BARRY MEDAL TO EDW. RILEY OF SEMINARY

Moreau Man Wins; Harold [Haynes Takes the Second Place

Edward Riley, of Moreau Seminary, won the Barry medal by presenting a one act play entitled "Civilization," by Richard Harding Davis. Second place was awarded to Harold Haynes, who recited "The Raven," by Poe. The decisions were unanimous.

The judges were Professors Hamel, McGreggor and Northcott.

The Patrick T. Barry medal has, for the past 26 years, been the highest award for excellency in elocution. The medal was donated by Patrick T. Barry, a graduate of Notre Dame. The contestants this year chose, for the most part, acts or scenes of plays and presented them.

EXERCISES FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Detailed Program Announced
by Committee; Parade Formation Given

Decoration Day exercises will start tomorrow morning with first call at 8:00 o'clock; assembly at 8:10, when the color guard, firing squad, drummer and bugler fall in at the Main Building. At 8:15 Bugler Swanson will sound Church Call. The colors will be escorted to the flag pole where an altar has been erected. At 8:20 Rev. Ernest Davis, C.S.C., will begin reading the Memorial field mass.

Following the mass the colors will be escorted to Washington Hall. Lieut. Lewis Murphy, U. S. M. C., will act as chairman for the literary exercises. Professor Eugene Payton will deliver the address following the salute to the colors sounded by the bugler.

After the closing ode, the parade will form in front of the Main Building as follows: Col. William Hoynes and Lieut. Murphy, Notre Dame Band, Adjutant Riordan, colors Notre Dame Post 286, firing squad; ex-service men in uniform preceded by the chaplain and officers, fourth degree Knights of Columbus in regalia followed by the third degree Knights in a body, student body and visitors.

At the cemetery a hollow square will be formed around the south section centering on Father Corby's grave. The band will play "America" during the decoration of the graves of veterans; the chaplain will read a short prayer, after which three volleys will be fired over the graves of the veterans and the bugler will sound taps.

Freshman Elect Nick Smith to the S. A. C.

Nicholas Smith, of Badin Hall, was elected representative of the sophomore class for next year on the Student Activities Committee, at a meeting in the library at noon yesterday. He was elected by 24 votes over his opponent, Daniel Brady, of Freshman Hall. Both men were active on committees for the Frolic.

The interest in the election was slight. Only 40 members of the class, out of a possible 650, were at the meeting.

BASEBALL SNAPS

Pictures of the varsity baseball players will be taken by the Dome photographer at Cartier field tomorrow afternoon at 3.

Gorman's Wound Reported Not Serious

The wound which Arthur Gorman, '25, received Saturday night from the revolver of Patrolman Casmier Luczny, is said by attending physicians not to be serious. His father is rushing from Houston, Texas, to see him. No further developments in the case were reported.

O'Brien Brothers of the South
Bend Lathe Works Offer
Three Awards

To the list of prizes to be awarded for excellence in scholarship to students by South Bend citizens, the O'Brien brothers, of the South Bend Lathe Works, have offered three prizes of $50 each.

The winners of these prizes will be announced at the Commencement exercises.

FATHER IRVING TALKS TO FORUM

Prof. Shuster, Bro. Alphonsus and Gallagher on the Program

The Forum held their annual banquet in Kable's banquet hall last night, with Rev. Thomas Irving, vice president of the University, as main speaker. Ray Gallagher, winner of the intercollegiate title in debating, Professor George N. Shuster, head of the Department of English, and Brother Alphonsus, who has been with the organization since it began, and was with it as the Brownson Debating Society, were also on the program.

The Glee Club quartet, Raub, Detter, La Cava and Koch, sang, and an orchestra composed of Thompson, Milligan, McKerron, and Hyland, played. Joseph P. Burke, president of the society, was toastmaster.

DOMES OF 1924 AFTER THE CASH

Bischoff Chairman of Funds
Committee; Barrett
Talks

To make money for the 1924 Dome, a finance committee, to work with the business staff of the publication, has been named. The committee will take care of any extraordinary means to make money, by means of concessions, etc.

