Shoppers, workers among victims

52 injured in Belfast blast

(c) 1972 New York Times News
Belfast, Northern Ireland, March 6—Fifty-two persons were injured here today when a bomb exploded in a parking lot at the rear of a movie theater. The injured were mainly women shoppers and office workers.

Security forces said that the explosion had been caused by a 50-pound gelignite charge planted in a stolen truck parked behind the Ritz Cinema. They were investigating the possibility that the bomb had been planted by the same terrorists who set off an explosion in a Belfast restaurant on Saturday that killed two persons and injured 136.

Police warned

An official spokesman said the police had received a telephone call earlier informing them that a bomb had been left in the parking lot. The lot was searched, but the truck was not there at that time, the spokesman said.

Tonight, a security patrol, hearing gunshots, found a youth lying in a pool of blood not far from the scene of the blast. He was taken to the Royal Victoria Hospital in serious condition.

Bombs have terrorized Belfast this past week. Almost two hundred people have been injured.

In Londonderry, a bomb left by two gunmen wrecked one of the city's three remaining hotels. Staff and guests at the 17-room Ardoun Hotel were given a 25-minute warning by the armed men, who asserted that it was frequented by detectives.

Meanwhile in Coleraine, the tribunal investigating the killing of 13 persons by British soldiers in Londonderry on Jan. 30 went into its third week.

The British Army Brigade Commander in the Londonderry area told Lord Widgery, Britain's Lord Chief Justice, who is sitting as a one-man tribunal, that the army had rejected advice from the local police to allow the Civil Rights March to take place.

Rights march related

Brig. Patrick MacLellansaid under cross-examination that the local police chief had warned before the march that if it was halted there would be intense violence. He said that the police chief, Frank Legam—a Roman Catholic—had suggested taking photographs of the march leaders for prosecution later.

Dol. Derek Wilford, who was directly in charge of the paratroopers when they advanced into the Catholic bogside area, said he had seen only one soldier fire one shot and had not personally seen any civilian gunmen or nail bombers.

He said that during the clash the paratroopers fired 103 rounds of ammunition.

South quad favored in Badin, Walsh picks

Halls on the South Quad quickly filled last night as displaced residents of Badin and Walsh chose new dorms.

247 students picked rooms from the quotas which the ad hoc housing committee had determined for each hall. Dorm quotas ranged from Holy Cross's low of 10 to a high of 30 in Flanner and Grace.

Morrissey, Howard, Lyons, Sorin and Fisher were the first halls to fill. On the North Quad only Farley, Flanner, and St. Ed's filled. No Badin-Walsh residents chose Keenan-Stanford.

"Residents picked into other halls on an equal basis with those already living in those halls," according to Badin Hall President Roger Burrell.

He added that most halls did not set aside specific sections but that students choosing those halls could form their own sections in a manner consistent with that hall's policy.

The only complaint the joint room selection committee heard was South Quad halls filling "too quickly."

"We expected this to happen," Burrell noted, "but there was nothing we could do about it. Most of the complaints will probably come during individual hall lotteries of GPA picks."

"No section was forced to split up," Burrell added.

$25 taken from office

Student Union robbed

by Daniel Barrett

A set of lost keys was apparently responsible for vandalism in Student Union offices Saturday night. An unknown person or persons entered the offices by key and stole twenty-five dollars from the petty cash cabinet drawer.

All locked cabinets were pried at and emptied according to SU Director Bill McGrath. A combination-lock safe in a cabinet was pried at but not opened. Contents of the other drawers were thrown all over the office.

McGrath speculated that the vandal or vandals were "unfamiliar with the office," partially because the keys were later found in a lower floor lavatory. He was unsure whether the key was lost by a present SU member or a person on special assignment.

He explained that during changeover many people on projects carrying over into the new administration receive keys that are never returned. Many of these keys are later duplicated.

McGrath estimated that there are forty keys in the hands of U people, but as many as twenty more might be in the hands of people who shouldn't have them.

McGrath stated that no more money would be kept in the office, but that no other security changes are foreseen.

"Hello, Chief? Pocahontas and I just eloped!"

