

The Observer

VOL. XIV, NO. 103

an independent student newspaper serving notre dame and saint mary's

TUESDAY, MARCH 11, 1980

At Literary Festival, Hare humors audience

by Pam Degnan
Senior Staff Reporter

"The theater is a rough and nasty place," explained David Hare, the British playwright and author of the controversial play Teeth 'N' Smiles. Hare was the second of a series of authors who will visit the campus this week as part of the 1980 Sophomore Literary Festival.

Hare humored a moderate-sized audience in Washington Hall last night with his reflections on the "plight of a playwright" and the superficiality of the American theater.

Hare revealed to the audience that a playwright must do what he can to raise the level of consciousness of the individual. The noted author stressed that an artist should not have to worry about the threat of censorship. Hare commented on the recent ND SMC production of his play Teeth 'N' Smiles as an example of "Catholic censorship."

"I can't understand why Catholics always have the urge to censor 'questionable' material. Everytime I write, I feel that I'm writing for a fanatic religious sect," Hare said.

"I've heard that Americans absolutely hate sex, drugs, and profanity--strip those from Teeth 'N' Smiles and all that remains is absolutely nothing," the playwright added.

Hare then captivated the audience with his reflections on his "humble origins" as the director of a small travelling theater group. The theater group, according to Hare, had an "excess of capital" of $30 and lived day-to-day out of a van.

"If I learned anything from that experience, it was that one can not just 'get by' -- it is the death of art. We should not be concerned with making money. Somehow if you don't think about money, it will eventually pop up along the way," Hare explained.

The playwright then addressed the problems surrounding the American theater.

"In the U.S., theater is geared towards the decorative. You don't value the moral arts as much as we do in England. Perhaps you have much more confidence in your society," Hare said. "There is no substantial role for theater in American society."

[continued on page 3]

Another Tai and Randy? For Dick Buttons' sake and for our peace of mind, let's hope so.

Reagan looks to sweep South in today's primaries

(AP)—With a timely boost from John B. Connally's withdrawal from the presidential race, Ronald Reagan looked yesterday for a sweep of three Southern Republican primaries. President Carter was a sure bet to win big among down-home Democrats.

At stake in today's primaries in Florida, Alabama and Georgia are 114 delegates to the GOP National Convention this July and 208 Democratic convention delegates.

George Bush, seemingly more concerned about keeping former President Gerald R. Ford out of the GOP race, says he'd settle for a "respectable" showing against Reagan. "Everybody assumes that all three of these states are strong Reagan states, and I know that," Bush said.

The only other major Republican candidate, John B. Andersen, has no campaign organization in the three states and does not even appear on the Alabama ballot. He chose instead to concentrate on the March 18 primary in his home state of Illinois.

Reagan was the man to beat in Alabama and Georgia, where he beat Ford by large margins in 1976. In Florida, where he narrowly lost to Ford four years ago, the former California governor held a comfortable lead over Bush in the latest polls.

The polls were taken before Connally dropped out Sunday, the day after he was thrashed by Reagan, 54 percent to 30 percent, in the South Carolina primary.

Khomeini frustrates commission

(AP) Iranian leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini set tough new conditions yesterday for any meeting of a U.N. investigating commission with American hostages in Tehran and the commission decided to leave Iran without seeing any of the Americans.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim issued a statement last night at U.N. headquarters in New York saying the commission had suspended its work in Tehran but was prepared to return after consultations in New York.

Iran's ruling Revolutionary Council, reacting to Khomeini's vow to "fight against the U.S. government until death," backed off its demand to take custody of approximately 50 Americans, who yesterday spent their 128th day as prisoners of Moslem militants occupying the U.S. Embassy.

Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh met with the five U.N. commissioners for four hours in an unsuccessful effort to persuade them to extend their stay. He told reporters early today the commissioners, who arrived in Tehran Feb. 23, would leave later in the morning. "They have been here for 17 days and they couldn't stay any longer," he said.

The commissioners had been on the verge of leaving last week, but were persuaded to stay after it appeared a weekend meeting with the hostages was possible.

Waldheim's statement said the commission, "in the light of recent developments and after consulting with the secretary general and Iranian authorities, has decided that it should suspend its activities for several days."

It said the commission "is not now in a position to submit its report. It is, however, prepared to return to Tehran in accordance with its mandate and the instructions of the secretary general, when the situation requires."

Several tickets finish close in elections

by Tom Jackman

Run-offs will be held tomorrow to determine winners in each of this year's three class elections, in which initial balloting was held yesterday.

Each of the three races were quite close, with the two finalists never separated by more than nine votes. Only two votes separated the tickets of Jim Veraldi and Mickey Turzai, who will face off in the contest for Senior class office. Nine votes was the difference between Junior class front-runners Michael Cassidy and Rob Verfurth, and Sophomore class leaders Modesto

Campus Campaign '80

Ruggiero and Bill Hennessey were separated by just eight votes.

Turnout yesterday among students was good, with better than 76 percent of the Freshman class voting, 61.3 percent of the Sophomores and 64.3 percent of the Junior class casting ballots.

Ombudsman Election Chairman Tom Call said he was pleased with the operation of the campaigns and elections, and that there were no violations of rules by any of the five Senior, four Junior or four Sophomore class hopefuls.

In the five-ticket Senior class race, the team of Jim Veraldi (Pres.)-Tim Ronan (VP)-Beth Toomey (Sec.)-Debbie Smith (Treas.) picked up 350 of the 1083 votes cast, or 32.1 percent. Two votes behind was the ticket of Mickey Turzai-Janie Revord-Dave Campbell-Chuck Meakin, which collected 348 votes, also 32.1 percent.

Trailing close behind was the ticket of Keith Melaragno-Steve Notaro-Amy Olin-Bob Gerth with 22.8 percent, followed by the tickets of Chris Nunnelley-Donna Leary-Laura Leitzinger-Tom Jennings and Rocky Bleyer-Steve Laham-Anne Fink-Mary Beth Sterling, which tied with 6.4 percent each.

The team of Michael Cassidy-Megan Boyle-Keith Caughlin-Suzie Bautista finished first in Sophomore class balloting with 359 of the 1041 votes cast, 34.5 percent, just ahead of the ticket of Rob Verfurth-Kathy Collins-Kathleen Waterbury-Bob Murphy, which collected 350 votes or 33.6 percent of the vote.