George Bischoff has been selected as chairman of the committee, and is also chairman of a committee selected from the advertising classes to secure foreign advertising for the Dome. The latter organization was effected following an address by O. S. Barrett, of the Pontiac Engraving Co., Chicago, former advertising manager of the Studebaker Automobile Co.

The Dome staff met Sunday morning in the library and were addressed by Mr. Barrett. They made general plans for the book.

In addition to Bischoff, the following men will work on ads with him and Bartley, Gilbert Schaeffer, John Q. Adams, John A. Elliott, and Joseph Burke.

PUBLICATION BOARD CERTAIN FOR NEXT YEAR

Unless Faculty Objects; Class
Dance Costs Set; Students
Entertainment Board

A board in control of student publications will be at the University next year. Class dance expenses will be regulated by certain sums. Five students will form a board to work with the faculty on student

Chairman Cavanaugh, of the S.A.C. entertainment for next year.

These provisions were brought before the Student Activities Committee in meeting last night and passed, with John Cavanaugh as chairman.

The Publication Board constitution will be brought before the faculty, and if approved, will become effective next fall. It provides for the control of all student publications. The board will have general supervision of the publications, specific editorial policies being left to the editors. A financial report can be asked of any at any time. Meetings will be held once a week. The supervision will be hardly more than that of a unifying body, with only general policies of each publication being outlined.

The constitution, as outlined by Henry Barnhart, chairman of the committee, assisted by Carl Barr and James Swift, was adopted as read. George Dever and Vincent Engels, of the Juggler, were present at the meeting. The constitution was adopted unanimously. As soon as the faculty have passed on it, it will be printed in the DAILY.

Cut the Expenses
In order that class dances shall not continue to mount higher in costs, the S. A. C. passed a motion by James Swift, on that committee, that the maximum costs of these dances be set at Cotillion $5, Prom $10, and Ball $25. This will be written into the S. A. C. constitution, and classes are to abide by the ruling.

There has been much talk on this matter for some time.

On Entertainment
Five men will be picked to assist in selecting the program for concerts and lectures to be given in Washington Hall for next year. This motion was presented by John Cavanaugh at the S. A. C. meeting last night. The motion carried by a unanimous vote. The men, selected later, will pick the program with a member of the faculty, picked by the president.

The report of the Cafeteria Committee for the year, under the chairmanship of Carl Barr, was referred to next year's committee. The

DESMOND HEAD CHICAGO CLUB

Intersectional Game at Chicago Stadium is Suggested by Rockne

Owen E. Desmond was elected president of the Chicago Club for next year at their meeting in Carroll Hall rec room last night. William Cerney was elected vice president, Charles Collins, secretary, and George Barry, treasurer.

An intersectional football game should be played next year between Notre Dame and some other team in the Chicago stadium, said Coach Knute K. Rockne, in his talk to the club. Mr. Rockne also talked on some famous Notre Dame graduates.

AGGIES GATHER FOR LAST TIME

Entertain in Honor of Graduating Members of 1923 Class

The Agricultural Club will hold its final meeting of the year this evening at the banquet hall of the Roseland Community Church. A program has been arranged by junior and sophomore members of the department. Rev. Joseph Burke will be the main speaker.

The meeting will be held in honor of the five men receiving degrees from the department this June. They are Julio H. Espinosa, Columbia, S. A.; Thomas J. Lieb, Fairbault, Minn.; Andres B. Malatesta, Peru, S. A.; Walter J. McIntyre, South Bend, and Manuel G. Villanueva, Peru, S. A.

TO ORGANIZE FOREIGN GRADS

Hope to Increase Registration to Notre Dame by Capable Alumni

Organization of the foreign alumni into a body that will increase the foreign registration at Notre Dame, is being planned. The foreign registration of this year was not near as large as expected, but with the organization of a capable alumni, the high foreign registration of previous years should again be made.

