Their scholastic ratings are just so-so. I am glad that my college days are behind me. The present-day standards are mighty tough. A few weeks ago, we had our Rockne Memorial Breakfast in Cleveland. FRANK LEAHY was the speaker. He did a marvelous job. It was the first time I ever heard him speak."

Your secretary had a fine visit with CY KELLET and others of the Kellet family who made a special trip over to home of CHARLIE "RED" CROWLEY in Weston, Mass., for a '22 symposium. Cy and family reside in Millford, Mass. Then, a short time thereafter, he came upon DANNY SULLIVAN, formerly of Jamestown, N.Y., at New Haven, Conn. Dan is northeastern Division Manager of Mueller Climatrol, division of Worthington Corp. Your scribe and Dan had many interesting gab-fests in the shadow of dear old Yale, and later at the Sullivan domicile in Albany, N.Y.

Here is a note of special interest to all of '22 and '23 from MARTIN BRENNAN of Buffalo, N.Y., who writes: "This card was delayed by apathy and the fact I could not find your address. Vital Statistics — Peter is married five years, and has four children. He is B.S.M.E. with Chrysler Corp. in missile division, Pontiac, Mich. Larry is married and expecting. He attended Canisius. Tom is registered for next September at Notre Dame. He can hardly miss as he has top marks and many extracurricular activities including first string for Canisius football team, which won one game last fall. The players were very disappointed about that one win — spoiling an almost perfect record. At least, they did their best to lose, but did not get the "breaks" against St. Francis. Sheila is first string Freshman at Sacred Heart, and is bound and determined to go to St. Mary's at Notre Dame. She has her mother's looks and brains, and should go far. Mom and Dad are old and grey, and would enjoy seeing you when you come to Buffalo." GEORGE T. McDERMOTT, formerly of St. Paul, Minn., is now affiliated with the Pacific Machine Mfg. Co., 7107 S.E. 65th St., Portland 6, Oregon. JOHN FRANCIS HEFFERMAN now resides at 178-60 Hexford Terrace, Jamaica Estates, Queens, N. Y.

Early in the year DANIEL H. YOUNG and Mrs. Young had a delightful sea voyage visiting most of the countries bordering the Mediterranean Sea. A special highlight of the trip was their visit to Italy, Rome and the Vatican where they saw the Holy Father. Dan said he regrets he was not able to attend the first Solemn Mass of Father Mahoney in South Bend to which he received an invitation. Also, Dan spoke glowingly of the hospitality of PETE CHAMPION, who accorded him the red carpet treatment on a recent visit to Cleveland. At luncheon, Dan and Pete had a chat with JOSEPH THOMPSON, president of M. A. Hanna Co., who attended Notre Dame with them. The Dan Youngs now reside at Lakeside Manor Apartments, Apt. 201, 383 Lakeside Road, Ardmore, Pa.

AARON HUGUENARD, RALPH CORYN, FRANK BLOEMER, DAN YOUNG, CHARLIE CROWLEY, CY KELLET, DAN SULLIVAN, DOCTORS MATT WEIS and DON SEXTON; FATHER GEORGE FISCHER, EDDIE GOTTRY, FRANK CONNELLY and PETE CHAMPION have expressed sorrow on the deaths of our classmates — STEVE CARMODY and EDDIE BYRNE.

FRANK W. CONNELLY, as't vice-president of the Pacific National Insurance Group (P.O. Box 3664), San Francisco 20, Calif., wrote Dr. MATT WEIS on May 7. He reported that very day he had a phone call from JERRY JONES, whom he had not heard from in many years. Both are near neighbors down the San Francisco peninsula. Thanks for the news, and keep it coming to G. "KID" ASHE.

From the Alumni Office:

RALPH CORYN reported to the office that the Mass Fund is going well and that he and MATT WEIS would keep us posted. Ralph's son Jim was married in Peoria in May.

A. HAROLD WEBER was named to Notre Dame's Advisory Council for the Law School recently.

Welcome aboard to LEO P. KELLY, a former classmate voted to full membership by the Alumni Board in June. Leo lives in Oak Park, Ill.

It was with great regret that I announced the death of EMMETT M. GRINAGER, PhBC, '25. This was a great shock as Emmett was in a lot of my classes way back there. As JIM ARMSTRONG said in part to Emmett's widow: "I hope that all of the things which Notre Dame passed on to Emmett and his brothers will help to ease the shock and grief a little bit." I would like to call to the attention of the alumni, that our boy Jim Armstrong does a beautiful job in his letters of sympathy to the family. HANK WURZER and I have often talked about this. In Jim's letter to HARRY AMBROSE's widow a similar sentiment was expressed. . . a beautiful thought, Jim. In case you fellows didn't know, Father O'Donnell says a Mass once a month for all the Alumni and of course there is that special Mass that HANK WURZER takes care of out of our class Mass fund. Let's keep sending those "bucks" to Hank for this wonderful purpose.

I drove over to the campus for the Spring game and I saw a few of the boys. DON MILLER and EVIE KOHL were on deck a few days before the game so they could get in a few rounds of golf. JOHN KANE was there. He has a wonderful contact for years to come with his son in the C.S.C. brothers. By the way, boys, be sure to visit the new seminary across the lake. . . it's a beautiful building.

Joe's boys looked good on the football field. I talked with HUNK ANDERSON, PAT CANNY, FRANK LEAHY, LEON HART and JOE McARDLE, and they all seemed to like what they saw but they all agreed there was still a lot of work to be done, especially on the line. Which reminds me . . . be sure to get those Notre Dame-Navy tickets for October 31, so you will be at our cocktail party.

New Rochelle, N. Y., Mayor George Vergara, '25, is visibly moved as he pins on his wife, Dr. Allys Dwyer Vergara, associate professor at the College of New Rochelle, the Benemerenti Medal, a papal honor conferred by Cardinal Spellman (left) in a surprise announcement at Iona College dedication ceremonies. Infrequently awarded by the Holy Father, the medal for outstanding Christian endeavor honored educational and civic service of Mrs. Vergara, also active in the U.N. and Ladies of Charity.

Also remember that come June, 1960, we will have to be on deck for our 35th reunion. I used to warn you fellows to ask "your lady" to let you spend that week end at N. D. but now I think we should say a few Aves to Our Lady that we will be around for it.

Big doings are coming up for Marie and JOHN HURLEY in the next few months. Our daughter Sister Moira Patrice of the Maryknoll order will be professed and get her black veil on June 24th, and our daughter Patricia will marry MICHAEL PETER UNDERWOOD, '38, of Davenport, Iowa, on Sept. 12. John Patrick will finally have a Notre Dame son via the marriage route.

From the Alumni Office:

FRANK W. HOWLAND, C.L.U., general agent for Massachusetts Mutual Life in Detroit, was elected president of the Detroit Life Underwriters Association in June. Frank has been vice president, treasurer, a director and chairman of several committees with the Association.

From Wetumpka, Ala., lawyer JOHN A. YUNG reminisces that "my fondest recollection is the hockey game played by the Texas boys—LEONARD HESS, BILL DIELMAN, MENDER and I (and we were not particular so we had some damnyanks join us) — in or on the lake nearest the library. Most of us Southerners couldn't even stand up on ice skates and we had some beautiful spills. I can remember skidding almost to Moreau Seminary on the other lake. The real Notre Dame hockey team and others sat in the snow on the bank near the library to laugh. We decided not to name our team — in fact, we decided not to play again." After Notre Dame John was at Harvard Law School with JAMES A. CARROLL.

You will note that Class news for this issue is scarce. It must be in the hands of the editor about two months before going to press. I hope some of you will provide me with some news items before September 1st, which is deadline for the November issue.

FATHER BERNARD J. COUGHLIN, our classmate priest, is at College of St. Thomas in St. Paul, Minn., where he is serving as instructor and athletic director. Father Bernie has held the offices of president and secretary-treasurer of the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. Many of you will remember the fine companionship which Father showed at our 30th Reunion. He plans on attending our 35th in 1961 and we are looking forward to seeing him then.

FRANK DEITLE met HERB EGGERT at the Caterpillar plant in Peoria. Frank was there drumming up some business for his outfit, The Winkleman Company, and Herb was there selling chemicals for a New York firm. Herb has a son who is a Junior at Notre Dame.

Your secretary and Mrs. G. had an enjoyable week at Myrtle Beach, S. C., with our nephew, GEORGE GOEPFRICH, '33, and his wife Gertrude, who is Mrs. G.'s sister. (Try to figure out that relationship!) We had lots of golf and some fishing; we didn't break any records in either sport.

JOHN RYAN, our Class President, post-carded from Salt Lake City that he and Ona were on their way home from a West Coast vacation.

Some of our classmates have changed their addresses recently. CAPTAIN FRANCIS J. BON, whose former address was Naval Activities, Italy, is now in the office of Judge Advocate General, West Coast, San Bruno, Calif. GEORGE P. O'DAY's address changed from Chicago to River Forest, Ill.; JOHN B. LEAHY from Oak Park, Ill., to Wheaton, Ill.; EDWARD F. HARGAN from Dallas, Tex., to Washington, D. C., and CLARE LEO TOUTHEY from Palm Beach, Fla., to Geneva, N.Y.

Your secretary has had the honor of being elected president of the Notre Dame Club of St. Joseph Valley and FRANK DEITLE has been elected secretary of the club. Our first event was the annual Golf Outing at the Notre Dame Golf Course on June 24, with a record attendance. Other forthcoming events will be a picnic in August; five Quarterback Luncheons in October and November; Communion Sunday in December; the Football Testimonial Banquet in December; a dance in January; the Rockne Memorial Mass and breakfast in March; Universal Notre Dame Night in April and the Old Timers Football Game in May — a big year of work for Frank and me.

My mother died on St. Valentine's Day of this year, and with her passing an era closed. Dad had died five years earlier. The big house, having seen the family grow, become educated, and its different members leaving to get married and settling down from coast to coast, has been sold. In my case it was Dad and Mother who started the tradition of Notre Dame. Neither of them had gone to college (few parents had, a generation ago), but they were determined that their son should go. Like many other hardworking Catholic parents, they knew Notre Dame, and they knew no other. So, to Notre Dame I went. I never regretted the decision, nor did they. They were as much a part of Notre Dame as I was.

I realize it is not my function as class secretary to dwell upon my personal affairs. I mention these matters only because I think my case is not unique. A little reflection will persuade us that our parents — and I suppose most of them are gone now — had a great deal to do with the selection of Notre Dame. We should be grateful for that. Since this issue will be published after the observance of Mother's Day and Dad's Day, we should offer a prayer of Thanksgiving that our parents made such a wise choice.

I mentioned the preceding generation. Now let me mention the next. On the first of May, my oldest son received word that he was accepted as a student at Notre Dame for the year to begin in September. So now begins another era. The tradition will be carried on. New associations will be formed. Some of the people I knew as classmates will be known to him as professors. Some of Phil's classmates will undoubtedly tell him from time to time that their fathers know his father. The Notre Dame that this generation will find will be, as you know, far different than the Notre Dame we knew, but the essence is still the same. For years since graduation, I have seen little of the University except at reunions and football games. The association with it as a school has been limited to reminiscences of a period which ended in 1927. Now in my mind it will become a school again, with students, courses and classes, priests and professors. The prospect is invigorating.

Walking down LaSalle Street in Chicago the other day I ran into RAY MCCLORY, a successful lawyer of the City, and one who looks the part. He also has a son at Notre Dame.

I received news of TOMMY GREEN a while ago, in about the most delightful way imaginable. Tommy has a daughter named Marjo, who is a freshman at Barat College at Lake Forest, Ill. One of her classmates is a daughter of an Aurora friend of mine, who had Marjo out for a week end. Marjo came over to our house, and told me about her father. He lives in Houston, Texas, and practices law in Conroe. He has nine children; Marjo is the second oldest. She has two brothers who are planning on entering Notre Dame this year. Marjo is a very pretty, charming girl, typical of the daughters of other classmates.

This is pretty late to mention it, but I received a Christmas card from ART MONACO, at the proper season. His address is 308 West 58th Street, New York City. I was glad to hear from him.

From the Alumni Office:

EVERETT C. BROWN, out in Reno, Nev., is about to make a move that most of us make only in dreams. In a note to JIM ARMSTRONG he wrote: "On reaching my 56th year I decided I was not having any fun, so I've retired. Many times I have listened to the call of the wild goose. . . finally realized that he who travels possesses the world. So come this September I hope to make my home in San Sebastian, Spain, as a starter. . . My son is in the Marines and my wife deceased many years ago, so I have no outlaws or in-laws to battle as to a decision."

Recently promoted to manager of the Chicago zone of General Motors' Chevrolet Motor Division (the most productive zone and the number one zone job in the U.S.) was HARRY W. O'BOYLE. Harry joined Chevrolet in Des Moines, Iowa, in 1937, had promotions and transfers to Minneapolis, Minn.; St. Louis, Mo.; Omaha, Neb., and Kansas City, Mo., before returning to Des Moines. He became city manager for Chicago in 1948, Milwaukee zone manager in 1953, and on May 1 returned to manage the entire Chicago zone. Harry has four children: Mary Ann, a soph at Loretto Heights College, Denver, Colo.; Kathleen, a freshman at St. Mary's; Jane, a freshman in high school, and Patrick Joseph, still in grade school.

ARTHUR J. BRADLEY, of Holyoke, Mass., wrote in to be sure we knew about the recent death of JOE HANEY, '28, and a recent recognition for BOB SOPER, '20.

HOWIE PHALIN advised me of the death of the 17-year-old son of JOHN R. MURPHY of Columbus on April 3. John's boy was a junior at St. Charles Academy and played varsity football for the school. John has two daughters, age 21 and 11.

GEORGE KELLEY's article in the May, 1959, issue of The Catholic World, entitled "Why Choose a Catholic College?" included the following comment on our reunion: "What is the long-range effect of Catholic college training? Does it last? Recently I had an opportunity to observe the effect among my own classmates, gathered for our thirtieth reunion. We had a good turnout, more than 40 per cent of the members who are still living. In most ways it was a typical alumni reunion. There was reminiscence and story-telling far into the night; there were shouts, laughs and songs until nearly dawn; there was some horseplay; there was plenty of beer and liquor. The atmosphere was by no means monastic. Yet at 9 o'clock one morning, and at 8 o'clock on another more than two-thirds of the men were on hand for special Masses, and nearly all of them received Holy Communion. Nor was this only by the grace of the relaxed Eucharistic regulations. The score had been almost as good at earlier reunions, when committeemen handling the drinks passed the word, just before midnight, that it was the last chance for those who planned to go to Communion.

"The Catholic training had not brushed off these men. They were alert to the moral and religious implications of current issues. Almost without exception, they were taking an active part in the work of their parishes; some were being called upon to counsel bishops and archbishops."

SPOTLIGHT ALUMNUS

JOSEPH J. LORDI, '30

Athlete's Athlete

When Joe Lordi was elected president of the hallowed New York Athletic Club earlier this year it was only the second time in the 91-year history of the club that a former athletic member had achieved the presidency.

A real athlete's athlete, Joe was a catcher-second baseman-captain of the 1930 N.D. baseball team and got his A.B. on a full scholarship, having prepped at De La Salle Institute and been recommended by Hugh A. O'Donnell, then president of the N.D. Club of New York. Prior to his election as N.Y.A.C. president he served three years as vice-president and chairman of the house committee and has been on the Board of Governors since 1950. He joined the club after graduation as an athletic member to play on the Winged Foot baseball team for ten years; transferred to resident membership in 1939 and became a life member in 1948, serving on many important committees in his 29 years with the club, including two years on the athletic committee.

Joe was 1937 national squash racquet champion, and in 1948 he defeated the Yale Club entry in the final round of a tourney to win the veterans' national squash tennis title.

In the business world Joe started as an oil salesman and in 1937 opened his own firm, Lordi Petroleum Co., which he still operates in addition to being sole owner and president of the Petroleum Heat and Power Company of Newark, N.J., purchased in 1952. He spent four years in the Navy in W.W. II, mustering out as a lieutenant commander.

In 1953 Joe married Georgette Mechan in St. Patrick's Cathedral. With their daughter Georgetta they reside at 50 Park Avenue, New York City.

JOE BREIG, a Catholic journalist of prolific accomplishments, made another significant contribution in his book, "The Family and The Cross," an addition to Regnery's Family Life Series.

JACK WINGERTER sent me clippings and pictures of Judge JAMES CULLEN taking the oath of office as the president judge of Bradford County, Pa. Jim has been practicing law in Milan, Pa., since he completed his law at Harvard. He has three children, ages 17, 15 and 7. JACK WINGERTER tells me that Jim ran an absolute dead heat with his opponent in the election for judge in the Fall of 1957. The matter was considered by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. Finally, after 15 months, Jim and his opponent decided the judgeship by casting lots.

MIKE RICKS had ED McKEOWN, JIM ALAN, HOWIE PHALIN and JOE HILGER as his guests at the dedication dinner for Moreau Seminary. As you know, Mike has a son in the Seminary.

I stopped to see BILL O'HARA in Manchester, Conn., recently. He has a daughter and son and is now a grandfather. Bill is a financial analyst with the Hartford Electric Light Co. in Wethersfield, Conn. He inquired about Dr. FRANK GUARANIERI. Bill plans to return for our 35th reunion in 1963.

MAURICE CONLEY, city judge in Fulton, N.Y., spent two weeks in the Lahey Clinic in Boston. Maurice wrote, "AUSTIN (DUTCH) HOLLAND and JOHN EGAN paid me a visit in the hospital and we had a typical Lyons Hall 'bull session' for about three hours or until the hospital staff made it very clear to brothers Holland and Egan that I was there for treatment and not for conversation. However, as JACK EGAN said the next day when he called me, we talked for three hours and didn't accomplish a thing, which, of course, is exactly what we set out to do. The visit was most entertaining and enlightening and you may rest assured that I more than enjoyed it."

TOM WALSH, the Lincoln, Ill., barrister, commented as follows on the Notre Dame Glee Club concert in Lincoln: "The polished, near-professional competence of the group, (which numbers sons of JACK CANIZARO, FRANK CREADON, and BILL DOWDALL as integral members) evoked an enthusiastic response from their hearers and excited such a wind of pride in this ancient ex-member that the seams of my upper garments almost burst." Tom recently had word from Dr. PATRICK JOSEPH SULLIVAN from Lima, Peru, where he was participating in a congress of Central and South American physicians. Dr. Sullivan is now serving as Director del Servicio Cooperativo Interamericano de Salubridad Publica, a joint venture of Nicaragua and the U.S. for prevention of disease in the children of Nicaragua. Tom gave the following background on Dr. SULLIVAN: "After completing his medical training in Switzerland, he practiced medicine there and, thereafter, in France, England, Ireland and the Spanish Antilles. He writes and speaks every major European language, save Slavic; has a first-hand acquaintance with the literature, mores and culture of the major European countries. Moreover, he is fairly familiar with many dialects which enabled him, when he was detached from service with the Army Medical Corps in World War II, to aid in the physical examinations of displaced persons for entrance into this country; to put the bee on three or four Greek adherents of Stalin who were discussing their inner motivations and gleefully laying plans for sabotage, in blissful ignorance of the fact that a physician of obvious Irish descent could comprehend their native speech. These, at least, constituted Joe's linguistic attainments at the time of our latest class reunion. Since then, he put in six months as staff surgeon at an Indian Reservation Hospital in South Dakota and probably has mastered Choctaw, Sioux, Winnebago and Mandan and added them to his list."

Our Class Vice-President from the Midwest, VINCE CARNEY, has been successful in getting responses from classmates from whom we have not had a report in years. For example, CHARLEY HOMER wrote from St. Louis informing Vince that he was in the hospital with a broken leg at reunion time a year ago. The following are excerpts from a letter to Vince from my Freshman Hall roommate, JOE BRANNON: "Am still with Sears (it takes these major corporations a long time to get rid of deadweight) and still in Phoenix, Ariz. Hope I will always be in Arizona, but us corporation boys keep our bags packed and our powder dry. My kids range from first grade to senior in high school. As for myself, I am reluctantly making the transition to old age. No hair, false teeth, glasses for reading, creaky joints, completely intolerant of teenage antics. Have also made the complete political transition from being an ardent original New Dealer in 1932 to being an ardent Taft fan in 1950. So some, that metamorphosis is indication of maturity; to others it indicates senility.

"Saw HENRY HASLEY last month. He was in Phoenix to soak up some sunshine." The lead story in the May number of the Pacific Coast magazine is "The Arizona Story" by Joe.

Dr. DAN BRADLEY appeared on television again in April. He did his usual good job in commenting on a recent book, "Birth Control and Catholic Doctrine."

The '28 gang in Chicago got together at the Universal Notre Dame Night party including HOWIE PHALIN, JOHN RICKORD, BILL MURPHY, ED. McKEOWN, BILL DWYER, ED RAFTER, DICK PHELAN, BILL KEARNEY, BERT KORZEN, Judge JOHN LYONS, JIM ALLAN and HAL REYNOLDS. ED RAFTER mentioned that Judge JOHN LYONS will be up for reelection again in the fall, as his six-year term as judge of the Superior Court of Cook County concludes at that time.

DICK QUINLAN reports that AL HANS is assistant manager of safety for the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

FRANK CREADON dropped a note from Salt Lake City where he was attending a meeting of the American Mosquito Control Association.

PAUL BUTLER gave an excellent talk in Boston recently on "Human Rights for All Americans" in the Ford Hall forum series.

F. X. JIM O'BRIEN sent your class secretary a box of sweets from Florida which was enjoyed and appreciated by the whole family.

