O'Meara releases letter to CLC

by Pat Toomey

There will be no housing lottery this year. This news was announced in a letter from Dr. Timothy O'Meara, University provost, to the student body. O'Meara's letter was released at last night's Campus Life Council meeting.

According to O'Meara, last August's overcrowding will be reduced by more than one half without a lottery. Therefore, students who are eligible for campus housing and who have signed a contract are assured accommodation for next year.

In the letter, O'Meara also expressed optimism that construction of additional on-campus housing will be started by the academic year 1980-81.

Funding is now being sought for this new housing. The University will reapply for a housing loan from the federal government before the June 1 deadline. Discussions with potential donors for a new dormitory are also being continued.

At the meeting, it was announced that students who had turned in housing cards might still be able to move off-campus without being fined $250. Fr. John Van Wolvlear, vice-president for Student Affairs, said these students would be allowed to plead their case until April 1.

The CLC also discussed campus alcohol abuse at the meeting. Keenan rector Fr. Richard Conyers expressed concern about current drinking attitudes at Notre Dame. According to Conyers, "Drunkenness is something that shouldn't exist at an academic institution where we're trying to improve ourselves."

... 'Alcohol is just a symptom of the social problems we have on campus.'

Gene Woloshyn, assistant Student Union director, responded to Conyers' argument by claiming, "Alcohol is just a symptom of the social problems that we have on campus. Alcohol is an outlet for these social frustrations."

The CLC's discussion on alcohol soon developed into a discussion of the social life at Notre Dame.

The Council voted to have Van Wolvlear and Student Body President Andy McKenna develop a strategy to achieve a campus-wide conference on the quality of campus living. An alcohol abuse prevention program was also approved by the CLC.

The problems of false fire alarms on campus and the representation of off-campus students on the CLC were also discussed.

These students seem rather displeased to find that mother nature dumped 6 new inches of snow on the campus overnight.

No need for a lottery

O'Meara outlines housing situation

by John McGrath
Senior Staff Reporter

In a letter addressed to the student body and read by Andy McKenna, Student Body president, at last night's Campus Life Council meeting, University Provost Timothy O'Meara revealed that there will be no off-campus lottery.

O'Meara outlined three points in the letter dealing with the housing situation on campus, the first of which was the announcement that all students eligible for campus housing who have signed housing contracts will be assured accommodation in campus dormitories next year.

He explained that an analysis of signed housing contracts indicated that the overcrowding of early last semester will be greatly reduced, in his words, "by more than half," without the need for a lottery.

"This solution would not have been possible without the effort of those of you who have voluntarily decided to move off campus," O'Meara noted in the letter.

Commenting that the University is moving in the right direction, Andy McKenna expressed satisfaction with O'Meara's letter. "I think the patience in waiting for the figures to come in instead of trying to force a lottery in the first semester really paid off," the SBP said.

Dan McCurrie, president of the Junior Class, the group which would have been most directly affected by any lottery proposal, was less enthusiastic about the revelation, remarking, "It's no surprise to me. We've been expecting this since Thanksgiving break. The Administration was either going to kick us off or leave us on if they had enough beds left after a lot of us were scared off."

The second point O'Meara revealed in the letter is the fact that the University will reapply for government funds to be used in the construction of a new dormitory.

Last November, the Department of Housing and Urban Development denied a request by the University for a $5 million loan for the construction of a women's dormitory.

O'Meara noted that the deadline for the new application to be submitted is June 1, and added that he has already contacted architects who will prepare the proposal.

In the third point outlined in the letter, O'Meara disclosed that the University is continuing discussions with potential donors of money to be used as a supplement to the government funds in construction of the planned dormitory.

In the letter, O'Meara com-

Violence continues as Khomeini takes control of Iranian gov't

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Backers of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini struggled to keep their revolutionary victory from dissolving into anarchy yesterday. Bands of trigger-happy civilians rampaged jubilantly through Tehran's streets firing weapons into the air.

Khomeini urged followers to avoid "arson, destruction and cruelty." He proclaimed that those indulging in such acts disobeyed "Allah's orders and are traitors to the Islamic movement."

But many bands of armed Iranians, euphoric with their new power, appeared out of control on the first day after the fall of the shah-appointed government.

Khomeini aides asked civilians to turn in unauthorized weapons at local mosques.

State radio, quoting hospital spokesmen, said Sunday's fighting in Tehran killed 417 people and wounded 989. At least 200 other died in earlier weekend violence.

It was reported that 150 persons were killed in the north-eastern city of Tabriz and 44 in the southern city of Shiraz.

There were no reports of violence against the estimated 7,000 Americans still in Iran.