Finishing behind the two run-off teams were the tickets of Mick Burton-Sue Klosowski-Stasey Obremeskey-Jim Finnerty, which picked up 20.7 percent of the ballots, and Timothy Brady-Mark Mulholland-Beth Prezio-Matthew Lewis, which garnered 11.2 percent.

The Freshman class vote was the closest of all, with only 54 votes separating the first from the fourth finisher. The Modesto Ruggiero-Sara McGrath-Mark Michuda-Bill Mateja ticket captured 258 of the 1204 votes cast for 21.4 percent, but the Bill Hennessey-Jenny Murtaugh-Tom O'Brien-Mike Doyen ticket was only eight votes behind, with 250, for 20.7 percent, to qualify for the run-off.

Not far behind were the tickets of Robert Powers-Mary Kinsella-Chris Davis-Kathe Callahan, which picked up 19.4 percent, and Jim DuBoyce-Mary Powel-Jabaley-Mike Mills-Mary Coogan, which gained 16.9 percent.

A statistical breakdown of the Senior class officers election shows that although the Jim Veraldi ticket carried only seven of the 23 halls (including off-campus) to Mickey Turzai's 12 halls, Veraldi captured halls such as Breen-Phillips, Dillon and Zahm by such large margins that he was able to gain admittance to the final ballot today.

In Zahm, his home hall, Veraldi was the victor with 53 votes to seven for the other four tickets. Additionally, in Veraldi's vice-president's hall, Tim Ronan of Dillon, his ticket won by 41 to 13 for the other tickets.

Turnout was lightest among Sophomore class students, where the fewest voters out of the largest eligible class turned out yesterday. Again, home territory was important to each of the candidates. Mike Cassidy won his own hall

[continued on page 4]

Students tired of the quagmire throw snowballs at The Observer photographer [below]. [All photos by Greg Maurer]

Jews and Carterites swap punches in Florida slugfest

MIAMI (AP)—Seven chanting members of the militant Jewish Defense League swarmed into a campaign office for President Carter yesterday—one day before the Florida primary—and swapped punches with staffers in a protest over the administration's Middle East policy. There were no arrests and no serious injuries in the incident, police said.

Moolah experts testify that price controls won't help

WASHINGTON (AP)—Six men who served as chief economic advisors to President Carter's four most recent predecessors testified yesterday that mandatory government controls on wages and prices are not the solution for today's inflation. Herbert Stein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors during the Nixon administration—when controls were last used—said: "Anyone who is old enough to have lived through the experience of 1971-74 and still believes in controls is beyond my powers of persuasion."

Bogus health inspector turns chicken, returns stolen loot

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—When is a robbery not a robbery? When the holdup man returns the money. That's no joke, except perhaps to the holdup man, Tucson police say. A man walked into a north side convenience market about 2:30 a.m. Monday, said he was a health inspector and then demanded money, implying he had a gun, officers said. The clerk gave him $78 from two cash registers and the man left. But he turned around moments later, handed the money back to the startled clerk, and said, "It was only a joke. Be cool." He then fled.

Jury deliberates in Ford reckless homicide trial

WINAMAC, (AP)—The jury in Ford Motor Co.'s reckless homicide trial began deliberating yesterday whether the carmaker was responsible for the burning deaths of three teenagers in a Pinto crash. It was the first criminal prosecution of a U.S. corporation in a product liability case. The jury got the case in early afternoon after 45 minutes of instructions from Judge Harold R. Staffeldt, who reread the indictment for the jurors.

Weather

Mostly sunny and cold with highs in the upper 20s. Fair this evening with increasing cloudiness late tonight. Lows in the low 20s. A chance of snow or rain tomorrow with highs in the low to mid 30s.

Campus

noon TALK "the exhibition of janos scholz," dr. jean porter, n.d. spons. by art gallery ART GALLERY.

1-3 pm EXHIBITION "artworks" univ. n. kentucky ISIS GALLERY

4:30 SEMINAR "evolution & genetic variation in aedes aegyptii," dr. walter j. tabachnick yale u., GALVIN AUD.

6 pm MEETING i.s.o., lafortune BASEMENT

7 pm MEETING anthro. meet your major, spons. by dept. of anthropology 220 O'SHAG.

7:30 pm DISCUSSION "living in harmony with the cycle" janet & bill bettcher, natural family planning program of st. joe county, sponsored by soc. dept. 203 O'SHAG.

7:30 pm LECTURE "le corbusier, meaning and morphologies" prof. steve hurtt spons. by tan sigma delta architectural honor soc. ARCH. AUD.

8 pm TALK "n.d. women and their macho men", sr. jean lenz, rectress farley hall, GRACE HALL PIT.

8 pm SOPHOMORE LITERARY FEST. jayne anne phillips, short story writer, MEM. LIB. AUD.

8 pm POETRY READING gwendolyn brooks, spons. by women's opportunity week, STAPLETON LOUNGE, SMC.

10 pm LENTEN PENANCE SERVICE confessions following, SACRED HEART CHURCH

'Bushed' after weekend

Mock delegates end Convention

by Michael Mader
Staff Reporter

While the delegates in the Mock Republican Convention, held this weekend, attempt to catch up on the sleep they lost, George Bush, the candidate selected in the convention as the Republican nominee, will attempt to catch Ronald Reagan in Illinois armed with the support given him by Notre Dame students.

"The Bush people in Illinois are already using the results from Notre Dame to show that Bush has a base with young people," Bill Kresse, Mock Convention chairman, said last night.

The Mock Convention was an attempt to simulate the political process that will occur at both the Democratic and Republican conventions this year. The convention tried to keep close to the rules of the national conventions and to obtain delegates for each state that actually lived in their respective states according to Kresse. "Many states did vote the way their states would," Kresse said.

Banquet honors two trustees

Two women trustees of the University will be honored at the spring initiation banquet of Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary society for students in business administration, at 7 p.m. tonight in the Monogram Room of the Athletic and Convocation Center.

