

The Archives of
The University of Notre Dame

607 Hesburgh Library
Notre Dame, IN 46556
574-631-6448

archives@nd.edu

Notre Dame Archives: Alumnus

CAN IT BE REALIZED AT A CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY?

ac/a·dem'ic free'dom

Compendium

UNIVERSITY CALENDAR

May 23, Last Class Day.
June 2-3, Senior Class Day Exercises.
June 4, Commencement.
June 8-9, Annual Alumni Seminar.
June 9-11, Class Reunions.
June 20, Summer School Begins.

BOOKS

Robert Hassenger '59, asst. prof. of socio., ed., "The Shape of Catholic Higher Education," an investigation into the quality and quantity of US Catholic colleges.

Nikolaus Lobkowicz, assoc. prof. of phil., ed. "Marx and the Western World," a collection of papers delivered at international symposium on Karl Marx held at the University last year, UND Press.

Harry A. Nielsen, assoc. prof. of phil., "Methods of Natural Science: An Introduction," a logic text dealing with methods of inquiry in natural sciences, Prentice Hall.

Rev. John A. O'Brien, author in residence, "Catching Up With the Church," a comprehensive summary of conciliar developments in faith and practice, May, Herder and Herder.

Rev. James J. Zatko MA '54, PhD '57, PhD '58, "The Valley of Silence: Catholic Thought in Contemporary Poland," an anthology of Catholic writings by Church scholars in Poland, UND Press.

CENTER FOR CONTINUING EDUCATION

(All conferences at the Center may be considered "Open to Alumni" unless indicated otherwise.)

June 11-15, Faith and Order Colloquium.

June 12-17, Joint AIA-ACSA National Teachers Training Seminar.

June 13-23, Congregation of Holy Cross Priests Provincial Council Meeting. (Closed)

June 14, Abstract and Title Assn. Meeting.

June 19-28, National Science Foundation Seminar.

June 19-23, Workshop in Liturgical Music.

June 20, Summer Institute in Mathematics.

July 20-21, Purchasing Agents Assn. Dist. IV Workshop.

July 30-Aug. 5, Public Relations Assn. Summer Academy.

FACULTY

Promoted to Emeritus: Rev. John C. Blommestein OSC (Economics)

Promoted to Professor: Salvatore J. Bella (Management), G. Robert Blakey (Law), Frederick J. Crosson (General Program), James L. Cullather (Accountancy), William V. D'Antonio (Sociology), Walter R. Johnson (Physics), Robert P. McIntosh (Biology), Rev. Ernan McMullin (Philosophy), John A. Oesterle (Philosophy), Barth Pollak (Mathematics), John F. Santos (Psychology), Robert J. Schultz (Architecture) and Albin A. Szweczyk (Mechanical Engineering).

Promoted to Associate Professor: William B. Berry, (Electrical Engineering), Roger K. Bretthauer (Chemistry), Chuen-Yen Chow (Aero-Space Engineering), Edward D. Crandall (Chemical Engineering), Wayne F. Echelberger Jr. (Civil Engineering), Harald Esch (Biology), Thomas P. Fehlner (Chemistry), J. Philip Gleason (History), Robert G. Hayes (Chemistry), Richard J. Leake (Electrical Engineering), Stuart T. McComas (Mechanical Engineering), Edward Manier (Philosophy), Rev. Leon J. Mertensotto CSC (Theology), Rev. Matthew M. Miceli CSC (Theology), Arthur J. Quigley (Electrical Engineering), Robert M. Slabey (English), Mark W. Tenney (Civil Engineering) and James E. Ward (History).

Promoted to Assistant Professor: Rev. Robert J. Austgen CSC (Theology), Antonio J. Botet (Modern Languages), Rev. James C. Buckley CSC (Philosophy), John T. Canty (Philosophy), Neal M. Cason (Physics), John T. Garrigues (Classics), Rev. William B. Hund CSC (Philosophy), Rev. James W. Simonson CSC (Classics) and Donald G. Vogl (Art).

Recognized for 25 Years of Service: Gilfred A. Burdick (Physical Education), Francis R. Maxwell (Audio-Visual) and Arthur J. Quigley (Electrical Engineering).

Dr. Donald J. Pasto, assoc. prof. of chem., awarded an Alfred P. Sloan Foundation fellowship for basic research.

Dr. James D. Stasheff, assoc. prof. of math, awarded an Alfred P. Sloan Foundation

Two Leaders in the US Catholic hierarchy and a US senator head the list of 10 persons who will be given honorary doctor of laws degrees by the University at the June 4th commencement exercises. The Most Rev. John F. Dearden, archbishop of Detroit and head of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops and the US Catholic Conference, will receive an honorary degree. In addition he will be the baccalaureate speaker and principal celebrant at the graduation Mass. Lawrence Cardinal Shehan, archbishop of Baltimore and head of the US Bishop's Committee for Ecumenical Affairs, is the other prelate who will receive an honorary degree. The commencement address will be delivered by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy (D., Minn.) who will also be awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree. Others receiving honorary degrees are (from left to right): Dearden; Shehan; James E. Armstrong '25, retiring after 41 years as executive secretary of the Alumni Association; O. C. Carmichael Jr., chairman of the board of Associates Investment Co. and a Notre Dame trustee; and Dr. James A. Reyniers, founder and first director of Notre fellowship for basic research.

GRANTS

Aerospace Engineering. $10,000 from NSF for study of rotating-field magneto-hydrodynamic thrust bearing under the direction of Dr. Chuen-Yen Chow, asst. prof. of aerospace engr.

Aerospace Engineering. $5,125 from Space Recovery Research Center for parafoil experiments under the direction of Dr. John Nicolaides, prof. of aerospace engr. and dept. head.

Center for Study of Man in Contemporary Society. $276,680 from Office of Economic Opportunity for study of effects of social services for the poor under the direction of Dr. George Shuster, dir. of the Center.

Chemistry Department. $35,500 from NSF for the detection and characterization of unstable species by mass spectrometry under the direction of Dr. Thomas Fehlner, asst. prof. of chem.

Chemistry Department. $3,000 from E. I. duPont de Nemours Co. for postgraduate teaching assistant award under the direction of Dr. John Magee, dept. head.

Chemistry Department. $1,000 from Merck, Sharp and Dohme Co. Foundation for grant-in-aid of research under the direction of Dr. John Magee, dept. head.

Chemistry Department. $13,446 from NIH for ESR studies of conjugation by sulfur under the direction of Dr. Robert G. Hayes, asst. prof. of chem.

Chemistry Department. $6,600 from NIH for predoctoral research fellowship under the direction of Dr. Roger K. Bretthauer, asst. prof. of chem.

Electrical Engineering. $10,000 from NSF for study of optimization of phase lock loop systems under the direction of Dr. John Urban, asst. prof. of elec. engr.

English Department. National Endowment for the Humanities summer stipend support to Dr. Thomas Jemielity, asst. prof. of English for research, "Eighteenth Century Conceptions of Samuel Johnson's Journey to the Western Islands of Scotland."

Graduate School. $103,100 from NASA for predoctoral research training program in the fields of science and engineering under the direction of Rev. Paul E. Beichner CSC, dean of the Grad. School.

Graduate School. four grants, $22,500, $60,977, $68,700 and $28,036 from NSF for graduate traineeship programs under the direction of Rev. Paul E. Beichner CSC, dean of the Grad. School.

Mathematics Department. $16,525 from NSF for secondary science training program under the direction of Dr. Abraham Goetz, assoc. prof. of math.

Mathematics Department. $113,820 from NSF for summer institute for math teachers under the direction of Dr. Abraham Goetz, assoc. prof. of math.

Mechanical Engineering. $10,000 from NSF for study of stabilized march technique for neutron transport and diffusion, under the direction of John W. Lucey, asst. prof. of mech. engr.

Mechanical Engineering. $6,500 from CTS Corp. for research equipment, monochromator, under the direction of Dr. Jerome Novotny, prof. of mech. engr.

Mechanical Engineering. $15,000 from Ford Motor Co. for enriching the engineering program under the direction of Dr. Edward Jerger, prof. of mech. engr. and dept. head.

Mechanical Engineering. $1,020 from Western Electric Co. for graduate research equipment under the direction of Dr. Edward Jerger, prof. mech. engr. and dept. head.

Mediaeval Institute. $106,800 from NSF for microfilming of the manuscript and archival collection of Ambrosiana Library under the direction of Canon A. L. Gabriel, prof. and director of the Institute.

Microbiology Department. $25,023 from NIH for study of influence of antibody on antibody-producing cells under the direction of Dr. Albert Nordin, asst. prof. of microbio.

Microbiology Department. $21,147 from NIH for study of mineral metabolism in germfree rats under the direction of Dr. Bernard Westmann, prof. of microbio.

Microbiology Department. $54,048 from Office of Naval Research for study of age, stress and viral infection in germfree animals under the direction of Dr. Theodore Starr, assoc. prof. of microbio.

Microbiology Department. $56,811 from NASA for applications of the germfree animal to space ecology under the direction of Dr. Theodore J. Starr, assoc. prof. of microbio. and Dr. Morris Wagner, assoc. prof. of microbio.

Microbiology Department. $2,975 from Marion County Cancer Society for research equipment under the direction of Dr. Albert Nordin, asst. prof. of microbio.

Microbiology Department. $10,095 from NIH for study of biogenesis and control of nitrate respiration in bacteria under the direction of Dr. Ronald J. Downey, asst. prof. of microbio.

Microbiology Department. $50,000 from Office of Naval Research for study of physiological phenomena in germfree animals under the direction of Dr. Morris Pollard, prof. of microbio. and dept. head.

Microbiology Department. $55,818 from NIH for study of neoplastic diseases in germfree rodents under the direction of Dr. Morris Pollard, prof. of microbio. and dept. head.

Philosophy Department. National Endowment for the Humanities award for study of theory and practice from Marx to contemporary Soviet philosophy under the direction of Dr. Nikolaus Lobkowitz, assoc. prof. of phil.

Philosophy Department. National Endowment for the Humanities award for postdoctoral fellowship for research, "Conceptual Analysis of Modalities" under the direction of John Canty, instr. in Gen. Prog.

University. $8,245 from NSF for senior foreign scientist fellowship in chemistry under the direction of Rev. John Walsh, VP for academic affairs and Gunther Schenck, visiting prof. of chem.

Dame's famed Lobund Laboratory for germfree animal research. Not pictured but also receiving degrees: Charles S. Desmond, retired chief judge of the New York State Court of Appeals and member of the Notre Dame Law School Advisory Council; Harold Howe II, US Commissioner of Education; Franklin D. Murphy, chancellor of the University of California at Los Angeles; and Edmund A. Stephan '33, a Chicago attorney who recently was elected to head the reconstituted Notre Dame Board of Trustees.

Alumni Ask

Reemergence of Alumni Dialogue

TO THE EDITOR: Congratulations on the "Emergence of Alumni Dialogue." Considering the excellent quality of the recent contributions I hope that the series will continue for there is a dangerous tendency in this age of underthink and overkill to oversimplify an ambiguous reality and to thus face a tragic loss of perspective. The university should take the lead in defining the values and proper perspectives which we so desperately need. There must be a commitment, not only to finding new answers, but also to programs of action by which they are initiated. So I applaud the recent changes on the campus and look for the day when we will be able to answer "Yes" to the question asked by Harper's. I hope it will be soon, for the challenges of the world today must be met with more than just "Green Power" and a haircut.

G. W. Pfeiffenberger '62
Lancaster, Pa.

TO THE EDITOR: I am concerned that not one letter was published in the March-April ALUMNUS from a graduate prior to 1943 taking issue with the statements of Ambrose Dudley. In case this lack of response from the "ole timers" should be interpreted to imply approval, let me assure you that I am in complete agreement with the intelligent criticism presented by our capable younger Alumni. Fortunately, I have graduates from many universities, including ND, in my classes at Loyola and have been impressed with their knowledge and respect for the fundamental principles of morality. They have been taught the meaning of at least one of Mr. Dudley's greatest words—duty. They fully understand the meaning of duty of human solidarity which is emphasized by Pope Paul in his encyclical Populorum Progressio: "nationalism is a major obstacle opposed to the formation of a world which is just." I trust Mr. Dudley would not include the social encyclicals in his reference to "alien philosophy which has crept into the curriculum of these students."

Louis F. Buckley '28
Chicago

TO THE EDITOR: I am a woman who was lucky enough to marry a man with brains, character and initiative. He went to your school, but I am finding it very difficult to reconcile him with the creature exalted by Mr. Dudley in his article two months ago. It is to your credit that you found it fair and reasonable to print a little adverse mail on the article. Jingoism, Cant and Steam-rolling cannot be excused in the Alumni magazine. And there's also a little moral matter of showing two sides of the story.

Mrs. John T. Sullivan '54
New York City

TO THE EDITOR: The article "The Lost Image" by Bud Dudley will more than likely set off a bomb of controversy. In our own undergraduate days it was popular to be rebellious. We devised ways to stay out or sneak out after hours; to smuggle alcoholic beverages on campus and to lampoon a good many of the traditions we now hold dear. We apparently are in an era when rebellion against authority is even more pronounced. Freedoms never dreamed of a few decades ago, even at Notre Dame, are now accepted as commonplace. Not that we argue with this. We are in a changing world and less and less discipline seems to be becoming more and more the vogue. We cannot take issue entirely with rebellion either. Our country was built by rebels, a fact which some of us may have forgotten. But with a difference. Rebellion against oppression or injustice is justifiable, while rebellion without purpose is anarchy.

In all likelihood, a goodly number of the younger Alumni will look on Bud's article as flag-waving and "cornball." With the passing of time, though, to many of them the inscription over the war memorial door of Sacred Heart, "For God, Country and Notre Dame," will have as much meaning as it does for the "fogies." May there always be room for all of us.

Cliff Prodehl '32
Malvern, Pa.

TO THE EDITOR: A statement some months after the fact that Bud Dudley's views are his own and not those of the University or the Alumni Association is worthless. Considering his position and the forum which he used, it is to be expected that most readers would interpret his remarks as having official sanction. The obvious way to prevent a repetition of such an incredibly immature approach to the problem of today's universities is to prevent the election of individuals who maintain such a simplistic view of life. To this end I would suggest that in future elections of members to the Alumni Board a brief statement from each candidate to be sent to Alumni outlining his view of the University and the role it plays in our society.

John W. Lucey '57
Notre Dame, Ind.

TO THE EDITOR: For reasons which are both more personal and more professional than those of most of my fellow Alumni, I have watched with especial pride my alma mater's rise to a position of academic eminence. I have been somewhat mystified, however, by the general public's failure to recognize this. But now all is crystal clear. Bud Dudley has been delivering his "The Lost Image" speech far and wide for to these many years.

R. William Rauch, Jr. '50
Philadelphia, Pa.

from the managing editor

The surrounding columns of Alumni inquiry and discussion are the most welcomed copy this editor receives. They represent seldom-heard reaction to previous issues of the magazine — their news stories and features. And they come from the people most important to the editor, his readership, the Alumni.

Today, in an age characterized by transition and change, this spirit of inquiry and discussion is more important than at any other time in Notre Dame's century and a quarter of life. More than 80 Alumni Club presidents, constituting the newly formed Alumni Senate, were witness to this fact in early May when for three days they listened, questioned and discussed the spiritual, intellectual and physical changes on campus.

I know that at first most of these Club presidents were disturbed, if not outwardly alarmed, at some of the things they heard. And yet, I'm equally confident that these same Alumni representatives returned home satisfied that the direction in which Notre Dame is now headed is a true and sincere one; and if supported, this direction eventually will lead the University to a greatness never before realized in Catholic higher education.

But advising Alumni Board and Senate members of the development of Notre Dame is not sufficient. Trends in higher education and changes at the University in particular must be related to the Alumni at large. This, in essence, spells out the purpose of the ALUMNUS magazine. In its six issues a year, the magazine attempts to report the progress and to describe the pulse of today's Notre Dame. However, the ALUMNUS cannot be construed as being a one-way medium, a means of communication that disseminates its content without a feedback. If this particular medium — this particular magazine — is to be an effective communications tool, then it must know the feelings, listen to the questions and openly receive the reactions of the people most important to it.

Happily this concept is now being realized. It was evident in the March-April ALUMNUS and again in this issue. But it must be continued and broadened. Alumni inquiry and opinion — so long as it is responsible and rooted in factual accuracy — will forever constitute a valuable contribution to this institution. It has and it will continue to reflect an involvement in Notre Dame that goes beyond financial contributions alone. It is a deep-rooted constructive involvement dedicated to making this place a really great university.

Space in the next issue of the ALUMNUS is still open. Alumni need no written invitation to participate. Room for their column is a standing order. It's the sort of copy the editor welcomes most.

INDEX

Cover Story	15
Alumni Ask	2
Classes	24
Clubs	48
Compendium Inside Cover
Editorials	4
Law School	46
Photoany	58
Potpourri	6
Sports	54
Topside Briefs	13

The ALUMNUS is published bimonthly by the University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, Ind. 46556. Entered as second-class matter Oct. 1, 1939, at the post office, Notre Dame, Ind., under the act of Aug. 24, 1912.

ALUMNUS MAY 1967 JUNE

TO THE EDITOR: It is springtime on the campus and so we Alumni opened our copy of the ALUMNUS to look for the names of the stars of next fall's football games. Instead, it was a shock to find the varsity team of "Duty, Honor, Country" taking such a beating on the practice field from "Love, Understanding, Peace, Man, Justice and Change." From what this Alumnus read of the scrimmage in the March-April ALUMNUS, it looks like "Change" will be on the varsity team next fall. The coach who controls the players' actions realizes the part that chance, luck and instinct play in the game. Wisdom says that whether the team wins or loses it is the faith of the players in the value of the game which produces the win at the end of the season.

Roger L. Hosbein '50
Winnetka, Ill.

TO THE EDITOR: I have just read the March-April issue of the ALUMNUS in which much of the material concerns Mr. Dudley's earlier address. In my judgment it is the best and probably the most important issue of the magazine that I have seen in the past 11 years. The highly articulate and highly concerned rejoinders in the issue demonstrate in a way not otherwise possible that the University is producing and has produced intelligent and committed persons who can think and judge for themselves without recourse to sentimental slogans and nostalgic cliches. I have never been more encouraged about the future of Notre Dame education. May I offer my support and encouragement, too, to the long overdue mature policy of putting controversial Alumni opinion into print. There is a strength of mind and heart in those rejoinders that seem to have been missed by the Harper's article on contemporary Notre Dame.

Douglas Cole '56
New Haven, Conn.

... and the final word

TO THE EDITOR: In the March-April issue in the story "Merger: Yes or NO?" the enrollment of Saint Mary's Division of Graduate Education is described as "wholly female." Twenty-four of our students, their wives and children, or their fiancées might take serious exception to this statement. Although they comprise a small minority, these men are deeply appreciated by the majority sex. Applications are indicative of a change in direction toward a more favorable balance in the future.

Arthur E. Smith, Dean of Graduate Education
Saint Mary's College

Editorials

May 1967 June
Vol. 45, No. 2

Together, Informed and Inspired

In many ways Notre Dame is similar to Cape Kennedy. From the University, ideas are launched with varying frequency and force. Many have achieved spectacular orbit. The most identifiable characteristic, however, is the constant planning for new thrusts, new orbits, new ideas.

Seldom has this nature been more dramatically evident than on the weekend of May 6. It was, in the older tradition, the occasion of the Old-Timers football game, the end of spring practice. And Coach Parseghian and his staff did, indeed, launch another team that promises to make a most successful orbit in the fall.

But the major impact of the weekend was broader and deeper. The new governance program of Notre Dame went into effect. The Board of Trustees, under a group of 12 Fellows, is now the complete governing structure of the University. Notre Dame is no longer under the direct governance of the Congregation of Holy Cross, no longer a property of and responsible to the Provincial or the Superior General. Members of the Congregation involved in the University—and the present personnel was confirmed by the new Board—remain as employees of the Trustees.

On this same weekend, the long-studied, long-planned, vitally important Faculty Manual governing the relations between the faculty and the University was accepted by the new Board of Trustees.

The restructuring of the Student Government, though not directly related to this same historic weekend, has been a continuous and action-packed progress which has already achieved results that former generations of students could never have envisioned. But because student governments turn over with annual upheavals, the progress is continually frustrating to the current student leaders. The only point to be made in this segment of campus life is that trustees, administrators, faculty and alumni listening to the new and to the retiring Student Government heads were acutely aware of the tremendous growth and change in student influence and identity in the University's pattern.

Against this backdrop of history and progress, the Alumni Association made its own significant contribution—to the future and to the total pattern of Notre Dame and its destiny — by the introduction of the Alumni Senate. The Senate is the creation of the 13-member Alumni Board of a much broader based and more widely representative group of Alumni who will represent Alumni through the local Alumni Clubs (or, in the future, possibly by regional determinations of similar size and purpose).

To get the Senate into action, the Board created the first membership roster from the current presidents of the Alumni clubs who were invited to the campus for the weekend. More than half the 172 presidents, representing a probable 80 percent of our US Alumni population, attended the two-day meeting. The sessions were partly in the tradition of the Club Presidents Council. But the real significance of the Senate, the purpose of the bulk of the 1967 program, was to establish the rapport between a larger group of thoroughly informed Alumni and the University, a rapport which the Alumni Board has achieved and which can only come from an extended briefing in depth by administration, faculty and students.

It is too early to assess any values as specifics. But the broad facts are most stimulating. The University today consists of four major and vital segments: administration, faculty, students and alumni. The communications channels between these four areas must be constantly open, and open as two-way channels—programs and problems defined by each, and the resulting impact and opinions fed back to each.

The diverse program of the weekend was a vivid highlight picture of a campus that is commanding the attention and respect of the academic world. The price of this leadership is the presence of problems that might be escaped by letting other campuses set the precedents. But the rewards of this leadership are the active and excited minds of every segment of the new and growing Notre Dame—a University holding to the eternal verities of its heritage, but open to the new forms and the new substance which the explosion of knowledge is pouring into the academic world, essential additions to the preparation for proper leadership in the world ahead.

Alumni, particularly, were made aware that much of the disturbing publicity of this era stems from the colorful but peripheral activities and minority personalities that occupy every campus.

They were made convincingly aware that there is a much broader and deeper commitment in faculty and students to the problems and their solutions that a troubled society faces. The involvement of hundreds of students and faculty members in the most demanding and intensive humanitarian movements of our times was impressive. So was the large number of students—more than half the total student body—who willingly enter upon the discipline and the conditioning rigors of the interhall athletic program where guts and good will abound but where there is no glamor and no material reward.

In a sense Notre Dame is on a plateau, the highest in its history. But like all the other plateaus that have marked the short pauses in the long climb, this one, too, becomes not a level place of settlement, but a solid base from which new programs and new people will continue to go forth with increasing force and frequency to achieve the old principles and purposes as they relate to our changing world.

There is a vital part for each of us to play. To play that part well we must know the parts of those with whom we must combine. Together, informed, and inspired, little is impossible.

James E. Armstrong '25
Alumni Association Executive Secretary

To the Class of '67

To you, our most recent graduates and newest Alumni, a hearty welcome! I am sure you are already beginning to sense the great transition from undergraduate to graduate. On campus you were, of necessity, thrown together with numerous common interests, bonds and goals. Now, however, this coordinating force has been removed and each of you must go your separate way.

We have all heard a great deal of talk recently about people not wanting to become "involved." It is the easiest way out and requires the minimum, if any, effort. In the past, it has been our experience that a good many of our new Alumni fall into this category. They hesitate to become involved with their local Alumni club until they have been away from the University at least five years. We know some of you will be attending graduate school and will have a tough schedule. We know, too, you will be buying a home and the repairs will be taking up most of your time. We know many of you are planning to be married and it will take some time to get settled. But, we also know that you can always find time for things that are most important to you.

You are bound to be called on often to share your time on community projects. The more successful you become the more you will be in demand. We are asking that your first "commitment" be to your nearest Alumni club. I strongly urge you to do this at once. Through the years you will derive a great deal of personal satisfaction from this association. It will also help your local Alumni club to continue to be a force for good in your community.

Ambrose F. Dudley Jr. '43
Alumni Association President

AN UNMISTAKABLE DIRECTION

Potpourri

MOVING with similar insight and spirit as did the Vatican in its document of the Church in the modern world, the University of Notre Dame in May issued its own proclamation on the role of the Catholic university today. It did so in word and action when it announced the reorganization of its government to give laymen a more active and responsible role in the administration of its affairs. This historical decision, making Notre Dame the first major Roman Catholic university to shift from clerical to lay control, was accompanied by related events reflecting the unmistakable character of the University's new partnership. At its spring meeting of the Board of Trustees, the University revealed:

- The creation of the Fellows of the University, a group of six Holy Cross priests and six laymen exercising certain powers and functions granted by the charter to the founders of Notre Dame and formerly restricted to six clerical trustees.

- The election by the Fellows of a predominantly lay Board of Trustees—30 laymen and seven priests—and delegation to it of virtually all powers for the governance of Notre Dame.

- The adoption of new statutes of the University and new bylaws of the Board of Trustees.

- The election of Edmund A. Stephan '33, Chicago attorney, as chairman of the Board of Trustees and Boston attorney Paul F. Hellmuth '40 as its secretary.

- The confirmation in office (by the trustees) of Father Hesburgh and other University officers.

- The creation of the post of vice-president for research and sponsored programs and the appointment of Dr. Frederick D. Rossini to fill that position.

THE UNIVERSITY

- The approval by the Trustees of a new faculty manual.

Creation of the Fellows. While Notre Dame has passed from exclusively clerical to predominately lay control, Father Hesburgh stressed that one of the Fellows' major responsibilities is to maintain "the essential character of the University as a Catholic institution of higher learning." Notre Dame's newly adopted statutes, the President continued, provide that "the University shall retain in perpetuity its identity as such an institution." Furthermore, it was noted, the bylaws specify that the trustees shall elect the president of Notre Dame from among the priests of the Indiana Province.

The recently appointed fellows of the University are: Rev. John J. Cavanaugh CSC '23, former Notre Dame president; Robert W. Galvin, chairman of the board of Motorola, Inc.; J. Peter Grace LLD '60, president of W. R. Grace and Co.; Paul F. Hellmuth '40, managing partner of Hale and Dorr law firm in Boston; Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh CSC '38, Notre Dame president; Rev. Edmund P. Joyce CSC '37, Notre Dame's executive vice-president; Rev. Howard J. Kenna CSC '26, superior of the Indiana Province of the Congregation of Holy Cross; Rev. Charles I. McCarragher CSC '32, Notre Dame vice-president for student affairs; I. A. O'Shaughnessy LLD '47, president of Globe Oil and Refining Co.; Edmund A. Stephan '33, partner in the Chicago law firm of Mayer, Friedlich, Spiess, Tierney, Brown and Platt; Rev. John E. Walsh CSC '45, Notre Dame vice-president for academic affairs; and Bernard J. Voll '17, chairman of the Sibley Machine and Foundry Corp. of South Bend.

Statutes and Bylaws. In the new statutes of the University, the Fellows, a self-perpetuating group, have certain basic powers including those to elect Trustees, to adopt and amend the statutes and bylaws of the University, and to approve the transfer of a substantial portion of the University's physical properties. Such actions require a two-thirds vote. All other powers of governance have been delegated by the Fellows to the Board of Trustees which will function much the same as the trustees of other major universities throughout the country.

Expansion of Board. Notre Dame's new Board of Trustees consists of the Fellows, 22 other men who, along with the six lay Fellows, served on the earlier Board of Lay Trustees established in 1920, and four newly appointed members.

The new members include: Dr. Thomas P. Carney '37, senior vice-president of research and development for G. D. Searle and Co. of Chicago; John T. Ryan, chairman of the board of Mine Safety Appliances Co., Pittsburgh; Dr. O. Meredith Wilson, president of the University of Minnesota; and George D. Woods, president of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, Washington, DC.

New Vice-President. The creation of the new vice-presidency to be filled by Dr. Rossini "becomes mandatory," Father Hesburgh said, "with Notre Dame's deepening involvement in the most sophisticated research in the physical and social sciences and the humanities." The President indicated that more than 180 research and research-related projects are currently underway with the support of grants exceeding $7 million annually.

Dr. Rossini, who becomes Notre Dame's first vice-president for research and sponsored programs, is a member of the National Academy of Sciences. He has been serving as dean of the College of Science at the University since 1960.

Faculty. The new Faculty Manual approved by the Trustees:

- Reaffirms the University's commitment to academic freedom and specifies the responsibilities of the institution and individual faculty members toward its implementation.

- Provides for the creation of a Faculty Senate which shall make recommendations on matters germane to the University's Academic Council.

- Creates mechanisms whereby faculty members are consulted in the appointments of dean and department chairmen.

- Specifies procedures for faculty appointment, promotion, tenure and dismissal.

Behind the Restructuring. Father Hesburgh noted that the changes in Notre Dame's government emanate from many months of discussion, formally and informally, involving the trustees and officers of the University, its lay and religious faculty and other members of the Congregation of Holy Cross.

In a formal statement of policy, the Fellows of the University expressed the "strong conviction" that Notre Dame's reorganization is vital for these reasons:

- The increasing public character of the University as evidenced by the broad financial support it receives from charitable foundations, business corporations, government agencies and the public at large.

- The dramatic growth the University has experienced in the past few decades which has been accompanied by unprecedented and complex problems in administration, fiscal matters, planning, development and public relations.

- The need to draw upon all available skills in the operation of the University, both lay and clerical, to assure its continuity, growth and advancement.

- The importance of granting the laity a more independent and responsible role in the governance of Catholic institutions as a sequel to the pronouncements of the Second Vatican Council.

PAUL HELLMUTH

CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD STEPHAN and FATHER HESBURGH
A change viewed "with a great deal of enthusiasm"

VICE-PRESIDENT ROSSINI

A casual or even careful reading of the Faculty Manual reveals little that would not be equally true of academic procedures in any university — which is as it should be, since we are a university before we are a Catholic university. The Manual has a few words in one place about “Catholic character,” and the “aims of the institution” are mentioned in another context. What does Notre Dame aim to be as a Catholic university? What is its Catholic character?

I cannot really say in any lengthy, precise, or definitive detail. But I do owe the Notre Dame family at least a few words on the subject. Hopefully, those following me will improve on this; but then, we’ve lived and grown here, as a Catholic university, for about 125 years with no words to date. These words are at least an attempt at self-identity. High time, one might say.

Briefly, a Catholic university should begin by being a great university, in the full richness of the modern university’s reality. Notre Dame should be, first and foremost, a community of scholars, learning and teaching together, and together dedicated to serve in our day mankind’s total development—spiritual, intellectual, cultural and material. The first two tasks, learning and teaching, are classical in the university, although learning is cloaked today in the term, research. The third task of service to humanity is new in our generation as a specific university function.

Granting Notre Dame’s commitment as a university to this triple task, this should also be a place where all the great questions are asked, where an exciting conversation about the most important human concerns is continually in progress, where the mind constantly grows as the values of intelligence and wisdom are cherished and exercised in full freedom. Any great university must be thus generally characterized, or it is neither a university nor great.

Notre Dame, as a Catholic university, must be all of this and something more. The University, as Catholic, is universal in a double sense: first, its concern touches the moral as well as the intellectual dimensions of all the questions it asks itself and its students; and, secondly, it must emphasize the rightful centrality of philosophy and theology among its intellectual concerns if there is to be real adequacy of knowledge in the university, universality in the mind’s quest for knowledge and meaning, rightness and relevance, understanding and wisdom.

NOTRE DAME'S PRESIDENT ADDRESSING THE FACULTY ON WHY ARE WE A CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY?

This dual commitment is more personal than institutional, and can only be made by persons in that atmosphere of freedom which above all must characterize the Catholic university in our day. One might assume that our faculty and students, whatever their personal faith, are united in believing that intellectual virtues and moral values are important; that the good and wise man, as we are given to perceive him by our intelligence and conscience, is the truest personal measure of our ultimate success as educators and educated.

Notre Dame must give vital, living witness to the wholeness of truth from all sources, both human and divine, while recognizing the real sacredness of all truth from whatever source, and the validity and autonomy of all paths to truth. Notre Dame should reflect profoundly, and with full commitment, its belief in the existence of God and in God’s total revelation to man, especially the Christian message. This university should also reflect the deep mystery of salvation in history, the inner, inalienable dignity and rights of every single human person, recognizing at the same time both man’s freedom and his fallibility, buttressing man’s every move towards a more profound perception of truth and a more humane achievement of justice in our times. Notre Dame must try to do all of this in the most ecumenical and open spirit. Somehow, all of this Judeo-Christian tradition should be reflected at Notre Dame in the very human atmosphere of this beautiful campus —in a spirit of civility as well as of love, in openness as well as in commitment, in our pilgrim search as well as in our enduring faith and hope. We may do all of this poorly—but we cannot, as a Catholic university in the modern context, attempt to do less. What is most important is that this endeavor must be the personal responsibility of each one of us.

It is the most sobering of thoughts that we, fallible human beings, must try to create this kind of institution, realizing full well that, in its total vision, such a Catholic university has never really existed and, even today, many think the very concept impossible. I think we can do it, clergy and laity, Catholics and non-Catholics, working together, each contributing something, each believing it is worth the try.

I have often tried to visualize the reality of the Catholic university, the ideal Notre Dame, if you will, in images, especially these three:

- A beacon, shining with the great light of intelligence illumined by faith and faith seeking an ever-greater understanding and expression of what we believe, in words that really speak to modern man, to his hopes and fears, to his aspirations and anguishes, to his frustrations and his generosity.

- A bridge across the chasm of misunderstandings that divide so profoundly so much of the modern world, the believers and unbelievers, the rich and the poor, the free and the slave, the developed and the underdeveloped nations, the North and the South, the East and the West, the knowing and the ignorant, the material and the spiritual, the scientist and the humanist, and all the rest. Notre Dame should be a bridge, touching and deeply concerned with both sides of every human chasm. Notre Dame can be a mediator, a bridge builder, a go-between, an honest intellectual broker promoting understanding and peace. Again, in this context, Notre Dame means each one of us.

FATHER HESBURGH
“High time, one might say”

• A crossroads. Notre Dame can and must be a crossroads where all the vital intellectual currents of our times meet in dialogue, where the Church confronts the modern world with all its insights and all its anguishes, with all its possibilities and all its despairs, where the great issues of Church in the world today are plumbed to their depths. Notre Dame should increasingly become a place where every sincere inquirer is welcome, listened to, and respected by a serious consideration of what he has to say about his belief or unbelief, his certainty and uncertainty. Notre Dame must be a place where difference of culture and religion and conviction can coexist with friendship, civility, hospitality, and especially love. It is a place where the polarity of a Catholic Weltanschauung and belief can be a real catalyst for needed discussion, and the creator of an atmosphere of concern for the spiritual dimensions of man's nature and destiny, where the endless conversation is harbored, not foreclosed.

There is a vision of all of this in Vatican II's Constitution on the Church in the Modern World. This document, which I commend to all members of the Notre Dame community, is the real base for a new charter for Catholic universities that merits further study from all who live and work in Catholic universities.

All of this has been sketchy, intuitive, imaginative, perhaps even rhetorical. But from one who has spent most of his adult life trying to reach greatness for Catholic higher education, it is at least and at best an honest statement, a word of hope for all who might hear, understand, and respond.

A large part of the honesty is that all who are really interested in the vision of a great Catholic university in our times are welcome to help make it come true at Notre Dame. I hope that this Faculty Manual, thus presented at some length, will create a context wherein all the faculty may be enabled to do this effectively, even enthusiastically. This is what I think this Faculty Manual is all about.

"Substantial Potential"

Professional confirmation of the excellence of Notre Dame's science program was voiced in mid-May by the National Science Foundation with its announcement of a $4.7 million grant to the University. One of only five universities in the country to receive the three-year grants under the University Science Development Program, Notre Dame was chosen on the basis of its substantial potential for elevating and maintaining a high quality of scientific activities.

Acknowledging the $4,766,000 grant, Executive Vice-President Rev. Edmund P. Joyce CSC said: "The University is most grateful to the National Science Foundation for its vote of confidence in the place of science at Notre Dame. Its grant will enable us to take great strides in meeting the educational challenges brought about by the virtual explosion of knowledge in almost all areas of scientific investigation."

To meet this explosion in the scientific field, Notre Dame has proposed a $15 million, five-year plan for the development of science. Speaking before science students and faculty at the April "Challenges in Science" lecture, former Dean of the College of Science Dr. Frederick D. Rossini revealed that the University expects to spend nearly $6 million for new buildings, $5 million for additions to the science faculty and $2 million for equipment and supplies.

As newly appointed vice-president for research and sponsored programs, Dr. Rossini will in large part oversee the implementation of new science teaching science and an increase in interdisciplinary programs.

Through the five-year science program, the University will strengthen existing programs in life science, chemistry, mathematics, and physics as well as develop new interdisciplinary areas of scientific investigation. In addition, new programs will be started in molecular biology, biophysics, biochemistry, chemical biophysics, solid-state physics and chemical physics.

Current areas of scientific study to be strengthened by the addition of faculty members and the improvement of facilities and equipment include: genetics; environmental biology; developmental biology; physiology; physical, organic and inorganic chemistry; nuclear, theoretical and elementary particle physics; algebra; analysis; topology; and geometry.

The NSF grant also includes funds to help construct a Life Science Building in the southeast corner of the Memorial Library quadrangle. The new Lobund Laboratory building, which will be part of the Life Science Building, is now under construction there.

Dr. Bernard Waldman, associate dean of the College of Science, said that while none of the NSF funds are earmarked for the Lobund Laboratory—famed for germfree animal research—and the Radiation Laboratory—a world center for research in radiation chemistry—both these laboratories will provide "significant and important collateral support" for the five-year science development program.

Since 1960, the number of undergraduate science majors has increased

NOTRE DAME'S LIFE SCIENCE BUILDING
Newest venture into Science research and instructional programs. Referring to the fantastic expansion rate of the scientific body of knowledge, which now doubles every eight years, Dr. Rossini stressed the need for reconsidering the methodology of from 400 to 600, the graduate students from 200 to 300, and the faculty from 84 to 130. The next 10 years, Waldman said, should see growth to 1,000 undergraduates, 500 graduate students and 170 faculty members.

Sequel to Zahm

"It's a bird—it's a plane—no, it's the parafoil!" Such was the cry on campus April 29 as Notre Dame's aero-space engineers unveiled their latest contribution to the world of flight. The parafoil, a parachute-like device, was brought to the nation's attention during a man-flight test demonstration before NBC network news cameras.

Resembling something from the Jules Verne drawing board, the parafoil is actually a nylon-cloth wing which employs a series of long cells to control air flow. The movement of the air through these cells actually increases the parafoil's stability in high winds. Neither a glidercraft nor a parachute, the parafoil combines the advantages of each to produce a highly maneuverable craft.

Dr. John Nicolaides, chairman of the aero-space engineering department and leading proponent of the parafoil, foresees definite advantages in its widespread use. "The parafoil deploys reliability—we haven't had a failure in two years of testing. And its flight characteristics, especially its gliding ability, are far superior to those of the conventional parachute. It is also much more accurate."

