

S.A.C. COMPLETES SUCCESSFUL YEAR

MEMBERS RECEIVE TOKENS FROM UNIVERSITY; YEAR IS REVIEWED

As a token of appreciation for the work that the Students' Activities Council has done, the university has presented the members of that body with gold charms. Members of both this year's and last year's council received the medals.

The next meeting, which will probably be the last this year, will be held at 4:15 tomorrow in the Brownson room of the library. A joint meeting of this year's council and the newly elected members will be held later in the week. The new members will be given a summary of the work accomplished this year, and will be acquainted with unfinished business. Officers for the coming year will be elected.

Among the outstanding accomplishments of the S. A. C. are: publication of the Freshman handbook, which was so well liked that the University has taken over its publication; purchasing and improving the Gridgraph; publication, at cost, of a student directory; successful conduction of the student trip to Pittsburg; assistance in securing uniforms for the band; donation of $215 to complete fund necessary to send the band to Pittsburg; active control over all publications; drawing up of constitution for the control of the Juggler, which was approved by the Board of Publications; organization of the Blue Circle, with Matthew Rothert as chairman; adoption and ratification of the revised constitution, filling the need for a definite and well established policy for the government of the S. A. C.

With the close of the year and with the last issue of the Daily, the council wishes to express its deep gratitude for the co-operation that has been extended to it on the part of the faculty and of the undergraduate body, and to its sincere best wishes for the future. It adds its hopes for greater co-operation and greater confidence toward a greater Notre Dame.

To Close Interhall Schedule This Week

With the final schedule of Interhall baseball games to be played this week, Walsh will be the only team to meet its opponent with an undefeated record. Badin and Brownson, who have been close on the leader's trail all season, dropped farther into the rear, when both were defeated in shut-out games last week. This week's engagement will give the league pace setters one of its hardest games of the season when it meets the Brownson nine.

The Carroll-Badin game also promises to be one of the fastest to be staged on this week's bill. Last week Carroll defeated Brownson 2 to 0 in one of the most beautifully played contests that has been witnessed this season. It was a pitchers' battle from the first to the last inning with Ronay of Carroll winning the argument.

Interhall baseball standing:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Walsh	5	0	1.000
Badin	5	2	.710
Brownson	4	2	.666
Freshman	3	2	.600
Carroll	3	2	.600
Corby	3	3	.500
Off-campus	3	4	.285
Cadillac	0	3	.000
Sophomore	0	3	.000
Sorin	0	5	.000

Following is the final schedule:
Sophomore vs. Cadillac.
Walsh vs. Brownson.
Day vs. Corby.
Carroll vs. Badin.
Sorin vs. Freshman.

To Form Monogram Club of Debaters

At a meeting of the members of this year's debating team which will be held tomorrow noon, final plans will be made for the definite organization of varsity debaters into a Monogram Debaters' club.

After a series of previous meetings, at which preliminary arrangements were considered, it was decided by this year's orators to form a permanent society of past and present debaters. The present purposes of the organization will be to decide upon a standard insignia to be awarded each year to members of the debating team, and have that insignia made a permanent one; to devise means of supplying all past debaters with the insignia decided upon; to hold an annual commencement banquet at which all present and past debaters will assemble each year; and to make a fraternal organization of alumni debaters.

If arrangements can be made in time the first annual banquet of the society will be held during the coming commencement. At that time the project will be formally launched, and it is hoped to have present a good representation.

Father Paul Foik, C. S. C., university librarian, is originator of the idea and sponsor for the organization, while Father William A. Bolger, C. S. C., debating coach, is honorary president.

Boy's Club Convention Will Begin Tomorrow

The eighteenth annual convention of the Boys' Club Federation will be held June 2 to 5 at Pittsburg.

Ray Hoyer, who is in charge of the Boy Guidance work at Notre Dame, leaves today to attend the convention. Hoyer is chairman of the standing committee on physical program, and also of the physical directors.

