

DR. J. WALSH GIVES INTERESTING TALK

FREAK CURES EXPLAINED; DISCUSSES CONTROL OF MIND OVER MATTER

Dr. James J. Walsh, noted author and neurologist of New York City, spoke in Washington hall last night. "Curious Cures" was his subject. Dr. Walsh gave examples of the many ways in which people have been hoodwinked into believing themselves cured of various illnesses during the past centuries. Among these was the Leyden Jar cure. In this people were cured by receiving shocks from this jar. Headaches, neuralgia, lumbago and like ailments all fled before these shocks.

Another example was that of curing by magnetism, founded by the great Dr. Held of the University of Vienna. In this it was believed that by placing magnets over the diseased organs that the pain could be drawn from the body. To facilitate this work the magnets were shaped to conform with the outline of the parts to be treated. Thus they were formed as hearts, livers, ears and the like. Strange to say, people came from all over Europe to be treated and thousands were cured.

Dr. Walsh mentioned many other freak cures known to the medical profession, and explain them by saying that those which were effected were purely of the mind. The encouragement thus offered was sufficient to overcome the ideas in people's minds that they were afflicted. "Had the affliction been of the body, they would have been unsuccessful," he said.

His lecture was interspersed with bits of humor and ridicule of the gullibility of people, regardless of rank or education, and was most interesting.

Seniors Arrange for Ball Guests

The Senior Ball committee has practically completed arrangements with the South Bend Womens club and the Scholarship club to provide private homes for out-of-town girls attending the Ball. The committee has made this arrangement to take care of any seniors who do not wish to have their Ball guests stay in downtown hotels. These plans will include some of the best homes in the city. Any interested seniors may apply to Leo Cavanaugh or Owen Desmond for reservations, after Friday, May 2.

Word has been received by the Music committee that the Ball orchestra, Benson's Victor Recording Orchestra, has just returned from Atlantic City, and is now playing on the Orpheum Circuit in Chicago.

TOLEDO CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS FOR 1924-25

At a meeting of the Toledo club Sunday morning in the journalism room of the library the following men were elected to office for the ensuing year: John Hurley, president; Ray Cunningham, vice-president; Walter Haecker, secretary; Ray Tillman, treasurer.

Tillman was the only man to be re-elected as all other officers are seniors and will graduate in June. The first two officers were given to Cunningham and Hurley as they will be seniors next year. Only seniors are allowed to hold these offices. Following the election plans were discussed concerning a dance to be given in June at the Toledo Yacht club. This party will be semi-formal.

Democrats to Give Smoker Wednesday

Only a few tickets for the smoker to be held by the Democratic club in the Carroll hall "rec" room Wednesday night remain in the hands of executive committeemen of the club. These may be obtained as the compliments of the club by regularly enrolled members.

A lively program of entertainment, besides smokes and "eats," has been arranged. A special invitation is extend to members of the faculty to attend the smoker which will begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

GLEE CLUB IS WELL RECEIVED ON TOUR

APPLAUSE AND DANCES ARE GIVEN TO CLUB IN FIVE CITIES

The Notre Dame Glee club completed its annual Easter concert tour when it sang the Hike Song in Sandusky, Ohio, last Friday evening. That this and the other other concerts given were successful is attested by the favorable newspaper comment that followed every appearance of the club.

The first concert of the week, Monday night, was presented in Cleveland under the auspices of the Notre Dame Alumni association of that city. An appreciative audience pronounced it to be musically excellent. Following the concert Harry Denny's Collegians played a program of dances in the ballroom of the Statler Hotel, where the concert was given. Denny's band attracted much favorable attention in Cleveland.

The Akron Armory was the place of the next successful concert and dance on Tuesday. Following an inspection of several tire factories the club reached Niles on Wednesday, where the local Knights of Columbus sponsored the songsters. This was a return concert and this year's organization was met with even greater enthusiasm than last year's. A dance entertained visitors and townsfolk during the later part of the evening.

Elyria heard the Glee club on Thursday, National Notre Dame night, and under the influence of the day and Joseph Casasanta, assistant director, the club sang exceptionally well. Features of the dance here were "Broom," and "Whistle" dances, new to most of the Notre Dame men. The last stop on the trip was in Sandusky.

Following the customary concert the collegians were entertained at a most enjoyable dance given by the Knights of Columbus.

All in all the recent tour displayed well the careful training of the club under Dr. Browne, and Joseph Casasanta. Dr. Browne directed only the Cleveland and Akron concerts, the rest being guided by the hand of Casasanta. The tendency of the club this year away from the lighter music to a program that is more firmly fixed on the classics appeared to be understood and appreciated by the audiences.