The Observer

Night Editor: Ryan "Legionnaire" Ver Berkmoes
Asst. Night Editor: Eddie "Dr. Death" Holden, Cindy Kliros

Copy Editor: Tom Jackman
Layout Staff: Neil "Next time, Cindy, try to be a bit more subtle" O'Brien
Kathy Vick

News Editor: Mike Shields
Sports Layout: Tom Schuster

Typists: Mary Beth Eudd, Kate Huffman, Zeldia Ray, Scoop Sullivan
EMT: Liz Huber
Proofreader: Sal Granata
ND Day Editor: Lisa Stanczak
SMC Day Editor: Cece Baliles
Photographer: Greg Maurer
Guest Appearances: Dave "Desperado" Wemhoff,

Kate Kilkulskie, Steve "Midnight Rambler" Swonk

The Observer [USPS 586 920] is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $20 per year ($10 per semester) from The Observer, P.O. box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556. Second class postage paid; Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.

The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

Because only Republicans are allowed at the national convention and all factions are invited to the Mock, the convention this weekend could not be called truly representative, however.

"The difference was mainly in the population we drew from, that of young people," Kresse commented. Kresse further reasoned that Reagan will be much stronger in Detroit, since only Republicans are allowed. "There will be a more conservative air. Still, the results may be quite the same," Kresse said.

The results of the Mock Convention have been sent to the news media, and Bush was notified by telephone. The Republican National Committee and William Simon, the individual voted to be Bush's running mate, were each notified by letter about the outcome.

Problems the convention had involved scheduling of speakers, the platform, and keeping a quorum on Wednesday and Thursday nights. Cost was not a problem, according to Kresse, as the convention stayed within budget.

Scheduling of the actual candidates as speakers was difficult, Kresse noted, but he "was quite pleased with the speakers we received." Since the Indiana primary is not until May 6, it was not feasible for the candidates to make personal appearances, Kresse said.

The Convention is still attempting to schedule the candidates for visits later on in the year. Bush has indicated he may show up, especially after receiving the support of Notre Dame delegates, according to Kresse. John Anderson has done a great deal of campus campaigning and Ronald Reagan visited this campus four years ago, added Kresse, indicating the probability was good that each would appear.

On the Democratic side, Ted Kennedy and Jimmy Carter have been given invitations to appear, but Kresse is not aware of their situations at the moment.

Concerning the platform ratification process, Kresse acknowledged that "there was not enough time for the people to speak on the issues. I think that is unfortunate."

The convention received many telegrams from candidates and the Republican National Committee pointing out that "there are only a few truly national universities and of these, most don't have mock conventions, at least not as large," Kresse said. Kresse felt that the delegates were representative of the nation as a whole, even when it came down to voting for rock stars Billy Joel, Bruce Springsteen and others.

"On the first ballot of the presidential nomination, it is a tradition to name favorite sons," Kresse explained.

The near nomination of the Cookie Monster as Bush's running mate was not felt representative however. "Everyone was quite tired and in a good mood. The states had already determined they would change their votes before the balloting was over. They were just being silly," Kresse said.

Friday night, before debate started, Kresse called the state

[continued on page 5]

RIVER CITY RECORDS 277-4242

northern Indiana's largest record & tape selection and concert ticket headquarters

$1.00 OFF any regular album or tape purchase with this coupon. limit one per person expires 3/31/80

20,000 albums & tapes in stock
Huge cut-out and special import selection open 10 to 10, 7 days
ND-SMC checks accepted up to $20.00 over purchase cost

50970 U.S. 31 North 3 miles north of campus next to R's supermarket

Women's Opportunity Week

presents Gwendolyn Brooks:
A Reading in Poetry

Tues. March 11

8pm

Stapleton Lounge

Shamir becomes Foreign Minister

JERUSALEM (AP)—Yitzhak Shamir, a conservative who opposed the peace treaty with Egypt, became Foreign Minister of Israel yesterday. The appointment strengthened the hawkish government faction that has resisted concessions on self-rule for Palestinians.

Prime Minister Menachem Begin defended his choice for one of the three most influential positions in the Cabinet. "I am proud of this nomination, I am convinced he will succeed in his task for the good of our people," Begin said.

Parliament approved the appointment 55-39. Three members abstained, including Moshe Dayan who left the post five months ago in disagreement over Begin's policy on the future of the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River.

Begin, who had been acting as foreign minister, said he was confident Shamir would faithfully represent the government's policy, even though Shamir opposed the peace treaty with Egypt signed one year ago.

Earlier yesterday, Begin won his Cabinet's unanimous approval for the appointment at a brief special session after Shamir formally resigned as speaker of Parliament.

Shamir, 65, held a neutral position as Parliament speaker and has remained silent on topical issues. He is known to support Jewish settlement in the occupied West Bank in granting few powers to the Palestinians under an autonomy plan being negotiated with Egypt and the United States.

During debate in Parliament, the opposition strongly criticized Shamir and Begin's foreign policy.

"The appointment announced by the prime minister is one of the most extreme demonstrations of this government's strangeness, its illogic and its bewilderment," said Moshe Shahal of the opposition Labor Party.

It was unreasonable to expect that a man who refused to support the peace treaty with Egypt last year will carry out a policy in which he does not believe, Shahal said.

Shamir was defended by Amnon Linn, who had opposed the Camp David peace accords. Despite his earlier opposition, Linn said: "I am ready to do everything to see that the peace treaty is not jeopardized." Shamir, too, "can conduct a policy to strengthen the peace."

The appointment came as Israel's relations with the United States and Europe dipped to a low point. The United States voted earlier this month for a U.N. Security Council resolution calling on Israel to dismantle its settlements in occupied territories, including the annexed sector of Jerusalem.

President Carter's later apology that the vote was a mistake failed to allay concerns that Washington was shifting its support away from Israel.

Secure in the knowledge that The Observer photographer has no detex, Walsh residents feel free to deride. [photo by Greg Maurer]

'Everything burning'

Afghani recounts invasion

KHAR, PAKISTAN (AP). When Abdel Wahid fled the Soviet tanks and planes pounding his native Afghan village "everything was burning. Nobody was left to bury the dead."

The "terrible journey" came next.

The farmer was among hundreds of shivering, hungry refugees, most of them women and children in poor condition, who reached safety in Pakistan yesterday after a five-day trek through the snow-covered mountains of eastern Afghanistan.