The convention will bring together leaders of the country in boy guidance work. Problems incidental to boy guidance work will be discussed. An exhibit of products of boys' handiwork will be on display at Fort Pitt, the headquarters of the convention.

Books of Literature Lead in Popularity

More books were borrowed from the library in March than in any other month, according to statistics announced by the librarian yesterday. The total for this month reached 2,101. Totals for other months were as follows: September, 516; October, 1,287; November, 1,171; December, 876; January, 1,280; February, 1,641; April, 1,169; May, 1,304.

Books of literature were favorites throughout the year, 4,256 volumes of this type being loaned in the nine months. Sociology with 1,370, history with 993, biography with 707, and fiction with 427, were next in popularity.

ST. MARY'S TO LAY CORNERSTONE SOON

EVENT TO BE FEATURE OF COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM ON JUNE 12

One of the principal events on the commencement program at St. Mary's college this year will be the laying of the corner-stone of the new dormitory and class room building at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, June 12. Rt. Rev. Francis Gilfillan, bishop of St. Joseph, Mo., will be master of ceremonies. Rev. John Cavanaugh, C. S. C., will give the address.

Program Begins June 7.

A cap and gown ceremony on the college campus Saturday evening, June 7, will mark the beginning of the commencement activities. Rev. Matthew Walsh, C. S. C., president of the University, will celebrate mass Sunday morning. Rev. J. W. Donahue, C. S. C., of Notre Dame, will give the baccalaureate sermon following the mass.

"Monsieur Beaucaire," the fourth academic play, will be given at 7:15 Sunday evening. An address by Rev. R. J. Collentine, C. S. C., of Notre Dame, at 7:15 Monday evening, will conclude the academic exercises. Commencement for the college will be held at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, June 11. Rt. Rev. Francis Gilfillan, will deliver the address.

Mass For Alumnae.

The alumnae mass will be celebrated at 8 o'clock Thursday morning, with Bishop Gilfillan as celebrant. Rev. C. F. Buddy, of St. Joseph, Mo., will deliver the sermon. A requiem high mass for deceased members of the alumnae at 8 o'clock Friday morning, with Rev. James French, C. S. C., of Notre Dame, as celebrant, and Rev. Joseph Boyle, C. S. C., also of Notre Dame, preaching the sermon, will bring the commencement program to a close.

Employment Bureau Places 350 Students

The third year of Notre Dame's Off-campus Employment bureau has come to a successful close, according to Bert V. Dunne, director. This department, which is maintained by the university at no cost to students who are employed, secured 350 positions for students this year.

Restaurants, shoe stores and clothing stores in South Bend furnished most of the employment. It is estimated that approximately 150 students work in restaurants, candy stores, soda fountains, and the like; 100 are employed in shoe stores; 50 assist in clothing stores.

The remaining 50 are employed at every kind of position imaginable, according to Dunne. There are student clerks, agents, printers, electricians, private tutors, typists, stenographers, salesmen. The average day student, employed and living in South Bend, earns a sufficient sum to pay for board. A few have reported salaries of $16 to $18 a week.

South Bend merchants are interviewed at the beginning of the year, and their needs are recorded. In return, the bureau sends students who are guaranteed to be competent and trustworthy. An attempt is made to give positions only to those who actually are forced to work and to keep out those who are not. Most of the positions, it is said, are held by freshmen, because work on the campus is monopolized by upper classmen.

Dunne announced that several positions are open to students who wish to work as salesmen in the summer vacation.

With this issue the Daily completes the 1923-24 school year, and at the same time the second volume of its publication. Through the course of the year it has chronicled faithfully the events of the campus to the best of the ability of the men who have had it in charge. The retiring staff extends its greetings to the men of 1924 who will soon leave the University, and wishes the undergraduate student body the most pleasant of summer vacations.

C. S. M. C. Raises Almost $1,000

The Notre Dame unit of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade has raised over $980 this year for the benefit of Foreign Missions through the sale of Christmas, Easter and Mothers Day cards; boxing bouts, mite boxes, and the third Sunday collection, according to a statement made by Joseph A. Menger, president of the unit.