University researchers have been involved in parafoil development for close to three years, ever since Inventor Domina Palbert first brought it to their attention. Jalbert, who holds the patent on the device, wanted to explore the parafoil's aeronautical characteristics in Notre Dame's wind tunnel. The test results were so promising that the aero-space men immediately began to develop its potential.

Since that time the parafoil has been introduced into the Air Force's Flight Dynamics Lab where it is being tested for possible military applications. Because of its highly accurate landing control and the fact that it can be dropped up to a mile from the target area and radio-controlled in, it is being considered for air delivery of supplies in Vietnam.

The parafoil has also joined the space race. NASA has applied the kite device to its radar tracking of space vehicles. And the Scandia Corporation is experimenting with the parafoil for use as a drag device on returning spacecraft.

NEW LANDING FOR AERO-SPACE
Prime time for Notre Dame

At the recent tests, which were later seen on the Huntley-Brinkley report, a professional parachutist demonstrated the parafoil's accuracy. Bailing out at 4,500 feet over the stadium he glided to a gentle, one-foot landing dead center on the target area. It is such performance that leads Prof. Nicolaides to proclaim: "What we now have in the parafoil is a unique device—a kind of missing link in aerodynamics. The possibilities for its use are virtually endless."

To prove his point, Dr. Nicolaides has himself taken to the air with the parafoil. Rigging the kite to a one-seater cart, the "Notre Dame Flyer," he can be seen on windy afternoons taking off and landing in his aeronautical flivver. Looking ahead he predicts, "Someday the harried commuter may go to his garage, take his parafoil car wings and fly to work."

... certified by Wagner

The claim for "32 percent fewer cavities" may have to undergo substantial revision in light of recent discoveries by Notre Dame microbiologists. Dr. Morris Wagner, associate professor and Lobund researcher, has successfully experimented on germfree rats with a decay-preventive vaccine. And the results of his work give promise of a multiple vaccine which would fortify humans against a number of decay-producing bacteria.

The link between bacteria and tooth decay was uncovered by Dr. Wagner through extensive experimentation on rats which develop decay problems similar to those which afflict humans. Dr. Wagner fed identical diets, high in decay-producing carbohydrates, to both germfree rats and animals living under normal conditions. Only the normal rats developed decay evidencing the influence of bacterial factors. Additional support for the bacteria theory was deduced from experiments in which germfree animals were fed the same diet with the inclusion of a bacterial organism. Decay occurred among these rats.

The feasibility of effective vaccination was demonstrated in experiments in which the rats were injected with a killed suspension of the same bacteria. Inoculated rats were found to be immune to decay which was virtually eliminated in the control group. Nonvaccinated animals, however, continued to develop cavities.

Scientists at research centers in the US and Sweden have identified well over 20 micro-organisms as responsible agents for tooth decay. Dr. Wagner believes that this number can be classified according to a manageable number of strains which can then effectively be treated by a multiple vaccine. Although hopeful of reducing cavities through the vaccine, Dr. Wagner notes, "It is probable that no one procedure, such as a vaccine, will eradicate cavities from man."

The next step in Wagner's research will be to study the individual bacteria known to be associated with tooth decay with the aim of classifying them by type. He will then work on developing a mixed vaccine to protect against all the bacteria groups.

PARAFOIL JUMPER AND NOTRE DAME'S JOHN NICOLAIDES
A happy commuter aboard his Irish UFO

DR. MORRIS WAGNER

Work continues on a decay-preventative

Inevitable Change?

Latest participants in the controversy over the status of Catholic higher education are Dr. Herbert L. Johnston, associate professor of philosophy, and Dr. Robert Hassenger, assistant professor of sociology and editor of a recently published book, The Shape of Catholic Higher Education.

Prof. Johnston, addressing a meeting of the Catholic Commission on Intellectual and Cultural Affairs, struck a pessimistic note on the future of Catholic higher education. He admitted that the end of this century would not see Catholic colleges and universities existing in their present form.

The specialist in the philosophy of education cited steadily increasing costs, refusal of tax support, the proliferation of state universities and the drop in religious vocations as the primary forces necessitating the reshaping of Catholic higher education.

Dr. Hassenger's book, on the other hand, does not express a definite opinion but seeks to "gather what is presently available to provide substance for the debate now raging with a rather poorly stocked arsenal." In essence, it is a compilation of the best research and critical essays covering the aims, achievements, and present and future status of Catholic colleges and universities.

An historical review lays the groundwork for the five sections of this comprehensive treatment of Catholic higher education. Rev. Robert Weiss SJ analyzes Catholic colleges as social organizations with editor Hassenger concentrating on a study of a Catholic women's college. The effects of Catholic higher education are dealt with in the third part which focuses on the impact on student values and attitudes and takes an in-depth look at Santa Clara University. The timely topic of controversy on the Catholic campus is the subject of the fourth part.

STUDENT BODY

Of Mind and Soul

The University has made another definite commitment to the needs of the individual student with the establishment of a campus Psychological Service. Scheduled to begin operations this fall under the direction of Rev. Ralph Dunn CSC, a PhD in clinical psychology, the new program will fill a need for counselling not available through spiritual or vocational advisors.

During its initial months of operation, Psychological Service will be concerned with outlining directions and procedures it will follow. One of the first major problems will be to inform students of its availability and to encourage them to make use of its services.

FATHER RALPH DUNN

Begins psychological services

Father Dunn foresees that a majority of the students will be recommended to Psychological Service through the guidance department and rectors and faculty advisors. However, he believes that in the long run the success and direction of the new program will come from the use individual students make of it. "The kind of problems we'll treat depends largely on the individual students and might include someone who continually finds himself depressed or one who is haunted by some kind of obsession or compulsion."

Another area of concern for the fledgling program will be exploring the potential of its relationship with other established counselling agencies on the campus — the psychology department, the guidance department and the advisor systems. Although eager to develop close and harmonious relations, the new director does not intend the Psychological Service to become merely a vocation problems bureau.

Located on the third floor of the Infirmary, the new Service will be associated with the medical needs of the students and will offer the opportunity for close cooperation with University medical officer, Dr. George Colip. Father Dunn, who receives his doctorate from Loyola University of Chicago in June and has had two years of experience in field work with Loyola's Psychological Service Center and the Veterans' Administration Hospital, will be the principal staff member of the Service.

Once the pilot program is in full operation, Father Dunn hopes to secure the services of a social worker and a local psychiatrist, most likely a South Bend doctor. It is also expected that a majority of the cases will be treated on campus, thus enabling a student to remain in a familiar environment.

Student Restructure

While the University unveiled its major innovations in governance this May, Student Government revealed that it, too, had undergone a radical restructuring.

Acceding to the increasing diversity of student involvement, Student Government announced the formation of a "Student Union" to assume management of all student-service functions. The new services branch will free elected student body leaders to devote full time to their representative duties.

The Union will function as an integrating agent under the direction of a three-man executive council. Its officers—president, vice-president and treasurer — will share their responsibilities with members of three commissions: coordinating, social and academic.

The coordinating commission will take on the job of overseeing the work of such groups as the student organizations commission, transportation, book exchange and the student services commission which handles on-campus mail, the student directory and various commercial concessions.

Little administrative change is evidenced in the new social commission which will continue to sponsor major campus social activities. The usual events—concert series, football trip, Collegiate Jazz Festival, Mardi Gras and Homecoming—will remain on the social calendar. However, consideration now has been given to injecting something new into the social scene such as a spring carnival weekend complete with rides and sideshows.

Another aim of the new social commission will be to draw Saint Mary's students into positions of responsibility for events in which the two student bodies have a mutual interest. There is no reason, members of the commission believe, that a girl cannot, for example, be placed in charge of the decorations committee for the Homecoming Dance.

Greatest innovation and responsibility focuses, perhaps, on the academic commission. Under the new Union plan, class academic commissions have relinquished their jurisdiction to the central commission. As sole coordinating agent for all student-sponsored academic events, the commission will establish lecture and film series, co-ex discussions, library displays and other extracurricular academic activities such as the Mock Convention.

ALUMNI

The Added Dimension

Coming from Maine and Miami, from San Diego and Portland, from megalopolis and borough, nearly 100 Notre Dame graduates returned to campus May 4-6 to accept appointments to the recently organized Alumni Senate.

The occasion, marked by the first joint session of the Alumni Board and Senate, saw local Alumni Club presidents seated as charter members of the new Alumni governing body. A creation of the long-established national Alumni Board, the Senate is intended to broaden the channel of communications from the University through the Board to the Alumni at large.

The joint session was called to order in the Center for Continuing Education May 4 by Association President Ambrose F. Dudley Jr. The inaugural address was given by Dr. Thomas P. Carney, honorary president of the Association and chief architect of the Senate. Dr. Carney cited the creation of the Senate as the beginning of a new era of Alumni awareness and involvement in the accomplishments and dreams of the University.

On the second day of their meeting, the Board and Senate heard reports from University officials on progress, policies, and problems in major administrative and academic areas. These formal sessions were devoted to matters on admissions, continuing education, athletics, student affairs, religion and citizenship, academic affairs, and public relations and development. Considerable time also was allotted for discussion following each formal presentation.

The Board and Senate during the three-day meeting also heard from James Fish and Christopher Murphy, outgoing and incoming student body presidents, respectively, on the role and accomplishments of Student Government. Other guests included Professors James Robinson, Edward Vasta and John Houck who discussed the Faculty Manual.

The joint meeting adjourned Saturday following a luncheon with special guests Edmund Stephan, newly appointed Chairman of ND's Board of Trustees, Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh CSC, president and Rev. Edmund P. Joyce CSC. Mr. Stephan and Father Hesburgh described the underlying reasons for the revision in University governance, as well as its potential for the future, and hailed the creation of the Alumni Senate as a significant recognition of the Alumni role in the ongoing growth and development of Notre Dame.

The Senate's immediate future calls for regional meetings with members of the Alumni Board in the fall in an effort to keep the newly established lines of communication open.

Perhaps the purpose and potential of the Senate were best described by

Dr. Carney at week's end when he alluded to the old concept of the university constituency as being triangular in form, representing the student-faculty-administration relationship. "The old form," said Dr. Carney, "has given way to a new design . . . the square, representing the student-faculty-administration-Alumni relationship. If you'll recall your geometry, the simple inclusion of an additional side doubles the effective area."

Nothing Succeeds So Well...

Closing the books on another successful year, the Notre Dame Foundation issued its 1966 financial report. Although the year saw no major campaign drive in effect, a total of $10,180,547.82 in gifts and grants was contributed to the University.

In releasing the financial report, James W. Frick, vice-president for public relations and development, noted this year's figure represented substantial increases in individual areas of giving and that, although the 1965 figure exceeds it by slightly more than $100,000, the 1966 goal was achieved without the benefit of a Ford Foundation matching grant.

A comparison of this year's statistics with those of 1965 shows that a record number of Alumni made a record contribution, and parent and non-alumni giving increased significantly. The resulting figures indicate that more than 17,000 individual contributions were made to the University accounting for $5,472,370.06.

In addition, Notre Dame scholars and researchers received support through government and corporation grants and fellowships amounting to $4.7 million. Various governmental agencies extended $4,514,841.26 for research in the physical and social sciences. Private and industrial corporation and foundation gifts totalling $33,531.39 and $39,690.76 respectively were received during 1966.

The statistical highlights of the financial reports of 1965 and 1966 reveal a generally consistent growth pattern:

DR. THOS. CARNEY

NOTRE DAME'S ALUMNI SENATE
Doubling Effective Area

BUD DUDLEY

1966 HIGHLIGHTS OF ND FOUNDATION

1965		1966	1965		1966
10,291,370.06	Grand Total	10,180,547.82	3,619,164.25	Total Research Grants and Fellowships	4,708,177.76
45.3%	Alumni Participation	51.0%	180,191.56 (NDF)	Contributions From Parents	(NDF) 269,116.10
11,799	Number of Alumni Contributors	13,727	243,174.76 (Alumni)		(Alumni) 242,248.46
1,437,341.69	Total Alumni Amount	2,165,699.78	857 (NDF)	Number of Parent Contributions	(NDF) 1,311
101,207.15	Honorary Alumni	624,961.00	683 (Alumni)		(Alumni) 902
130.40	Average Alumnus Gift	203.30	575	Gifts of $1,000.00 and Over	529
5,133,656.97	Non-Alumni Total Amount	2,681,709.28	4,620,791.07	Total From Corporations and Foundations	1,613,390.20
2,253	Number of Non-Alumni Gifts	3,310	659	Number of Corporations and Foundations	925
			2,812,256.84	Ford Foundation	-0-

Topside Briefs

In Defense of Religious Freedom

Acting on the University's concept of service to the community, Prof. Edward J. Murphy of the Law School has joined the National Committee for Amish Religious Freedom as a legal advisor. One of four Catholics serving in such a post, Prof. Murphy will aid in preparing the appeal of Mr. Leroy Garber before the US Supreme Court. The Amish farmer has been indicted by the Kansas courts for failure to send his daughter to the public schools. He objects on the grounds of his religious beliefs to the schools' "worldly atmosphere." The appeal will contest the Kansas Supreme Court ruling that the Constitution protects religious belief absolutely but religious practice as only a limited right.

Continue Research on Parochial Education

Notre Dame's continued interest in the future of US parochial education was again evidenced with the creation of a new interdisciplinary Program for Research in Catholic Education. The new program will not only carry on the work begun during the three-year Carnegie-supported study of elementary and secondary schools, but will also seek to establish avenues of cooperation between national educational organizations and the different levels of Catholic education. In addition, the program will implement research in related fields of study in an effort to provide coordinated educational planning. Reginald A. Neuwen, who directed the Notre Dame-Carnegie study, and Rev. Neil J. McCluskey SJ, visiting professor of education, will co-chair an interdisciplinary faculty committee which will establish guidelines for the program.

New Policy Governs Appearance of Guest Speakers

At a time when cries for academic freedom and student rights resound loudest, the University issued a precedent-setting policy governing the appearance of guest speakers on the campus. Made public recently by Rev. Charles McCarragher CSC, vice-president for student affairs, the statement eliminates arbitrary administration decision on a lecturer's right to speak at the University. Yet, at the same time, it does not extend free license. The policy, first of its kind ever to be promulgated at Notre Dame, welcomes anyone to speak who would "be contributing to the academic side of the University." Although a speaker's ideology per se will not affect his right to speak, the subject matter must have academic value and the speaker able to intelligently express his views.

A Protesting Law School

Addressing a Law School honors dinner, retiring Dean Joseph O'Meara chose the occasion to level criticism at civil rights leaders who have integrated their anti-Vietnam war views with their work in the civil rights movement. Acknowledging the sincerity of some war objectors, Dean O'Meara accused the majority of being either Communists, traitors or cowards. Referring to the civil rights movement he singled out the actions of Martin Luther King and Stokely Carmichael as being in violation of federal statutes under the First Amendment. "Such persons are doing irreparable harm to the cause of civil rights by seeking to link the civil rights movement with their own criminal attempts to persuade young men to avoid military service." In rebuttal, five Law School faculty members, Rev. William C. Lewers CSC, Thomas L. Shaffer, Thomas F. Broden, Bernard J. Ward and Robert E. Rodes Jr., issued a statement vindicating King, expressing opinion on the legality of his and Carmichael's speeches and noting that the Dean's remarks were not representative of either the Law School or its faculty.

Feinberg and Giroux to Library Council

The growing resources and influence of the Memorial Library have prompted the appointment of two new members to the Library Council. Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh CSC, president of the University, announced that Charles E. Feinberg and Robert Giroux will join the 15-member Council. A retired oil company executive and avid book collector, Mr. Feinberg's personal library boasts one of the largest treasuries of Walt Whitman materials. Mr. Giroux, active in the publishing business for the past 30 years, is vice-president and editor-in-chief of Farrar, Straus and Giroux, Inc.

Summer Institutes for Philosophy Teachers

Catholic philosophy teachers will be given the opportunity to extend their educational horizons as a result of a recent Carnegie Corporation grant to the University. The $120,000 will be used to establish institutes during the summers of 1968 and 1969 on contemporary American philosophy for faculty at Catholic institutions of higher learning. Notre Dame faculty members will form the basic teaching staff, although visiting faculty from other universities will be invited to conduct lectures, seminars and informal discussions. The first institute will concentrate on themes in recent Anglo-American linguistic philosophy while study in the philosophy of religion is proposed in 1969.

Encyclopedia Enlists ND Philosophers

Joining scholars from around the world, three Notre Dame faculty members have contributed major articles to the first philosophical encyclopedia ever published in English. Described as the most comprehensive philosophical reference ever published, the Encyclopedia of Philosophy lists among its contributors Dr. A. Robert Caponigri, Dr. Joseph W. Evans PhD '57 and Rev. Ivo Thomas OP. Caponigri, professor of philosophy, served on the new reference work's editorial board in addition to writing articles on several 19th- and 20th-century Italian religious philosophers. Associate professor of philosophy Dr. Joseph Evans authored the entry on Jacques Maritain. Dr. Evans directs the University's Maritain Center. Father Thomas, who is presently visiting professor in the General Program, contributed a section on the history of logic.

The Talk of the Hive

"I talk to the bees" is the claim of Dr. Harald Esch, associate professor of biology. A specialist in the communication habits of bees, his most recent research has uncovered the fact that bees are multilingual. Using a dummy bee as a research assistant, Dr. Esch put him through the intricate maneuvers of the "wagging" dance common to the honey bee. The imposter drew no response, confirming the belief that bees communicate not only through kinetics, but also employ phonetics. The German-born and -educated biologist has also accumulated evidence that bee language evolved and he now intends further research to trace the developmental pattern.

Latest Educational Concept

The University traditionally acknowledges four undergraduate Colleges and the Graduate School. This past semester, however, a fifth college was matriculated. Begun in February through the joint efforts of Dr. Robert Hassenger '59, assistant professor of sociology, and the Student Government's Academic Commission, the "Free University" launched a long-considered idea, that of student autonomy in the organization and administration of their curriculum. The nine, two-hour seminars on "The American Student" were structured so as to provide students with the greatest opportunity to shape the course of the symposium through their direction of the extended, free-discussion periods which followed the formal presentation of subject matter.

"Sci-po '74"

All the excitement of a world's fair will come to Notre Dame, in a manner of speaking, with the staging of the 25th International Science Fair in 1974. The fair's Science Service Council accepted the joint Notre Dame-South Bend invitation extending the new Athletic and Convocation Center as the site for the worldwide high school competition. This marks the first time a city the size of South Bend was chosen to host the final judging on winners from over 200 regional science fairs. The University is co-sponsor of the Northern Indiana Science Fair held annually in Stepan Center.

Summer Internships

Closer cooperation between Notre Dame and South Bend is once more evidenced in the joint efforts of the University and local industrial leaders in extending last year's pilot program in summer job placement. Officials at Bendix and Uniroyal are helping the Student Government's ND-South Bend Relations Committee to coordinate this year's efforts which hope to place 25 students in temporary jobs. Supervisory and staff work and positions requiring special skills will be open to qualified juniors and seniors. One of the aims of the summer intern program is to encourage students to remain in the South Bend area after graduation.

Men of Rank

Special recognition was given members of Notre Dame's faculty at the President's Dinner, May 8, when Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh CSC announced professorial promotions and honors. Elevated to the rank of professor emeritus was retiring economist Rev. John C. Blommestein OSC. Cited for 25 years of consecutive teaching at Notre Dame were Gilfred A. Burdick, Francis R. Maxwell and Arthur J. Quigley. Thirteen faculty members advanced to full professorships while 18 were named associate professors and nine were ranked as assistant professors. (The entire list of promotions can be found in the "Compendium" section of the ALUMNUS, inside front cover.)

He's Number One

Proving to be number one off the field as well as on, Football Captain Jim Lynch was named "Athlete of the Year" by students in the Scholastic poll. In the third annual balloting the senior linebacker outpolled teammate Nick Eddy, junior trackman Pete Farrell and hockey ace Pete Lamantia. Accepting the honor, the top athlete said: "Receiving the Athlete of the Year trophy affected me in the same way that my selection as captain did. It really means more than the Maxwell Trophy because it comes from some people whose opinion I truly respect—the Notre Dame student body."

O'Shaughnessy Named a Papal Count

In recognition of his support of the new Ecumenical Institute for Advanced Theological Studies in Jerusalem, Pope Paul VI named University Trustee I. A. O'Shaughnessy a Papal Count. The president of Globe Oil and Refining Company of Saint Paul, long a benefactor of higher education, has served Notre Dame as a Trustee since 1944. Donor of O'Shaughnessy Hall of Fine Arts and substantial contributor to the Memorial Library, he was named an honorary doctor of the University in 1946. Chosen as the Laetare Medal recipient in 1953 as the outstanding US Catholic layman, Mr. O'Shaughnessy has also been honored as a Papal Chamberlain of Sword and Cape; Knight of the Holy Sepulchre; Knight of Malta; Knight Commander; and Knight of St. Gregory.

Ruling Their Own House

The division of powers is finding increasing expression at Notre Dame. Eager to assume its share of the load, the Student Senate has reactivated the House Committee to govern the operation of the Student Center. The Committee, which was founded two years ago, but did not operate during the current academic year, will exercise authority in establishing hours and determining the uses of the Center. Members of the House Committee will include a student senator, student affairs coordinator, student body VP, the vice-president for student affairs and the current supervisor of the Center.

Catholic Schools: To Be Or Not To Be

Dr. James Michael Lee's controversial section on American Catholic education in the book Catholic Education in the Western World has engendered a widespread feedback. In evaluation of the elementary and secondary Catholic schools, Dr. Lee promoted the abolition of elementary schools in favor of the establishment of nursery schools. His proposal was based on the apparent lack of effectiveness of the present school systems. One of the most emphatic reactions was issued by the St. Louis archdiocesan school board which sent a letter to all area priests disputing Dr. Lee's conclusions.

Academic freedom in all its forms has come under extensive fire in recent years. From Berkeley to St. John's the issue has drawn nation-wide attention. Most recently, the spotlight fell on Catholic University where a priest faculty member one moment was ousted for his liberal religious teachings and the next moment reinstated because of his right to enjoy academic freedom. Today, most alumni accept the fact that the university—more so than ever before—should be a community of free scholarly inquiry. But more than that, alumni also must know the problems inherent in the issue of academic freedom and understand their ramifications. And most critically, they must see how this affects the Catholic university. Following, in this special feature of the ALUMNUS, five prominent figures from the world of academe have raised their voices in dialogue on the issue of academic freedom. In harmony they declare that academic freedom is the very substance and marrow of the word "university." But at best, they are quick to add, the realization of this freedom is complex.

ac/a•dem'ic free'dom

all encompassing dimensions

EARLY in this century, the aims and institutional practices of Catholic colleges and universities reflected a protectionist design. They were intent upon guarding a student's faith against a "hostile" culture. At the same time there was little or no emphasis upon original research by the faculty.

At a later, better time, these colleges, some of which were beginning to merit the title "university," accepted a more demanding challenge. Therein developed the creative synthesis of Catholic or Christian wisdom with the best secular thought, e.g., Christian personalism or the social gospel with the theory and practice of democracy, or with Keynesian economics. As a result, increased emphasis was placed upon original inquiry, research, and experimentation in the humanities as well as in the sciences, although the latter frequently led the way.

By 1958, laymen constituted over 80 percent of the faculties of six medium to large-size Catholic institutions. And, now, the proportion of faculty trained in the country's best graduate schools is increasing every year. In most disciplines, although there are a few exceptions, research simply follows the best secular models, with little or no direct consideration of its relation to religion.

It is in this context that Catholic colleges and universities are facing the tasks of expanding and democratizing their governing boards; of increasing the role of faculty in university government; of making explicit guarantees of academic due process for faculty and students; of responding to the call for greater student freedom and student participation in decision-making; of more clearly defining their role as church-related institutions; and of continuing to improve their academic quality. The problem of academic freedom is bound up with every one of these issues, and the prospects for the meaningful extension of this freedom in Catholic higher education have rarely seemed brighter, in spite of some threatening clouds on the horizon.

THE growth of academic freedom depends upon a clear grasp the meaning of the term, its foundations and its practical extensions, as much or more than it depends upon the practical skill, energy, and good will of the administrators, faculty and students involved. In the past, Catholic authors dealing with this subject have elaborated a concept significantly at variance with that in common use in secular institutions. Where A. O. Lovejoy, the Johns Hopkins philosopher and historian, held that the academic freedom to investigate, publish, and teach is limited only by standards of competence and professional ethics, Catholic authors have implied that this freedom may also be limited by an institutional commitment to the magisterium of the Church, i.e., by specific doctrinal tests. Lovejoy also held that college and university students have a right to be presented with the evidence for the major alternatives in any controverted field of inquiry. But some Catholics have argued that a student's "loss of faith" is too great a price to pay for such academic sophistication. Finally, such organizations as the American Association of University Professors have insisted that faculty members have the protection of academic due process, the right to appeal to the professional judgment of their peers in any contested case. But some Catholic universities have invoked administrative or ecclesiastical authority — from which they have granted no appeal — in order to maintain doctrinal purity.

While most administrators of Catholic colleges and universities have had the wisdom to avoid the application of such repressive principles, the body of theory has been there. It has seriously confused debate because it is sometimes advanced as the "proper" meaning of academic freedom. It has been argued that Catholic institutions must be free to present Catholic doctrine and philosophy to their students, and to protect them from erroneous views.

This represents a grave misunderstanding of the meaning of academic freedom. It is in fact a defense of the freedom of association of Catholics and other religious groups, and it has little or nothing to do with academic freedom.

Academic freedom is the freedom of debate, inquiry, and controversy; it is not the freedom to preach or indoctrinate. Academic freedom is limited by a professional ethic which specifically requires that the teacher respect the student's independence of judgment. This does not mean that academic freedom can only be rooted in uncommitted skepticism. But it does imply that the operative commitment which underlies true scholarship and teaching can never be an uncrit-ical or inflexible commitment to a specific thesis or theory. It is best described as commitment to the meaningfulness of an area of inquiry; a commitment to search and investigate. Some sector of a church-related university will be committed to probe the intelligibility of man's encounter with God.

EDWARD MANIER '53, an assistant professor of philosophy at Notre Dame and recipient of a PhD from St. Louis University, has written for the Philosophy of Science, The Modern Schoolman and other journals.

IT follows from this view of the commitment which underlies scholarship that the faculty of a Catholic university cannot be asked to function as an instrument of the magisterium or teaching authority of the Church, a mission properly exercised by those who preach and administer the sacraments. A Catholic university can only represent the Church learning and not the Church teaching. The learning of the Church must respect all the laws of learning. It will grow only through the critical, open examination of opposed ideas. It will grow insofar as the "opposition" is allowed to speak for itself in every area of inquiry, including the religious.

Priest-scholars have the delicate task of balancing these missions of learning and preaching. The balance can be achieved only if they are given the full professional autonomy accorded their lay colleagues. The credibility and integrity of priestly scholarship depend upon the clear and unequivocal rejection of the old theory of ecclesiastical censorship of scholarly documents, and upon an equally forthright acceptance of the individual's vocation to teaching and research as a limit on the demands of priestly obedience to a religious superior.

The campus or parietal rules enforced upon students on many Catholic campuses continue to echo religious and pedagogical theories from the nineteenth century. Rules governing hours, dress, and drinking, as well as political activity, public assembly, and the student press cannot flaunt or demean the intellectual and emotional maturity demanded of the student in the classroom and loudly proclaimed at commencement. Students must be given a role in university government proportionate to their interests and capacities; in particular, they should have a basic voice in rules governing their own behavior. The plurality of student subcultures or cultural streaks is extremely important to the balance and total impact of higher education. Catholic campuses benefit from the incorporation of a variety of economic, ethnic, and religious cultures in their student bodies, and should seek to promote this pluralism.

CAN there be academic freedom in a church-related college or university? Our answer is "yes." The further realization of this possibility depends on a careful understanding of religious commitment as demanding — not the continual reformulation of a predetermined "truth" but — free and open inquiry in all areas of scholarship. Likewise, it depends upon the willingness of the administrators of the best Catholic colleges and universities to dissociate these institutions from the task of representing the teaching authority of the Church, for the sake of making a real contribution to the learnedness of the Church. •

JOHN W. HOUCK '54, associate professor of business organization and management, is president of the Notre Dame Chapter of the American Association of University Professors.

ac/a-dem/ic free/dom

J. PHILIP GLEASON

historically documented

THE development of academic freedom in the United States cannot be adequately understood apart from the historical context in which it evolved. The same is true of academic freedom in Catholic higher education. But in the case of the latter we are gravely handicapped by the lack of historical literature on Catholic higher education, and nowhere is the want more grievously felt than in respect to the twentieth-century evolution of the colleges and universities. Therefore, what follows has assumed the form of a series of broad generalizations. For the sake of convenience, I have grouped them under the headings of social changes, institutional changes, and intellectual changes.

SOcial Changes. The social changes that bear on Catholic higher education and academic freedom are well known in broad outline, and may be summed up in the cliché "emergence from the ghetto." Although we really know far less about this process than the popularity of the expression would suggest, it will suffice merely to mention two aspects of the phenomenon.

The first is the cultural assimilation of the Catholic immigrant-derived population and the increasingly friendly disposition manifested toward the Church by American society. This combination of Catholic acculturation and declining external hostility has reduced the need for a defensive and apologetical orientation at all levels of Catholic education. As the barriers of suspicion and ill will are removed, the pressure to close ranks in a rigidly defensive posture diminishes. The horizons of Catholic education are correspondingly enlarged, and the demand for greater freedom to launch out in new directions is a natural consequence.

The second aspect of the emergence from the ghetto — improvement in the social and economic status of American Catholics—is also a phase of the assimilation of an immigrant people and it, too, is relevant to our subject. Historically, one of the strongest pressures shaping the development of the Catholic college has been the need to modify its offerings and approach in order to meet the changing needs of a clientele intent on improving its status. Catholic schools, in other words, have been required to adjust themselves to demands coming from the students and general Catholic population who have transmitted the tendencies and movements of the society in which they dwell. Today, more than at any earlier time, the Catholic population resembles the general American population in terms of wealth, social status, educational background, and acceptance of the prevailing democratic and anti-authoritarian spirit. Hence the demand that is transmitted is for a college education characterized by the qualities associated with the very finest institutions of American higher learning. Among these qualities, academic freedom is conspicuous.

INSTITUTIONAL Changes.

Another important social change, and one that leads us into the area of institutional change, is the tremendous expansion of higher education since 1900. From being the privilege of the few, college has become the normal expectation of the many. Although ever-increasing numbers of Catholic students have flocked to secular institutions, Catholic college enrollments reflect the enormous national growth.

Expansion of such staggering dimensions in so short a time inevitably has entailed far-reaching changes in the nature and functioning of Catholic colleges. The most obvious of these changes, and one of the most important, is that the faculties of Catholic colleges and universities have been largely laicized. The manpower of the religious communities that ran the colleges was nowhere near sufficient to meet the rising demand for higher education, and laymen had to be brought into the work of college teaching which had been almost exclusively reserved for religious in the 19th century.

By 1958, laymen constituted over eighty percent of the faculties of a fairly representative sample of six medium- to large-size Catholic institutions. No doubt the great majority of these lay professors had experience in non-Catholic universities somewhere along the line, and many of them received their graduate training in leading secular institutions. In view of these circumstances, it is quite understandable that we are witnessing mounting demands that laymen be granted a large role in academic policy-making, and that these demands are attended by agitation of the question of academic freedom.

academic freedom

A related institutional change, but one that is far less widely appreciated, concerns the very recent assumption of what may be called true university character by Catholic schools. A true university as it is understood in this country is an institution of higher learning in which the dominant tone and spirit are set by a graduate school dedicated to research. Graduate education—and true graduate education is measured by the production of PhD's—is a relatively new phenomenon in American higher education. It dates back only to the closing decades of the 19th century. But in Catholic schools, regardless of whether they called themselves universities or not, it is hardly older than yesterday. Except for the Catholic University of America, which was designed from its inception in 1889 for research and scholarship, the emphasis on graduate education at the doctoral level—and hence on true university work as it is conceived in this century—is essentially a post-World War II phenomenon, and even the beginnings of it go back no further than about 1930.

INTELLECTUAL Changes.

Consideration of the transition to true university work brings us into the realm of intellectual changes, for emphasis on graduate work has meant more than institutional modifications. It has also involved a reorientation of Catholic pedagogical thinking, a shift in the ruling ideas of Catholic educators. It is true, of course, that Vatican II and the spirit of aggiornamento have had a powerful impact on all American Catholics who are intellectually alert, and, one may hope, that includes academic men and women as a group. Nonetheless, I think that the Council is the catalyst rather than the cause of the intellectual ferment so characteristic of the Catholic academic scene today. That might be debated. What is certain is that intellectual changes independently under way in Catholic higher education prepared fertile soil in which the new ideas and spirit of post-Johannine Catholicism could flourish. To understand these changes we must go back to the turn of the century and look briefly at the kind of Catholic colleges that existed then, and at the thinking of Catholic educators.

It was about 1900 that the revolution in American higher education began to make itself widely felt in the Catholic colleges. The revolution itself had many causes and ramifications. Perhaps its most salient features were the vast increase in enrollments that followed from the widespread introduction of free public secondary education; increasing specialization and the fragmentation of knowledge that marked the breakdown of the old prescribed classical curriculum; and the growing dominance of the secular temper that accompanied the university movement with its emphasis on Germanic Wissenschaft and which led to the displacement of clergymen from positions of leadership in American higher education. This revolution, which George W. Pierson has described as "one of the greatest disturbances that the world of higher education has ever known," confronted Catholic colleges with a life or death challenge. It also stimulated the beginnings of the 20th-century modernization of the American Catholic higher education.

The key fact is that when this university revolution got under way, Catholic institutions were not yet even providing collegiate instruction as it was commonly understood in American education. I have already mentioned that as late as 1916, half the students in Catholic colleges were really pursuing high school studies. This did not reflect merely the inferiority of Catholic schools—although it seems likely that they were inferior by American standards for competence, to say nothing of excellence. But it also reflected the variant institutional pattern which the Catholic colleges had inherited from the European past. The standard American college was based on the English model, and was conceived as a four-year institution which accepted students who had already completed their secondary preparation. The 19th-century Catholic college, on the other hand, was patterned after the continental model, and combined in the same institution a program of six or seven years' duration embracing both the secondary and lower collegiate levels of study. In other words, the Catholic college was directly derived from the same institutional source as the German Gymnasium, the French lycee, or the English public school and was strictly comparable to these European secondary schools.

It was only by a slow process of evolution that the Catholic college brought itself into line with the normal institutional pattern of American collegiate education. The separation of the high school from the college and the standardization of the undergraduate program along American lines were not fully completed for most of them until the years 1900 to 1920. In a number of schools the reorientation of the undergraduate program overlapped the beginnings of the expansion upward into graduate work. Moreover, this fundamental reorganization took place against the chaotic background of electivism, vocationalism and professionalization in higher education and all of these movements made themselves felt in Catholic schools.

What we have seen, then, in the 20th century, is a profound shift (which is still going on) in the kinds of activity that actually take place in Catholic colleges and universities. It is hardly necessary to add that these shifts have inevitably brought in their wake equally profound changes in the way Catholic educators conceived their task and justified their activities to themselves and to the world at large.

The educational ideal of the older Catholic colleges was eminently fitted to the essentially secondary and lower collegiate work they were actually doing. It was inspired by the educational thought of the Renaissance (mainly through the Jesuit tradition), and represented in the minds of Catholic college men a synthesis of classical humanism, sound philosophy and the true religion. Its aim was not to train specialists or scholars, or to prepare students for practical vocations in life. Rather it aimed to turn out liberally educated men. Men who were possessed of a unified grasp of reality; fortified by a disciplined ability to analyze ideas and express their thoughts with clarity and force; and animated by an ennobling set of humanistic values that accorded harmoniously with their religious faith.

NO doubt the ideal was seldom fully realized in practice—few ideals are. But that is not the point. The point is that as Catholic institutions changed under the necessity of keeping pace, at least in a laggardly way, with the fantastically rapid developments in American higher education, the ideal itself became in a sense outmoded and irrelevant. It was by no means a contemptible ideal; nor has it been wholly forgotten, and I do not think it ever will be because of the genuine values it embodies. But with the passage of time, the ideal conformed less and less to what the Catholic colleges were actually doing. And for those who were trying to bring themselves up to the best standards of American universities, the old theory was very little help or even a positive handicap.

The basic weakness of the traditional pedagogical ideal was that it made no provision for Wissenschaft, for scholarship, for research. The whole thrust of the old system was toward introducing to students, and inculcating in them a previously arrived at synthesis of secular knowledge, intellectual skills, ethical values and religious truth. Free investigation or independent research played virtually no role in this process. By the same token, academic freedom was a very negligible concern because it was not thought that either students or professors needed it in order to realize the ends of collegiate education.

But to repeat once more, Catholic universities have determined in the last 30 years or so to become real universities on the model of Harvard and Berkeley. The effort required a tremendous new emphasis upon research, and has been accompanied by mounting criticism of the failures of Catholic scholarship. But one of the results of the very real gains that have been made has been to destroy much of the validity and attractiveness of the old pedagogical theory and, indeed, to undermine the intellectual-religious synthesis upon which it rested. For the underlying premise of the old synthesis, and of the traditional theory of collegiate education was, to put it very crudely, that the Catholic Church already had the truth — that we already knew all the answers to the questions that really matter. The whole ethos of the modern university, and the inherent dynamism of the spirit of critical scholarship, are fundamentally antipathetical to such an attitude. And the fact that the old attitude, or Catholic Weltanschauung, finds few defenders today is not merely the result of Vatican II; rather it reflects the radical changes of the last generation in American Catholic higher education. •

ac'a-dem'ic free'dom

ACADEMIC freedom is an essential element of a society which is committed to freedom. It is unthinkable that the American society could be characterized as enjoying freedom if our scholars and students were not free in the pursuit of knowledge, understanding and the truth. Equally, it is inconceivable that in a closed system like that of the Soviet Union there could be even a pretense of academic freedom in the institutions of higher learning, although in specialized technical fields where ideological issues are not involved scholars and researchers may not only be free, but also encouraged to get on with their work. Thus, academic freedom in the United States is an aspect of the whole commitment to freedom which characterizes what we call the American way of life.

This basic point stands out in all of the important documents of our leading association of university and college teachers, the American Association of University Professors (AAUP). In its 1940 Statement of Principles on Academic Freedom and Tenure, which is its basic charter, and which was negotiated with the Association of American Colleges and has been endorsed by many important learned societies, the point under discussion was stated very clearly. The preamble of the 1940 Statement declares: "Institutions of higher education are conducted for the common good and not to further the interest of either the individual teacher or the institution as a whole. The common good depends upon the free search for truth and its free exposition." The preamble then goes on to declare that "academic freedom is essential to these purposes and applies to both teaching and research. Freedom in research is fundamental to the advancement of truth. Academic freedom in its teaching aspect is fundamental for the protection of the rights of the teacher in teaching and of the student to freedom in learning."