In Washington, President Carter said he had been in touch with the government and "we stand ready to work with them." At a news conference, Carter said the new government was "very helpful in insuring the safety of Americans."

States and six Air Force helicopters left bases in Europe in case they are needed to bolster the guard at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

At Tehran's Intercontinental Hotel, base for the Western news media, Khomeini supporters protecting the hotel fought a gunbattle with insurgents who tried to force their way in. Nobody was reported hurt.

Another armed group entered the Hilton Hotel and ordered some 400 guests, many of them Americans, to bring their luggage to the lobby to be searched. The guest later were allowed to return to their rooms.

Newspapers said 3,500 felons escaped from the country's largest prison, 65 miles west of Tehran, after insurgents opened the gates Sunday.

Two army generals - including the former commander of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's Imperial Guard - were killed during Sunday's violence. A third general was found shot dead at his home Monday.

Supporters of Khomeini sealed off Tehran's airport, reportedly to prevent officials of the shah's regime from leaving the country.

There was no firm word on Bakhtiar's fate, but a highly placed source told The Associated Press he was under the protection of his old friend Nehdi Bazargan, prime minister of Khomeini's provisional government. Bakhtiar reportedly handed his resignation to Bazargan Sunday after the military said it would no longer support him.

Workers stop picketing to mourn colleague's death

EL CENTRO, Calif. [AP] - Farm workers mourning the death of a colleague shot to death on the picket line stopped picketing during a valley-wide work stoppage yesterday as both sides tried to defuse the volatile Imperial Valley lettuce strike. Marc Grossman, a spokesman for the United Farm Workers Union, said the one-day moratorium was being honored at most of the valley's more than 30 farms Monday while union and non-union workers prepared to pay respects for the 28-year-old union worker killed Saturday. Three men, including two foremen and a worker hired to pick lettuce during the strike, have been arrested for investigation of murder, according to Imperial County sheriff's Lt. Richard Wilson.

Americans favor amendment for balanced budget

NEW YORK [AP] - Americans overwhelmingly favor a constitutional amendment requiring a balanced federal budget because they don't trust politicians to put a lid on government spending, an Associated Press-NBC News poll shows. The AP-NBC News poll found 70 percent of those interviewed Feb 5 and 6 favor a budget-balancing amendment. Eighteen percent opposed such a move, and 12 percent were not sure. Support for an amendment has slipped in the past three months, however. The current level is 5 points below the finding of the November AP-NBC news poll and 9 points below the December results.

British strikes continue with no end in sight

LONDON [AP] - Strikes and slowdowns by 1.5 million public service workers demanding hefty pay hikes entered their fourth week yesterday with no sign of an end to the nationwide disruptions. The National Union of Public Employees, one of the four labor unions waging the campaign, said it would escalate actions to retaliate against municipal authorities who called in private contractors to remove mountains of garbage filed in streets. The public service workers are demanding a 42 percent pay hike to boost their weekly salaries from $84.40 to $120. The rejected an 8.8 percent offer from Prime Minister James Callaghan's Labor government, which had been trying to keep a 5 percent cap on salary increases as an inflation-fighting move.

Boy imitates Superman; plunges seven floors

NEW YORK (AP)-A 4-year-old Brooklyn boy who had been trying to "fly" around the house after seeing the movie "Superman" has died of injuries suffered when he fell from a seventh-floor window. The boy, Charles Green, had been in a coma since slipping from his grandmother's apartment in Brooklyn on Feb. 2. He died early Sunday at Kings County Hospital.

Associates presents Ruckelshaus

Member of the Business Associates Program at Saint Mary's will present William D. Ruckelshaus as their main speaker at a dinner tonight.

The Business Associates Program is a recent addition to the College's comprehensive development program. With Franklin D. Schurz, Jr., editor and publisher of the South Bend Tribune, as its national chairman, it is composed of businesses that give unrestricted support to Saint Mary's College.

William D. Ruckelshaus is a senior vice president of the Weyerhaeuser Company. He was formerly deputy attorney general and House majority leader in Indiana.

Between 1970 and 1973 he served in Washington, D.C. as administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency acting director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and deputy attorney general of the United States.

Erratum

A special two-part series on Notre Dame to be featured this week on WNIT-Channel 34's Straight Talk, will be aired at 6:30 and 11 p.m. on Thursday and Friday. It was inaccurately reported in Monday's Observer that the second showing of the specials would be at 11:30 p.m. each night.

Mullen wins contest

A contest to select a theme for the senior formal was won by Mike Mullen, a senior from Alumni Hall. The theme chosen was "Still Crazy After All These Years," a Paul Simon hit of several years ago.

By submitting the winning theme, Mullen wins a free dinner at the Moonraker restaurant.