Notre Dame men have contributed more to the missions this year than ever before in the history of the university and officers of the unit are more than pleased with the final results. The Notre Dame Unit is still in its infancy and although the number of members this year was very limited, prospects are said to be bright for a membership of several hundred in the fall.

Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, who is responsible for the success of the unit especially during the Notre Dame convention last August, was forced to resign on account of his numerous duties, and Father Mulcaire was appointed director in his place.

Election of officers on Tuesday night in the south room of the library will conclude the work of the year.

Only Fifty Copies of 1924 Dome Left

The business staff of the 1924 Dome announced yesterday that there are only 50 more copies of the Dome available on the campus. A small number of books will be held for those who have reserved copies and the remaining supply is not expected to last more than two days.

Seniors who want a 1924 Dome are especially requested to reserve books. Copies will be held a few days for seniors whose bank accounts are experiencing the temporary devastating effects of the Senior Ball.

A few men have paid for the Dome but have not as yet called for a copy; to prevent confusion during the summer these men are asked to call immediately at the Dome office, rear of Corby hall, to receive a copy. The Dome office will be open from nine in the morning until four in the afternoon every day until the supply of Domes is exhausted.

SCRIBBLERS TO ELECT AT MEETING TOMORROW

It was announced yesterday that there will be an important meeting of the Scribblers Monday at 12:30. All members are requested to attend, for election of officers for the coming scholastic year and future plans will feature the meeting.

SENIOR PINS

Pins will be given out to the Juniors at 229 Badin, from 10 to 1 o'clock tomorrow. Juniors are asked by seniors not to wear the pins until after commencement. Later orders will be made for those not already supplied with the pins.

K.C. TO HOLD FINAL MEETING TUESDAY

PLAN TO START UNION DRIVE EARLY NEXT YEAR; CLOSE SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Rev. B. J. Ill, treasurer of the Notre Dame endowment drive, will be the speaker at the final meeting of Notre Dame Council, Number 1477, Knights of Columbus, to be held Tuesday evening. Father Ill will give the council the benefit of his experience by informing it as to the best means of carrying on its building drive.

To Begin Union Drive.

It is planned that the "big guns" of the Union drive will be fired at the beginning of the next scholastic year before Homecoming, if present plans mature. Harry McGuire will be placed in charge of the work of preparing literature for the campaign.

Mark Nolan, Grand Knight, and James Egan, treasurer, who were delegates at the recent state convention, will make reports at the Tuesday meeting. Plans for the free dance to be given June 7 will be discussed.

Meeting Ends Activities.

This meeting will bring to a close one of the most successful years in the history of the council. The year began with the unanimous re-election of Henry Barnhart as Grand Knight. Other officers were elected as follows: Ray Cunningham, Deputy Grand Knight; John James Financial Secretary; John Hurley, Recorder; George Bischoff, Chancellor; Mark Nolan, Advocate; James Egan, Treasurer; Tom Lieb, Warden; Albert Sommer, Inside Guard; and Charles Collins and John McMullen, Outside Guards. Father Foik and Harry McGuire were re-appointed as Chaplain and Lecturer at the first meeting in October.

First Initiation January 20.

Father Cunningham, Brother Florencus, Mr. Pointer and Mr. DuBois of South Bend high school were the speakers on the council's Educational Week program. The first initiation was held January 20, when 85 new members joined the council.

Barnhart, as Grand Knight, and McGuire, as Lecturer, who were forced by other activities to resign in February, were succeeded by Mark Nolan and Robert Curry respectively. John Stanton was elected Advocate to succeed Nolan. Coach K. K. Rockne spoke on "Football in College" at the meeting of February 26; $1,000 was turned over to the Building fund at this meeting.

Building Fund Raised.