NORB SEIDENSTICKER advised that ROSS HARRINGTON's father died earlier this year. Norb's oldest son is studying medicine at Western Reserve. He will have a daughter at St. Mary's next year. Norb is now a grandfather.

Father JIM McSHANE, S. J., writes from various spots where he gives retreats. Jim is now located at St. Matthews at 2715 North Sarah St. in St. Louis.

Mrs. Lavelle wrote to let me know how grateful she was for the material we issued in April containing many tributes to Jack, and for the assistance given by BERNIE GARBER and others in the New York Club with respect to the Jack Lavelle Fund. We are also indebted to ED BRENNAN of Chicago for the wonderful job he did in processing that newsletter which has been praised highly by a number of classmates. We also appreciate the assistance given by GEORGE CRONGEYER in paying the mailing expense for this project.

BERNIE GARBER had a letter from JOHN CARROLL from Springfield, Ill., advising that he entertained BILL KIRWAN and his wife in Sarasota last winter.

GEORGE CRONGEYER reports that he recently had the privilege of lunching with the perennially youthful BILL CRONIN and BERNIE GARBER. George mentioned that Bill Cronin's son is a member of the swimming team at Notre Dame. George met TIERNEY O'ROURKE at the Universal Notre Dame Night dinner. Tierney is with the New York Life, while George is with Metropolitan Life.

Our class vice-president for the East, BERNIE GARBER, has been in touch with a number of classmates regarding a possible reunion retreat and a Cardinal O'Hara '28 Scholarship Fund. He reports that those he asked for comments responded with a majority in favor of both, with a high enthusiasm for the latter. He has submitted the following notes which set an example which I hope will be emulated by other class V-P's in the next issue.

"The editor of The Jersey Journal, GENE FARRELL, reports that after 30 years in the newspaper business he finally won a prize for reporting and news writing. He says: 'It's an opportunity editors don't much get (something like a baseball manager becoming a pinch hitter and hitting a clutch home run). However, I did manage to bag an exclusive story and wrote it well enough to win third prize against some very tough competition. Do you think that after all these years the Scribblers (they wouldn't let me in because I hadn't written enough stuff) might think better of it now?'

"An interesting kindness performed by Gene involved the St. Petersburg, Fla., high school band which worked for months to raise $11,000 to come to New York for the St. Patrick's Day parade — only to be barred from the parade by a technicality. Subsequently Gene, as editor of The Jersey Journal, got the city's mayor to put on a special 'post-St. Patrick's Day' parade featuring the Florida band. It was a great success that won for all, nation-wide newspaper, TV and radio publicity. When he wrote, Gene was about to vacation in England so that he could hear English in its most beautiful form — that of Devonshire.

PHILADELPHIA—At a testimonial luncheon honoring Charles M. Dougherty, '26, Pennsylvania's Secretary of Revenue, (from left) Charles A. Conley, '33, was toastmaster; Charlie Dougherty (at mike) expressed his thanks, and Clifford Prodehl, '32, announced the presentation of an N.D. monogram blanket and the "Dougherty" coat of arms.

"Having been in the Law Class, BILL DOWDALL, JR., of the National Market Co., Buffalo, has two reunions — that of the '29 and '28 groups. He will be at N.D. this June, when his son Bill graduates. The latter is a member of the current Glee Club. Barbara Ann, Bill's daughter, will marry Roger Nicholson this summer. His letter closes with an inquiry for news about ED MOWERY. Among others, Bill will see OLLIE SCHELL, '29, at their reunion, who wrote and contributed to the Jack Lavelle Fund.

"From Missouri a note by CARROLL PINKLEY, visited recently by Father Jim McShane. He had seen Joe Lenihan and Dolores at the Army game. Joe is another man who doubles on reunions with the '28 and '29 groups, being at home with both; he now lives in Rumson, N. J.

"ANDY POWERS writes from 734 Mickler Drive, Jacksonville, Fla., that he will be glad to see classmates traveling that way. Not a bad idea, considering Andy is assistant sales manager of Swed Distributing Co., largest Budweiser Beer wholesaler in the U. S. Andy had just moved there in December and had not yet seen any N.D. men.

"The second son of PETE GALLAGHER is finishing his freshman year at N.D., his older brother being graduated there in '57. Pete says the only N.D. friend he sees in Freeland, Pa., is HUGH CAMPBELL, '27. Heartbroken that school affairs prevented attendance at the 30th reunion, Pete promises drastic action to make the 35th.

"CYP SPORL, president of his own incorporated company of insurance brokers and average adjusters, responds from New Orleans on the Lavelle Fund that he enjoyed a recent discussion of the past and the future with SEYMOUR WEISBERGER and his wife. Some mighty nice things, says Cyp, were said about mutual friend PAUL BUTLER and his ability. 'What is an average adjuster,' inquire my children in school, eagerly.

"For a man who has been in all 48 states and prefers Arizona, my sophomore roommate, JOE BRANNON, ought to be able to make ONE '28 reunion. From Joe's round-robin letter, I'll wager he hasn't changed a bit. From the photo enclosed his four handsome children do take after their mother.

"DICK 'MUNCIE' GREENE sent me color slides taken at the '28 reunion, but I have not yet received the projector so I can't report on them. STEVE SHERRY tells me Dick and his wife Mildred are planning on a trip to Hawaii this summer.

"JERRY DECLERCO's address in Royal Oak, Mich., seems to be changed to 2832 Vinsetta Blvd., but he sent not a bit of news. Tell us, Jerry, if that final numeral is correct and also brings us up to date about yourself.

"The Story of Pope John XXIII," first book on the new pontiff published in the U.S., by the new Catholic firm Summit Press, Inc., was written by JOE BREIG, assistant managing editor of the Cleveland Universe Bulletin. In the Cleveland Newspaper Guild's 1958 awards for excellence in journalism, Joe won first place in the "best running news story" category for his series on the so-called right-to-work amendment defeated by Ohio voters last year.

"NORB SEIDENSTRICKER, MARTIN RINI, and BOB HAMILTON were among the many who answered my inquiries about a retreat at reunion time, and a Cardinal O'Hara '28 Scholarship Fund. More about this later."

JOE DEBOTT advised your class secretary of the death of JOSEPH A. HANEY (OBLIGATO) of Newark, N.Y., on April 15 following an operation in Rochester, N.Y. Joe received his law degree at Fordham in 1930 and has practiced law in Newark for 27 years. He served as Wayne County district attorney from 1930 to 1934. Joe's military record includes service in the Army and Navy. He was past president of the Wayne County Bar Association. He is survived by three sisters and four brothers. Joe was always interested in '28 Class affairs. His sister wrote how much Joe enjoyed our reunions. A mass was offered for Joe by Father ANDREW MULREANY, C.S.C., at the request of our Class. JOE DEBOTT mentioned that he saw DICK O'BRIEN, GENE SCHILTZ, FRED O'REILLY at Joe's wake. GENE SCHILTZ, who was with our class from 1924-27, was one of the casket bearers. Gene and his son are in the heating equipment business in Newark. JOE DEBOTT also advised that TOM CANTY was transferred recently to Long Island. Tom's only daughter is now a nun in the Dominican order. JOE DEBOTT, who is single and with the Geneva Federal Savings Assn., attended the Army game last year.

I have a few notes to supplement the report of ED MCGUIRE's death in the last issue. ED RAFTER and DICK QUINLAN who visited the funeral home mentioned that a number of N.D. men had paid their respects, including BOB IRMIGER, '27; ED McLAUGHLIN, '27; and JIM McNICHOLAS, '25. ED RAFTER mentioned that ED MCGUIRE really regretted missing our 30-year reunion, but he was ill at the time. ED RAFTER further commented that those with whom ED MCGUIRE worked at the Securities and Exchange Commission, respected his ability as much as his character.

Your Class secretary had lunch recently in New York with BERNIE GARBBER and STEVE SHERY who are both with Lyman T. Corbin Co. I spent the evening with Steve and his wife. Steve mentioned that DAN VERRILLI of Morristown, N.J., had visited them recently. Dan is single and is in the bakery business.

BILL JONES and his wife visited us while in Boston to drive their daughter Barbara home at the close of the term at Newton College.

I trust that our fourth annual '28 Class cocktail party to be held immediately following the North-western game at the Faculty Dining Room (in the Old Dining Hall) will be well attended by '28 men, their wives and friends. Our President, JIM ALLAN, has assured us that the crowded conditions existing last year will be avoided this year. From the Alumni Office:

The Forest Hills address that heads the column above is your busy Secretary's only hint of a major federal administrative change that took him from Boston to New York. Secretary of Labor JAMES P. MITCHELL (LL.D. '58) recently announced the appointment of LOUIS F. BUCKLEY to the post of Mid-Atlantic regional director of the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics. Lou's office will be in New York City and his region will include the states of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland as well as the District of Columbia. After twelve years as a professor of economics at N.D., Lou taught at other universities before joining the Department of Labor, with which he's served for the last two years as deputy regional director of the Bureau of Employment Security in the New England States. He's married to the former Pauline Christianson of Mishawaka and returns frequently, most recently as president of the National Catholic Social Action Conference and earlier as a director of the Alumni Assn.

Pulitzer Prize journalist ED MOWERY has been lauded by Senator Hruska of Nebraska for the "War on the G-Men" series he wrote for the Newark, N. J., Star-Ledger. The series has been printed as a senate document by the Govt. Printing Office and is titled "Efforts by Communist Conspiracy to Discredit the Federal Bureau of

"My first class reunion in thirty years . . . it was great to see and cover happenings. Everybody seemed younger than I expected." BILL (ILLY) BYRNE, Illy, a secondary school teacher in San Francisco, is proud of son Tom, married and since last January 7th father of a daughter—Illy's first grandchild; and proud too of son Mike, who entered Army service April 17, 1959. Illy's further sentiments: "Just to meet the fellows was wonderful."

"This was my first visit to the Notre Dame Campus in thirty years. I hope to attend all future '29 reunions. This one was really an inspiration. The highlight of the reunion for me was the address by Father Hesburgh on Saturday night." DAVID A. FIELDS, for 29 years a lawyer with the Department of Justice, Washington, D.C. Dave was accompanied by sons David Jr., age 14, and John, age 13, both graduates of St. Mark's Cantonville, Maryland. The boys were altar boys at FATHER LOUIS THORNTON's Mass for the members of the class on Saturday morning. Howard Hall Chapel was fairly well filled by attendance of a major portion of the 110 men of '29 who were present for their 30th reunion. Four possible reasons for Dave's delay in getting back for a reunion are: daughters Mary (9), Bernadette (6), and sons Joseph (3) and Eugene (2). Sons David and John look forward to attending Notre Dame.

FRANK CROWE of Detroit back for his first class reunion said, "It sure was nice seeing the gang again." Frank was in the running for top grandchildren honors with seven. Son Lyell, aged 29, a BCS graduate of the University of Detroit, has a daughter, Diane (5) and a son, Matthew (2). Nancy is mother of Chris (3) and Timothy (1). Judy has three children, Jon, Jeffery and Cindy. Patricia is working toward a degree at University of Detroit, and son, Kevin, 19 years old, received his high school diploma from Salesian in 1958. "I'll be back for the Navy game," concludes Frank.

Your class secretary most sincerely acknowledges the generous and effective assistance given him by HUGH J. McMANIGAL, P.O. Box 555, Islamorada, Florida. A number of those who attended the reunion attributed their presence to promotional work done by Hugh. An even greater number who could not come sent him long newsy letters, including snapshots, for posting at the reunion. These letters will appear, in part, in later columns of the news of the Class of '29. If nominations are in order for a new Class Secretary, my candidate is Hugh.

LOUIS F. HANEY (OBLIGATO) took time from his practice of law in Newark, New York, to write to most of the members of the class before the reunion. His presence here over the week-end added to the success of the gathering. Louis and wife, Elsie, have twins, Patricia Ann and Rosemary Ann, and daughter Arline.

FATHER OTIS WINCHESTER formerly of Elyria, Ohio, but now of St. Mary's parish, Lorain, Ohio, was all things to all residents of Howard Hall. It was he who persuaded REV. PATRICK MALLONY, C.S.C., to sing "just one more song" on Saturday night — the Ave Maria. It was the greatest! "I have never heard anything like it," said tenor TONY KOPECKY of the youthful Irish priest tenor from Crown Point, Indiana. When pictures taken of FATHER MALLONY and his rapt audience become available they will be used in the ALUMNUS or in a newsletter.

Your secretary's high-light of the reunion was the harmonizing of Father O'Malley (unanimously elected honorary member of the class of '29), TONY KOPECKY, FRED WAGNER, JOHN WALTZ, REV. ANDREW MULREANY, C.S.C., VINCE CARNEY, GERRY OUELETTE, MARC WONDERLIN and friends.

JIM KENNEDY of Chicago retains the distinction of having the largest family. DR. GEORGE McDONNELL, of Freehold, New Jersey, is within one (rumor says within a fraction) of Jim's family of twelve children. Jim took numerous pictures; we trust that some will appear in either this issue or the next issue of the ALUMNUS.

FRANCIS MEYER, now of (Box 5) Hammond, Indiana, took dozens of pictures. We appreciate his generosity. It is his and our intention to get a composite picture to each of you.

JACK FARR, of Baldwin, New York, was another '29er back for the first time. One would think that a tour of the campus would be a "first" on his agenda and on that of JOHN CIANGI of New Britain, Connecticut, also back for his first class reunion. Actually they and most others spent most of the first day in a continual gabfest with classmates. The weather was ideal and the outdoor refreshments popular and well-manned.

TERRY PLUNKETT, '59, son of DON PLUNKETT, '29 (deceased), was an efficient genial attendant. Terry is registered for graduate study in English at Notre Dame. Many '29ers inquired of Mrs. Don (Dorothy) Plunkett. Unfortunately she was out-of-town. Colleen Plunkett is a student at St. Mary's College. Needless to say to the readers who are members of the class of '29, this reunion was not the same without our former class secretary, who gave so generously of his time and energy to his classmates. Don died May 19, 1957. May his soul rest in peace!

The list of deceased furnished by the Alumni Office numbers 67. Two additions to that list are CLYDE ATCHINSON, B.S. Chem. Eng., Elkhart, Indiana, and F. EARL LAMBOLEY, LL.B. of Monroe, Wisconsin, whose deaths were recently reported to the Alumni Office. There are inadvertent omissions, as TIM MOYNIHAN, for one.

The number who registered for the reunion or attended part of the class functions have been variously reported as between 100 and 110. Typical of the numerous conflicting events of the week end was that of the PAUL BARTHOLOMEWS. Son TOM, '58, a naval ensign stationed at Pensacola, was in town for a visit at reunion time.

Our Vice-president of the South, MICKEY McMAHON, wired his regrets and cancellation of reservation. And on the subject of reservations, we had 65 and an attendance at the Friday night class dinner of 98. In fact, in spite of accommodating 87 in the banquet room we had to direct our Vice-president JOE WHALEN and our Treasurer BOB VOGELWEDE and nine others to the Morris Inn dining room. In the future we will think big, and in the meantime jog you to get those reservations in early. We had twenty-five registered at the Law Building early Thursday evening. The early arrivals, including JIM CURRY and GERRY CROWLEY, selected rooms on the first floor and forfeited privacy and sleep for the duration.

The third-floor tenants spent much of their time there. The less athletic didn't climb that high — the Saturday night strolling band found stairs no obstacle in their anti-sleep parade.

ELMO MOYER, Director of Research for Acme Electric Corporation, Cuba, New York, said, "FATHER STEINER'S presence at the Engineer's Luncheon meant everything to the success of that function." We have WALT MULFURS persistence to thank for Father's attendance. Walt has a son in the Seminary on the campus, and had a fine son, Jimmy, with him at the reunion. Getting back to Elmo and wife Georgia, they have a daughter (Nancy) Sister Marie Eileen at the Villa Maria Convent, Erie, Pennsylvania. If by chance her classmates are not aware that she is an aggressive badminton player, your class secretary can vouch for her prowess of some years ago. The Moyer's have a married daughter, Kathleen (Foley), mother of three children, and a married son, MICHAEL J. MOYER, Notre Dame '55. Patricia Murray, a niece, is a sophomore at Cuba High School. Elmo and others of us missed PAT O'LEARY, JIM YATES, CHET BRUMLEVE, STEVE DURBIN and ROCCO PERONE.

"Sorry that I cannot be with you for the reunion, there are just too many bonus babies popping out of the woods this month," signed JIM GALLAGHER of the Phillies. DOC DOUGHERTY also found it necessary to cancel reunion plans. GAY HAAS, JOHN MANNING, JOHN V. HINKLE, and BOB WILLIAMS of the Washington Area and others were present when LARRY MASON arrived. ED DONOHUE marveled at the "length, breadth and thickness" of LARRY MASON. Ed enjoyed his first visit in thirty years with LOU HANEY.

JOE LENIHAN returned to the campus two weeks after the reunion for the wedding of his niece (and goddaughter) Marilyn Dolores Friel to ALLAN POWERS of the Notre Dame Foundation Office. Marilyn is the daughter of JAMES FRIEL, '30.

We missed REV. THEODORE MEHLING,

DALLAS—John J. Moran, '36 (left), named "N.D. Man of the Year" for his work as chairman of Dallas' Scholarship Committee, congratulates Richard Matzner on winning the $2,400 award for 1959. Richard, who graduated from Laneri High, Ft. Worth, with a 95-plus academic average, will join two other undergraduates at Notre Dame on club scholarships.

C.S.C., and REV. CHRISTOPHER O'TOOLE, C.S.C., whose numerous responsibilities to the Order prevented their attendance.

The many '29ers who toured the new Moreau Seminary had only praise for the planning and thought that had gone into the beautiful building.

Only the devoted wife of a '29er could read this column to its conclusion. These brief remarks are addressed to her, the one who is faced with the budget problems that are the inevitable aftermath of a long trip, "your husband is sincere in his attempts to put into words just how much the trip back to Notre Dame and to his classmates meant to him. I'm no better at it than he, but I share his pleasure in reliving the minutes we spent at this special place. Thank you for him and for the rest of us who so enjoyed his good company."

From the Alumni Office:

Congratulations to JOSEPH P. McNAMARA, recently elected a vice president of Bridgeport Brass Co. by the firm's board of director. Joe, formerly assistant secretary and counsel, is now vice president in charge of personnel, which includes industrial, employee, community and public relations. Before joining the Bridgeport Brass legal dept. in 1946, he was a colonel and chief of the legal branch of Army Ordnance. Previously, as Indiana's deputy attorney general in his native Indianapolis, he drafted several model statutes.

Congrats also to Westchester banker HAROLD J. MARSHALL, recently elected to the board of directors of the Northern Westchester United Fund.

CHET ASHMAN wants to say a special word of thanks to the 1930 fellows:

"Our Fall Festival to raise funds for our new church was a huge success, and thanks so much to all the fellows in our class who contributed to our fund. I am happy to say that JIM BURKE of Oklahoma City, Okla., won the big prize of two tickets to the Orange Bowl game and $200 in cash expense money. Since Oklahoma played Syracuse in the Bowl, the fates seemed kind to Jim."

"We got started on our church in August (1958) . . . I was sure glad to see Archbishop JOHN O'HARA named a Cardinal, and outside of Stan Musial that is the first Cardinal I personally have ever known."

BOB HOLMES in South Bend sent along a welcome note:

"A note from PAT HANLON at Christmas said that he was in Rome last year. While there he talked to BROTHER LEO and learned that FATHER STEINER and FATHER GRIMM were there."

"Pat was in Mexico during the year and is now on his way to China. He sure gets around."

"We were very much shocked to hear of KARI WEIGAND's fatal heart attack last week (in January). In spite of the rough weather I managed to join in the rosary for the repose of his soul."

JIM NAVARRE fills us in on some interesting news items in Southern Michigan:

"Have had little or no contact with you or N.D. since my son was there in '54. At that time he left N.D. for the army to serve his two years. He's been back from Germany two years already. Spent those years at Olivet College and is now married and working in Monroe. However, this note was to inform you of the death, May 11, of Mrs. O. L. McKillip, mother of my wife, Ruth, (a 1928 graduate of St. Mary's) and also the mother of J. HALE McKILLIP, '27. "Jean," as he was known then, died in California in 1948. Mrs. McKillip was buried in Omaha, Neb., on May 20."

"Since 1954 I have been connected with Banker's as an agent. I still live in Monroe, but work out of the Toledo District office. I like it much better than the beer distributing business, which as far as I am concerned went to pieces during the strike of 1953 in Milwaukee. I then had Miller High Life and Burger beers. I am better physically qualified to sell insurance than handle beer cases anyway."

"My older brother, JOSEPH A. NAVARRE, '26, resigned as insurance commissioner for the State of Michigan on Jan. 1 of this year to return to private law practice in Jackson, Mich. He was commissioner some eight years."

"Our N.D. Club in Monroe has not been active for several years but we hope to revive activities in the near future as some of the members expect to have sons at N.D. next year after graduation from Catholic Central. My youngest son, Peter, is one of them. Since I've seen you I'm a grandfather twice. My oldest daughter has two boys 6 and 7 years old. Before long I will have only the baby girl left with us; she's 10 now and growing up too fast to suit us.

"So much for that chit-chat — but just a word about 1960. I hope to be present for our 30th reunion and hope for many visits with many old friends. May run into you next fall at a game or two and until then the very best to you and all of our class. Please remember me to FATHER "LOU" THORNTON."

TIM TOOMEY, vice-president for our class in the eastern area, turns in this newsy summary of doings out east:

"It was good to learn you were able to take a busman's holiday and get to see a few football games during your Christmas holiday in Florida. You must be the runner-up to the late beloved "CHUCK" ROHR as the member of the Class of 1930 who has witnessed the greatest number of Notre Dame football games since graduation.

