VOL. 2. NO. 12

UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME, NOTRE DAME, INDIANA, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1923

PRICE 4 CENTS

CAMPUS BY-PATHS

Wait around the corner for me with outstretched arms, empty if you like this column; with a club in them if you don't like it.

Being anonymous, I can say such things with safety.

You may call me Mr. Grundy.

Perhaps one of the best-known men on the campus is Harry McGuire, president of almost as many clubs as the renowned Slaggert. It is appropriate, therefore, that this column's first remarks be about Harry. He was the representative of more clubs than anybody else at the S. A. C. meeting of club presidents the other day. It was natural, therefore, for the fellow who came in THE DAILY office the other day to hunt for Harry, who writes editorials for this sheet, poems signed "H. A. M." for The Scholastic, makes comic sketches for The Juggler, hunts Indian suits for pageants, runs the Scribbles, the Rocky Mountain club, and a few more, and is an officer of the Caseys; it was natural, I say, for this fellow to seek Harry when he wanted to put an ad in the paper.

John Dore, noted explorer of the Far East, is next in line for comment. John startled the campus Sunday when he appeared with his new baby-blue cap. Perhaps John's girl likes that color, or maybe, it's the latest from deah Lunnun.

The Campus Forders will organize soon, if Mark Nolan will permit it. Al Heebe is the unanimous choice for Henry, or president. His two-seater is equalled in noise by Dore's baby-blue cap only. Among the other candidates for Henry are John Weibel, Tom Barber and Bob I. Worth. "The club," says Bob, shiek of Indianapolis, smiling as he cracked his little joke, "won't turn out to be a flivver."

Which reminds us of canes—apertenances worn by senior lawyers to indicate their distinction; and about which other seniors are now arguing. Canes, we understand, are things with which to slap classmates on the patches, things with which to trip old men, or, occasionally, things to wear for dress.

Bob Cooney, Brownson's star quarter, went like a miniature Crowley Sunday and scored the touchdown that beat Walsh. Inspiration, in the person of one of the only women he ever loved, was present on the sidelines. Father Haggerty may suggest that such incentives be prohibited at interhall squabbles.

And Sorin and Corby, for not appearing at all, may consider themselves officially bawled out. The interhall spirit, we are informed, is the basis of the varsity spirit, and—

Harlan "Red" Herman is now sporting red slippers since his distinction of becoming initiated into the mystic realms of the Glee club.

Mike Duffey, of Walsh hall last year, spent the week end in the midst of our midst. He is composing and publishing popular music, I am informed, and his new hit, "My Little Sweetheart," went over big. Mike will be back with us in February.

MR. GRUNDY.

HISTORICAL SERIES.

"Columbus," the first of a series of motion pictures depicting the history of the world, was shown Thursday night in Washington hall for the members of the University faculty.

The historical series is being produced by Pathe through Yale University.

Clubs' Existence to be Decided by Activity

Mark Nolan, of the S. A. C., informed the presidents of clubs assembled in the Library yesterday, that all the clubs on the campus would be put on probation and a careful check would be kept of all club activities.

Of the many suggestions offered, one concerned itself with the filing of written reports with the S. A. C., of current activities of clubs. The advisability of delegating a representative of the S. A. C. to attend meetings of clubs was discussed.

NEW BUILDING FOR ST. MARY'S

Notre Dame Graduate Is Architect; Building to Be Best on Campus, It Is Said; Work Begins Soon.

Work upon a new building for St. Mary's College will begin soon. Maurice Carroll, who graduated from the University's Department of Architecture in 1919, is the architect and will be in charge of the construction of the building, which will be more pretentious than any other building at the college.

The new structure will include dormitories, private rooms, class rooms, reception and recreation rooms. In all probability it will become the administration building, it is said.

The increased enrollment at the college has necessitated the additional building. At present every available space is being utilized to prevent any overcrowding. By next term the new building will be ready for occupancy and congestion will be relieved.