It was announced at the second meeting in March that funds amounting to $18,000 had been secured for the building fund. At the next meeting, Father Foik announced the drive for the building fund which is to be launched next fall. Brother Barnabas spoke of his work in the Boy Guidance Movement, and Deputy Supreme Knight Carmody delivered an instructive address. The Post-Prom Informal was given by the council May 3.

Thirty-five took the second and third degrees at the initiation May 18, in Mishawaka. William J. Milroy, of Chicago, was the speaker at the banquet in the evening. The free dance to be held June 7 will complete the program of activities for this year.

Parish School Picnic Friday.

The first season of the Parish School indoor baseball league will be brought to a successful conclusion on Friday afternoon, when a picnic will be held under the auspices of the Notre Dame council, Knights of Columbus, on the Notre Dame campus at 4 o'clock. The league was organized by Ray Hoyer, director of the Boy Guidance (Continued on page four.)

 A well-organized student body, residing on the campus.
 True recognition of good scholarship and a better appreciation for the efforts of men in campus activities.

THE END OF THE ROAD.

It is June. In college life the month of June is a month of farewells, some of them lasting, some of them only in passing. Senior examinations begin tomorrow, in fact they have already commenced in some colleges, and the final examinations for undergraduates are not far distant.

In a short time "the greatest gang on earth" will scatter. Seniors will leave familiar campus paths for the last time, while the juniors and the sophomores and the freshmen will store away the books and the comfy chair, and vacation through the summer. Some will meet often again, and others will remain only in the recollection.

The year has been one of success. Notre Dame has triumphed in sports, in activities and in education. It is the end of one road—the beginning of another already blazed in its promise of achievements!

IT IS BECOMING NECESSARY.

At Columbia University the commencement day committee has unanimously passed resolutions asking students and alumni to observe the prohibition law during alumni celebration next week. The resolutions asked the alumni to co-operate in "sub-ordinating personal preferences to regard for the fair name of the university."

It is becoming necessary to take such action. The problem of promiscuous drinking at university and college affairs must be met squarely. Leaving out of consideration entirely the question of the reputation of particular schools, the reputation of college men and women is at stake.

College people are looked upon in their communities as leaders in the world. If they disregard the highest law of the land, the United States constitution, with utter impunity, they will soon lose that esteem in the minds of their fellow citizens. It is no longer a question for particular schools. It is a problem of all colleges and of all college men and women.

PACIFISTS AND SCHOOL BOOKS.

The pacifist movement which is gaining a foothold in certain sections of the country has not been particularly alarming. The development in the group toward the revision of school textbooks is, however, a move which will bear watching.

In this respect the pacifists are exhibiting some keen forethought. If they can succeed in revising the textbooks they will succeed in influencing thought in the grade and high schools, and their poisonous propaganda will creep into every history in the land. Just wars will be painted as the most barbaric attacks, and causes which have been supported by the patriotic millions of our nation will be made to appear as the greatest mistakes of the years.

The pacifists and the school books need to be watched carefully.

Scientists report that the world moves 1,110 miles a second. No wonder we have to go so fast to keep up with it.

Some men get along in business without a system. But you never saw them dispatch trains on a great railroad without a system.

An artificial personality is like an artificial complexion. You can get by with it until you get caught in the rain.

Between Covers

"The Literary Discipline," by John Erskine. Duffield and Company, New York. $1.50.

We are now much concerned over our contemporary literature and its kind; we are frequent readers of criticisms of our naturalistic sex literature; such articles fill an immense amount of space in our literary reviews, so that now, at least, the point of view on this subject of one of the leading American critics, now a professor of English at Columbia, is, at any rate, interesting. Mr. Erskine does not use so forceful and surprising phrases in "The Literary Discipline" as in some of his earlier books, but he knows his thesis and states it with convincing fervor. Charles Boardman Hawes, in reviewing the book, says that it and Stevenson's "Learning to Write" should be in the hands of every college senior of literary bent, and, if only in the hands of every such senior for the mere culling of the opinions there expressed, it surely should. A man with literary talent and aspirations is certain to benefit from reading it.