"Delicate" news is so hard to communicate in a letter—and so much more graciously said with a long distance call. Costs so little, too, when you dial direct (about 1/2 the cost of person-to-person). For example, a direct-dialed call to Niagara Falls after 5:00 p.m. would cost less than $1.00. The tactful way to "break news" is to call. The economical way is to dial the call direct.

Irish ready for playoff opener

by Jim Donaldson
Sports Editor

The experienced, veteran champion, Denver University, takes on the young rookie, Notre Dame, in the opening round of the Western Collegiate Hockey Association playoffs tonight at the Denver U. Arena in Colorado.

The clubs will meet for the second time in the two-game, total goal series tomorrow night. Both games will be broadcast by WSND, beginning at 9:55.

The Pioneers, who captured their seventh WCHA title last weekend by defeating Wisconsin twice in Madison, are old hands at championship competition. Five past Denver teams have won the national championship and the Pioneers lost just one of their top 14 players from last year's club, which placed third in the NCAA tournament.

Notre Dame, a first year member of the WCHA and playing only its fourth year of varsity hockey, will be making its initial appearance in the pressure-packed tourney.

Jim Donaldson

The Irish finished eighth in the league, compiling a 10-16 record and 28 title points. Denver won 19 of 28 WCHA games and compiled 52 points, six more than runner-up Wisconsin.

The two clubs met three weeks ago in a pair of four-point games in the Mile High City and the Pioneers edged the Irish twice, winning a 3-2 overtime decision and a 5-4 verdict.

Denver coach Murray Armstrong was impressed with the Irish icers' showing and commented, "Notre Dame looked as good as any team I've seen this year. I didn't see any weaknesses in their club."

If one had to pick a weak spot on the Notre Dame sextet, it would have to be the club's defensive performance, which has been disappointing at times this year. The Irish won't be able to afford any defensive lapses against the high scoring Pioneers.

"A good, close checking game is the key to victory in the playoffs," Notre Dame assistant coach, Tim McNeil, said on the eve of the club's departure for Denver.

"Denver is a strong skating, free-wheeling team and we'll have to try to contain and pressure them," McNeil stated. "This team proved to itself Saturday night that, when it has to, it can play good defensive hockey, but it's a six man responsibility."

"They recognize the value of working together," he continued. "We've been getting solid goaltending but, during the last couple of weeks, our forwards are beginning to share the defensive responsibilities, too. They realize how much they can contribute and have begun to think defense."

"I believe that a goal saved is worth two earned," McNeil said. "To beat Denver, we'll have to make the necessary adjustments to play sound defense."

The Pioneers are hardly a club that can easily be held in check. Paced by the talented line of All-American Vic Venasky, Tom Peluso and Pete McNab, Denver led the WCHA in goals scored, pumping 148 shots past opposing goalies. Venasky led the WCHA in scoring as a freshman last season and Peluso and McNab are among the top five point producers in the league this year.

Denver, like the Irish, has had problems preventing goals, however. Twice within the past few weeks, Colorado College ripped the Pioneers for nine goals. Junior goalie Ron Grahame has been in the nets for all the Pioneer games thus far and the Irish hope that he may be tired after the grueling WCHA campaign. Notre Dame has regained its scoring punch the last couple of weeks, racking up 16 goals in a sweep of Michigan and 15 in the split with Michigan State last weekend. The line of John Noble, Ian Williams and Eddie Bumbacco has been particularly effective recently, accounting for eight goals against both the Wolverines and Spartans.

The Irish have also been getting solid goaltending from senior Dick Tomasoni, who turned in an outstanding performance in the playoff clinching win over MSU, and sophomore Mark Kronholm, who did a fine job in the nets when Denver posted their overtime win over Notre Dame.

Notre Dame had to struggle to gain their spot in the playoffs and they face an uphill battle in their quest for the national title, but coach McNeil feels that the team is ready to play their best hockey of the season.

"As a result of the frustrations we've had this year, I think that the team has come of age. We're a young club but we've gained experience," he said.

"We're thankful to be in the playoffs and look forward to the challenge of playing Denver. They might be a first place hockey team, but we still have a team capable of beating them."