The formal will be held April 21 at the Palmer House in Chicago.

Roemer requests ban on alcohol at sporting events

by Tom Jackman
Staff Reporter

Dean of Students James Roemer has directed a second letter to the management of the Notre Dame Athletic & Convocation Center, (ACC), recommending once again that the sale of alcohol at hockey and basketball games, specifically at the Blue Line and Tip Off Clubs, be prohibited. Contrary to rumors however, the Blue Line Club will be open to all members this weekend, Notre Dame's final home series of the year.

Roemer's first letter to the ACC was written at the beginning of the hockey season. His latest recommendation was apparently spurred by an incident involving a Senior Class gathering at the Blue Line Club at the most recent home series against Colorado College.

The Senior Class was given 100 passes to the club by the Blue Line Club for its Senior Hockey Weekend. Roemer alleges that Jerry Castellini, Senior Class President, distributed the passes indiscriminately, giving out between 10 and 20 to underage students. Later in the night during the third period of the game, some incidents occurred between students in which police had to intervene. Castellini has had to write a letter of apology to the police as a result.

The decision to abolish alcohol sales rest not with Roemer but rather with the ACC. However, Blue Line Club President Thelma Hessling pointed out that the alcohol sales are the Club's only source of revenue, and without the sales Club membership will drop greatly, as well as its income.

"The diehards will stay," said Hessling, "but a lot of people will leave. The hockey program needs all the help it can get, and it (alcohol sales) is the only source of revenue we have for the things we do for the team, such as the banquet at the end of the year and trophies."

"The Blue Line Room is primarily a place where people go to have a beer, socialize, and see people," she continued, "and I personally see nothing wrong with that. Some of the students shouldn't have been up there, but the policeman (guarding the students' entrance) should have been checking IDs." Hessling says she has offered to apologize to Roemer if necessary for the incident, and pointed out that "this is the first time we've had a problem."

The decision on whether or not to prohibit alcohol sales at the Blue Line and the Tip Off Club next year will be made by an ACC committee headed by Managing Director John Plouff which reviews the situation annually. Plouff did not predict how the committee might decide, but he did not believe that the incident or Roemer's letter would have an exceptional influence.

Plouff did point out that it is the Blue Line Club's responsibility to make sure that all people being served alcohol are at least 21, and added that the Club is "not a place to play Chug-a-Lug." Plouff felt that Roemer "was just being consistent" with his previous football stadium drinking directive by writing his two letters, and said he believes that perhaps a post-game gathering would provide an alternate solution.

Roemer said in a short interview that his recommendation states that "the University should not be in the business of selling alcohol at basketball and hockey games...Does it make sense to have people running upstairs during the middle of games to get fueled up?" Roemer said he wrote his second letter following the senior class "commotion," as he called it.

Castellini would not comment on the incident because he did not want to influence the Blue Line Club's chances of getting a favorable decision from the ACC, but he did note that Roemer has never been in the Club which Roemer admitted in the interview.

Carter pledges cooperation with new Iranian regime

WASHINGTON [AP]-President Carter said yesterday the United States is in very close consultation with the new Iranian regime and hopes for "a very productive and peaceful cooperation" with the strategic country's leaders.

In the first U.S. comment since the fall of the government of Prime Minister Shshpour Bakhtiar, whom he had supported, Carter said that "we stand ready to work with" Bakhtiar's successors in the new revolutionary government of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

To offset the net loss of 500,000 barrels of Iranian oil daily because of that country's year of political upheavals, the president urged voluntary conservation measures by Americans, including adherence to the 55-mph speed limit.

"The situation is not crucial now, it's not a crisis, but it certainly could get worse," Carter said.

Speaking in measures tones from a prepared statement at the start of a nationally broadcast news conference, the president said the U.S. embassy in Tehran reported that followers of the new regime "have been very helpful in insuring the safety of Americans, and we have been consulting with them very closely."

In the Iranian capital, the new government of Khomeini and Prime Minister-designate Mehdi Bazargan reported that resistance had ended, but that it was having trouble controlling its own supporters.

In a second prepared statement, Carter said that although the wholesale price index jumped 1.3 percent in January, "all available evidence indicates that the guidelines which we have established (to control inflation) are beginning to take hold."

The wholesale price increases, he said, supported his prediction last fall that "inflation might get worse in the short run before it got better."

The developments in Iran could damage the administration's anti-inflation efforts by reducing oil supplies and driving up the domestic price of petroleum products. Carter said the cutoff of Iranian oil underscores U.S. vulnerability.

"A prudent public response early and on a broad-scale basis will make sure that any interruption in our economic system will be minimal in the future," he said.