Maurice Carroll is a brother of the late Stewart Carroll, who was a graduate of the Department of Journalism. He has advanced rapidly in architecture and recently constructed a magnificent Catholic church in Kansas City.

WILL SPEED UP DOME PHOTOS

Seniors Fail to Report on Time; S. A. C. and Staff Pictures Next Week; $1 Fee.

Seniors are not having their Dome pictures taken in as great numbers as desired, according to Jack Scallan, editor. Only 80 seniors have had their pictures taken.

Seniors are asked to have their pictures taken this morning to avoid the rush next week. No photos will be taken this afternoon or tomorrow. The fee is one dollar.

Pictures of the sophomore class were taken on Cartier field at 12:30 Thursday. The freshman class was photographed yesterday.

Individual snapshots of juniors will be taken on the second floor of Washington hall in the evenings of next week.

Pictures of the staffs of publications, individual pictures of members of the S. A. C., and officers of campus organizations will be taken in the K. of C. club rooms in Walsh hall any day before next Wednesday. The fee for these pictures will be one dollar.

CHICAGO CLUB.

A special meeting of the Chicago club is scheduled for Tuesday at 8 o'clock in the South room of the Library. Prospective members are asked to present their endorsed applications before that day.

William M. Holland, Carroll hall, who was called home to Indianapolis last week because of the serious illness of his sister, has returned to school.

EXPECT MANY AT BAND DANCE

Dance Opens Campaign for Money Spent on Band Uniforms; Jimmy Egan Urges the Men to Attend

Hundreds are expected at the band dance to be given at the Oliver hotel this evening. The dance will be held to raise money expended for uniforms. Fifty-five uniforms, costing approximately $2,500, have been purchased, according to James Egan, president of the organization. Henderson, Ames and company, of Kalamazoo, were granted the contract to furnish the uniforms.

"Be at the dance tomorrow," Jimmy Egan said last night. "The band needs you, and knows that you will not be at the Palais Royale or Tokio; you'll be at the Oliver."

The campaign will be in conjunction with the S. A. C. to realize the $2,500 by December.

Tag days will be the chief means of raising the money. A student tag day will be set and tags also will be distributed on the day of the Georgia-Tech-Notre Dame game. No solicitations are to be made on Homecoming day, but there will be booths on the campus at which contributions will be received. Members of the band have agreed to donate the deficit if the drive is not altogether successful.

Members of the band will receive class credits for their work. Meetings, held daily, will be run on a class basis and an absence from any practice will mean a cut.

Band officials have decided that the classical pieces of previous years will be superseded by more popular airs. Irish songs will be the principal selections at football games and other occasions.

DINNER DANCE FOR CRUSADERS

C. S. M. C. Unit at University Elects Menger President; St. Mary's Club House to be Place

The Notre Dame unit of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade met in the Main Building yesterday, elected officers and made arrangements for a dinner dance at the St. Mary's club house Wednesday.

Joseph Menger was elected president; Norbert Clancy, secretary-treasurer; Thomas O'Connor, vice-president.

The dinner dance will be informal. It will be attended by committee members of the C. S. M. C., and will be from 4 to 7 o'clock. The Bix Six orchestra will play, and the dinner will be prepared by the St. Mary's domestic science department. Robert B. O'Riordan, national representative of the unit, will be chaperon.

The club house was arranged for through Mother Pauline and Sister Claudia.

At a meeting of the branch at Saint Mary's Academy and College Tuesday, Anna Clara Dugan was elected president; Ruth Stamm, vice-president; Helen Banner, secretary, and Selene Bruno, treasurer. Leah Delfraisse was named publicity manager.

QUARTETTE SINGS.

The Varsity quartette of Notre Dame made its first appearance of the season at 8 o'clock last night at the annual Columbus Day celebration held by the South Bend K. of C. at St. Patrick's hall.