Last Sunday afternoon the Glee club sang several numbers at the South Bend High school as part of the program opening Boy Week in the city. The annual South Bend concert and dance will be presented on May 9, at the Palais Royale.

GALLAGHER NAMED '24 VALEDICTORIAN

MARK NOLAN CHOSEN CLASS ORATOR; HAYES IS CLASS POET

Donald S. Gallagher, has been selected valedictorian of the senior class, for the last day exercises morning, June 14, in Washington hall, according to an announcement by the executive committee on commencement yesterday. The committee has also selected Mark E. Nolan as class orator, and James F. Hayes, as class poet.

Mark Nolan is the winner of the Breen medal for this year, and also won third place in the finals of the Interstate Oratorical Contest which was held at Northwestern university last Friday night. Gallagher is president of the class, while Hayes is one of the leading writers on the campus.

Preceding the class day exercises, June 14, the senior class will make its last visit to Sacred Heart Church in a group the commencement address will be delivered by Hon. Woodbridge N. Ferris, United States senator from Michigan, and Bishop Conroy, of Ogdensburg, N. Y., will give the baccalaureate address.

Important Meeting Of Seniors Today

The members of the Class of 1924 will meet today at 12:30 in the Library and matters of vital interest will be discussed. The Program of the Senior Ball Week will be announced by Owen Desmond, General Chairman of the Ball committee, and a general report of the activities of his Committee will be made. Paul De Paulis, chairman of the committee in charge of the commencement programs, will inform the class of the progress made thus far. The samples of the programs have been received and orders will be taken for a period of one week. Seniors make their orders must pay in advance and their orders must be put in before May 5th. Because of the short time left before Commencement it is necessary for the Seniors to attend to their orders at once, otherwise no deliveries will be made before May 25th.

The Seniors are offered the privilege of making a retreat before leaving Notre Dame. This Retreat will be solely for the members of the graduating class and will be the last opportunity the Seniors will have of taking part in these exercises in a body. The Retreat is offered through the kindness of Father O'Hara, who will work in co-operation with the Class officers. Detailed information will be given at the meeting this noon.

It is expected that the Class will give the regular Commencement Dance and a Committee will be appointed to make the necessary arrangements.

Varsity Tank Men to Hold Meeting Today

The captain of next year's swimming squad will be elected at a meeting of the team to be held at 12:30 today in room 215, Main Building. There will be discussion of preliminary plans for the coming season.

Several vacancies will be made on the team by graduation, according to Coach Tom Goss, who urges all those who desire to try out for the varsity tank team next year to be present at the meeting. New men are requested to report.

Patrons Announced By Prom Committee

The patrons and patronesses of the Junior Prom as announced by the committee on arrangements are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Farabaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reichert, Mr. and Mrs. K. K. Rockne, Mr. and Mrs. David C. Weir, Mr. J. E. McCarthy, and Mr. Paul I. Fenlon.

The chairman of the ticket committee also made the announcement that all those who expect to attend the Prom must have arrangements made by Wednesday at the latest. The exact number of tickets sold must be known by this time.

K. OF C. DELEGATES APPOINTED TONITE

COMPLETE DANCE PLANS AND NAME DELEGATES FOR IN- DIANA CONVENTION

Delegates to the Indiana state K. of C. convention will be appointed, and plans for the first annual spring informal dance to be held Saturday night will be completed at a special session of Notre Dame council tonight in the Walsh hall council chambers.

The convention will be held May 26 and 27 at Indianapolis. One delegate and two alternates are to be named by Notre Dame council. Mark Nolan, grand knight, and John James, financial secretary of the local council will attend the convention ex-officio.

Eugene Forgarty, general chairman of the dance committee, states that arrangements have been made to make the dance one of the outstanding social events in the history of the council. The dance is open to all Notre Dame men but owing to the limited floor space of the Oliver only one hundred and fifty tickets will be sold.

These will be placed on sale early this morning and may be secured from any of the following men:

Egan, Badin; James, Bischoff; Corby; Hurley, Walsh; O'Boyle, and Forgarty, Sorin; Cunningham, Freshmen; Watson, Carroll; McClarnon, Brownson; Quinlan, Sophomore.

Tickets will also be sold at the day students' office. The price is $2.00.

BAND WILL PLAY FOR MEET; PLAN CONCERTS

Plans for the first spring appearance of the band on Saturday at the Illinois track meet have been completed it was announced by James Egan, president last night.