The president, possibly seeking to maintain some level of U.S. arms sales to Iran, said he wanted to insure that "Iran is militarily capable of protecting her independence and her territorial integrity..."

Nine days before the scheduled resumption of Israeli-Egyptian peace talks at Camp David, Md., Feb. 21, the president said that "the reality of having a Middle East peace settlement is one of my fondest hopes and dreams and my greatest commitment."

He said that if Israel and Egypt show enough flexibility and desire, he would consider convening another summit conference with Anwar Sadat and Menachem Begin

Congressional study shows that Peace Corps screens inadequately

WASHINGTON [AP]-The Peace Corps fails to adequately screen volunteers, with some candidates being interviewed by telephone and others not at all, according to a new study by the General Accounting Office.

The GAO, an investigative arm of Congress, also said the overseas volunteer service fails to give adequate information to volunteers about the conditions under which they are expected to live.

One costly result has been that "many volunteers are terminating service before scheduled completion - frequently within the first months of service," the report said.

And the Peace Corps' personnel turnover rate was three times as high as that of other federal agencies, the study noted, in part because the corps limits the time its staff members can serve.

The study was conducted of the Peace Corps office in Washington and its operations in Colombia, Honduras, Malaysia, Afghanistan and Kenya. Responses were sought from volunteers in those countries from July to September 1977. The study of the headquarters operation was made between June 1977 and October 1978.

The Peace Corps, set up in 1961, has sent about 73,000 volunteers to 88 countries. As of last fall, the corps had about 7,000 volunteers and a budget of about $84 million.

In its response in the report, the Peace Corps said it was trying to improve the effectiveness of its programs and projects.

"The first time accepted applicants are able to discuss in detail the work they will be doing or the quality of life they will have to endure is a two-day medical and administrative orientation immediately before being sent overseas," the report found.

Records found that in spring 1977, 5 to 20 percent of the applicants had no interviews with recruiters. In two recruitment centers, the report said, more than half the interviews were conducted over the telephone.

The GAO said the Peace Corps' high staff turnover has been a problem since its founding. Between fiscal years 1974 and 1977, 578 foreign service personnel left the agency; 52 percent of those served three years or less.

The report said the cause of much of the turnover was the agency's five-year rule, which limits staff employment to two 2½-year contracts, with an optional one-year extension.

Plane crash kills two

BRIDGEPORT, W. Va. [AP]-A twin-engine Allegheny Airlines propjet with 25 persons aboard flipped over and crashed while taking off from an airport in a snowstorm yesterday. Two persons were killed and at least four were injured, authorities said.

Many survivors, apparently fearing the plane would burst into flames, fled in panic through the snow after the accident, witnesses said. The plane did not catch fire.

"We had just taken off from the ground and the plane started rocking back and forth and all of a sudden it flipped," said Sally Bishop of Shinnston, W. Va., a passenger who was not seriously hurt.

"I didn't realize what was going on and all of a sudden we were hanging from the ceiling," she said.

Dave Shipley, director of public relations for Allegheny, said the plane came to a rest upside down about 100 feet from the end of the runway at Benedum Airport. Shipley said it was snowing when the plane crashed and the runway had just been plowed.

One of the injured was in critical condition at United Hospital Center in Clarksburg, a second was in serious condition and the conditions of the other two were unknown. The remaining 19 persons were also being examined at the hospital.

Allegheny spokeswoman Nancy Vaughan said one of the dead was a crew member, but she said she could not provide either identity immediately.

The plane, Flight 561, was taking off from this north-central West Virginia city at about 1:10 p.m. It was bound for National Airport in Washington, D.C., with a stop in Morgantown.

Shipley said the plane, an M-298 twin-engine propjet with a capacity of 28, was carrying 22 passengers and three crew members.

Fr. Maloney to sing tonight

Patrick Maloney, tenor, will present a recital of art songs at 8:15 p.m. tonight in the Library Auditorium. The recital is a part of the Notre Dame concert series and is open to the public. There is no admission charge.

Father Maloney is an associate professor of music at Notre Dame. He will be accompanied by Christine Douberteen at the piano.

The program includes the Beethoven song cycle "An die ferne Geliebte"; five Brahms settings of German Romantic poetry; a set of songs by the contemporary American Richard Hundley; and "Tel jour telle nuit," a song cycle by the 20th century French composer Francis Poulenc.

Students to host discussion

The League of Black Business Students will sponsor a panel discussion on "Corporate Responsibility to Minorities" tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in Room 122 Hayes Healy.

Panelists include Ray Warrior and Lionel Phillips of I.B.M.; William Boswell from Standard Oil of Ohio and Wayne Patrick of American States Insurance Company.

The discussion is open to the public.