Placards Will Direct Homecoming Traffic

The Advisory committee of the Blue Circle met to formulate traffic plans for Homecoming last night. For the convenience of motorists coming to the Purdue game and all remaining home games, placards will be placed on Notre Dame avenue, Eddy street, and the Niles road, giving route directions to facilitate traffic from South Bend to Notre Dame.

Rev. Hugh O'Donnell gave his approval of the budget drawn up by the Blue Circle and the committee chairman filed their reports.

Twelve hundred pounds of meat will be used in the Homecoming barbecue, according to report of the Rocky Mountain club.

TODAY'S MASS ENDS MISSION

Father Donahue Speaks of Sanctity of Mass; Students to Pray for Team at New York.

The campus mission will end this morning with a high mass, and Papal benediction given by Rev. James W. Donahue, who is conducting the mission. Rev. Matthew J. Walsh, president of the University, will sing the mass.

The mission has been the most successful ever given the students. It was attended by more students than ever before, and new Holy Communion records were established.

On Thursday evening Father Donahue delivered a sermon on "The Dark Beyond." He spoke of the priesthood and brotherhood and urged the men to consider vocations to the religious life. Father Donahue also dwelt upon the religious life Friday morning, and pointed out the blessings that come to those who lead such a life.

Last evening Father Donahue spoke on "God Is Love." "Create a feeling for the mass and never lose it," he said. He also spoke of the reverence the Notre Dame man has for the Eucharist.

All communions received at the off-campus mission this morning will be for the success of Notre Dame's football team today.

"That team is worth your prayers," the Rev. George Finnegan said last night. "I am not going to ask that you pray for a victory, although that would be a most desirable thing," he continued, "but that you pray for the men, that they do not get hurt and that they play like Notre Dame men," said Father Finnegan.

The sermon delivered by Father Finnegan dealt with the passions. He compared the sins of humanity with the action of Judas, when he betrayed Christ.

Hell, its existence and its relation to God and the Catholic Church was discussed by Father Finnegan, Thursday night.

"Hell is a means of punishment," he told those present. "Law is necessary for any institution. Hell is the punishment of those who do not obey her laws."

Dance Committees Will Meet Monday

All University dance committees will meet with the Faculty Dance committee on Monday at 12:30 in the North room of the Library. The meeting has been called by Professor James E. McCarthy, chairman of the Faculty Dance committee.

Dance committees of the Student Activities Committee, the classes, the Knights of Columbus, the Glee club, the Monogram club, the Band, and the Orchestra, are named in the request to meet.

The faculty Dance committee is composed of Professor McCarthy, Dr. Joseph Reichert, Professor Paul Fenelon and Rev. Hugh O'Donnell.

IRISH PRIMED FOR BIG GAME

New York Writers Pick Army; Rockne Will Play Passing Game; All Seats Sold.

The Army Notre Dame game will be shown play by play on the Grid-Graph in the gym at 2:30 this afternoon. Students of the University and South Bend high school will be admitted for 25 cents if athletic card is presented. All others will be admitted for 50 cents.

By Frank Wallace.

(Special to THE DAILY.)

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 12.—Rockne's Fighting Team arrived here at 8 this morning and went immediately to the Westchester-Biltmore club, where they will stay till Saturday night. Joe Byrne, Angus McDonald and Rupe Mills are taking care of the Rockmen and have secured a band for Notre Dame. All seats at Ebbets field will see the famous Notre Dame-Army clash tomorrow.

The Irish will wear green jerseys in the game.

The team worked out this afternoon and are in fine condition for the battle to-morrow. New York writers have picked the Army to triumph over Rockne's aggregation but the Irish are primed for fight and will offer a battle tomorrow that will be a classic in football history. Rockne plans to use the passing game from the start to make up for the weight advantage of the Army.

Woods, the Army halfback has been showing fine punting form since the season began and the loss of Breidster in the line will not be materially felt, as the Pointers believe that Ellinger will be capable of filling the place. The remainder of the line is composed of veterans.