"While you were enjoying the sunny breezes in the Southland, we took a few trips up to the Berkshire Alps to enjoy the winter sports. We got ourselves a Rex Harrison shooting hat and a pair of ski rompers which is the proper attire for the snowy trails.

"Since we last wrote you, the fathers of two class members passed away, TIMOTHY PREECE in Nebraska, the father of DR. JOHN PREECE of Trenton, N.J., and J. FRANK DRISCOLL, SR., who died here in Boston on January 6, 1959. Our prayers for these fine gentlemen and all other deceased relatives of all classmates.

"A word to those on the Eastern Seaboard. If misfortune in any manner befalls your family, contact us at 12 Winderemere Avenue, Arlington 74, Mass. We have the class mailing list and we are able to get in touch with friends and other classmates.

"We had the sad task of flying down to New York City to pay our respects to a good and great friend, JACK LAVELLE, '28, who died suddenly from a heart attack on December 4 at his home in Hempstead, New York. "Trigger" Jack helped this here guy many times in the years since our first meeting on the Campus during freshman days.

"Jack spent most of his life making people happy and doing favors for others, asking none for himself.

"The New York Club, the Connecticut Committee and the Army Athletic Association have pooled their respective talents and are sponsoring a JACK LAVELLE Memorial Fund to insure the education of Jack's two promising youngsters. If you have a few spare ones and want to do something big, we urge you to give it to the memory of a Notre Dame man whose monogram was embroidered on a heart as large as his body.

"We chatted with the following at the wake: JOSEPH M. BYRNE, JR., '15; JOHN LAW, JOE FRIEL, '29; (his wife Mary and daughter Irene) WARREN FOGEL and frau; GEORGE WINKLER and wife; TIM O'ROURKE and Elizabeth; Mr. and Mrs. JOE ABBOTT; JOHN LAW, HENRY FREY and son; DAN HALPIN, '31; JOHN BURNS, '31; VIC FISHER, '28; ROY MOCK, '28, who came on from Minneapolis; JIM QUINN, '27; BERNIE GARBER, '28; HUGH DEVORE, '33; FATHER HAMMER, '33; ED NEAHER, '35; BILL GILLESPEE, '35; ED MAHON, '31; ED CUNNINGHAM, '31; and BILL KELLY, '28. Many other alumni attended funeral home and the requiem services. Included were: FATHER LOU THORNTON, '28; BUS REDGATE and FATHER JOHN BOLAND, '22.

"Word from New York informs us JOE LORDI was chosen president of the world-famed New York Athletic Club. Joe has been a member of the Winged Foot Club since graduation, having represented NYAC on the baseball field and squash rackets courts. Joe richly deserves this great honor.

"We had a postcard from the Marco Polo family (Liz and TIM O'ROURKE) who took a post-Christmas Mediterranean cruise and visited CARDINAL O'HARA's titular church while in Rome.

"FATHER JIM RIZER was recently confined to Veteran's Hospital in Washington and one of the consultants assigned to examine him was none other than "GRANDPA" JIMMY LYONS, ex. '32, the Old Holyoke, Massachusetts, Steeple Chaser, now professionally known as DR. JAMES J. LYONS, one of the Capital's leading eye, nose and throat specialists. SPOTLIGHT ALUMNUS

JAMES C. MacDEVITT, JR., '35
As New York Prexy, a Taxed Attorney

Guiding the activities of more than 2,500 Notre Dame men in the Greater New York area as president of the N.D. Club of New York is Jim MacDevitt, whose interest in the University has been long and lively.

Jim is a partner in the firm of MacDevitt & LaBarbera, tax attorneys, with offices in the Empire State Building. A native New Yorker and a graduate of La Salle Military Academy, he matriculated in accounting, worked summers with various New York firms and was active in several campus organizations. After graduation he worked as an accountant for Price Waterhouse, U. S. Rubber Co. and S. D. Leidesdorf in New York City before setting up his own accounting firm on Fifth Avenue in 1938.

Joining the army in 1942, Jim served as a staff officer in North Africa and Europe during W.W. II. After separation as a major he worked for the Internal Revenue Office, was graduated from New York University Law School and opened an office on Broadway as a C.P.A. specializing in tax audits before setting up his law firm. A former lecturer on taxation at the Graduate School of Business Administration, N.Y.U., he is a member of the tax committees of the Nassau Bar Association and the Nassau-Suffolk Chapter, New York Society of Certified Public Accountants, and is a frequent lecturer on federal taxation before various professional groups. Jim's wife, the former Katherine FitzGibbon of Scranton, Pa., is also a member of the New York Bar and was formerly secretary to Judge Learned Hand of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The MacDevitts live in Great Neck, Long Island, with their three sons and are members of St. Aloysius Parish.

ginia, and was much improved when he last wrote.

"LONG JACK CASSIDY and yours truly had a fine dinner together before the Christmas holidays. John has one son at the University and another is preparing to enter. His fellow townie, MIKE BISCKO, also has a lad on the Campus.

"Jack, ED CONROY and JOHN MORAN plan a get-together with us when John revisits the Bay State in a short while.

"Incidentally, the local newspapers have noted the efficiency with which the administration of the City Manager's office in Medford has progressed since ED CONROY took over less than one year ago. The Conroys have found a suitable permanent home in Medford, Massachusetts, and will welcome all class travelers with their own trailers.

"BERNIE CONROY postcarded us at Christmas and said his son, BERNIE, JR., had entered the Capuchin order to prepare for the priesthood.

"We learned from friends our old side kick, PAT HASTINGS, had a short hospital confinement, but he is feeling better now.

"We hear regularly from LOUIS BUCKLEY, '28, who is Deputy U. S. Labor Commissioner for New England District. (See '28 column.) Lou was one of our economic instructors during our senior year. All the class news chroniclers should take an orientation course from this journalist on how to gather news. If a classmate in Little South America accomplishes something worthwhile or a member of class of 1928 becomes a grandfather, Buckley knows about it the following morning. What a man! Never too busy to give of his time for the things which are for the good of Notre Dame.

"We trust you will remind the brethren that we have an important class reunion coming up in 1960 and that there should be some suggestions in from the brothers on ways and means of making this gathering the best. Maybe someone among the class will donate a lodge near the Campus where social security collectors, widowers, bachelors and members who have had to turn over their lodgings to their grandchildren can spend their last days in serenity. Encourage the lads to send in money and suggestions for the Reunion in 1960.

"We received a nice note from His Eminence JOHN CARDINAL O'HARA at the time of his investiture. CARDINAL O'HARA was responsible for us securing our first employment on the Campus. We later served as a news delivery boy for him when he took his famed Bulletin to the Dean at St. Mary's when we resided there during our senior year.

"A prayer is our good wish to you and yours. Keep the faith!"

From the Alumni Office:
"BOB" SOPER, superintendent of occupational therapy at Wassau State School, has been elected second vice president of the New York State Civil Service Association.

FATHER CHARLES A. LEE, chaplain at the Josephine Baird Home in New York City, celebrated his Silver Jubilee on June 24. Father Lee is also director of St. Vincent de Paul Society for the Archdiocese of New York. He spent 14 years teaching at Cathedral College minor seminary before going to Josephine Baird. His most memorable experience was celebrating Mass at the Holy Sepulchre.

The last time I sat down to prepare the 1931 news for the ALUMNUS, the snow was about a foot deep in this area. Would that I had a bit of that today to make me comfortable. Due to the rush of business I had to forego the last issue of the ALUMNUS. This was a bit embarrassing particularly when I received a nice letter from FRANK CARIDEO telling how much he enjoys the '31 column:

"This piece of correspondence will no doubt shock you, but at the same time I want you to know that I have been faithfully reading your communicative in the ALUMNUS under the Class of '31.

"Unfortunately because of my particular hobby in the fall of assisting in radio broadcasts of football games, I have not been able to make it back to school. Then during the month of June when most of our reunions are held, we have a thirty-day drive — Company practice — which keeps every man on the job every day of the month. Yet every so often someone is kind enough to have my name placed in the ALUMNUS, such as the Alumni Office in the last issue, and I appreciate it very much. I know that you are very busy, and yet you have been very faithful in keeping up with the news on our classmates which I have enjoyed tremendously.

"In closing may I say that I hope you don't lose any time in getting us the news as you have because I know everyone appreciates it very much. I will attempt to keep you informed of some of the Notre Dame men in this area because we are accumulating quite a few."

It is my sad duty to report the death of RICHARD CLARK BENKENDORF early in January. Clark was my roommate our Sophomore year when we lived in room 340 over the Morrissey Hall Chapel. He finished his Pre-med at Notre Dame and took Medicine in Chicago. After interning here, he moved to Bushnell, Illinois, where he was in charge of the McDonough County Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium. He was on the staff of St. Francis Hospital at Macomb. The last time many of us saw him was the Sunday morning of the Reunion week end under the Lyons arch. Clark registered his son, Dick, that morning. He will be a senior this coming year. Richard is survived by his widow, Celeste, and seven children. A letter extending the sympathy of the class and a Mass Card has been sent to Mrs. Benkendorf. Sympathy of the Class is also extended to EDDIE RYAN in the loss of his father in January. Among the late arriving Christmas cards was one from HARRY KENNEDY way down in South America. I have run into Harry's friend, GEORGE COSTELLO, a few times recently and he is wondering how LOUIS GODOY made out in the recent Cuban military activity.

I had a letter from JOHN DORSCHER saying he would be in town for N. A. D. A. convention in early February. John is president of the New York State Automobile Dealers Assn. We did not have a chance to get together although I did talk to him on the phone. He mentioned seeing BOB CALLAHAN recently. Bob's son recently won the Figure Skating Championship in that area. MARTY DOWLING is well and recovering from a recent illness. JOHN C. SULLIVAN took time out to send a note announcing the birth of their second daughter, Lisa. They now have two boys and two girls. I am sorry you did not add news of other '31ers in the Lauderdale area. Perhaps you can do that this summer, John. I had a letter from DON O'TOOLE telling of his meeting a man who was secretary to ANGUS D. McDONALD, President of the Southern Pacific during our school days. He is the man who delivered the Commencement Address that hot Sunday afternoon in 1931. Don sent on part of it with the comment that Mr. McDonald was a bit mild in his description of the depression. I am sure many of us were well aware of that. Don, who has been active in the development of the Calumet port area, was elected president of the Mississippi Valley Association. Speaking of Commencements, GIL SEAMAN is at Notre Dame this week end for the graduation of his son, Michael. I see EDDIE AGNEW occasionally, but he took time to send the following note early this year:

"Now that the rush is over I can take time out to do something I've wanted to do for quite a while. And that is write you and thank you for the wonderful 'write-up' you gave me in the Notre Dame ALUMNUS. It was very much appreciated by us all.

"Just in passing I want to tell you that we have two boys at N.D. One a freshman and the other in second year and he is in 'good old Lyons Hall.' No, neither of them are playing ball. The oldest was the one that has ability but lacks the want to kill. So maybe we're better off and I'm sure I can enjoy the games better, knowing that he is not out there. We also have four girls and another prospect for N.D. in about twelve years, I hope.

"Well, Jim, thanks again. And I hope if you're in the neighborhood of Old Orchard, you'll stop in again and say hello. I miss getting to the gatherings, but maybe this year I might get some time off and see you."

Seen at Universal Notre Dame Night this year were BERT METZGER, ED RYAN, GIL SEAMAN, RAY COLLINS, AL STEPAN, CARL CRONIN, DON O'TOOLE, NORB STAR, ED AGNEW, JIM MULVANEY, VINCE BUSCH, TOM CONLEY and JIM DOYLE. I sent JIM McQUAID some subscription business recently and received a note from his wife, Marie, saying Jim was going into the hospital for observation. No further report as yet. Please remember him in your prayers. SPIKE SULLIVAN telephoned from the airport May 10th. He and TOM MONAHAN had been making their usual spring inspection of football on the campus and reported seeing CARL CRONIN and FRANK LEAHY.

CALUMET REGION—Principals at Sports Night in Hammond, Ind., joining 400 guests in a rousing chorus of the Victory March, are (l. to r.) Tim Galvin; sports editors Norm Werry and John Whitaker, program moderators; Club President and m.c. Bill O'Connor; head football coach Joe Kuharich; assistant coaches Bill Daddio, Dick Evans and Joe Scudero.

I understand BUCKY O'CONNOR and his wife saw Mrs. Gertrude Hickman, secretary in the N. D. Club of Chicago office, off on a trip to Europe in April. Bucky's son, Jim, was graduated in the 1959 class. AL STEPAN was recently elected president of the board of directors of Lyric Opera Association of Chicago. The JERRY DESMONDS recently visited RAY COLLINS. They have a new grandchild and I understand two other daughters are nuns. Gerry has been elected Secretary of the Kalamazoo Alumni Club. Which brings up JOE BLANEY who also mentioned Jerry in a recent phone conversation.

TOM GOLDEN is now living in Pierce City, Missouri, and sent the following letter:

"I have been planning this letter for a long time. It just seems there is so much to do. Our TV is out of order so you may credit that situation for this letter.

"I have been living here in Pierce City since November 1957. I married a widow with six children ranging in age from 4 to 13. Maybe I wrote to you about this before. Seems like I did. At any rate — I am retired now (compulsory) and we are all getting along fine. The kids all like me and call me Daddy and I sure enjoy them.

"We have a big house here, and if any of my old friends are passing through this way I'd like to see them. (Enclosed is Mass check for $3.00.)

"I have been in Kansas City on a number of occasions but I have never been able to look up any N.D. men. I'd like of my old friends live there or in St. Louis. If any like to hear from them.

"I wrote to JIM ARMSTRONG to tell him of my Mother's passing and also asked him if there were any Notre Dame men in Monett, Verona or any of the surrounding towns. I am Deputy Grand Knight of the Verona Council. And local commander of the V.F.W. Post. I belong to the Kiwanis club and at exchange meetings I am always on the lookout for someone from the school of Our Lady."

Thanks, Tom, for the news and your contribution to the Mass Fund. Please remember our departed classmates in your prayers. Thanks to those who helped furnish news for the column. I hope next time I will have the pleasure of thanking many more for their letters. A wonderful summer to all.

From the Alumni Office:

DON O'TOOLE, mentioned above, president of Pullman Trust & Savings Bank, the Calumet Region Congress and the Mississippi Valley Assn., has been awaiting a U.S. Supreme Court decision which might invalidate the Illinois Bank Holding Co. Act and permit his associated Braeburn Securities Corp. to form a chain of state banks.

SISTER MARY PATRICE, who took her master's with honors in the summer of '31, never left N.D. in a sense. Notre Dame is the name of her order and the name of the college in Ohio where she's director of the social science department. She told a Cleveland News interviewer that she considers the college students of today our greatest hope for world peace.

FRANK S. McCULLOUGH resigned in July as a state senator and accepted an appointment by New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller as judge of the Westchester County Court. Active in New York politics since 1938, he has been Rye city supervisor, assemblyman, senator and chairman of the Republican State Convention. A partner of Barber & McCullough, Rye law firm, he is director and trustee of several banks and an officer of other companies. He and his wife Lovedy live in Rye with three children, Francis, 16, James, 14, and Judith Ann, 13.

A Chicago Tribune column recently enquired about the authenticity of a legend about a religious medal given to LARRY MULLINS by Mrs. KNUTE ROCKNE, which passed successfully (and fatally) through the hands of Wendell Willkie, Ernie Pyle and Tyrone Power. How 'bout it, Moon?

From the Alumni Office:

The death of REV. VINCENT P. BRENNAN, as JIM COLLINS reported in the last issue, was widely mourned. The texts of two moving eulogies were received by the Alumni Office, but space would not permit their being printed in the ALUMNUS. One was delivered by Bishop John J. Wright of Pittsburgh at Father Brennan's funeral. The other tribute was paid at Father Brennan's own Holy Sepulchre Church in Glade Mills, Pa., by REV. PHILIP SCHAEFF, C.S.C., director of the Lourdes Fraternity and pastor of Sacred Heart. Using Father Brennan's own words of a year before as a text to point up the priestly dedication of the departed pastor.

Apparently nobody has mentioned that Bishop PAUL J. HALLINAN and Most Rev. LORAS T. LANE have made the Class of '32 a leader in the production of prelates. If it could follow the Class of '11 and produce another CARDINAL O'HARA, the title would be secure.

A spot check on just a few of the local clergy would reveal FATHER GEORGE BAXTER still laboring at St. Patrick's, FATHER JOSEPH FAYNE beaming in his beautiful new Little Flower Church a mile east of the campus, and FATHER LOUIS PUTZ teaching and running a three-ring circus as author, publisher and apostolic gaddy.

It is doubtful that any of the aforementioned or any denizen of Corby Hall will be more interested in the football fortunes of JOE KUCHARICH and his warriors than GEORGE IZO, SR., in the next few months.

M. J. (JOE) FOLEY, Vancouver, B.C., one-time Floridan, was host in June to REVS. FRANK CAVANAUGH, C.S.C., '23, and GEORGE HOLDERITH, C.S.C., '18. The Notre Dame priests were on a trip in connection with the NCAA golf tournament in Oregon. Father Cavanaugh reports that Joe rolled out all the red carpets, and made their stop in Vancouver a memorable one. Joe is in the lumber business with his brother, HAROLD FOLEY, '21, who was recently announced as a member of the University's Associate Board of Lay Trustees.

Classmates who have seen or heard from ED MASSA may not have heard about his fascinating visit to the city of Horta on Fayal island in the Azores and his subsequent travels in Portugal last September. Ed was a member of a committee representing Californians of Portuguese birth or ancestry who had raised $40,000 for disaster relief. On Fayal the committee was the guest of the governor of the district of Horta, to whom, after several conferences, they entrusted the funds. The benevolent mission appropriated 250,000 contos to rebuild a school demolished by continuous volcanic eruptions, earmarking the remainder for distribution among those whose homes and farms were destroyed. "This," Ed wrote, "will serve as a monumental reminder of the love people share in America for their distressed brethren in any part of the world."

Ed's visit was widely publicized in Portugal, where he represented U.S. industrial interests and also gathered material for a novel about Our Lady of Fatima (tentative title: "And the Blind Shall See") on which he has been working. In Lisbon he conferred with Prime Minister Dr. Antonio de Oliveira Salazar; with the new President of the Portuguese Republic, Admiral Americo Tomas, and with His Eminence Manuel Gonsalves Cardinal Cerejeira, Patriarch of Lisbon, whom Ed had accompanied on a tour of California in 1933. Ed was also the guest of his cousin Commodore M. M. Sarmiento Rodrigues, former governor of Portuguese Guinea and overseas minister, now head of the Naval Academy and director of shipping.

As an official guest Ed was provided with a chauffeur car and the guidance of experts from various ministries. Beside a stay in Lisbon, visits to Villa Vicosia and the Ajuda Palace, usually reserved for royalty, he toured Sintra, Erceira, Mafra, Fatima and the University of Coimbra.

From the Alumni Office:

The Class of 1934's answer to Robin Hood, BOB CAHILL, was up to his old tricks as local chairman of the Silver Jubilee Reunion. Bob staged a holdup a la Jesse James at Lyons Hall, but he followed it up with some unique festivities throughout the week end that made it a memorable 25th. The Friday night dinner was reported to have a very entertaining program featuring oratory by ED KRAUSE and company, some outrageous pictorial tomfoolery about certain classmates and a special screening of "Rockne of Notre Dame." An inexhaustible "soda fountain" in the hall distinguished '34 from the beery proletariat out on the quad. The silver jubilarians were exclusive guests of FATHER HESBURGH for luncheon on Saturday. Their own brass band (the Vigesimoquennial Marching Society) and accordionist made them the most musical group on the campus.

LOUIS CLARK wrote in to inform us that his son Bill, scheduled to enter Notre Dame this fall, got the call to join the Xavierian Brothers and will have entered their Novitiate on July 8. This still leaves the possibility that the younger Clark may become an N.D. man via summer school some day.

Secretary FRANK HOCHREITER, winding up the spring season of draymah with the Vagabond Theater in Baltimore, vacationed in June at the Aztec in Miami Beach, Fla., and has probably been all wrapped up in summer stock ever since. But you'll be hearing from "Hoch," especially if you didn't fill out his survey questionnaire. He's working hard in the intervals for a bang-up reunion next June.

FRANK DUNN and RAY GEREND should be welcomed aboard, having been elected to membership in the Association by the Alumni Board in the June meeting.

Heartiest congratulations to J. FRANK HOLOHAN, the class valedictorian, for his latest distinction. Back in June he was elevated vice president of the National Bank of Westchester, White Plains, N.Y. He joined the bank on June 15, having left his position as supervisory review examiner for the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System in Washington, D.C. A native of Galesburg, Ill., Frank has been with the Federal Reserve since graduation and recently was in charge of member banks in three of the twelve Federal Reserve Districts, Boston, Philadelphia and San Francisco. Since 1956 he has handled special assignments for the board and since 1954 he has been teaching in the Inter-Agency Bank Examination School.

National Bank of Westchester, incidentally, seems to have an affinity for N.D. bankers. President is HAROLD J. MARSHALL, '29.

Again, the news keeps getting slimmer and slimmer.

A report for the Cincy area by WALT NIENABER brings us up to date on the operators in the Queen city. Walt met quite a few of the coaches at the NCAA Convention along with FATHER NED JOYCE to review the class items and start getting ready for our Big 25th which will be along a lot faster than many of you think. BOB BURKE is reported having deduct item No. 7 early this year and winning the race in Cincy. Bob is in the livestock business. BILL PYLE has been in Detroit the past four years. BERT SCHLOEMER is in the advertising business in Cincy and doing very well. Should be reporting to our advertising V.P., Scribe Foley, in the flannel suit district of New York City. JERRY (JAZZ) GOHMAN has settled in the country outside of the city limits and can now be classified as a real "squire." I wonder how he changed from a beer thumb to a "green" thumb to be a squire.