The band will play at the track meet this week, and will appear in regular weekly concerts during the month of May. The concerts will be given on the quadrangle on dates yet to be announced. President Egan also announced that the regular practice rehearsals of the band scheduled for Wednesday and Friday afternoons will be held tonight and Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock instead because of conflicts.

S. A. C. MEN DISCUSS CONFERENCE QUESTIONS

At the S. A. C. meeting held yesterday noon, matters which will be brought up at the Midwest Student's Conference at Knoxville, Tennessee on May 1, 2, and 3, were discussed. Among these subjects will be the "Point Activity System," the "Freshmen Ability Questionnaire," "Publications: How Paid and How Distributed," and "The Cost of Social Functions." The Notre Dame delegates to this conference are James Swift, Chairman, and George Bischoff, secretary of the S. A. C.

MICHIGAN PLAYS HERE TOMORROW

ANCIENT RIVALS HOOK-UP ON CARTIER FIELD FOR HARD GAME

All the fire and zest of an ancient rivalry will be rekindled tomorrow afternoon on Cartier field when Coach George Keogan's baseball nine takes the field against the University of Michigan team. The Irish have lost two games since they took the road to Georgia a fortnight ago and Captain Billy Sheehan's ball club will be in fighting trim when the Wolverines come to Notre Dame tomorrow.

The encounter with the locals marks the fourth game on the Michigan regular card and the Maize and Blue is being pointed for a sweeping victory. In the long diamond series between the two schools, the Michigan schools has copped the majority of the games. Last year's game on Cartier field went to the Wolverines on a wild pitch, 11 to 10. The return game at Ann Arbor went by the boards in favor of Michigan 12 to 44.

Michigan has not experienced the first lap of the 1924 season without a few bobbles, an injury depriving the Ann Arbor of the team's heaviest hitter. Several of the men on the squad are playing their first year in varsity ranks. Two of their outfielders and three of the infielders are making their first appearance under the Maize and Blue. Steger, Dillman, Wilson and Bachman are expected to be the most promising sluggers on the squad although in the games played thus far, they have not shown their best in the slugging game. Steger has returned to the diamond sport after an absence of several years and appears to be the most powerful batter on the squad.

The Michigan coach has been devoting much of the practice time to perfecting the defensive game of his diamond performers. George Haggerty, star of Michigan's basketball quintet will cover the third sack and has been doing remarkable work around the "hot corner" since the season opened.

Stryker and Benson are counted among Michigan's pitching staff as the leading twirlers. In the Michigan Aggie game, the moundsmen performed in creditable fashion and the support that was allotted to the pitcher was unwavering but Michigan finds itself weak at bat and together with the defense game, the Wolverine coach has laid particular stress on batting practice.

The Keoganites are prepared to face an afternoon of hard competition and with infield and outfield working in top notch fashion, the Irish will be in good shape to repel the onslaught of the invaders. The inimitable Nolan will be on the initial sack with Quinlan on second, Sheehan at short, and either Pearson or Predergast on third. The coach will have a large assortment from which to select an outfield, the reserve strength in the outer garden being one of the features of this year's squad.

GIPP MEMORIAL PLANS ARE NEAR COMPLETION

The plans for the erection of the Gipp Memorial will be completed by the S. A. C. within the next month. The contemplated memorial is to be of bronze, and will probably be erected out-of-doors until some building is built with a suitable place for the tablet.

Several years ago, a memorial fund was started, and the S. A. C. now holds in trust about $200 toward the erection of a tablet to the memory of George Gipp. The present Senior Class is the last class which was here during Gipp's time, and this is one of the reasons for completing the fund at this time.

MURPHY, AND HIS WORK

Probably few events will have a greater effect upon this year's presidential campaign than the death of Charles F. Murphy, Tammany chieftain and national Democratic potentate.

Thirty years ago, a humble horse-car driver, he left the barns of a New York traction company to try his hand at practical politics. Twenty-two years ago he took over Richard Croker's handiwork and made it the most powerful and continuously successful political machine in the world. Friday the United States Senate mourned when its members learned of his passing, one of the rare times in our national history that the death of a private citizen had been reported in its chambers.

There, briefly, is the life of Murphy, party strategist, master of men and maker of presidents. It tells its own story of the man. His influence will certainly live after him, as negative this time as it was positive in years past. His removal probably means the elimination from active candidacy of the man whose high political character, ability and foresight his astuteness had brought forth and developed. Whether it will end the power of Tammany, as did the death of an equally skillful machine leader in an adjoining state, is a question for time to answer. It is doubtful, however, for such was his hold and influence that he seldom permitted rebellious spirits to break the bonds of party fidelity, which he held indispensable.