The AAUP is firmly committed to the proposition that academic freedom is as much a property of the student as it is of the professor. We claim academic freedom for the whole academic community, and the academic community consists essentially of teachers who give instruction and students who seek to learn. Thus, in the recently adopted statement of the AAUP on the academic freedom of students, it is declared: "Free inquiry and free expression are essential attributes of the community of scholars. As members of that community, students should be encouraged to develop the capacity for critical judgment and to engage in a sustained and independent search for truth. The freedom to learn depends upon appropriate opportunities and conditions in the classroom, on the campus, and in the larger community. The responsibility to secure and to respect general conditions conducive to the freedom to learn is shared by all members of the academic community. Students should endeavor to exercise their freedom with maturity and responsibility."

THE concept of academic freedom for college and university professors includes, necessarily, the right of meaningful participation in the life of the institution. That is why the right to participate in college and university government looms ever larger in the thinking of American teachers today. Thus, the statement of principles on faculty government recently adopted by the Association declares: "The basic functions of a college or university are to augment, preserve, criticize, and transmit knowledge and to foster creative capacities. These functions are performed by a community of scholars who must be free to exercise independent judgment in the planning and execution of their educational responsibilities. The organization of an institution of higher education should be designed to allow it to select and carry out its responsibilities with maximum effectiveness and integrity. The ultimate standard for judging patterns for college and university government is success in serving the purposes for which institutions of higher education exist."

DAVID FELLMAN

national commitment

Through the instrumentality of the AAUP, the teaching profession in higher education has worked out a basic position on the requirements of academic freedom. An essential element of that freedom is the concept of tenure, and this concept may be described in a few simple terms.

After a teacher has served in an institution for a probationary period — and AAUP holds that seven years constitutes the outside limit of that period—then the appointee is entitled to tenure, if the institution decides to keep him any longer. Once given tenure, he is entitled to the security of permanent appointment. This does not mean that a tenured professor can never be dismissed, but it does mean that dismissal can be accomplished only for adequate cause, and only if adequate cause is established through procedures which have come to be known as academic due process.

As a bare minimum, in this context, due process includes explicit notice of charges and a fair hearing before an independent faculty committee. The concept of tenure, however, includes something more; it means that once a professor has been given tenure, the burden of proving that he is unfit to remain in his post rests upon those who bring charges against him. The acquisition of tenure is in itself recognition of a professor's professional competence, and he carries with him a presumption of competence unless and until the administration has come forward and carried the burden of proving otherwise.

On the other hand, one who is on a probationary appointment does not carry with him any presumption of competence. Indeed, the purpose of the probationary period is to permit the institution to discover whether the individual is competent. Thus, one who is on probationary status may have his appointment terminated without any cause being assigned at all.

Nevertheless, the Association has always taken the position that, like tenured professors, nontenured teachers are equally entitled to academic freedom. It follows that it is wholly improper for an institution to deny or to violate the academic freedom of a nontenured teacher. In his case, however, if termination of appointment is sought, the burden of proving that such termination is the result of a violation of academic freedom shifts to the individual concerned, since he does not carry with him the presumption of competence which a tenured professor enjoys.

I SHOULD like to stress that it is clear to all of us in the Association that academic freedom is not the special property of tenured professors. It is an essential quality for education, and should be enjoyed by all members of the educational community, students and nontenured teachers as well as tenured professors.

The commitment to academic freedom has never been the expression of the self-serving needs of a professional caste. The fundamental case for academic freedom has always been that it is in the public interest. Society relies upon our institutions of higher learning as the principal means of acquiring new knowledge and new techniques, and of conveying the fruits of past and present learning to the community and to future generations. Without freedom to criticize and explore ideas and to advocate solutions to human problems, neither professors nor students can perform their work, or indeed, maintain their self-respect. Thus we do not claim academic freedom for our own benefit, though obviously we enjoy having it. The ultimate purpose of academic freedom, rather, lies in the promotion of the general welfare. • a polemic for Catholic universities?

DAVID FELLMAN, Vilas Professor of political science at the U. of Wisconsin, is a former president of the AAUP. A Yale PhD graduate, Prof. Fellman is the author of eight books and has published extensively in scholarly journals.

THE right to teach, which is the fundamental meaning of academic freedom, means exactly the same in a Catholic university as it means in any university. It is a right or privilege won by advanced learning and by recognized proficiency in the selection, organization, and communication to students of knowledge, methods, attitudes, and ideals.

However, it is a very serious mistake to speak of the Catholic university as part of the teaching function of the Roman Catholic Church or even its teaching apostolate. This position, I feel, has had many strange and, at least in some instances, disastrous consequences. (I should hasten to add that this interpretation is by no means an "official" position although it is an extremely common one.) The great diversity of types of Catholic colleges and universities makes it clear that there is no monolithic system of Catholic higher education and no one and only set of relationships between the Church and the university. Those universities, for example, that are called "pontifical universities" would have certain operating principles that do not apply at all to other Catholic universities. So far as I have been able to determine, the Church has never defined her relationship with the Catholic university.

To think of the Catholic university as an instrument of the Church for the carrying out of its teaching mission leads, I think, both to serious misunderstandings of the Church's teaching mission in itself and to profound distortions of the nature of a university. This is not to say, of course, that the Church does not have a valid and, as Catholics understand it, God-given teaching mission. The Church has a direct mandate to teach and to baptize. But the trouble arises when, for whatever reason, the Catholic university is regarded as an institution whose primary responsibility is to teach a given set of doctrines, values, or attitudes, i.e., to pass down or to hand out the teachings of the Church. It appears to me that the generic relationship between the Church and the Catholic university can best be described by saying that the Catholic university is one of the manifestations — perhaps the highest formal, explicit, and systematic manifestation—of the Church learning.

WITH what learning then should the Catholic university be concerned? The Catholic university must be genuinely devoted to the whole spectrum of human learning and knowing, i.e., the arts, the sciences, the humanities, and even the technologies insofar as they contain principles and theories to be understood rather than techniques to be mastered. If this were not the case, the Catholic university could not legitimately claim to be a university.

But, clearly, the Catholic university is also concerned about theology. The existence of the Catholic university, as Newman pointed out so accurately, is based on the fact that theology, the study of God, is a valid discipline and as such demands a place in the higher learning. The dilemma for the modern higher education, first stated by Newman and still unanswered, is not why there should be Catholic universities but rather how any institution of higher education in which theology is not taught can call itself a university, if a university is truly to be a center of universal learning.

The Catholic university, i.e., the community of scholars and learners at a Catholic university, recognizes the autonomy of the various disciplines and of the various professors and students working within these disciplines. Each discipline discovers or creates its own truth and its own value. Theology could not, even if it should so desire, dictate the content or the direction of learning in the other disciplines. Rather, theology learns from the other disciplines, just as they learn from it. The theologians are interested in examining and developing ever more fully and clearly the "deposit of the faith" just as, for example, the scientist or the lawyer is interested in clarifying more sharply the laws or nature or the principles of jurisprudence. The Catholic university makes it possible for theologians, scientists and lawyers to learn together, to confront each other with vital and real problems, and hopefully to find both the objective and subjective base for a unifying view of man and of the universe and the relationship of both to God.

ac/a·dem'ic free'dom

SINCE the Catholic university is an expression of the Church learning—of the Church's profound and lasting interest in learning—we must ask a further and somewhat odd and troubling question. With whom and from whom does the community of Catholic scholars and students learn? If they learn only with one another and from one another can they be said to be honestly and genuinely engaged in learning? Are they open to all possible sources of fact, knowledge and understanding? One of the most basic laws of learning is that ideas are strengthened or destroyed by conflict, by challenge, by demands for proof and explanation. These would not be likely to be forthcoming in a scholarly community in which there was general agreement on all fundamental issues.

In practice, of course, most Catholic universities have a number of professors on their staffs who are not Catholic. And in theory there is nothing in the nature of the Church or of the university which says that Catholic scholars should learn only from other Catholic scholars or from Catholic sources. A valid thought, idea, or concept is valid independently of its sources. Further, it is far from the truth, in both theory and practice, that all Catholic scholars are agreed on all fundamental issues. Put positively, the Catholic university should be open to any learning from whatever source and in whatever way that will contribute to man's deeper and better understanding.

IT IS a well known fact in the history of both American and worldwide education, that many colleges and universities which started out under religious auspices or with some kind of religious affiliation have long since become disaffiliated. There is, of course, no built-in guarantee that the Catholic universities as we know them today will continue to exist indefinitely. It has been repeatedly pointed out that educational institutions are among the most permanent institutions of man. But it is also patent that these educational institutions frequently change form and focus in the course of history. The only answer I would venture to such a speculative question as to whether there will be any Catholic universities in the future is the highly pragmatic answer that the Catholic universities—those that we have now and any that will arise—will exist as long as they fulfill a recognizably useful purpose and as long as people are interested in cooperating with and supporting that purpose.

From the viewpoint of the Church—and here, as always, the Church includes both clergy and Catholic lay people—the Catholic university may have one underlying purpose of central importance. It is my personal conviction that, as that part of the Church at work at learning, the Catholic university is the greatest single source of vitality and renewal in the Church. If the Catholic universities decline, it is almost inevitable that the Church itself will decline. Where there is little learning there is little life.

If the Catholic university is to survive, it will first of all have to be a good university in every sense. The Catholic people, at least in those countries in which Catholic higher education is entirely privately financed, will not be able to support any university which is not either good or actively striving to become good. Those persons who are most interested in the future of the Catholic universities are everywhere and always grappling with the question of how the Catholic university can be made better. Part of the question is a financial one: simply, where is the money going to come from to meet the tremendous expenses of higher education in our day? Another important part of the problem is planning, i.e., setting objectives and programs and concentrating resources. And still a third part of the problem is the management problem: who is in the best position to administer the Catholic universities? Religious communities? The bishops and their advisors? Independent boards of trustees? Lay Catholics devoted to higher education? The total faculty, clerical and lay, or their representative? The students? Or some combination of these members of the "learning community."

These questions, it seems to me, are open questions. Probably the only way we will ever know the answers is to do whatever amount of experimenting is possible, to gather as much information as can be brought to bear on these various questions, and to hope to find within a context of mutual understanding and grave concern the best working solutions. •

REV. JOHN E. WALSH CSC is vice-president for academic affairs at Notre Dame. The University's former vice-president for public relations and development, and head of the department of education, Fr. Walsh is the author of "Education and Political Power," and has contributed to various professional journals.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Three of the preceding four articles appear in their entirety in "Academic Freedom and the Catholic University," edited by Edward Manier and John Houck and published in April by Fides Publishers, Inc. Other contributors to the volume include Frederick Crosson, Daniel Callahan, Robert Harsenger, Daniel Greenberg and John L. McKenzie SJ. 232 Pages. $4.95 Cloth.

Parade Heads for June Reunion

From all parts of the US and distant corners of foreign lands, Notre Dame Alumni will converge on campus June 8-11 for REUNION '67's horn-tooting, drum-thumping and banjo-picking homecoming.

Leading the big parade to an expected record-high Reunion attendance will be the Class of '17 marking its golden anniversary and formally entering the illustrious ranks of Notre Dame's 50-Year Club. Likewise, the Class of '42 promises to be front and center — fire engine, convertibles, billboards and all — for its special silver anniversary festivities.

Also in tune with the merriment will be Reunioneers from '22, '27, '32, '37, '47, '52 and '57. And making the scene for the first time are the '62ers.

The traditional three-day Reunion program affords the returning Alumnus a unique opportunity to refamiliarize himself with the academic tenor of the University; the campus of yesterday, today and tomorrow; and the good fellowship of former classmates. "Liveliness" unquestionably will be the keynote of the weekend as the Classes experience a gamut of events as varied in tone and tempo as Notre Dame itself.

- "Has Change Run Away With the Church?" sets the intellectual pace as the second Annual Alumni Seminar convenes June 8 and 9 in the Center for Continuing Education. Staged in conjunction with Reunion '67, it is an invitation for all Alumni to broaden their horizons through a stimulating inquiry on today's Church. Faculty members will lead participating Alumni in an examination of pertinent questions of morality, liturgy and the existence of God.

- "Class" is the password for the weekend as Reunioneers assemble for Friday night dinners and elections; Saturday morning Mass; group pictures; frequent discussions and libations.

- Tee-off for all golf enthusiasts is set for Friday morning as the Reunion golf tournament begins its two-day search for individual and Class champions.

- Mini-buses will shuttle Reunioneers from the parking lots to their respective halls and will provide a convenient mode for viewing the changing campus skyline. Hourly tours are on the day-long Saturday schedule offering firsthand acquaintance with the growing University.

- "Notre Dame Today" highlights Saturday morning with an hour and a half Alumni faculty evaluation of the four undergraduate colleges. Special emphasis at the Center for Continuing Education meeting also will be on changing student perspectives and the evolving curricula.

- The Annual Alumni Banquet culminates Saturday's activities as the paths of all Reunion celebrants lead to the North Dining Hall. Father Hesburgh's traditional "State of the University" message is sure to be as exciting as the changes the year has wrought at Notre Dame. Also on tap for the evening is a once-in-a-lifetime event.

- Alumni Mass in Sacred Heart Church closes Reunion '67 Sunday morning. Alumni priests from all reuniting Classes will join Archbishop Paul J. Hallinan '32 of Atlanta in concelebration of the Mass.

Right Connection

The next time your phone rings, pause just a minute to consider what goes into making that phone call. Once you have, you'll get an instant picture into the professional lives of R. Parker Sullivan '37 and Philip J. Lucier '42.

Classes

REUNION '67

Each is president, respectively, of the nation's largest and third largest independent phone companies. Considering that more than 2,000 independents (or non-Bell systems) serve over one half the land area in the country, their successes are no mean accomplishments. A parallel study of their careers reveals a number of similarities counterbalanced by their individual approaches to the path to the chief executive's post.

Parker Sullivan is head of General Telephone of California which provides service to approximately two million phones. He was initiated into the telephone industry at Lexington Telephone—now General Telephone of Kentucky—where he rose through the ranks to become operating vice-president of the General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

After a term as president of the General Telephone Company of Upstate New York, Parker assumed new duties as vice-president for merchandising at General System's New York offices. During his three-year tenure as VP for sales and marketing he established sales and marketing departments in all of the parent system's companies.

Appointment of Parker Sullivan as president and chief executive officer of General of California was announced April, 1962. Since that time he has added two new titles to his impressive career record. He is a director of Western California Telephone Company and president of California

Water and Telephone, both subsidiaries of General Telephone and Electronics Corporation.

Philip Lucier, on the other hand, was "born in the business." His father, an executive with the nation's number-two phone company, offered him a job upon graduation. But Phil went to work for Stromberg-Carlson because — he says — they offered him $25 more a week than did his father.

As a salesman for the communications equipment manufacturer he came to know a great deal about the operations and the finances of small independents. When he left Stromberg-Carlson he was assistant treasurer, but in his own mind he is still a salesman. "Our challenge is not buying independents," he says of his own company, "but one of selling Continental."

In April, 1961 he formed his own independent, Continental Telephone, by acquiring the phone system in Millstadt, Illinois which amounted to 2,000 phones. Speaking of his venture, he is quick to admit that his is a job without a future: "I started out at the top as president. Now, there's no place for me to go."

Continental now serves more than 662,000 phones in 38 states and Canada, the Bahamas and Barbados. The annual report for 1966 shows that five years after incorporating, Continental gained listing on the New York Stock Exchange—one of the youngest companies ever to do so; rose to become the third largest independent phone company in the US; was purchasing new companies at the rate of one per week; bought its first foreign operating properties; and began the manufacture of communications equipment.

Fame in a Gritty World

"Cleanliness is next to godliness" may be a time-worn aphorism, but Sister M. Richard James SNJM (MBA '65) has taken it to heart and carried it to heretofore unknown heights.

Last fall a call went out from the Soap and Detergent Association announcing a contest for the outstanding example of improvement in institutional cleanliness practices. Contestants had to submit a case history detailing their program for improving environmental sanitation and maintenance in their institution.

Such a challenge was right up Sister Richard James' alley. Sister is provincial purchasing agent and local house treasurer in charge of maintenance at the Convent of the Holy Names. Her duties as convent maintenance chief include responsibility for the upkeep and maintenance of the provincial house and teaching a class in floor care and other maintenance problems to the young sisters.

Armed with this experience, Sister submitted her prize-winning entry describing floor care problems at the convent and her preventive maintenance system. Her "system" consists largely of establishing regular floor care schedules, employing proper cleaning and maintenance procedures, and exercising proper administrative control.

As first-prize winner Sister Richard

HEAD OPERATORS SULLIVAN '37 AND LUCIER '42
Direct dialing to the top.

SR. JAMES '65
To the bottom of things.

James received $500 and a certificate of achievement, was flown to New York and feted at a luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria. "Everyone was very nice to me—but as guest of honor I had to sit on the dais for luncheon with eight men." Her first visit to New York City also permitted Sister to engage in some long-awaited sight-seeing.

A native of Oregon, Sister attended business college and the University of Oregon where she earned her bachelor's in business administration in 1950. A convert, she taught in several Catholic high schools before being assigned as administrative aid at the provincial house and studied for her MBA during Notre Dame's summer program for religious.

The effects of her rise to fame have not quite faded according to Sister. "I have received cute notes from several I graduated with at Notre Dame after they saw my picture in one of the maintenance magazines. I have also received a number of requests from people wanting to know how to take care of their floors."

ND Festival at Cedar Point

The good ole summer time will be gay indeed as Midwest Alumni and families gather at Cedar Point, Ohio July 7-9 for the annual Notre Dame Family Festival. Now marking its fifth year the Festival continues a long Notre Dame tradition at the resort with a thoroughly modern fun-filled weekend.

Established by the Cleveland Club the Family Festival invites Alumni from all over the Midwest to join in the activities. Last year nearly 50 families from as far as Minnesota responded to the weekend invitation with many more driving or boating in for the Saturday events.

As in past years Alumni families will be welcome to stay at the Hotel Breakers, the "world's largest summer hotel," with 1,000 rooms. Rates and reservations for the Festival weekend will be based on a Friday and Saturday night stay. Full information is available from the Cedar Point committee—Reservations Manager, Hotel Breakers, Cedar Point, Sandusky, Ohio 44870.

The resort offers a full range of restaurants and this year has added a cafeteria, steak house and refreshment stands as well as fully remodeling their dining room. To enable weekenders to take full advantage of the scheduled events, the hotel also provides baby-sitting and nursery service.

Ever improving facilities, Cedar Point has expanded its amusement park and now boasts a wax museum, sealand, frontier town complete with stage coach ride, and several new rides including a rotor, spin-a-top and shoot the rapids. Notre Dame families will be able to take full advantage of these and the multitude of other attractions through use of a discount priced coupon booklet.

Alumni planning to spend the entire weekend will be greeted Friday afternoon in the Notre Dame hospitality room where they will receive room assignments, information on all registered Alumni and their discount ticket books. A get-acquainted party is scheduled for the early evening hours and a complimentary boat ride completes the evening's schedule.

Weekend coordinator Richard Miller notes that this year special emphasis is focussed on the Saturday events to enable as many Alumni families as possible to enjoy a one-day visit to the fullest extent. Scheduled for the day is a Notre Dame Mass, picnic at the resort's new facilities, band concert and golf outing at the Thunderbird Course with guaranteed starting times.

On tap for the evening's entertainment is a full-course buffet dinner featuring special guest speakers from the University. Lakefront fireworks are also planned followed by a dance in the hotel ballroom to the music of the Glenn Miller Orchestra. The Festival closes late Sunday morning with the Rockne Memorial Mass held in the Cedar Point chapel.

ENGAGEMENTS

Miss Audrey Schmidt and THOMAS C. MURPHY '53.

Miss Gale Kathryn Kelsey and DONALD J. COSTELLO '56.

Miss Cornelia Ann Sneed and THOMAS J. SCHRIER '57.

Miss Sandra Oldershaw and WARREN R. PLUNKETT '60.

Miss Kathleen Mary McComb and MARTIN JOSEPH DALEY '61.

Miss Marie Melinda Rose and BERNARD CONNORS O'NEILL JR. '61.

Miss Gloria Osterhoudt and JOHN C. GAGNON '62.

Miss Maureen T. McNellis and EDWARD J. FANNING JR. '63.

Miss SHEILA ANN FITZGERALD MA '64 and PHILIP F. RILEY '63, MA '64.

Miss Erin Kathleen McCabe and DAVID FRANCIS SENG '63.

Miss Sandra Joy Moss and MICHAEL EDWARD HOLSTEIN '64.

Miss Toni Thrall and WILLIAM P. JOHNSON '64.

Miss Therese McCaffrey and JOHN H. MCCONVILLE '64.

Miss Kathleen Podesta and JOHN THOMAS MEHIGAN '64.

Miss Sheila Anne Walsh and EDWARD SCOTT SCANLAN '64.

Miss Kathleen Sue Evans and EDWARD ALBERT EISWIRTH JR. '66.

MARRIAGES

Miss Sandra Helene Buysse and EARL JAMES REDDEN JR. '52, Notre Dame, April 1.

Miss Marilyn Petroff and MICHAEL J. CONNOR '61, Notre Dame, April 1.

Miss Maureen P. Racine and DENIS F. OWENS '61, Nov. 12.

Miss Gailanne Sheridan and MICHAEL J. FOGERTY '64, South Bend, March 11.

Miss Katherine Ann Weismann and WILLIAM MICHAEL MAROHN '65, Hanover, N.H., March 18.

Miss Elaine Diana Roccapiore and PAUL DAVID TSCHETTER '65, Middletown, Conn., April 1.

Miss Gail Marie Hagerty and GARY RODDY HEDIGER '66, Notre Dame, April 15.

Miss Margaret Ann Spitz and GERALD R. GLOSTER '66, Notre Dame, April 15.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. THOMAS RIORDAN '50, a son, Christopher Robert, Jan. 11.

Mr. and Mrs. PHILIP W. EVERIST '52, a son, Kirk, April 12.

Mr. and Mrs. JOHN J. DILENSCHNEIDER '53, a son, David Vincent More, Dec. 25, 1966.

Mr. and Mrs. JIM CORCORAN '54, a daughter, Moira Elizabeth, April 3.

Mr. and Mrs. GEORGE WINKLER '57, a son, James Meehan, March 25.

Mr. and Mrs. JOHN MARTIN '59, '65L, a daughter, Catherine McShane, Feb. 10.

Mr. and Mrs. PAUL B. BERTZ '60, a daughter, Melissa Mary, Aug. 3, 1966.

Mr. and Mrs. J. KENNETH BOURGON '60, a daughter, Patricia Elaine, Feb. 14.

Mr. and Mrs. CHARLES F. LENNON '61, a daughter, Colleen Anne, Feb. 3.

Mr. and Mrs. ROBERT BARTHOLOMEW '62, a son, Patrick John, March 3.

Mr. and Mrs. JEROME P. NEALON '62, a son, Christopher Shaun, March 22.

Mr. and Mrs. STEVEN CULLITON '64, a son, March 19.

Mr. and Mrs. C.H. "HAL" LOEBACH JR. '64, a son, Leonard Joseph, April 20.

Mr. and Mrs. FREDERICK J. MICHELAU '64, a son, John Frederick, March 13.

Mr. and Mrs. LAWRENCE MURPHY '64, a son, March 19.

Mr. and Mrs. ARTHUR SWIRTZ '64, a son, Michael Arthur, Jan. 25.

Mr. and Mrs. PATRICK T. NASH '65, a daughter, Megan Eileen, Dec. 16.

SYMPATHY

GERARD SMITH '27 on the death of his daughter Stephanie, April 23.

JOSEPH MANNEBACH '38 on the death of his mother, April, 1967.

JOSEPH L. ADRIAN '39 on the death of his son, Joseph D. '64, March 12.

Rev. JAMES T. HIGGINS '54 on the death of his father, Feb. 11.

RICHARD F. MURPHY '54 on the death of his father, March 4.

ANDREW C. WALSH '54 on the death of his father, February.

JOHN M. KENNEDY '56 on the death of his mother, March 24.

GERALD J. HOAR JR. '57 on the death of his father Gerald Sr. '21, Dec. 28, 1966.

FRED DEUTSCH JR. '60 on the death of his father Fred Sr. '27, Jan. 27.

JOHN A. DRISCOLL JR. '64 on the death of his father John Sr. '27, Feb. 13.

THOMAS J. FERGUSON '65 on the death of his mother, March 8.

JOHN A. BUCK '66 on the death of his father, December.

DEATHS

WILLIAM A. WALSH '97, Yonkers, N.Y., March 18. He was captain and quarterback of the 1895 Irish football team. Two years later he received a law degree from Georgetown U. Law School. From 1917 to 1942 he served Yonkers as mayor, city manager, city judge and corporation counsel. Surviving are three sons and a daughter.

J. CLYDE LOCKE LLB '01, St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 23. He is survived by a daughter.

FRANK PRYOR '06, Pueblo, Colo., March 31. He is survived by a daughter, Miss Marjorie Pryor, 435 S. Curson, Apt. 2-H, Los Angeles 90036.

annual alumni seminar

Perplexed over Changes in Today's Church?

Notre Dame's second Annual Alumni Seminar will be launched at Noon on June 8 with Alumni joining leading members of the Notre Dame faculty in a discussion on recent changes in today's Church. "Has Change Run Away with the Church?" will provide the framework in which returning Alumni will explore for two days postconciliar changes in the Church.

Topics for this year's conference are: "Can you Pray at Mass?" by Rev. Aelred Tegels OSB; "New Sins and Old Commandments" by Rev. Charles Sheedy CSC; "Wanted Dead or Alive—God" by Rev. Albert L. Schlitzer CSC; "Authority, Conscience and Freedom" by Rev. James T. Burtchaell CSC; and "Why Bother Being a Catholic?" by Prof. J. Philip Gleason.

Although the Alumni Seminar immediately precedes REUNION '67, it is not limited in attendance to the Reunion Classes. All Alumni are urged to attend and decide for themselves, "Has Change Run Away with the Church?" For further information and reservations write IMMEDIATELY to: Dean Thomas P. Bergin, Center for Continuing Education.

WILLIAM I. BURKE '12, Worcester, Mass., Feb. 9. He is survived by his widow, 17 Monroe Ave., Worcester, Mass. 01602.

R. JOHN MILLER '17, Celina, Ohio, Nov. 18, 1966.

Rev. DONALD P. MacGREGOR CSC '19, Notre Dame, April 4. A missionary in India for 16 years, he later served as chaplain to the Holy Cross Brothers in New York State and at two high schools in the South.

HENRY M. McCULLOUGH '20, Davenport, Iowa, Feb. 2.

JAMES R. EMSHWILLER '21-'23, Hartford City, Ind.

GERALD J. HOAR '21, South Bend, Dec. 28, 1966. He was a member of the Monogram Club. Surviving are his widow, 221 N. Scott, South Bend 46601, and sons including Gerald J. Jr. '57.

ALBERT CARROLL '22, Rockford, Ill., April 26. He is survived by his widow, 1526 Price St., Rockford.

JAMES F. McNICHOLAS LLB '25, Chicago, April 4. He was an attorney for the Cook County department of public aid. He had served as president of the Chicago ND Club in 1934. Surviving are three sisters.

FRED DEUTSCH '27, Neenah, Wis., Jan. 27. He is survived by his widow, 423 Park Dr., Neenah 54956 and son Fred Jr. '60.

JOHN A. DRISCOLL '27, Highland Park, Ill., Feb. 13. He is survived by his widow, 170 Ridge Rd., Highland Park 60623, a son John Jr. '64 and two daughters.

ROBERT J. MOHLMAN LLB '28, Lafayette, Ind., April 7.

CAROLUS A. OULETTE '28, Miami, Fla., Feb. 22.

JAMES L. McDONALD '30, Los Angeles, April 17. He is survived by his widow, 2798 McConnell Dr., Los Angeles 90064.

RICHARD J. BARBER SR. '31, Rye, N.Y., April 10: A practicing attorney, he had served as Rye City Judge since 1946 and was a director of the Mamaroneck Federal Savings and Loan Assn.

ALBERT J. BRASSEUR '32, South Bend, July 10, 1966. He operated and owned the Associated Underwriters, Inc., an insurance and real estate business. Surviving are his widow, 140 N. Varsity Dr., South Bend, three sons and a daughter.

JAMES W. WARDELL '32, Wilmington, Del., Nov., 1963.

CHARLES E. MONTGOMERY '33, Springfield, Ky., March 18. He had served as county attorney for Washington (Ky.) County for the past 21 years and was a former representative of the Washington-Mercer legislative district. He is survived by his widow, Springfield, Ky., and three sons.

RICHARD E. KELLEY '34, Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 7, 1966.

FRANCIS X. DEERY '36, Indianapolis, March 13. He is survived by his widow, 5110 Pleasant Run Pkwy., Indianapolis, Ind. 46219.

ARTHUR A. SANDUSKY '36, Washington, DC, March 24. An attorney for several government agencies, he was also a legislative rep for the National Coal Policy Conf., and Senate committee staff member. He had previously served as judge in the Sheridan, Wyo. municipal and juvenile courts. Surviving is his widow, 2720 Ordway St., Washington, DC.

JAMES L. QUINN JR. '39, La Habra, Calif., April 17. A sales engineer for RCA, he served as football manager while at ND. Surviving are his widow, 1042 Randall St., La Habra 90631, and three daughters.

NELSON J. VOGEL '39, South Bend, April 8. He was head of his own CPA firm, Nelson Vogel & Co., which he founded in 1955. Surviving are his widow, 18190 Inwood Rd., South Bend 46614, and four sons.

JOSEPH A. PAPPALARDO MS '47, PhD '49, Mettering, Ohio, March 29. He was a professor of chemistry at the U. of Dayton, chairman of the Dayton chapter of the American Chemical Society and author in the field of organic chemistry. Surviving are his widow, 1325 Berwin Ave.,

Mettering, a son and a daughter.

RAYMOND G. SPOERL '49, Niles, Mich., March 19. President of the southwestern Michigan board of realtors, he had been active in community work that included the United Fund and Chamber of Commerce of Greater Niles. Surviving are his widow, 1767 Platt St., Niles, Mich. 49120, two sons and two daughters.

DAVID HAROLD COWDIN '50, Dallas, Jan. 3, 1966.

RONALD J. RUNDSTEDT '52, Convent Station, N.J., Oct. 3, 1966. He is survived by his widow, 10 Brothers Place, Convent Station, N.J.

Lt. JOSEPH D. ADRIAN '64, River Edge, N.J., March 12. He was killed in action while flying an Air Force mission over Vietnam. Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Adrian '39, 267 Manning Ave., River Edge, two brothers including Terrence '68 and a sister.

FACULTY AND STAFF DEATHS

Rev. JOHN J. REDDINGTON CSC '23, '30 of Moreau Seminary died April 19. He had spent his entire career at Notre Dame serving as supervisor of maintenance from the time of his ordination in 1934 until 1946; and for the last 20 years he was purchasing agent and director of the campus laundry.

Rev. WILLIAM J. LYONS CSC '17 died April 30 at Holy Cross House on the campus. The holder of a master's in history from Catholic University, he taught for 21 years at Notre Dame, University of Portland, St. Edward's University and at Holy Cross Seminary. He also served as a school chaplain for five years prior to his retirement in 1964.

50-Year Club

I was glad to receive the news about JIM HAYES LLB'17 and his brothers. I recall very well working with Jim Hayes when he was on loan to the social security program in the early days. Undoubtedly, Jim made some valuable contributions to the claims division of the new social insurance program.

While in California this past winter, I had an interesting experience—stopped to talk with a man staying in the apartment building who stepped out of a car with a Wisconsin license and a Notre Dame sticker. He was Elmer Betz from Brookfield, Wis. who has a son who is a junior at Notre Dame. While he himself graduated from Marquette U. in '49 and then attended Northwestern, he said "the sticker is from my son, currently a junior at that fine school."

Had a note from our old friend ALVIN "HEINE" BERGER who is spending the winter in Florida with headquarters at Eustis, Fla. He was lucky to get away from the especially severe weather in Michigan. A note from HENRY J. FRAWLEY SR. '14 from Spearfish, S.D. reports that he and his son HENRY J. JR., also an ND graduate, are keeping busy on their 5,000-acre ranch. Hank said they were glad to have escaped the severe kind of weather so prevalent in the Midwest and other sections of the country.

It was indeed a pleasure to hear from GROVER MILLER '16, who has been engaged in the general insurance and bond business for the past 50 years with offices at 220 Ninth St., Goodman Bldg., Racine, Wis. For about 40 of those years he was associated with his brother BERNIE '17, who died in 1956, in the firm known as Miller Bros. Agency Inc. Grover said that he was spending 10 weeks in Florida starting Feb. 1. Any of his friends who are in the vicinity of Fort Pierce will be able to find him each year at 1502 Seaway Dr. in that city. But, he says you will have to go to Boulder Lake, Boulder Junction, Wis. if you want to find him during the hot summer months. I hope to see him in Racine before he goes north to his summer home. The Millers have a daughter and a son. Their son-in-law is associated with Grover in the insurance business. Grover said the Class of '16 had a wonderful Reunion last June: "Now I'm going back every June." That's a good resolution, Grover. May I point up the moral in Grover's resolution is that it's a wonderful experience for all who take advantage of the big weekend Reunion time at Notre Dame.

WALTER L. CLEMENTS '14
502 W. Navarre,
South Bend, Ind. 46616

ALBERT A. KUHLE '15
117 Sunset Ave., LaGrange,
Ill. 60525

1917

EDWARD J. McOSKER
525 N. Melrose Ave., Elgin,
Ill. 60121

ROCKNE THE MAN

PAUL CASTNER '23 is gathering material for a book detailing the personal highlights of Knute Rockne. Paul will be on the campus during the June Reunions and asks any of you who are returning and have stories of this personal side of the Rockne career to bring the material or to contact him in person at that time.

1918

ANOTHER CHANCE for you to remember a classmate on his birthday. List is getting smaller—so, everyone remember to send greetings. PETER J. RONCHETTI, 1242 Cambridge Dr., Corpus Christi, Tex. does a real job remembering. "YOUNG DUTCH" ARTHUR J. BERGMAN '17, 3910 Rosemary St., Chevy Chase, Md. is also great in acknowledging receipt of greetings.

June 13, EDWARD J. REYNOLDS, 497 Highland Ave., Malden, Mass. 02148; June 16, LAMBERT Q. SENG, 6508 N. Glenwood Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60626; June 29, ALBERT S. O'SULLIVAN, 513 Warren Ave., Belvidere, Ill. 61008; July 3, JOHN U. RILEY '17, Hidden Acres, Fogg Point, Freeport, Me. 04032; July 9, CHARLES C. CONNOLLY '19, 2347 Applegate Ave., Klamath Falls, Ore. 97601 and Rev. CHARLES JOHN WILLIAMS, 311 E. Grove Ave., St. Malachy Rectory, Rantoul, Ill. 61866; July 14, THOMAS L. MOORE, Box 2417, Tulsa, Okla.; July 28, GEORGE L. CAVANESS '19, 428 E. 14th St., Tulsa, Okla. 74120; and July 29, JAMES G. WALLACE, 1132 Bellevue Ave., Syracuse, N.Y. 13204.

Received a most interesting letter from BRAULIO ANTONIO MUNECAS '16, 776 Georgetown St., Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico 00927. He and family fled Cuba when the Communists took over. You '16ers from Corby and Sorin Halls who remember Munecas, if you write him, will learn what went on in Cuba. The ALUMNUS roster lost him and he is listed as mail unreturned. Sure pleased to hear from Braulio.

With the kind of cold weather we have enjoyed here this winter it is nice to know that you have friends "with bucks" that can duck it all and hit for the Florida sunshine. PAUL J. FOGARTY '17, 5555 Sheridan Rd., Chicago, one of our seniors, writes: "again expect to have a lot of laughs with CHARLIE BACHMAN '17, PREP WELLS '15 and JOE FLYNN '17. Hope that Alice and ALVIN BERGER '15, wintering in Eustis, join the party." Maybe one of the guys will write and I'll have a report for next issue.

Miss having any report from trackman E. M. STARRETT, 419 Quincy St., Port Townsend, Wash. We had a lot of fun with the card the All-America Water Boy sent JOHN A. LEMMER, 901 Lake Shore Dr., Escanaba, Mich. 49829. John and Mrs. L. are spending the winter in Miami playing golf. Lemmer sent me STARRETT's card and it was passed along to JOSEPH T. RILEY, 715 Hackley Bldg., Muskegon, Mich. 49440. Riley writes that he received greetings from John and RONCHETTI.

CARLETON D. BEH '17, 5323 Waterbury Rd., Des Moines, Iowa "high-tailed" it to his winter home in Phoenix with Mrs. B. and will meet his neighbor B. J. VOLL '17 and is looking forward to a lot of fun. You can't beat the life of the idle rich. If you should go to Robinson, Ill. (don't know why you would) but on the Square you see the Bradbury Bldg. The second floor is occupied by the office of WILLIAM E. BRADBURY '16. Bill will show you letter from Coach Ara Parseghian and when you leave after looking around, you leave knowing exactly where Bill got his degree.

"YOUNG DUTCH" ARTHUR BERGMAN '17 acknowledged birthday card with a nice note. SENG, as well as MUNECAS, received same. Seng liked the Dutch Wind Mill stationery. Pleased to hear from "BUTCH" RAY C. WHIPPLE, 373 Western Ave., Joliet, Ill. Also heard from JOHN L. REUSS, 909 Orlando Dr., Ft. Wayne, Ind. Come this summer I promise to stop in and have coffee with John. Have not seen him since 35th anniversary.

Expected to hear from that guy M. G. KAZUS, 101 Knox Ave., Buffalo, N.Y. 14216. Trust that Max is well and that he sent birthday greetings to Rev. FRANCIS MONIGHAN, Gregory, S.D. and that Kazus dropped a card to JAMES G. WALLACE, 1132 Bellevue Ave., Syracuse, N.Y. Counted on him also to remember YOUNG DUTCH BERGMAN '17 and BILL BRADBURY '16 with a card.

Heard from Ret. USNR Comdr. CHARLES W. CALL, 1047 Biltmore Dr., Winter Haven, Fla. about his grandson Christopher Call Bonwit, 155 Cavanaugh Hall, ND. Bonwit is looking for scholarship aid and Grandpa is heading the drive. Anyone knowing whom CALL should contact drop Charlie a note. Bet if one should suggest Rome, Call would pump off a letter. Call wrote the man, "who set up the ND-MSU rivalry with no contract but a handshake." THOMAS H. KING, 446 Kedzie Dr., East Lansing, Mich.

Maybe Rev. C. J. WILLIAMS will remember in his prayers: NORBERT G. MONNING, Carrabelle, Fla. who passed away Jan. 7 and FRANK B. MARSHALL, Santa Monica, Calif. who passed away Feb. 9. Father Williams has accepted the chairmanship for our Golden Jubilee Reunion in June, 1968.

GEORGE E. HARBERT, 1800 3rd Ave., Rock Island, Ill. 61201, will be honored by Marshall Law School. The citation is for "distinguished service as a lawyer and a citizen." Any of you ole timers top this?