Mr. Erskine does not speak directly of morality in literature, but he speaks of what is almost another name—as he interprets it—for morality, literary decorum. He makes the oft-made, but necessarily made, distinction between literature and journalism, and makes the contention that the transitory popularity of many modern works is due to their being journalism, that human nature in the long run is the real judge of literature. He also takes occasion to join the many who are censoring the censors and says that: "in the long run the books of the highest decency hold their place in fame by crowding out the others. The public suppresses indecent books by reading decent ones. It takes a long time, but why not hasten the process by calling attention to the good books, instead of delaying it by advertising the bad?"

Some of his subjects are decency in literature; originality in literature; the cult of the natural; the cult of the contemporary; and the characters proper to literature.

If you are interested either in the reading or writing of books you will like Mr. Erskine's book.—H. W. F.

Origin of Princeton 'Beer Suits' Is Told

PRINCETON, N. J., May 30.—The beer suit custom, which has received so much prominence of late, has been found, upon investigation, not to have originated in the dark past but to be a comparatively recent acquisition to undergraduate life of Princeton university. As far as can be ascertained, the beer suit owes its origin to several of the more prominent members of the class of 1912.

These men, it is said, seemed to have trouble as they quaffed the foam from their beer-mug, in keeping said foam from falling upon, and making unseemly spots upon their clothing. This unfortunate state of affairs brought them to the conclusion that blue overalls ought to be worn while drinking. These men, who were called the "Swiss Navy," were immediately supported by their classmates with great enthusiasm. The next spring practically all of the class of 1913 followed suit, and the term "beer suit" was applied to the overall and jacket.

The next year white overalls instead of blue became the vogue and this was kept up throughout the war. Designs were not thought of until after prohibition when the class of 1919 wore black bands placed on the arm in token of loving remembrance. The class of 1920 wore two of the then familiar service stripes on the left cuff, and a winged beer-mug was the emblem for 1921, and a flask surpocket was worn the following year, while 1923 had a picture of the tiger giving chase to a camel. The familiar bomb inside a horse shoe which is being worn now, is left for contemporary interpretation.

What Others Say

STOP WORRYING

Stop worrying. Hand in hand with examination periods comes the inevitable worrying by some persons, especially those who are in their first year in the University. They are nervous, not only before and during the writing of the tests, but also afterwards as to the outcome of the finals. The remedy for this failing would be one of the greatest victories of such a person during the school year, not only because the individual would feel much better but also because better papers could be written so that there would be less really to worry about.

Worry before taking exams, rather than afterwards, if you are to worry at all. That is, take your courses seriously, at least during part of the semester, so that the uneasiness of the final quiz will not upset you.

Worry after the examinations does no good. This worry is useless, as the old saying goes, "there's

New Offerings on Stage and Screen

BLACKSTONE—"Men."
 PALACE—"The Rejected Woman."

ORPHEUM—"The White Moth."
 OLIVER—"Orphans of the Storm."

The Blackstone this week boasts of the most elaborate vaudeville offering which that theatre has offered this year. Danny Lund's Musical Comedy Co. presents "Syn-copation Girls. The cast includes 20 persons, many of them being rare specimens of feminine beauty. Pola Negri will be shown in "Men," her latest picture.