Rhodesian airliner crashes

SALISBURY, Rhodesia [AP]—A Rhodesian airliner crashed minutes after takeoff yesterday from the northwestern resort of Kariba, killing all 59 persons aboard, Air Rhodesia announced.

Airline officials said they feared black nationalist guerrillas had shot down the plane.

Last Sept. 3, guerrillas claimed responsibility for shooting down another Air Rhodesia plane with a Soviet-made SAM-7 ground-to-air, heat-seeking missile. That plane also went down shortly after taking off from Kariba and 48 persons were killed, including 10 survivors slain on the ground by guerrillas. Eight persons escaped alive.

Both planes were four-engine turboprop Viscounts.

Yesterday, the blue-and-white airliner took off smoothly from Kariba, on the border with Zambia, bound for Salisbury, 200 miles to the southeast.

But some six minutes later a distress call was made and it crashed. Air Rhodesia later issued this terse announcement: "Air Rhodesia regrets to announce the loss of a Viscount aircraft operating flight RH827 between Kariba and Salibury. It has been established that there are no survivors."

The announcement said there were 54 passengers and five crew members aboard.

Army troops reached the site of the wreckage and found no survivors, airline officials said.

The first indication at Kariba airport that Flight 827 was missing came when passengers, including Associated Press correspondent Maureen Johnson, on an Air Rhodesia Viscount that took off 15 minutes later for Salisbury saw three camouflaged soldiers rushing toward a police spotter plane.

The spotter plane took off, followed by the second Viscount flight. Rhodesia's supreme military commander, Lt. Gen. Pete Walls, and his wife were aboard the second plane, returning from a four-day fishing vacation in Kariba.

Those on the second plane found out about the crash when two stewardesses began sobbing.

The downed airliner carried men, women and children, mostly people on holiday who had spent the weekend at Kariba, which features a casino and excellent fishing on Kariba Lane.

AP reporter Fohnson said her flight, instead of swinging left like Flight 827, circled for almost 20 minutes over the giant lake, on the tense border between Rhodesia and Zambia, where the guerrillas have their rear bases.

Miss Johnson said she had chatted briefly with some of the passengers on Flight 827 before they took off, including a pretty hostess for British Airways on vacation in Rhodesia.

Police search for information concerning abduction of girl

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) - An 11-year-old girl on duty as a school crossing guard was abducted yesterday by a man who dragged her into a car and drove off, police said.

Authorities said Linda Vanderveen was taken about 8 a.m. from a corner near the Mullick Park elementary school. Witnesses reported the girl was dragged into a black 1976 Pontiac Grand Prix by a man in his mid-20s.

Police Major Robert Ensing said the girl might have been transferred to a green station wagon.

Alarms were broadcasted for both cars and the driver. The FBI was called into the case.

Ensing said other schools in the area had reported problems last week with a man in a green station wagon.

Her books, satchel and clarinet were found on the corner. So was a steak knife, police said.

Fingerprint tests on the knife provided no clue to the identity of the abductor, police said.

There was no immediate word whether the abduction was linked to the job held by the girl's father Andrew Vanderveen.

The girl and her family lived nearby in a middle-class neighborhood of single-family homes.

Police said a man fitting the description of the one seen with the girl had also been seen near other schools recently. They said no ransom demand had been received.

Jack Hill of Grand Rapids, who said he saw the abduction, told reporters the girl frantically waved her arms as she was pulled into a dark-colored car by a man wearing a leather or vinyl coat and a white stocking cap.

"I saw the car sitting there. I thought it was a little strange. The door was open and he was out of the car," Hill said.

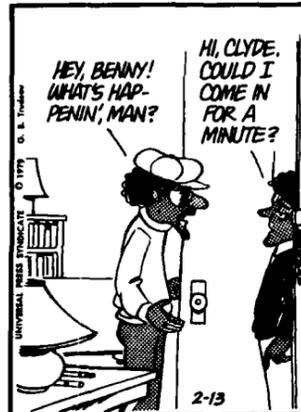

Hill said he parked his own car across the path of the other and asked, "What's going on here?" "The guy said 'Nothin'," and jumped back into his car."

Then, Hill said, the abductor backed away and "damned near ran me over," getting away before Hill could turn around.

Shortly after the abduction, witnesses reported that a man and a girl matching Linda's description were seen at a grocery about six blocks away, where they got into a rusty, cream-colored station wagon with imitation wood trim, police said. Both vehicles then sped away. Police thought another driver may have helped the abductor.

South Bend has a long time to wait for Spring, but the Irish baseball team is anxiously awaiting their 'spring' in Florida.