Had lunch with LAMBERT Q. SENG, and JOHN J. VOELKERS, 1006 S. Wesley Ave., Oak Park, Ill. Seng wrote: "You must have noticed, as I did, that we started right in as though our last meeting was only a short while ago, whereas, in reality it was almost 50 years ago. A half century, think of that." That's true. When you return to the campus time just melts away and you'll think that you have been gone but a weekend. That is, so long as you do not look around and see the many campus changes as to buildings—and girls walking around. March 16 had red carpet treatment on campus—lunch at the Inn with JAMES E. ARMSTRONG '25, editor and JOHN P. THURIN '59, mg. ed. ALUMNUS. Told 'em I wrote to Father WILLIAMS asking his advice about obtaining Ordination date of our Class clergy. Mr. Jim suggested we wait—perhaps we could list their marriage date! Nevertheless Fr. Williams replied: "I won't list a marriage date, however my Ordination date is June 10, 1922." I believe everyone enjoys a birthday or anniversary remembrance.

Don't credit this Ole Timer about these card ideas. Got a sister "aunts" on sending out cards—and she suggested it all.

The early replies coming in from the wedding anniversary cards lead this ole bachelor to believe that some of you were most lucky, "hit the jackpot" and married an angel. The only other thought that comes to mind is that you buns will get lumps on your head if you miss sending the dates in. We admit ND men are NUMBER ONE HUSBANDS and it is a lucky guy who lands one.

Wedding anniversary dates: June 1, PETER J. RONCHETTI, 1242 Cambridge Dr., Corpus Christi, Tex. and Dr. EDWARD J. REYNOLDS, 497 Highland Ave., Malden, Mass.; June 5, GEORGE F. FRANTZ '17, Fennimore, Wis.; June 7, DANIEL E. HILGARTNER JR. '17, P.O. Box 75, Harbert, Mich. and JAS. P. LOGAN, 2951 S. Fillmore Way, Denver, Colo. 80210; June 20, ALLAN W. FRITZSCHE, 575 Washington Ave., Elyria, Ind.; June 25, GEORGE E. HARBERT, 3521 15th St., Rock Island, Ill. 61201, and July 1, THOMAS H. KING, 446 Kedzie Dr., East Lansing, Mich.

GEORGE WAAGE
3305 Wrightwood Ave., Chicago,
Ill. 60647

1919

THEODORE C. RADEMAKER
Peru Foundry Co., Peru, Ind. 46900

1920

JAMES H. RYAN
170 Maybrook Rd., Rochester,
N.Y. 14618

1921

The news is good this time with the exception of the untimely death of JOCK MOONEY. A long letter arrived from Judge NORM BERRY of the Superior Court of Cook County (Ill.) in which he tells of his and Elizabeth's planned trip to the Holy Land at the end of a Mediterranean cruise. They have four grandchildren divided between Norm Berry Jr.'s family and that of daughter Margaret Mary O'Neill. Norm's oldest granddaughter is a sophomore at St. Mary's.

From GEORGE WITTERIED comes a long missive telling of a dinner party with Mr. and Mrs. BILL ALLEN in which they apparently discussed their boys and their grandchildren. They both have sons teaching at the U. of Missouri. George also has a son who graduated from West Point in 1954 and now is a major in the Air Force assigned to the AF Academy. Bill's boys, besides the one at the U. of Missouri, are in the bond business in NYC and with DuPont in Washington. George also reports on LARRY MORGAN who is fine and taking life easy—pretty much as when he was at ND.

JOE BRANDY gives me a pretty good pitch on JAKE KLINE for the Sorin Award, as do others. He is presently leading RAY SCHUBMEHL by a couple of letters. A letter from MARK ZIMMER arrived in which he says he would like to hear from CARL PFEIFFER and BOB KREMP. CARL SCHUBERT, after 35 years teaching engineering at the U. of Illinois, now spends his winters in Hialeah, Fla. and his summers in the mountains near Hiawasse, Ga. He lives near a mountain lake, Lake Chatuga, and lies about the fish.

LEO KELLEY tells of spending a Saturday evening with DUKE KENNEY and others out of Notre Dame. Complains, as usual, that he doesn't hear often enough from Joe Brandy who seems to have little success fighting the snow mail around Ogdensburg. HAROLD FOLEY writes with his recommendations for the Sorin Award and his choice for Board members. His writing is the same as when I graded his papers in Father Quinlan's class in economics. One of my greatest claims to fame is that I graded the papers of one who later was to become chairman of the board of Powell River Paper Co.

The recommendations are still coming in for nominations to the Alumni Board and the Sorin Award. CHET GRANT sent his in. The mail has been good and appreciated. Let's have more of it.

From AL ABRAMS comes this word: "Since Notre Dame will be playing Georgia Tech in football this year, I would like to extend an invitation for cocktails and dinner to any 'survivor' of the Class of '21 who will be attending the game' for the night prior to the game." A note from MORRIS "CLIPPER" SMITH of 31879 Circle Drive, S. Laguna, Calif.: he would like to hear from LITTLE JOE from the "Big O." He is still in the public relations business. So, Brandy had better write.

Had a nice long letter from Lucille, widow of HENRY ZICKGRAF who died in May, 1966. She has a daughter who is in the order of St. Joseph of Orange, an order of teaching nuns. Also received a letter from GEORGE E. MEREDITH. He is now a country lawyer and was retired from the insurance company where he served for 43 years. He left as VP, general attorney and a director. He has a talented, artistic wife who can also cook. They have two married daughters and their son Edward is married and also a lawyer. George also has two standard French poodles.

A letter from B.R. CARNEY tells me that he works on a consulting basis for the natural gas producing industry largely as an expert witness before the Federal Power Commission. His family continues to flourish with the addition of a beautiful baby girl born to his son RICHARD '58 and wife. They now have three babies and with Bernard's daughter's three, there are six grandchildren all of whom they enjoy very much. A letter from ED SCHOLAND carries promises to be at the next Class Reunion.

It's always pleasant to hear from those whose last correspondence was so long in the past that the newness of it is refreshing. Such a letter came from ALDEN JOHN CUSICK of 11 E. Lake St., North Lake, Ill. I'm sure he would like to hear from some of you guys.

DAN W. DUFFY
1030 Natl. City E. 6th Bldg.,
Cleveland, Ohio 44114

1922

Dear Classmate:

This has to be our very last call in this column to attend our 45th Anniversary Reunion on campus June 9, 10 and 11. Please start putting your affairs in order right now; start making necessary plans and arrangements to insure that you will be among those present when our gala Class Reunion gets under way. Let no one entertain the thought that he might wait and attend our Golden Anniversary celebration five years hence. It could be that many of us will not be around to answer roll call in '72. The wise men of '22 will let nothing short of an emergency prevent them from attending our 45th Anniversary Reunion. Just where would you find a finer group than the men of '22—so why not be with the finest? And for one weekend, at least, we can forget about international and national problems and complications, and relive our golden campus years.

A word of warning—a stiff fine may be imposed upon any '22 man appearing with a beetle hairdo. HUNK ANDERSON, HARRY MEHRE, PAUL PFOHL and Dr. MATT WEIS may be called upon to police that problem, if one arises. Whatever you do, don't miss the 45th! Come and bring other classmates along with you.

Visitors to Florida during the winter season were the HUNK ANDERSONS, CHUCK CROWLEYS and the RALPH CORYNS.

Anne, daughter of our beloved AARON HUGUENARD and wife Ruby, is now in Washington, DC getting her doctorate in languages at Georgetown U. Daughter Jane has one little girl. Aaron Jr. has eight children. Loretta, daughter of our beloved HAROLD McKEE of happy memory and wife Ellen, is now a full-fledged Daughter of Charity. Presently, she is teaching high school in St. Louis. Son Earl has four fine children.

RANGY MILES, FRED DRESSEL, PAT MANION, SARGE OWENS, PAUL SCHWERTLEY and HAROLD WEBER are busy these days making the rough ways smooth for our campus visit in June. Dr. DAN SEXTON, AL CARROLL and TOM McCABE have written to announce that they are planning to be on hand in June.

G. A. "KID" ASHE
175 Landing Rd. N., Rochester,
N.Y. 14625

1923

LOUIS V. BRUGGNER
1667 Riverside Dr., Apt. A,
South Bend, Ind. 46616

1924

Received a long letter from Jim Hayes: "I have indicated above, month, date and year (Feb. 27, 1967) because I cannot be certain when this note will be finished. I confess to one outstanding frailty (among many others—well, perhaps three) and that is, procrastination. I'm the guy who sends "get well" cards that arrive after the funeral and only sends maternity or "baby cards" on Labor Day. After all, from 1924 to 1967 is a span of some 43 years. In prospect, somewhat disturbing, in retrospect not too bad and not filled with regrets.

"Leaving ND to Woostock, N.Y., secretary to J.P. McEvoy, writer and playwright. First experience with a great boss. First experience with taking play dictation to the typewriter—no shorthand I laboriously learned in high school; first experience with a high powered card (85 per) and a guy who just wanted to arrive; first experience with Ziegfeld Follies, Broadway, Algonquin Hotel, W.C. Fields, Jack Donahue and so many others—the Astaires (you see them if lucky on late shows). After a bit—ast. to president of advertising agency; and a little bit to running a publishing company—published two of KNUTE ROCKNE's books with CHARLIE GRIMES! A little bit to publicity manager of the Fifth Avenue Assn. in NYC—and then as ast. manager of Equitable Life Assurance Society in New York—and finally to group insurance dept. of Marsh and McLennan Inc.—the biggest, the best—and ast. VP and then VP of the corporation. My boss in these years until he retired was RALPH J. LATHROP, one of ND's most famous of the Jesse Harper teams. So that's 43 years in brief—for the sordid business part.

"I wooed and married in 1931 Helen Walker of Lowell, Mass. We have three daughters, Anne and Mary graduates of Trinity Col., Washington, and Helen graduate of Immaculata, Washington. Also JAMES HAYES JR., AB and ME from ND and LLB from Harvard U.

"So Jim, that's pretty much the story. I had an accident in 1958 that smashed my left leg badly and I spent about 18 months between hospital, hospital bed at home, casts (5) and wheelchair—and for this reason I took an early retirement at 62 cutting down my traveling. At 65 when I really reached retirement age my company decided that it would be impossible, without me, for them to continue on a few difficult union-management cases (I forgot to say that employee benefits, covering most of the important corporations in the US was my job). I also built a department of 18 fellows and seven girls to run it when I was in Florida, Arizona, Maine, etc.—so they asked me to stay on until 70 which I am doing. I won't take a case unless I represent both sides of the negotiating table.

"The three girls are married—Mary Hayes Lynch in Laurel, Md. with four children; Helen Hayes Fletcher in Malverne, Pa. with three; and Anne Hayes Cleary with one son in Norwalk, Conn. James Hayes Jr. has still to produce—but . . . well, Harvard!

"I defy any '24 friend to match this report even though the editor cuts everything except that I was of that Class of '24. Regards to all of them and Father JOHN CAVANAUGH! GEORGE NORMAN! JIM ARMSTRONG! SHUSTER and countless others, and you!"

JAMES R. MEEHAN
301 S. Lafayette Blvd., South Bend,
Ind. 46601

1925

By the time you read this you will have received my letter covering our "Jim Armstrong IN-BETWEEN-ER REUNION" June 9, 10 and 11. Jim is retiring as Alumni Secretary in August. This one has just got to be our BEST! We have an interesting program and there still will be time for some "bull sessions" and a stroll around the lakes. I did just that this morning and ended up at the Grotto and lit a candle for the success of our Reunion in all its phases. With all the changes going on it's both pleasant and comforting to know that your Alma Mater hasn't changed basically. It's good to come back and do a little soul-searching.

Of all things, your secretary is getting some news. A dandy letter from JOHN TRAYNOR:

"I was delighted to read about the plans for a Reunion in June. I hope and believe I will be able to make it. Perhaps the letterhead will confuse you. I retired from Mutual Life in Oct. '65. I started my own consultant firm and two days later my first client was Mutual. I have charge of a large complex the company is building in Syracuse, N.Y. This was a project started under my regime, as VP for mortgage investment. This along with other assignments keeps me pretty busy, but also very contented. We have a small place down on Siesta Key in Sarasota and I get down there about every five weeks or so. GIL SCHAEFFER has a beautiful home on Bird Key so I get to see him occasionally. So far I haven't been able to get my old roommate into a gin game. I guess since JOHN MORAN showed us both how to play the game at our 40th Reunion, Gil has become gun shy. John's new address: MONY, Broadway at 55th St., New York 10019."

DICK FUITE: "For some time I have wanted to write you about the good job you are doing. I am now retired, but I am still on the board of a little company, Pacific Coast, in Bedford, Ohio. I get back there several times a year. Send me a list of the '25ers living in the Cleveland area. I see BOB HURLEY once in a while in Azusa, Calif." Dick, you will have the list by the time you read this. Remember me to Bob and see that the two of you get back in June. BILL HURLEY will be on deck, so the three Hurleys can have a Reunion of our own—we sat next to each other for four years and that's how I made magna cum laude with those two brains. Dick is at 2 Fawn Ridge, Fairfax, Calif. 44932.

TONY GONZALEZ writes from the far-off Philippines: "I hope you fellows have a grand Reunion in June. There is nothing I would like better than to see some of the members of the Class after these many years. If ELMER LAYDEN should attend, please give him my warm regards. I hope he is well." All the best to you, Tony. Elmer is fine. I saw him in June at our Chicago Reunion committee meeting. Tony, I hope to see you on your beautiful island some day soon. Tony is chairman of the board of the Insular Life Assurance Co. Ltd., Insular Life Bldg., 6781 Ayala Ave., Makati, Rizal, Philippines.

HAROLD HALL: "I always feel guilty when I read your very splendid column and realize that I have never written and mentioned it to you. I am a firm believer in always giving one his flowers, while he can sniff them and you certainly deserve a few orchids. I hope to drop in on that Reunion in June. Just a brief note about myself. I took off from ND with an LLB and never practiced law until recently when I had to defend a couple of my salesmen in Stamford, Conn. I'm glad to say that I won the case so I'm quitting—batting .1000 percent. I've confined my activities to the publishing business in White Plains, N.Y. We recently moved to Stamford, Conn. so I am semi-retired. I'll see you in June." Harold F. Hall, President, Catholic Literary Guild Inc., 225 Central Ave., White Plains, N.Y. Thanks, Harold, for the orchids. This Class could make anyone look good.

PAUL ROMWEBER: "I am still doubtful if I will be able to make the Reunion. There is a family affair that might interfere. I have not closed the door on this yet, so I will keep you informed. I will see you at the North Carolina furniture market." Will do, Paul, and I hope to see you in June.

REMEMBER our Class Dinner Friday evening with our own Bishop JOHN KING MUSSIO. Our Saturday brunch with Dr. GEORGE SHUSTER followed up in the afternoon with Gina and PAT MANION and all the trimmings of the JAMES E. ARMSTRONG Reunion weekend. You just can't afford to miss this one and we will all be sorry if you do. I will be seeing you all.

JOHN P. HURLEY
2085 Brookdale Rd., Toledo,
Ohio 43606

1926

This issue I have no news either good or bad. How about hearing from some of those classmates that we have not had any word from in a long time? Starting down the list I will name the first dozen: FRANK BON, JOE BROUSSARD, ED BYRNE, PAT and DICK COLLINS, FRANK CONROY, BOB CUMMINS, JOE DAWES, BOB DORAN, PAUL FLEMING, JIM GLYNN and JIM GRAHAM. I hope a number of these by seeing their names in print will come through with some news for the next issue.

J. N. GELSON
Gelson & Lowell, Inc., 200 E. 42nd
St., New York, N.Y. 10017

1927

The response to the questionnaire sent out in January has been excellent. According to present indications, at least 100 will attend our 40-Year Reunion; that will be very good, indeed. Most of the classmates responding have added a personal note showing that the interest in this event is great. The preceding issue of the ALUMNUS listed all those from whom replies were received prior to Feb. 3. Following are the names of those who have replied since that date:

The following have advised me that they will attend: CHARLES N. BERETZ, EDWIN A. BERKERY, EDWARD T. BRODERICK, JAMES S. BROWN, HUGH L. CAMPBELL, JR., MAURICE "PAT" COHEN, DANIEL F. CUNNINGHAM, JR., WILLIAM J. DEGEN, ALBERT L. DOYLE, WILLIAM S. FINUCANE, JOSEPH A. GARTLAND, JR., JOHN M. GLASKA, CHARLES ROBERT GOSLIN, JOHN E. GRUNING, JOHN J. HALPIN, M. ALBERT HENRY, DAVID P. HICKEY, ROBERT IRMIGER, W. D. KAVANAUGH, ELMER F. MARCHINO, FRANK X. MASTERSON, MICHAEL P. McDERMOTT, WALDEN W. McDADE, VINCENT A. McNALLY, JAMES McNEILE, ARTHUR J. MONACO, JOSEPH A. NULTY, JOHN J. NYIKOS, CHARLES O'NEILL, JAMES T. QUINN, CLARENCE J. RUDDY, DONALD J. SEHL, JOHN J. SLOCUM, HORACE G. SPILLER SR., LUTHER M. SWYGERT, JAMES L. VALLEY, TASS D. WATERSON and ERNEST J. WILHELM.

The following have advised that they may attend: SEBASTIAN F. BERNER, JOHN G. BURNS, WILLIAM E. CARTER, FRANKLIN L. CONWAY, WILLIAM E. COOGAN, ALFRED A. DUFFY, VICTOR H. FALL, EDWARD H. FENLON, JAMES F. FOLEY, JR., L. WILLIAM FURY, FRANK J. HAGENBARTH, WILLIAM D. HALLORAN, STANLEY J. LECHOWICK, CLAYTON G. LeROUX, JOSEPH M. MCCARTHY, JAMES P. McFARLANE, WALTER P. McKENNA, WILLIAM A. O'KEEFE, ROBERT A. ROY, JOHN W. SLATTERY, GERARD J. SMITH and RUSSELL E. VOYER.

The following have advised that they will not attend: VINCENT F. BALL, JOHN A. BYRNE, VINCENT P. HENGESBACH, W. E. JASPER, JAMES A. JONES, FRANK L. KANE, JAMES J. O'CONNOR, JR., FRED A. REED, GERALD E. RHODES, WALTER W. SMITH and EUGENE JOHN "Scrap-Iron" YOUNG.

I have received enough material from those replying to fill several columns, but space simply does not permit setting down all of them here. Some of the suggestions are particularly noteworthy. For instance, FRANKLIN CONWAY who will try to join us believes we should have a few well-guarded copies of the Dome to peruse. BILL CARTER draws a picture of a mug that appears to have foam on top which he puts down for the answers to the Class Dinner program. EDWARD FENLON says that he is counting on HERB JONES to set up a golf tournament. JOHN ROACH agreeably says that he will accept whatever is set up. Several request that priests who were active during our days be especially invited. HORACE SPILLER recommends a debate at the dinner between the liberals and conservatives; but since this is intended to be a friendly occasion; perhaps, we had better pass that one up.

DAN CUNNINGHAM was in Chicago for a few days in March. Advantage was taken of his availability and he met with MIKE SWYGERT, DICK HALPIN, JOE DELLA MARIA and your secretary to go over various suggestions for the weekend. Most of the area chairmen are on the job. We hope that the classmates on the "Maybe" list can be persuaded to change over to "Yes." For that matter, perhaps some of those who at present say they cannot attend will change their minds. By the time this issue is published all will have received another letter. If you haven't already responded, please do so as soon as possible.

One interesting feature demonstrated by the returns is the continuing interest of our classmates in the University. One outstanding Notre Dame family, for instance, is that of VIN BALL. He points out that his father ALPHA J. BALL was a member of the Class of '96. His brother RAYMOND was '29 and GERALD was '31. Furthermore, Vin has a son EDWARD who is a member of the Class of '52. That isn't all. Vin expresses the hope that his three grandsons will have the same privilege. The fact that some of our relatives naturally are girls doesn't seem to deter our classmates. JIM BROWN points out that his brother-in-law was graduated from Notre Dame in '41 and his son-in-law in '60. That is real control.

Generally speaking, the returns indicate that the years have treated us well and we have reached the sixties with grace and dignity. The future is viewed with varying attitudes; some point out that they have retired and that their only plans for the future are to stay retired. Others say that they intend to keep on working. Some say they intend to travel. A few, more realistic perhaps than the rest of us, simply are in doubt.

I believe this is the last one to appear before our Reunion. I hope to greet you all at that time.

CLARENCE J. RUDDY
32 S. River St., Aurora, Ill. 60504

1928

Dr. GUY LORANGER died Jan. 5 in Grosse Pointe, Mich. after a long illness. Despite his ill health, Guy had been carrying on medical research relating to the aftereffects of war-incurred wounds and injuries upon US servicemen and was publicly honored for his marked contributions in this field. Dr. CARL PETERSCH reports that when he saw Guy last spring after he had been through a physically rough time, his courage and spirit had not been dimmed one bit. Guy had six children. He served as major in active duty from 1940 to 1946 in the New Guinea and Philippine campaigns. VIC ZIMMERMAN, a Notre Dame roommate of Guy, advised me from Scarsdale, N.Y. that his wife had been seriously injured in an automobile accident.

BERNIE ZIPPERER died on Jan. 16 in Niles, Ohio after a long illness. He had practiced law in Warren, Ohio for a number of years and recently had worked in Mobile, Ala. at the Brookley AFB. Bernie is survived by his wife. Our Treasurer JOE LANGTON arranged for Masses for Guy and Bernie. He also had a Mass said for all the living and one for all the deceased members of the Class.

BOB HAMILTON sent the following: "The proposed 'Reunion in Bermuda' scheduled for March was called off because some of our classmates were of the opinion that not enough notice had been given to enable them to make a firm commitment. There are three other suggestions now in the mill and we would like the opinions of interested classmates as to their wishes in this matter. (1) Have the reunion (at the same rates) in the fall of this year. (2) Have the reunion in Bermuda early in March, 1968. (3) Have a reunion in Miami the week of Nov. 19. The ND-Miami game is to be played there on Nov. 24 and the team will stay at the beautiful and restful Key Biscayne Hotel which is on the ocean front at Key Biscayne, Miami. The only problem with this suggestion is that it encompasses Thanksgiving Day and might detract from the proposed reunion at ND for the Michigan State game which is scheduled for Oct. 28.

"However, if you are interested in this Miami proposal, be sure to get tickets for the Miami game and make reservations at the Key Biscayne. This game is expected to be a beaut according to Miamians. We would very much like to have your comments and suggestions as to your interest in any of the above proposals. They will help guide us in doing a better job of future planning."

Please write BOB HAMILTON at 153 Searingtown Rd., Manhasset, L.I., N.Y. 11030 letting him know your interest.

Kay and JIM ALLAN had a delightful return home to Chicago get-together for the BUCKLEYS in February. HOWIE PHALIN and Pete took time from their busy schedule to be present. ED MCKEOWN and Blanche came in from Glen Ellyn and BILL MURPHY and his sister Helen from Edwardsburg, Mich. for the affair. RAY MULLIGAN, who looks as young as ever, was on deck. JIM ALLAN's son Jim a Harvard Law School graduate, who is now with Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago, also joined us. We attended the Chicago Notre Dame Club Communion Breakfast with the BILL DWYERS and the JIM ALLANS. I met BILL KEARNEY and BERT KORZEN. Bill tells me that DICK PHELAN is making progress toward recovery from a long illness.

Dr. CARL PETTERSCH, dean of graduate studies at Danbury State Col., sent me a clipping from the Hartford Courant carrying a picture of JOHN F. ROBINSON and announcing his appointment to the Connecticut Board of State Colleges by Governor Dempsey. John, who is founder and headmaster of the Robinson School in West Hartford, Conn., has served as chairman of the advisory board of Albertus Magnus Col. for 17 years. He is past chairman of the West Hartford Board of Education, past president of the West Hartford Chamber of Commerce and is now president of the Capital Region Mental Health Assn. John was a member of the Connecticut White House Conference on Education Commission and was a delegate to the White House Conference in Washington. Dr. Pettersch commented that he feels sure that John will make a strong and fair-minded addition to the Connecticut Board.

JOHN FONTANA advised me of the death of ED SARGUS, a brother of GEORGE SARGUS, in Bellaire, Ohio. Ed, an ND grad, was an outstanding state senator for a number of years in Ohio and had been recently appointed Belmont County probate and juvenile judge. John Fontana also mentioned that Judge Kinneary recently appointed JOHN IGOE receiver for Techno Inc.

A picture of ED BRENNAN, director of Cook County's department of central services, appeared on the first page of the Chicago Tribune recently in connection with an announcement concerning tax bills. My Miami correspondent F. JIM O'BRIEN sent me clippings from the Miami Herald carrying pictures of Sheriff GEORGE LEPPIG. While I was in Lansing speaking at Michigan State U., I called DON RAU and found that he was vacationing in Hawaii at the time. Don is still with the Michigan department of revenue in Lansing.

I was pleased to receive a card from Helen and WILLARD WAGNER from Phoenix, Ariz. where they were spending some time this winter. I hope they saw our mutual roommate JOE BRANNON there. It was also great to have a long letter from BOB CAPESTUS who lives at 2138 Warner Ave. in Chicago. Bob writes as well as ever despite his poor eyesight. Bob hears from GEORGE SCHEUER. Bob has five children and danced with a woman 97 years old at his daughter's wedding. Another welcome letter came from BILL BROWN who is still with Allis Chalmers in Milwaukee. Bill is very interested in the subject of Catholic schools.

We talked to ART GLEASON when he and Freda were in Chicago to visit with their daughter, who is our goddaughter, and his children. Art practices law in Stow, Ohio. They have 10 grandchildren. They mentioned how much they enjoyed the '28 Class cocktail party last year at Notre Dame. While in Washington to receive an award for notable career service from Secretary of Labor Wirtz, I had dinner with Judge BILL JONES and Alice. Their daughter, Barbara is now with the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, DC. I accidentally saw an excellent article by LEO WALSH on the Michigan labor-management relations law, past and present, in the Fall 1966 issue of the Journal of Urban Law. Leo certainly knows his subject as he has been a member of the Michigan Labor Mediation Board for about 11 years. He does considerable labor arbitration work.

Don't forget to order tickets for the Michigan State game on Oct. 28 so you will be there to join us at the 12th annual Class of '28 cocktail party after the game. These parties are becoming more popular with classmates each year.

From our Class President BERN GARBER: "Our thanks to the many who have donated to the Class Mass Fund. Checks for the fund may be sent to JOSEPH LANGTON, treas., 406 W. Madison, Ottawa, Ill.

Congrats / ALUMNI IN THE NEWS

Fred A. Joyce '23 was recently honored by Conrad N. Hilton for his 25 years of service as publicity director of the Hilton Hotel Corporation. Founder of Fred A. Joyce & Son, an advertising and public relations agency, he began handling the Hilton publicity long before the hotel chain was incorporated. Mr. Joyce is now retired but continues to serve the Hilton Corp. as consultant.

Joseph A. Abbott '30 has been appointed director of public relations for the defense space group of International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation at Nutley, N.J. In his new position he will be responsible for the development, implementation, monitoring and coordination of public-relations programs. Since 1955 he had served as director of public relations for ITT's Federal Laboratories.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Anthony M. Gomes '38 will celebrate his 25th anniversary of ordination to the priesthood June 4. He is pastor of Our Lady of the Angels in Fall River, Mass.

James C. Walsh '39 has been named to a newly created position as vice-president for administration and control at the May Department Stores Company of St. Louis. Formerly vice-president and treasurer, he will now be responsible for general management administrative functions and all accounting, credit and control matters. Mr. Walsh, who held similar posts with the Hecht Company, has been with the May Stores since their merger with Hecht in 1959.

Gene W. Duckworth '41 has been promoted to division vice-president and general manager of the Lancaster, Pa., RCA industrial tubes division. He has been with RCA since 1947 and has various positions within the company. Prior to his new appointment he was manager of the microwave and power devices operations department.

Clarence A. Imboden Jr. '42 has been named chief of the chronic respiratory disease control program for the National Center for Chronic Disease Control. Formerly deputy chief of the US Public Health Service's heart disease control program, he has been nationally recognized for his work in the areas of cardio-pulmonary resuscitation techniques and specialized coronary care.

Gone are the days of the "shoot first, ask questions later" lawman. Today's crime fighters are contributing citizens as well as effective law enforcement officers, highly trained by men like Louis Radelet '39, MA '46 to meet the demands of contemporary citizen-police interaction.

With his headquarters at Michigan State University's Center for Police and Community Relations, Lou equips police agencies throughout the country—and the world—with the latest information on the best means of protecting citizens while maintaining good relations with the community they serve.

Under his direction the Center offers law enforcement agencies services in research, publications, training and educational projects. In addition to its training programs in criminal justice, the Center provides direct consultation service to police authorities. Lou, editor of the National Newsletter to Police and Community Relations since 1956, directs the Center's publication of educational literature and bulletins.

Community relations work and

Louis Radelet '39

teaching have been the major forces in Lou's professional life, but he was not able to merge the two interests until his appointment as professor of law enforcement education at MSU. It was while at Notre Dame, however, that he began his teaching career as a graduate assistant in the department of sociology. Returning to the University in 1946 after military service, Lou earned his master's degree, his "ABDPhD"—all but dissertation doctorate—and began his 16-year association with the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

While an instructor at the University, Lou accepted a post with the national organization as regional director and executive director of the South Bend-Mishawaka Round Table of the NCCJ. In 1951, he left the world of academe temporarily to become divisional director in the NCCJ's Detroit office. The following year he advanced to the national headquarters in New York.

His association with police education started 13 years ago when, as national director of the Commission on Community Organizations for the NCCJ, he negotiated with MSU's School of Police Administration and Public Safety to initiate a program for the study of police-community relations. Today the Institute on Police and Community Relations which he founded has been incorporated as an integral part of the new Center's educational program.

"These classmates attended the Center for Continuing Education's first seminar, 'The Population Problem,' an all-day program at the Waldorf and had lunch together: ED BOURKE, Dr. DAN BRADLEY and Win. GEORGE CRONGEYER, VIC FISCHER and BERN GARBER. Dan added many enlightening facts and comments. All recommended the seminar when it occurs in other cities.

"TOM BOV, my wife and I and a friend had an enjoyable dinner together one Sunday in February. Tom, anticipating our 40th Reunion, has offered to pay the tab for one of the mailings. He says his brother RAY is living in Haddonfield, N.J. and is doing well despite his emphysema. Tom would like to see GREG HOLBROOK and CLEM PATER at our 40th Reunion. Greg is a lawyer, has two married daughters and a son at St. Xavier's in Cincinnati. Clem is also a lawyer and lives in Hamilton, Ohio, home town of the Boys. Tom was planning a 31-day tour of the Middle East this summer. He approved of allowing wives to attend the Reunion although he is a bachelor.

"GEORGE CRONGEYER is finishing his first term on the ND Club of New York board of governors. Talking by phone in early March, LARRY CULLINEY said he hopes to return to FDIC duties by May 1. Larry had a serious attack of lobar pneumonia and was hospitalized Dec. 20-Feb. 8."

CHRISTIE FLANAGAN wrote that he had been to Fort Collins, Colo. to visit his daughter and son-in-law LIONEL BALDWIN, a Notre Dame graduate who is the Dean of the Col. of Engineering for Colorado State U. Returning home Christie had dinner with ELMER WYNNE in Denver. Elmer is moving to San Francisco with a larger field in the same capacity with Safeway Stores. Christie continues with the Christie Flanagan Co. in Port Arthur, Tex. which covers ship and forwarding agents, customhouse brokers and stevedores.

LOUIS F. BUCKLEY

6415 N. Sheridan Rd., Apt. 1007
Chicago, Illinois 60626

1929

We are justly proud of our classmate RAYMOND M. HILLIARD, deceased, former director of the Cook County Dept. of Public Aid, and his outstanding work with the underprivileged. In tribute to him and to carry on the work close to his heart, a memorial fund has been established. A quote of explanation follows: "To give substance to this objective, a Memorial Fund has been established to the memory of Raymond Hilliard, the income and principal of the Fund to be used to assist underprivileged high school graduates who have received service from the Department of Public Aid and are scholarship recipients. Some of these forgotten children are unable to take advantage of scholarships because of the lack of funds for essential necessities, such as transportation, lodging and clothing."

The popular choice of date for our '29 after game get-together in 1967 is Oct. 28 when Michigan State comes to ND. Perhaps the score ND 10-MSU 10 had something to do with the selection of a date later in October. Our attendance in 1966 was the best in recent years. We anticipate a greater number of participants in '67. Make your ticket and lodging reservations now.

Soon enough after St. Patrick's day I had the pleasure of a luncheon visit with JOE LENIHAN who continues as a vice-president of Fromm and Sichel Inc., 375 Park Ave., New York. The base of operations of the firm is now San Francisco. Joe is one of a few who continue in New York; our Class president finds himself in the enviable position of having some time to do the things that he fully enjoys. Their older daughter is married and lives only a short distance from Mom and Dad and younger sister. In mid-March on the annual Junior Parent weekend, BOB VOGELWEDE and his daughter Marianne, a graduate of St. Mary's, were campus visitors of junior mechanical engineer Tom Vogelweide. Tom has accepted summer employment with Detroit Edison Co. which has the reputation of having an excellent training program.

BERNARD E. LOSHBROUGH, 225 Tech Rd.,

Thornburg Manor, Pittsburgh, continues to be honored for his work in architecture and for his civic services. He continues as executive director of ACTION-Housing Inc., a private non-profit civic organization working through a comprehensive program to assure that the people of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County are well-housed. Bernard has spent four years in India as representative of the Ford Foundation and the State Department. Since receiving his degree in architecture at ND he has done graduate work in socio-economics at American U., Washington, DC. He is a lecturer on urban renewal and redevelopment at the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs, U. of Pittsburgh. The Greater Pittsburgh Board of Realtors has elected Bernard an honorary member. He is a member of the Pittsburgh Board of Public Education's Citizens Advisory Committee and a member of the Board of Review, New Haven (Conn.) Community Renewal Program. He is on the board of directors of the National Housing Conference, Inc. and the National Assn. for Community Development, Washington, DC. Bernard plans to attend the 40th Reunion in June of '69.

DON P. ALEXANDER, 14 E. Espanola St., P.O. Box 1270, Colorado Springs, Colo., welcomes a letter from his classmates. KENNETH I. HECK, formerly with Associates Investment Co., South Bend, is now VP, Economy Finance Corp., commercial loan div. He resides at 532 Wellington Rd., Indianapolis. His family numbers three children and six grandchildren. WILLIAM "ILLE" BYRNE, 414 Dorsey Ave., Aptos, Calif., writes that he has retired from the San Francisco school dept. after 32 years of service as physical education teacher and coach of all sports. He is past president of the Native Sons of the Golden West and past president of the Northern California Alumni Assn. as well as president of Men's Physical Education Society. His two sons are married and each has two children. "ILLE" has been under medical supervision for emphysema; we trust that he continues to improve in health. He has had some correspondence with LOUIS HANEY, who was a welcome visitor to the campus for the '66 after game get-together.

EDMUND C. GARRITY, whose business address is 5850 S. Ashland Ave., Chicago, is president of Garrity Co., wholesaler of plumbing, heating, air-conditioning products. Your secretary may be wrong, but he thinks that he has seen the Garrity trucks at the Argonne National Laboratory. Ed's home address is now 10312 S. Komensky St., Oak Lawn, Ill. We have an address change for Rev. JOSEPH F. VOORDE CSC, who is now at Moreau House, 28 Zindabahr Lane, Dacca, E. Pakistan. JIM CURRY's address since last fall has been 34-2 Candlewood Lake Rd., New Milford, Conn. KARL JOHNSON's mailing address is 111 Monument Circle, Room 707, Indianapolis.

Holy Week Services at ND were again a highlight of the spring season (few of you have had the privilege of attending). You would have missed seeing Father Doremus, who is still on the campus, but would have seen Father LEO R. WARD, Father PETER HERBERT and of course our Father LOUIS THORNTON and Father JOSEPH GARVIN. Services were held in the Stepan Center on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

You may recall the unfortunate auto accident of Sept. 20, 1965 in which Father JOHN W. SCHEBERLE CSC was seriously injured. There is some recent gaining of strength but Father Scheberle is still paralyzed and cannot talk or help himself. He is at Holy Cross House, Room 213, Notre Dame, Ind. 46556. His brother ART SCHEBERLE '28 lives at 19150 Grandview Ave., Apt. 6, Detroit, Mich. Art has been most helpful, partly in soliciting prayers especially novenas to Our Lady of Lourdes.

We have some additional new addresses including JOE SMETANKA, 33 N. Dearborn, Chicago; FRANK A. SMOLA, P.O. Box 3783 Merchandise Mart, Chicago; EDWARD L. BARRETT, 3215 Park Terr., Albany, Ore.; GERALD L. BILL, 976 Tarento Dr., San Diego, Calif.; Dr. ARTHUR W. FLEMING, 6705 Oglesby, Apt. 1907, Chicago; and WILLIAM T. DOYLE, 503 Pitney Place, Convent Station, N.J.

If any of you '29ers out East attended a concert of the ND Band in late March or early April you saw my son Larry Stauder II '66 playing tympani. The tour covering 3,500 miles in two weeks included concerts in New Jersey, New York, Maine, Montreal, Canada and Ohio.

LARRY STAUDER
Engineering Bldg.,
Notre Dame, Ind. 46556

1930

DEVERE PLUNKETT
O'Shaughnessy Hall,
Notre Dame, Ind. 46556

1931

JAMES T. DOYLE
1567 Ridge Ave., Apt. 308,
Evanston, Ill. 60201

1932

A letter from Mrs. Catherine Crowe whose husband NORB CROWE died recently says in part, "Perhaps this sad news has already been reported to you but just in case it has not—Norb suffered a heart attack about one am, New Year's morning and had the fatal attack on January 13 at 8 pm. He was one who loved life and was looking forward to meeting all his pals and buddies at Notre Dame in June. He thoroughly enjoyed those Reunions and always made his plans well in advance. I'm so glad he was able to make the Monogram Dinner at ND last June. Please remember him in your prayers and think of him at the Reunion in June." Besides his wife Catherine, NORB is survived by two daughters, one son, one sister and six brothers.

I recently had a visit with ART GLASOW in Lorain, Ohio where he is head of the Ohio employment office for the area. Art has not been back for a Reunion but plans to be there this year. He has three in college now. Tim and Mary at Ohio State, and Pat is at Marquette U. Son Chris is still in high school.

You have all received letters from IKE TERRY, our president, and others about the Reunion and you shall be receiving others. Much work is being done by Ike, CLIFF PRODEHL, Father JOHN WILSON and NAPPY NAPOLITANO and all in the hope of having a record turnout for the 35th Reunion. RAY GEIGER is sending his almanac to each as a reminder.

All this talk of the Reunion even shook loose a letter from BILL POWER as follows, "Your 1932 column in a recent issue of the ALUMNUS refers to a letter received from the Hon. Walter E. 'Ike' Terry, distinguished member of the Wisconsin State Senate and president of the Class of '32 which is at the threshold of its 35th anniversary in June. If the dining halls plan to serve colored oleo during our Reunion, Ike should be warned in advance so he can bring along his own butter. Our president is a staunch supporter of the Wisconsin dairy farmer in the marble halls of the state capitol and offering oleo to Ike is akin to offering the chairmanship of the Chase National Bank to Andrei Gromyko.

