

CAMPUS BY-PATHS

There is an air of normalcy about the campus today. The Cotillion is only a pleasant memory, the cup has been presented to Milbauer, we have found most of our new classrooms, and—this is last but it should be first—the pocketbooks are tragically flat.

But he who will have a good time, must pay the piper. And there were ten pipers. Friday night—or was it twelve?

In appreciation of hours of labor spent upon the gigantic cup which was presented to Frank Milbauer, winner of the well-dressed man contest, Mr. Grundy wishes to take this opportunity to express publicly his thanks to Messrs. Rohrbach and Fusz for their interest. It was these gentlemen—lad-ies and gentlemen, who made the welkin and the anvil ring for hours and hours while they hammered out the massive souvenir. The callouses which now adorn the hands of these two worthy engineers were received in this labor of gratitude—and the DAILY and Mr. Grundy both join in expressing their most salubrious (good adjective?) felicitations to these future alumni. A record is being kept of all men who assist Mr. Grundy in life which may result in untold good fortune for the lucky man. Rohrbach and Fusz have red-ink notations after their names.

The opening of the new semester welcomes back to our quadrangle some new faces with whom we have shaken hands many, many times. Perhaps they are not acquainted with Mr. Grundy. They will be! It is your move gentlemen!

We mentioned above that we have found most of our new classrooms, and become acquainted with most of our professors. And that reminds us of the young man—freshman—who was looking for a language class and breezed into a philosophy class, and did not discover his error for several days. But he was a freshman!

Even freshmen, they say, have their day—and I suppose that day will be the 29th of this month. (adv.) Reidy, leave a ticket near the old stump—yes, the same old stump. The Frolic will be perpetrated that night—woe to all freshmen that night—the 29th of February—if it was any other year, there wouldn't be a Frolic!

But, ah! this is leap year—and the Frolic is on the eve of that most romantic day of days. It is not at all improbable that during the dance some fair maidens will call upon Cupid to aid them when they "pop" the question that may end some youth's college days.

I fear Mr. Grundy had better disguise himself as a trombone that night. There is little chance of him escaping otherwise. He may be bet-ter able to slide out of difficulties—

Now that the Well-Dressed Man contest is over, and the Organization contest is nearing its end, have you any suggestions for continuing his pastime? How about a little contest for the best-liked man, or the worst speller, or the greatest coffee hound, or a guess contest to tell how many bricks there are in the Main Building, or library books in the different halls, or cigarettes smoked between classes—or something—what have you got?

KDKXJ is on and there is a bedtime story. I must listen in!

Voila Tout! says,
MR. GRUNDY.

HARD-TIME DANCE
The Big Five orchestra, augmented to eight pieces, will play for the Senior Hard-Time dance in the Palais Royale Monday, February 18. Tickets may be procured in any hall until Sunday. All who attend must observe hard-time regulations. One-fifteen permissions.

CARROLL RETAINS INTERHALL LEAD

Day, Sorin, Cadillac, and Badin Next in Order; All Contests Sunday Were Close.

Five of the most hotly contested cage battles that have been fought this season were played among the various halls in the gym Sunday. The games were unusually close and the outcomes were in doubt until the final whistle. The teams showed an improvement in every department of the game, especially in handling the ball and taking it through the opposition. The largest crowd that has so far witnessed the contests was present Sunday.

The feature contest on the bill Sunday was the battle between Carroll and Sophomore, Carroll winning by the count of 29 to 27.

The Sorin-Day contest ranked a close second to the Carroll-Sophomore game in excitement. Fighting for second place the two teams battled on even terms, first one and then the other being ahead, until the finish, when the off-campus team was victorious, 19 to 17.

Brownson came up a notch in the interhall standing when it defeated Walsh 18 to 15. Both teams played brilliantly and erratic at times, although both had good team work.

The Cadillac ring artists, showing the same style of attack that figured in their victory last week, emerged victors over the Corby tossers, 20 to 9.

The Badin ringers strengthened their standing when they handed a 16 to 13 defeat to Freshman.

Interhall Basketball Standing
	Won.	Lost.	Pct.

Varsity Tankmen Splash Tomorrow

With a program that embraces trick and fancy swimming together with the usual events, the varsity swimming team will give its initial demonstration of the year at Notre Dame, in the University tank at 7:30 tomorrow night in an inter-team meet. Admission is free to all students.

The primary purpose of the meet is to establish the first records in various tank events made by students in the University pool. These marks to be made tomorrow night will be officially recognized and placed on the record board erected for that purpose in the tank house. Among the events scheduled are three free-style races, 40, 100 and 220 yards; a 40-yard back-stroke; 40 and 200 yard breast-stroke; plunge for distance, and a 160 yard relay. A novel performance of trick swims featuring Ralph Alvarez's race with his hands and feet tied, will be completed in preparation for the contest.