Florida trek nears

Diamond squad awaits spring

by Mike Henry
Sports Writer

A strong measure of discipline mixed with equal doses of determination and desire are necessary for any athlete to succeed on the college level. Coaches expect their players to develop a routine at practice that will enable them to maximize their performance on the field. In a word, the function of practice sessions is conditioning--of an athlete's mental process as well as his body.

Notre Dame's baseball team, coming off a promising fall campaign, has been working out under the north cupola of the ACC for three weeks. They are preparing for the team's annual spring trip to Florida, with seven games scheduled in the Sunshine State. Head coach Tom Kelly expects this swing against rugged competition to steel the Irish for a 36-game regular season.

While the Irish are at an obvious disadvantage due to the vagaries of winter, they have been able to set and accomplish certain goals at practice. Players are worked with on an individual basis or in small groups where they are instructed on all facets of the game. By the time March rolls around, arms, legs and reflexes should be toned to a razor's edge for the funstuff--frolicking on the red clay and Bermuda grass under the benevolent Florida sun.

"Practice has been going along very smoothly," Kelly noted as he prepared to send his charges through another spirited session. "The enthusiasm of the team has been infectious, and everyone is anxious to start the season. There is solid competition at more than one position, and this only serves as an added incentive to those players fighting for starting berths."

"During practice, we break the squad up into pitchers and catchers, infielders, and out fielders. Each group does some running for about twenty minutes. Other than that, the team usually works at something different each day. For example, last week when the batting cage was taken out to make room for the hockey bleachers, we concentrated on rundowns and defenses against the bunt. We like to vary the routine as much as possible."

"We also work with individuals to correct any deficiencies or bad habits a player may have picked up. Last fall we videotaped our pitchers and pointed out where we felt they could make a significant change. Righthanded freshman Greg Kot was keeping his front leg stiff as he came through on his delivery. Now he's putting a lot more behind his pitches. Second baseman Tommy Caruso has to move in closer with a man on first base. With our infield defense, we should be capable of turning many more double plays."

Another player to watch is pitcher Mike Desev. Desev suffered from a strained rotator cuff (the same injury that has stifled Kansas City Royal Steve Busby) and attempted to return too hastily. He's been throwing well this winter and shows no sign of discomfort. His addition to an Irish staff led by Mike Bobinski and Mark Ladd will be a welcome plus for the Irish.

The most solid part of Notre Dame's club would seem to be the left side of the infield, spearheaded by captain Ricky Pullano and slugging third baseman Mark Simendinger. Both are coming off strong showings in the fall, and will be counted on to set an example for the younger members of the squad.

"The spring trip to Florida is intended to be a treat for the players," Kelly said. "Everyone who goes on the trip will get a chance to play. It will be a good learning experience." As preparation for the season begins, Kelly is breeding a quiet self-confidence in relative obscurity--a confidence that will manifest itself in forty days.

doesn't really matter," said the sophomore diver. "I'm just glad I can make a contribution. The first win is always nice."

Pat LaPlatney was the only other Irish swimmer to win an event. LaPlatney took the 200-yard backstroke in 2:02.4.

Notre Dame will try once again to climb above the .500 mark when they travel to Bowling Green, Oh. for a double dual meet with host Bowling Green

State University and Cleveland State next Tuesday. Both Ohio schools visited South Bend last winter--Notre Dame lost to Cleveland, 59-54, but did manage to win over the Falcons by an identical score. Bowling Green is currently 4-4 on the year while the Vikings boast a 7-3 mark.

NOTE: The team was scheduled to travel to New Jersey this weekend for a meet at Monmouth College. However, the trip was cancelled due to travel complications.

another hoop 25 seconds later to regain the lead for her teammates. A basket by Julie Froese tied the game again at 44-44. Notre Dame then went on a tear as Pat Meyer, Maggie Lally, Cashman, and Conboy all scored in an 8-0 burst that gave the Irish a 52-44 lead with 11:41 left in the game.

Goshen refused to give up, however, and they remained tough until a bucket by Deb Fedderke brought them within one, 63-62, with 2:20 remaining. But a field goal by Jane Politiski, another one by Tricia McManus, and a free throw by Cashman gave the Irish an insurmountable six-point lead with 41 seconds left. Albrecht's hoop with 30 seconds remaining made the final margin four points.

Individually for Goshen, Froese was high scorer with 23 points, followed by Albrecht with 20. Three players had five rebounds each as the Goshen women were out rebounded by Notre Dame, 47-36.

Maggie Lally led four Irish players in double figures with 13 points. Politiski added 12, and Conboy finished with 11.

Politiski's 10 rebounds led Notre Dame in that department, while Conboy and McManus each chipped in with 7. Conboy also had two blocked shots, and Cashman dished out seven assists.