Organization in the Philippines, Cuba, Mexico, the South American countries, Spain, and elsewhere, will be particularly fostered, as Notre Dame has always been most favored of all American colleges in these countries.

BAND PRESENTS FIRST PROGRAM ON QUADRANGLE

Will Play Again Thursday;
Expect Full Band Out
That Eve

The University Band gave its first outdoor concert last evening at 6:30 on the Main Building steps. The musical excellence of the Band was cleverly brought out in the rendition of the 12 numbers played. Especially interesting were the two numbers, "Chant" and "Three Folk Dances," written by Director Charles J. Parreant.

The Band will play another concert Thursday evening on the Quadrangle since many bandsmen found it impossible to assist in the Monday concert. Jimmy Egan, the president, says that on Thursday the full 40 pieces will play.

Last night's program was as follows:

Recital March	Parreant
The Flower Girl	Wenrick
La Carina Concert	Young
The Streets of Carlo	Fulton
Superba	Dalby
A Day in the Cottonfield	Zublin
Overture Romantic	Kiefer
June—Valse	Logan

TRADITIONS AND FRESHMEN

The Student Activities Committee is undertaking the publication of a booklet on Notre Dame tradition. The booklet will contain a resume of college customs, a student directory of information and remarks pertinent to Notre Dame life. The purpose of the publication is to acquaint the new man with Notre Dame.

Traditions are by far the most important element in the life of the college man. They are the soul of universities, that which makes a man love his school and fight for her. Notre Dame traditions have been neglected, but now, with the movement for a Greater Notre Dame, they are being revived, and the splendid stories of this old institution are being recalled that Notre Dame men might again know and realize the fascinating history of their Alma Mater.

That he may become a true Notre Dame man as soon as possible after he enters Notre Dame, the freshmen must know these traditions. If he does not know them, he loses the spirit and purpose of the University, and he sets his energies into wrong channels. These traditions are the new man's first and best teachers. They teach him that he is loyal to his fellows, his class, his school. They will teach him that religion is an essential part of his training and life.

They will teach him that the Notre Dame man is, above all, a man.

CLUBBING CLUBS

Notre Dame has always been opposed to frats, and for good reason. Frats split student bodies into segments, and if there is one thing Notre Dame stands for, it is an undivided student body. Notre Dame is one big fraternity. A spirit of friendly rivalry exists between halls, and, to some extent, between classes, but with a few exceptions, the clubs do not strive to outdo one another. There is room and reason for city and state rivalry, the kind of rivalry that keeps university standards in mind, and makes the rivalry tend to a furtherment of Notre Dame spirit, ideals and name.

State and city pride exist at Notre Dame, but it is manifested in hardly more than jocose bragging—with a few exceptions. Dances, entertainments, banquets, and other club activities, are needed to justify the existence of most of the clubs. The activities of some clubs—Toledo, Indianapolis, Rochester, Cleveland, and so on—are worthwhile. They advertise Notre Dame, they bind the students together, and result in strong and unified alumni.

The Student Activities Committee has a plan to remedy the situation. Only clubs with a punch will be allowed to live. Those who do no more than smile for Dome pictures will have smiled their last smiles, for the S. A. C. and the students must and will end the days of dead wood.

Colum O' Bits

By CLIFF WARD

The Colum had a bad night. Don't know what was the cause of it. Kinda think it was too much golf yesterday, so it begs permission to allow the Armchair Philosopher to pace up and down the colum to the extent of about 600 bread-earners. He says he can murder verse beautifully, write prose horribly, and crack poor jokes unflinchingly—with such qualifications we couldn't keep him out. He'll make a wonderful columist, if he doesn't become afraid of the footlights. We introduce the Philosopher. Orchestra, the circus introduction, — thanks!

A Sloppy Fable by the A. P.
(With apologies to none.)