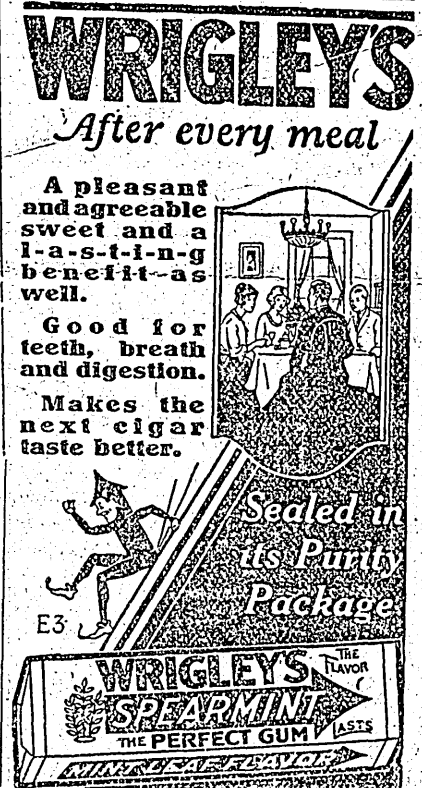

At the Palace, Paul Zimm and his Chicagoans are the center of attraction, and those who have heard them before vouch for their ability to harmonize. Bert Lahr and Mercedes in "What's the Idea," and the tuneful Stuart Girls, contribute considerably to make the party a success. A novel posing act called "Reveries," and an offering by Paul Kirkland's equilibrists, complete the vaudeville. The moving picture, "The Rejected Woman," has Alma Rubens and Conrad Nagel as the principal characters.

Conway Tearle and Barbara La Marr in "The White Moth" furnish the amusement at the Orpheum. The story is one of the night life in Paris.

The Oliver is showing a revival of D. W. Griffith's "Orphans of the Storm." If you haven't yet seen this picture, we would advise you to take this opportunity of doing so.

Year Marks Passing of Many Irish Stars

The close of the 1923-24 school year marks the passing of men and achievements which have figured largely in Notre Dame's athletic prominence. From the opening of the school year in the fall when Coach Rockne and Harvey Brown were making preparations for the football season till the ninth inning of the last game at commencement, the work of Notre Dame's athletes on and off the playing field has invoked the undying praise of a nation of discriminating critics.

Each year Notre Dame sends a great coterie of men into the world who have in no small measure added to the athletic prestige of their Alma Mater by their inimitable deeds with the Fighting Irish teams upon the playing field. This year their goes forth another class in whose ranks are men who have given their best while serving with the Blue and Gold. The captains, Harvey Brown, Gene Mayl, Paul Kennedy, Bill Sheehan and Danny McGowan will long be remembered in the athletic annals of Notre Dame for the unquenchable spirit they inspired in their teams.

With Harvey Brown goes Gene Oberst, George Vergara, John Nopenberger, Robert Reagan, Gene Mayl, Frank Reese, Joe Bergman, Willie Maher and Tim Murphy. As Coach Rockne said at the close of the season, "We are losing some mighty fine boys." Into their places will step many men who have already served two years on the Notre Dame eleven, and the problem of many years standing will be up for solution again next fall: Where does Rockne get such teams?

The basketball squad will not suffer as great a loss in regard to numbers as will the football team. Gene Mayl and Tom Riordan completed their college competition when Notre Dame played Franklin. Graduation will take nine men from the Notre Dame track team: Captain Paul Kennedy, Gene Oberst, Joe Sheehan, Ray Brady, Charley Cooper, Luke Walsh, Russell O'Hare, Mike Hammill and Tom Barber. Coach Rockne's remarks on the passing of the football men can be applied to the graduating trackmen. The squad for next year will be composed of many veterans who are now serving their second year of competition. This year's yearling squad will find plenty of room on the 1925 cinder aggregation and much is expected from it, considering the work of several of its members this spring.

Baseball like basketball will not suffer as heavy a toll as the other major sports. For the most part, Coach Keogan's diamond squad is made up of sophomores. Captain Sheehan, George Vergara, Hugh Magevney, Frank McGrath and Frank Reese will wear the Irish uniform for the last time in the commencement game with the Michigan Aggies. These five men have filled their time in college baseball and they can leave the squad knowing that they have given their best to the Blue and Gold.

The boxing squad will lose the inimitable Danny McGowan. Owing largely to his efforts, boxing at Notre Dame gained greater prominence in the calendar of local sports this year than ever before. The clever little flyweight has boxed his way through numerous amateur titles and stood as one of the big point getters on the Notre Dame ring squad. He leaves after him several men who gave a splendid account of themselves during that time that the boxing team was active in intercollegiate competition. Miller, Canny, Schell, Springer, Scherer and Moore will be on deck for the squad that will take up the game again next year.