DAILY EDITORS

INDIANA WHIPS IRISH LOOPMEN

One Point Margin Gives Indiana Game; Contest One of Best This Season.

The Notre Dame basketball quintet once more played a one-point margin game Tuesday night, and this time with Indiana, but was left on the lower side of a 21-20 score after staging one of the scrappiest comebacks in the second half that has been seen on the Bloomington floor.

The first frame saw the state school courtmen carry on hostilities with a dazzling speed and they held a nice lead at the half. Near the end of the period Logan, the star who is now filling the shoes of the brilliant Nyikos, sustained an injury that kept him off the floor until near the end of the game.

Notre Dame stepped into the battle with added zest in the second period and began to increase the points on the Irish side of the score board. With the victory once so securely in their grasp but now within a few moments of being swept away by the new attack by the tossers from the Bend, Les (Continued on Page 4.)

GLEE CLUB SCORES

To say that the Glee club concert given in Washington hall last night was a success is restraining praise to the freezing point. Not only was it a success, but it developed into a triumph; a triumph for Dr. J. Lewis-Browne, to whom the splendid performance of the club is primarily due, for Senorita Milia Ybarra, Dr. Browne's pupil, whose numbers marked the high lights of the evening, and a triumph for Joseph J. Casasanta, whose "Hike, Notre Dame" was sung for the first time.

Senorita Ybarra, the assisting artist, possesses one of the finest soprano voices that has been heard in Washington hall for some time past; she has an excellent stage presence, and her technique is such that it is easy to predict her continued success.

The Glee club as a whole showed the effects of careful training; the performance was a credit to the club and to the director. The rendition of "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," in which Vernon Rickard and George Koch took the solo parts, was exceptionally good.

"Hike, Notre Dame," the closing number on the program, scored the popular success of the evening, with Mr. Casasanta, the composer, directing.

The program follows:

PART I
1. Part-song—(a) "Lo, how a rose e'er blooming" (Paraetorius-Davison, 1517-1621); (b) "Matona, lovely maiden" (di Lasso-Davison, 1532-1594); (c) "Drink to me only with thine eyes" (Mozart-MacColl)—Notre Dame University Glee Club.

2. Aria for soprano voice—"Vissi d'Arte" ("Tosca"). (Puccini)—Senorita Milia Ybarra.

3. Part-song—(a) "Viking Song" (Coleridge-Taylor); (b) "Songs my mother taught me" (Dvorak-Smith); (c) "Funiculi-Funicula" (Denza-Hilton)—Notre Dame University Glee Club.

PART II
1. Songs—(a) "L'ultima canzone" (Tosti); (b) "Amami" (Denza); (c) "The Little Damozel" (Novello)—Senorita Ybarra.

2. Part-songs—(a) "June-Time" (Browne); (b) "Banjo Song" (Homer-Brewer); (c) "Old King Cole" (Forsyth)—Notre Dame University Glee Club.

3. "Farewell" ("l'Etoile du Nord") for soprano solo and men's voices—Senorita Ybarra with Notre Dame University Glee Club.

4. "Hike, Notre Dame!" (Casasanta)—The Glee Club.

JUNIOR CLASS MEETING
In order to discuss certain matters pertaining to the Junior Prom, especially the price of tickets, and to hear a report from the class treasurer, a meeting of the Junior class will be held in the library at 12:30 Friday, February 15.

BLUE-GOLD MEET HELD SATURDAY

Wayne Cox, Half-Miler, Wins at Kansas City for N. D.; Others Fail to Place.

The Irish tracksters will take on a little conditioning workout preparatory to the Illinois meet when they gather for the annual Blue and Gold meet which will be run off in the local gym at 3 o'clock Saturday. The program of events will also contain several novice runs. The work of the Frosh in this meet will also determine the personnel of the yearling squad which will go to Culver in a dual meet February 23.

Wayne Cox, Rockne's brilliant little half-miler, who is a sure point winner in nearly every meet, was the only member of the Irish squad that appeared in action in the Kansas City invitation meet last Saturday night to score a win for the Irish tracksters. Cox broke the tape in the 880-yard run in 2:00 2-5, after having stepped away from the smartest talent in the Missouri Valley.

Both the mile and two mile relay teams failed to land a place in the meet, although Captain Kennedy, it is reported, turned in his half mile in 1:59. Both the time of Cox and Kennedy is remarkably fast for an indoor track. Barr and Layden both encountered a little hard luck at the start of the sprint and were unable to place.