In the days, B. V. D., when every coffee bean was a Life Saver, and every shoe sole a metal polisher, there guzzled a pair of dizzy dukes, who hung onto the birth records, by the strings, Josephus and Bohunkus. Being no kith or kin to the "Josephus and Bohunkus," of donkey fame, neither merited the Hall of Fame. But by the by, so to speak, this guy Josephus got to conceiving his married hair as harboring rare and valued microbes. Bohunkus, being of opposite constituency, made no such pretensions, bony of fist, and sturdy of wrists, he could hold his own against the best bartender that ever pulled a Camel. While Bohunkus battled manfully through his mortal program, Josephus had to be accompanied with a block and tackle to keep his neck from telescoping with his Paris garters. Of such natures were the two.

It so happened that on Christmas Eve in the year when women got suffrage away from the men, there convened in the mucilage parlor of Tommy Sword, the champion sewers of every precinct. Incidentally it so happened that the two opposing funnel gangs lined up against each other lead respectively by the brothers, Josephus and Bohunkus. Sez Jo to Bo, "Bo, I can drink you under the table, anytime, anywhere, and I'll do it now." Sez Bo back to Jo, "Jo, you're a liar." So the fight began. For forty days and forty nights, the brothers worked overtime, until at last Josephus, on a flower-laden barge, floated away, while his courageous brother, ah, it is sad to chronicle—lay back in Tommy's club on the floor—dead—dead—drunk. The judge wasn't sure who won, so he gives them each 30 days on the farm.

Moral: A lotta fellows in this life, spend their spare hours fighting bumble bees, wasps, and windmills, without getting anything for their efforts except wilted flowers. The fighter who gets the palm these days is the man who spars around in a library, and joins in the parlor and lobby fights. A fight is nothing more than a fight, until a worthy principle is involved—then it becomes a crusade.

Queries and Answers

Dear Colum: Will you print the "Purple Cow," and give me your opinion of it?

The lines you request are as follows:

"I never saw a purple cow,
I never hope to see one,
But I can tell you anyhow,
I'd rather see than be one."

We always thought the author of these lines was just what he didn't wish to be—only he didn't know his genders.

Love Poem by the A. P.

I'm lonely and I'm restless—sorta feelin'
Kinda blue,
A nursing in my heart's depths, a longin',
Claud, for you,
A kinda feverish fancy—like a silhouette review,
Keeps dancin' and a prancin' in my pipe's
"narcotic blue."
This fit of fancy's fading—as the ring of smoke I blew,
As the griefs that break our heart's strings,
and the deeds we strive to do,
Yet a mystic something lingers—when these spells of lays are through,
And I wonder—sure I know it—it's that
"longin', Claud, for you."

A TRUE SPORTSMAN

(Indiana Daily Student)

Perhaps the strongest argument in favor of modern college athletics is that it develops sportsmanship in fans and players alike. The argument bears weight. Every one admires a true sportsman.

But in the classroom many students who are so honorable on the field, or on the bleachers forget the principles of sportsmanship and freely accept and give help on examinations. After neglecting school work for a semester, and quaffing deep of the cup of diverting pleasures the procrastinating student proves himself not to be a sport. He is out of training and can not play the game squarely.

At the end of the term he is awarded a letter. It ensures him of credit and perhaps a few credit points, all to go toward graduation. Yet the credit is as meaningless as an "I" which might be won unfairly.

There seems to be a double standard, a marked distinction between honor in athletics and honor in the classroom. Like the athlete who gallantly accepts the adverse decision of the referee, when final examinations are upon us take the decision of the professor. A real sportsman is a sportsman always.

PARACHUTING ON PARNASSUS

THE FOOLS

I looked into a shadow-haunted pool,
And saw a fool,
And he looked back at me,
With the most damning glee,
As though he knew me better than I knew myself.
He was a fool.
His brow was just as high as mine, but he gazed quietly,
Shook questions from my tongue but left unsaid
That which he read,
Through thoughts, dead now, but buried in my brain.
He was a fool.