Walt states that he could have used "BUCKY JORDAN" during the convention when he and BOB CAHILL spent some time in the Kentucky spots. Seems as though while in the Navy in Boston, Bucky had a habit of keeping the boys up late. At the Universal N.D. Night at Mayfair Farms, West Orange, the New York contingent was well represented. Big "EIK" JOE McNALLY, who is larger than ever, led the group which included JOE DEFRANCO, HARVEY FOSTER, JIM MCGOLDRICK. You can see Joe's visit was a well guarded one. He can still talk as fast as ever, but states that he still lets Brother Bill take the blue ribbons. Bill is reported as the bachelor of the family roving all over the country teaching and showing organizations how to raise funds for any project you can think of. It was reported that Fidel Castro was thinking of having Bill as an associate.

Finally caught up with TOM HUGHES, who still owes me a reporting letter. Tom is with Continental Can and with sales promotion, gets all over the country, which only a large operator like Tom can do. He meets up with JOE SCHILLING on some of his jaunts.

One item I overlooked was a visit in Miami with GEORGE BONFIELD and the houseful. George really has it made with his family, and the boat supply business that he is in will prosper with the traveling public we have today. It was good to meet another fellow who has a desk piled high with papers and two phones ringing.

We have a change on MARK LONERGAN, from Canada to Park Forest, Chicago, Ill. Let's hear on the particulars, Mark. Also LEN TOSE has moved from the Phila. suburbs to New York City. Then we have a big jump being made by WALT TROY from Ohio way out to Spartan Drive, San Diego, California.

It is with deep regret that we report the passing of LUKE TIERNAN in April. You may miss this in the other items. Luke will be remembered by all the politicians who operated at the "U" over the years. Luke knew all the angles on campus politics and had a lot of friends who will miss him over the years and at reunion time. After school, he did a bang-up job with the Chicago Club.

With the warm weather approaching we are running out of the fine brew that MIKE BRIAS forwarded from Manila. At least there is some compensation for this job, if not a letter, a wonderful package of a specialty of the country. Many thanks, Mike!

Please—when you have the duty at home, when the missus is out with the bridge club—drop olde Joe a line.

Active in professional and civic affairs, he has also been president of the Tulsa N.D. Club and a city chairman for the Foundation.

DANIEL R. FINN has been elected a vice-president of Baker Castor Oil Co., a subsidiary of National Lead, which he joined as an accountant in 1940. Transferred to Baker in 1950 as treasurer, he continues to serve in that capacity.

Because the reports of High School graduations have been exceeding the birth announcements from you men the past few years, some are saying that middle age is creeping up on us. To halt that rumor—fostered no doubt by the retirement annuity salesmen amongst us—my wife Helene and I hasten to announce the birth of our 7th daughter, Brenda Sue, on May 24th who, plus our two boys, makes us now a full house in any card game. And, to encourage the young at heart, we invite similar announcements from the rest of you 38-ers.

Just as personal a communique was received from personal management consultant TOM SHEILS, Hollywood, California. Tom and his wife had a baby girl last January 15th. Said Tom: "This brings our family status back to five (again). We lost our oldest boy, Tommy, Jr., after he suffered a cerebral hemorrhage while we were vacationing in the San Bernardino Mountain area. We now have three boys and two girls and I am happy to say that all are well." So are we, Tom, and our deepest sympathy goes to you and your wife on the loss of your son. Tom has his own personal management firm known as Thomas P. Sheils Associates with offices in Hollywood and New York. Tom said he enjoyed being at our 20-year reunion last summer. Tom gets in touch with "HOOK" KERWIN, who tooted with him in that top combo of the Thirties, "The Modernaires." "Hook," he says, is doing very well with Thompson Products in Cleveland and, after studying law at nights for years, just recently passed his Ohio bar exams.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Harry J. Kirk (right), recently named a Knight of St. Gregory by Pope John XXIII, receives additional recognition in special ceremonies on May 15 when James W. McGlooin presents a scroll naming him Notre Dame Man of the Year 1959.

"At his ripe old age they should give him a lot of credit for tackling such an assignment," comments Tom, and we second the motion. Tom would like to get in touch with GENE VASLETT who is supposed to be in the Los Angeles area. "I do hear from TOMMY ATKINSON on occasion, and our old trumpet player from the dance band we had at school, GENE QUINN, who is now living out here, so we meet from time to time," writes Tom. He also mentioned that he is interested in CFM (Christian Family Movement) and that they have three or four CFM groups in their parish. His address is 1459 Seward Street, Hollywood 28, Calif.

From the late land of the "Bums," 458 Bay Ridge Parkway, Brooklyn 9, N.Y., DR. A. WILLIAM "RIGGIE" DI BRIENZA writes that he's "still in active medical practice here in Brooklyn (despite the cessation of riots at Ebbett's field???) and the good Lord has been good to me, my wife Ann and two sons, Robert (15) and William (13). My son Robert attends a relatively new high school here in Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, Xavierian H.S. — and at our recent father-son Communion breakfast we had as speakers Sleepy JIM CROWLEY, '25, of four horseman fame, and our own 38-er HARVEY FOSTER, special F.B.I. agent here in New York.

"Received word from JACK ANTON from Rome several weeks ago where he's in the seminary, happy and doing very well. CAS VANCE says 'hello' — he and his wonderful family live just a few blocks from us." Riggie already is planning on coming back for the 25th reunion. Riggie, by the way, was on the nominating committee, along with JOHN O'CONNOR, SCOTT REARDON, and LEN SKOGLUND, who "Ham-many Hauled" me into this class secretary executive position.

JOHN O'CONNOR, incidentally, was named Man of the Year by the Indianapolis N.D. club, for reasons other than that he got JOE KUCHARICH down to speak at their Universal N.D. night. Joe also spoke at the South Bend Rockne Memorial Communion Breakfast which commemorates Rockne's death each year. At the breakfast officers for the South Bend-Notre Dame club were elected and included three 38-ers: DON FISHER, CHARLEY CALLAHAN and BURNIE BAUER (that's me, "Swede") while BILL GIBBON'S term continues. Only dissenting votes came from DON HICKEY and JOHN MURPHY who protested, with undeniable logic, that all the offices should be filled with 38ers, on the basis of merit, that is.

We were sad to hear from CHARLEY CALLAHAN that BILL MEHRING'S dad, who was well known to many in our class, died in April. Originally from Huntington, Indiana, Bill now lives at 45 Hanover Rd., Mountain Lakes, New Jersey. Callahan also said he received a note from Father JOE ENGLISH, class of '37 who is now a Maryknoll priest in Chile. Father English mentioned that JIM FLANAGAN is now with the Columbus Trust Company, Newburgh, N.Y., which is also Father's home town. At the Drake Relays, Charlie visited with NICK LAMBERTO who is continuing to do well as a news reporter on the Des Moines Register Tribune.

ED BRENNAN of Paw Paw, Mich., stopped in for lunch on his way through Indiana and Illinois peddling paper and said he saw PAUL HUGHES in Flint where Paul is managing estates with a pen, not a lawnmower. Ed also saw FRANK DELANEY at Burlington, Iowa, where he is sales manager of the Midwest Biscuit Co., selling Vista Packs wrapped up in Ed's paper. Those Vista Packs ought to be real sanitary; Frank spent four years working along side of me in DOC REYNOLDS' germ-free bacteriology labs.

The following have changed abodes but are keeping quiet about everything else despite an earnest plea from me for a bit of news. If any of you get near their new address, drop in, warm up the house a bit and then urge them to send in a few words to their class column. HOWARD DAVE BILGER, whom I used to keep awake in the 1:15 classes, apparently hasn't forgotten me yet, my sharp elbows, because there's been no word from him at his new address, Box 154, St. Augustine, Florida. Maybe Dave was afraid I would come down for the winter with my whole tribe — and I still might! BOB ORVIS moved to 617 S. Olive, Los Angeles 14, Calif. Bob better write or I'll tell everybody his first name is Hanford. GEORGE BELANGER'S new address is 20 Meridian Rd., Levittown, N.Y. JOHN SCHEMMER, who lived on N.D.'s Gold Coast with his golden locks, now has a New York gold coast address, 1010 5th Ave., New York 28, N.Y. FRANK COSGROVE is still Austin, Texas', favorite druggist but now lives at 1602 Ridgeman in Austin. BERNARD WASELL moved down the street a ways to 171 Anderson St., Pottsville, Pa., and if he's like my old coalminer roommate, JOE WEHRLE of Punxsutawney, Pa., may have a good reason for not writing — can't! Former Economic Round Table Age, CARL DOOZAN, is too busy lawyering in Saginaw, Mich., to write from his new home at 1103 Chestnut Street, according to his old buddy, FRANK LANIGAN, of La Porte, Ind. CHARLEY DUKE, now airport manager in New Orleans, hasn't been away from us in South Bend long enough to write except to let us know he is now a suburbanite at 10420 Park St., Little Farms 23, La.

TOM HALBERT moved from Pittsburgh (after the Pirates made that terrible first-week start) to 46 Salmi Rd., Framingham, Mass. — to be near the Red Sox???

HAROLD WARDELL jumped from Westport, Connecticut, to 11 Woodland Lane, Arcadia, Calif. BILL ARMEL, old side-kick of LEN SKOGLUND, left his homeland of Chicago and is now almost a neighbor of JIM DAUGHERTY, the Bristol baron, at 6613 Jocelyn Hollow Rd., Nashville, Tenn. BOB LEONARD moved from Kinston, N.C., to become assistant to the production manager, textile fibers department, Dacron Textile Rayon Mfg. Div., Wilmington, Del. DR. DAN BOYLE slipped over to 471 Hamilton Ave., Trenton, N.J., from Hopewell, N.J., and ANDY PISECK moved to 5 Lennon Place, Whitesboro, N.Y., from Utica.

As President of the South Bend Serra club I hope to make the Serra International Convention in Pittsburgh this summer where I know I will meet some of our class. If possible I hope to stop in on a few of you silent lads en route, so, as Father Farley used to say as he came down the corridors at Sorin hall at 6 a.m., with cowbell and hammer in lieu of alarm clock, "Be Prepared!"

Thought of the Month: As long as you have someone creeping in your home, you don't have to worry about Father Time creeping up on you.

In an earlier issue is a picture of the wives of the South Bend 38-ers welcoming JOE KUCHARICH'S wife to South Bend Society at a luncheon at Eddie's. Go ahead and whistle, boys, you've got to admit the Class of '38 knows how to pick 'em. Addition to 1938 News:

Just received a comprehensive epistle from the class of '38's most representative seminarian in Rome, JACK ANTON, who wrote in English but used Ruman numerals as is befitting, to wit:

"I read the column with relish and have intended to write for months to sort of 'check in' with the wonderful class (Ed. note: Jack was always a man of understatement) of '38. I enjoyed the 20th reunion about a year ago this time as I've enjoyed all our reunions in the past.

"Tomorrow I have an oral exam, in the Rector's office and that will be all for this term. I am returning home to spend the summer with my parents and will return in October a Theologian. We cover the entire of Philosophy in just the one year. (Comment: I've heard Jack and the boys do this in just one night back in Walsh hall.) Tomorrow's oral is to be based on any of the tracts of Philosophy. (Sudden thought: not much different than those sessions after lights out back in the thinking thirties.)

"The Holy Cross Order have a beautiful set-up here. It really is a pleasure to visit them — which I've done on many occasions. The most memorable visit being when Cardinal O'Hara was here to receive his 'red hat.' I had a very good seat in St. Peter's and had a wonderful view of Pope John placing it on him. Also had a nice visit with him later. The Notre Dame Club of Rome is of rather good size, but I can't be as active as I might like, being a seminarian. But we do get out from time to time and I'd enjoy seeing any of the gang visiting in Rome. (Jack's address is Pontifical College, Veda 67 Via S. Nicolo da Tolentino, Rome 5, Telephone 487,406) [The address] should also enable the boys to drop "the Deacon" a one once in awhile. Several have done so this year and I really appreciate hearing from them.

"My very best to CHUCK SWEENEY, JOE KUCHARICH, DON HICKEY, CHARLIE CALAHAN, DON FISHER and all the '38-ers in South Bend. I probably will be through S.B. on my way back to Rome. Hope you and your family are well. Would love to hear from you. Sincerely, Jack Anton." Jack's address in the States is 1806 N.E. 28th Drive, Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

Same day I received a nice letter from BOB LEONARD, who is now located with duPont's home office in Wilmington, Delaware. Bob and his wife Beverly were married in the Log Chapel in November, 1939. They now have two boys and a girl. Oldest son has just completed his Freshman year at U. of North Carolina. Bob started working for du Pont at their experimental station in Wil-

JOHN B. MORGAN, '40
Count-down Accountant

As the Atlas Intercontinental Ballistic Missile becomes an operational weapon in the U. S. Space Age defense system, a former N. D. assistant professor of accounting, John Barrett Morgan, holds the purse strings connecting launching pads from coast to coast.

In September of 1956 John joined Convair-Astronautics, a division of General Dynamics, as assistant to the controller and soon became budgets administrator. With the growth of the Atlas ICBM program he was promoted this year to chief of off-site base accounting. The new position gives him responsibility for the accounting functions at all the many test and operational bases scattered throughout the country.

A native of Washington, D.C., John came to N. D. with a B.C.S. from Strayer College of Accountancy and plunged into campus jobs and activities. Before and after graduation in accounting he worked for Potomac Electric Power Co. as a payroll analyst, cost accountant and budget and tax accountant, resigning to become an agent for the Bureau of Internal Revenue. In 1943 he was called to navy service and became a supply officer on Atlantic convoy duty with a destroyer escort. Mustering out in 1946, he was on the accounting faculty of the N. D. College of Commerce until 1951, when recall to active naval duty launched his career in the aircraft and missile field. As a cost inspector, in military and later in civil service, he audited more than 40 defense contractors before joining Temco Aircraft Corp. in Dallas, Tex., as administrative accountant in charge of budget, audit and contract operations, which led to his transcontinental commuting for Convair.

John's extracurricular activities include local business and fraternal organizations and, of course, the N. D. Club of San Diego. Home base is La Mesa, Calif., with his wife Louise and five children, Margaret, 17; Cathy, 13; Harriet, 12; John Michael, 4, and Marion Elizabeth, not quite a year.

mington during the early commercial development of nylon, was transferred to Seaford, Delaware, to assist in starting the first nylon plant and stayed there 12 years. During three of these years ED WRAPP (accounting wizard of the class) was at the same plant. In 1952 Bob was transferred to Kinston, North Carolina, to start a new plant with another new fiber called "Dacron." As Bob says, "Thanks in part to 'Tex' Haggard and his wonderful stacks this business has grown substantially in the past six years. I was Chief Supervisor of Manufacturing at this plant until my recent transfer to the home office in Wilmington." Bob said that the only 38-er he saw much of since graduation besides Ed Wrapp was FRANK BRIGHT (who like Ed was maxima cum laude as an accounting student). Bob said that he wasn't near any N.D. clubs while in Carolina but was called upon many times to give talks on Notre Dame at various church and civic clubs over the years. Since Bob lived in mission country he and his wife spent a lot of their spare time in church work, and I am anxious to hear more about this some time. It's heartwarming to hear from Jack and Bob. Hope you other 38-ers keep my heart from getting cold. — SWEDE.

As many know, Jim not only retained his office as secretary but was honored, by the classmates gathered for election, with the presidency as well. Elected vice-president and treasurer respectively were two Illinois boys, MARIO TONELLI of Skokie and DAVE MESKILL of Wilmette. JOE HANNAN, the South Bend banker, was named to administer the Class of '39 25th Reunion Fund. Those who were alarmed by the week end hat-passing should know that the collecting was class-inspired and designed to inaugurate a special fund to memorialize the Class of '39. HILLAIRE A. VAN HOLLEBEKE, whose application for admission to the Alumni Association was approved by the Alumni Board in June, is hereby welcomed back to the Class of '39.

625 Madison Ave.
New York 22, N. Y.

From the Alumni Office:

The big push is on for the 20-Year Reunion of the Class of '40. It won't go into orbit until June 10, 1960, but the first stage left the launching pad with the election of officers in May.

In a whopping mail ballot the following men were put in office: JAMES V. DONOGHUE, Chicago, Ill., president; PHILIP J. SANDMAIER, JR., Chatham, N.J., vice-president, Eastern States; WALTER FLEMING, JR., Dallas, Tex., vice-president, Southern States; JOSEPH THESING, Kansas City, Mo., vice-president, Midwest States; JAMES METZLER, Kansas City, Kas., vice-president, Western States; JAMES G. BROWN, New York, N.Y., secretary, and RICHARD BURKE, Notre Dame, treasurer.

It's not every class that can have a University accountant like DICK BURKE watching the punts, strings, and JIM BROWN's resounding vote of confidence should result in his getting a little news to report in this space. Jim needs some mail from you at the Madison Avenue address above. WALTER FLEMING, a strong contender in several departments, not only covers Dixie but serves as liaison with the Alumni Board on which he is a director, while PHIL SANDMEIER bolsters Secretary Brown on the Eastern Seaboard.

As Midwestern and Western regional vice-presidents respectively, JOE THESING and JIM METZLER, by an odd twist of the vote, will be surveying their domains back-to-back across the wide Missouri, but they'll have the advantage of comparing notes at the river bank.

In the presidency, Chicago stockbroker JIM DONOGHUE has already swung into action with appeals to all the officers for reunion suggestions. Jim has also enlisted the aid of JOHN KELLY in New Jersey; JIM HUFNAGEL in Pennsylvania; AL KESSING in Jacksonville, Fla.; BILL COLEMAN in Cleveland; AL FUNK, La Crosse, Wis.; PHIL CANALE down in Memphis, Tenn., and DR. JOHN KELLEHER in Toledo.

Congratulations to other close runners-up in the strongly contested officer race: New York's FATHER RICHARD FALLON and JOHN MARTIN; easterners JOHN DILLON, BERNARD CRAWFORD and HENRY ARMITAGE; JOHN CAVAN, CHARLES HUTCHENS and TERRENCE SMITH below the Mason-Dixon; Iowa's ED HANNAN; JIM DELAHANTY in South Bend, and Californians RICHARD LYNG and JOHN MACK. Their active assistance will be appreciated by the officers in an all-out effort for a record reunion turnout.

In his labors for Convair JOHN MORGAN has worked with ED DOYLE, occasionally sees JIM DOYLE, chief accountant for Pan-Am at the Missile Test Center in Florida, and hears from roommate HARRY PHILLIPS.

1941 James F. Spellman
7 East 42nd St.
New York 17, N. Y.

From the Alumni Office:

Between his own thriving accounting firm and labors as treasurer of the Notre Dame Club of New York. JIM SPELLMAN has been too tied up to solicit information in the mails, but he would certainly appreciate all the news you can volunteer about yourself and the classmates you hear from. Jim will forward all the info to this department so that you can be oriented about your old buddies before the 20-year gathering less than two years away.

BILL CARSON has returned to the States after seven years in the education division of the International Cooperation Administration. Bill served in some of the hottest spots on the hemisphere, including the Dominican Republic, Cuba and Bolivia. He has now joined the faculty of Casper College and resides at 2024 Fremont Ave., Casper, Wyo.

Congratulations to REV. JAMES O'HARA on his new pastorate. Since 1945 Father Jim has been an assistant all over his diocese in Illinois, including Blessed Sacrament in Springfield, St. Thomas in Decatur and St. Peter's, Quincy. This past spring Bishop O'Connor appointed him head man at St. Mark's in Winchester, the county seat of Scott County, 53 miles west of Springfield. He'll hit the campus for some athletic contests this fall; just look for a handsome and obviously Irish padre with a two-tone (excuse the expression) Princeton haircut.

1942 William M. Hickey

We hear from BILL DILLHOEFER (1725 West Haven Road, San Marino, Calif.), who says:

"There are not too many of our classmates out here (to my knowledge). However, I occasionally see JACK MORRIS, associated with Mattel, Inc., toy manufacturers; BILL McGRATH, comptroller of Typographic Service, Inc.; JIM MORAN, a lawyer for Pioneer Flintkote Company; JACK MAHON, an insurance man, and DR. LEO TURGEON, profession obvious.

"BOB MADDON, a California native son, returns to his coaching job in the Canadian football league." Thanks, Bill, for the scoops.

At the Florida Notre Dame State Convention at the Sea Ranch in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., members of the Class of 1942 in attendance were: BILL MADDEN, Palm Beach; TOM WALKER, Fort Lauderdale; EMMETT MORAN, Coral Gables; DICK WHALEN, Fort Lauderdale, and your news-hungry class secretary, BILL HICKEY of Chicago.

FRANK LADKY announces the arrival of their sixth child April 19, a baby girl, which balances the brood three and three. Frank reports that TOM FITZHARRIS is in good shape in New York and is coming to Milwaukee this summer.

BILL MADDEN had the sorrow of losing his mother on May 15 without warning or illness. Our condolences to him.

Bill is president of the newly-formed Notre Dame Club of Palm Beach and, as usual, spends his summers at Lake Placid. At the Newark airport he met PAUL PATTON, who is now coaching football and hockey at Cornell University.

From the Alumni Office:

RICHARD A. GULLING, assistant treasurer of the Timken Roller Bearing Co., was chosen in June as president and board chairman of Junior Achievement of Starke County (Ohio), Inc., by directors of the organization. The job was previously filled by two men. Dick was formerly vice president of the board and was chairman of JA's "Future Unlimited" banquet in Canton, O., where he's been with Timken since 1943 and assistant treasurer since 1953.