The Irish Eye

Playoff Patter

Mention the word "playoffs" around a hockey player or a hockey fan you're likely to get an enthusiastic response.

Playoff games are not like ordinary, scheduled games. They're something extra special. Once a club has made the play-offs, it has a chance to rise to the top, no matter what its regular season standing. In fact, the playoffs are really a "second season".

Right now, despite a subpar 10-16 WCHA record, Notre Dame's hockey team has achieved one of its season long goals, making the league playoffs. The Irish had to overcome a great deal of adversity in the form of injuries, bad breaks and poor officiating that cost them a couple of games, but now coach Lefty Smith's club is only six games away from the national title.

But the Irish will have to battle every step of the way if they are to lay hands on the national championship trophy a week from Saturday in Boston. Because of their eighth place finish, Notre Dame's icers must play all their WCHA playoff games away from home and against the toughest competition in the league.

The WCHA tourney pits the top four finishers against the fifth through eighth place finishers in a two-game total series. Notre Dame will play at Denver, seventh place Michigan Tech visits league runner-up Wisconsin, sixth place Michigan travels to Grand Forks to take on third place North Dakota while fourth place Michigan State hosts fifth place Minnesota-Duluth. Colorado College and Minnesota were eliminated from post-season play. Colorado finished in an eighth place tie with Notre Dame but the Irish won the playoff berth because they outscored the Tigers, 23-9, while beating them in three of four meetings during the regular season.

The four winners in the first round will meet in another two-game, total goal series Friday and Saturday and, again, the lowest regular season finishers will have to play at the top clubs' rinks.

In a two-game, total goals series it is not necessary to win both games, but merely to score more goals than your opponent. If a team wins its first game 2-0, then loses, 1-0, it is still considered to have won the series and will advance to the next round.

The two teams which survive in the WCHA playoffs will undoubtedly represent the West in the NCAA tournament. The playoff system may not seem fair to those teams which finish near the top of the standings during the regular season but, because of the balance of power among the teams in the WCHA, it is the most equitable way to determine which clubs can play best with the pressure on.

Last place Minnesota managed to win three of four games from second place Wisconsin during the past season while Colorado split its four-game season series with Denver. Any team in the WCHA can beat any other club on a given night and the teams which emerge victorious in playoff action will certainly be deserving of a spot in the national tourney.

Notre Dame's chances of making the trip to Boston for the NCAA title event don't appear to be very good. They were able to compile only a 2-10 record against the WCHA's top four clubs and they will have to beat two of these teams, away from home, if they are to be selected for the national tournament.

Nevertheless, the Irish are optimistic about being able to hold their own in the playoffs. Coach Lefty Smith commented on his team's playoff hopes after Saturday night's 6-2 victory over Michigan State at the ACC that ensured the Irish of a berth in the post-season competition.

"As I look back on the season after nights like tonight," Smith said, "I have a hard time visualizing our record. After this weekend, I'm more convinced than ever that we have the makings of a good team. I think we have reached a high level of maturity and that we'll do well in the playoffs." Smith continued, "We're as good as anyone in the league. We haven't done as well as I'd hoped this season and the playoffs will give us a chance to redeem ourselves."

Smith and the Irish have believed all season long that they can beat the best teams in the league. And now they've got their chance to prove it.

ND wrestlers lose, 20 - 18

by "Lefty" Ruschmann

Close matches in the 134 and 158-pound weight classes made the differences as the Notre Dame wrestlers dropped their final match 20-18, to Marquette University last Saturday night at Milwaukee. Despite ending the season on a losing note, the Irish grapplers finished at 11-4 for their best record in history.

Ken Ryan, appearing in his last duel meet, notched his 50th career victory to establish an Irish club record. Mike Fanning also rolled to his 24th win of the year, registering an easy first-period pin to raise his season total to 21, also a team record.

Mike Beining of the Warriors opened what proved to be a seesaw meet with a 13-5 decision over Mike Martin in the 118-pound event.

Steve Moylan led the Irish back in the 126-pound match by pinning Russ Cascio at 3:50. Steve closed out an unusual season, in which all eleven of his wins have come by falls.