Many former students of Notre Dame came out to the club today to see the team. Otherwise, everything is quiet.

Rex Enright could not play polo because he forgot his horse and Jim Crowley doesn't want to get up at seven in the morning. Notre Dame will win.

DIRECTORY OUT WITHIN MONTH

Mark Nolan, Tim Rauh and Norm Smith on Committee; Will Be More Complete.

Notre Dame's 1923-1924 Student Directory will be for sale within the month, if plans now under way by the S. A. C. materialize. A committee, consisting of Mark Nolan, Tim Rauh and Norman Smith, has been appointed to take charge of publication of the directory. Mark Nolan is chairman.

Because the S. A. C. believes the information contained in the directory is essential to students, it is planned to sell the book at a very reasonable price. Publication will be undertaken either privately or by the S. A. C.

The directory will contain the name, hall address, home address, course and class of every man in the University.

William Neville and Larry Casey, '25, have formed a partnership and purchased a ton truck to do a general transportation business. They have established their headquarters in Cadillac hall.

Leo McCaully, of Boston, Litt. B. '27, has been confined by illness to his room at 1026 Notre Dame avenue for the last three days. He is recovering.

TEN-MINUTE SERVICE

The Northern Indiana Railway Company must be thanked for putting another car on the Notre Dame line and making it possible to run on a ten minute basis.

The saving in time to the students who commute between South Bend and Notre Dame is incalculable. The new schedule enables one to get into the city minutes earlier and also to make better connections in the city.

Such a thing as time may not enter seriously into the minds of some students but to others it is of much consequence, especially to those who hold jobs in South Bend and who cannot afford to waste fifteen minutes waiting for a car.

Therefore, it is altogether fitting and proper to say—Thank you.

THE DOME, GILDED

Nothing has been more written about than the dome, and nothing at Notre Dame is, therefore, more trite a subject. But with its gilding, the dome again becomes a proper subject for discussion.

For generations its light has been shed on the lives of men at Notre Dame. In the morning it has caught the first rays of the sun in the bursting eloquence of the new-born day. At noon the warmth of mellow sunlight has been reflected from its midased surface. And at evening, its splendence has softened the shadows that move across the quadrangle. Its beauty has contained the music of unwritten words.

From this fountain of gold the eyes of a tender Mother have watched the deeds of youth, the valor of an elder age. To Her the days have been as moments, the years as vanishing pictures. And the Mother has cherished every second a thought for the men who have passed before her throne. Tomorrow new faces, new hearts to glow, new voices to offer prayer at her feet, but from Her always the same love and tenderness.

From her outstretched hands and from the golden surface of her throne, the golden light, at morning, noon and evening, go forth the courage for righteousness and the strength for purity. The rays of gold symbolize the charity and the love that She is sending into the hearts of her sons. The dome of yesterday, of today, of tomorrow is always the same. And Notre Dame, what it has been, what it is, what it will be, is ever unchanged.

CELEBRATIONS AND MUSIC

The year 1923 seems to be one of unlimited possibilities in the way of celebrations. It is, for example, important as the fiftieth anniversary of the introduction of the typewriter. Just 900 years ago, however, there appeared an invention no less important than the comparatively recent invention of the typewriter, an invention which must be regarded with interest by every musician and every lover of music. What the inventor of the typewriter did for the recording of words, Guido, a Benedictine monk, did for the recording of music in 1023 by inventing the method of "writing" music on paper.

To realize the importance of Guido's service to musical progress it is necessary to consider the system of notation in use before his time. For the most part music could then be circulated from one person to another by ear only; that is, by humming or whistling the tune. While in theoretical treatises the practice of the Greeks of employing the first fifteen letters of the alphabet to designate the various intervals was still in use, no means was at hand by which the intervals and rhythm of a melody might be graphically displayed so that anyone might learn it from a manuscript without the aid of a master.