"Well, Jim, how about the rest of us? I am executive VP of the Wisconsin Development Credit Corp. in Milwaukee, live in the suburb of Whitefish Bay, married to the same girl for 27 years and father of four children. One daughter is a nun—a member of the Dominican order whose motherhouse is in Sinsinawa, Wis. A member of Serra Club of Milwaukee, I am presently district governor of Serra dist. 14 (Archdiocese of Milwaukee and Diocese of Green Bay.) John Litcher is VP of the American Appraisal Co. of Milwaukee, lives a few blocks from me and also belongs to Serra. Naturally we are making plans to attend the Reunion. We often see TED HALPIN and I am sure he will be present at the Reunion. Recently I saw IVO UMHOEFER in Marshfield, Wis. where he heads a large manufacturing company and is a director of a local bank. He hopes to make the Reunion. VERNE HUBER is a CLU and is general agent in Oshkosh for the Northwestern Mutual Life Ins. Co. He, too, hopes to make the Reunion.

"Now for some recollections of 35 years ago which could be entitled 'I Remember When.' There were no corporation recruiters on campus in 1932—the only demonstrators on any college campus were those loaned by the auto sales agency, cigarettes were two packs for a quarter, the street car, aside from walking, was the principal means of transportation to and from South Bend, chewing tobacco was available in the cafeteria. If you attended the early matinee at the Palace you were only charged 35 cents for a full vaudeville bill plus a feature movie backed by an orchestra in the pit, prohibition was here to stay 'because it was in the Constitution,' ND football was beginning to decline following ROCK's death a year previous, President Hoover was in deep trouble, a big weekend was a visit to Chicago and dancing to Coon-Sanders orchestra at the Blackhawk, two large oceans separated us from any possible involvement in Europe or Asia, the ND-Army game would go on forever and always in Yankee Stadium, the uniform of the day was a pullover sweater, corduroy trousers that hung loosely and field shoes. If you shopped around you could find a speakeasy putting out pitchers of beer for 40 cents, the commanding general of the US Army wore cavalry boots and spurs, out-of-town games on the Gridgraph in the gym were as exciting as watching the game today on TV, by the Grace of God and favor of the Apostolic See a few students might be permitted to own and drive automobiles while still in school.

"The above is just a sample of hundreds of 'I Remember When' and I am sure when the gentlemen of '32 reassemble on campus in June they can make their personal contributions to the list."

Thanks, Bill, for a wonderful letter.

Among recent changes of addresses are JOHN

RUSH to 1007 Dudley Ave., Utica, N.Y. and JOHN VOSS to 4313 Roseland, Houston, Tex. See you at the Reunion!

JAMES K. COLLINS
2982 Torrington Rd.,
Shaker Heights, Ohio 44122

1933

We learned with deep regret of the recent death of Dr. LOUIS M. FOLTZ, CHARLES J. MEDLAND and EDMUND A. SARGUS. Dr. Foltz died in Louisville on Jan. 14. Charles Medland died in January in Pittsburgh and Ed Sargus died in Bellaire, Ohio on Mar. 4. To the families of all, we extend our sympathy and prayers.

"In Paradisum Deducat Te Angeli."
EDWARD W. DAILEY of Burlington, Iowa recently completed his term as president of the Iowa State Bar Assn. Ed has a busy practice and an active home life centered around his 11 children, nine of whom are still at home. He hears frequently from Father JIM DONNELLY and inquired about JIM ROSS. Jim is a tax counsel to General Dynamics Corp. and resides in suburban Freeport, N.Y. We see Jim frequently at Alumni affairs in New York.

PHIL FAHERTY and his wife Rita journeyed up from Lambertville, N.J. on Feb. 25 to attend the ND Seminar conducted by the Center for Continuing Education at the Waldorf. The Class of '33 was well-represented at the seminar with SAM HYDE and his wife, GEORGE ROHRS and Father CHARLES SHEEDY, who was one of the moderators of the program, all in attendance. Phil practices law in Lambertville and is very active on CHARLEY CONLEY's Alumni committee that conducts interviews of applicants for admission to ND from the greater Philadelphia area. Sam Hyde is with American Can Co. in New York. All have reported that the seminar was excellent.

We have been recently advised by the Alumni Office that Father CLEVE W. CAREY is now stationed in Los Angeles and his new address is 4072 Beverly Rd., Los Angeles 90004 and that WILLIAM L. GOLDEN's new address is 80 Maplecliff, Avon Lake, Ohio 44012. JOSEPH McCIBBE still resides in Evanston and is with the public relations and advertising department of Kempner Ins. Co., Chicago.

PHILIP MEISTERHEIN is in the paper business in Chicago. JEROME MESERVEY is superintendent of the special risk dept. of Great American Ins. Co. in Chicago. DANIEL MOORE JR. is with Wilcox Manufacturing Co., a Chicago firm engaged in the manufacture of gaskets for power plants and oil refineries. MARTIN MORAN is an attorney in charge of the casualty dept. of the well-known meat packing firm of Wilson & Co. in Chicago. THADEUS MORAWSKI resides in Lockport, Ill. and is a trial attorney with offices in Chicago.

EMMET MURPHY is an asst. superintendent and principal of school district 87 in Bellwood area of Chicago and resides in Oak Park, Ill. PATRICK MURPHY is staff engineer with American Oil Co., Whiting, Ind. JOHN POYN-TON resides in Glenview, Ill. and is an engineer associated with Michael McDermott & Co. in Chicago. CHARLEY CONLEY, who is chairman for our 35th Reunion, reminds us the Reunion is but a short year away. He would welcome your views on plans and arrangements. HAROLD POHLMEYER who lives in Mexico, Mo., wrote recently to tell us that his son Michael is now a freshman at ND. Harold is controller for Kaiser Refractories in the central US.

JOHN A. HOYT, JR.
Gillespie & O'Connor,
342 Madison Ave.,
New York, N.Y. 10017

1934

EDWARD F. MANSFIELD
523 W. Hillsdale,
San Mateo, Cal. 94403

1935

I was hoping that, as a result of my "maiden" column in the March-April issue, I would easily be able to fill this column with communications from the Class. I was particularly hopeful that they would be forthcoming from the fifteen '35ers mentioned in the column who have been notable by their absence in the ALUMNUS and at Reunions for some years. However, "due to circumstances beyond the control of the Alumni Office" the March-April issue has just been mailed at this writing. However, fellows, don't let that deter you from confirming in writing that you are still around, and providing us with information about yourselves. If you still have the March-April issue you can make it easy by using the information card insert on page 30. If not, I will willingly accept the back of an old envelope.

The nucleus of your South Bend Reunion committee attended a meeting called by PAUL FERGUS a few weeks ago to cover many subjects on your behalf. You should be hearing shortly from Paul regarding the Georgia Tech game in Atlanta on Nov. 18, and the Miami night game on Nov. 24. He will fill you in on the plans being made. You will also hear from Paul about that nasty subject of inflating the exchequer with a "kitty" for our 35th Reunion. As the monsignor of our parish says every other Sunday, "this is a subject we don't like to discuss," but it is necessary for survival.

Due to the reasons stated above, understandably I have no direct messages from any of the '35ers for this issue. However, via the Alumni Office we learned that EMIL GERVASIO was recently the subject of a profile in his diocesan paper The Beacon. Emil, who is now a special investigator for the Morris County (N.J.) prosecutor, was cited for outstanding work in a large number of lay organizations. Among others, he is a member of executive committees of the diocesan Serra Club and the diocesan Council of Catholic Men, president of the St. Margaret's Nocturnal Adoration Society, co-chairman of the lay retreat movement for the diocese, president of the diocesan Holy Name Federation and executive member of the state coordinating committee of Holy Name Societies.

In the last issue we mentioned ANTHONY KUHARICH's promotion to chief probation officer for the Northern Indiana Dist. The ink was hardly dry before Anthony appeared again in the local paper, stating that he has been appointed commissioner of the Dept. of Correction by Gov. Branigin. In other words, after a few short weeks he took his new boss's job. Tony admits to seeing "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" about five times! Obviously he learned a lesson from Robert Morse. The word is out that Gov. Branigin just had the windows in his office painted black!

The last ALUMNUS reported the death of ANTHONY MULVANEY and, on behalf of the Class, we wish to extend our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Mulvaney. Following our practice of many years, Paul Fergus wrote a personal letter to Mrs. Mulvaney, and a Mass was said for him at ND.

To keep the ball rolling in an attempt to dig out missing '35ers, we also would like to hear from the following: PHILIP P. ARNHEITER, JOSEPH F. BECEK, JOSEPH A. BUCCI, VICTOR S. CARTON, LEWIS C. CREGO, EMILIO F. DELIA, THOMAS J. FOLEY JR., JOHN D. HEYWOOD, RICHARD J. SHAMLA, LEONARD W. SIEKEMEYER and FREDERICK W. WEIDNER. Even though we mentioned specific names in the last two issues from whom we are soliciting correspondence we are not discriminating against some 450 other '35ers from whom we would like to hear. If only two percent would write each month we could crowd the Classes of '34 and '36 out of the ALUMNUS in the same way that we outdo them in our Reunions!

WILLIAM F. RYAN

1620 E. Washington Ave.,
South Bend, Ind. 40017

1936

LARRY PALKOVIC
301 Mechanic St.,
Orange, N.J. 07050

LOYOLA OF THE SOUTH'S NEW VICE-PRESIDENT.

Since Vatican II, talk about the increasing role of laymen has become commonplace. But the actual appointment of a lay administrator at a Catholic university is still news. Dr. John F. Christman '44 made headlines in March when he was named a vice-president at Loyola University of New Orleans.

The new VP for academic affairs is the first layman to hold the post and only the second lay vice-president in Loyola history. (Donald Ross '53, who serves as VP for public relations and development at Loyola, was the first.) Dr. Christman views his new post as a dual challenge to his roles as layman and educator. "There are too few really good Catholic universities and it is the responsibility of the lay community and the religious community to see this changed. Certainly involving lay members in the administrative affairs of the university is one step in the right direction."

Dr. Christman is well qualified as an educator to meet the challenge of molding a great Catholic university. Earning his bachelor's degree in chemistry from Notre Dame in 1944, he went on to take two master's degrees—in chemistry from Indiana University and in bacteriology from the University of Tennessee. He received his PhD in microbiology from the latter institution in 1950.

An adoptive Southerner, Dr. Christman began his academic career as assistant professor of biochemistry at Louisiana State University and was named to a full professorship there in 1966. The recipient of a visiting research fellowship at the Oak Ridge National Laboratories, he spent a year at the biology division engaged in enzyme utilization research.

John Christman '44

Taking sabbatical leave from LSU in 1964, he accepted a post as associate program director for student and cooperative programs

1937

We are right down to the wire now for the 30th REUNION on June 9, 10 and 11. The bombarding of messages to you we hope has paid off to the point where you have finalized your plans to be with the gang of '37!!!!

After Father JOYCE CSC leading off the parade of writers, we went directly to the advertising and press corps of '37 and hit you with PAUL FOLEY, chairman of the board of McCann-Erickson, NYC (flannel belt area) and then JACK GILLESPIE, press relations with Mobil, NYC. (The gas company with the colors in its name and not in the tank.) We tried to have ZEKE CACKLEY (formerly with ALUMNUS, Foundation) but he was too taken up with the new school he is plugging for in Center Valley, Pa., Allentown

Col. of St. Francis de Sales. This is a new school opened in 1963, four years liberal arts. In case some of you lads are looking for a "new school" here's one.

Letter from Father BOB LOCHNER CSC, St. Ed's HS Cleveland; after giving me the needle on Christmas cards, etc. he advises that JUNE 9-10-11 is in the book for a trip to ND. Father JOE ENGLISH, Maryknoll, has checked into the States and will have enough leave time in civilization to be with us also. Many of you get Father Joe's Southern Cross. Next we should hear from Father BILL KUNTZ of Iowa and we will have the Clergy in line.

JOE SANCULIUS, transferee from Chicago to Bay City, Mich., will be on hand and looking for CLYDE BOWERS, JOE SCHILLING, BEN SCHERER and TONY O'BOYLE. Reports have JOE O'NEIL JR. as co-owner of the new California professional soccer club, known as the "Clippers." This is part of the new 10-team League.

BERNIE NIEZER is drumming up some activity reports that JOE SHIELY, president of J. L. Shiely Co., St. Paul, will be there, but regrets news that BILL LYNCH can't make it because of a wedding in the family, Bill Jr. MATT MacINERNEY should shake him loose from this obligation. Send a proxy, Bill. I mentioned Niezer's grey locks instead of the blonde of '37, now he admits to a son Stephen at St. John's in Collegeville, Minn. Getting Benedictine education. AL SCHWARTZ and BILL KIRK are also handling the drum in the SW.

I always regret this part of the column. Please remember in your prayers HANK POJMAN and with the National Science Foundation. As program manager he directed colleges and universities in introducing new courses and science instruction at the elementary and secondary school levels.

FOR ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

Last September he joined the faculty of Loyola as a professor of biochemistry and was also named director of academic grants and contracts. His duties in this position were to provide a central bureau of information on available sources of support for faculty research in all disciplines. Seven months later he was named an executive administrator.

Speaking of his new post as lay vice-president, Dr. Christman notes: "I believe I can offer a set of different attitudes to those held by the members of the administration who belong to the religious community. This does not mean that our goals are different. Far from it. But the ideas and concepts that I can bring to the discussion table result from a far different academically and socially developed being."

Dr. Christman views the so-called secularization of Catholic universities as a move away from progress. It is his belief that the Church must build a strong higher educational system with institutions that are both good universities and Catholic by nature. With laymen like John Christman involved in the administration, such a goal seems one step closer.

JOHNNY GENEGAL who have passed away since our last news item.

The local committee, JERRY CLAEYS, KARL KING, HARRY KOEHLER and Father JOYCE have been meeting regularly and will have things in tip-top shape for your arrival. I'm not doing justice to the local committee as I know there are others taking their share of the job. TOM CARNEY, our honorary Alumni pres., will be there. The fund has started for the Reunion and a big kickoff came from ED GARVEY, Westchester, Ill. included in a Christmas card and same $$ has been forwarded to the local committee. Many thanks, ED. The treasury is now in the black to begin with. It's these surprises in the Alumni mail that keep one working in this division.

SO—SO—SO—the days are approaching. "NO" isn't the answer. See you—JUNE 9, 10 and 11 at the "U".

JOSEPH P. QUINN
P.O. Box 275, Lake Lenape,
Andover, N.J. 07821

1938

BURNIE BAUER
1139 Western Ave.,
South Bend, Ind. 46625

1939

From Great Falls, Mont., where the tax collector now reaches EDWARD M. TOBIN, comes the following news item: "For the past year and a half I have been engineering manager for the Boeing Co. My proudest hour occurred when our oldest daughter took her first vows in the Holy Name Order. She is now at Fort Wright Col. in Spokane." From the Alumni Office it was learned that EDWARD M. SADOWSKI will serve as the new product manager of potentiometer operations of Globe-Union's Centralab Electronics Div. Ed has been with the firm since 1961 and last year was named to head integrated management information and control systems. We extend proper Class congratulations to both of these men.

LOUIS F. BUCKLEY, secretary of the Class of '28, was most kind in calling our attention to the fortunes of LOUIS A. RADELET. Lou is professor and Center director of the National Center in Police and Community Relations at the School of Police Administration and Public Safety at Michigan State U. Lou and his lovely wife are the proud parents of seven children. (He should be a good contact for Michigan State-Notre Dame tickets should genial BOB CAHILL fail you.)

To JOSEPH L. ADRIAN and his wife, sincere sympathy in their loss of their son Lt. JOSEPH D. '64 who was killed in action in Vietnam on March 12. Please remember him in your Masses and prayers.

Though our mailbag is light, the following address changes will be of interest: EDWIN O'CONNOR ("The Last Hurrah," etc.), 10 Marlborough St., Boston, Mass. 02116; CHARLES F. O'MALLEY, 3426 Vail Ave. S.E., Albuquerque, N.M. 87106; JOHN A. STUPP (STUPKIEWICZ), 334 Longacre Rd., Rochester, N.Y. 14621; CHESTER P. SADOWSKI, 1188 Arizona Ave., Fort Lauderdale 33312; ROBERT R. LAMB, 1903 Karen Dr., Fort Lauderdale 33304; WILLIAM P. CASTLEMAN JR., 705 Midland Tower Bldg., Midland, Tex. 79701; JOSEPH F. DRAY, 447 Country Club Dr. N.E., Warren, Ohio 44484; EDWARD C. STROH JR., 4901 Third Ave., Altoona, Pa. 16602; THOMAS J. MALLOY, 45 N. Findlay St., York, Pa. 17402; EDWARD M. STUBBLEFIELD, 2500 Paris Angel Dr., LaCrosse, Wis. 54601; Dr. RALPH F. WACHTER, 310 College Prkwy., Frederick, Md. 21701; STANLEY R. SHEERAN, 11 Joanna Way, Summit N.J. 07901; WILLIAM P. CALLAHAN JR., P.O. Box 2180, Wichita, Kan. 67201; LOUIS G. CACCHIOLI, MD, 202 W. Howell St., Hartwell, Ga. 30643; ALEC R. SHELLOGG, 493 Hillgreen Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

JOSEPH E. HANNAN
1804 Greenwood Dr.,
South Bend, Ind. 46614

1940

At this point many of you might want a new Class secretary. I received a very interesting letter protesting the ALUMNUS article which described the first inter-collegiate hockey activity at Notre Dame. In our days we did have a hockey team which was more than intramural—they played other institutions of higher education. Your secretary, who receives very few letters, is unable to locate this particular one and thus begs your indulgence for the poor job. If some of the hockey team members will forward comments we shall pursue the subject during the summer.

JUAN E. CINTRON and his wife recently celebrated their silver wedding anniversary with Mass and a renewal of their vows in the Crypt of the Sacred Heart Church on campus. He is currently president of the Bendix Subsidiary in Mexico City. BENEDICT F. MARNOCH, management consultant in Meridian, Miss., was chosen to attend Emory U.'s advance management program. The six-week session was taught by faculty members from Emory, Harvard, the U. of Santa Clara and Columbia. JIM DONOGHUE informed me that JOHN HUSSEY had a very serious operation, but is making good progress and is now at home, 929 Sheridan Rd., Wilmette, Ill. Our Class President JOHN HENEBRY is now president of North American Aluminum Corp. in Kalamazoo, Mich.

DICK AMES reported that he finally managed a visit to the campus and also had a pleasant get-together with MIKE CORGAN. In one of the recent issues it was reported that DICK BURKE was hospitalized. He is back at work and feeling better. FRED STUBBINS moved from Hawaii to Hacienda, Calif. and then to 4776 Garfield Ave., La Mesa, Calif. JOHN "TED" BRUSH remains in Milwaukee, Wis., but now at 3718 N. 92nd St. JOE THESING remains on the West Coast, now in Fullerton, Calif. CARL QUINN has moved from Elmhurst, Ill. to Checkerberry Lane, Hopkinton, N.H. Lt. Col. CHARLES KELLY has been transferred to Hq. AFSC Box 404 Andrews AFB, Md. BILL KELLEHER left Ohio and is now in Royal Oak, Mich. at 1614 N. Connecticut Ave.

It was my understanding that our four Class vice-presidents would ferret out area news for this column. Will BOB LAMBERT, JIM METZLER, WALT FLEMING and DICK LYNCH see what they can do to reactivate some Class interest. Remember, men, in three short years it will be Reunion time.

ROBERT G. SANFORD
233 W. Central Ave.
Lombard, Ill. 60148

1941

JAMES F. SPELLMAN
Spellman & Madden,
342 Madison Ave., New York,
N.Y. 10017

1942

The Reunion Committee has been busily working on plans to get maximum participation in our Reunion next month. If you haven't been contacted—the Kick-Off time is Friday, Noon, June 9 with registration, golf, Class Dinner and Class elections. Saturday, June 10—Mass, Class picture, luncheon with President Hesburgh and more golf. The Annual Alumni Banquet is Saturday evening.

CHARLIE BUTTERWORTH is retired from the Air Force and working with the European Exchange System at Torrejon AFB, Spain. He and Helen Jo have six children and live in Madrid. Their eldest boy is a frosh at St. Edward's U. in Austin, Tex. Their address is Box 1323, APO, New York 09283.

We regret to advise the passing of BILL HOYNE of Dayton, Ohio on March 4 and DAN M. RYAN of East St. Louis, Ill. on Jan. 21.

WILLIAM M. HICKEY
P.O. Box 8640A, Chicago,
Ill. 60680

1943

JACK WIGGINS
5125 Briggs Ave.,
LaCrescenta, Cal. 91014

1944

This probably will be the shortest 1944 Class news report since the inception of this Class into the ALUMNUS almost 23 years ago. The reason for this brevity is obvious—NO MAIL. In the past two months, only two individuals have taken time to contact the Class secretary. To those two thoughtful souls a most appreciative thank you! To the remaining hundreds, a pleading, pulsating request, please write!!! You '44ers are the Class. You '44ers are the news. The success or failure of the 1944 Class news desperately depends on YOU.

Death once again has come to a member of our Class. Almost a year has passed since DON BIRREN died as a result of an automobile accident in the Ludington, Mich. area in mid-July, 1966. The sad news was received recently from his wife Delphine who, together with six children, survives him. Don started at ND with the '44 Class but, due to the War, was graduated in '47. He was art editor of the Scholastic, did post-grad work with Mr. Kormendi and received his master's in sculpture from Syracuse U. where he studied with Ivan Mestrovic, who later was in residence at ND. To Mrs. Birren and her children, who live in Morton Grove, Ill., heartfelt sympathy and humble prayers of all remaining '44ers. Sympathy also is extended to GEORGE EUSTERMAN upon the death of his father.

JOSEPH NASH and JOSEPH DILLON both were named as directors of South Bend's American Bank and Trust Co. at the bank's annual shareholders meeting. Joe Dillon also is a director of the Upson Co. of New York and is vice-president and secretary of Tri-City Rentals, Inc., South Bend. Joe Nash is a member of the National Assn. of Cosmetology Schools and of the Ethical Beauty Schools Assn. A surprising development occurred. CLEM CONSTANTINE, the deep-rooted resident of New Hampshire, Manchester to be exact, moved to Texas. His new address is 3529 Wren Ave., Fort Worth, Tex. Wonders never cease!

A welcome letter was received from the Dubuque, Iowa flash—OZZIE DOLAN. The Dolan clan, Ozzie and Margie and their nine children plus a friend or two of the younger generation, had a tremendous camping vacation in the 1966 summer at Cass Lake, Minn. All but the youngest two children are in school. These latter two, Barbara and Amy, are their mother's best helpers or did he say most trying testers? Recently Ozzie attended a tri-state area, in and around Dubuque, ND gathering. He claimed lack of space prevented his mentioning all the '44ers he saw on that outing.

Why don't all you '44ers who just now completed reading this highly interesting and enlightening column immediately write your Class secretary and point-blank tell him what an excellent job he did. Don't forget to sign your name. Otherwise, in future columns, there would be even less names than in this one. That could be quite tragic. YOU are the news. Let your Class secretary in on the gossip. Without your cooperation there is little need to continue this column. Without doubt, the Class of '44 is the most unnewsworthy Class ever to matriculate at ND. Can YOU prove otherwise?

JOSEPH A. NEUFELD
P.O. Box 853,
Green Bay, Wis. 54305

1945

Congratulations to Dr. BILL KELLOW on his being named dean and VP of Jefferson Medical Col., Philadelphia.

Bill has been dean at Hahnemann Medical School. One of our "big spenders" reports in from Davenport, Iowa inquiring how we spend our Class dues—BIG BILL McNEIL. It is kind of tough paying for a new "Caddy" each year—Bill is still single and an architect. His buddy BOB O'TOOLE reports in from the Windy City that JOHNNY VAUGHN passed through Chicago last summer. Bob says Vaughn is still a big eater—what else could you expect after working the "Padre Tables" in the dining hall? The only one that fared better was JIM RETTER in the Presbytery.

JOHN LYONS is practicing law in So. Norwalk, Conn. John got his LLB from Yale, married with three daughters and is a director of First Federal Savings & Loan Assoc. of Norwalk. Ruth and JOHN MEYER have a daughter Nancy a sophomore at Mt. St. Joseph's in Cincinnati; a son Leo a freshman at Xavier, also in Cincinnati; and another son and daughter still at home in Indianapolis. John is secretary of the Inter-State Foundry Co., Inc.

JIM O'CONNOR is VP and general manager of Magnet Wire Div. of Essex Wire, Ft. Wayne. Jim and Audrey have four children. FRANK PENDARUIS is district operations superintendent for Humble Oil at Rosenberg, Tex. Two boys make up Frank and Edna's family. RUDY and all the ANDERSONS reported in from a new address in Jersey—14 Ridge Rd., Gladstone. Rudy sees DAN O'CONNELL, BILL WADDINGTON, and BILL CLEMENCY on a regular basis and all are talking up the 25th in '70.

Our 25th chairman, Harry Walters, is looking for ideas. . . .

Really enjoyed the long message from Dr. FRANK MARTIN's better half, Barbara, filling us in on '66 in their household. It was a real big year—Kathy graduating from high school, National Honor Society, a Regents Scholarship and off to Georgetown U. Daniel—their 11th arriving in September; Terry fracturing seven vertebrae in a fall from a tree; their house partially burning down; and much, much more. Wish all the wives would pass along info to their old Alums.

FRANK M. LINEHAN
G.E. Co., 600 Main St.,
Johnson City, N.Y. 13790

1946

PETER P. RICHISKI
60 Robin Place, Old Greenwich, Conn. 06870

1947

THIS IS IT!

It's less than a month now 'til Reunion time, so it's my last chance to urge your attendance. If you're planning to be here, it will be a pleasure to see you again and visit with you; if you're on the fence, let this gust blow you over on the "for sure" side; and if you definitely can't make it, you'll be missed and in our thoughts.

REQUIESCANT IN PACE

It's always a sad duty to report deaths of our classmates, and this time it's doubly sad for two men have left this life for—we pray—the eternal joy of the next.

ED CROWE died March 2 in Oak Park, Ill., and we only recently learned of the July 14, 1966 death of DON BIRREN in Morton Grove, Ill. In your names we have enrolled both in the Association of the Providential Proposal at Notre Dame, where they will be remembered until the end of time, and expressed solace to their widows.

Just at prestime I received an acknowledgment from Pat Crowe and the children, and Delphine Birren was kind enough to send the following letter: "Thank you for the very kind letter and enrollment in Don's name. As you wrote, it is hard to stir up memories, but I know there are old friends of Don's that will be interested in the details of his most untimely death. We were at the Birren summer home in Ludington, Mich. for our annual vacation with our six children at the time. Don had gone on a golf outing for the day with MORG CARTIER. They were coming home in separate cars with Morg not far behind. It was dark and about a mile from the cottage a deer evidently froze in the headlights and, to avoid it, Don had to swerve which caused him to hit a culvert marker.

"He was thrown from the car—cause of death was a skull fracture—and lived to receive the Last Rites at the hospital. I feel grateful for that and also that Morg was on the scene within a few minutes, which meant that Don didn't suffer long. The whole bit is ironic in that Don wasn't a golfer and that in the 20 years that we'd been married and spending our vacations there he never went out without me or the children.

"We miss him terribly and hope that time will help. Fortunately the kids keep me busy and are a great consolation. The oldest boy Peter 19 went into the Air Force in August and is now in Biloxi in electronics school. Dave, 17 is a senior at Notre Dame High in Niles, Ill. Julie 14 is a freshman and then follows Andrea, 12 and Susie,

Congrats / ALUMNI IN THE NEWS

Charles Owens Jr. '48 has been named president of the Ames Co. of Elkhart, Ind., a division of Miles Laboratories, Inc. He has been with the company since 1951 when he joined as professional-service representative. As president of Ames he will be responsible for worldwide operations of the manufacture of chemical, electronic and nuclear-measuring devices.

Joseph M. Mengden '49 has been elected a senior vice-president of the First of Michigan Corporation in Detroit. He was also named a voting stockholder and member of the operating committee of the stock and bonds underwriting company. Formerly vice-president of the National Bank of Detroit, he also served as manager of the corporate and municipal bond department and bank investment division.

10 who are in grade school. Then there's Don Jr. who is four and my shadow now. He's great company for me. David will enter Loyola U. this fall and hopes to pull his grades up so that he can try for Notre Dame as a sophomore. Don's love for ND rubbed off on him and we hope that he'll make it. . . ."

Together with our other deceased mates, Don and Ed will be especially memorialized at our Reunion Class Mass on June 10. I hate to have to keep bringing this up, but the Class Mass fund is low and I simply remind you all that none of us are immortal. If you want to put it in the realm of self-interest, the buck or more you can spare now insures your own spiritual support when Gabriel tootles taps for you.

LETTERS

Recent mail drops have deposited notes from MIKE YARBENET and LOU TWARDZIK; the former is a CPA and part-time teacher at Gannon Col. in Erie, Pa., the latter an associate professor of park and recreation administration at Michigan State, East Lansing. "Expect to get up to the Reunion," Mike writes. "Have two children—Doug is 18 and Carol, 14. Manage to play a good deal of tennis and golf—broke 80 this past summer. It's been 10 years since seeing the campus; appears that it's changed some since then. . . ."

Lou reports: "Your column in the Jan.-Feb. issue of the ALUMNUS gave me a start as I went back to look at it on my desk. It was folded to page 29 and showed my boss, Dr. John Hannah, president of Michigan State, in a picture directly above your column with his finger raised. It seemed a little weird. Only when I turned over to page 28 did I realize he was not pointing at me for not having written to you, but more than likely to Father HESBURGH who was sitting next to Mrs. Hannah. It took all of that to pry me loose from the ranks of the reluctant Alumni. I've been here since 1960 and have a beautiful wife and two beautiful daughters. Have grown weary to the point of barely recovering from one MSU-ND game to the next. . . ."

BRAVO BOSWELL!

Earlier we told you about NELSON (JACK) BOSWELL's syndicated five-minute radio commentary program, "Challenge and Response." Now we are pleased to salute him for having received the George Washington Honor Medal, the 1966 radio award of the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa.

GLEANINGS

ROBERT WEYBURN has been appointed a project engineer for the Sunbeam Equipment Corp. in Meadville, Pa. And CORNELIUS FOWLER, we learn, is employed by Fairfield & Ellis Inc. in Boston.

Among moves on the map are those of Father IGNATIUS BECHTOLD from Des Moines to Chicago; VENTURA GONZALEZ from a New York APO to Dallas; and BERNIE METER from Decatur, Ill. to Kalamazoo, Mich.

CODA

See y'all
In Morrissey Hall.

JACK MILES

3218 Bentley Lane, South Bend,
Ind. 46615

Harold W. Unger '49 has been appointed director of research and development of the plastic container division of Continental Can Co. in the Chicago area. Formerly manager of research for the company's white cap division, he joined Continental in 1949 as a chemical engineer. He holds a number of patents for container closures which he developed while with the company.

Frank J. Spaniel Jr. '50 has been elected vice-president for manufacturing for Penco Products, Inc. Formerly plant manager of the steel storage equipment manufacturer in Oaks, Pa., he joined Penco's parent company, Alan Wood Steel, in 1957. He was named assistant chief industrial engineer at Alan Wood Steel before being promoted to a managership at Penco.

Patrick J. Barrett '51, Evergreen Park, Ill., has been named vice-president and treasurer of Aldens, Inc. A certified public accountant, he has held positions as tax department manager, assistant secretary and chief accountant with the firm. He joined the staff of the Chicago-based merchandiser in 1957 after serving as senior accountant with Arthur Andersen & Co.

1948

I recently received a notice from the ALUMNUS that "the snow is melting and it is a sure sign of spring", so on this first day of spring while I am snowed in and cannot get to work I will gather the few notes that I have and try to make the deadline for the spring issue which is actually today.

Last week we had a local Alumni meeting to plan for the new fund raising drive that the Notre Dame Foundation will sponsor this fall. At the meeting genial GENE ANGUILLI and LEO COSTELLO drew key positions for the drive since they are both big money men to begin with, one being a securities counsellor and the other a bank VP. I told the assembly that I wouldn't be much of a help in getting money from the Alumni because in my experience as a Class secretary, I cannot even get postcards that cost less than a nickel, let alone get big donations.

I just returned from a 10-country tour of the Caribbean and the Central and South American area. While in Panama I tried to catch up with LARRY ROMAGOSA but he was at one end of the golf course and I must have been at the other during the local Pro-Am Tournament.

From the Alumni Office I have heard that JAMES BARK JR. has been appointed product manager for dry cleaning products with the Dow Chemical Co. solvents sales group. He had been assistant market manager for dry cleaning solvents. BILL DIOGUARDI, Montclair (N.J.) Col.'s veteran baseball coach and well-known basketball and football official, is beginning his second year as supervisor of officials for the Atlantic Coast Football League.

I received a nice letter from JIM WEBB telling me how much he enjoys this column and how he looks forward to each issue to hear about the old gang at ND. It has sort of snapped him out of his lethargy and he wants to help the column along by sending in some news about himself and others with whom he has been in contact in the recent past. I appreciate his comments and wish a few more of you guys would do the same. Jim writes that since he is living in Jackson, Mich. he does get to South Bend quite often on business and also to take in some of the fall football weekends. In September he met with three successful barristers from our Class, namely ERNIE FLECK from Bismarck, N.D., CHUCK VANNADA from Lowell, Ind. and AL SPAHN of Elkhart who was the local host for the get-together. Jim is purchasing manager for Spartan Electronics in Jackson and had been with RCA for 13 years before joining Spartan four years ago. The Webbs have two boys and two girls—the oldest girl will be starting college in the fall.

As we get into the home stretch for this column, we will list the highlights of the change of address notifications that we have received since the last column was submitted. DAN HESTER has moved from Alhambra, Calif. to 8852 Greenwood Ave., San Gabriel; RICHARD JOOSTEN has moved from Cary, Ill. to Westfield, N.J.; BILL STOLZE has moved from St. Louis to North Syracuse, N.Y.; GENE BOLLT is now in Huntington Beach, Calif.; JEAN BRAUWEILER is now in Arlington Heights, Ill.; and we don't know where FRANK TARLETON is as mail sent to him in Hot Springs, Ark., comes back "unclaimed."

This is about it for now. Only a few more issues before the 20th Reunion (Brawl) rolls around. I know GERRY HEKKER and a lot of you other guys are looking forward to this one because the 15th was only an "in-between" and it is the 20th and 25th that really bring out the best. We're going to need someone to help plan it since our two former stalwarts, JOHN LAUGHLIN and BILL BONWICH, are no longer on campus. Anyone in the neighborhood interested in taking it on? It's not much of a job, just be sure we get the hats and a room to hang them in. Oh yes, also to get the "cider" franchise and handle the popcorn. Lookin' to hear from y'all.

GEORGE J. KEENAN

177 Rolling Hills Rd.,
Clifton, N.J. 07013

1949

LEO L. WESLEY
155 Driftwood Lane,
Rochester, N.Y. 14617

1950

As you could tell by the Jan.-Feb. issue of the ALUMNUS there has been a dearth of information flowing my way. The only way that I can have information for this column is through your cooperation. Please let me hear from you.

RICHARD CLEARY has been elected an assistant VP of Bache and Co. and is resident manager of the company's South Bend office. GENE van DER HAGEN has been appointed foundry engineer for Sibley Machine and Foundry Corp. TIMOTHY HANRAHAN has been appointed associate group director of Aerospace Corp.'s eastern test range office, which assists the Air Force Space Systems Div. BOB BARRETT has moved to Birmingham, Ala.; LYLE PEARSON to Montebello, Calif.; JOE DOUGHERTY to Vandenberg AFB, Calif.; DICK EYKHOLT is in Fort Wayne, Ind.; DON CLEARY is now in Champaign, Ill.

On the southern front, our ND Club of Greater Miami had the highlights of the 1948 and 1949 football seasons narrated by LARRY COUTRE with the able help of CHARLIE CALLAHAN '38, publicity director of the Miami Dolphins, and JOE BRIDE '58, publicity director of the Baltimore Orioles. On March 9 at the Miami Heart Institute we were treated to a fine dedication of a neuro-diagnostic lab donated in honor of our wonderful past president of the University, Father JOHN J. CAVANAUGH CSC.

In the Miami Club from our Class, BOB O'MALLEY is VP, MACK SHAFFER is program chairman and doing publicity for us. LARRY COUTRE keeps his eyes peeled for Ara for the Miami-ND game on Nov. 24 which will be an excellent contest inasmuch as the U. of Miami is four deep in excellent quarterbacks, flankers and offensive ends. Joe Robbie, owner-manager of the Miami Dolphins, is an associate member of our Club and has had two sons at ND. ERNIE HEFFERLE, offensive line coach of the Dolphins, is also an ND graduate and former ND coach. I heard a rumor that our freshman team is an average of 250 pounds and six foot four from end to end. I will have to wait to see what the spring practice results are and let you know in the July-August issue.

Dr. TAD L. PATTON MS '50 has been promoted to research associate in Esso Research and Engineering Co.'s Baytown Research and Development Div. ROBERT MICHAUD has been named group attorney for Bendix Corp.'s automotive manufacturing division. FRANCIS VER SNYDER has won United Aircraft Corp.'s George Mead Gold Medal for engineering achievements for his invention of a process by which Pratt and Whitney Aircraft is producing stronger, longer-life turbine blades and vanes for jet engines. He is associate director of the advanced materials research development lab for United Aircraft.

I note that our BILL WALSH is assistant to Hank Stram of the Kansas City Chiefs. JOE STEINOCHE is now living in Miami and is with Rader Assoc. DAN ROWLAND is operating his Major Appliances, Inc. and is looking as happy and prosperous as ever.

I appreciated hearing from BOB SINCAVICH on his Ohio Valley Club 1950 graduates and would like to hear from HERB SAMPSON, JACK MULDOON, BOB ROHLING, DON MEEK, PETE FRIDAY, JOE JUDGE and RAY MARTIN, who are all officers in their respective Clubs and can pass on some information as to the 1950 members to me for the Class column. It looks like JIM MARTIN as assistant coach for the Detroit Lions, together with NICK EDDY and MEL PARR ought to stir up some lively action for the Lions next fall.

Here's hoping that all of you and your families have a pleasant summer vacation.

JOHN W. THORNTON
4400 Monserrate St.,
Coral Gables, Fla. 33146

1951

During a recent Washington trip we visited with JIM MELOCHE and picked up some of the family details. Jim married

May Reilly and they have four children: Diane, 8; Linda, 7; Harold, 5; and Thomas, 4. It appears that Jim has just about served his stint in Washington and is looking forward to returning to Detroit within the next few months. If anyone up that way needs a good patent attorney versed in the chemical arts he should get in touch with Jim.

After leaving Jim I had just turned the corner and ran into JACK BARNETT, who is a patent attorney with A. O. Smith in Milwaukee. Jack and his wife Muriel reside with their four children at 2759 N. 118th St. in Wauwatosa, Wis. Their four girls are: Kathleen Ann, 11; Colleen Mary, 8; Claire Teresa, 7; and Carol Mavournen, 3. Jack expressed regret at missing the last Reunion but reported that Muriel had undergone some serious surgery at the time and now is practically recovered. He is working already to have the family in top shape by June of '71 so that he can attend the next get-together.