The minor sports of hockey and swimming are numbered at the bottom of the list of passing athletes. The hockey squad loses Jimmy Egan and Norm Feltes.

The prospects for the athletic year 1924-25 are remarkably attractive in that with a great deal of veteran material already on hand, the coaches will have a promising group coming in from the yearling teams of this year. The football season will dawn as brilliantly as ever with a schedule that will eclipse (Continued on page four.)

Notre Dame Entered In Conference Meet

The University of Notre Dame will be represented among the 14 non-conference schools that will participate in the annual outdoor western conference track meet to be held at the University of Chicago, June 6 and 7. This number, coupled with the ten conference schools, brings the total to 24.

Among the non-conference schools who will seek team honors in the Big Ten cinder classic will be Washburn, Ames, Butler, Michigan Aggies, Western State Normal and Oberlin. Several of the outside schools entered boast of star performers who will give the best men in the conference ranks closer competition than was displayed in many of the Big Ten dual meets. Gray of Butler will be able to stand up against the sprint men of Illinois, Michigan and Iowa. The Normal school has a good quarter miler in Smith, while Ames has a hurdler that pushed Brookins in the Iowa-Ames dual meet. Notre Dame will enter a squad of seven men, which will probably include some of the following: Kennedy, Luke Walsh, Harrington, Livergood, Barr, Layden, McTiernan, Barber, Cox, Wendland, Oberst and Milbauer.

From past performances, Illinois is due to take a huge slice of the team honors. Gill has a pair of record breakers in the sprints, notably Evans, who will lead any man in the conference a merry race. Evans has twice tied Pad-dock's world record in the 200 meter run. Michigan will have Wittman, Brooker and DeHart Hubbard to contribute for points while Gill will have Brownell, Angiers, Hall and Meigher.

GRID MEN WRESTLE

URBANA, Ill. — Linemen may find Illinois guards and tackles rather stiff bucking if Coach Zupke's method of training is put into practice next fall. The Orange and Blue mentor has most of the freshmen team of this year out working on Coach Prehn's wrestling squad.

MANY STARS LEAVE

season will be something to look forward to with more than ordinary interest. Coach Keogan promises to have an inviting schedule in line for next winter, that will bring the cream of basketball colleges to Notre Dame for games. The track team, augmented by the freshmen stars of this year and re-enforced by a large number of veterans, will branch out on another season, with the eleventh consecutive Indiana state title in view. Baseball should enjoy a season even better than the present one considering that more than half of the 1924 team are sophomores.