Many of the children wept as icy rain fell on the tent camp that will serve as their new home.

Wahid said the refugees fled to this tribal area, 100 miles north of Peshawar, after Soviet occupation troops, backed by planes, helicopters and guns, launched a massive anti-guerrilla offensive in Afghanistan's adjoining Konar Province.

He said fleeing refugees hid out during the day, moving only at night to avoid Soviet troops.

Once they reached the border, he said small Pakistani trucks operated an impromptu taxi service to the refugee camps 15 miles away. They charged the refugees an average of $212 per family even though as many as 30 refugees were crowded into each truck.

The new refugees join thousands of other Afghans living in tent camps in the Bajaur tribal district of Pakistan. International relief officials say nearly 700,000 Afghan refugees are now living in Pakistan.

Colombians pledge peaceful end to hostage crisis

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Colombia's government pledged not to use force to end the occupation of the Dominican Republic Embassy if the lives of the hostages there were not in danger, but they appeared yesterday to be laying the groundwork for an attack if one were deemed necessary.

Yesterday afternoon the van that has been used in past negotiating sessions between the government and hostages drove to the usual site and talks were expected to begin. A Foreign Ministry source had said the fourth round was set for no later than today.

Streets that had been open near the embassy were closed off over the weekend. Two American television networks and The Associated Press, who had rented temporarily abandoned apartments in the area, were ordered by police to be out by yesterday morning.

Troop movement and security measures were noticeably greater.

There were persistent but unconfirmed reports here that crack anti-terrorist units from the United States, Israel, West Germany and the Netherlands are in Bogota. U.S. Ambassador Diego Asencio and Israel's Ambassador Eliahu Barak are among the approximately two dozen hostages at the embassy. Names of West German or Dutch diplomats have not appeared on lists of captives.

The guerrillas stormed the embassy during a diplomatic reception Feb. 27. Their captives include 14 ambassadors or acting ambassadors.

On Sunday, Colombians voted in municipal and national elections that Zea Hernandez had said "Constituted a democratic reply to terrorism and violence."

The elections had been regarded as having little national significance, but after the embassy seizure President Julio Cesar Turbay Hyala asked his people to vote as a demonstration of support for democracy.

Meet Your
Major
ANTHROPOLOGY
Tuesday
March 11
220 O'Shag

administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and as objectively as possible. Editorials represent the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, opinions and letters are the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

Editorial Board and Department Managers

Editor-in-chief.....Rosemary Mills
Managing Editor.....Diane Wilson
Editorial Editor.....Ann Gales
Senior Copy Editor.....M. Onufra
Executive News Editor.....Mike Lewis
News Editor.....Mark Rust
News Editor.....Mike Shields
SMC News Editor.....Margie Brassil

Sports Editor.....Mark Perry
Features Editor.....Kathleen Connelly
Photo Editor.....Doug Christian

Business Manager.....Steve Odland
Production Manager.....John McGrath
Advertising Manager.....M. Holsinger
Controller.....Kevin Manion
Circulation Manager.....Greg Hedges

...Hare

[continued from page 1]

Hare reiterated that English plays encompass vivid social reality. An artist in England, he explained, feels that his work is the center of culture and that ideals are constantly being re-shaped through art mediums.

Hare concluded his 35-minute talk with appropriate words of wisdom. "Remember, Notre Dame is one of the ghettos that houses art. When you get out of here, inject what you know and feel about art into the main bloodstream," he said.

The festival will continue with the appearance of contemporary novelist Jayne Anne Phillips tonight at 8 p.m. in the Library Auditorium.

The Observer

Box Q Notre Dame, IN 46556

The Observer is an independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the ATTENTION SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING MAJORS!

The Air Force selected science, General and El computer Technology

To help prepare four-year programs

After completion, you'll be responsible, people and facilities in the world, and a mission with a purpose. You'll get excellent starting salary, medical and dental care, 30 days of paid vacation beginning your first year, and more.

Look into the Air Force ROTC program right away. See what's in it for you. See how you can serve your country in return. You'll be glad you put your major to work on a job that really counts.

For additional information call CPT Davis at 283-6634

AIR FORCE ROTC

ROTC

Soggy mess

The bogs of ND [above]. Unfortunately, efforts to deal with this condition are less than effective [below].

In Augusta Hall

SMC considers "O-C" life

by Toni Aantoo

As the date for fall room picks approaches, many upcoming seniors and juniors are considering the advantages of "off-campus life on campus" in Augusta Hall at Saint Mary's College.

Augusta Hall is a self-governing dormitory. The residents still must abide by all the college policies, but there is no one to supervise or check up on the students. The girls are on their honor to conduct themselves as responsible, respectable adults.

The building itself belongs to the Sisters of Holy Cross, but they generously allowed half of the building to serve as housing for about 65 SMC students. The unique housing format began seven years ago as an experiment.

Sister Karol Jackowski, director of Residence Life at SMC, explained that Augusta was started "to offer an alternative small group atmosphere for students who are 21." Only seniors were permitted to live in Augusta in the beginning, due more to lottery than by design.

The wide banistered stairways and floors of polished hardwood, the marble statues and the ringing of the convent bells all eloquently express the tradition and history that is deeply rooted in Augusta's past and present. Augusta Hall was originally a home for novice nuns; thus, the building is revered by many of the nuns.

All the incoming girls at Augusta are told of its past, and they respect it. Mary Kay Fabian, a junior presently living in Augusta Hall said "we respect their (the nuns') wishes." She also expressed a sentiment of unity that grows out of the history of Augusta and the presence of nuns living on the same floor: "We're here for a different purpose (than the nuns) but still we share a common goal--to make the best of ourselves."

When describing the living environment at Augusta, many occupants use phrases like "more independence," "keep an eye on each other," and "more relaxed." Verbalizing the keynote of self-governance, Fabian said, "If they (other students) are not being rowdy, it's their own business what they're doing."

Mary Beth Connor, the R.A. of Augusta, expounded on the individual governing of one's actions in the dorm. "If there are any complaints or problems, the girls handle them among themselves." Even Connor's position is testimony to the independence of Augusta residents, for she is not an R.A. in the usual sense of planning functions for sections, etc. She described her job "more like a Hall director or a liaison between the administration and the students."