I walked with Jack down to the search room in the Commerce Building where we met TED PRAHINSKI. Ted is also a patent attorney and practices in Washington. He held out for 11 years but in 1962 married Mary Gaspar and they now live at 1901 Plymouth, N.W., Washington, DC 20012. They have two girls and a boy: Mary, 4; Susan, 2; and John, 3 months old. We came close to meeting BOB CLEMENCY that same day but Bob was detained visiting an old Navy buddy and we will have to look for him during another Washington trip. That almost takes care of the patent attorneys in our Class, and we will try to get in touch with JOE NAUGHTON who practices patent law in Indianapolis before the next deadline. If there are any other of our classmates who have strayed so far from the straight and narrow as to become patent attorneys, we would like to hear from them.

GUS GLICK is still moving the merchandise for the jolly Jewel. More accurately, he is the assistant to the VP for warehousing and transportation for the Jewel Tea Co. at their Melrose Park, Ill. headquarters. Gus and Ann with their four children live at 2 Elsinore Dr., Lincolnshire, Ill. They had three girls before Gus, the fourth, arrived. The girls are: GERALYN, Lauri and Sarah.

JAMES JENNINGS
Borg-Warner Corp., 200 S.
Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60604

1952

Class Reunion time is rapidly approaching. Received a letter from HANK MCCORMACK with news of Reunion plans. "June 9 is just a few weeks away. All the arrangements have been made at South Bend to insure a most enjoyable 15th Reunion for the Class of '52. BOB KING will be local arrangements chairman. The following are busy promoting the Reunion in their area: BILL WHITE, Chicago; BOB FINK, New York; TERRY BRODY, Eastern US; TOM CHILSOLM, Western US; and JIM WALSH, Southern US.

"It is also reported that WALLY SWEENEY is leading a group of 'former fraternity brothers' from Sorin Hall back to South Bend. Such notables as BOB KIRCHGESSMER, JIM MANNON, LEE STIEDEN, JACK MUELLER, JOE STANICHAK and JIM POWERS are heading for South Bend. Indications are that a large number of the Class of '52 will be on hand. There is still plenty of time left to make plans to be in South Bend June 9, 10 and 11."

WILLIAM VANDEVEN has joined the Toni Co. as manager of systems research and long-range planning. He was formerly secretary-treasurer of the Acme Printing Ink Co. He and his wife Betty now have eight children. RICHARD DEGRAFF is currently directing the individual special gift solicitation for the $360,000,000 U. of Chicago fund raising program. He has four daughters now. JOHN HARRINGTON has been appointed associate general agent by the Robert E. Fitcher General Agency of the John Hancock Mutual Life Ins. Co. He will be responsible for recruiting and training new agents, supervision and sales promotion. DICK CODY has been appointed a copy writer in the creative department of Clinton E. Frank, Inc.

Word is in from J. ALLAN BLOUNT of Hazelwood, Mo. that he has recently accepted a position as senior consultant, McDonnell Automation Center in St. Louis, Mo., a firm which specializes in all phases of management consulting and electronic data processing. He and wife Catherine boast of three daughters, a son and a beagle named Tag. He is looking forward to the 15th Reunion June 9-11. How about you? WILLIAM A. SANTINI JR., now residing at 101 Bradberry Dr., Monroeville, Pa. with wife and six children writes that after six years at Texas Instruments, he and two associates have formed their own manufacturing company, Pittsburgh Materials & Chemicals Corp. They manufacture silicon, high purity chemicals and machinery for the semiconductor industry.

LEWIS E. UNNEWEHR has recently moved from California to 31093 Fairfax Dr., Birmingham, Mich. 48009, to become a principal staff engineer at Ford Motor Co. in Dearborn supervising Ford's newly established electric automobile program. He states it is an exciting challenge and hopes they will be able to contribute something significant towards the betterment of the pollution situation in our cities. He would like to hear from CLYDE HOFFMAN in Afghanistan.

That's about it for now. Drop me a line of news. And see you at REUNION '67, June 9-11.

HARRY L. BUCH
600 Board of Trade Bldg.,
Wheeling, W. Va. 26000

1953

Received a nice letter from BILL CONROY whom I haven't seen since NROTC days.

"It's good to see an old NROTC man handling the Class correspondence. We—wife Patty and children Kathy 9, Mike 8, David 7 and Carol 4 are spending our fourth year here where I am working in the areas of education and geography. Received my doctorate in social science from Syracuse in 1963. We are looking forward to spending next year at the U. of Washington where I will be visiting associate prof of geography." Thanks for the news, Bill. His address: U. of Texas, Dept. of Geography, Austin, Tex. 78712.

Recently, Mrs. Gloria Stoeller, JOHN "NAILS" STOELLER's mother, sent in a nice note about John who now lives in San Mateo, Calif. He has two little girls, ages 3 and 1. John works for the Lockheed Missiles and Space Co. in Palo Alto and was a Fulbright winner at ND. Attended the U. of Nancy and the U. of Paris in '53-'54. Thanks, Mrs. Stoeller.

Very sorry to hear of the death in February of JOE KENNEDY's father. I'm sure the rest of the Class will remember him in our prayers. Joe's address: 20 James Way, Cary, Ill.

How about a card from EMORY DAKOSKE. "Finally, after many 'I'll do it tomorrow's' I'm writing. First, married to Jo Debussemer way back in '53 and now have seven, four boys and three girls, which is no record, but a good average. Work at Chrysler Corp. as financial analyst and am currently working on my master's at U. of Detroit and it is a grind. Sorry to say that my Dad died very suddenly last April. Would like to hear from 'Drini', Father MIKE MCKINSTRA and all. My 'kid' brother, who was born in our freshman year, will start at ND in September. (Listen, Em. If you were trying to make me feel old with that piece of news, you did.) To any of our Class who get to Detroit, a warm and cordial invite to call or drop in." Glad to hear from you, Emory. His address: 1369 Buckingham Rd., Grosse Pointe Park, Mich. 48230.

Looks like a slight mix-up according to this letter received from DON DORINI: "Both BILL MAUS and myself, your two Fort Lauderdale reps, did not receive the yellow information cards you stated were mailed in the last issue of the ALUMNUS. We would be most happy to return them to you, the pertinent information attached, if you would be so kind as to forward two additional copies to my office. I will see that Bill gets his copy as well. We certainly appreciate the new interest you have shown in our Class news and trust we will continue to see a lot more of it in the future. In the meantime, our very best regards to all of you for a very happy and prosperous 1967." Don't stand on protocol, Don. We want to hear from you anyway. His address: 2550 Northwest Fourth Ct., Fort Lauderdale, Fla. 33311.

AL DECRANE was recently appointed assistant to the chairman of the Board of Texaco Inc. He

FULBRIGHT SCHOLAR TURNED LAY MISSIONARY IN AFRICA

An African safari may be a dreamed-of experience for the majority, but for Pasquale "Pat" DiPasquale Jr. '55 it was frequently in his line of work. As a lay missionary in Tanzania, he made several safaris through East Africa in search, not of big game, but stained glass for churches he was helping to build.

A magna cum laude graduate of Notre Dame, he went to England's Oxford University as a Fulbright Fellow. Completing an honors degree in English language and literature, he decided to take a sabbatical before pursuing doctoral studies. Just about that time Bishop Joseph Blomjous of Mwanza was looking for an Oxford graduate to teach English to the native African clergy at his diocesan seminary, and Pat was his man.

St. Mary's Seminary was staffed by 13 White Fathers and Pat. "My principal job, of course, was teaching. But I also coached the track team, directed plays, instructed the band in marching and maneuvering, started a seminary magazine and generally helped as much as I could with whatever building was going on." He also spent his vacation in the neighboring diocese helping the Maryknollers build their mission at Malili.

Within six months after his arrival in Tanzania, Pat was joined by three volunteers from the Lay Mission Helpers of Los Angeles. One of them was Charlotte Fasnacht whom he married when they

Pat DiPasquale '55

JULIUS NYERERE AND CHARLOTTE DIPASQUALE
Tanzania's President with Missionary returned to Minnesota in 1961. While Pat was busy at the seminary, Charlotte gave her talents to running the Catholic bookshop, contributing to the diocesan newspaper, working for Bishop Blomjous and teaching English to African and Arab women at St. Joseph the Worker Catholic Center.

It was not all work and no play for the lay missionaries. Pat and Charlotte and their companions were frequent guests at receptions where they met many of the country's political leaders and influential citizens. One of the highlights of Pat's stay was a safari around Lake Victoria and through the "Mountains of the Moon" during which they "mission-hopped" in Uganda, Kenya and Ruanda Urundi.

On his return from Tanzania Pat received his master's degree from Oxford before resuming his academic career in the US as teacher at Seton Hill College and doctoral candidate at the University of Pittsburgh. Now a medievalist in the English department at University of Oregon, Pat does not discount the value of his contribution to the new nation. "We were fore-runners of the Peace Corps and can't think of a better way for the US to show the world our good will. We feel, however, that there is one major difference between our activity and that of the Peace Corps—we were directly associated with the mission work of the Church."

Nor do the DiPasquales view their experience as a purely one-sided contribution: "Working with the missionaries provided some of the most wonderful education we've ever had. And we learned a great deal from the African peoples themselves."

was assistant to the vice-chairman since 1965 and has been with the company since 1959 when he joined the staff as an attorney. BRYAN COUGHLIN JR. has become associated with Bryan P. Coughlin Assoc. Inc. as assistant to the president. He will be active in administration, customer service and sales.

PANOS BARDIS sends news of his latest publications: "Value of Sound Sex Knowledge," Sexology Magazine, Dec., 1966; "The Ancient Egyptian Family," Indian Sociological Bulletin, Apr., 1966; "Marriage and Family Customs in Ancient Egypt," Social Science, Oct., 1966. He also presented a paper, "The School and International Cooperation: An Interdisciplinary Essay" at the International Congress of Social Sciences in Barcelona, Spain, Nov., 1966. ROBERT JOHNSON has been honored as one of the Frigidaire's top salesmen in the nation during 1966. He received an honorary appointment as top member in the Goal-Maker Club. He is in the Dayton sales zone.

CHUCK STIMMING's wife Anne reported that Lucy and JIM RONAN have a boy and that they also had a baby girl born in August.

Well, Gang, that's about it for now. I'm sorry it isn't any longer. Can't afford to do much without news. So let's make a special effort and "don't wait for tomorrow."

WALTER F. "BUD" STUHLREHER
11006 Jean Rd. S.E., Huntsville,
Ala. 35803

1954

It occurred to me that you may not believe what follows and that you'll forever label this column as fiction, not fact. But I'll chance that. Hold your hats. Now, slowly. The following comes from Coach TOM McHUGH (No kidding!): Tom has just finished his third year coaching at Xavier U. in Cincinnati. He's been in touch with his old roomies JOHN LATTNER and ED LEWIS (both of whom are rather big in the family business—the Lattners have seven and Lewises are expecting their fifth or sixth momentarily). Tom also hears occasionally from BOB JOSEPH. Bob is director of personnel for the state liquor dept. in Ohio. Tom keeps in contact, although not too frequently, with another ole friend, NEIL WORDEN from Philadelphia. While Big Tom was living in Toledo he occasionally ran into lawyers MARSHALL DESMOND and PAUL KRAUSE and now in Cincinnati he often sees PAUL "MR. TUX" KELLY, BARRY SAVAGE and DICK CASTELLINI. The McHughs have two children, Kathy 8 and Kevin 7. Thanks, Tom. How about some of you other hard cases? A letter or card every 12 years or so takes only minutes.

DON KUNKEL '51MA, '55L was ordained May 6 at the national headquarters of the Glenmary Missioners, Cincinnati. His first Mass was celebrated on May 7 at his home in Jasper, Ind. After another year of study he'll be in mission work. Don has occasional contact with STAN HERRLINGER '54L. An old chem engineering buddy

PAUL ROBST has been promoted to major in the USAF. He is now commander of 7235 Ammo Supply Squadron at Camp Darby, Italy. Talking about chem engineers—yours truly was promoted to operating superintendent with Monsanto. I've also switched from the organic chems division to the inorganic division.

BILL MORLEY, who hasn't missed a Notre Dame game since 1949, is now manager of transportation sales for Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. in Toledo. JOHN BIERBUSSE received his MBA from Western Michigan in December. And JIM HERENDEEN has been promoted to product manager of Selmer, Signet & Bundy Band Instruments line of H. & A. Selmer, Inc. RAY TIERNEY of 10-year Reunion fame, dropped me a card from 45 N. Vale Ave., Little Silver, N.J. Hearing from McHugh and Ray within days of each other was almost too much. Will wonders never cease? Anyway, Ray and Kathy have five little ones—Ray, Mike, Chris, Kathy and Alicia. Ray practices law with the firm of Shanley and Fisher of Newark, N.J. Ray reports that the Jersey Shore Club is pretty active, starring such familiar personalities as Dr. TONY GARRUTO, CHRIS MALONE, PAT LEONE, BILL NOONAN, GEORGE FINN, CHARLIE KELLER and twin brother, DICK TIERNEY. Ray went on and on about the wonders of the Jersey Shore in summertime and invites all you classmates to stop in.

RAY SALVINO DDS is presently located in Rapid City, S.D. He and Dolly have two girls and three boys. He's leading a project to put Ara's head on Mt. Rushmore. After eight years in South

ALUMNI
IN THE NEWS

Congrats

Donald Kunkel '51, LLB '55 was ordained a priest in the Glenmary Missioners Order on May 6 in Cincinnati. He said his first Mass in his home town of Jasper, Ind., on the following day. During the coming year Father Kunkel will pursue further studies.

Dennis B. Radford '51 has been elected a vice-president of Walston and Co., Inc. He has been with the investment firm since 1961, and last November was appointed resident manager of the Salinas and Carmel, Calif., offices.

Donald C. Rung MS '57, PhD '61, associate professor of mathematics at Pennsylvania State University, has been awarded a one-year Senior Fulbright Lectureship. Dr. Rung will lecture on advanced topics of math at the Institute of Mathematics of Tsinghua University in Hsinchu, Taiwan. A member of the Penn State faculty since 1961, he is supervisor of graduate studies in math and chairman of the department's graduate-studies committee.

Bruce T. Huot '58 was named the Kankakee, Ill., Jaycee's 1967 Distinguished Service Award winner. An active businessman, politician and civic leader, he is secretary of the Baron-Huot Oil Co. He also serves as supervisor of Kankakee Township and is president of the Community Action Program, Inc., the official local agency for the War on Poverty.

Vincent J. Naimoli '59 has been appointed manager of Continental Can Company's plant at LeRoy, N.Y. In his new position he will be in charge of all metal operations for the eastern division's New York plants at LeRoy, North Collins and Alton. He is the holder of two master's degrees in mechanical engineering and business administration.

Constancio X. C. F. Miranda MS '62 was named "teacher of the year" by a University of Detroit student poll conducted by the Engineering Student Council. Dr. Miranda joined the faculty in 1965 and is serving as head of the civil engineering faculty at U. of Detroit.

Dakota, he hopes to move to Chicago soon. Father JIM HIGGINS reported the sudden death of his dad at the age of 70. Your prayers are deeply appreciated. ROGER FERN is back in school at LSU. Primarily, Rog is working on his thesis and with its completion he'll get his master's in journalism. Rog had been asst. managing director of the Baton Rouge Safety Council. Safety occupies a good part of Roger's time as it's in part the title of his thesis and in his spare time he teaches defensive driving. Rog and Emelie (JESS JOLLY's sister) have one child, a boy Stephen.

Talked recently with BUB WRIGHT and ED (NED) SEIM. Bob's big with Kroger Co. in Cincinnati and has recently switched from olives to detergents—as national manager of marketing. Bob reports firm reservations confirmed for our reunion party weekend. See you all then—immediately after the first home game, Sept. 23. Ned Seim and Sheila were snowbound in Wausau, Wis. and were seeking solace. The Seims stopped by here after last season's ND-Oklahoma game and we had a marvelous reunion of our own. It's too bad we don't all get together more often. Life is short and opportunities to recapture our vanishing youth (profound, huh?) are too few. Make the most of them—keep in touch, don't miss our five-year Reunions and try to make our yearly reunion parties.

That's it. Write when you get the chance and as they say down in Bimini—"Keep the faith, Baby!"

MILTON J. BEAUDINE

21 Signal Hill Blvd., E. St. Louis,
Ill. 62203

1955

The Class cocktail party will be held this year after the victory over Michigan State Oct. 28. The party will be held in the Shamrock Room of the Morris Inn. That's the private room behind the general party area that we have used in the past. Mark your calendar now and get those ticket orders in early. Let's see some big groups this year from New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, Toledo and other "major market areas" as we call them in the trade.

Got a nice letter from JIM IRWIN who now is practicing law in Hamilton, Ohio. "Everything is willing but the legs as I still manage to play softball with the local 'legal eagles' team—shades of our old interhall softball ND league which we enjoyed with so many classmates. Regards to ex-roomies DON SILEO and TOM IGLESKI."

Speaking of "legal eagles," JIM GRIFFIN was smart enough to get stranded in Dallas during our big snow storm in Chicago. While there he broke bread (and probably a few corks) with JOHN ROGERS and PAT McNAMARA. John, who lives at 4746 Twin Post Rd., manages to serve as president of the Big D Notre Dame Club while handling his law practice, too. Pat, who lives in Lubbock with his brood, is the soft drink king of Texas. (That's a good business in a brown bag state like Texas!) Griff, who managed to keep his footing through all our snow and ice, slipped on the Texas sun or something and strained his back which took some of the fun out of the get-together. He reports, tho, that John and Pat look great.

Received this report from Griff at the Chicago Club Communion breakfast where CHUCK MUCKENHIRN's sister, Sr. Charles Borromeo CSC was one of the principal speakers. Sat at the same table with DICK SCHLEITER, who still looks like he could go a fast 10 rounds.

TIM SHEA sent a nice long note. He has two children and lives at 831 S. Buchanan St., Arlington, Va. For the past six years he has been the Washington rep for Doughboy Industries, a government supplier. He's been active on the civic front as chairman of the Washington Junior Chamber of Commerce Committee on Urban Youth Crime Prevention. Tim also is a director of the Arlington Colts Boys' Athletic Club. In the "miscellany" category, Tim is a distributor for American Timber Homes, as well as an associate of Phoenix Co. and Federal Electronics Liaison Assoc. Two of FRANK LEAHY's boys moved recently. FRANK VARRICHIONE, who retired from professional football and relinquished his captaincy of the Rams, has returned to South Bend at 1535 Strathmore. DICK SZYMANSKI, who has been through the pro wars on both defense and offense for the Colts, now lives at 8414 Nunley Dr., Baltimore. Incidentally, two more '55ers have returned to South Bend—JOHN KEANE, 1105 Hudson and PAT SWEENEY, 107 W. North Shore Dr. TOM MAGILL got smart and followed the sun from Pennsylvania to North Palm Beach, Fla., 119 Atlantic Rd. but JIM METRESS filled the gap by moving to Shippensburg, Pa., Route 1, Box 249 from Fennville, Mich. That old master painter, JOHN LOCHTEFELD, has moved his easel to 72 Oregon Rd., Peekskill, N.Y.

Capt. WALT LANGFORD escaped serious injury when the plane on which he was navigator crashed and burned near Weisbaden, Germany. Walt is a career officer in the Air Force and has been in Germany a little over a year. Father JOHN RYAN reports that his brother Bill, who underwent surgery for a back injury received in Vietnam, is recovering at Great Lakes. Father John says that the doctors feel that Bill will be able to walk again after treatment and physical therapy.

Here are a few notes from the international front. PAUL HARTMAN is back in the States after an overseas stint and can be reached at 49 Nightingale Lane, Gulf Breeze, Fla. JOHN MUSOLINO is back at 280 Fall St. in Seneca Falls, N.Y., after a delightful bit in Geneva. RAY LONG was very big at St. Patrick's Day parties this year after his stay in Ireland; but, he's now back on duty with DuPont at its Chambers Works in Deep Water, N.J. LARRY O'MARA, on the other hand, has shoved off from Grand Rapids for cosmopolitan Mexico City, Santa Maria La Regla 42, Colonia Bosques Ecchegaray, Mexico, D.F.

JOHN CASEY has been named branch manager of the new Lyell Ave. office of the Lincoln Rochester Trust Co. of Rochester, N.Y. DICK COOK has moved into a new sales promotion post in Chicago with Libby, McNeil. JOHN HESTER, the new corresponding secretary (I think that means he's the only one who can still write at the end of a gala) of MIKE KELLY's swinging "Organization '55" in Chicago, has a few items that can be published. John, who sells municipal bonds for A. G. Becker, greeted BOB RUSSELL at the office and then led him right to Lattner's for the dinner. Bob, who had been working in California, is in Becker's institutional division. He has moved wife, two girls and accumulated belongings to 6582 Hiawatha, Chicago. PAUL DWYER, a manager for Arthur Andersen, has his five kids headquartered at 15200 Ingleside, South Holland. LOU BRIODY, who has his own insurance agency, has four children. He lives at 9823 S. Bell. BILL BRETT, who lives at 9621 Springfield in Evergreen Park, is with Minnesota Mining. "Red" has five minor deductions.

MIKE DE PADRO checked in recently. He now lives at 2591 N.E. 41st Ct., Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. (Tough life, huh, Mike?) Other nomads include: ED DARGIS 1 Edwin Ct., Indianapolis; FRED DELLO-STRITTO, 131 Mimosa Dr., Centerville, Ohio; FRANK ORLANDO, 262 S. Firestone Blvd., Akron; and Dr. ARNOLD CURNYN, 722 Mayfair, Arlington Heights, Ill.

PETE SUTHERLAND has been appointed assistant to the president of Colonial Laundries, Inc., a Rhode Island retail chain. HUGH SCHAEFER has joined the firm of Marion Corp. as general counsel. He formerly was assistant US attorney for the northern district of Oklahoma. DON FREUND has been admitted to partnership in the firm of Hughes, Mueller and Co., certified public accountants in Chicago and Elgin, Ill. Don recently moved into a new home at 6516 Field Ct., Crystal Lake, Ill. Two illustrious members of our Class were featured in the Dec. 23 issue of the Chicago Tribune—GEORGE MEYERS playing Santa Claus for children of Black Hawk hockey players and JOHN WEITHERS head of "Chicago '67," a group urging the reelection of Mayor Daley.

Let me hear from you! See you all at Notre Dame after the MSU game on Oct. 28.

PAUL FULLMER
1922 Larkdale Dr.
Glenview, Ill. 60025

1956

EDWARD ROBINSON has been appointed director of the newly created Community Affairs Dept. of the Archdiocese of Detroit. The department will handle Catholic archdiocesan activities against poverty and racial discrimination. According to a chancery spokesman, the position is without equal in importance for a lay administrator. NICHOLAS SCHMELZER has been appointed product manager at Baxter International Labs. CLIFTON MORSE has been appointed field engineer with Atkins & Merrill's engineering model and mock-up division in Sudbury, Mass.

BRAD BAILIE SJ wrote from Alma Col. in Los Gatos, Calif. that he, FRED LYONS and JOE STOCKING are to be ordained to the priesthood this June. TOM BENNETT has been named general manager and asst. to the publisher of the Buffalo Diocese's paper, the Magnificat. Capt. JOHN MCINTIRE is now on duty at a forward USAF combat base in Southeast Asia. He is an F-104 Starfighter pilot. WILLIAM "BILLY" SQUIRES is head track coach at Boston State Col. where his teams have earned a record of 50-6 and 11 small college championships. Billy is also an asst. prof. of health education at the school. He and his wife Sally have two children Bill Jr. and Mary Susan.

Dr. JOE O'CONNOR has been drafted and is serving with the US Army at Madigan Gen. Hosp. in Tacoma, Wash. TOM CAPLET is working in the newspaper business in NYC. BILL KEARNEY is presently working in Minneapolis, Minn. GEORGE DAILEY is back in South Bend as manager of the Dun & Bradstreet office there. ED RECHNER is product planning manager for industrial dispatching products at Motorola Communications Div. BILL NITSCHKE is product planning manager for the industrial products communications division at Motorola. PETER CANNON is still living in Reston, Va. He and his wife now have five children.

PAUL HOUSE is with Burlington Industries in Burlington, N.C. He and his wife Elizabeth have three children. GEORGE GIBSON is still with Procter and Gamble in Toronto. Received a note from PAUL REYNOLDS, former footballer, who is living in Anchorage and is VP of Christianson Construction Co. there. Paul has been in Alaska for five years and is apparently enjoying life in the 49th State. ED COSGROVE and I attended DON COSTELLO's wedding to Gale Kelsey in Chicago on April 8. ROGER O'REILLEY and PAT CRADDOCK were in the wedding party. At the reception we saw PHIL WHITE, MARK BURNS and CHET MITCHELL. Ed and I visited with GENE BRENNAN and his wife Pat in their new home in Glen Ellyn for the weekend. Gene is in the investment business with Smith-Barney Co.

EUGENE O'CONNOR
Cosgrove & O'Connor,
656 Ellicott Sq. Bldg.
Buffalo, N.Y. 14203

MORE '56

Deadline ramblings—for those interested in keeping up with our classmates on the move: Chicago ND Club mailing list shows JOSEPH W. CLINE now in San Francisco; Dr. JOHN S. CYWINSKI in Valley Stream, N.Y.; Dr. TOM MURPHY at 434 E. 67th St. in NYC; Dr. JOSEPH S. O'CONNOR has taken a brief break in his OB practice to reside in Fort Lewis, Wash.; THOMAS C. DONOVAN is in Denver, Colo. at last notice; Ruth and BILL HINTON are now in Indianapolis; hope JOHN C. CLIFFORD is prospering and well in Los Alamos, N.M.; GEORGE GIBSON is living in Toronto; JOHN T. McSWEENEY moved to Baldwin, Mo.; Father ANTHONY KURIALA-CHERRY has escaped all Chicago spies and we have no current address; WILLIAM P. YOUNG JR. is in Casper, Wyo.; WILLIAM J. TESCHKE resides in Avon, Mass.

As spring sprung JIM REVORD moved his family from Des Plaines to 1326 Royal Oak in Glenview, Ill. We're most indebted to DICK ALLISON, DON CARLIN, JACK CASEY, CARL EIGLESBACH, JACK KEGALY, BILL LAFOND, JIM REVORD, HOWIE WESTRICK and LUKE BRENNAN for working with this Chicago Club Class secretary in contacting fellow classmates in the area. At this writing we're hopeful of good representation at the UND Night banquet featuring Father HESBURGH and Ray Bolger. We are also hoping to arrange for bimonthly supper socials at Lattner's restaurant.

Be sure to check the next issue of the ALUMNUS in the "births" column for Audrey and DICK ALLISON. Dick is anticipating great things this summer at his Richall Paper Products Co. and hopes for a healthy 1987 ND All-American quarterback bearing his name. After proudly telling me about her husband's new duties at Reynolds Metals Co. in McCook, Ill. Mrs. BILL (Pat) LAFOND asked if it might be in the ALUMNUS. I said that it was doubtful. According to Chicago Loop authorities, two leading stock market experts include GENE BRENNAN, who just moved into a real fine home in suburban Downers Grove, and

JOHN C. ENGLER, who is comfortably residing in Winnetka. JAMES P. FINNEGAN, formerly of Bradford, Ill., is director of sales training for Kendall Corp.'s Chicago division.

Any info you might have on '56ers can reach me at 726 Forest Rd., LaGrange Park, Ill. 60525.

—JOHN MANION

1957

Real fine report from BILL RIGALI who is living in White Plains, N.Y. and covering the Northeast for the family firm Deprato and working out of Manhattan. Bill is definitely going to make the "Big 10" and in doing so leaves behind three lads and a miss. Bill tells us that his former roommate JOHN REARDON is in sales promotion and marketing for Meade-Johnson living in Evansville, Ind. Also that JIM MILOTA and family are residing in Wilmington, Ohio where he is sales manager of a firm which Bill did not mention. Dr. BILL GARVIN and family are living in Wellesley, Mass. where Bill is educational director at St. Elizabeth's Hosp. as well as a practicing internist. Harry "Hairless" Barsley and group are living in Rocky River, Ohio where Harry is heading up a service and technical sales dept. GEORGE D'AMORE is not driving but climbing up the Greyhound executive ladder in Elmhurst, Ill.

BOB "BONGO" GRIFFIN, recently married, is president of Indian Archery in Evansville, Ind. BIG BOB MONDRON and family recently moved down to sunny Florida where he picked up his master's degree and is high school coach and asst athletic director. TOM MCMURTRY is still baching it while living in Lancaster, Calif. and is employed in the airline manufacturing end. JOE NORTON and family are living in Oak Park where Joe is a potent barrister along with our goud friend TOM O'BRYAN who is also lawyering it in Chi. K. J. PHELAN is running his Dad's loan business and is always good for a touch. Seriously, we hope that K.J.'s father recovers from his present illness and our prayers are with him. Another loan shark is ED QUINN in the form of getting the customer to get the loan from K.J. and buy the stocks Ed offers. JACK WITUCKI is a great salesman of homes in Elkhart. DON WASIK is living in Manchester, Conn. MATT TATTINO is with Western Union while moonlighting as prexy of Lake Mahopoc neighborhood assoc. All of the above is through the cooperation and courtesy of one BILL RIGALI and we can't thank him enough for the time and effort.

JIM BYRNE is doing it right. He is living in San Francisco and owns and operates the Career Girl and Junior Executive Employment Agency in Los Altos. Jim is definitely going to make the "Big 10." He informs us that BERT MILLEN is living in San Jose and working for Western Contract Furnishers. LARRY KRUPPENBACHER is residing in Monte Sereno and teaching Spanish at Campbell HS. RON HOLZ is living in Greenbrae. JIM BYRNE will have two big festive celebrations in June — first the Reunion and on June 24 he will wed Elva Dughi in King City, Calif. Our congrats. Thanks, Jim, for all the information. The great EARL HOGAN lets us know he is alive in Kansas City and really gives forth with the following: Earl was married in old Mishawaka back in '61 and took no one less than the mayor's daughter for his wife. Helping him along were STEVE PENNY and LOU LONCARIC. With a beautiful wife and good food Earl has played host to RAY ROTH in K. C. Ray is with IBM and living in St. Louis. John Cusack spent one summer in K.C. "trust-busting for the feds" and dating the younger generation. Earl himself is with Lederle Laboratories and has the opportunity to travel. Recently he was in Dallas and visited with BILL JACQUE-

MAIN who is also with Lederle in the Albuquerque area. Earl attempted to phone FROGGY NEUHOFF but Joe was somewhere on his Marlboro horse buying cows. In K.C. and vicinity we also find NORM HEYING, TOM McDONALD, CHARLIE O'CONNELL, CHUCK O'NEILL and TOM SHEHAN. McDonald is with Sandoz Pharmaceutical and was promoted to their Hanover, N.J. general offices as sales manager. CHARLIE O'CONNELL is selling air for Linde (the hot variety?). O'NEILL is heading up Minnesota Mutual's regional office while being prexy for the K.C. Notre Dame Club. Earl ends it by telling us that he still holds down a reserve navigator's billet with an aviation transport outfit and recently had a rather interesting mission to a place called Da Nang in Vietnam. The only good thing about that trip is that they flew via Hawaii. Thanks for all the information, Earl, and it is good to know that we will be seeing you under the Dome come June.

As if you didn't know our PAUL HORNING recently married one Pat Roeder. Keeping our fingers crossed that they both will come to the "Big 10." NICK GRASBERGER has been appointed manager of marketing planning and research for the general products division of Allis-Chalmers. JIM KENNEDY MD has completed training and has put up his shingle in Kankakee, Ill. He reports that FRANK PEDACE and family have moved to California where he is opening an office for the practice of dermatology. BOB KAY and wife and kiddies are bedded down in Lombard, Ill. where he is a surgical resident at Hines VA Hospital. Thanks for the information, Jim. ROGER ALLAN has joined Ketchum, MacLeod & Grove, Inc., advertising and public relations agency as an account exec in Pittsburgh, Pa. JIM RIEGER's good wife Mary tells us that Jim has been transferred from Frankfort, Ky. to Seymour, Ind. as asst. mgr. for Sears in Seymour. Jim and Mary are building up their own little store with four little Kiegers to take care of.

DANTE FULGINI is architecting it up Syracuse way and is looking forward to making the Reunion. Also LOU LONCARIC wants to see the particulars re the Reunion and is expecting to make the big scene. I spent a wild evening during which we caught a glimpse of the ND-NYU game in the Garden. But with the likes of JACK CASEY, ED DEAN, JERRY BECHERT, PAUL WALKER, MARK MALEY, etc., you're lucky if you catch a glimpse of anything except the bottom of the glass. Paul is with the Chase Manhattan Bank's national division and Bob is in sales with Berlain and Jones, envelope manufacturers. Ed's with John McGrath, an admiralty firm and Mark labors with the textile division of Monsanto. Jack's with Eimson Freeman and De Troy Corp. and Jerry is involved in international selling. JIM HEERING planned on joining us but was called out of town on business.

A good number of the Eastern contingent expressed their intention of making the Expo '67 in June. This is one event you just can't miss and should be worth whatever sacrifice it entails. Remember, the only thing that you can't make up for is lost time so don't lose sight of being under the Dome come June 9, 10 and 11. This will be the last issue before the BIG WEEKEND and therefore make our next meeting a personal one in South Bend.

Your prayers are requested for Leo M. Riley, father of ALLAN RILEY our classmate. Mr. Riley died March 3.

JOHN P. McMEEL
30 E. 42nd St., New York,
N.Y. 10017

1958

Our sympathy is extended to W. J. MOTZ, whose mother passed away on Jan. 19. Your prayers are earnestly solicited.

The balance of our news, which you will note, is very meager, as follows: JOHN F. McMAHON (in care of Aluminum Co. of America, Warrick Operations, Newburgh, Ind. 47630) informs us that he has been transferred by Alcoa from its subsidiary in Surinam, South America, to Warrick County, Ind. His assignment is as public relations assistant and it's his fourth location in eight years with the company. Sr. M. THOMA SWANSON OP MA '58 received a $2,000 doctoral scholarship from Cardinal Spellman and the Archdiocese of New York for her studies at Pratt Institute in Brooklyn. JAMES CUSHING was graduated from the Air U.'s Squadron Officer School and was reassigned to the Pentagon.

EDWARD MEELL recently left his position as chairman of social studies dept. at Mt. Lebanon H.S. to become social studies editor of the text-film div. of McGraw-Hill in NYC. JAMES M. GRAY, R.D. No. 1, Demunds Rd., Dallas, Pa., reports the following: He was married to the former Charlotte M. Wunder, of Sandusky, Ohio in Aug. 1962. Laura was born June 24, 1963, and daughter Elaine was born April 1, 1966. Jim graduated with a MFA in music in Aug., 1966 from Ohio U. and is now employed as head of the music education dept. at College Misericordia, Dallas, Pa. Our sympathy is also extended to Jim on the death of his mother on Sept. 30 of last year. Your prayers will be appreciated by the family.

BOB BENO, who served as a pallbearer at Mrs. Gray's funeral, is presently city solicitor in Springfield, Ohio. Jim also reports that TOM McGEE is an assistant prof. of music at St. Francis Col., Antigonish, Nova Scotia. JOHN J. HEALY MD is serving with the Air Force as a pediatrician at Hickam AFB, Hawaii. John anticipates that he will return to a pediatric cardiology fellowship after his military service. He was married in 1962 and now has two children, Shannon, 4 and John, 2.

DICK LYNCH has retired from pro football, and now intends to devote his time to business interests. Major RONALD JEBAVY recently returned from Vietnam and has been assigned to the military science dept. of St. Norbert, Col. in West DePere, Wis. FRED HOLZL has been appointed agency manager for the Sentry Life Ins. Co.'s Skokie, Ill. office. ROBERT COLAIZZI JR. has formed a partnership with Arnold Lundmark for public relations counseling. They will handle product and corporate news service, community and governmental affairs, internal communication, special events and speech services. The ICON Public Relations Counselors have offices in Dayton, Ohio. EDMUND HOURIGAN has been elected to Owens-Corning Fiberglas Sales Builders Club for outstanding achievements in 1966.

ARTHUR L. ROULE, JR.
102 "I" St., LaPorte, Ind. 46350

1958 LAW

JOHN F. MARCHAL
Marchal & Marchal, 116-118 W
4th St., Greenville, Ohio 45331

1959

DUKE P. GIBBON writes from 425 S. Wesley Ave., Oak Park, Ill. that in June, 1961 he received an MBA in finance from U. of Chicago, spent two years in the Army and in May, 1964 joined the American Nat'l Bank and Trust. In June, 1966 Duke was promoted to officer with the title asst. mgr. of the credit dept. Duke married Constance Mary Bishart, Nov. 19. MICHAEL P. PHENNER is with the law firm of Hopkins, Sutter, Owen, Mulroy, Wentz & Davis in Chicago. Capt. JOHN ROY has entered a 10-week course in system program management under the Air Force Institute of Technology at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio. John is a mechanical engineer at Fort Wainwright, Alaska.

ERNIE NIEDEBALA, wife Mary and eight-year-old son Michael are in Burbank, Calif., 627 E. Cedar Ave., Apt. E where for the past two years Ernie has been the West Coast operations auditor for the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. SCOTT W. BRADSHAW has been in the Army since graduation and is now a captain in the Infantry. At the present time, Scott is teaching military science at Kansas State Col. of Pittsburg, Pittsburg, Kan. He married Emily Diaz, sister of JOHN DIAZ '61, in Oklahoma City in Sept., 1959. They now have four sons, Michael 6, Stephen 5, Edward 3 and Matthew David, born Dec. 14, 1966. Scott was stationed in Bamberg, Germany with JOE MEINERT prior to Kansas State. Another member of the Class whom he has seen is GARY VICTOR, who is a Navy lieutenant in Long Beach, Calif. Gary, wife Penny (Pence SMC) and their children Chris and Mary Carol visited the Bradshaws at Fort Benning. Capt. Bradshaw will ship over to Vietnam this summer and is a "lifer" in the Army, planning to put in 20 years or more and then go into education.

JIM KENNEDY married Sherrie Hopican (U.

of Detroit) in Jan., 1966. The Kennedys had a baby girl in January of this year and the same month Jim was promoted from sales to management with the Burroughs Corp. in Detroit. March, 1967 found them in their new home in Warren, Mich. JIM GARRITY, 123 Anne Way, Los Gatos, Calif. wrote recently that after being commissioned at ND he went to Germany with the 4th Armored Div. for two years. He returned to NYC and worked for Chase Manhattan Bank where he met his wife Andrea. In Feb., 1963 they moved to California and the Crocker Citizens Bank. They now live in Los Gatos with sons Tommy 3 and Jimmy 2. Jim is presently asst. mgr. and commercial loan officer at the Meridian Hacienda office in San Jose. Last Christmas in NYC the Garritys met with the JIM GILCHRISTS. Jim and his wife Irene are living in Somers, N.Y. After working for Sears Roebuck, Jim decided on a teaching career and is now basketball coach and instructor in the elementary grades. The Garritys also saw the PAUL DOHERTYS. Paul is VP of sales for Package Pavement, operating out of Carmel, N.Y. Paul, Maureen and daughter Pamela reside in Lake Mahopac, N.Y. Through Paul comes the info that JIM DONOVAN finally left the ND campus after obtaining his PhD.