Early in his career Guido observed the confusion which prevailed in the performance and the teaching of liturgical melodies generally. In his endeavors to improve this condition he invented the system of recording musical notes on lines in about the same form as modern sheet music. The perfection of his new system brought order and clearness into the teaching of music, and gave an impetus to its study that lasted throughout the middle ages.

The world owes much to Guido, the Benedictine of Arezzo. And the Catholic church, the true mother of progress, may claim through the achievement of this monk a praiseworthy part in the development of music. It would, therefore, be proper for the musical organizations of Notre Dame to give some public expression of their recognition of, and appreciation for, the discoveries of Guido.

R. T. Mills: '15 Makes Report on Army Game

Rupert F. Mills, LL. B., '15, of Newark, N. J., paid a hurried visit to the University Tuesday afternoon to give the varsity football men his observations of the Army team made from a personal study of the two games the Pointers played this year.

During his years at Notre Dame Mills won a monogram on each of the four varsity squads and after graduating played baseball with the Newark team of the Federal league.

Through the Looking Glass

HOODA

Installment 32½

Which was correct: "We saw the cat pause and then start again"; or "We saw the cat's paws and then started again"?

It was beyond Hooda. He couldn't figure it out. Old Man English had Hooda picking rosin out of his shoulder blades again.

Or should it be: "The cat pawed and then ran on"; or "the cats paused and then ran"? Hooda had never been paused (or is it pawed?) by a cat. He was absolutely ignorant of pausing (or is it pawing?). To be sure, he had one time strolled too close to a wild cat's cage and the creature had made a thrust at him. And that same night a lion had flown at him; while later the same evening a tiger had dived at him; and still later a leopard had lunged at him. But even though he had been thrust at, flown at, dived at, and lunged at, he was none the wiser about being pawed at.

He would see the dictionary—a thing no respectable sophomore had ever approached. He would see it, nay read it, and if necessary, he would even take pains to understand it! He would set a precedent, and take a chance.

His cheeks flushed with a mixture of shame and devilishness at what he was about to do. He pulled down the shades, plugged up the key-hole, lowered the light a foot or so, and advanced stealthily upon the dictionary. He set his feet, put out one wary hand and then jumped. It had not hurt him. He grew bolder and actually opened it. It did not scratch him.

Half an hour later he took the last remaining sheet from what had been four full tablets and wrote:

"The pussy cat made a temporary cessation of inactivity, broke a paragraph into four-prolonged and hideous eighth-notes, and then resumed. (Note. The pussy cat was a pauser.)"

He went on with his composition.

The Level

My pals are pals
 On the level, they are;
 Boys who count;
 On the level
 You can't meet
 Or can't beat
 A bunch like my bunch;
 The kind who say
 "Yours always,"
 And means it,
 On the level.
 Boys who sound
 Deep heart-strings when
 They use the sacred word:
 "Friend,"
 On the level.

P. S. I live in the Andes.

PETRUCHIO.

Bulletin

The student body is urged to lend all possible aid to a member of the Pinkerton detective agency who will appear on and about the campus the latter part of this week. His object here is to assist the individual who at nine o'clock each evening, gathers in force under our window and creaks questions concerning someone who is at the present very gloomy and breaking some sort of pledge or oath. The creaking is frequently punctuated with notes. At times the singer (?) seems desirous of learning the exact cause for his shedding brine about some other, as yet unknown, person. The singer (?) has even ventured to assume that in some unknown time in the future someone will be enveloped with melancholia such as his. The mystery may have to do with lumber or coal fields for occasionally we have heard the words "mine" and "pine" ripped upon the night air. Please aid.