THOMAS J. JOHNSON was appointed employee relations manager of Mobil Oil Company's East Providence, Rhode Island, refinery effective June 15. Tom worked at Mobil's Paulsboro, N. J., refinery after army service in Europe during World War II. He was promoted to assistant manager of employee relations at the refinery in 1956. Married to the former LeAnne Boyle, Tom has three sons and a daughter.

REV. HOWARD A. KUHN, C.S.C., won a Ph.D. in history from Georgetown June 8. He got his M.A. at Notre Dame in 1948. A member of the faculty of Holy Cross in Washington, D.C., Father Kuhns wrote a thesis that sounds fascinating,

JOHN J. McHALE, '43
Tiger at Home with the Braves

In baseball's National League pennant stretch Fred Haney's Milwaukee Braves battle for a third straight crown with tough West Coast contenders, while Jimmy Dyke's Detroit Tigers struggle for the first division as spoilers of the American League. Following the fortunes of both Midwestern scrappers is Tiger veteran Johnny McHale, "braving" his first season as general manager-vice president of Milwaukee's defending champs. Top boss in Tigertown for two seasons, rabid fan Johnny agonized self-acquiescingly when Kuenn, Kaline & Kompny suffered an early-season slump.

After 18 years with Detroit's system John McHale is one of the game's youngest top executives. He signed with the Tigers in 1941 after two years at N.D. in which, as varsity center, he started against Army and other football foes but never played college baseball. Two seasons with Detroit farm clubs like Beaumont in the Texas League were interrupted by W.W. II. Then bad health in navy midshipman training forced a medical discharge, and John returned to end the 1944 season with the Tigers. Sent to Buffalo in '45, he sprayed the International Assn. with 22 homers, clouting .320 with 114 RBI's, before recall (despite a knee injury) to help the Tigers take a pennant and edge the Cubs in the World Series. Groomed to replace Hank Greenberg at first base, he wintered with study in Sorin Sub for an A.B. early in '47 (but stays loyal to '43). In 1948 John obtained a release as a player and launched a brilliant career in administration with the Tigers farm system. Named general manager in 1957, he signed with Braves owner Lou Perini last January to work with Birdie Tebbets in guiding the Milwaukee operation.

A continuing tie with Detroit is Johnny's wife, formerly Patricia Ann Cameron, niece of Tigers owner Walter Briggs. Married in the Lady Chapel at graduation, they now have three boys and three girls aged 2 to 11.

involving the historic marital difficulties of Henry VIII. He's a member of Phi Alpha Theta, historic honor society.

JOHN J. GARVEY, who has been running part of New York's celebrated Macy's since 1954, was appointed manager of the department store's drug factory in June. Previously he had been general manager of a firm in Mamaroneck, N.Y., and during W. W. II he was a navy lieutenant in the South Atlantic. John and Mrs. Garvey have four children and live in Eastchester, N.Y.

A West Coast visitor recently was JOE CALLAHAN. Joe was en route to Djakarta, Indonesia, after an extended vacation in the States from duties in management of National Carbon's Java plant. He had many interesting stories to tell of his life and travels in the Far East for National Carbon. It was Joe's first visit home in three years.

PAUL FISHER, working in Washington, D.C., is serving his second year in office for the Notre Dame Club of Washington, D.C.

Paul has five children.

JIM MADIGAN reports fair progress with the Buck-a-Week plan he wrote about early this year. If you haven't made the contribution to his plan Jim asks that you send something along soon.

News has been scarce lately (scarce! it's been absolutely nothing) so please send along any information. Please note the new address. I'm sure the new postman would like to lug some letters up the hill from '43ers.

From the Alumni Office:

JOSEPH L. BERRY, an erstwhile classmate, was elected president of the Greensborough, N.C., chapter of N.C.C.J. last spring, according to the Carolina regional director, who commented on MOOSE KRAUSE, '34, receiving the Brotherhood Award this year.

WILLIAM P. LILJESTROM has been appointed southwestern regional sales manager for Olin Alumin.

Bill has been Dallas sales manager and assistant manager of sheet and plate product sales in New York since joining the company in 1957. Previously he had been a market manager for Reynolds Metals and served in the Navy during W. W. II. Bill moves back to Dallas for the new assignment.

The Class of '43 is fast catching up with '38 (president, football coach, etc.) as the class with the most high-ranking representation on campus. Already boasting a vice-president for student affairs, FATHER GEORGE BERNARD, the Class now has another C.S.C. heading the religion department, FATHER ROBERT PELTON, the genial rector of Morrissey Hall. Father Bob has been editing the beautiful Spanish-language brochure introducing Latin-American students to U.S. Catholic educational institutions and moderated the N.D. swimming club before it achieved varsity team status.

Once again an early deadline-date proves to be a handicap. This column is being written prior to the reunion and before the May-June Alumnus is mailed, and as a result, there is a dearth of news to report and the complete details of our 15th reunion (which will have passed by the time this issue reaches you), will have to be postponed until the fall issue of the ALUMNUS.

Some late news just received brings word that JOHN MORRISON has joined Republic Aviation at their home office in Farmingdale, Long Island, where he is now a Senior Computing Engineer. He and his family vacated their apartment in Vetteville shortly before the reunion and regrettably were not on hand to greet the reunionites. John had just completed another year of advance studies and research in mathematics and at the end of the school term accepted his assignment with Republic Aviation.

I know all the members of the class join with me in extending to him every best wish in his new work.

We also have late word from BILL WUKOVITS who is living in South Bend with his wife and three children, but who has spent many weeks during the past year in St. Joseph Hospital and also up at Mayo Brothers tussling with eye troubles that caused a temporary loss of sight. He is presently receiving new "bacteria" treatment and we learn that his case was discussed at the National Eye Convention and was reported in the American Medical Journal. Besides his own difficulties, we learned that at one time or other during the past several months all members of his family were hospitalized for one reason or another. It has been truly a year for "testing faith" for Bill and his family and they have certainly met the test. I know everyone in our class joins in extending prayerful best wishes to the Wukovits family of South Bend.

I hope to have a complete report on the reunion shenanigans in our next column. If you were there, you cherish the memories; if you were unable to attend, we hope you have begun making plans for our 20th in 1964.

From the Alumni Office:

Over the reunion week end GEORGE BARISCILLO conceived the idea of having you who were there report on the festivities. President-elect JOHN LYNCH, who ringmastered the affair with BOB LEHMAN, thought of supplementing the news with specific suggestions to improve the performance in 1964. It took nearly two months, but the office finally got out a brief questionnaire to serve these purposes and we hope all the reunion registrants have sent their replies to George by now.

Incidentally, one of George's reunion preparations was getting elected in May to another four-year term as commissioner in Bradley Beach, N.J. Outgoing president JACK THORNTON is to be thanked for the great interest he had in reunion arrangements and the election of a successor.

The successor, JOHNNY LYNCH, has the misfortune of being the most successful literary man in the class, author of some highly honored short stories, so George picked him as the logical man to author a memorial brochure on the Class of '44 at the 15-year milestone, including the class survey completed just before the reunion, for distribution in the near future. The only generalization John has divulged to date is that the typical '44 man, no matter how successful, never learned to spell.

JOHN H. TERRY, profiled in the last issue as an appointments secretary in Albany, N.Y., is now assistant secretary to Governor Rockefeller. He moved his office before the news got out. The "Spotlight" failed to announce, incidentally, that John was the Syracuse Club's N. D. Man of the Year.

RAY RUETZ and his family now live out in Manhattan Beach, Calif., where Ray is chief accountant for U. S. Chemical. He's not far from Brother Joe, who toils for Stanford University.

One of the nation's top Mariologists is FATHER EDWARD O'CONNOR, C.S.C., who won the seventh annual Marian Library Medal from the University of Dayton for the best English-language book on the Blessed Virgin published in 1958. Father O'Connor, who has been teaching at the University since 1932, was honored for his writing and editing in "The Dogma of the Immaculate Conception" and also edited "The Mystery of the Woman." Both works were published by the University Press.

THOMAS F. "TIM" HALLIGAN of Flint, Mich., was recently elected president of the Bowling Proprietors of Michigan, an organization of the state's bowling establishments with combined assets in the neighborhood of $150 million. Tim follows in the footsteps of his father, T. J. Halligan, one of the organizers of the group. It's the first time a son has followed his dad in the presidency. An LL.B., Tim abandoned the law books early for the family specialty

THIS IS IT

There are just ten months to go before the Class of '45 holds its 15-year reunion. This is what we have been working for the past five years, and it will be now that the real hard work of organizing and of setting up committees will begin. But all our work and our organization will go to nothing if YOU do not cooperate by lending us your presence next June on campus for a gala week end of recollection and friendship. In the next few weeks your class secretary will meet with a local committee on campus to set up the individual functions which will be slated for Friday night, Saturday, Saturday night and Sunday morning for our class reunion weekend.

Those of you who were fortunate enough to have made the ten-year reunion know what a delightful and wonderful time we all had. Many of those who attended are still raving about it and are still elated with the outcome. Now the 15-year reunion is upon us, and I am sure that those who were here for the tenth anniversary will be here for the fifteenth. Our only objective is to gather more of those unlucky few who were not able to come for the tenth, so that we will have over a hundred people at our reunion.

Don't forget, mark down that second weekend in June of 1960, for our reunion.

As bulletins become firmed up, your class secretary has set a policy of mailing them out to you. You should be getting the first one very shortly. Watch for your Reunion Bulletins.

ENGINEERING OPEN HOUSE

Your secretary was very fortunate in being invited to the Engineering Open House at the University April 24, 25 and 26. I went as a representative of the Sperry Gyroscope Company since the firm was lending its college display units to the electrical engineering department of the College of Engineering.

The campus was lovely as ever and your secretary was very, very fortunate in having a few friendly words with FATHER CAVANAUGH, JIM ARMSTRONG, HAROLD ELLITHORN, DOCTOR HODES, JOHN LAUGHLIN, REV. JAMES MORAN, and Mr. F. N. BROWN and PROFESSOR EIKENBERRY of the Aeronautical Engineering Department. Of particular interest were the excellent displays which the students made to interest the high school students of the local area and to interest industry in engineering activity at Notre Dame.

AN APOLOGY

Your class secretary wants to apologize for not having a column in the last issue of the ALUMNUS, but through a reading error of the schedule which was mailed by the Alumni office, a mailing date of May 15 was misconstrued to mean that the deadline date was May 15 and on May 15 I was rushing to get the copy out when I realized that it was the mailing date of the magazine going to the Alumni. It meant that I was really very early for the June 1 deadline of the following issue, but that I had missed the previous one. At any rate, this gives you a chance to see what happens when the class secretary is caught sleeping. This is one post that must be manned at all times. With the coming reunion, there will be a brand new slate of officers and I am hoping that the new class secretary will not make the mistake that I have just made.

A BRAND NEW SLATE OF OFFICERS

At the reunion the class will have an opportunity to vote for new officers. As soon as we know what the slates are going to be, we will let you know; be sure to be ready to cast your vote for a worthy candidate. Your class secretary will be resigning from "political" life because of the strain of business and because your class secretary believes that ten years of any office is enough, and that someone else should be given an opportunity to serve the class in the same capacity.

LETTERS-FROM DEPARTMENT

From HARRY WALTERS: "On Saturday, De-

SPOTLIGHT ALUMNUS

FRANK J. CULHANE, '45

For a 2-Fold Task, a Fine "Foundation"

Frank Culhane can truly be described as serving a "two-way stretch" since he was elected treasurer of The Formfit Company of Chicago, famed manufacturer of foundation garments, by the board of directors early this year.

Succeeding to the position relinquished by Formfit's president, Frank continues as legal counsel, a post he held formerly as assistant treasurer of the firm. In his new office he also remains secretary-treasurer and a director of Formfit International, which operates in Jamaica, Morocco, France, Canada, England, South Africa, Australia and Switzerland. Prior to joining Formfit in 1955, he was a tax specialist and senior accountant with Arthur Anderson and Co., Chicago.

Frank's Class of '45 designation is arbitrary. A veteran of both W.W. II and Korea, he has a background in three Notre Dame Classes studying three different subjects. Starting in the NROTC program in 1941, he left in 1944 and saw action as a naval officer in the Pacific theater of operations. He returned to receive his accounting degree in 1948, then stayed on for an LL.B. in '50. Recalled for the Korean conflict, he served two years as operations officer on a destroyer and did a tour in Korea before returning Stateside for legal officer duty in California. After separation he went back to his native Chicago and success in civilian business.

Former Vetville residents, Frank and his wife now have five children and live at 375 Woodlawn, Glencoe, Ill.

On September 6, 1958, my wife, Ann, and I had the great thrill of attending the ordination of JOHN MCGARTHY as a priest of the Congregation of Holy Cross. Jack was a classmate of mine in St. Margaret's grammar school, Manhattan Prep and I followed him to Notre Dame in 1943. He was an original member of the Class of 1946 and was at Notre Dame in the V-12, and returned to school to graduate in 1948 after his Navy service.

Fellows like JIM CLYNES, FRANK LENIHAN, JIM DONNELLY, and TOM BERGIN will remember Mac. Father Jack will make a wonderful priest. It was one of the great thrills of my life to see him ordained."

From LCDR. VERNE R. HUBKA: "My ship has been deployed in the Taiwan area for the past five months. We have been at sea for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Years and had a 43-day stint 'at sea', continuously.

"I have followed Notre Dame by 'long distance' all these years. It was a long time ago since I graduated in 1946.

"Best wishes to you. I hope to be with my family next year."

From JIM RETTER: "I was certainly happy to receive your note. I was in New York City last week and wanted to phone you but didn't make it. Tried to contact JIM DONNELLY but must have gotten my airlines mixed up. (Jim, you had better phone me the next time, or else!!—Al).

"I have been transferred again — this time to Boston where I am the district sales manager for New England — still with Union Carbide Chemicals Co. We have a new daughter, 3-month-old Susan, which makes our family three boys and two girls.

"I am quite anxious to get active and meet the N. D. fellows here. Can you give me the address of the Boston Notre Dame Club Secretary?" (Jim, please see Directory. Best regards—Al).

From REV. MARK G. MCGRATH, C.S.C.: "Your steady devotion to N. D. through the Class of '45 is such as to shame even a Holy Cross priest. Here we are spreading as well as we can N. D.'s ideal of practical and generous Christianity in a country of great natural and Christian potential which is undeveloped in large matter due to the lack of sufficient trained leaders and technicians both in higher and lower classes, coupled with a certain characteristic indolence — the indolence of leisure for the upper levels; the indolence of generations, centuries of passivity among the poor. A prayer from each of '45 would go a long way to help Mr. N.D.'s priests here."

From REV. G. McMAHON, C.S.C.: "Herewith the salient points of a letter I just received from DICK YOUNG: "You know that I got married in November, 1954. Upon returning to the hotel after my wedding I found a note from a priest in which he requested me to meet him at the Cardinal's Palace. Montse and I stopped by on our way out of town and were pleased to meet Fathers JOSEPH QUINN and PAT PEYTON, a couple of good C.S.C. men. They, of course, were working on some details of the Family Rosary with the Cardinal. We were fortunate because of this visit to receive the blessing of both of them and the Cardinal. Not a bad thing to have on your wedding day. Father Peyton naturally requested that Montse and I pray the Rosary every day, which we have done, starting that very day.

"Our first daughter was born on Oct. 11, 1955 and we named her Montserrat after her mother. Our first son was born on Jan. 16, 1957 and we named him Ricardo after his father. Our second daughter was born on June 1, 1958 and we named her Teresita. What we will name the next one — now on the way — I cannot say as yet as my wife hasn't told me.

"I was back in the States for a couple of weeks in July, 1957, as my father died on the 30th of June. . .

"I expect to be in Spain another year at least, unless something unforeseen happens. The living here is perfectly adequate and life is very peaceful. However, one of these days I'll have to get back to the 'rat race' . . . before the kids are too old." (Letter dated Dec. 3, 1958)."

"That's it, Al. There you have it from the horse's mouth. And in case anyone wants to write to the 'horse', his address is: R. R. YOUNG, Brown-Raymond-Walsh, APO 285, New York, N.Y.

"I think I told you in a previous letter that Young had married a Spanish girl.

"I know you're very busy with all your correspondence, so I want to say that there is no need to answer this letter. I know what it is to be busy. Yours in Our Lord."

That's all the news, for a while. Write me, you of the class who love to read this column. Make my last two or three columns easy so I can go out in a blaze of glory.

From the Alumni Office:

Al didn't mention it, but the changes of address above are pretty strong on doctors. At the risk of turning the column into a medical directory we'll report that DR. OWEN W. DOYLE has been promoted from assistant professor to associate professor of radiology in the Duke University School of Medicine, Durham, N. C.

DAVE CONDON has done it again. His story, "The Man She Loved," describing Ken Venturi's Chicago open golf victory in terms of his wife's reactions, was selected for the anthology, "Best Sports Stories of 1958." It originally appeared in Dave's Wake of the News column in the Chicago Tribune.

From the Alumni Office:

You can now reach CHRIS W. COCHRANE at Via Gramsci 28, Apt. 5, Parioli, Rome, Italy. Since arriving in Rome he has been taken into the Notre Dame Club of Rome by VINCE McALOON, '34, who, says Chris, "has everything here so well organized that it is like a precision Swiss watch. It will be a genuine pleasure to work with him and further the Notre Dame Spirit in the Eternal City. The N. D. rendezvous, Scoglio Di Frisio Restaurant, here is another of Vince's accomplishments and a must on any visiting N. D. grad's itinerary of Rome." He continues: "I have been appointed regional manager for the Middle East by my corporation (Willys-Overland Export) with headquarters in Rome. My territory covers Aden, Bahrain Islands, Cyprus, Egypt, Eritrea, Greece, Iran, Iraq, Israel, Italy, Jordan, Kuwait, Lebanon, Libya, Saudi Arabia, the Somalilands, Sudan, Syria, Turkey, Yemen and Yugoslavia. Therefore, if we have any N. D. men in those countries, I'd be glad to look them up during my visits."

From Honolulu International Airport comes word that PAUL M. JOHNSTONE, JR., former aerodynamics design engineer with Douglas Aircraft, has been named Operations Engineer for Hawaiian Airlines in Honolulu. In his 13 years with Douglas Paul was an aerodynamics specialist for the DC-6 and DC-7, the DC-8 jet transport and several military projects, was a special consultant for several months in LaPaz, Bolivia. A perennial civic toiler back in California, Paul lives now at 238 Kaimanawai Place, Honolulu, with his wife, the former Joan Chandler of Rockville Center, Long Island, and their three children, Scott, age 9; Joel, 6, and Cory Anne, nearly 4.

DR. JOHN A. CULLIGAN, whose father and brothers are mentioned in this issue, recently took an M. S. in surgery from the U. of Minnesota.

TWO DOWN AND THREE TO GO — That's the reunion story, lads: Two reunion week ends have sped past since our 10th, and the 15th looms just three short (you think I'm kidding?) years ahead. It is not too early to tell the Missus: "Don't plan on my being around to cut the grass the second week end in June, 1962, dear! I'll be back under the Dome for a long-anticipated week end out with the boys."

For those of you who still remain unwed
Reserve that week end in your date books instead.

REUNION, 1959

None of the '47 gang returned this past June, but JIM MURPHY and I flitted around from hall to hall cadging free grub and beer in your behalf. Jim spent some time with the '44 outfit (more about this unprincipled crew later) and the '54 boys, of which his brother is a member, and I had a fine buffet meal with the '49 class Friday night, thanks to local chairman CARLOS CORONA of that class.

Some of the names you may remember, and with whom we chatted during the evenings, are DAVE SLATTERY, '48, now secretary to new Head Coach JOE KUCHARICH, JIM KLOCKENKEMPER, TED BUDYNKIEWICZ (a surprisingly svelte 225!); JIM O'HALLORAN, JOE DOYLE, sports editor of the South Bend Tribune; TOM RIGGIO, FATHER JIM SHILTS, C.S.C., and a number of others from '49.

Being with these men for even a brief time whetted my appetite for our own conclave in '62, and we can promise you the finest time you've had in a long while when you swell the 15-year roster.

SPOT SHOTS

An announcement card at hand informs us that JOHN T. KELEHER of Elmhurst has moved his law office to 1 N. LaSalle St. in the Windy City.

At an informal reunion of Notre Dame men serving their districts in the House of Representatives during the 91st Indiana General Assembly this year are (standing, from left) Otto Pozgay, '49, South Bend; Alexander Lysohir, '53; Portland; John I. Bradshaw, Jr., '52, Indianapolis, and (seated) William G. Greif, '51; Evansville. Reps. Lysohir, Bradshaw and Greif were serving their first terms in the legislature, and Pozgay was in his fourth consecutive term.

Good luck in your new location, Johnno, and how 'bout a message from you on current events in the Keleher scrapbook?

BILL JANN, who has been with the Hertz organization for 10 years, has recently been appointed general sales manager of Hertz's Rent-A-Car division with full authority for formulating its national sales policies. Bill lives in Chicago Heights with his wife, Jo Anne, and their two children.

Just across the state line from Bill, JIM KNOBLOCH, who garnered his M.S. in '47, has become senior research scientist in the Whiting laboratory of Standard Oil of Indiana.

During a recent annual meeting in the Hoosier resort center of French Lick, our treasurer, JOE SHARP, was named to the board of directors of the Indiana Association of Certified Public Accountants.

And the population of Detroit was increased by one in April when JOHN M. HENRY and his wife Margaret became the parents of young Thomas Edward.

Congratulations to all of you on your respective achievements!