Hall Council President Sue Turcotte explained the different ways that the students' independence manifests itself: "Some people think 'self-governing' means no parietals and guys sleeping over all the time. But it is not like that at all. The students' purposes for living here are different--they run in trends. Some students are the party type while others are more studious; it just depends on what you want." Karol explained this mixture of students by stating, "Augusta attracts the most responsible and the least responsible students."

A senior currently living in Augusta, Rose Adler, experienced the independence and the structure of life in Augusta as very positive and unifying. "The atmosphere is much more relaxed," she stated. Adler also spoke of a unity unknown to other dorms that is created by the fact that all but a few residents are seniors. "It's a lot more fun, more senior activities, you hear about more senior events. You are all going through the same things like trying to find a job, senior comps--you all understand the same things," Adler said.

Expressing other advantages to Augusta life, Adler listed the larger-sized rooms, much more frequent and thorough maid service, more lounges and study rooms, and less students.

The requirements to live in Augusta are that one must be a junior or older, attend three mandatory meetings each year, and also get a good lottery number. However, a low lottery number does not always guarantee a room because the actual choosing is done first by class, then by lottery number.

Conner described the chances of getting into Augusta as competitive. The purpose of the three meetings is twofold; first, to explain the responsibility required at Augusta and second to act as a self-eliminating process (because if one meeting is missed the student must choose with the last group and if two meetings are missed, the student can not qualify to live in Augusta).

Turcotte echoed many students sentiments when she said, "It is a shame more dorms aren't like this." But Karol contends that "self-governing is a hard thing among peers to do." Self-governing works when students are not inhibited to stand up for their rights, but Karol adds, "it's hard for students to learn to assert themselves because they must live together." Thus, implying that students fear "to rock the boat" by complaining. Quick to clarify, Karol added "Self governing is often thought by students as not rules, but this is not what is intended at Augusta; in fact, Augusta must follow all the rules as the other dorms."

She did, however, admit to the likelihood of male guests staying all night. "We (at other dorms) make special exceptions to rules sometimes, I think Augusta does too, but how careful they are in making them, I don't know. That is a major criticism of Augusta life."

The laxity of making exceptions stems from the sentiment Karol professes is a general occurrence among Augusta residents: "I think the biggest problem is the girls feel if something doesn't bother anyone, then it is not a violation." Karol, however, is pleased with the progress that Augusta's lifestyle has made, for "every year it is working better and better."

Yet she also sees the shortcomings and stated, "Augusta Hall by no means is a model dorm."

While believing Augusta is a "real healthy and good growing experience" for students, Karol does not see it feasible to expand Augusta's philosophy to other whole dorms. She professed, "with larger groups accountability and anonymity diminish."

Also, with more students the one-to-one basis used in Augusta would be impossible "from a practical viewpoint there would be no one to take phone messages, maintenance requests, plan activities, etc. Mary Beth Connor is swamped with this at Augusta and that's for only 65 students. You've got to have a landlady; our residences are not hotels," she concluded.

Karol also stated that many drawbacks would occur if Augusta's philosophy was expanded on a large scale. She maintains that restricting visitation on floors preserves a sense of privacy community and safety; thus, open visitation would compromise the "homey atmosphere" that Karol believes is wanted by the majority of the students.

Karol believes that parietals are such a major issue because of limited space to entertain guests and not because students want an open visitation policy.

Yet, Karol thinks it would be worthwhile to try to imitate the policy of Augusta Hall on a part basis, for example a section in McCandless or a floor in Regina. When presenting her ideas to students, she is met with positive comments.

However, Karol feels there is a major lack of student participation on the subject of alternative housing; thus, she is waiting for more student input before initiating any plans. She explains her hesitation in doing anything further interpreting the students' silence as apathy to the idea, and she does not want to force anything on the students, rather hoping that it be the students' choice.

... Class elections

[continued from page 1]

of Alumni with 41 of the 49 votes cast; Mike Brady captured all 34 votes cast in his hall, Carroll, while Rob Verfurth and Mike Burton divided Grace Hall between themselves, Burton winning 58 to 36.

In the closest of the three races, the Freshman class turned out 76.1 percent of their eligible voters, yet the ticket which collected the fewest number of halls made it into the run-off. The Bill Hennessey ticket won only four halls compared to Modesto Ruggiero's total of eight, but Hennessey's overwhelming victories in Alumni and Pangborn Halls, home of Hennessey and his secretary candidate Tom O'Brien, will put them on tomorrow's ballot.

Off-campus voting was light yesterday, with only six sophomores and 24 juniors casting ballots. Call noted that O-C students may vote tomorrow from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. in the Tom Dooly Room in La Fortune.

On campus balloting will again take place in the residence halls during the lunch and dinner periods.

Corby's

Tuesday
March 11, 1980
7pm-3am

BUDWEISER

— 2/$1.00 —

— SIGN UP NOW FOR CORBY'S —

— ARMWRESTLING TOURNAMENT —

ENGINEERS

Gulf Oil Corporation, a major energy company, has job openings for all types of graduating engineers who are interested in building a career in crude oil and gas producing operations.

Duties include drilling, equipment installation and maintenance, subsurface reservoir studies, economic evaluation of producing properties, well stimulation and reconditioning, and enhanced oil recovery operations.

Individual development courses will be provided, including outstanding oil and drilling instruction. Positions are located in Gulf Coast, Mid-Continent, Rocky Mountain, and West Coast areas. Excellent employee benefits.

Applicant must be U.S. citizen or hold a permanent resident visa.

Please send resume and transcript to:

J. R. Ligon, Jr.
GULF OIL EXPLORATION
& PRODUCTION COMPANY
Sec. E. P.O. Drawer 2100
Houston, TX 77001

An Equal Opportunity Employer M/F

In one-woman show

Hawfield creates Dorothy Parker

by Margie Brassil
SMC News Editor

Diane Hawfield captured the wit, cynicism, and social satire of author Dorothy Parker in her one-woman play last night in the Regina auditorium. The play, entitled appropriately enough Dorothy Parker, was created by Hawfield using some of Parker's lighter poetry, essays and monologues.