In the closest match of the evening, 134-pound Tom Rudolph was restricted by N.D.'s Rick Esposito to a 1-all deadlock, but Rudolph piled up enough of a time advantage to win by a 2-1 count.

Kurt Bramble answered with a come-from-behind 5-3 win over Marquette's Tom Neuman in the 142-pound class. Bramble, after taking a 2-0 lead on an early takedown, suffered a near-fall in the second stanza. A reversal later in the period, however, put him ahead to stay at 4-3, and he added an extra point for riding time.

Captain Ken Ryan was hamstrung in the early going by 150-pound Greg Gutowski before coming on strong in the last period. Trailing 1-0, Ryan reversed his opponent and scored a near-fall for a 5-1 lead. Time advantage contributed the extra point.

Fritz Bruening dropped a frustrating 2-0 verdict in the battle of 158-pounders to the Warrior's Dale Roznik. The only scoring came on Roznik's first period takedown. Mike Kemp, wrestling at 167, also suffered a shutout at the hands of Bill Bezdichek, this one by the score of 3-0.

NCAA regional champ Keith Koziczowski of the Warriors took Rick Komar apart in the 177 pound match, winning 21-2. Al Rocek also had little success, losing to Dan Jones in the 190-pound event, going down by an 11-1 score. Jones' win sewed up the meet for the Warriors, who took a 20-12 lead into the final event.

Heavyweight Mike Fanning needed but 1:15 to clamp a half-nelson on Ben Guido and pin him to the mats, leaving the Irish two points short of victory.

Digger to chair drive

Richard F. (Digger) Phelps, University of Notre Dame basketball coach, will be the honorary chairman of the annual membership drive of the Council for the Retarded of St. Joseph County.

Phelps' appointment was announced today by Ervin A. Derda, President of the Council. The month-long membership campaign will be conducted in March.

The Council for the Retarded of St. Joseph County is a community agency which provides a variety of services to retarded persons in the county. The Council operates Logan School for mentally retarded children between the ages of 2 and 16, and an Adult Training Center and Workshop which provides job training for older retarded persons, many of whom become self-sufficient after their training.

The United Way agency, also supported by county tax funds offers evaluation and referral services for retarded persons, a recreation program, and social services to the retarded and their parents.

Among the activities planned by the Council during its membership campaign is an open house and community appreciation day on March 15. Open House tours of Council facilities will originate at Logan Center, 1235 North Eddy Street, that day.

Lindsay meeting

This week the Notre Dame Committee for Lindsay for President is attempting to coordinate a drive for placing John Lindsay on the Indiana primary ballot.

The drive is in need of people to go into South Bend to obtain signatures from registered Democrats on nominating petitions.

All those interested should attend an organizational meeting at 8:00 tonight in the Fiesta Lounge of LaFortune Student Center.

Poetry contest

by Deborah Kerr

A statewide Poetry Competition open to all undergraduate students currently enrolled in Indiana Colleges and Universities sponsored by the Indiana College English Association ICEA has been announced by Harold Isbell of the St. Mary's English department. Entries must be given to Mr. Isbell (office 308 Madeleva, SMC) on or before March 20, 1972.

Any undergraduate student currently enrolled is invited to enter. Each student is limited to no more than three entries. These poems must be typed in double space on one side of the page (8 1/2 x 11). The students' name must be typed on the reverse side of each page submitted.

The poems submitted will be judged by a local committee, and the first three poems selected will be entered in the state competition.

Every entrant should retain copies of the poems entered in the competition. Poems submitted must be original (no translations) and unpublished.

McGovern group sues Gary cops

James Beatty, chairman of the Indiana organization of the McGovern for president Committee, has filed charges against the Gary police for harrasing McGovern petitioners.

Students from the Third District, including three Notre Dame students, were in Gary last weekend trying to secure necessary signatures for Senator George McGovern in order to put his name on the Indiana primary

The delegation was at the Village Shopping Center for less than an hour when Gary police collected them and threatened them. Though the police had no legal basis for their treatment the students felt compelled to leave and did so peacefully.

The students plan to return to Gary next weekend to continue in the hands of their drive.