REQUIESCENT

Please remember in your prayers Lee C. McNamara, who died earlier this year after having sent eight sons to Notre Dame, including JOE McNAMARA of our own class. To Joe and his brothers and the other members of the family, our sincerest sympathy, also to FRANK GILHOOLEY, whose dad, FRANK P. GILHOOLEY, SR., a former Yankee outfielder, died July 11 in Toledo.

Although JACK QUINLAN didn't graduate until 1948, many of us know him and consider him one of our own; his father also died recently and he'll appreciate your prayers for the repose of the soul of his dad, I know.

A dozen years since graduation, and already there are more than a dozen of our fellows who won't make any more reunions.

Most recent of these prematurely dead is JOHN S. FORSTER, who died early in June in Coral Gables, Fla., where he had been operations manager and secretary-treasurer of the Cramdon Wholesale Drug Co.

John, who was a member of the Veterans Club at school, was buried in his native Milwaukee. News of his passing was received right at press time, so further details aren't available at this time.

To his bereaved widow and son, we extend earnest and heartfelt sympathy; as an expression of that sympathy, FATHER JOHN A. DRISCOLL, C.S.C., offered a Requiem High Mass July 9 in Christ the King Church, South Bend, for the repose of John's soul.

And FATHER ARTHUR S. HARVEY, C.S.C., sang a Requiem Mass July 30 on campus in memory of all 13 of our deceased mates. The other 12 in case your memories are short, are PETER J. CASTELLI, WILLIAM P. DELANEY, WILLIAM B. DOUGHERTY, HERBERT M. FRIEND, NOEL H. GOTTESMAN, CLARE C. LESER, GEORGE J. SCHOTT, RUSSELL S. UNDERWOOD, LEONARD A. WALL, REV. MR. EDWARD B. WILLIAMS, WILLIAM A. PFISTER, and FRANK G. PETERS of Chicago, who died two years ago, as we learned in the June issue.

Frank was included in the intentions of the July 30 Mass offered by Father Harvey, of course, and a Requiem High Mass was also said on campus for the repose of his soul by FATHER MATTHEW MICELLI, C.S.C., in the second week of July. (Father Matt, chaplain for the Brothers at the firehouse this summer, refused to accept a stipend less his heart, for our treasury is getting mighty low!)

Pray for them as you would have us pray for you when your time comes. A more tangible remembrance beyond your prayer duty is to send $1 or more for our Mass fund, for which you'll receive a card listing these men and some appropriate devotions.

YO HO HOCUS-POCUS

No pirate galleon flying the Jolly Roger floated in St. Mary's lake over the reunion week end; neither did a cutlass swish nor a swash buckle. But marauders were at work nonetheless, led by such brigands as BLACK GEORGE BARISCILLO and LONG JOHN LYNCH.

Piled no doubt with promises of grog and gaiety at the past reunion, 10 of our cohorts have deserted the Good Ship '47 and signed aboard the '44 barkentine!

The 10 who succumbed to the Circe-like lure of the jug-and-sobbing-violin obligato rendered by the aforementioned buccaners are: HEROLD JOHNSON, GENE SLEVIN, BILL WYLIE, VIC COLLETTI, JACK GUTHRIE, CHARLIE PATTERSON (little did I realize when I asked for word from this Dome Award winner that the word would be "Bye!"), JOE RIGNEY, GERRY STANTON, PAUL UNVERZAGT, and JACQUES VEENEMAN. If any of you know these gentlemen well, your efforts to help convince them of the error of their ways will be most welcome.

They are free to transfer to any class they wish, of course, but if the '47 class is to maintain any esprit de corps, any identity, any "vivity" at all, it must retain as valued members many of those who normally would have graduated earlier, had not service duties intervened.

The very strength of our class has been its diversity, it seems to this observer, for counterbalancing the callowness of the teen-agers among us was always the maturity and worldly-wisdom of the service returnees in their mid- and even late-20's.

That relationship is not a valid argument now that years have aged us all, but it was then and still represents a strong point in our makeup.

If we are to grow and function efficiently as a class — albeit one which meets formally only once each five years — we must be able to count on a hard core of loyalists as a nucleus. Stick with us, men, and together we can forge the class of '47 into a mighty and influential link in the alumni chain.

LOTTERY LETTER

This issue we've plucked the name of ART McBRIDE of the Cleveland McBrides in the hope he'll get into the spirit of this lottery idea and drop a note this way bringing us up-to-date on himself: none of his predecessors has so far, so come on, Art... we're pinning our hopes on you!

IN CLOSING...

With football season right around the corner, many of you will be returning to South Bend for the big week ends to get a look at the "new" Irish. Ol' Jack's name is in the phone book, and we'll be pleased to hear from any and all of you and to welcome you to our home for: a preview of the game if it's Friday night, or a relish of the clash if you make it Saturday evening or Sunday. Whatever the time or the occasion, there's always a cold one with your name on it at our South Bend oasis.

From the Alumni Office:

From Tucson, Ariz., comes word that a one-time classmate, JAMES E. DURBIN, has been made a vice-president and member of the board of directors of the Pioneer Hotel Corp. Jim, from a hotel family in Rushville, Ind., has four brothers in the business. He came to manage the Pioneer in 1957 from jobs with hotels in Salt Lake City and Spokane. Jim continues as manager of the hotel.

At this writing his assignment is not known for sure, but ED RUETZ is studying for the priesthood. We haven't heard from Whiting, Ind., whether BILL OBERMILLER was successful in his primary bid for city judge. Earlier, for his service to the community, leadership, etc., Bill received the Hammond area Junior Chamber of Commerce Distinguished Service Award as "Young Man of the Year 1958."

JAMES O. KNOBLOCH, who took his master's in chemistry in '47 and a doctorate in '49, is now senior research scientist for Standard Oil (Indiana) at the Whiting research laboratories. A member of the American Chemical Society, he specializes in chemicals obtained from petroleum. Dr. and Mrs. Knobloch live in Hobart, Ind.

Not much more than a week before the deadline for this issue of the ALUMNUS, questionnaires were sent out to approximately one-fourth of the 1035 members of the class. With the deadline now past, about 30 of them have already been returned. The first group of questionnaires was sent to those whose names start with A, B, C, and D, and we'll work through the rest of the class in or out of alphabetical order during the course of the year.

SPOTLIGHT-ALUMNUS

DR. RALPH E. THORSON, '48
From Savoy Stage to Lobund Lab

Back in April Father Hesburgh announced the appointment of Ralph Thorson as head of Notre Dame's department of biology. Ralph, formerly a professor of parasitology at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Ala., was also named to direct the germfree life research programs at the University's Lobund laboratories.

A native of Chatfield, Minn., Ralph distinguished himself as an undergrad with performances in N.D. University Theater productions of everything from Shakespeare to student musicals. He won particular fame for his portrayals of the Lord Chancellor, Major General and other roles in Gilbert & Sullivan operettas produced by the Savoyards. Originally a pre-med, he was drawn to the lab and followed up his bachelor's degree in biology with a master's in 1949. He went on to The Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md., where he was awarded an Sc.D. in parasitology in 1952.

During 1952-53 Ralph served as an instructor in The Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health. Except for a two-year period he has been associated with the School of Veterinary Medicine at Auburn since 1953. Hired as an associate professor, he was elevated last year to the rank of full professor and named director of the school's diagnostic laboratory. From 1956 to 1958 he was a research parasitologist at the Lederle Laboratories Division of American Cyanamid, Pearl River, N.Y.

In 1952 he married Margaret Vorth of Baltimore. The Thorsons have three daughters, Jane, 6; Kristin Inger, 3, and Julianne, 2.

The questionnaires will be mailed in three more groups to avoid an avalanche of returns at one time.

Here are some of the vital statistics garnered from the questionnaires already returned:

DON ALBRIGHT (6136 Kayron Dr., NE, Atlanta 5, Ga.) is now chief accountant for the Shell

Oil Co. in Atlanta. He was married in 1948, has three children, and would like to hear from P. M. Ross and M. C. Hoaglund.

BOB BACH (4337 Wooddale Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.) is a manufacturer's representative for five companies in the hardware, building materials, and appliances fields. Married since 1952 to Jane Shea of Minneapolis, he has four children. He notes that JIM BESENFELDER and family, who live in DeKalb, Ill., visit in Minneapolis almost every summer and that Jim is still consistently flirting with par, just as he did on the golf team at N. D. Bob would like to hear from JOHN REGAN, ROBERT RONNEY, BILL ARCHIBALD, and GENE BAUMGARTNER.

He would like to have some news from EDWARD CHUTE, JOHN SULLIVAN, CHARLES DODGE, and JAMES DINNEN.

JAMES E. BURKE (3350 Holly Ave., Cincinnati 8, Ohio) is supervisor of the Product Public Relations Division of Procter and Gamble in Cincinnati. He and Rosemary Eagen were married in 1950, and they have four children.

GEORGE BURNS (2 York Ave., Bethpage, L. I., N.Y.) is a CPA and chief accountant of the International Division of the U.S. Rubber Co. He married Jane Gill in 1950, and they have three children.

JOHN CLEMENS (630 S. Berry Road, St. Louis 22, Mo.) stepped in as Section Manager of the Equipment Development Electronics Department of McDonnell Aircraft last year. Married to the former Joyce Ann Crawford of Evansville, Ind., he has four children. John worked with FRITZ SHADLEY and BOB MUELEMAN at Crosley in Cincinnati until he left the firm last year to join McDonnell.

PAT CONDON (122 Seaser St., Joliet, Ill.), a sales representative for Norma Hoffmann Bearings of Chicago, is one of the class' numerous five-star men. His five are made up of three girls and two boys.

JOHN CONNOLLY (1301 First St., Cherry, Ill.) is with the State Bank of Cherry as a director and assistant cashier. He also practices law and is a partner in an insurance agency. No wonder the man is still a bachelor!

TOM COYNE has moved from Chicago to 771 Lobos St., Monterey, Calif. His questionnaire was returned to me from Chicago instead of being forwarded to him.

JOHN CRADDOCK (1408 Sunset Dr., Tyler, Tex.) is district sales representative for the Elgin Watch Co. To the question, "Who were your roommates at N.D.?" he answered, "JOHN CASHMAN, TOM HOBAN, JIM EVERT, and my wife." He cleared it up by adding that he was married in 1946. He has three children.

JOHN CRONIN (6111 Searlet Drive, Cincinnati, O.) who is general sales manager of Cronin Motor Co., a Ford dealer in Cincinnati, is president of the Cincinnati Alumni Club. He and Rosemary Hayden were married in 1948, and they have three children. He reports that JERRY MAHON is in sales with National Steel Co., and FRANK PELUSO is industrial relations manager of Cincinnati Bickford Co.

RALPH CUNNINGHAM (3981 Fairfax Drive, Chattanooga 5, Tenn.) is machine development engineer for Dupont. He designs and develops new machines for the production of such fibers as nylon, dacron, and orlon. He was married to Dorothy Anne Ahrends in 1950, and they have three children. His brother Tom, '47, died of polio in 1952.

GENE DEAN (43 Westland Rd., Cedar Grove, N.J.) gets the nod as the class' best reporter. He sent in enough news with his questionnaire to make a fairly respectable '48 column all by itself. To talk about Gene first, he is manager of labor relations for the American Cyanamid Co. of New York City, married Jean Francis Connell in 1953, and has two children. He reports: LEO COSTELLO of Paterson, N.J., just had his fifth child; GEORGE KEENAN, Upper Montclair, N.J., is sales manager of Westinghouse TV and radio; JOHN (BUNKY) REGAN, Wharton, N.J., is production manager of MacGregor Sports Wear; BILL FITZHARRIS, New York, is sales manager of U. S. Rubber Co. in New York City; a golf outing of the New Jersey Club in June included Gene, Regan, George Keenan, Leo Costello, FRANK TRIPUCKA, ANGELO BERTELLI, BRUCE DODD, JOE LONG, JOE O'TOOLE and JOE BYRNE; and BILL GOMPERS of Detroit just added a sixth child to his family.

NOEL DIGBY (318 North Woodlawn, Kirkwood 22, Mo.), is a radio and TV writer-director-producer with the Gardner Advertising Co. of St. Louis. He and his wife, the former Elizabeth Ann Kamm, hold, to the best of my knowledge, the class record for number of children — seven. He's looking for news from PAUL LIMONT, TEX PIQUIGNY, TOM SCHERER, ED CASHMAN, EMMETT O'NEILL, JACK LEAHY, JOE FLYNN, JIM CASSIDY, BOB SCHELLENBERG, and BOB DEEGAN.

would like to hear from JIM MCCARTHY, ARTHUR BREHL, and JIM BUTLER.

JIM DONOHUE (39 Dalewood Way, San Francisco 27) teaches at Galileo High School in San Francisco. His wife, the former Vera Barulich, whom he married in 1956, died in 1958 giving birth to twin daughters. Jim plans to marry Louise Dods, and by the time you read this he will be married.

JOE DUFFEY (137 Puritan Rd., Tonawanda, N.Y.) is technical director of DeMarkus Corp., an engineering design and manufacturing firm in the chemical plant field. He married Doris Cofer in 1949 and is the father of four children. He mentions that DR. BERNARD POPHAM is an internal medicine specialist in Louisville.

BOB DUFFEY (Box 474, Perry Point, Md.) is a psychologist in a treatment, training and research hospital of the Veterans Administration. He has an MA from Wisconsin, a Ph.D. from Purdue, and took post-doctoral training at Catholic U. He and his wife, the former Evelyn Gore, have four children.

FRANK DUGGAN (212 E. Rutten St., Rensselaer, Ind.) is assistant professor of English at St. Joseph's College in Rensselaer. He and his wife, the former Barbara Daly of South Bend, have three children. Hearing from him brought to mind the powerful short story, whose title I have now forgotten, that he wrote for the JUGGLER when he was the editor. It appeared in several anthologies and is still arousing a great deal of comment. Classmate FATHER JOHN REEDY mentioned recently that he used it not so long ago as the theme for a sermon.

GEORGE DWYER (59 Sterling Rd., Louisville 18, Ky.), who tacks an M.D. after his name, is a surgeon in Louisville. He has three children and is married to the former Bernice Posey.

JOHN DWYER (4213 Willow Grove Rd., Dallas, Tex.) is an independent oil operator. His wife is the former Francine Beggs, and they have four children.

That winds up the information given on the questionnaires received to date. The next bunch will go out soon after this issue is in your hands. Please fill them out and mail them to me just as soon as you can.

JOSEPH T. DORAN of North Vernon, Ind., didn't fill out a questionnaire, but we've heard he's just been appointed an assistant professor of sociology at the University of Dayton. Joe got his master's at N.D. in '49 and has been a teaching fellow on campus working for his doctorate. He's done juvenile work in Chicago and Cleveland and has already taught at Our Lady of Cincinnati College and Xavier U.

DOMINIC J. MOFFO, who has lived at 719 N. Carroll, Michigan City, Ind., while serving as administrative assistant and office manager of Gardex, Inc., has been named assistant comptroller of the Health Co., Benton Harbor electronic manufacturer. Dom had an army hitch and was also an income tax investigator. The Moffos have five children.

BOB MORAN, who is with Strawbridge & Clothier in Philadelphia, is engaged to MARY JEAN BATAL, an instructor in medical social work at the Boston University School of Medicine.

Your prayers are asked for the fathers of LEO McNAMARA and FRANK WOLF, both of whom died in early April. Seven of Leo C. McNamara's sons graduated from Notre Dame and an eighth attended for two years.

Your Secretary ran into GEORGE SCHNURLE, who I discovered is looking for a position, preferably in banking or allied fields. He has been in banking since graduation and left his last position for personal reasons. He told me that he has excellent references. So if any of you know of an opening please contact George at 53827 Walnut Rd., New Carlisle, Ind.

In Mishawaka, Ind., the aforementioned CARLOS CORONA continues to train men in managing the production of the Bendix Talos missile with which the new Navy cruisers are being equipped.

A note from Milwaukee indicates that Coach BILL FISCHER has a winning team in business too, promoting sales for Chevrolet in the Milwaukee area, where he has settled with Roma and the family.

DR. STEPHEN J. GALLA has completed his postgraduate studies at Harvard Medical School and has been appointed senior instructor in anesthesiology at Western Reserve University Medical school and assistant visiting anesthesiologist at the Cleveland Metropolitan General Hospital.

Toward the end of June JOHN F. LYNCH was appointed central regional sales manager for Olin Aluminum, responsible for the Midwestern and Great Lakes states. John joined Olin Mathieson in 1957 as Chicago district sales manager, coming from Kaiser Aluminum. He rejoined the Marines for the Korean affair and attended Law School at the U. of Minnesota.

Another sales manager continues Notre Dame's happy association with the Pangborn Corporation of Hagerstown, Md. (e.g. Pangborn Hall on the West Quad). JAMES E. MARTIN has been made manager of the Cleveland district. Jim has spent 14 years with Pangborn, starting in the home office before the Air Force and N.D. He spent some time as a sales engineer in Philadelphia before going to Cleveland and has served as assistant manager until the boost to district manager.

FRANK P. MANCINO of Trenton, N.J., got his law degree from Rutgers June 3, while architect ROBERT LESTER RALEY, studying at the University of Delaware, got an M.A. in Early American Culture June 14.

When he's not entering golf tournaments RICHARD N. RILEY sells fancy horseless carriages to South Bend's carriage trade. Formerly a peddler of Buicks, Dick was recently appointed Lincoln and Lincoln Continental sales manager at Nye-Fulton Motors. A past president of the South Bend Golf Assn., he's active in the K. of C., Sertoma Club and the St. Joe Valley N.D. Club.

Formerly of the Bronx and the N.D. Graduate School, Chaplain (Major) MAURICE L. SULLIVAN was awarded a certificate of achievement for three years' meritorious service at Camp Zama, Japan. Since 1945 (Pacific Theater) and his days under the Dome, Father Sullivan was in Heidelberg, Germany, and instructing in chaplain school Stateside.

Finally, news of JOHN WALKER's rise to vice-president of Chicago's Roche, Rickerd & Cleary, Inc., helps to explain his being so busy recently. Congrats, John.

1950 Richard F. Hahn 47 Emerson Rd. Glen Rock, N. J.

One can see the danger of setting a precedent. (A precedent, as any mother can plainly tell you, is something you let get by once.) I timidly submitted my first column in lieu of my spouse, with many explanations and apologies. Not being squelched immediately, I tendered a second one with less shyness. Now, here I am, blatantly on my way to becoming a permanent fixture, at least until the class has another reunion and elects a new secretary.

However disillusion is beginning to set in and I am beginning to see the seamy side of writing a column for Notre Dame men. Since the last time I sat me down to the typewriter I have received a grand total of one postcard, one letter, one baby announcement and a delightful letter from my old college pal who started me down this road in the first place. Not being a math major I can't come up with any percentages but it would seem that New Rochelle has a much higher average than Notre Dame does concerning contributions to the ALUMNUS, at least as far as the Class of '50 is concerned. (If the needle has a point, let him who gets it, write!)

The first and only letter received came from Mary MacDonald who married COLIN MACDONALD in 1953. (After all my efforts it hurt a little to see the salutation "Dear Richard.") She is the former Mary Nee of South Boston, Mass. Colin's roommate, JOE COLEMAN, of Esmond, R. I., was an usher at their wedding. Their first child, Mary Beth, was born in 1954.

Colin received his D.M.D. from Tufts University School of Dental Medicine nine days after the birth of Mary Beth. Since that time there has been added "another daughter, Debbie, and a son Colin."

"After spending two years in the Navy, he began private dental practice in Duxbury, Mass., in 1956. "He often mentions fellows like JOE COLEMAN, BILL McLAUGHLIN, BOB LUTHER, DON FREIBURGER, JOE BROWN, JACK ELLIOT, and JIM MAHONEY from Providence."

If you hear from any of these fellows after this special mention, Colin, you might pass the information along to your secretary. Incidentally, the MacDonalds' address is Blodgett Ave., S. Duxbury, Mass.

Got a nice postcard from DR. JOHN SCHIRACK, '50 (alas! again addressed to "Dear Richard") whose address is 1155 E. 3850th St., Ogden, Utah.

John writes, "Congratulations on a very fine column in the March '59 Notre Dame ALUMNUS. It was really quite newsy and interesting. Thought I would send along a bit about myself to help you fill one of the future columns."

"I'm now practicing medicine (specializing in anesthesia) in Ogden, Utah. The family now includes four daughters between ages 5 to 1 1/2."

Then there was an announcement from the THOMAS S. RIORDANS telling of the arrival of John Matthew on May 1, 1959 who weighed in at 6 lbs., 5 oz. They have two other cherubs, Timmy, 4 years, and Sara Ann, 2.

Tom is working with the Hays Manufacturing Co. in Erie. Their address is 318 Maryland Ave., Erie, Pa.

That is about it. Not a very distinctive column, I admit. If things don't improve with the mail situation, I shall be forced to collect tid-bits at my own class reunion just to make copy. Come on guys, write even if you don't find work!

From the Alumni Office:

The '49 10-Year Reunion was a roaring success, thanks to the brilliant efforts of the local chairman, CARLOS CORONA, to whom the assemblage owes a great vote of thanks. The '49ers had a huge delegation, but it was only a 50-50 turnout, percentage-wise, of the largest class Our Lady ever loosed on the world. The promotion was less than inspired, it's true, but the only effective publicity would seem to flow from the inspired enthusiasm of a few members anxious to preserve Class pride and Class identity. A card or note to JOHNNY WALKER from you might strike the spark that kindles a spirit befitting the size of '49.

More about Secretary Walker below. Meanwhile, bits of news from here and there continue to hint at the tremendous potential of the '49ers, symbolized by triple-threat (lawyer-coach-stockbroker) HARRY BRENNAN.