Notre Dame's fencing squad boosted its season win tally to 7 versus no losses by soundly defeating three teams this past weekend.

Injury-ridden grapplers place four in tournament

by Bill Marquard
Sports Writer

In one of their better performances of the season, the Irish wrestling team overcame the downfalls of an injury-ridden lineup to finish fourth at the Wheaton Invitational last weekend.

Despite the absence of regulars George Gedney, Al Mattaliano and Jeff Morris, six Irish wrestlers placed in the top four in their weight classes.

Mattaliano, a 177-pound sophomore, is out for the season with a knee injury. Gedney, Notre Dame's 118-pound co-captain, suffered a slight shoulder separation last week and was unable to wrestle as well.

Yet the most talked about story of the tournament was Irish 142-pounder Dave "Wild Man" Welsh. Welsh broke his hand in the first period of his semi-final match, but true to his nickname he finished the match-wrestling for a full seven minutes with a broken hand. The pain was evident on his face for the entire match, yet Dave refused to quit.

... I just wanted to show how much
Notre Dame
meant to me. .

"Sure it hurt—it hurt really bad," conceded Welsh, who will be sidelined for the remainder of the season. "But I just wanted to show everyone how much Notre Dame meant to me and how much that match meant to me—there was no way that I could quit."

"The guy I was wrestling with wanted to stop so he wouldn't hurt me anymore," admitted Welsh, who even needed help getting his uniform off after the match in the locker room because his hand was so swollen. "I couldn't believe the number of people that walked up to me later on in the tournament and said something to me about it. I just wanted to show that I wouldn't quit, no matter what the cost."

Irish co-captain Dave DiSabato took first place for the second year in a row, this time at 134. The top-seeded junior drew a first round bye then notched an 18-6 decision and a fall at 7:35 in the championship match to clinch the title.

Junior Mike Wilda, coming off an impressive third place finish at the National Catholics Tournament last weekend, finished second, losing his only match 7-2 in the 150-pound finals. Wilda posted 14-4 and 13-2 decisions earlier in the tourney.

Freshmen Curt Rood and John Iglar took third place at 126 and 167 respectively. Rood, slimmed down from his accustomed 134 weight, had 12-4, 9-6 and 9-7 decisions in his bracket while Iglar had 5-0, 3-0 and 3-1 wins, the second being in overtime.

Senior Bill Moore at 158 and sophomore Dave Rodgers at 190 each finished fourth. Moore took advantage of a 6-5 win and a forfeit while Rodgers had a forfeit and a pin at 2:21 to gain his fourth place finish.

"I would say that the team did fairly well, considering the taped-together lineup we had," remarked Irish coach Ray Sepeta.

"We only had nine wrestlers at the tournament, and only eight of them had really had experience, so to place six of those eight is very good."

"I just hope our lineup is not so decimated for Purdue," noted Sepeta, referring to the team's last home dual meet, a Wednesday evening match against the Boilermakers in the ACC pit.

"Purdue is comparable to us, and this should be the beginning of our final preparation for the NCAA tournament which starts the weekend after this."

More than 'respectable'

Fencers win seventh straight

by Paul Mullaney
Assistant Sports Editor

At the beginning of the season, Notre Dame fencing Coach Mike DeCicco was hopeful that the Irish epee squad would at least be respectable. After all, the top three epeeists had to be replaced from last year's NCAA champions.

Gold medalist Bjorne Vaggo returned to his homeland of Sweden, while senior captain Bill Kica and classmate John Strass received their diplomas. That left this year's group with little varsity experience.

But after last Saturday, DeCicco is least concerned with the epee squad's performance. While the sabre squad posted an 18-9 weekend mark and the foilsmen were 20-7, the epee team won all but three of 27 bouts as the Irish defeated Michigan-Dearborn (22-5), Chicago (20-7) and Detroit (20-7).

The Irish, now 7-0 this year with 92 straight triumphs, will face Penn State, Michigan State and Ohio State this Saturday in Columbus, giving the epeeists the chance to prove that they are indeed for real.

"Penn State and Ohio State will have good epee teams," said DeCicco. "It'll be a super test for

Tankers drop fourth meet at the Rock

by Michael Ortman
Sports Writer

After Saturday afternoon's dismal 75-38 loss to Marshall, the Notre Dame swimmers are beginning to wonder if maybe Rockne Memorial Pool is cursed. The Irish, now 4-4 on the season, posted their third loss at the Rock without a victory this season.

The meet wasn't a total loss for the Irish tankers, several individuals turned in dazzling performances. One key individual was sophomore star John Komora, who took both the 50 and the 100-yard freestyle events. In the 50-yard freestyle Komora and fellow Irish sophomore John Krutsch clocked identical times of 22.7, but the judges' decision gave first place to Komora.