PROM PRICE DISCUSSED
At the meeting of the Junior Prom Committee in the Library at 12:30 Wednesday, the principal topic of discussion was the price of the Prom. It was announced that the sale of the tickets will begin on February 25 and will continue for juniors until March 17, after that date the sale of tickets will be thrown open to the seniors. In order to discuss the charge for the Prom a meeting of the Junior class will be held in the library at 12:30 Friday. It is hoped that all grievances will be brought forth at this meeting, which looks to be the most important of the year.

THE CONTEST

The Ohio and Monogram clubs continue to widen the gap between themselves and their pursuers in the DAILY'S Best-Organization Contest. Other notable gains were those of the Dante and Chinese clubs, the former jumping into third place in the Campus class, while the latter challenges the Toledo club for third position in the Home division.

In order to facilitate the count of the ever increasing number of votes which are now pouring in, it has been decided to allow voters to cast all their votes on one ballot. Proxies may therefore be secured on petitions, providing the official form is presented, and signatures are attached.

At The LaSalle.

"Maytime," a film taken from the novel of the same name by Rida Johnson Young, is the feature picture at the LaSalle for the entire week.

Ethel Shannon and Harrison Ford fill the principal roles, and are supported by a large and very good cast, including the "twelve most beautiful girls in Hollywood," representing the chorus of a musical comedy,—they jabb things up considerably, and incidentally play the devil with the reputation of the heroine.

The plot is wearisome at times, and Miss Shannon is guilty of giving us a feeling of profound depression by her frequent weeping spells. Ford's portrayals are consistently excellent, as usual.

The first part of the story goes badly for the principals, due to the fact that a gold mine was discovered a week late, and the resultant complications fail to untangle until over half a century later, when an opportune lightning bolt irons out some bad wrinkles, and finishes the performance in a manner that could not fail to satisfy Cupid and the audience.—P. ## Don't Wait About It Write About It This is your column

By order of the University Board of Publications no anonymous letters can be published in this department in the future. The writer's initials at least must be signed to all contributions.

Ave!

Comparisons are odorous, I know; but if the scent from the comparison wafts the perfume of justice, the comparison should be made.

I have just come to Notre Dame after having spent a year and a half at a much larger university. I am not sure whether the letter concerning the library, which appeared recently in this column, was a form of goofing or whether the writers was in earnest. No matter; I shall take him seriously and run chances of having the double "O" in "goof" hung on me.

Having been trained to use the library as my most helpful tool in getting an education, about the first place I got to know on the campus was Lemonnier. I do not expect to find the latest fiction in a university library; and in addition, I am not in a position to judge all phases of library service at Notre Dame. But this I do know. I have never met better cooperation or more courteous service than I have found at the reference and circulation desks in Lemonnier. I marvel how the reference librarian keeps it up. I sat watching the demands made upon him and the eagerness with which he helped. Any one who has ever used a reference library will recognize that at Notre Dame we have the right man in the right place.

The mistress of circulations has not only been prompt, efficient, courteous, and willing; but I have yet to see her idle. I was surprised when she offered to send me a card notifying me when a book I wanted would be in. Omit the lady at the circulation desk when crabbing the service at the library.

Some things could be improved. Students could be taught to use the resources of the library intelligently. (The unknowing waste much time at the reference and circulation desks.) The energy of the reference librarian and of the mistress of circulation should be conserved by having pages to run for books and material. At the school which I attended formerly I never saw the reference librarian hurrying hither and yon to wait on students who stood waiting to be waited on. I never saw the circulation manager leave his desk to show a student how to use the card catalogue nor did I ever see him run a typewriter, take care of a magazine room, act as information bureau, or do anything in fact except attend to circulation.

Going Into Business?

If so, why not eliminate some of those years of apprenticeship usually spent in gaining experience.

To help you accomplish this aim Babson Institute offers a one-year intensive training course.

From actual experience the fundamental principles of business are made clear. By positive examples, the student is shown how to apply these principles in the conduct of every day commercial affairs.

Manns, the Indiana mentor, sent Logan into the game to add a few points to pull the game out of the fire. Logan came up to expectations and the Keogan loopers were forced to swallow a dose of defeat which for a moment looked like a triumph.

Kizer and Crowe were the high lights of the Irish aggregation and played a huge part in the second period comeback despite the desperate defense of Indiana netmen.

Notre Dame takes on another heavy task when they stack up against the Wabash five tonight, which won a 27-22 victory over the Maymen here last week.

Relay Record

The third series of the interhall relays were run off Tuesday in the gym where the record of 1:37 3-5, made by Sophomore last week, was lowered to 1:37 flat by the Carroll sextet when it defeated Corby. Sophomore, who did not have to run because of the absence of Sorin, attempted to shatter this new mark in a race against time, but failed.

Badin forfeited to Cadillac, Freshman trounced Brownson, and Walsh beat the Day-Dogs in the other races. As the league stands now, Carroll, Freshman and Sophomore are tied for the leadership.