Back in June JAMES CHARLES CONLON picked up a Master of Education degree from Penn State U., majoring in physical science.

With anticlerical governments and a less severe form of the Indian extermination policy which was almost completely "successful" in the U.S., it is not surprising that the Indians generally limit their Christianity to a desire for baptism of their children and the celebration of Holy Week and Fiestas."

SPOTLIGHT ALUMNUS

LOUIS F. DIGIOVANNI, '49
At Beantown U., a Legal Eagle

Lou DiGiovanni has had a big year. Making his debut as an author, Lou was also recently appointed assistant professor of law at Boston University. Senior partner of the firm of DiGiovanni & Everburg, Cambridge, Mass., he has been teaching law since 1953.

A native of Belmont, Mass., Lou attended grammar and high schools there before the outbreak of W.W. II, in which he served three years with the U.S. Air Force as a first lieutenant and was awarded the Air Medal with five oak leaf clusters. At Notre Dame he obtained a Ph.B. in the College of Commerce, followed by an LL.B. in 1950. Then, returning home to set up law practice, he received an LL.M. from Boston U.

Lou recently completed a textbook entitled "Fundamentals of Business Law" for publication this year. He is a member of the Massachusetts and Federal Bar Associations, the board of directors of the Boston University Credit Union, the board of government of the Catholic Sodality, the Cambridge Lions Club, the University Club of Boston and the Curriculum Committee of Boston U. He is especially active as a member of the Notre Dame Club of Boston, for which he has served as a vice-president and a director. In the limited free time available to him he enjoys golf and swimming.

A friend had this to say about Lou: "Nothing I could write would tell the real story of his humility, quiet manner and devotion to duty. He possesses that unique, unrelenting faith in God . . . so often lacking. . . ."

In August, 1955, Lou married Miss Mary Queeny. Residing in St. Paul's Parish, Wellesley, Mass., the DiGiovannis now have three children, Thomas, 3 years; Gemma, 2, and Stephen, 1.

was one of the events of the decade. The Powers nuptials had an all-N. D. cast, including the bride's father, '29, her uncle and godfather, '29. Among the Irish male attendants were Bud's brothers, Tom and John, '35, and TOM CARROLL. . . . PATRICK J. PURDY has joined a couple of other Germans in a law partnership, Tracy, Tracy & Purdy in Franklin and West Carrollton, Ohio.

Bill has been appointed chief clerk to Chief Justice Earl Warren of the United States Supreme Court (and an honorary alumnus of N. D.). An honor grad, Bill took his law at Yale, where he was editor of the Yale Law Review. He served a year as clerk to a local circuit court before enlisting in the army and has been a first lieutenant in the Judge Advocate's office, Washington, D.C.

Another new lawyer is REGIS D. MURRIN of 611 E. Brady St., Butler, Pa., who received his LL.B. from Harvard University at its 311th Commencement June 12.

ROBERT T. PELLER has moved to new digs in St. Paul, Minn. He now lives at 2016 Inglehart Ave., St. Paul 4. Bob has a second son now and seems to consider it, if anything, an omen of good that Thomas Patrick was born on Friday, the 13th of March.

ANTHONY C. RICCIO, who took his M.A. with the Class, has been taking further graduate study at Ohio State University, Columbus. He received a Ph.D. at the spring quarter commencement June 11.

THOMAS E. DOHERTY, formerly of Indiana Bell, has become a member of the development engineering group of the commercial staff section, operations department of American Telephone & Telegraph. In the Indiana business office he's been a staff supervisor, office manager and manager. At last report he was looking for a New Jersey home (preferably near a golf course) for his wife and two daughters.

DENNIS J. HAUGH of Indianapolis won second prize in the Nathan Burkan memorial competition (sponsored by ASCAP in memory of its first general counsel) at the University of Louisville School of Law, with a paper on patent law entitled "Relation between Author and Publisher."

Those that missed the reunion should make a firm resolution now to be on hand in 1964. Our class turnout totaled 188 thoroughly happy, informed, and exhausted men by Sunday afternoon. They all held one thought in common, however, that was that the reunion week end was the best week end that they had spent in many years.

At this writing some of the activities are still a bit vague to the author and I must confess that I didn't take copious notes as a good class secretary should have. From the picture that appears in this magazine you can easily recognize who was in attendance. In some cases you may have to visually subtract 30 pounds or so and add a few patches of hair to individuals under study before you can tell who they actually are.

Our combined dinner with the Class of '49 on the courtyard of Alumni Hall was a huge success and if I recall correctly, the last diner left the area about 4 a.m. Saturday morning. Most registrants were up bright (?) and early for the reunion Mass celebrated by FATHER TOM CADY. Golf, tours, gas fests and headache remedies occupied a good part of Saturday. One of the features of the early afternoon was a softball game during which our Class members thoroughly trounced the elder gentlemen of the Class of '49. The 30-run handicap that we offered them in the first inning in deference to age was erased before they had retired our second man in the first inning.

Cocktails preceded a very pleasant Alumni banquet in the new dining hall on Saturday evening. FATHER HESBURGH's address was worth coming to the reunion for and I hope that the Alumni Association makes an effort to provide every member with a copy or a summary of it. We also enjoyed meeting COACH KUCHARICH and the other members of the football department. Equally enjoyable was the presentation of golf trophies for the Alumni tournament in which the Class was well represented.

Saturday night after the dinner found the hilarity continuing at the same rapid pace. Sunday morning activities were brought to a fitting close with a Memorial Mass at the Grotto.

I think sincere thanks should be publicly expressed to CONNIE SZUBERT and his local committee for all their hard efforts in organizing our Class reunion program. They left no stone unturned and covered all details up to and including the weather, which was perfect throughout the week end. At the same time we extend our thanks to Father Cady for the major part that he played in the reunion and to the Alumni Association for the expert way that the whole week end was conducted.

This correspondent adds to the invitation of the other 187 registrants to all of you that were unable to make it to be with us in five years. I am convinced that everyone had such a good time that formal resolutions were made by everyone there to be back again in '64.

As you can see from the last entry on the above listing, you will be exposed to my ramblings for another five years. However, you are to be reminded that this rambling can only continue if you supply me with the necessary information. Let me hear from you.

From the Alumni Office:

ROBERT L. McGLYNN recently became administrator of Memorial Hospital, Pullman, Wash. Bob, his wife and their three youngsters attended the summer outing of the Notre Dame Club of Spokane and met the other Notre Dammers in that part of the country.

Cage ace DICK ROSENTHAL, now assistant vice-president of Indiana Bank & Trust Co., Fort Wayne, gave the annual inspirational address at the N. D. Senior Dinner, given by the Alumni office back in May. Dick was all the more inspired because of his brand new son, John William, born April 29.

Each column it grows more difficult to report the deaths of our classmates and it is with the deepest regret that I tell you of the death of BILL BYRNE. He was killed in the crash of a military aircraft at the Glenview Naval Air Station, Ill., in the latter part of May. I'm certain that I can assure Bill's wife and parents that he will be remembered in the prayers of those who were fortunate enough to have known him and those who never had the opportunity. He'll be missed.

I had the pleasure of hearing from many long lost grads this time and I must say that it was quite an experience. It was good to hear that you're all so prosperous so instead of hoarding the news, I'll pass it along. Just a short reminder before I do. The class reunion comes up in June of '60 and it's closer than you think. Start making plans now because I'm sure that it's going to be a time that you won't want to miss.

HARRY EDELSTEIN has always been one of the regular contributors to the column and this time was no exception. Harry is working for M., L., P., F., and Smith in Minneapolis and says that the business of stocks and bonds has been good to him. He and his wife have a daughter named Julie Marie. The news to follow is from Harry's letter. EM-MET ROOT is living in Omaha with his wife and son and is keeping active in the Root Furniture Co. JIM IRWIN is attending law school at the University of Cincinnati. RON SMITH married the former Miss Mary Kay Joyce in June and is working for a law firm in St. Paul. Congratulations and best wishes to them both.

While on his way to Colorado for a week end on the ski slopes, JOHN WEITHERS stopped in Kansas City long enough to say hello. He's working for the Midwest Stock Exchange in Chicago. Judging from the list of names and news that John sent me, he's running his own information bureau. Write again soon, Score, and I only hope that the typewriter ribbon lasts long enough to report the following news that you relayed. TOM ARMSTRONG and his wife, Mary Ellen, report the birth of a daughter. Congratulations. PHIL SHERIDAN still longs for the Navy life of old but is enjoying law school. He works for the City of Chicago part time. DAN SHANNON is working for his father's accounting firm and has become a confirmed family man with his wife, two daughters, and his son. TOM CAREY is working with his father's law firm after having passed the bar exam. Tom is still coaching at Mt. Carmel High School. JERRY ROE is living in the Washington, D.C., area with his wife Marilyn and is working for Litton Industries. TOM DRISCOLL is working for a brokerage firm in Chicago and he and his wife plan to move into a new home in the new future. JIM MALOOLY is managing a real estate firm on Chicago's south side. BERNIE SMYTH, wife and family, just arrived back in Chicago where he is working for the government. Real estate seems to have a certain lure that JERRY PRASSAS couldn't escape either and he's working in the management end. DON FREUND was recently released from the Navy and is working for a public accounting firm in Chicago. PAUL PFOHL is working for Reynolds and Co. security house and brings home the bacon to his wife and three children. TED BINTZ and his wife have two children and are living in Inkster, Mich. Ted is working for the J. L. Hudson Co. in Detroit. Need a loan? Just say the word and JACK FLYNN can set you up with the Household Finance Corp. where he works in Chicago. He and his wife have two daughters and live in Glenview, Ill. JIM GRIFFIN is working in the trust department of the Continental Illinois National Bank and is living in Chicago with his wife and two children. The stock market seems to have cornered quite a few grads and BILL KILLBURN is counted among their number. He works for McDonnell and Co. in Chicago. RICH McDONALD is serving some time with the Army but passed his bar exam before going in. JOE KEARNEY was released from the Navy in December and is working with his father's heating company in Evanston, Ill. DON DUFFY married the former Miss Dorothy Gillespie of Rye, N.Y., on August 15. Congratulations and best wishes to them both. STEVE REBORA and his wife, Joyce, are also making their home in Chicago and are the beaming parents of a daughter born last April. Steve is working with a rug and carpet company. "The Pause that Refreshes" is a thing dear to PAT McNAMARA's heart and he and his wife, Carolyn, have developed a taste for Coca-Cola. Pat works for them in Evanston, Ill. MARTY CULHANE is working as a claim adjuster for the Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. in Chicago. Marty and his wife have two sons, Martin and John. GERRY HILLSMAN, his wife and two daughters, are living in Evanston, Ill., while he works for an accounting firm in Chicago. JACK PINTER and his wife have added a daughter to the family and Jack is working for a chemical company. DICK COOK and his wife have a young newborn by the name of Peter, and Dick is working as assistant advertising manager for the Steiner Co. in Detroit. MIKE KELLY is working for Gustafson Oil Co. in, where else, Chicago. Mike will marry Miss Trudy Short in September. Congratulations and best wishes are in order. TOM HAYES is working with a commercial paper concern and lives with his wife and son in La Grange, Ill. — If by this time you've forgotten the author of the above news, it's no wonder since this is one of the best and most informative efforts that I've received yet. Thanks again, JOHN WEITHERS and if you can see your way clear I'd like to have one of those about every six months.

A welcome note arrived from DICK DONAHUE who is now enjoying the rigors of Northwestern Law School. Dick mentions seeing JIM BERGQUIST who is doing graduate work in English at Northwestern's Evanston campus.

ED SHICKLER had much news to pass on about the classmates and a very important news item of his own in the form of their first son, Mark Edward. He was born on May 1 and Ed and his wife Marilyn seem just a little bit happy about the whole thing. Congratulations are certainly in order. Ed is working as a mechanical design engineer on electronic equipment at Stromberg-Carlson Division of General Dynamics, Rochester, N.Y. The news to follow is from his letter. DON BURKHART will be leaving the Navy and the U.S.S. Greenfish at Pearl Harbor late this month. This September he plans to attend M.I.T. and work for his Master's in Nuclear Engineering. ED DEMPSEY married the former Miss Elizabeth Murphy last April. The ceremony was held in Rochester. Here's wishing the best to both of them. JOHN CASEY is living in Rochester with his wife, Mary, and daughter. He's in a managerial training program with Lincoln-Rochester Trust Co. In closing, Ed Shickler mentions that he would like to hear from JIM HESBURGH, JOHN O'MEARA, JACK KURTZ, GENE SCHMIT, and TOM POZZI. His address is 215 Meadow Lane, Webster, N.Y.

Great news from out Stockton, Calif., way from HAL WILLENBORG and his wife Mary. Checking in at 7 lbs., 10 oz., was Monica Judith born on the 4th of June. Hal is making the Navy a permanent thing and is stationed at the Naval Supply Depot in Stockton. Congratulations, you three, and I have to admit that the little one couldn't have picked better people to have around if she had tried.

JOE SMITH married the former Miss Mary Carolyn Weil on June 27 in Port Huron, Mich. Again, congratulations and best wishes.

JOHN HOSINSKI dropped a card to tell me of his marriage to the former Miss Mary Ellen Bolfe on the 6th of June. The wedding took place in West Palm Beach, Fla. Again, a round of congratulations and best wishes. John is currently Athletic Director and head football coach at St. Ann's High School in West Palm Beach.

Much newborn news this time and DON WILLIAMS and his wife Joan have joined the club. Dawn Francine Williams arrived safely on the 10th of April and I'm sure there was much joy and jubilation in the Boulder Creek, Calif., area. Congratulations Don and Joan and I appreciate your dropping me a card.

I don't know what happened to my letter filing system but I've turned up with a Christmas card from HUGH SCHAEFER. Not wanting you to think that you've been overlooked, Hugh, I had better mention that you've changed jobs and are now employed with the Sunray Mid-Continent Oil Co. and still living in Tulsa. Your ears should have been burning the other night, old buddy, because ROY BELKNAP, his wife Maureen, and I were remembering some of the old times and the episode of your swimming trunks came to mind. You of course remember the unfortunate situation at the Indiana Dunes during Senior Prom weekend. They just don't make trunks like they used to. By the way, Roy and his wife were visiting in Kansas City over the July 4th weekend and I had dinner with them at Maureen's parents' home. We had a very enjoyable time and I ended up a $3,000 loser in a fast-moving game of Monopoly. Roy and his family, a son and a daughter included, live in Glenview, Ill., which is a suburb of Morton Grove.

JIM RILEY from Muskegon, Mich., has become a regular contributor to the column and it was good to hear from him again. Jim is living in Milwaukee and seems to be enjoying the city of beer and Braves. I'd like to hear from you as often as possible, Jim, so drop a line the next time you get a chance. DAVE METZ did his usual good job of checking in but with one major change. This time the letter was written on civilian stationery. Dave had been stationed with the Navy in Alameda, Calif., for the last year and he and his wife, Sandy, were getting a little anxious to put the uniforms in mothballs. He was released from the service on March 17 and then traveled East to take a job with the Eastman Kodak Co. in Rochester, N.Y. Dave is now in the training program concentrating on Public Relations and Advertising. He mentions seeing JIM PORCARI in Rochester and Jim and Dave are wondering about JIM LUOTTO, who seems to have dropped out of sight. If you get the message, Jim, they would like to hear from you at Dave's address, 142 Westminster Road, Rochester.

A signal reached me from high atop the life-guard's station in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. When decoded I found that it was from JOHN CONNAUGHTON who is spending the summer working for the Beach Patrol there. He was released from the Marine Corps in February and plans to attend Cornell Medical School in September. The news to follow is from John's letter. ED KELLY is still serving with the Navy and when last heard from, he was in Santiago, Chile. He plans to return to Norfolk, Va., soon. BOB RUSSELL is working with the Navy and is stationed aboard the U.S.S. Shargri-la operating off the coast of California. He has also made several trips to Japan. FRANK LUNDY had many things to report in his letter while doing a good job on bringing me up to date on a few more of the wanderers from '55. Frank spent some time with the Army and now is in the steel building and general contracting business in Williamsport, Pa. He married the former Carolyn Miller and in his letter he mentioned that they are waiting for a young one that's due any time now. Frank filled me in with the news to follow. FRED WHITFIELD is still studying medicine at Georgetown. TOM HARTZELL was married recently but we're waiting for names and places. JIM GIBBONS married the former Miss Rita Ann Dugan last spring and is working for Equitable Life in Dallas.

Once again, PAUL FULLMER comes through when news is needed the most. He practically included a complete class column and I can't think of too many people that he left out. However, if your name isn't mentioned, drop me a line and I'll try to include it in the next column. Paul himself is still in Public Relations work and like myself is one of the few holdouts against the onslaughts of married bliss. Apparently our days are numbered, Paul, since even the smart money seems to be doing it. Tidbits to follow are pulled, almost word for word, from Paul's letter. DICK BEEMAN and his wife Sue now have three children and are living in Oak Park, Ill. Dick recently joined WBBM, CBS affiliate in Chicago, as a time salesman. JERRY BRANSFIELD is attending Loyola Law School while TOM IGLESKI is working for his law degree at DePaul. Tom works for Continental Casualty during the day and attends school at night. JIM CURTIN is working for Western Electric. TIM DEVEREUX recently went with Victor Adding Machine Co. as Public Relations Director. NEAL HALLO-RAN is an agent with the Allstate Insurance Co. MIKE WARD, his wife Harriet, and two children are living in Lombard, a suburb of Chicago. Mike is a reporter for a tri-weekly paper in LaGrange. DAVE COHEN is still with the Fides Press as sales promotion manager and has moved back to South Bend with his wife and youngster. FRANK MAIER is sports editor for the paper in Elgin, Ill. CHUCK COLLINS just finished his first year law school. JACK GITS is working for the Gits Moulding Corp. and any similarity between the names is purely intentional. TOM DORWIN is living in Milwaukee where he is in the advertising department of Evrnuire Motors. JOHN BENDEL is an ROTC instructor at Marquette University. John was married on Easter Monday to a lass named Eileen. FRANK NEWMAN is teaching English at Northwestern University. At last report, JOHN SLAVICK was a reporter for one of the Cleveland papers. CARROLL DOWDEN is married and is working as a reporter on the Louisville Courier. GEORGE RIORDAN is in the traffic department of Brach's Candy Co. ED FOX is finishing up a six-month stay with Uncle Sam.

A long awaited note from TIM SHEA arrived the other day and he's in fine fettle. Tim is living in Washington, D.C., and works for the Mosler Safe Co. He's attending law school in the evenings at George Washington University and should get his degree sometime soon. Tim says that BILL BURNETT just moved into a new home in Virginia. He and his wife are looking forward to their third soon.

ED CZUPPA is keeping busy in Milwaukee where he is coaching and teaching at Marquette University High School.

NORM HIPSKIND married the former Miss Julianne Suelzer on the 11th of April in Fort Wayne, Ind. Congratulations and best wishes to them both. Norm and his wife will be living in Hawaii where he is stationed with the Air Force at Hickam Field. DAN SULLIVAN writes that he is about to complete his graduate work in Philosophy at St. Louis University. He then plans to take his wife and family to Paris where he will study for a degree in Theology.

JOE TONINI and his wife, Aileen, are doing their part to fill the N.D. classrooms of the future as they added Alan Joseph to the enrollment on January 14. He weighed in at 7 lbs., 1 oz. Congratulations. Joe is with the Micro Switch Division of Minneapolis Honeywell in Freeport, Ill.

Received a note from another Missourian BOB McAULIFFE filled me in with some news. Bob graduated from the St. Louis area. Bob is working with the accounting firm of Peat, Marwick, and Mitchell and has been with them since he was discharged from the Army. He and his wife became parents of a boy type child in February and Bob says that he keeps them pretty busy. They named him Robert Emmett. Congratulations. Bob passed on the news to follow. DICK HUGHES is attending St. Louis University Law School. BOB BAUDENDISTEL has been working with his father in the construction business. DICK BOLAND is also in accounting and works for the firm in Touche, Niven, Bailey, and Smart. CHARLEY POLLNOW is working for a chemical firm while JOE MCGLYNN does a little legal work with the Circuit Attorney's office. PAUL NEWMAN is working for an investment firm in Portland, Ore. Maybe if we checked with Paul we could put some of that extra money to work. Dig up the can in the backyard, boys.

It was good to hear from JACK REED again and he's quite happy about the prospects of receiving his M.B.A. from the University of Michigan Business School. Jack had started on his degree and then had to spend some time with Uncle. After graduation, he plans to go with the National Cash Register Co. and work out of their Chicago office. What follows is from Jack's letter. JERRY BURNS and BILL ARNOLD are also attending business school with Jack, and Bill is married to a girl from Washington State whom he met on the coast when he was stationed there with the Navy. JOE CONNOLLY is back home in Cleveland after spending three years with the Army in Ethiopia.

FRANK LYNCH enclosed a picture of a boat that he uses while living in a home on Malibu Beach, Calif. and it was enough to make a young man's fancy turn to everything but business. Frank works for the Douglas Aircraft Co. in Santa Monica and has been with them for the last three years. He joined them after doing a year of graduate work at Cornell University. Frank mentions that DICK CAPKA and BOB GVERAIS are also working for Douglas and that Bob and his wife were expecting another Gervais very soon.

Did you think I was going to forget? . . . WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO — JOE BAUM, BOB KUNZE, JOHN HARTIGAN, BOB SWINDEMAN, CHARLIE MORGAN, FRANK PATTEE, JIM IRWIN, DAVE SCHEELE, OWEN SODETZ, JOHN HERBER, JIM HOFFA, BILL STAHL, ED LIEVENS, LOU ZEFARAN, HOWIE HART, TUCK MCCOY, TONY PUCILLO, and JOHN SSSO.