What factors contributed to his rise and long success? Hard to tell, but certainly not the least were his utter faithfulness to friends, his personal charm and magnetism, his sympathetic understanding of human nature, his sincere desire to shun publicity and his own glory, his thorough-going belief in the efficacy of party conduct of government, and his aggressiveness in combat.

Power though he was in state and nation, and all-embracing though the machine he directed, his happiest memory may be, that, in the long years of activity in a game the record of which is filled with many a sordid page, no word has ever been uttered against his character and integrity.

THE RIGHT OF WAY

A college education provides a man with a right of way. It furnishes the nucleus which he may transform into a weapon for his own advancement.

Education and courage are the requisites.

Courage is born in the bosom of the men of Notre Dame. Our gridiron heroes, past and present, bear witness to our courage and our strength.

Football, without its glamour of competition, is a builder of men. And when the player casts aside his helmet for the last time he does not stop fighting, he merely takes up a different sort of battle, a struggle much more difficult.

Life is just a game to play;

Play it!

When you have a thing to say,

Say it!

Do not stammer "if" or "but"

Courage takes the shortest cut.

When your task is hard to do,

Grit your teeth and see it thru!

Life is just a prize to get;

Get it!

If the stage is not well set.

Set it!

Men of mettle seldom find

What they're looking for behind.

Fate is passing down the street;

Follow him on nimble feet!

You have the right of way, take it! You have success to make,

Take it! Take the right of way!

Some men are born rich; others enter politics.

Some girls are like peacocks, beautiful but dumb.

Why Should I Be Moral?

By Ernest Hull, S. J.; Examiner Press, Bombay; P. J. Kennedy and Sons, New York.

A conference on moral education is coming to a close. Many speeches have been made on its needs how it should be carried out, etc., and there has been a general agreement that an organized course based on religious education is practically impossible. "The meeting is about to adjourn when a young man arises from the audience and asks, in the name of the rising generation: "Why should I be moral? Why should I not do just as I like?"

With this stage-setting, Father Hull unfolds his play. One after another the representatives of various philosophies unfold their themes, one by one each system is discarded by the rising generation as failing to show a fundamental obligation to morality. The utilitarian, the positivist and humanitarian, the Kantian idealist, the evolutionist, the jurist and the intuitionist follow one another into the discard, and the conference is bankrupt. The rising generation may have its fling. Comes then the Christian theist to tell the rising generation that God, not the individual, is the master of human life and action, and the personal responsibility to a God who rewards and punishes places upon the individual the obligation to be moral. The conference is true to its a priori judgment, but amends it by regretting that the scheme proposed is practically impossible.

In this engaging fashion Father Hull places the responsibility for moral laxity squarely upon the shoulders of the educators who have put God out of education. President Burton, of Michigan, and other recent critics of college men's morals will find it full of meaning. The brochure is now in its fifth edition.—J. F. O'H.

Variety of Sports on N. D. Sport Card

With the appearance of Michigan and Wabash here in baseball, a track meet between the varsity and Illinois and the annual spring football game, the athletic card for this week at Notre Dame is emblazoned with a variety of sports.

The University of Michigan baseball team will meet the Keoganites on Carter field tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Wabash will follow the Wolverines, coming here Friday afternoon.

The Wabash tilt will be a hard game, the strength of the Little Giants being unknown here save the fact that they have a fast hard hitting aggregation. Several veterans on the Giant squad have strengthened the team materially this year.

Coach Keogan is spending the time before the Michigan and Wabash encounters ironing out the wrinkles that bobbed up here and there in the Loyola fracas. The Irish outfield appears to be one of the features of this year's squad as shown by their work in the Loyola game. Vergara, Farrell and Crowley performed in creditable fashion, Crowley accepting several chances without an error in the right garden. Farrell looked particularly good at bat and has made a great improvement over his early season showing.

The annual spring football game on Saturday afternoon will complete the spring football training period. The season has been particularly successful in that a large force of football men have been brought out and developed in the rudiments of the game according to the Rockne system. A track meet between Illinois and the varsity will windup the activities for the day.

BRANDY SIGNS CONTRACT

Joe Brandy, former Notre Dame football star has signed a five year contract with St. Thomas college of St. Paul it was announced this week. The former Irish quarterback was reported to have resigned from the Minnesota school to accept a position at Ripon college.

Badin Takes Lead in Interhall Ball League

Freshmen defeated Corby 8 to 7 in eight innings, and Badin won a seven inning contest from Sophomore 6 to 1 in the only two Interhall baseball games played Sunday. Rain in the afternoon held up the other games.