"I didn't originally intend to be Dorothy Parker. What I wanted was a string of monologues, but it evolved into this," explained Hawfield. Hawfield whittled down Parker's seven volumes of poetry and numerous monologues and articles to come up with a sequence of 19 pieces that showed Parker's own progression in life from a young woman to a woman in old age.

"Parker was a very difficult person who seemed to have an inability to be content. She was constantly restless," Hawfield said. Her discontent with the society of the 1920's, the period in which most of her famous work was done, was reflected in the monologues.

"The Waltz" particularly demonstrated this, showing one woman's contempt for the social rituals of accepting dances because it would be rude to refuse.

According to Hawfield, Parker was a mistress of the monologue, a style which is most conducive to the stage.

Several of the poems Hawfield used concerned Parker's attempts at suicide. Others contained her stand on feminism. "She makes feminist statements of the 1920's that are not really the same as today," said Hawfield.

"I thought it was funny," explained Hawfield when asked why she chose Parker's works during the question and answer session after the play. "I liked her short stories. Her sass and rhythm appealed to me as an actress."

The idea for the play came when Hawfield, an assistant professor in the Speech and Drama Department, helped a student prepare one of the monologues for a class. She had been preparing the piece during the past two years and finally edited it together for Women's Opportunity Week. Hawfield was assisted by her husband, Michael, and Cathy Hurst, a senior at Saint Mary's who directed the play.

"It was great fun. Working with an imaginative actress who happens to also be my teacher is great experience," commented Hurst after the showing. "This was her personal endeavor."

Hawfield said she plans to eventually lengthen the play to two hours using some of Parker's more serious pieces.

"Most of her stuff is too long to use in a play. The editing was a matter of pulling out the ones that would hang together. You get so attached to some of the material that you don't want to cut it out," she explained about her work on the play.

The set was simply confined to what was needed for each of the pieces. "The Little Hours" required a bed which became the main stage, while "The Waltz" needed a larger open space with a table for a prop.

Since the play was only one act, Hawfield showed the author's aging by adding a fancy dinner jacket or a shawl. Most of the progression was established through Hawfield's acting, however.

Dorothy Parker was the second presentation for Women's Opportunity Week, sponsored by Student Government. Poet Gwendolyn Brooks will speak tonight at 8 p.m. in Stapleton Lounge.

A refurbished LaFortune is just around the corner. Meantime students best avoid the clutter. [photo by Greg Maurer]

ND freshmen turn towards

"middle-of-the-road"

Notre Dame freshmen are following a national trend toward political moderation on the part of incoming college students, according to an American Council on Education survey.

Between 1972 and last fall, the percentage of Notre Dame freshman identifying themselves as "liberal" fell 11 points from 35 per cent to 24 per cent, while the percentage of those considering themselves "conservative" increased 8 points from 17 per cent to 25 per cent. The "middle-of-the-road" group remained relatively constant, going from 45 per cent in 1972 to 49 per cent in 1979.

In the national freshmen group, the only difference over the same period was that the "middle-of-the-road" category

In the national freshmen group, the only difference over the same period was that the 12-point loss suffered in the "liberal" column shifted more into the "middle-of-the-road" category than into the "conservative" ranks. When compared to entering students at other highly selective private universities, Notre Dame freshmen are again more moderate in political orientation, with 75 per cent "middle-of-the-road" or "conservative," compared to 64 per cent at peer universities.

Compared to all entering freshmen, Notre Dame first-year students show the same trends toward materialism and career success and away from political involvement, social amelioration, and personal growth, but at less pronounced rates. For example, between 1972 and 1979 the percentage of Notre Dame freshmen endorsing financial success as an essential or very important objective increased from 45 to 55 per cent, while nationally the increase was from 38 to 63 per cent.

At the same time the percentage viewing the development of a philosophy of life as essential or very important slipped from 78 to 69 per cent among Notre Dame freshmen but from 75 to 57 per cent among all freshmen.

The major attitudinal differences between Notre Dame freshmen and those of other private, highly selective institutions arise on moral issues.

... Mock

[continued from page 2]

chairmen together to set up a course of action to expedite the platform debates which had bogged down Thursday night.

"It was one of those political back-room stories, quite dramatic. The state chairmen showed an uncommon quality of common sense. To me, it was one of the highlights of the convention," Kresse said.

"Also, the delegates were fantastic. To have that many stick around until 5:30 in the morning to hear the results and then show up again at 2 p.m. the next day was just great," Kresse added. Kresse also noted that "a nice part about the whole convention was that people had fun, especially since it was not a party, but a political process."

Literary Festival continues

The Sophomore Literary Festival continues today with two events: a workshop with David Hare and a reading by Jayne Anne Phillips. Hare will give his workshop at 1 p.m. this afternoon in the Library Lounge and Phillips will conduct her reading tonight at 8 p.m. in the Library Auditorium. All students are cordially invited to attend.

SMC ORIENTATION '80

Applications are now being accepted for:

- | | |
|-------------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| ■ Assistant Chairman | ■ Social Chairman |
| ■ Publicity Chairman | ■ Off-Campus Chairman |
| ■ Tours Chairman | ■ Transfer Chairman |
| ■ Big Sister/Little Sister Chairman | ■ General Committee Workers |

Applications available in the Student Activities Office

166 LeMans Deadline: Tuesday March 18, 1980

Applications will not be accepted after this date.

LENTEN PENANCE SERVICE

SACRED HEART
TUESDAY, MARCH 11
10 PM

CONFESSION FOLLOWING

Molarity

by Michael Molinelli

... Iowa

[continued from page 8]
Burger closed in third and was clocked at 4:18.5.
The pole vault competition also played a prominent part in the Irish scoring as Perry Stow captured first place with a 15-6 vault. Freshman Steve Chronert cleared 14 feet to grab second place.

The meet came down to two events, the mile relay and the triple jump; the Irish led 60-57. For awhile it looked like the Irish victory was sealed as Dziabis and Eady had the Irish in the lead after two legs of the mile relay with Aragon and Christian waiting to run. Aragon had just received the exchanged and was going around a curve when the third Iowa runner Craig Stanowski appeared to bump him. Aragon stumbled and nearly fell; he maintained his balance but not before Stanowski had bolted into a substantial lead. Both Aragon and Christian regained part of the valuable time but they fell two seconds short as Iowa finished in 3:22.40.