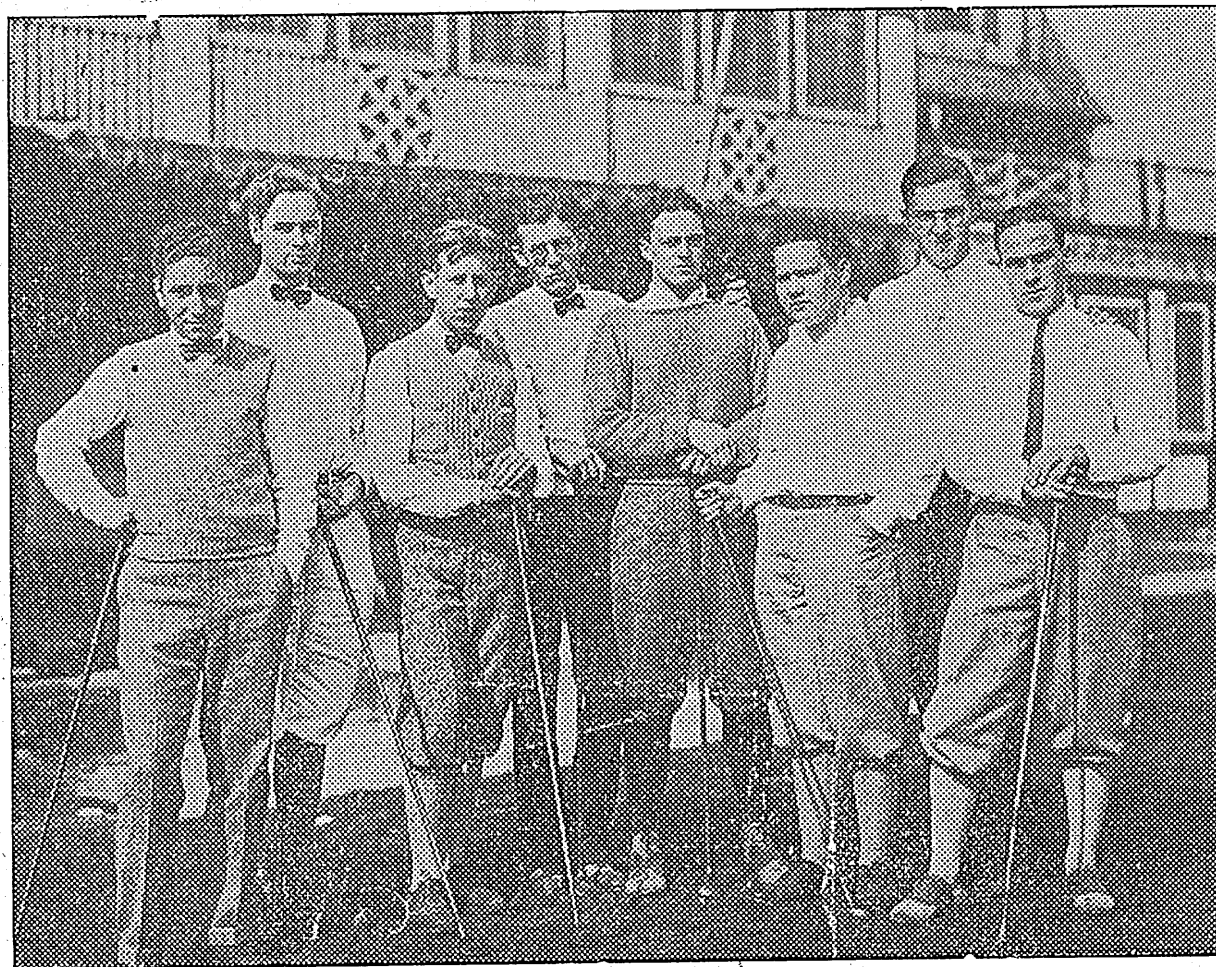

The close of the season finds Notre Dame in possession of the Indiana football title, cross-country title, hockey title, track title, a share in the baseball title and a healthy bid for the golf title.

At Other Colleges

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS—Students at the university put out the Austin papers last week, and so were afforded opportunity of applying the theory acquired in their journalism classes.

HARVARD UNIVERSITY—Dr. Floyd B. Felton of the university, after five years of research, has found a treatment for pneumonia which is expected to cut the death rate from that disease 25 to 50 per cent, according to an announcement by a conservative group of medical men of Boston and New York, who have tested the germ-killing anti-body in 120 hospital cases.

Golf Team Closes Successful Year with DePaul Game

The Notre Dame golf team, including Jack Adams, captain; George Ward, Joseph Foglia and Tyril Bolger, will conclude a very successful season when it plays a return match with DePaul on the local course Thursday. Other members of the squad are Don Harris, Jim Carbett, Fred Link, Charles Mouch.

K. OF C. ENDS YEAR

The main attraction will be a game of indoor between a team composed of the coaches and umpires and the school team that wins the championship. The latter has not yet been determined; the games scheduled for the coming week will settle this question with St. Adelbert's, St. Casimir's and St. Stanislaus' as contenders. Refreshments will be served.