He sought the dream I once had held
And had compelled
To linger on, misshapen, as a lie
It could not die.
And so I wept, and he wept silent with me.
We were two fools.

Chemical Engineering Trip

Sunday evening, May 27, the junior and senior chemical engineers returned from an inspection trip covering the chief industrial plants in Chicago and nearby. Tim Rauh, Gerald Kremp, Charles Robrecht, William Bailey, Robert Quinn, and Levi Geniesse made the trip by automobile, under Mr. Byrne.

At the Illinois Steel Company's plant in Gary the party was shown the processes of making steel, blast furnace, open-heart furnace, and Bassemmer converter methods. At Buffington, Ind., they visited the Universal Portland Cement Company plant, and were shown the processes of grinding, crushing, and drying cement. They were also shown through the plant's chemical and physical testing laboratories. The next stop was the refining works of the Standard Oil Co., at Whiting, Ind. Here they had as a guide, Dr. McNeil, who explained the Burton process for cracking of oils, and his own process for making fancy candles. The engineers spent the night in Hammond and left early the next morning for Grasselli, Ind., to see the manufacture of heavy chemicals at the Grasselli Chemical Plant. Mr. Irwin, assistant superintendent, showed the men through the buildings and explained the making of sodium silicate, waterglass, sulphuric acid by the chamber process, hydrochloric and nitric commercial acids, and chemically pure nitric acid.

They lunched at East Chicago and then visited the electrolytic process plant of the U. S. Metal Refining Corporation. Mr. Mulligan, plant superintendent, acted as guide; showing the refining of lead, the recovery of silver and gold, the manufacture of hydrofluoric acid, and the processes of the assaying laboratory. At the Sherwin-Williams paint works, they were shown the manufacture of pigments by precipitation, the uses of filter-presses and dryers, and the old Dutch method of making white lead.

In Chicago the party went to the Central Scientific Co., where they were given a talk on laboratory equipment by Mr. Carter, industrial sales manager. Later they were taken through the display rooms and shown the types of special apparatus made by the company.

To get an idea of the practical operation of an industrial organic laboratory, the next place visited was the Miner Laboratories on Clinton Street, Chicago. This stop was planned purposely to show that in practical manufacture, apparatus is chosen more for durability and serviceability than for appearance. The processes seen at this plant were chiefly of the foodstuff field.

Friday afternoon they visited the stock yards of Swift & Co. Here Mr. Taylor, superintendent of the soap factory, explained the steps in the making of laundry and toilet soaps, in the distillation of fatty acids, and in the purification of glycerine and edible oils.

On Friday the Pharmacists routed the Miners in a slug-fest that ended 8-15. After the fatal second inning when the Pill Makers scored seven runs the Miners were unable to overcome the big handicap. Loose fielding by the Miners and timely hitting by the Pharmacists tells the whole story. King's pitching was good; and Herold was high tally man for the Pill Makers, scoring four runs. The stick work of Gene Sullivan and Dumbkowski helped to keep the Ground Hogs in the running.

Miners 201 020 3—8
Pharmacists 270 150 *—15
Miners, Parnell and Dumbkowski;
Pharmacists, King and Fogarty.

Friday afternoon the Miners redeemed themselves by taking a close game from the Chemists, score 9-7. The game featured the left fielder of the Chemists with grandstand catches. Hard hitting on both sides and some good base running helped to make the game exciting at times. Miners 110 220 021—9
Chemists 200 001 220—7
Miners, Sturgis and Hartman;
Chemists, Nolan and Miller, P. Kaiser.

Postpone Revue Until Next Year

The junior class play, which was to have been presented on Friday night, June 9, as a part of the Commencement exercises, has been postponed until Homecoming eve next year. The reason for postponing the play is that the producers and the actors are unable to give enough time to the production to warrant the good play they intend to make it.

Says Rummy Wins Are Rummy Affairs

A rummy tournament is on in Sorin Hall.

"The games are only practice matches," says Rusty Kennedy, who with Joe Troman and Frank Pedrotty, claims the rummy championship of the University. "They are but rummy champs, not champions of rummy."