Freshman phenomena Donald Casey was heard from as well. In Notre Dame's first home loss this season, Casey broke Bob Reilly's three-year old record in the 200-yard butterfly. After erasing his own record in his next home meet, Casey did it again against Marshall. His time of 2:01.4 was .4 of a second faster than his previous mark and a full two seconds quicker than Reilly's time of 2:03.4. Casey hasn't been terribly thrilled with his records, "Records are nice," he stated, "but winning would have been a whole lot better."

Diver Betsy Shadley scored her first win as a member of the Irish squad in the 1-meter (required) dives. Shadley, who last year became the first female to make the squad in the team's 22-year history tallied 162.65 points. "Whether I'm a male or a female our epee squad. In fact, Penn State will be the first team with really good overall balance that we've faced this year."

The epeeists intend to keep up the pace they thus far have set for themselves, and are keeping Wayne State, an opponent later this month, in the back of their minds.

Leading the way for the epee squad to date has been Mike Schermoly. The senior won all of seven bouts this past weekend in Detroit.

Andy Bon, a junior from Park Ridge, Ill., led the foil team with an 8-1 mark, while Mike Sullivan led the sabre team with a 7-1 slate. Sullivan, Notre Dame's top all-time fencer, suffered only his third loss in 158 career bouts.

The Irish women increased their record to 6-0 by posting wins over Michigan-Dearborn (11-5) and Detroit (8-1). Dodee Carney, a junior transfer student, won all of six bouts, lifting her season mark to 15-0.

St. Mary's team defeated Detroit, but lost to Michigan-Dearborn. That leaves SMC with a 3-2 record heading into this weekend.

Track team snatches third in Big State Invitational

by Mark Perry
Assistant Sports Editor

Notre Dame's two-mile relay team continued their march towards the NCAA championships, as they placed second at the Knights of Columbus track meet in Cleveland on Saturday.

Although the team was changed slightly, the results were still impressive, as Tim Macauley, Jay Miranda, Pete Burger, and Church Aragon trailed only Villanova, the top-ranked team from last year, in the final results.

"It was an incredible performance for them," said Irish coach Joe Piane. "It did a lot for their confidence to run with a team like Villanova, and we had a good chance to beat them."

Notre Dame finished the race in 7:36.1, only a tenth of a second behind the first-place Wildcats.

On Friday the Irish competed at the Big State meet in Bloomington, IN, as they place third over-all, behind Indiana and Purdue.

The best event of the day for Notre Dame was the 88-yard run, where the Irish placed three runners in the top four. Church Aragon shattered the meet record, 1:53.1, taking first in 1:51.7. Aragon was followed by teammate Pete Burger, who finished in 1:53.2, and Tim Macauley took fourth in 1:53.9.

Placing second were Arnie Gough in the high hurdles in 7.5 seconds, and Steve Welch in the two-mile in 8:59.

Thirds came from Ahmao

Kazimi in the triple jump, leaping 45 feet, 5 inches, and the mile relay team of Aragon, Jacques Eady, Rick Rodgers, and Bill Ribera.

Taking fifth for the Irish were Tom Ferenc in the shot put and Tim Kardok in the high jump. Perry Stowe finished sixth in the pole vault.

"I thought we could have beaten Purdue," Piane said,

Chuck Aragon

"but Dennis VanderKraats couldn't finish the two-mile because of leg cramps and Tony Hatherly was disqualified in the mile and probably would have placed."

The Irish travel to the Central Collegiate Conference meet this Friday and Saturday in Normal. Then on February 20, Notre Dame hosts Bradley and Indiana State at the ACC.

ND women handle Goshen in regular season finale

by Mark Hannuksela
Sports Writer

Playing their final regular season game in the friendly confines of the ACC, the women's basketball team found the going tough, but managed to hang on to a 68-64 decision over Goshen College on Saturday.

The victory raised the Irish record to 13-3 as they finished with a perfect 5-0 home mark. But they first had to survive one of those games where nothing comes easy.

Notre Dame led throughout the first half. Their biggest margin of eight points came at the 1:02 mark, when Carol Lally took a pass from Molly Cashman and popped in a two-pointer to make the score 33-25. Two straight baskets by Goshen cut the lead in half, and the half ended with the Irish holding on to that slim four-point margin.

A quick hoop by Barb Carbaugh, followed by a basket by Judy Sommer knotted the count at 33-33 at the 18:54 mark of the second half. A bucket by freshman Missy Conboy briefly gave the Irish the lead again, but a field goal by Sommer and a three-point play by Trish Albrecht gave Goshen its first lead, 38-35.

Conboy then followed with a three-pointer of her own, and