In "Drifting," which is being shown at the Blackstone for the last time today, Priscilla Dean plays the part of a girl who is engaged in the opium traffic in China. Among her associates is Wallace Beery, who seems to have a mortgage on the villain roles in Priscilla Dean's productions. If the mortgage is permanent, so much the better, because, regardless of the peculiar behavior of his eyes, he manages to do some very good acting. Matt Moore, whom you saw last, perhaps, as Captain Applejack, continues to add to his laurels as a secret service man who is detailed to break up the opium ring. As you might expect, he falls in love with the fair opium agent and demonstrates the error of her ways. The picture ends in a spectacular scene in which the village is attacked by the Jantzis, said attack being followed by battle, murder and sudden death, which is stopped only when the omnipresent cavalry comes to the rescue.

Of the added attractions at the Blackstone the least said the better. Their saving grace was that they were not long.

ADDITION WILL BE DEDICATED

Father Walsh to Deliver Sermon on Dedication of $500,000 Addition to St. Joseph's Hospital

The formal dedication of the new $500,000 addition to St. Joseph's hospital will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, beginning with a solemn high mass celebrated in the auditorium. The mass will be said by Rev. P. J. Carroll, C. S. C., assisted by Rev. William Burke, C.S.C., as deacon and Father Murphy, C. S. C., as sub-deacon.

The Rev. Matthew J. Walsh, president of the University, will deliver the dedication sermon. The Four-Part Male Choir of Moreau seminary, under the direction of Rev.

Walter O'Donnell, C.S.C., will sing the mass.

The program for the choir is as follows:

Processional "Christ Who Once for Sinners Bled"
Kyrie, Gloria, Sanctus, Benedictus and Agnus Dei in four parts, from the mass in honor of St. Cecilia by Ad. Kaim.
Credo "Gregorian Melody"
"Et Incarnatus Est"

Four Male Voices by Dr. J. Koch
Invocation "Veni Creator Spiritus," Four Male voices by J. P. de Palestrina
Offertory "Cantate Domino" Four male voices by Giovanna Croce
Last Gospel "O

Bone Jesu," a motet for Four male voices by J. K. de Palestrina
The responses will be rendered in four parts as arranged by Hans C. Swertz.

The new addition to the hospital will increase its capacity over 150 beds. According to present plans the activity of the institution will be transferred to the new addition and work started as soon as possible on remodeling the old part to conform with it. The institution is under the direction of the Sisters of the Holy Cross.

Indianapolis Club Plans Social Affairs

The Indianapolis club of Notre Dame assembled in the South room of the Library Monday to formulate plans for the coming year.

A program of social activities was outlined as follows: Formal dinner dance during the Christmas holidays for members only. An informal dance at Easter, to be followed by another in June, after the close of the school year. In September a hard times dance will be given.

The constitution of the club was reviewed during the meeting and new articles and several amendments were added.

It is expected that a large delegation of Indianapolis people will be at Notre Dame for the Homecoming celebration and the Butler game. The club will endeavor to present a fitting reception to the Capital City visitors on both of these occasions.

DUOFOLD STANDARDS IN LOWER PRICED PENS

Masters of Pendom make all Parkers

As well as the famous Duofold

The same classic shapeliness—The same writing balance
New Parker D. Q.—Students' Special, $3

WHEN you buy a Parker Pen of any model, at any price, you are getting a standard that never existed before the Parker Duofold was created; and which exists today only in the Parker make.

Parker's lower priced black pens are like Parker Duofold in everything save the size and point. Yet even their points are tipped with NATIVE Tasmanian Iridium and polished to the smoothness of a costly jewel bearing.

Only the Parker crafts-guild is trained to make Duofold quality, and this same skill produces all other Parker Pens too.

If you want the Over-size Pen with lacquer-red barrel, flashing black tips and 25-year point—get Parker Duofold, $7. (Duofold Jr., or Lady Duofold, $5.)

If you want Duofold's classic lines and writing balance in a low-priced black pen of good size, get the new Parker D. Q. specially made for students, $3.

Any near-by pen counter can supply you. But be sure the pen is stamped "Geo. S. Parker" if you want the new-day improvements.

The New Parker D. Q. has large ring to link to note-book or pocket-clip free. Cap reinforced with metal girdle.