From TOM TRINLEY's mother comes word that Tom and Maureen and their five children, Katie, Patrick, Beth, Sheila and Tommy have moved back to Chicago. Tom is now with Amoco in Whiting, Ind. where he is working in the field of chem engineering and is also patents advisor. Tom is finishing his law course at DePaul U. and when finished will be a full-time patent atty. for Amoco. Mrs. Trinley also tells us that another '59 "bachelor" has taken the step. BILL HAWKINS of Sorin Hall was married to Carol Lyn Jackson on Jan. 14 and they are at 229 N. Kensington in LaGrange, Ill. Congratulations, Bill! DICK BUHRFIEND, his wife Carol (Kennedy) and their three daughters have moved into their new home in Elmwood Park, Ill., a Chicago suburb. Dick is a busy attorney in the Windy City. JOHN MALONEY, who was the Class orator on June 6, 1959, visited the Tom Trinleys in their home in the Beverly Hills section of Chicago during the Christmas holidays. John was en route to visit his relatives and has been living in Washington, DC where he is working as a chemical engineer in the Atomic Research Div., under Admiral Hyman Rickover. Our thanks to Mrs. Trinley for the above information and the many items she has furnished this column during the past few years. Of course, many of us are indebted for the "Open House" in Pompano Beach which the senior Trinleys had for our Class during those Easter vacations in Florida from '56 through '58.

In Sept., 1964 STEVE DORNBAUGH accepted a position in St. Paul with the Ramsey County Probation Dept. and he and his family (three girls) live at 1900 Princeton Ave., St. Paul 55105. Steve informs us that DENNY LEO is working for his father in Minneapolis, TOM LEE is with General Mills in Great Falls, Mont. and DAVE CULLIGAN, after finishing at the U. of Minnesota Med School, has moved on to Mayo Clinic. NORM ODYNEC is also at Mayo's. BILL CASEY is still teaching at Notre Dame High in Niles, Ill. Steve also hears from BOB WETOSKA and JIM JUST (via long-distance phone call). Jim is in Dallas where he is director of a Boys' Town of Dallas. Finally, BOB HASSENGER received his PhD from U. of Chicago and is at the University in the sociology dept. Thanks for the items, Steve! ED CAWI received an MA in education from the U. of Detroit after leaving ND. He taught math there and worked for Bendix and Ford Motor. After four years at Ford, Ed left to teach data processing at Eastern Michigan U. He married the former Gevigitte Hecklin from Windsor, Ont. and they have a daughter 4 and two sons, 3 and five months. Last Christmas Ed heard from EUGENE VAICHULIS who is with the Navy in Formosa, DAVE NEAL who just joined Upjohn in Kalamazoo and ED PLUMLY who is leading a bachelor's life in White Plains, N.Y.

DAVE KESTNER is employed in the law firm of Rocap and Rocap in Media, Pa. Dave married the former Teddy Closkey on April 30, 1966. HARRY SIEGEL and LARRY WENTZ were in the wedding party. Dave can be found at 514 Wheatseaf Rd., Springfield, Delaware Co., Pa. MICHAEL HALPIN became a married man last June 25. The wedding ceremony was at St. Mary's Church in the Society Hill section of old Philadelphia. The bride, the former Patricia Shields, and scholarly Mike now reside at 703 W. Wyoming Ave., Philadelphia. Mike is involved in another grant, this one in math, so his PhD in American civilization is now expected in June of this year. "There's something about trying to computerize history or something . . ." according to Larry Wentz, a contributor to this column. Wentz is looking forward to another summer of golf with BOB MURPHY and PAT GORMAN. Murphy and Trish have three children now as do Pat and wife Fran. Pat is selling pigments for DuPont out of Paramus, N.J. Larry questions my information about ED PAULSEN. He had heard that Ed was in personnel with Mobil Oil, hunting the college crop. Anyone know for sure?

AL REED is still single and still with the family business, Equipment and Furniture Corp. in Conshohocken, Pa. The word is that BASIL BECK is still the same old Bas. Barrister Beck is in Bridgetown, N.J. at 400 Atlantic St. Lt. BILL BROMANN and wife Dianne have five children. Bill, a biochemist in the USN, resides with the gang at 142 Barbers Point Rd., Apt. B, Los Alameda, Calif., 94501. LOU VON HAGEN and Kathy live at 6709 W. 87th St., Overland Park, Kan. 66212 where Lou is with the FBI.

When FRED MOWLE completed his Air Force commitment, he and Mary Jane moved back to South Bend where Fred enrolled in the doctoral program in electrical engineering in Sept. '64. Fred was honored with a membership in Sigma Xi (scientific research honorary fraternity) and in Jan. '66 received his doctorate. Son Thomas Stanley was born Feb. 22, 1965 and since Feb. 1, 1966 Fred has been on the faculty at Purdue. I did forget to mention that both Fred and Mary Jane received their master's from ND in June '61. The Mowles can be found at 400 N. River Rd., Apt. 909, West Lafayette, Ind. 47906. In recent weeks I have had notes from Pat, Julie, and JACK THOMAS, from Mary, Julie and JOHN BELIVEAU and from Mary Anne, Moira, Meghan and JACK McGRATH. Now, I think it's time to hear from you.

Finally, the Class is grieved to learn of the death of ADOLFO L. CASTELLON. According to information received in the Alumni Office, Adolfo died during the past year. His mother resides at 30 Callejon Sur, No 508, Managua, Nicaragua if you wish to write to her.

JOSEPH P. MULLIGAN
2680 Lehman Rd., Apt. 42, Cincinnati, Ohio 45204

1960

We can see seven Faults in another;
Not one of our own ten

Well, Great Balls of Fire, as W.C. used to say, there really is a RON SOWERS. After 10 these many moons of baiting and cajoling, our efforts have been rewarded. Here he is folks, the last hurrah. Thanks to Ron for letting us know that he is "associated with Torbers, Miller and Moss in Fort Wayne, after graduating in '65 from ND Law School. All this occurred after two years with the USMC." He and Luana (SMC '60), Julie Ann and Jennifer Lee are now settled in their new home. Having been advised by counsel, I will say nothing further except, thanks again.

CHAPTER II: Have to get to Denver. Former ND Capt. KEN "STEIN ERICKSON" ADAMSON is serving free beer! The one with mountain brewed water. Joyce SMC '60 writes that besides beer distributing, he scouts for the K.C. Chiefs. Boy, do they need help. Right, Green Bay fans! Joyce says they picked K.C. for the Super Bowl. If Ken was in on this he sure must have been crying in all that beer afterwards. Three kinder, Kelley, Seanne and Colleen join them for their favorite pastime, skiing.

Other "mile high" inhabitants are DEC O'DONNELL in private practice after two years on the staff of Gov. Love of Colorado. He's at the Petroleum Club Bldg. An old Army barracks buddy (that adjective works both ways) GREG ROGERS sends the following: "After two years with Uncle Sam, went to U. of Penn Annenberg School of Communications and received MA. Then worked as editor of the Reporter, house organ for Penn. P & L Co., and taught writing courses at Moravieh Col. night school. Also, was a fund raiser for the now operating ETV Station 39 in Bethlehem, Pa. Received a graduate fellowship in mass communications research from U. of Denver in '64. Am now an 'ABDPHD,' all but dissertation, etc. Sept. '66, was appointed assoc. dir. of the Mass Comm. Research Inst. and we have many federal grants to work on. Old roommates: GENE PISANO is a lawyer and loves his New Orleans living. LUIS AMAYA is working for an American Oil Co. in Bogota." Greg can be reached at 2295 E. Asbury, Denver.

FORE! And we're back in the Midwest. Starting to groove the old swing and may break 80 this year. Would you believe 90? Biggest problem is attempting to control those 450-yd. putts. (My pro is a gorilla.) No problem though getting news from people like JIM HUTTON, who is a CPA in Valparaiso with Dogan Roby & Co. He served five years with the government—two with Uncle Sam and three with Auntie Internal Revenue. How about these relatives! Jim and Beverley Ann (Droham) have one half of a ND backfield, Joe and Mike, but, "the wife says we have to stop before we field an entire team." Another Hoosier, CHUCK RIEHM, served four years Navy shore duty, completed MSEE at Purdue and moved to Indianapolis. That's where Bell Tel Labs helps to feed Chuck, Suzanne, Chuck III and Steve. And a note from Bunker Hill. No, not Boston, Peru. No, not So. America—Indiana. No, not Army, but USAF Capt. DAVE MAYER MC. He was completing first-year internal med residency at Cleveland Vet. Hosp. when the call came. Wife Joan and new daughter Laura Ann are along for the duration.

OTHER QUIET MEN: DICK BELMONT after six years with Navy Air is flying "American." Dick, Molly, Kathleen and Mike will be located in Highland Park, Ill. late this year. He reports that DOUG ZILLIOX is baching it in San Francisco and intends to leave the Navy if "those San Francisco girls will allow it." Judy FLANNERY, wife and mother of five and secretary to state representative JIM of Cleveland, would like old friends to say hello at 6907 Lawn Ave., Cleveland. Congratulations on election to Jim, who is also a partner in a Cleveland CPA firm. LARRY MARTIN passes this information on: MIKE DIVNEY spends his time skiing in Europe or imbibing on Cape Cod when he's not working as engineering co-ordinator for White Plains Urban Renewal. He also manages to sit as a member of the Board of Lay Trustees for a NYC girls' college. GUINNESS McFADDEN safely back from Vietnam and on his way to Portugal as an aide. JIM BYRNE has to surrender his Lake Shore Dr. apt. as he has been named a Russell Sage social science reporting fellow at the U. of Wisconsin. BRUCE BABBITT "served a stint as a regional inspector for the OEO and after some time writing articles on Arizona folklore is back with OEO trying to bail out VISTA. In line with his gregarious nature, Bruce bought a house in a ghost town."

BITS AND PIECES: JERRY LUKAS, wife Jo Ann and kids living near Pontiac, Mich. where he is with brakes and steering div. of Bendix. JOHN CONWAY, banking in Detroit, married to Barat grad from Detroit. LARRY THOLEN, an officer with a Wichita Savings & Loan after being an officer with Uncle Sam. He is married and has three kids. TOM ROSE in Vietnam after graduating from dental school. PAUL QUINN, father of two, employed at Fidelity Invest. Co., Wichita.

CHOU! Watch those Italians. They're going places. At least the one who married the little Finlay lass from Ireland. They and two kids are living in Huntington. "Free of charge" he tells us that the PHIL O'REILLY wedding was a blast. He invites all to drop in the house, not the funeral home, when you're in town. And if anyone knows what became of TOM MARTIN & JOHN TALAMO please let an old friend, JOE DRAGO, at 18 Woodoak Lane, know.

SNOW MORE. It's all gone, we hope. But, some people are fortunate enough to miss all the winter games. People like SKIP EASTERLY who has moved to Tampa with Judy and Ellen, Betsy and Mary Chris. He is an investigator in the wage and hour and public contracts div.'s field office for the US Dept. of Labor.

LAST GASP. How does one explain to young people why a country that spends billions for nuclear bombs is still trying to outlaw firecrackers? No, Virginia, there really are no JULIANs or O'MARAs.

Auf Wiedersehen!

THOMAS J. O'CONNELL
3350 Everett Rd., Lake Forest,
Ill. 60045

1961

WILLIAM HENNEGHAN
30556 Scrivo Dr., Warren,
Mich. 48092

1962

This is the last issue prior to the Reunion so check through the registrant list and make sure you are on it!

JOHN MIESEL has joined the Eli Lilly Co. as a senior organic chemist in the agricultural chemical research dept. at Indianapolis. RICHARD ZIEBOL has moved back to the Midwest where he is with Trane Heating and Air Conditioning in La Crosse, Wis. His address is 1107 Losey Blvd. South, La Crosse. ROBERT KENNY was recently promoted to a captain in the Air Force. He is information officer at Kadena Air Base on Okinawa. RICHARD COFFIN and DENNIS COONEY both received MBA degrees from St. Louis U. in February.

JOHN McREYNOLDS JR. was recently promoted to USAF captain. He is an assistant staff judge advocate at Suffolk County AFB, N.Y. JOHN HARTY wrote news of the birth of his first child, Mary Colleen, May 15, 1966. He is moving to Detroit where he will be with the firm of Touche, Ross, Bailey & Smart in their management consulting activity. Lt. JOHN MADDEN is now on duty at a forward USAF combat base in Southeast Asia, where he is a HC-130 Hercules pilot and a member of the aerospace rescue and recovery service. Lt. T. F. MCCARTHY and his wife Sandra were blessed with the birth of their second son, Trevor Alan, on Jan. 28.

PIERRE A. "PETE" HIROU received an MBA from Gonzaga U. last May and is currently completing one year of management training with Sears, Roebuck & Co. in the Los Angeles area. LINZIE E. KRAMER has been admitted to the Bar in California and is now practicing law as a judge advocate with the US Air Force at Forbes AFB, Topeka. Lt. DAVID C. RICHARDSON was graduated from the Air U's Squadron Officer School, Maxwell AFB, Ala. and was reassigned to Craig AFB, Ala. for pilot training. DAVID L. CASTALDI has been named one of 18 Baker Scholars at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration where he is in his second year working towards his master's.

Bro. AUSTIN HALEY (MA'62) is the superior and principal of St. Patrick's School in Monrovia, Liberia, West Africa where he is also engaged in a fund raising program prior to building a dining hall for his students. Lt. HOWARD J. SCHNEEBERGER JR. is now a pilot with the 50th Troop Carrier Squadron on duty at Kung Kuan AB, Formosa. Mr. and Mrs. JIM FISCHER were blessed with their third child, Jill Catherine, born Jan. 15. Jim and his wife who live at 2712 Constellation Dr. in Indianapolis, also have a son Mike and another daughter Jeanne. Capt. C. J. BEAVER JR. USMC returned from Vietnam a year ago and is presently serving as commanding officer, Military Police Co., at Camp Pendleton, Calif. Clay's home address is 5005 Cherry Hills Dr., Palm Springs, Calif.

It is you who make your column interesting and successful. Remove the yellow blank card from the last ALUMNUS and use it to pass on information through your Class column. See you at the REUNION.

TERRENCE F. MCCARTHY
LT. (DC) USNR
USNAVENTCLINC, FPO
San Francisco, Calif. 96662

1962 LAW

I ran into JOE BIRMINGHAM in early March. Joe is married, has a baby daughter and is working at the Woolworth Bldg. opposite City Hall in Manhattan. He relayed the tragic news that RICHIE STRAHL, who lived in Fisher Hall during our first year, died last summer while on annual duty with the Marines on the West Coast. Apparently, Richie went to the aid of a member of his platoon who, while crossing a river, fell into the water. Despite Richie's efforts both he and the other marine were drawn under by the swift current and were drowned. GEORGE P. McANDREWS has been made a partner in the Chicago firm of Bair, Freeman and Molinare. Capt. PAUL McNELLIS is now stationed with the Air Force in Fort Wayne, Ind. Sophie and JIM GOETHALS welcomed their fourth son last December.

PAUL K. ROONEY
U.S. Courthouse, Foley Sq.,
New York, N.Y. 10007

1963

FRANK P. DICELLO
218 Palmer Hill Rd.,
Old Greenwich, Conn. 06870

1963 LAW

JOSEPH R. SULLIVAN
1526 E. Cedar St., South Bend,
Ind. 46617

1964

TOM GOEHLE is living in Detroit and attends Wayne State U. Tom expects to win his PhD in biochemistry shortly. Lt. ED SHERIDAN is currently on active duty with the Air Force in West Pakistan. His wife Linda and children, Linda and Christopher, are also there and Ed writes that before returning to the US in Dec., '67 the family hopes to travel extensively in India and Afghanistan. At Stanford U. is PAT CALLAHAN and his new wife the former Patricia Henefy. He is enrolled in the master's program in civil engineering. Prior to Stanford, Pat was in the Navy. Also at Stanford is GEORGE KRAFT who is working on a PhD in history. PAUL ROSSMAN recently accepted a job with Service Bureau Corp., a subsidiary of IBM. Paul and his wife Mimi will be living in Pittsburgh.

Long Beach, Calif. is the assignment for GEORGE MURPHY. He just completed a tour of duty in Vietnam. MIKE SEXTON is flying an F-100 Super Sabre in Vietnam and is stationed at Tuy Hoa AB. TED KONEN, serving in the Peace Corps in Africa, married Karen Rockwood who was also there with the P.C. Both are slated to return to the States next fall. Army Lt. FRANK CORRADO is serving as a press officer in Nha Trang, Vietnam following a stint with the 101st Airborne Div. His wife Karen is working at the Notre Dame Infirmary. Frank is due home in September.

DAVID CHOW has joined the Plastics Engineering Lab at the Rohm and Haas Bristol, Pa. plant as an engineer in the test section. DENNIS PHILLIPS, systems rep for automated customer services dept., has been elected assistant secretary of Pittsburgh National Bank. DANIEL BACHINI has been promoted to dealer parts rep for International Harvester's farm equipment division in the Phoenix area. TOM BROWN has been named advertising coordinator of the Joliet, Peoria and Madison, Wis. Seven-Up Bottling Co.

KENNETH SPENGLER JR. has been awarded a fellowship which will permit him to assist for 12 weeks this summer at a Thomas A. Dooley Foundation hospital in Laos. He is a junior in the Boston U. School of Medicine. Lt. BILL STELZER is at Fort Belvoir with the Corps of Engineers. He graduated from MSU with a MA in geology and worked briefly with Texaco in Texas before entering the service. Bill is married to the former Susan Enbody and they have one son William Jr. 18 months old. TOM MULINAZZI is completing work on his PhD in civil engineering at Purdue. Another civil engineer is JIM SAK who received his MSCE from ND and is in Midland, Mich. MIKE BOHAN, working for a CPA firm in Chicago, was married last summer to Barbara Ducey.

JOE MARUYAMA is living in San Jose, Calif. and working for Lockheed Aircraft on the Navy Polaris program. Joe is married to the former Joyce Wiest, a nurse from New York. Lt. DAVE GARNER served as artillery forward observer, fire direction officer and battalion legal officer while in Vietnam. In his last letter some months ago Dave believed he would be assigned as an instructor in artillery at Fort Sill, Okla. when his Vietnam tour was over. FRANCIS ARRINCIONE received an MBA in finance and transportation at Northwestern and is employed by the E.J. and E. Railroad in Chicago as a cost accountant. Frank and his wife Maureen had a son, Daniel, last fall. HOY BOOKER is living in North Palm Beach, Fla. and working for Pratt and Whitney Aircraft in Palm Beach. PETE MURRAY is also enjoying the southern hospitality of the aerospace industry. He is an economics analyst for Delta Airlines in Atlanta. Pete received his MBA in transportation economics from Wharton last year.

GEORGE NOVAK has become employed by the Lincoln-Mercury Div. of Ford. He is associated with the Philadelphia district sales office, Camden, N.J. BILL RUETER is now teaching at Bishop Ireton HS in Alexandria, Va. This summer he will return to the U. of Pennsylvania to continue studies toward a MA in romance languages. GENE LYNCH is currently a PhD candidate in engineering at ND. His wife Judy, who received her MA in English from ND last year, is teaching at Indiana U., South Bend campus. Gene and Judy became parents of a son, Patrick Brian, last year. JIM DRURY received his MBA from the U. of Chicago and is presently working in the supersonic transport div. of Boeing Aircraft in Seattle. TOM CALPIN, his wife Janice and their two children, Tommy and Colleen, are living in Pittsburgh where Tom is with IBM. The twins were born last September.

DICK GALILER is on active duty with the Coast Guard and will finish this May at which time

Up Front / ND MEN SERVING THEIR COUNTRY AROUND THE WORLD

Meritorious service at Bien Hoa AB, Vietnam, has earned for Major Frank B. Harrison '50 the Bronze Star Medal. Assigned as an aircraft maintenance advisor to the Vietnamese Air Force, Major Harrison was cited for his performance while engaged in military operations against the Viet Cong forces. He was a member of the AFROTC while at the University and graduated with a degree in business administration.

Pilot and nuclear engineer Major Lewis G. Kirchner '53 was recently decorated with the Air Medal at Pleiku AB, Vietnam. He was cited for meritorious achievement during military flights. A mechanical engineering graduate of Notre Dame, he also holds a master's in nuclear engineering from the AF Institute of Technology and a PhD from the University of Wisconsin.

Outstanding service as a guidance and control officer merited Capt. Albert C. Reichert '57 the Air Force Commendation Medal. His skill, knowledge and duty performance in identifying complex technological problem areas and initiating implementation of new management concepts merited him the honor. The captain was a member of the AFROTC at Notre Dame.

Priv. William H. Schroder Jr. '63 has established a commendable

Harrison '50

Kirchner '53

Schroder '63

Sexton '64

he will return to Catholic U. in Washington, DC to finish his last year of law school. DENNIS FLYNN is at Fort Sam Houston as an officer in Adjutant General Corps. Dennis completed his MBA at Chicago last summer and shortly after his wife Margie (SMC '64) presented him with a new son, Michael Joseph. JAMES LYNN BRUCH held a one-man showing of his art works that he has created during his two years in residence at the U. of Southern California. He also received his master of fine arts degree from USC in June. Lt. FITHIAN SHAW has been awarded pilot's wings upon graduation at Webb AFB, Tex. and has been assigned to fly the F-4C Phantom II in the Pacific area. MARK SHERIDAN has been promoted to 1st lieutenant in the Air Force at Brookley AFB where he is serving as a communications officer.

JOSEPH GAYDA has earned his master's from the U. of Iowa. BILL KIERNAN also received a master's from the U. of Iowa. JAMES ROZICS (PhD '64) has been promoted to the rank of assistant prof at Loyola Col. where he is a member of the physics dept. STEPHEN SOUTH has received his master's in industrial administration at Carnegie Institute of Technology. STEPHEN B. HESTER sends in a new address: 7964 Northcote Ave., Hammond, Ind. He was married to Margaret Mary Ahern on Dec. 18, 1965. At present he is stationed with the Army at Ft. Sill, Okla. and expects a tour of duty in Vietnam beginning in November. FRANCIS J. PAPP IV received his master's in mathematics from the U. of Delaware. MIKE DeSANTIS received his MBA from Rutgers. JIM LaBARBA also received an MBA from Rutgers.

The closing note contains some saddening news written by MATT STORM. He writes to say that NICK SCHOEN died of cancer on Aug. 23, '66 in Minneapolis, Minn. Nick was enrolled at ND only for a year, after which he transferred to the U. of Minnesota. During the year at ND he made many friends, all of whom share in his family's grief.

WARREN C. STEPHENS
1100 Clove Rd., No. 5-C
Staten Island, New York

service record while still in training. He was awarded the American Spirit Honor Medal upon graduating from the Army Infantry Training Center at Fort Benning, Ga. Provided by the Citizens Committee for the Army, Navy and Air Force the medal is awarded the individual who best displays qualities of leadership expressing the American spirit, honor, initiative, loyalty and high example to comrades in arms. Priv. Schroder holds a law degree from the University of Virginia Law School.

Lt. Michael E. Sexton '64 has been decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross for his bravery in military operations in Vietnam. A pilot at Phan Rang AB, Vietnam, he was cited for flying his aircraft against intense ground fire to provide maximum safety to friendly forces with complete disregard for his own safety. Lt. Sexton, whose detailed account of a combat mission appeared in the Jan-Feb ALUMNUS, earned his degree from the University in aeronautical engineering and was a member of the AFROTC.

1964 LAW

A close examination of the March-April issue of this mag no doubt disclosed to you that "Jolly Tom Scribe" blew another deadline. So true. The excuse this time is that the Big Snow kept me in Evanston and I was unable to get to the office where I keep my voluminous correspondence from all my loyal readers. And that statement is really a snow job. Write, dearly beloved classmates, or I'll commission Class poet ROBERT FROST to compose a lyrical reprimand which will be published for all to see.

Is there any interest in the proposed Class party on Oct. 14? The first and only declaration of intent to imbibe has been received from DAVE PETRE who has also submitted a suitable reason for not attending the Duke weekend festivities (he and the family had the flu). He vows to "Make the Scene on Ten-Fourteen." Dave also wants to know if anyone has an address for BALFE WAGNER. If so, send it to Dave, c/o Xerox Corp., Rochester, N.Y.

CHUCK SWEENEY has been appointed a deputy St. Joseph County prosecutor and is, of course, still associated with Charles W. Roemer in private practice. Send 'em away, CHARLIE! In the "New Arrival Department" we have two items: Judy and STEVE MORSE announce with pride the birth of Steven Charles on Jan. 27 and Pat and JACK JIGANTI announce with equal pride the birth of Mia on March 2. Congratulations, parents!

BILL FLAHERTY is planning a six-week open house beginning about May 15 when he is scheduled to move into a bachelor pad in Chicago's Sandburg Village. Everyone is invited but keep in mind that unless the elevator people stop striking by then you'll have to walk 22 floors. ERNIE ZAVODNYK has ceased evicting poor widows and orphans for the City of Chicago and is now associated with Cahill & Gallagher in private practice at 111 W. Washington St., Chicago.

This must be one of the shortest columns I've ever written and it's all your fault for not writing. Please to drop just a "leetle," small note on four-cent postcard? Please?

THOMAS F. CONNEELY
556 Elmwood Ave., Evanston,
Ill. 60202

1965

After obtaining an MS in biology, VINCE KEVAL has accepted both a public health services traineeship scholarship and a position in the U. of Chicago's MBA hospital administration program. Due to a congenital back cyst JOE SCHRADER was discharged from the Air Force, after having completed basic training and OCS. Joe is now in production supervision for Deering Milliken, the third largest textile producer in the US which is located in Spartanburg, S.C. Joe writes that LARRY O'CONNOR's wife Ann had a baby girl, Courtney Ann, in January. Larry received his master's in finance from Michigan U. and is working for the Indiana National Bank in Indianapolis. Working for the same bank is PAT QUINN who is presently on leave of absence while serving with the Army Reserve. WALT SAHM is employed by the American Fletcher Bank in Indianapolis. LARRY PEPPER is in his second year of law at Rutgers and is engaged to an Eastern Airlines stewardess.

BEN FISHBURNE, who was married last June, is in his second year of law school at the U. of Virginia where he ranks number 14 in a class of 240. RON REED is playing well for the Detroit Pistons. JIM LONGE was engaged last Christmas to Marcy Pfent of Detroit. Plans call for an October wedding. Jim is serving as senior credit analyst for the National Bank of Detroit. DICK DUFOUR reported for active duty in February at Aberdeen Proving Grounds as a lieutenant in the Ordnance Corps after receiving his MBA from Michigan U. and taking a trip to Europe. Lt. JOHN ROONEY USA is engaged to Joanne SEXTON (MIKE's sister) and plans a May wedding in San Francisco. John is working on a classified project for the Pentagon. TIM SHAHEN will receive his master's in economics from Purdue in June.

ARAM JARRET is a father. His daughter, Alicia Noelle, was born last December. Aram is a second-year law student at Georgetown U. RICK RAY reported in April for active duty in the Army OCS and subsequent assignment with the Ordnance Corps. Rick received both a wife and an MBA from Northwestern last June. TIM O'SHAUGHNESSY was commissioned in the Navy and headed for Japan on a destroyer. Tim is engaged to Sheila Fisher. Lt. (jg) PHIL DUR is attached to the staff of the Commander of the Sixth Fleet aboard the USS Little Rock and is homeported in Gaeta, Italy with his wife Kathy. JERRY DAUGHERTY is doing his graduate work in marine biology and oceanography at the Virginia Institute of Marine Science under a research assistantship from the College of William and Mary. Jerry is also a member of the USMC reserve unit of Richmond, Va.

FRANK MAY joined IBM after graduation and is now working in software development for IBM's new system 360 computer. Frank is living in Yorktown Heights, N.Y. JOHN ANTON and FRANK "BUZZ" BREEN were ushers in the wedding. John is a doctoral candidate in math at Brown U. and Buzzy is in Army OCS. After completing the infantry officer's basic course, the Airborne course (where he received the outstanding leadership award) and the Ranger course, Lt. JOHN PLUNKETT served in the Airborne Raider Counter Insurgency Detachment. John now is the senior aide-de-camp to the general in charge of the United Nations Military Armistice Commission at Panmunjom, Korea. After a leave this summer to the US, John will be assigned to Vietnam. He reports that Lt. BOB ST. CLAIR is running a supply installation for the 7th Infantry in Korea and that Ens. TOM DOTY '66 is in the Information Office, United Nations Command, Korea.

Lt. RICHARD MCCARTHY was married in December in Philadelphia to Patricia Ann Devine (SMC '65) and is living in St. Louis. JOHN STANLEY ANTONGIOVANI was married to Kathleen Devine in Philadelphia in January and is living in Bakersfield, Calif. where Stan is a farmer. MIKE NEUBRAND is engaged to Clare A. Holmes of Ridgewood, N.J. and plans an August wedding. Mike is in law school at the U. of Pennsylvania. Lt. CARL T. SORRENTINO USAF was awarded a master's in journalism at Missouri U. in January. Carl is serving in the Air Intelligence Officers Course at Lowry AFB, Denver. BOB GAENSSEN was married to Elvira F. Loc of NYC in December. Bob is working on his PhD in biochemistry at Cornell U.

Lt. JIM SPADONI has been selected for participation in the USAF Medical Education Program for Reserve Officers. He is attending the New Jersey Col. of Medicine and Dentistry. Lt. DONALD SALOMONI has completed the Air Defense Officer basic course at the US Army Defense School where he trained in the operation of the Nike Hercules missile and its firing devices. Lt. ROBERT FOSNOT has received his pilot's wings in the Air Force. Lt. ROBERT REASS has entered in the two-month course in applied engineering under the Air Force Institute of Technology education program. He is stationed as a construction engineer at Sheppard AFB, Tex.

Lt. WILLIAM O'NEILL has graduated from the U. of Southern California with a master's in international relations. He is now assigned to Lowry AFB, Colo. as a member of the Air Training Command. JOSEPH LADRIGAN has just been commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force. He is now at Chanute AFB, Rantoul, Ill. for training as an aircraft maintenance officer. CARL McCLELLAND has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force and is assigned to Minot AFB, N.D. for training and duty as an administration officer. HENRY CARIDEO was promoted to first lieutenant at the US Army Ordnance Center and School, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. He is a personnel officer at the school. WILLIAM PFOUTS received his MS from Ohio State U.

JAMES P. HARNISCH
71 Poland Manor, Poland,
Ohio 44514

1965 LAW

JOHN A. HAUTER
1050 Indiana Ave., Glenwood,
Ill. 60425

1966

LARRY DIRNBERGER. Larry died on Feb. 24 of injuries suffered in Vietnam. It is indeed easy to enumerate the wonderful things that could be said about Larry. His winning personality, his academic performance, his athletic achievements and his winning attitude in all things are qualities we always admired in him. As was shown in his cross-country performances and in his classroom work, Larry was not one satisfied with mediocrity. This attitude carried over into everything he attempted. It would be an understatement to say he was looked up to by everyone who knew him. I'm sure I express the sentiments of our entire Class in relating our condolences to his entire family and in stating that he will always be remembered in our prayers and that his memory will always be honored and respected by those of us who had the privilege to know him.

Congratulations go out to golfer BILL REGNIER who has been named a sales and service representative for Allstate Ins. Co. and the Allstate Motor Club in South Bend. Congratulations are also in order to BILL GOULD and his wife Kate, whose second son was born on Dec. 23 and to PAT SIMPSON and his wife who had their first child, a boy of course. Pat writes to tell us that the young man already looks like ND potential. Pat has been with Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. in their management training program in Akron, Ohio since June, 1966. Congratulations belong also to '66ers NICK EDDY and PETE DURANKO on their recent signings into professional football with the Detroit Lions and the Denver Broncos.

MIKE DeMEO announces his engagement to Marybeth Dubuque a former SMcer who is now getting a master's degree in education at ND. Mike got his BA last June and his engineering degree this past January. The couple is planning a June wedding. A wedding we missed earlier was JOSEPH JANSEN's, who was wed on July 23, 1966. After serving with the Air Force in San Antonio, Tex., Joe was commissioned a second lieutenant and sent to Halloman AFB, N.M. He is now stationed at Sheppard AFB, Tex. as a trainee in accounting and finance.

BILL KELLEY is in the Peace Corps in southern Chile where he is living with the Mapuche Indians helping them to better their living conditions. We commend him on his dedication and wish him the best in all his wonderful endeavors. JIM "MOUSE" DOWNER, a John Marshall Law student, recently announced his engagement to Kathy Coultas. The couple is planning a July 8 wedding in Springfield, Ill. Married life must be the key to good grades. FRANK MURTHA and PETE CAREY, both of whom were married just before finals, finished among the top students in their respective law schools, Northwestern and Loyola.

The Irishmen in Chicago were entertained by MIKE CARRIGAN and his guitar on St. Patrick's Day. Mike lessened the sorrow they felt in spending their first St. Patty's Day away from Sweeney's. STEVE KNAUF just returned from three months in Europe after taking leave from Phillips Petroleum. Most of his vacation was spent skiing in Switzerland which comes as no surprise. Steve is now in Army OCS at Fort Dix. BOB RONIN is attending Northwestern working for his MBA. Bob graduated with a BS in mechanical engineering last June. MIKE RODDY finished Ordnance Officer's basic course at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. and is now a student at the Army Guided Missile School at Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville, Ala. He has aspirations of soon becoming a missile maintenance officer.

CHARLES BRADY has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force and is now at Keesler AFB, Miss. for training as a ground electronics officer. STANLEY COLLIGAN has also been commissioned and is at the same base as a weapons controller. CLAIRBORNE PERILLIAT has been commissioned in the Air Force and is now at Amarillo AFB, Tex. as a supply operations officer. JOHN KUMINECZ has been commissioned in the Air Force and is now at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. for training as an information officer.

Three Class of '66ers have had Ensign added to their names. These are: KEN KRIVICKAS who is at the US Navy Supply Corps School in Athens, Ga.; BOB LABRECQUE who is at the US Naval Nuclear Power School in Vallejo, Calif.; and JOHN LIENHARD who is at the Naval Station in Norfolk, Va. Other commissions are MIKE MOONEY and BILL ST. PAUL. The latter is at Moody AFB in Georgia. CARL PARLATORE has been commissioned a Second Lt. and is now located at Laughlin AFB in Del Rio, Tex.

I would like to take a little space from this article to wish the best of luck on his forthcoming marriage to a member of the Class of '65 who is also a fellow ALUMNUS reporter, JIM HARNISCH. It has been my privilege to become close friends with both Jim and his lovely fiancée Kathy Bayer, a 1966 graduate of St. Mary's. Bear and Bayer (pronounced the same) are undoubtedly two of the most charming and enjoyable people I have ever known. I sincerely wish them both continued happiness and the best of everything that life has to offer. The couple will be married in New York on June 24. Jim is currently in his second year of medical school at Ohio State and Kathy is presently employed by Time-Life publications in New York.

I extend to all of you who are still in school my wishes for success in your upcoming final exams. One more school year out of the way!

RICHARD ANGELOTTI
1404 Greenfield Dr., Erie,
Pa. 16512

1966 LAW

BOB KRAUSE has joined the ranks of us marrieds. The celebrated event took place in Detroit on March 4. Your roving reporter, in the midst of an interviewing sojourn with his wife, was privileged to be a member of the wedding party. JIM HEIMBUCH '65L was best man. JOE DELLA MARIA motored in from Chicago to aid in the celebration. He made Lu Ann's day complete by catching the garter. Bob and Terri were duly dispatched for a week in Bermuda, following which they will set up house in Detroit where Bob is practicing with Dickinson, Wright, McKean & Cudlip.

One Joe Della Maria also appeared at BOB MURPHY's St. Patrick's day "beerathon" proving once and for all that Joe will go to any length for a party. He was accompanied by STEVE WEIDNER '65L who is married to Joe's sister Kate. The ND Law School's Chesapeake Bay crew turned out in force to sing the praises of the Irish, as it did to welcome Pat and MARTY IDZIK to the area two weeks earlier. Please let us know when business or pleasure brings you to the Washington scene. Our numbers are growing every day (the JAG men are beginning to attend school and take up stations in the area) and the welcome mat is always out.

News of the month places STEVE SEALL with the South Bend firm of Oare, Thornburg, McGill & Deahl. Lt. DENNY DEE has completed Army Armor School at Fort Knox successfully passing through the hatch of even the smallest tank. TOM KENNEY has enlisted in the six months' program of Army Intelligence. After completing his clerkship with the Maryland Court of Appeals, he will associate with Venable, Baetjer & Howard in Baltimore. Please keep the news coming, particularly changes of address.

For those of you who have not as yet been notified, Dean O'Meara has announced his retirement. The task of naming a successor should be completed by the end of the semester. If the next dean serves Notre Dame with the dedication of Dean O'Meara, we will be fortunate indeed.

FRANK GREGORY
7403 Keystone Lane
Forestown, Md. 20028

1967

A strong factor in the success of the University is the fact that the bonds which exist among members of the Class do not end with the graduation ceremony. With spring here and graduation approaching, few of us are worrying about keeping in contact with other members of the Class in coming years. However, when we find the various ties that we have made during the last four years broken and ourselves in different circumstances, it may be a matter not only of convenience but also interest to be able to discover the locations and activities of various friends. To facilitate this a Class column will appear in every issue of the ALUMNUS which will contain information concerning the members of the Class. If we are going to be STUDENT organizations at the Law School have completed elections of their officers for the 1967-68 academic year. Dennis G. Collins is president of the Student Bar Association; Frank H. Smith editor-in-chief of the Notre Dame Lawyer; James Hancock director of the Legislative Drafting Service; Peter T. King thesaurarius of Gray's Inn; Terrance Kelly director of the Legal Aid and Defender Association; and Emilio V. Belluomini Jr. president of Moot Court. All of these student leaders will be in the third-year class.

Mr. Collins, Rochester, N.Y. is a graduate of the University of Dayton; Mr. Smith, of Trumbull, Conn., is a Notre Dame grad; Mr. Hancock, of Silver Spring, Maryland, is a graduate of the University of Nevada; Mr. Kelly, Decorah, Iowa, graduated from Loras College; and Mr. Belluomini, Galveston, Texas, is a Notre Dame graduate.

The executive vice-president of the SBA is James J. Barba, Glenmount, N.Y., Sienna College; the secretary is Theodore J. Wessel Jr., Indianapolis, U. of Dayton; the treasurer is James E. Cooling, Hazlewood, Mo., U. of Missouri; and the third- and second-year representatives are Steve J. Madonna, New Providence, N.J., LaSalle and John M. Dwyer, Jerseyville, Ill., Notre Dame.

The Lawyer's executive editor is Dennis C. Thelen, Queens, N.Y., Iona; its articles editors are James H. Seckinger, New Rockford, N.D., St. John's (Minn.) and Charles Weiss, Perryville, Mo., U. of Missouri. Case editor is Hugh C. Griffin, Chicago, Loyola; the development and managing editors are Michael S. Williamson, Terre Haute, Ind., Notre Dame and William T. Coleman, Riverside, Ill., Notre Dame. William H. Seall, South Bend, St. Mary's (Minn.) is note editor and Robert J. Wilczek, Chicago, U. of Dayton is book-review and survey editor.

successful in this, we will need the cooperation of everyone.