Neil Flinn, John Fogarty and Tom Lee, who were victorious in the recent matches, have merely been the means of divertisement for the real champs, while Fogarty, of bear hunt fame and creator of silver tip, and Flinn, hockey star, are really of the duffer flight, according to report.

Some means of determining the status of the games will be arranged by a committee of Emery Toth, Thomas Keating and Alphonse, former janitor.

PURDUE PLAYS IRISH TODAY

Sheehan, Foley and Bergman Out of Game With Injuries

The Purdue baseball team pulled into South Bend last night and will play the varsity today at Cartier field. The Irish are in poor condition to meet the Boilermakers who have been traveling at a fast clip this season. Sheehan, the star shortstop, has been out of the game since the Northwestern game and it is not likely that he will play tomorrow although Coach Halas may use him at the last minute. Danny Foley smashed two fingers in the Iowa game and it is doubtful whether he will play at second.

Dutch Bergman twisted his ankle at the Knights of Columbus game at Michigan City Sunday, and will be out of the game for the rest of the season. Bergman is playing his best game of the season as lead-off man and has been hitting the ball hard. With Sheehan and Foley out, the infield will be considerably weakened. At present Kane is playing in Sheehan's place with Vergara at third, but with Foley out it is doubtful who will be in the infield. On account of the many changes in the lineup lately, Coach Halas has a difficult proposition before him.

Either Falvey or Magevney will pitch, for Castner will be needed to bolster up the outfield. Both men have been hurling good ball. Magevney held Knox to four hits and no runs last Friday, and Falvey let Iowa down with two hits, Saturday. Falvey shut out Purdue with three hits earlier in the season and the Boilermakers will make a hard fight to even the count. One of the men will have to be saved to pitch against Michigan on Memorial Day. Purdue will play Indiana on Friday.

The game with Michigan on Wednesday will be the biggest game of the season. Michigan, almost certain to be the conference champion this year, has a victory over Notre Dame to its credit.

Irish Trounce, 11-0, Hammond Caseys, At Michigan City

Notre Dame defeated the Hammond Knights of Columbus, 11-0, in an exhibition game at Michigan City Sunday. Gus Stange, of Notre Dame, pitched remarkable ball and allowed the Caseys but four hits. This was Stange's first appearance since the spring training trip.

Foley led the Irish batters. Bergman, injured in the first inning, was replaced by Kelly in left field.

The Boosters

Henry Barnhart, chairman of the Boosters' Club, made a recommendation that the Boosters Club for next year be called the '24 Club and that the personnel of the club will be as follows: The nineteen members of the S. A. C. will choose two men apiece. The chairmen of the Boosters and S. A. C. will choose the remaining 12 men for a membership of 50 men. This motion was adopted.

St. Mary's

Saturday afternoon the girls of the second floor college enjoyed their annual picnic. Accompanied by our picnic horse, Min, drawing the food, the girls descended to the woods back of the college and spent the afternoon in regulation picnic style.

No longer do St. Mary's students present an academic appearance in sober blues and blacks. The spring uniforms have come into their own, and gay reds mingle with the more delicate pastel shades, to say nothing of the browns and tans that have sprung up over night as though by magic.

Brownson Loses to Nappanee

NAPPANEE, Ind., May 28.—Brownson Hall baseballers were defeated by the Nappanee Tigers, 8-0, at Nappanee, Ind., Sunday afternoon. The game was a pitchers' battle between Enright, of Brownson, and Mack, of the Tigers, until the sixth, when Enright developed a blister on his finger and gave Nappanee six runs. Up to this inning he had allowed but two hits. Dunn's splendid stop and assist on a bunt were the features of the game. Rangy Miles and Rodge Kiley, old Notre Dame stars, were in the Nappanee lineup. Kiley got three hits and played well at first. The batteries were: for Brownson, Enright and Smith; for Nappanee, Mack and Wusterhieser.