When asked whether or not he thought he had been fouled, Aragon replied, "I thought so, but there was no curve judge so it doesn't matter." He (Stanowski) thought he had room to pass me on the inside. I wasn't about to give up my position; we bumped arms all the way around the curve. Afterwards, he said he was sorry, so he must of thought he pulled something."

The loss in the mile relay vaulted Iowa into the lead at 62-60, thus setting the stage for Kazimi's and McAuliffe's heroics.

The Irish send the two-mile relay team and Steve Dziabis to next weekend's NCAA Indoor Championships in Detroit, before opening the outdoor season on March 29.

Erratum
The Observer incorrectly reported yesterday that this weekend's college hockey play-off series between Notre Dame and North Dakota would be broadcast locally by WSNB-AM. The story should have stated that the games will be carried live from Grand Forks by WNDU-AM (1500) with Jeff Jeffers and Brian Beglane. Faceoff both nights will be at 8:30 p.m. The Observer regrets the error.

ERA leader

to conduct

ND meeting

The ND Women's Organization will sponsor a visit from Martina Meyers, an ERA organizer from the National Organization for Women (NOW) Tuesday, March 11.
Meyers will hold an ERA educational meeting and strategy session at 7:00 p.m. in the LaFortune basement. She will also speak to several classes and a meeting of Committee "W" about the ERA.
Meyers is part of a national grass roots network of ERA supporters across the country working to ensure ratification of the amendment.
For information contact Renee, 3848.

Doonesbury

by Garry Trudeau

The Daily Crossword

© 1980 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc. All Rights Reserved 3/11/80

ACROSS

1 Offspring

4 Founded: abbr.

7 Seethe

11 A Waugh

13 Foolish chatter

15 Puccini opera

16 Tropical plant

17 General of WWI

18 Synthetic fabric

19 Wimbledon champ

22 Cole et al.

23 Nose: pref.

24 Betty of Wimbledon

26 Family of a tennis champ

30 Flat wagon

31 Ballet leaps

32 Stowe heroine

33 Pierre's friends

34 Conduit

35 Onetime boxing champ

36 "— stranger in Paradise"

37 — Unis

38 Book: Fr.

39 Subjects for bucolic painters

41 Home of Lamaism

42 Mosul's land: var.

43 Snakes

44 Seven-time US champ

51 Without aid

52 Turndowns

53 A Charles

54 Body organ

55 Auction word

56 Easy task

57 Sensible

58 AMA members

59 Morning times

DOWN

1 Cloy

2 King of Norway

3 Wolfe the sleuth

4 Worn out

5 Plods perseveringly

6 Mexican food

7 Cesare or Lucrezia

8 European capital

9 Religious image

10 Human speech: abbr.

12 Wimbledon name

14 Vocalizes

15 Certain drinks

20 Kind of bean

21 Kind of beam

24 River in France

25 Musical chord

26 Salamanders

27 Tennis weapon

28 Wimbledon name

29 Quien —

30 Lion's home

31 Billie —

34 Man or vote

35 Althea's parents

37 Merited

38 O'Flaherty

40 Swiss lake

41 Prepares a salad

43 Mix

44 Cronos

45 A Logan

46 Bank trans-action

47 Weaving machine

48 A Chaplin

49 1/8 ounce

50 Shri!l barks

Monday's Results

BREAK TIME

DIRECT O'HARE

$15 EXPRESS $15

from NOTRE DAME CIRCLE

March 27 depart 4pm arrive 5:30 pm

March 28 10am 11:30 am
1pm 2:30 pm

FIRST BANK TRAVEL

Badin Hall

283-7080

INDIANA MOTOR BUS

Congratulations

Dan

'The Destroyer'

165 lb. Bengal Champ Flynn

We knew you could do it,
and you did!!

Paid for by:

Flynn Brothers & Sisters, Inc.

Sports Briefs

Wrestling tourney begins

The Interhall Wrestling Tournament will be held on Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday. All participants are requested to weigh in at the Interhall Office between 12:30 and 4:30 today.

Olympic trials to be held

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The U.S. Olympic track and field trials will be held as scheduled, regardless of whether the United States sends a team to Moscow for the summer Games, the president of The Athletics Congress said Monday. Most of the trials are scheduled June 21-29 at the University of Oregon at Eugene.

Transactions

Basketball
WASHINGTON BULLETS --Signed Lawrence Boston, forward, to a 10-day contract.

Baseball
American League
BALTIMORE ORIOLES --Announced that Tim Stoddard, pitcher, agreed to contract terms.

CALIFORNIA ANGELS --Announced that Dave Frost, pitcher, has agreed to a one-year contract of Carney Lansford, third baseman; Chris Knapp and Mark Clear, pitchers; and Todd Cruz, infielder.
MILWAUKEE BREWERS -- Named Bob "Buck" Rodgers, interim manager.

Announced that Paul Molitor, second baseman, had agreed to a one-year contract.

Football
MONTREAL ALOUETTES -- Named Joe Pascale director of player personnel.
hockey
BUFFALO SABRES -- Traded Jerry Korab, defenseman, to Los Angeles for the Kings' first-round choice in the 1982 draft.

Basketball

National Invitational Tournament Monday's Games
Michigan 74, Texas-El Paso 65
St. Peter's 34, Duquesne 33
Virginia 57, Boston College 55

[continued from page 8]

game while totaling at least 20 points in his last eight contests.

Jackson shared the Rebounding Award with Woolridge -- and also received the Clutch Player of the Year Award. His outstanding all-around play pulled a number of games out of the fire for the Irish, most notably the Villanova and Maryland games in which his shots in the final seconds provided one-point victories for Notre Dame.

In addition to his Captain's Award, Hanzlik took home the Best Defensive Player Award. The 6-7 Beloit, Wis., guard either won or shared that award in each of his last three years with the Irish.

Junior guard Stan Wilcox earned the Fireman of the Year Award for his contributions when both Hanzlik and Branning missed games during the season. The 6-3 North Babylon, N.Y., backcourter filled in most admirably during the first month of the season with Hanzlik sidelined with a dislocated finger.