We have asked eight men who will be in different parts of the country to keep in touch with us regularly. BILL RAGEN will be at the U. of Wyoming in Laramie; in the California area contact RICH DINALLO at 535 Ocean Ave., Santa Monica; JOE BROUSSARD will be at 2535 Ashley Ave., Beaumont, Tex.; MIKE STOKES will be studying law at St. Louis U.; BILL HANIGAN will be at 10056 S. Bell in Chicago; MIKE O'CONNELL will be studying law at the U. of Connecticut; KEVIN HILL will be at the U. of Miami studying chemistry; and I, of course, will be in the New York area. If you are in any of these areas, it would be appreciated if you would occasionally drop us a note telling us where you are and what you are doing. Without your assistance a successful communication between the members of the Class cannot exist.

JOHN J. HUGHES
99 W. 37th St.
Bayonne, N.J.

Vice-thesaurarius of Gray's Inn is Thomas M. Ward, Monongahela, Pa., U. of Pennsylvania; its master of revels is Bryan J. Hughes, Malene, N. Y., Providence and Hugh F. Mundy, Brooklyn, King's College is keeper of the black book.

Appointments. Prof. G. Robert Blakey has been named counsel for the states of Oregon and Massachusetts and for the National Association of District Attorneys, amici curiae, in Berger v. New York, an appeal contesting the validity of a state statute permitting police officers to engage in electronic surveillance on judicial warrant. His brief argues the validity of the statute. A consultant, especially on electronic surveillance, to the President's Commission on Crime he testified in April before both House and Senate committees considering the administration's "Right to Privacy" bill.

Another Supreme Court case, Loving v. Virginia, an appeal contesting the Virginia antimiscegenation statute, was argued in April. Rev. William M. Lewers CSC was counsel in that case for 15 Catholic bishops and for the National Catholic Conference on Interracial Justice. He filed an amicus brief in support of the appellants.

Grant. The Council on Professional Responsibility of the Association of American Law Schools announced in March a second substantial grant in support of the Law School's effort to involve its students in the real-life problems of the community. The most recent grant, for $20,680, will finance the summer employment of 20 second- and third-year students in legal projects.

Three students will involve themselves in civil rights work in the South under the direction of Father Lewers. Six students will be employed in the offices of the St. Joseph County Public Defenders under the direction of Professors Conrad C. Kellenberg and Thomas L. Shaffer. Four, under Professors Robert E. Rodes Jr. and G. Robert Blakey, will work for the St. Joseph County Prosecutor. Four students under Assistant Dean Thomas F. Broden Jr. KSG and Professor

THOMAS L. SHAFFER / Law School

Kellenberg will work with migrant workers in the South Bend area. Two under Dean Broden and Prof. Shaffer will work for the South Bend Human Relations Council and two others under Dean Broden and Prof. Kellenberg will work in the Neighborhood Law Office in South Bend. The Law Office positions are financed separately out of "war on poverty" funds.

The Council gave a $3,600 grant to the Law School's Legal Aid and Defender Association in January to finance its work for indigent prisoners at the Indiana State Prison. One student is given summer employment under that grant. Many other students in both second- and third-year classes will spend the summer in private law offices and on the legal staffs of government agencies and corporations.

Faculty and Alumni. Dean Broden was given one of three Brotherhood Awards by the South Bend Chapter, National Conference of Christians and Jews. The annual awards, one of which is to a community leader who is a Catholic, recognize his efforts to improve human relations and to foster good will while identifying with his own religious group.

John Gildea '60, '63L was elected assistant secretary of Miles Laboratories, Inc., Elkhart in April. He has been an attorney for the corporation since his graduation from the Law School.

Capt. David M. Constantino '65L serves as division legal assistance officer and foreign claims officer at Chu Lai Combat Base, Vietnam. He has been in the Marine Corps since shortly after graduating from the Law School and is one of several recent graduates who are now legal and combat officers in the Vietnam war.

Prof. John J. Broderick co-chaired the annual Union-Management Conference on the campus April 7. It was the 15th year for this nationally respected meeting of leaders of labor and industry. Prof. Broderick was given a special 20-year award by the Air Force ROTC unit on campus at ceremonies celebrating the 20th birthday of the Air Force April 7. Cadets in the corps presented a plaque to Prof. Broderick, who is in his 20th year on the Notre Dame faculty, and hailed "his youthful vitality and his generous guidance during our careers. No man," the awarding cadet said, "has given of himself with greater enthusiasm to the students of Notre Dame." Prof. Broderick also toured Cape Kennedy in February as a guest of the ROTC unit and inspected the Air Force aerospace program there. He and Prof. Shaffer, along with ROTC Commander Col. Victor Ferrari and the University's Associate Vice-President for Academic Affairs, Dr. Thomas Stewart, toured the Special Air Warfare Center at Hurlburt Field, Florida as representatives of the University.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Farmann, the Law School's librarians, and Prof. Shaffer represented the Law School at the Diamond Anniversary of Ohio State University School of Law in Columbus in April.

E.V. Belluomini Jr.

Dennis Collins

Peter King

Frank Smith

Terrance Kelly

James Hancock

UND NIGHT

Typical of Universal Notre Dame Nights around the world was the gathering of more than 600 Cleveland Club Alumni who joined beneath a replica of the Dome to celebrate the 44th annual observance. From coast to coast and around the world, in grand ballrooms and favorite restaurants and clubs, thousands of Alumni and friends assembled to toast the University's 125th year. Outstanding Alumni and community leaders were special guests as numerous Clubs awarded accolades to their Man of the Year. Capping the festivities for a majority of the meetings were campus representatives who shared with Alumni throughout the world their intimate knowledge of Notre Dame today.

1967

THE occasion of the University's 125th anniversary lent a special air of festivity to Universal Notre Dame Night—1967. Alumni and friends in over 100 cities throughout the world gathered to mark the 44th annual UND Night and to hear University speakers trace the evolution and projection of Notre Dame's stature in the academic world.

Initiated in 1924 to provide an occasion for Alumni to call to the attention of their communities the excellence of Notre Dame in her academic and service programs, UND Night has grown in relevance to become the principal event on the Alumni Club calendar.

This year University administrators, deans, professors and coaches were joined by prominent Alumni in exploring the UND Night theme, "Notre Dame : 125 Years." Emphasis was on evaluating the original nature, purpose and problems of the University in light of the rapid expansion and striving for excellence that characterize contemporary Notre Dame. Thousands of Alumni heard a challenge issued for enthusiastic and loyal involvement in all phases of the University's continued growth.

Traditionally observed on the first Monday after Easter, UND Night celebrations this year ranged from March 27 through June 9 as Clubs from Puerto Rico to Pakistan and Buffalo to Los Angeles met under a variety of accommodations and circumstances to toast the University's first century and a quarter.

Cocktail hours, dinners and dances were often supplemented by the election and installation of new Club officers and viewing of the "1966 Football Highlights." Spot lighting a majority of UND Night celebrations were the awarding of Man of the Year scrolls to outstanding Alumni and leading citizens in recognition of their contributions to their community and Notre Dame.

From New England to Mid-Atlantic States. Kicking-off East Coast celebrations were Bostonites who gathered April 1 at the Statler-Hilton in the largest turnout ever recorded by the Club. Speakers Coach Ara Parseghian and Professor Frank O'Malley captivated the more than 600 guests who included novelist Edwin O'Connor '39, City Council President Barry Hynes '60 and Alumnus Emeritus Msgr. Cornelius Donovan '09. Robert L. Marr '58, construction equipment executive and past president of the Boston Club, was named Man of the Year.

BOSTON	Robert L. Marr '58
ERIE	Thomas W. Barber LLB '24
TRIPLE CITIES	Msgr. Francis J. Harrison '33
PHILADELPHIA	William A. Whiteside '51

The Holiday Inn South was the scene where Eric Clubbers April 3 heard Rev. Thomas O'Donnell CSC, assistant rector of Moreau Seminary, extoll the University's growth. Man of the Year Judge Thomas W. Barber LLB '24 shared the limelight with high school and grade school football awardees, Dennis Satyshur and Daniel Anysz.

Meeting four days later at the Hotel Frederick in Endicott, N.Y., Triple Cities Club members honored Msgr. Francis J. Harrison '33, pastor of St. Patrick Church and member of various influential diocesan commissions, as Man of the Year. Assistant Alumni Secretary James D. Cooney was the evening's featured speaker. Jim Cooney was on hand the following day to

Robert Michaud '50, Jim Armstrong '25, Herb Jones '27 and Edward McCarthy '53

Martin D. Johnson

Ray Broderick '35

UND NIGHT 1967

address the 40 members of the Central New York Club at their dinner meeting at the LeMoyné Manor in Liverpool, N.Y.

Williamson's atop the Barclay Building hosted several hundred Philadelphians who paid Man of the Year honors to former Club President William A. Whiteside '51. Joining Jim Cooney on the speaker's podium was Club member Lt. Governor Ray Broderick '35. April 15 saw Buffalo Alumni meeting at the Hotel Statler to hear University Vice-President for Public Relations and Development James W. Frick survey the Notre Dame scene. Judge Anthony W. Brick '36 presented Man of the Year honors to Henry Burns '29, past Club president who was instrumental in encouraging many Alumni to

BUFFALO Henry Burns '29
JERSEY SHORE Dr. George McDonnell '29
CENTRAL NEW JERSEY .. John R. Mullen '53
HARRISBURG Raymond Broderick '35

attend Notre Dame. Also on the docket for the evening were the installation of new officers and the presentation of a scholarship fund check by the women's group.

Fairfield County Alumni selected the Norwalk (Conn.) Motor Inn as the site of their April 16 get-together with guest speaker Jim Cooney. Two days later Jersey Shore Club members gathered to honor Dr. George McDonnell '29 as their Man of the Year. Featured speaker at the Barclay Hotel meeting was Edward "Moose" Krause, University athletic director. More than 100 Central New Jerseyites chose the Plainfield Country Club for their April 22 UND Night celebration. Named Man of the Year was John R. Mullen '53, founder of the Club's scholarship fund, and counsel and assistant secretary of the general law division of Johnson & Johnson.

The month of May saw three Eastern Clubs mark UND Night with the recently reactivated Harrisburg Club leading off on the 3rd. Over 150 persons gathered at the West Shore Country Club to honor Pennsylvania

Frank P. Fogarty

George G. Kerver '22

Men of the Year were in the news throughout the country as local Clubs cited Alumni and community leaders. In the East, Pennsylvania Lt. Governor Ray Broderick '35 was Harrisburg's nominee while Cleveland Alumni singled out George Kerver '22 for honors. On campus the St. Joseph Valley Club proclaimed Herbert E. Jones '27 their top man. Martin D. Johnson was feted as Man of the

Lt. Governor Ray Broderick '35 as Man of the Year and to hear Alumni Association President Ambrose "Bud" Dudley and ND assistant director of public relations James V. Gibbons speak on the forward-looking University programs. Alumni met in the Pittsburgh Press Club May 8 to welcome to the speaker's stand Rev. Jerome Wilson CSC, vice-president for business affairs, and Bishop Wright of the Pittsburgh diocese. Closing out the East Coast celebrations were Rochester Alumni who received some inside notes from Assistant Football Coach John Ray at their May 11 meeting at Eddie's Chop House.

Journey from DC to Florida to "Bluegrass" Country. Moving South UND Night festivities drew large attendance as a number of Clubs joined in the traditional observance. Leading off on April 19 was the Washington, DC Club which chose the Edward D. White Banquet Hall in Arlington for its dinner meeting. Selected as this year's Man of the Year for his outstanding contribution to the work of the Club was Cliff Letcher '40. Sharing the speaker's stand were Alumni Association Secretary James E. Armstrong and Major General Francis L. Sampson '37, the famous "paratrooper padre." A special feature of the evening was the presentation of a plaque to outgoing president Walter Brennan.

Richmond's Schrafft's Virginia Inn was the site for the Virginia Club celebration as 75 members honored Mayor Morrill M. Crowe as their Man of the Year.

VIRGINIA Morrill M. Crowe
WASHINGTON, DC Cliff Letcher '40
GREATER MIAMI Rau Popp
KENTUCKY Joseph Bowling '52

MC for the evening, Frank Soden, general manager and sports announcer for the Richmond Braves, presented University representative Jim Gibbons. The Notre Dame-Virginia award for outstanding leadership in the Club was presented to Bernard Nierle. Fort Lauderdale Alumni observed UND Night April 29 as part of their three-day Notre Dame Convention. Jim Armstrong was on hand at the Plantation in Crystal River to offer a view of ND 1967. Two days earlier he met with Club members from Greater Miami at their dinner in the Country Club of Coral Gables. Ray Popp

Herman Kriegshauser
'55

Jim Morse '57, Jim Lynch '67 and Bill Wolski '66

Richard King '37

Year in Fort Wayne. And in Omaha, Frank P. Fogarty joined the ranks of honorees. Football was uppermost in the minds of Muskegon Alumni as three former Fighting Irish joined the celebrations. Noteworthy Men of the Year in the Midwest were St. Louis candidate Herman Kriegshauser '55 and Dearborn's choice, Dick King '37. In Buffalo top honors went to Henry Burns '29.

Henry L. Burns '29, Robert M. Bennett '62, James W. Frick '51 and Judge Anthony Brick '36

'38 was selected Man of the Year. Special guest at the Kentucky Club gathering April 10 was Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh CSC, University president, who was named an honorary Kentucky colonel and presented with a silver mint julep cup. The largest attendance in Club history, over 280, filled the Canterbury Room of Louisville's Executive Inn to hear Father Hesburgh and to honor Joseph Bowling '52 as Man of the Year. High school seniors Art Hipwell and Gene Bailey were named joint scholarship winners.

UND Nights in the Midwest. The Midwest, long a Notre Dame population stronghold, saw a full calendar of UND Nights scheduled as Alumni in a seven-state area staged a variety of events to commemorate the University's 125th anniversary. One of the earliest observances was held by the Calumet Club which met March 27 at Phil Smidt's Restaurant. Jim Cooney was guest speaker for the evening. Combining efforts, more than 650 Dearborn and Detroit Club members were entertained after dinner by Coach Parseghian's oratory. Detroit's Latin Quarter was the scene March 31 as Dearborn Club founder Richard King '37 was named Man of the Year.

DEARBORN Richard King '37
INDIANAPOLIS Leo A. Barnhorst '49
CLEVELAND George G. Kerver '22

April 3 at the Indianapolis Athletic Club found that city's Alumni gathering for a dinner honoring Leo A. Barnhorst '49, an insurance company executive, as Man of the Year. A large crowd was on hand to hear Dr. Thomas P. Carney, Alumni Association honorary president, review the Notre Dame situation. Also on schedule for the evening were the presentation of scholarships to three students and the installation of new Club officers. Highlighting the Cleveland Club's April 3 observance was the celebration of the Club's 50-year anniversary. More than 600 Alumni and guests crowded the Sheraton Hotel ballroom to hear a "state of the university" address by Father Hesburgh and to honor George G. Kerver '22, host of the Club's annual weekend retreat, as Man of the Year.

The following day the Eastern Illinois Club met at Danville's Holiday Inn for dinner, the election of officers and a viewing of the "1966 Football Highlights." Across the border on the same night Fort Wayners welcomed guest speaker Tom Carney to their Orchard Ridge Country Club gathering. Man of the Year for the Fort Wayne Club was Martin D. Johnson. Meeting April 5 at Logan's Steak House, the Canton Club chose Edward A. Machuga '55, Club treasurer and assistant product manager for Diebold, Inc., as their Man of the Year. On hand to fill Club members in on Notre Dame was Father O'Donnell. One night later Toledo Alumni hosted Professor Hugh O'Brien of the sociology department at the Sylvania Country Club.

FORT WAYNE Martin D. Johnson
CANTON Edward A. Machuga '55
TOLEDO Harold H. Munger '15
MUSKEGON George Liddle
ST. LOUIS Herman Kriegshauser '55

Football Captain Jim Lynch entertained more than 60 Muskegon Clubbers at their April 7 dinner in the Lakos Restaurant. Selected Man of the Year was George Liddle, retiring city manager, whose son George Jr. is a 1958 graduate. One day later St. Louis Alumni began their celebration with an evening Mass at St. Joseph's Church. Celebrant was Rev. Edward Keller CSC of the University's department of economics, who was also guest speaker for the evening. Moving on to the Colony Hotel for cocktails and dinner, the Club honored Herman Kriegshauser '54, former president, secretary-treasurer and chairman of the Club, as Man of the Year. The evening's festivities drew to a close with a late-night dance. The same night farther up the River, Tri-Cities Club members hosted Jim Gibbons as over 200 Alumni and friends celebrated at the Outing Club in Davenport, Iowa.

Still More Midwest Celebration. Nearly 100 Alumni turned out at the Rockford University Club April 11 as their Club welcomed guest speaker Roger Valdiserri,

UND NIGHT 1967

Rallying more than 500 Alumni and friends, the Boston Club turned out in grand style to commemorate UND Night. A few weeks later twin spotlights in Chicago were focused on Man of the Year Edward V. Hanrahan '43 and Decency in Entertainment Award winner Ray Bolger. On hand in Kansas City to congratulate Man of the Year Russell J. Farrell '48 was University representative Dr. George N. Shuster. At Rockford's celebration in the University Club, William K. Todd received the Man of the Year scroll. A large force of over 70 Alumni gathered in Dacca, Pakistan to hear Archbishop Theotoni Ganguly.

director of sports information. Sharing the guest spot was David Shanahan of the University Foundation's Chicago office. Man of the Year for the Rockford Club was editor and publisher William K. Todd. Past president Robert Downer came in for his share of the honors as Club members awarded him special recognition. Journeying to Peoria the following day, Roger Valdiserri met with Alumni in that city for a Country Club dinner celebration. More than 100 were on hand to hear MC Chuck Perrin '51 introduce Man of the Year, John E. Cassidy Jr. '48, attorney and freshman representative to the Illinois House. A highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Enio Arbroit trophy to the Pekin High School football team.

ROCKFORD William K. Todd
PEORIA John E. Cassidy Jr. '48
ELKHART Matthew Ronzone '35
ST. JOS. VALLEY, IND. Herbert E. Jones '27
CHICAGO Edward V. Hanrahan '43

Closest to home the Notre Dame Alumni of St. Joseph Valley met April 13 on campus at the Center for Continuing Education. Jim Armstrong was featured guest and Herb Jones, athletic business manager, copped Man of the Year honors. April 17 saw 55 Alumni in Elkhart present their first Man of the Year award to Matthew Ronzone '35, Elkhart HS track coach. Jim Frick was on hand at the Italian-American Club to report on the University. The Decatur Club chose the same night to host Dean Lawrence Baldinger of the College of Science as 33 members assembled at the Ambassador Motor Inn. Squaw Creek Country Club was the site of the Youngstown festivities as basketball mentor Johnny Dee addressed the April 19 gathering. Stronghold in Chicago. Windy City Club members filled the Grand Ballroom of Chicago's Conrad Hilton Hotel as more than 900 Alumni and friends welcomed University President Father Hesburgh. Presentations highlighted the program as three major awards were bestowed. Named Man of the Year was Edward V. Hanrahan '43, US attorney for Northern Illinois. Song and dance man Ray Bolger walked off with this year's Decency in Entertainment prize and Dr. Thomas Carney was cited for his outstanding service to the University. The Club also donated $6,000 to the ND scholarship fund and the Women's Auxiliary added another $3,000. Within two days the Ohio Valley Club held its annual dinner at Figaretti's Supper Club in Wheeling, W. Va. Initiating a new program procedure, Club members held an informal discussion on the state of the University in lieu of a formal speaker. The Steinhaus in Lansing provided the setting for that city's get-together April 28. Guest speaker Jim Cooney briefed Club members on Notre Dame today before a showing of the "1966 Football Highlights." A dinner-dance at Underwood Court in Wauwatosa was on the schedule for Milwaukeeans observance of UND Night April 29. Closing out the celebrations in the Midwest were members of the Green Bay and Appleton Clubs who banded together for a joint observance on May 8. Special guests at the Zuider Zee Supper Club were "Moose" Krause and 1967 Football Captain Bob Bleier.

On to Kansas City and Points West. West of the Mississippi UND Night met with one of the largest turnouts on record as Clubs from Missouri to Washington marked

Edward V. Hanrahan '43

Ray Bolger

Russell J. Farrell '48, San DiGiovanni '36, Dr. George Shuster '15, Chuck O'Neill '57

William K. Todd

Most Rev. Theotonius Ganguly PhD '51

the 44th annual observance. April 5 members of the Kansas City Club opened far Western celebrations as 100 Alumni assembled in the city's Commerce Tower. Dr. George N. Shuster, assistant to the president, took the speaker's stand to bring Club members up to date on the University's progress. Kansas City Man of the Year was Russell J. Farrell '48. Kansans from the Wichita area congregated in the Wichita Club April 8 for their dinner meeting with Brother Raphael Wilson CSC, director of admissions, as principal speaker. The Blackstone Hotel was the site April 11 of the Omaha

KANSAS CITY Russell J. Farrell '48

OMAHA AND COUNCIL

BLUFFS Frank P. Fogarty

and Council Bluffs get-together. Nearly 150 persons hosted guest speaker Father O'Donnell and applauded Man of the Year choice, Frank P. Fogarty, president of the Meredith Broadcasting Company. Special awardee Herbert Sampson '50 was cited for his service on the national Alumni Board. In appreciation for their nine-season coverage of all ND games, radio station KBON and the ABC network were the recipients of a special Club award.

April 20 was the date Alumni from Colorado Springs assembled at the Ent Air Force Base Officers' Club to hear of the University's growth from Dr. William Burke, dean of the Freshman Year of Studies. The following day Dean Burke shared the Denver spotlight with Colonel Rafalko, athletic director of the USAF Academy and long-time friend of ND Alumni. Over 200 were on hand at the Petroleum Club for the festivities including special guest Mayor Tom Currigan '41. New Mexico's Sunroom was filled as Alumni met with Director of Publications John H. Janowski.

Rallies from Washington to Southern California. West Coast festivities centered around Washington and Oregon in mid-April as Alumni in the latter state congregated in Portland on the 10th to hear Brother Wilson tell them of Notre Dame. Washingtonians from the western half of the state met with Brother Wilson April 11 in Seattle's Black Angus restaurant while those in Spokane rallied one of the greatest attendances on record the following evening. Brother Wilson was again featured speaker at the Spokane House celebrations feting Richard St. John '56 as Man of the Year.

The Golden State of California was host to a number of UND Night observances as Alumni from the North and South took part in the annual festivities. University Executive Vice-President Edmund P. Joyce CSC addressed Los Angeles Alumni gathered in the Blossom Room of the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel April 3. Among those in the audience were special guests Deputy

SPOKANE Richard St. John '56
SAN DIEGO John V. Naish

Mayor Joseph Quinn and Police Chief Thomas Reddin. The Northern California Club joined with their neighbors in San Jose to celebrate UND Night with Father Joyce in Burlingame's Hyatt House. Nearly 100 attended the April 5 festivities and heard the announcement of a new name for the Northern Alumni—the San Francisco Bay Area Club. The Del Prado Restaurant in the state capital was the site of an April 19 meeting of Sacramento Alumni. John Janowski reviewed the Notre Dame academic scene while "1966 Football Highlights" gave an athletic view.

And Festivities in Other Lands. Beyond the continental borders Alumni throughout the world joined in celebrating UND Night making it a truly universal occasion. Ten foreign Clubs, including Berlin, London, Venezuela, Ecuador and Vienna took part in this year's observance. Holding a most successful event was the ND Club of Pakistan where 70 persons gathered April 6 at Mathis House at Notre Dame College in Dacca. Enjoying two films at the affair catered by the Inter-Continental Hotel were special guests Brother Fulgence Dougherty CSC, religious superior of the Brothers and Rev. Robert McKee CSC, religious superior of priests. Also on hand to enjoy the "1966 Football Highlights" and "Notre Dame Story" was Archbishop Theotonius Ganguly.

Panama Club members held their celebration April 8 at the Albrook Field Officers' Club. Special guest for the evening was Bishop Carlos Lewis, auxiliary of Panama. Ernest Massimine '34 outlined the Notre Dame picture at the April 29 Colombia Club observance. The finale for the 44th Universal Notre Dame Night will be supplied by the Puerto Rico Club as they meet June 9 for their annual observance.

ALL SYSTEMS ARE "GO"

Sports

THE beginning of a new football season poses any number of problems for the coach and team. But the situation is greatly compounded when this same coach and team are number one in the nation.

This, exactly, is the kind of pressure Ara Parseghian and his 1967 Fighting Irish will face this fall as the obsession to upend the reigning champions intensifies with one opponent after another. The question now is how many teams on Notre Dame's 10-game schedule have the ability equal to such a desire, for there is little doubt that the Fighting Irish once again are loaded with all the offensive and defensive guns to capture another national title.

This was unmistakably clear May 6 when the Varsity pasted the Old-Timers 39-0 before college scouts and ABC's nationwide cameras. What spotters from California and Purdue as well as the country's armchair footballers saw gave little solace to this year's Irish opposition. Basically, they found the same championship team, matured by a year and bolstered by a number of freshmen whose potential could easily have ND fans forget the gaps created by this year's senior graduating class.

Spring practice, barring the in-temperate whims of the weatherman and the curse of an unending list of injuries to key players, brought forth encouraging prospects for Notre Dame repeating as college gridiron champs. The duel between Terry Hanratty and Coley O'Brien for quarterbacking honors continues. With both showing equal poise in running the ball club and both demonstrating pinpoint aerial accuracy, it becomes quite likely that Parseghian this year will alternate them at the field general's slot. This proved not only workable during the Old-Timers game, but the combination resulted in several successful TD drives.

RENE TORRADO

Bootless rookie with lots of kick

Irish fans were treated likewise to several surprises at the 37th annual spring game. The unexpected pass-catching ability of Paul Snow, brother of 1964 All-American Jack Snow, thrilled the 22,000 fans in attendance, especially on the last play of the game when he hauled in a 42-yard bomb from O'Brien for the game's closing tally. Snow got his chance to perform when Jim Seymour was sidelined with a shoulder injury.

The 1967 Irish will get another plus this year when sophomore bare-foot kicker Rene Torrado assumes the punting chores. The slim 167 pounder from Bal Harbour, Fla., who wears a 9½ EEE, punted four times in the game for 181 yards, an average of more than 45 yards.

As Ara unveiled his fourth edition of the Fighting Irish, many new names and unknown quantities were spotlighted, many of which will be given starting roles this fall.

Where All-American Jimmy Lynch vacated his inside linebacker position, a 6-0, 230, freshman from Superior, Wis., Bob Olson has filled the gap beside the all-veteran wave of John Pergine, Dave Martin and Mike McGill. And at right defensive end, where the familiar number 81 of Alan Page appeared so impenetrable for three years, Kevin Hardy, last year's biggest of the front four, has been shifted to where, more than likely, he will become the smallest of the front four. Pushing Hardy out of his familiar tackle spot and also filling the All-American Peter Duranko's slot are heavier weights Eric Norri (6-2, 240), Mike McCoy (6-5, 270) and backup man Bob Jockisch (6-3, 260).

On the other side of the line, the job of replacing graduating seniors is more acute. Time only will tell if anyone can replace the likes of Nick Eddy and Larry Conjar. Two new faces are making every effort to challenge that reputation. At fullback Ron Dushney was a genuine surprise all spring, while Dan Harshman ably carried the ball at halfback.

On the offensive line the competition is keener than ever. Sophomore Bob Kuchenberg and freshman Terry Brennan seem to have the edge at tackle over Ed Tuck, Dick Swatland, Rudy Konieczny and Mike Kuzmicz.

PARSEGHIAN and HANRATTY
No. 1 combination again this year?

While at guards, the nod now goes to Roger Fox and Tom McKinley. The Varsity's center spot, vacated by George Goeddeke, has come up with a strong line of contenders headed by Steve Quinn and followed by Larry Vuillemin, and Tim Monty.

This year's Hering Awards, traditionally given at the close of spring practice for proficiency and improvement at the various positions, were presented to Eric Norri, outstanding defensive lineman; John Pergine, outstanding defensive linebacker; Jim Smithberger, outstanding defensive back; Steve Quinn, most improved lineman; Bob Kuchenberg, outstanding offensive lineman; Captain Rocky Bleier, outstanding offensive back; Jim Seymour, outstanding offensive receiver; Dan Harshman, most consistent back; Mike McCoy outstanding defensive freshman lineman; Terry Brennan, outstanding offensive freshman lineman; Ed Ziegler, outstanding freshman back offense; and Bob Olson, outstanding freshman linebacker.

Other spring varsity sports as well as injuries sustained early in practice claimed the services of many ball-players. Included in this number, but expected to play ball this fall, are Dick Swatland, Paul May, Bob Gladieux, Dave Haley, Mike Kuzmicz, Rudy Konieczny, Bob Belden, Tom Schoen, Mike Burgener and Jay Ziznewski.

Fall 1967 will mark the University's 79th consecutive appearance on the gridiron. And for Ara, taking his 25-3-2 slate into battle, this will be his fourth season with the Irish.

Notre Dame's 1967 schedule includes: California (Sept. 23), at Purdue (Sept. 30), Iowa (Oct. 7), Southern California (Oct. 14), at Illinois (Oct. 21), Michigan State (Oct. 28), Navy (Nov. 4), at Pittsburgh (Nov. 11), at Georgia Tech (Nov. 18) and at Miami (Nov. 24).

O'BRIEN and SNOW
Provided grand finale

YEAREND WRAP-UP

Success...and an Eye to the Future

THE Athletic Department's budget for next year will have to be increased to accommodate a liberal supply of one item. Silver polish . . . for all of the trophies varsity athletic teams captured this past season.

The various hardware collected this year include five in football, (AP, UPI, MacArthur Bowl, Grantland Rice, Washington Touchdown Club); two in basketball, (The Mayor's Trophy for the victory over the Air Force Academy, and the Indianapolis Club Trophy for the win over Butler); two in track, (CCC, and Indiana State Meet); and one for baseball, (the Rollins Invitational Championship).

Football Championship. The highlight of the sports year was, of course, the National Championship football team. Veteran newspaper reporters were unanimous in the opinion that "this was the finest college football team" in many years. And the post-season honors given to Ara Parseghian's squad support this claim. The Irish were voted Number One in both the AP and UPI college polls and the Football Writers Association of America awarded Notre Dame the Grantland Rice Trophy, symbolic of the best football team in the land.

Team honors were overshadowed, however, by the number of individual awards. A Notre Dame record total of 15 members of the Fighting Irish were selected on the various All-America teams, either on the first or second teams as well as on the Honorable Mention lists. Six players—Jim Lynch, Alan Page, Pete Duranko, Kevin Hardy, Nick Eddy and Tom Regner—can be classified as "consensus All-Americans."

Maxwell Honor to Lynch. One of the two premier awards given each year to a college football player, the Maxwell Trophy, went to captain Jim Lynch. The crowning moment of glory, at least for all of the Notre Dame men who were in attendance, came when Lynch was given a standing ovation following his acceptance speech before some one thousand guests at the Maxwell Dinner in Philadelphia. Lynch's performance there can best be summed up in his statement . . . "I'm grateful to Notre Dame for treating me as Jim Lynch the student, rather than Jim Lynch the linebacker."

Mix of Athletics and Academics. In addition, Notre Dame athletes this past year were highly successful in the world of academics. For instance, Lynch was awarded an academic scholarship by the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame. Ed Schnurr, a reserve tackle, was granted an NCAA post-graduate award of $1,000. Defensive halfback Jim Smithberger, Lynch, Regner and basketball captain-elect, Bob Arnzen, were named to Academic All-America teams. Arnzen was the only sophomore in the country to be selected on the ten-man cage squad.

Roger Fox

Bob Arnzen

Fred Schnurr

Tom Regner

Dick Licini

Tom Cuggino

Bob Whitmore

Bill Brown

Jim Lynch

With sophomores Bob Whitmore and Arnzen, the 1966-67 season also saw a resurgence in Irish basketball fortunes as John Dee's sophomore-laden squad finished with a 14-12 record.

Unmarried Fencers. Mike DeCicco continued to impart his magic touch with the Fencing Team as the Irish finished with an unblemished 18-0 record, the only undefeated college fencing team in the country. The fencers also placed sixth in the NCAA post-season championship.

During the past five years, DeCicco's teams have compiled a record of 79 wins and only 10 defeats—a .887 winning percentage.

Swimming, a Plus. This year also marked a high tide of success for the Irish tankers as Coach Dennis Stark's swim team finished the season with a 7-3 record, the best log since 1959-60. Although the Irish lose two outstanding seniors—freestyler Rick Strack, and breast-stroker Bob Husson—the return of three top sophomores, Mike Davis, John May, Greg Ranieri, and junior Tom Bourke, help make the outlook for next season a very promising one.

Heavyweight Roger Fox was somewhat of a mat-sensation during the wrestling season. Fox muscled his way to 8 victories in 9 meets, earned a second-place finish in the Indiana State Wrestling Tournament and a third-place in the Wheaton invitational.

Track Standouts. Top performances from youngsters Bill Hurd, Pete Farrell, Ole Skarstein and Ed Broderick, powered the Irish trackmen to some impressive wins and championships. Alex Wilson's squad literally ran away with the Central Collegiate Conference indoor championship and recently edged Indiana for the top prize in the Indiana State Outdoor Meet. Hurd and Skarstein, sophomore sprinters, were big point-getters all season long, while quarter-miler Farrell established new indoor and fieldhouse records with a timing of 1:49.3. Farrell received All-America honors.

Tom Fallon's tennis squad, sorely missing the injured Gary Rieser, nevertheless had racked up 12 victories against two losses heading into a final pair of matches. An April loss to strong Southern Illinois 6-3, snapped a 29-game winning streak stretching back to 1965. Number one singles star, Bill Brown, has dropped only one match while junior Jasjit Singh remains undefeated in the number two singles spot.

A Banner Year for Jake. Jake Kline's 34th season as head baseball coach could end up as one of the best in his long career. With six games remaining the Irish will be trying to improve their 13-6-1 record and capture an at-large bid in the NCAA playoffs. The diamond stars this season have been hard-hitting first baseman, sophomore Dick Licini (.387), footballer Kevin Hardy (.384) and basketball captain Bob Arnzen who tops Irish hurlers with a 4-0 record and a neat 1.45 ERA. The Irish won the Rollins Invitational Tournament on a southern swing prior to the start of the regular season.

While the 1966-67 season has been a highly successful one, even spectacular in certain instances, the future is even brighter because of the number of top performances in all sports from sophomores and juniors.

Make that a double order of silver polish, please.

Roger O. Valdiserri

Director of Sports Information

Photoany

The Notre Dame and Western Railroad is a busy line . . . switching, coupling, docking over 700 hoppers, refrigerator cars and gondolas a year . . . The 65-ton diesel straining with a train of coal hoppers . . . dumping up to 100 tons an hour into the vast coal bin to satiate the power plant's winter hunger . . . The locomotive crane hoisting great weights and shunting the empty hoppers to the siding to await the engine that will haul them south for more coal . . . Familiar stops—the power plant, warehouse, storage pile . . . Familiar cargoes—tons of coal; building materials for the University's ambitious expansion; meat and potatoes for the unceasing need of the dining halls.

But the Notre Dame and Western is also a quiet line. It races to meet no schedules. No whistles are blown, no lanterns

photos by
M. Bruce Harlan

Photomany

are waved. There's not so much as an "all aboard" to summon its crew from their power plant jobs. Lumbering down the track the men on ND & W's 5332—superintendent Brother Borromeo, engineer John Gooley, crew Russell Sterzik, Lester Gorbics, Ray Sagi—have time to recall the past glories of the line . . . Football specials lined-up along the length of the track disgorging their passenger-fans and waiting to be watered down and serviced . . . The depot of the early 1900s complete with station platform and overhanging window for a clear view down the track . . . Tracks which once criss-crossed the north campus and ran up behind the Infirmary and down to the ice-house and stock-loading pens.

And yet, the Notre Dame and Western is not a paradox. With only a half mile of private track and running rights on another mile of track, it hasn't far to go. And it has only one community to serve, but it does the job well—as it has since the turn of the century when the first steam engine chugged over the track. The Notre Dame and Western RR may not be as long as other railroads, but its tracks are just as wide.

RX R

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION BOARD OF DIRECTORS

OFFICERS

THOMAS P. CARNEY '37
HONORARY PRESIDENT
AMBROSE F. DUDLEY JR. '43
PRESIDENT
JOSEPH H. CAREY '32
VICE-PRESIDENT
THOMAS W. CARROLL '51
VICE-PRESIDENT
CHARLES J. PATTERSON '47
VICE-PRESIDENT
JAMES E. ARMSTRONG '25
EXECUTIVE SECRETARY
JAMES D. COONEY '59
ASSISTANT ALUMNI SECRETARY

DIRECTORS TO 1968

JOSEPH H. CAREY '32
NOMINATIONS
RELIGION AND CITIZENSHIP
19965 BRIARCLIFF
DETROIT, MICH. 48221
THOMAS W. CARROLL '51
NOMINATIONS PLACEMENT
214 W. 20th
HUTCHINSON, KAN. 67501
AMBROSE F. DUDLEY JR. '43
EXECUTIVE 519 SUSSEX RD.
WYNNWOOD, PA. 19096
CHARLES J. PATTERSON '47
ACADEMIC AFFAIRS
CONTINUING EDUCATION
73 MT. WAYTE AVE.
FRAMINGHAM, MASS. 01702

DIRECTORS TO 1969

WILLIAM D. KAVANAUGH '27 BUDGET
3445 ORDWAY ST., N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20016
WILLIAM F. KERWIN JR. '40
ADMISSIONS
1108 EMILIE ST.
GREEN BAY, WIS. 54301
RICHARD A. ROSENTHAL '54
PUBLIC RELATIONS AND DEVELOPMENT STUDENT AFFAIRS
P.O. BOX 200
SOUTH BEND, IND. 46624
LEO V. TURGEON '42 ATHLETIC SUITE 107
CRENSHAW MEDICAL CENTER
3731 STOCKER ST.
LOS ANGELES, CALIF. 90008

DIRECTORS TO 1970

EDWARD G. CANTWELL '24
700 BINNS BLVD.
COLUMBUS, OHIO 43204
EDWARD B. FITZPATRICK '54
5 THE MAPLES
ROSLYN ESTATES, N.Y. 11576
JOHN J. REIDY '27
11850 EDGEWATER DR.
LAKEWOOD, OHIO 44107
LEONARD H. SKOGLUND '38
426 DOVER AVE.
LAGRANGE PARK, ILL. 60525

ac/a·dem'ic free'dom

MAGAZINE STAFF

JAMES E. ARMSTRONG '25
EDITOR
JOHN P. THURIN '59
MANAGING EDITOR
DUTE WINSKUNAS
EDITORIAL ASSISTANT
BRUCE HARLAN '49
RICHARD STEVENS '51
PHOTOGRAPHERS
EDWARD E. HERRMANN
ART CONSULTANT

NOTRE DAME

alumnus