After trailing Corby for seven innings, the Frosh team connected with Lefty Tathem's offering for three runs in the eighth and emerged victors by one point. Corby batters hit Eirk, Frosh pitcher, for two runs the first frame and added two more the second. The Corby squad was leading by a safe margin, and from all appearances had the game won until the last two innings. Both hurlers pitched a nice game and the work of the fielders showed improvement over previous encounters.

N.D. TRACKMEN BID FOR OLYMPIC TEAM

LIEB AND OBERST PROBABLE MEMBERS OF AMERICAN TRACK SQUAD

The results of the Penn and Drake relays, which were the first important preludes to the approaching Olympic track tryouts, have a particular significance for several American universities and colleges that have hopes of being represented in the international games this summer. Both events mirrored the best track talent in inter-collegiate circles with the exception of a few schools particularly on the Pacific coast.

Probable members of the American team especially in the field events will be the subject for speculation at Notre Dame since the Blue Gold athletes have landed a national champion in the discus throw and a near champion in the javelin throw, whose performances from now until June will be watched with an ever increasing interest.

Tom Lieb of Notre Dame who won his national discus title while competing under the colors of the I. A. C. will undoubtedly be the American choice in this event and will be accompanied to Paris by two more of the nation's leading discus men. Lieb won his title in 1923 with a mark of 151 feet, 4 inches. The former record was held by Pope of the same club at 145 feet, 11 inches. Pope of the I. A. C. who took second place to Lieb in the A. U. National championship events on Stagg field last September with a throw of 148 feet and Houser of the university of Southern California who held the Intercollegiate title with a mark of 147 feet, will be among the prominent performers in the final trials. The Drake and Penn relays failed to uncover a discus thrower who could measure up to the standard of Lieb, Pope and Houser. 128 feet and 140 feet were the best marks in the respective meets. On the Pacific coast is Hartranft of Stanford university is another discus performer who is expected to register a near titular mark. Mucks of Wisconsin won the intercollegiate conference title in 1916 with a throw of 155 feet, 2 inches, and may be counted on to push the leaders in the finals.

Oberst earned a headline position for himself among the Olympic contenders in the javelin when he hurled the shaft 196 feet, 5 1/2 inches, in the Penn relays. His mark was bettered 2 1/2 inches by Schojoll of Minnesota in the Drake games who won with 196 feet, 9 inches. The marks registered by the nearest competitors of both men indicate the fact that the Notre Dame athlete was not pushed to any great extent. The second place in the Penn games was won with a heave of 176 feet, 11 1/2 inches by Frieda of University of Chicago. Schild-

JUNIOR PROM ORCHESTRA

Jean Goldkette And His Orchestra Of Detroit

This orchestra, which has been selected to play the Prom proper on next Friday evening, is said to be exceptionally well-liked by those familiar with its music and that of other orchestras of Middle west.

Among the other more classical arrangements which Goldkette will play is the song "Hike, Notre Dame," written by Joseph Casasanta. This will be the grand march. Prom guests may avail themselves of an unusual souvenir, a record of this orchestra's that will be released by the Victor people on the day of the Prom. The South Bend Tribune has arranged to broadcast the Prom music and entertainment from their station WGAZ.

hauer of Illinois closed in on Schjoll for second place with a mark of 193 feet, 1 1/2 inches.

Besides Schjoll of Minnesota, the conference harbors Hoffman another javelin thrower of more than passing merit. Hoffman is still a student at Michigan but competing under the I. A. C. colors, he won the javelin throw on Stagg field in 1923 with a throw of 194 feet, 7 1/2 inches.

With the steady improvement that has marked the work of Gene Oberst during the past two years and the return of Angiers after his injuries have been taken care of, the field of javelin performers will include a number of notable performers. Report from European athletic circles picture the old world javelin throwers as unbeatable by the best the United States can send out. The veracity of this report however will become easily passed upon after the final trials in Boston next June. Javelin men who are not doing over 190 feet are conceded little or no chance in the trials while experts are of the opinion that according to the past performances of the present stars registering around 195 feet, they will be doing 200 feet when the Americans sail for France.

POLE VAULTER INJURED.

Having sustained an injured shoulder while preparing for the dual meet with California, Dean Brownwell of Illinois, premier American pole vaulter, may not be able to compete in the event with the American Olympic team this summer. Brownwell won the event at California but his work since then has been marred by the injury and he is at present under the care of Bonsetter Reese of Youngstown. Brownwell holds the world's indoor pole vault record with a mark of 13 feet 1-2 inch.