From the Alumni Office:

Nothing in the bottom of the mail bag so I guess that wraps it up. The news was real fine this time and I want to thank the parents, wives, sisters, etc., who have sent me mail from time to time bringing me up to date on many of the grads that I hadn't heard about since graduation. Also, muchas gracias to those who always have something for every column and to those who have written for the first time.

Reading the July issue, JAMES W. PRICE was alarmed at being placed in Newark, New Jersey, and hastened to correct the report: "I am employed by the Newark, Ohio, Public School system as a hearing therapist or special teacher for hearing-handicapped children." Jim explained that children in grades 1 through 9 with hearing problems will add daily lip reading instruction to regular classes at Roosevelt Junior High-Elementary School. Jim adds: "Last year I served the Newark schools on an itinerant basis. Next year's centralized setup will be more efficient. Also, I work with the director of special education, the nurses and the speech therapists in carrying out our hearing conservation program." The program is described in detail in an article he wrote for the newspaper. We're sorry about the mistake, Jim, and glad you're still in Ohio.

DAVE COLLINS, Ridgewood, N. J., is now a lawyer, having been graduated magna cum laude from the Harvard Law School in June.

In June, also, BOB McKENTY married Miss Mary Koppe, a nurse from Astoria Long Island. In the wedding party were two of Bob's classmates, KEN DONADIO and GERRY BRANN. Bob and Mary reside at 57-46 79th St., Elmhurst, L. I., and will be most happy to receive old friends at their new home.

Back in April DON SCHAEFER signed with the Hamilton, Ontario, Tiger-Cats of Canada's Big Four Football Union. Don left the Philadelphia Eagles after the 1956 season for two years of air force duty.

Some happy announcements involving JAMES T. HEWITT, who now resides at 486 Buffalo Ave., Calumet City, Ill. Married last year to Carol Ann Schneider (St. Mary's '56), Jim was presented with a daughter, Kim Marie, on May 28. More of same for JOHN E. BOWER, JR., who recently changed his address to 117 Oakview St., Pittsburgh 18. John and his bride were blessed with a girl, Julia Anne, on May 6. The proud paternal grandfather is JOHN E. BOWER, SR., '25.

JAMES NICHOLAS EUSTERMAN, Lewiston, Minn., of Dome, Blue Circle and Aesculapian fame, will be in Atlantic City from September 28 to October 2 attending the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons. Jim, a senior at the Yale School of Medicine, will be one of 36 medical students representing their schools by vote of their fellow students and examining new surgical techniques at the professional meeting.

Last year, between written and oral exams in his third and final year at Oxford, athlete and Rhodes scholar DON SNIEGOWSKI wrote to Prof. FRANK O'MALLEY, '32, describing his impressions of Oxford student life. A few excerpts from his absorbing letter:

"Perhaps the greatest single impressive element in the Oxford academic community is tradition. . . . The facts that my college, Exeter, has a dining hall dating from the seventeenth century and that, in this hall, the student drinks his evening beer in tankards which might date from 1700 are not trivial ones. They are part of a tradition which impresses upon the student's mind the continuity of history and encourages him to think of himself more conscientiously as a part of the human family. . . . Because the student possesses this sense tradition and this perspective, he can move more easily in an intellectual community whose main task, after all, is the clarification and interpretation of the whole history of ideas.

"Opposed to this 'informal' education which the English student can always receive is the 'formal' education which he does receive in his secondary schooling. . . . By the time he is sixteen, he is specializing, to some extent, in one discipline — history, languages, or literature — or he is studying a closely allied cross-section of the three.

"Therefore, when he comes to Oxford, he is conversant with a variety of 'fields' of knowledge and yet has a more specific knowledge of one 'field.' In the normal coffee conversation, then, he might well be able to relate one 'field' to another by a clever allusion . . . giving his part of the discussion a sense of scope and immediacy which I envy."

"One point which I must make clear is that, even though I have depicted the English student as the most learned of the learned, students from Notre Dame should consider themselves well-equipped to come to Oxford. There are six of us here from Notre Dame now and I like to say that we have brought with us the emotional maturity and the respect for the important things which Notre Dame tried so hard to give us. More specifically, none of us is finding the studies overpowering. Here, too, I think Notre Dame has prepared us well."

LAW SECRETARY
John F. Marchal
Marchal & Marchal
140 W. Fourth St.
Greenville, Ohio

Greetings to '58ers one and all. I hope that this fifth edition of the '58 news column finds everybody feeling happy, hale, and hearty, and I hope that the summer has been enjoyable for all. At the time of this writing, your secretary has just finished sweating out final exams here at the N.D. Law School and he is especially eager to begin the three month abstinence from study.

The past year has flown by with amazing swiftness, and it has been interesting to observe the year's events here at the campus through the eyes of a returning graduate. The first thing I noticed upon returning was the great difference that the absence of the familiar faces of four year's association made upon the campus. It was clearly not the same campus without the same men who had been living on it, roaming around it, counting the days between vacations from it, and scurrying back to it (say around 12:00 each evening) for the previous four years.

The football week ends, especially the week end of the Army game, were clothed with something of a reunion atmosphere by the return of so many of our classmates and although it had been only a matter of three or four months since graduation it seemed as if it had been much longer.

The winter months descended with their usual ferocity and we had record snowfalls, which I understand made news from coast to coast when the University was forced to cancel classes because of mountainous snow drifts and blocked roads. I suppose the most graphic means of describing the weather to you men who spent four years here is just to mention the fact that the University was actually forced to close. I leave it to your imagination to picture the conditions necessary to bring that about.

The winter scene was enlivened to a great extent by l'affaire Brennan, of which I feel sure you are just as tired of hearing as we are. Also, I was gratified at receiving the bits of news which trickled in during the winter and spring months with which I am able to keep this column going.

Perhaps you are already aware of the fine records turned in by Notre Dame in the field of spring sports. The baseball, tennis, and golf teams all had exceptionally fine records, and the new Varsity under Joe Kuharich showed a great deal of promise in the Old-Timer's Game.

And finally, the realization of how swiftly the year had passed was brought home to me when I saw this year's crop of graduating Seniors preparing for graduation, and I was reminded of our somewhat dampened departure from Notre Dame a year ago.

A sizable crowd of people descended on South Bend for this year's Old-Timer's game and among the many were TOM O'BRIEN, BILL CAHILL, and HOOT WALSH, whom I met at an after-game get-together at Prof. PETER T. BRADY's. Luckily these three Chicagoans (or near-Chicagoans) were full of news (among other things) and I learned the following: BILL CAHILL is studying law at DePaul; TOM O'BRIEN, not long out of the Army is working for McGraw-Edison in Chicago. It seems that Tom is in the sales field and preparing himself for an executive position as soon as possible. HOOT WALSH is working in the family coal and fuel oil supply firm in LaSalle, Illinois.

I also learned of several weddings of the recent past and near future. It seems that both MIKE UNDERWOOD and JACK ARMSTRONG are being married soon although I don't know who their brides will be. GERALD (TINY) RYAN is another soon to be married.

JOHN HIGGINS and Miss Pat Seaton were married on June 6, and the marriage of JACK CRILLY and Miss Sherry Connerty on last June 28 (1958) in the Log Chapel at N. D. has been announced.

BOB FORSBERG is married and now works for Peat, Marwick & Mitchell, the accounting firm. JOHN CLEMMER is also with Peat, Marwick & Mitchell in Chicago, I believe.

Reminiscing about football in the '40s — before a baseball game at Milwaukee County Stadium — are Joe Signaigo, '48, former All-American guard, now Southern sales manager for the Miller Brewing Co., and John McHale, '43, once an Irish center, now general manager of the Milwaukee Braves.

According to the report from Mr. O'Brien, MESSRS. FRANK FOX, JAY SENNOTT, DON McNEILL, and LORAN SHEFFER are all at Ft. Lee, Virginia, serving their nation's Army, as CARL MADDA.

JOHN MCCARTHY, as was previously reported, is in the seminary studying for the priesthood, and I recently learned that he is now at Winona, Minnesota.

Congratulations are in order for Mr. and Mrs. AL WEINSHEIMER, who became the proud parents of a 6 lb. 8 oz. daughter on April 30 and congratulations too, to Mr. and Mrs. TOM MOORE of Detroit. They became the parents, on May 18, of a baby girl whom they have named Ann Marie. Tom has completed his first year of law school at the University of Detroit.

Other recently reported marriages: DON REILLY and Miss Marilyn Gallagher were married on July 11, and TOM SABO will have married Stephanie Herbstritt on August 15. FRED HOLZL was married last fall; he and his wife are living in Chicago where Fred is an independent insurance agent.

PHIL VAN DER KARR was married to Miss Ellen Lynch on June 27 of this year, and JACK REVORD will be married in December.

One of my Chicago informants tells me that DICK PRENDERGAST is in dental school at Loyola.

Several of the architectural members of our class received their degrees this past June and I have received the following items concerning plans of some of them. BOB MOLUMBY is planning to continue his studies at the University of California, in Berkeley. TED AMBERG intends to put his architectural training to work in New York City. FRANK McCANN plans to be married in November to Miss Joan Monaghan in Everett, Massachusetts. MIKE HAYES will be with the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers in Chicago doing design and construction work. STEVE DRAGOS will be in the Marine Corps for a while and then intends to work for the Archer Construction Co. in Chicago as a designer.

Well, that is the extent of the news for this time. I hope that many of you are considering returning for some of the football week ends this fall. If you do, be sure to look me up. In the meantime, keep those cards and letters coming. Remember:

From the Alumni Office:

JIM SHERER, '55, a Holy Cross novice at Sacred Heart novitiate, Jordan, Minn., sent in some sad news: "BILL RACHAG, JR., from New Prague, Minn., was killed instantly when his T-28 trainer plane crashed near Moore Air Base, Mission, Texas. . . . Bill was married this past November. His wife, Mary is expecting a child. He is also survived by his parents, a brother and a sister. A Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated in New Prague June 2, and military rites at the grave followed. N.D. was well represented. The novitiate is very near Bill's home. Our superior, FATHER WILLIAM CRADDICK, C.S.C., and three novices attended the funeral: JIM GALLAGHER and JIM CONNELLY, both '59, and myself."

ROBERT P. McGOVERN received an M.A. in sociology from N.D. in the summer. Bob and his wife have two boys, Michael, born in April, '58, and Thomas, April, '59. Bob has plans for more study in education, hopes to get out West, has been teaching retarded children at Logan School, Mishawaka, and would like to continue in that field.

DENNY D'ALELIO is a second lieutenant at James Connally Air Force Base, Tex., training in navigation, and JOHN JACHMAN is an ensign, graduated from Navy Officer School, Newport, R.I., July 24.

PAUL TRAINOR is in sales training with Dow Chemical in Midland, Michigan.

Law Secretary JOHN MARCHAL trained in Texas and is now at Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi, Miss. Too busy for newsgathering recently, John will have a column in the next issue.

Well, it's been three months now since that warm but happy day of June 7 and it seems strange not to be getting ready to motor back to South Bend. Certainly graduation week end was one which we won't forget and one which I am sure most seniors were glad to see. It seems that the Class of '59 has a large percentage that are getting married in the near future or that have been married this past summer. This information I have gathered from the cards that I passed out to you at school. I have cards on approximately four hundred of the class but this is not enough. Those that were unable for some reason or other to give me one of these cards, I would appreciate a line from you here at my home where it will be forwarded to Ft. Bliss, Texas, where I am presently stationed. I am sure the class is interested in what you are doing, so let me hear from you. As for the activities of some of your classmates:

JOHN HAYWARD, your senior class president, is currently aboard the U.S.S. Independence where I am sure that he is serving the Navy as well as he served Notre Dame. MARK SHIELDS, the pride and glory of Sorin Hall, plans to attend law school at Boston College, while TOM REINHART will invade the campus of Northwestern University for med. school.

JIM SCHREINER and GEORGE VANDER VENNET will hold down the fort at South Bend and attend law school this fall. TOM HARLE will study further on business administration at Indiana University.

JOHN HART will make use of his law scholarship at Cornell University. KEVIN HALLIGAN carries his military bearing to Ft. Eustis, Virginia, where he will serve Uncle Sam in the Transportation Corps for two years. ROBERT WETOSKA—"Woska"—will play pro-football with the Washington Redskins and I am sure that we will see him on the TV screen soon. Good Luck Bob.

JAMES COLOSSIMO will return to South Bend for one semester to play under Joe Kuharich and here's hopin' that Jim does not have any more trouble with the infirmary. BOBBY WILLIAMS was married to Miss Patricia Bergman on August 22 and will study medicine at the University of Pittsburgh. TOM BRADY will study medicine at the University of Pittsburgh. TOM BRADY will study at Columbia University and get his Ph.D. in history after he has completed his service with the Navy. WILLIAM REILLY—Billy—is the lone M.P. from the Senior ROTC class and, after his traffic duty at Ft. Gordon Georgia, he wants to study business at Harvard or Columbia. We have a very ambitious class don't we. TOM LEE will attend grad school at Minnesota and study Industrial Relations.

DAVID LEE VOORHEES has settled down after his daily studying for four years and is now employed with the Sears Roebuck Company.

JOSEPH OSCAR NEUHOFF—Alumni Hall is quiet now, but I rather doubt it, in Dallas, Texas, where Joe is in the Meat Packing business with his father. ROBERT TURICCHI is going through O.C.S. school at Newport, Rhode Island, with the Navy. DEAN BARELLI is stationed at Ft. Benning, Georgia, in the U.S. Infantry. JIM CRISMAN, MARK KESSENICH, and DICK HORSFALL are in the Marine Corps at Quantico, Va. TONY GRAHAM is studying law at Yale University and plans to marry in Wilmette, Ill., in June, 1960. JOHN ANTHONY BELLAIRS will study English at the University of Chicago.

JOHN SULLY BOYCE will go into law at St.

SPOTLIGHT ALUMNUS

DR. THOMAS C. MIRANDA, '59
Polymer Precocity

Seldom does a chemist go straight from the campus to found a research department for a major corporation, but that was the case this summer when The O'Brien Corporation, leading manufacturer of paints and varnishes, announced the establishment of a new basic research department at the O'Brien South Bend plant and the appointment of Dr. Thomas Miranda as director of basic research.

Under Tom Miranda's supervision, the entire facilities of this new department will be devoted exclusively to research work for the company, which also has plants in Baltimore and Oklahoma City. The department was created out of the need for long range development work on new decorative and protective finishes and coatings for home and industry.

Tom had received his Ph.D. in organic chemistry at Notre Dame's 114th Commencement in June. A native of Ewamill, Oahu, Hawaii, he came to the mainland to study at San Jose State College, San Jose, Calif., working his way through school with various part-time jobs on and off the campus. After receiving his bachelor's and master's degrees he taught for a year at San Jose and, in 1953, entered the army for a two-year hitch. In 1955 he applied for a Grace Chemical and Research Co. fellowship at Notre Dame and spent the next four years as a chemistry fellow doing polymer research for his doctorate.

Citizens of Vetville since 1955, Tom and his wife, the former Carol Mae Mott of San Francisco, were married Dec. 5, 1953, and now have three children, Michael, 5; Charles, 3, and Irene, 1.

Tom's professional affiliations include membership in the American Chemical Society and the Paint and Varnish Federation.

Louis University this fall. JOHN LEAHY, the only one I knew besides Joe Bairley who did his thesis in one week, is aboard the U.S.S. Collett somewhere along the coast of San Francisco. John states that he is a sure bet to be classified as one of the bachelors, come our first class reunion in 1964. Someone recently told me that on Friday night of this past June reunion some 20,000 cans of beer were consumed; I wonder what the increase will be in '64.

PAUL NIKLAS was married to Miss Nancy Van Lahr on July 25 and is working now with the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Company. JOHN FREY is stationed in Blytheville, Ark., with the Air Force and plans to marry Miss Barbara Cassidy on October 10. PETE HACKETT is in business with his father in Springfield, Ohio, and will marry Miss Sandy Sullivan come this January 30. TOM R. HAYES recently paid me a visit in Cincy while on his way to South America to visit his brother, who is working for some oil manufacturer. T.Y. has a very good job in California with the Budweiser Brewery; could you think of anything better? JACK PARKER and TERRY MALONEY will go to medical school this fall at St. Louis University. JIM SULLIVAN, after forty interviews, is with the Standard Oil Company of California and was married this July 25 to Miss Ann Carol Dyer.

RON TOTH will join with Bob Wetoska in try-outs for the Washington Redskins. JIM SUTTER is aboard the U.S.S. James C. Owens in Norfolk, Va. He will marry Miss Lynne Matthews, a St. Mary's graduate, in June of 1960. JIM RANKIN is with the Transportation Corps at Ft. Eustis and wants to go to Wharton's Business School in Pennsylvania after his active duty has ended. TOM SMITH will be in the Adjutant General Corps at Indianapolis this fall and has set his wedding date for September 12, 1959, to Miss Mary Moran, another St. Mary's graduate.

MORT KEILLTY, an art major from Oakville, Conn., is with the Marines at present but will go after his Master's in Communication at Columbia University when he has finished service. HARRY MCKEE, ROBERT GOLDSCHMIDT, and FRED KOONAN are back at Notre Dame for their fifth year in the Engineering Combination Program. GERRY JUNG and JOE BEKELJA will attend law school at Georgetown U. and GERRY BECHAMPS will attend the same school but for medicine.

ROGER the Rock BRESLIN is in the U.S. Navy aboard the U.S.S. Arneb and will attend law school at Fordham U. in 1961. Sure hope that the ship has a couple of hoops for this boy; I think that J. Jordan could have found a spot for Mr. All Campus.

SCOT BRADSHAW, RICHARD LOMBARDI, and FRANK CAHILL are all stationed at Ft. Benning, Georgia, with the Infantry. All three were married recently, to Miss Emily Diaz, Miss Lois Gorlesky, and Miss Marcia Fitch, respectively. GEORGE KLINE and MERCER COLLINS will study medicine at Seton Hall Medical School. JOHN O'BRIEN and KEN UZANSKI are both studying medicine at Stanford and Northwestern University, respectively. KENNY BOONE was married to Miss Cheryl Glur this July 25 and is with the Air Force in Mobile, Ala.

BOB HASSENGER is in the insurance business with his father. He was married June 27 to Miss Teresa Smith. Wants to study further in psychology at Marquette U. JOSEPH MULLIGAN is the assistant director at Fort Scott Camps this summer and will enter St. Gregory Seminary in September. BILL BRELSFORD was married to Miss Elaine Frates this June 8th in Las Vegas, Nev., and plans to attend U.C.L.A. this fall to study criminology. JIM JUST is playing professional football in Canada and wants to go back to study Correctional Administration at N.D. after he has finished his six-month program with the Infantry.

So much news then from your secretary. Remember, please write me a line when you have time, it will only take a minute.

From the Alumni Office:

FRED COONAN, JR., was the first cadet to show up at Fort Riley for summer training. Fred will be back on campus this fall working for a master's in mechanical engineering. His brother Tom is a '56 grad.

KENNETH G. HERR is working on computers in the armament division of Sperry Gyroscope, where he's worked vacations as an engineering aide.

JOHN ROEDEL, JR., is in technical services for Monsanto Chemical in Monsanto, Ill., and ARTHUR W. SHANNON represents Connecticut Mutual Life out of Detroit.

Office of the President

The University of Notre Dame

Dear Fellow Alumni:

At the 1959 reunion in June your Alumni Board held its annual summer session on the campus. We were fortunate in having almost a full complement of the board present to consider a variety of agenda matters and to arrive at some conclusions which we feel will benefit our Association. (See "Your Alumni Board.")

One of the more important events of our meeting was the opportunity to confer with a very representative faculty committee to consider possible means of bringing some part of the University's educational activities to each individual Alumnus. We have recognized a sincere interest on the part of alumni in containing educational relations with the University. And we learned from our discussions with the faculty committee that there is also a sincere faculty interest in assisting the Association in our efforts to serve Alumni. We hope to be able to present to you in future issues of the ALUMNUS a program which will be a start in the field of continuing educational relations. We plan on providing a supplement to the ALUMNUS which will feature several short treatments by Notre Dame faculty members of current broad fields of interest with some bibliography for additional reading. (See "Editorial Comments.") When you have seen the first issue we will be anxious to learn your reaction. We will appreciate your comments and the Alumni office will be seeking an expression of your interests and suggestions for future supplements.

Those of you who were at Notre Dame for reunion this year must have left the campus afterwards with a warm feeling of satisfaction in the spiritual and material accomplishments of Notre Dame. We heard a remarkably fine speech from Father Hesburgh on Notre Dame's place in the world today. We had, as honored guests at our Alumni Banquet, three great priests who have contributed immensely to the Congregation of Holy Cross, to students and to Notre Dame for many years. We were blessed to have with us Father Eugene Burke, Father Con Hagerty, and Father Tom Irving, each of whom observed the golden anniversary of his ordination in June. These men and others like them have given Notre Dame the place in the world today about which Father Hesburgh spoke. And the Alumni Association was extremely glad to be able to show its appreciation to them in a small way by honoring them at our Annual Banquet.

The 1959 reunion with approximately 1,000 men returning to the campus was a real success. Reunion is, of course, one of the major undertakings of our Alumni office each year. It is a job which requires considerable planning for the many details of the program. This year, as always in the past, Jim Armstrong and his staff did a great job for all of us. I know that you join your Board in extending our sincere thanks to Jim and his entire office for their cooperation, spirit, and invaluable assistance in all the undertakings of our Alumni Association.

Most sincerely,

Bill E. Cotter