The Comeback Player of the Year Award went to sophomore Mike Mitchell for his courageous progress following September surgery to repair knee cartilage. The Role Player of the Year Award went to junior Gilbert Salinas for his front-line support throughout the campaign.

Senior walk-on Tim Healy was cited with the Student-Athlete Award. A Dean's List student and law school candidate, Healy is the first Irish walk-on to play all four years with the Irish.

Nearly 1,000 persons attended the banquet at the A.C.C.

... Swimmers

[continued from page 8]

In the 200-yard butterfly, for instance, junior John Gibbons, failed to qualify for the finals by just one-one hundredth of a second. The regular season was even further capsulized when Notre Dame's position in the standings, as had happened so many times before, was not determined until the conclusion of the 400-yard freestyle relay. Going into that event's finals, the Irish clung to a slim seven point lead over host Illinois State. The Redbirds fourth-place finish in the event coupled with a sixth place finish by Battle, Shepardson, junior Thom Krutsch, and Komora gave the Irish fifth-place in the standings, edging their host 195-192.

The swimmers weren't the only ones grabbing the attention as the Irish diving corps made its mark in the standings as well. Freshman Paul McGowan led the Notre Dame divers finishing seventh off the one-meter board in a field of 22 with 365.00 points while teammates Betsey Shadley finished right behind in eighth with 356.00.

In the three-meter diving, McGowan and Shadley finished six-seven with 347.10 and 336.35 points respectively. Junior Chris Leonard also made a showing, finishing 12th with 299.85.

Classifieds

All classified ads must be received by 5:00 p.m., two days prior to the issue in which the ad is run. The Observer office will accept classifieds Monday through Friday, 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. All classifieds must be pre-paid, either in person or through the mail.

Notices

Morrissey Loan Fund
N.D. Student loans. $20-$200. Due in one month. One percent interest. Basement of LaFortune. 11:30-12:30 M-F. Last day for May grads to apply is March 14.

Last chance - N.J. Club Bus has spaces left! Call Chris at 1178 and Kevin at 1166 for reservations.

TYPING PLUS. Term papers, theses, dissertations. Light editing, ghost writing. Literary search, bibliographies, genealogies. Job resume service. Sliding rate scale based on lead time. Special discounts on full contracts for theses and dissertations. aardvark automatic solutions/ p.o. box 1204 46624/phone (219) 289-6753.

Lost & Found

Found: A girls Notre Dame class ring. Found in library auditorium. Call 4262 to identify.

Lost: Small square ladies watch w/2 diamonds on each side, Feb. 23 at Sacred Heart concert. Reward. Call Sharon 6258

Lost good leather gloves at main circle bus station. Call Don at 1756

Lost: Gold & Diamond pendant necklace. Reward. Call Maureen 4634

Lost: Green stocking cap. Disappeared from coat pocket Wed., lunch, West Side SDH. of great personal value. Call Steve M. 6708

Lost- Turquoise ring with a silver band. Call Anne 1274

14K gold serpentine bracelet with a gold "D" charm. Call Debbie 7659

Lost: Red-white ski jacket at 806 St. Louis St. Sat night any info on - Please call 4619. Desperately need keys. Film in camera has sentimental value. No questions asked. Please at least mail keys and film to 752 LeMans. Thank you.

Found: Pair of glasses between Grace and Library. Pick up at Lost and Found. Ad Bldg.

Lost in ACC Locker or Weight Room - cotton bowl watch. Reward for its return - Sentimental value. Call Jeff Weston 287-0289

Lost: Set of 5 keys sometime on Fri. possibly at Stepan Center. 2 room keys and P.O. Box key. If found please turn into the Observer office.

Wanted

Need ride to Boston over break. Can drive and will pay. Call Kevin 1670

LOCAL BAND NEEDS BRASS SECTION: TRUMPET, TROMBONE, ALTO, TENOR SA. PLEASE CONTACT MICHAEL COLEMAN IN THE SOUTH DINING HALL OR CALL ME AT HOME 289-1005. AFTER 8:00 P.M.

STUDENT UNION CAMPUS PRESS NEEDS A WELL-ORGANIZED, EFFICIENT SECRETARY TO WORK 1-5 DAILY FOR 1980-1981 YR. DUTIES INCLUDE PROCESSING ORDERS AND THE SETUP/LAYOUT OF POSTERS. BEGIN TRAINING NOW. APPLY 1-5 IN PERSON, BASEMENT OF LAFORTUNE. ANY QUESTIONS CALL 7047 OR DIANE ST 7994.

Need riders to Champaign, U. of ILL. March 14-16. Call Martha 41-4302

Need ride to and from Miami for Spring Break will share! Please call 233-2201 after 11 pm on.

Need ride to/from Massachusetts for spring break. Call SMC 4960

Two need ride east on I-80 Spring break. Call Karen 6779

Wanted: I need to borrow someone's van/pickup for one weekend (Fri. to Sunday) anytime between now and April 7. Urgent. Some recompense possible to kindly Christian will to help me out. Call 232-6344 for details, between 12 noon and 9 pm. Leave name and number.

Need ride to Cleveland for break. Call Tom or Jim 8321.

I need a ride home to the Miami or Ft. Lauderdale area over spring break. Willing to share driving and expenses. Call Frank 1975

Need ride to or near Richmond, VA. for break. Will share usual call Steve, 3047

Need ride to Conn. for break. Will share usual. Call Jim 1175

Need Spring break riders to Dallas area 272-7930.

For Sale

Got a blank space on your wall? Fill it with color basketball action photos. All players, all sizes. Cheap. Not available from Ronco or K-Tel. Call 8932.

Flash: Photographic equipment for sale -- fantastic bargains!--cameras, lenses. Call 232-4129

Minolta SR T 200 for sale; Call Barbar 232-4378

1973 Ford Gran Torino Sport red with black vinyl top and yellow laser stripe. Excellent condition. 50,000 miles. one-owner. $1,200. Call (317) 844-2115. (Indianapolis)

Personals

Wow continues with Qwendolyn Brooks, Pulitzer Prize winning poet, 8 pm Stapleton, SMC

Bob,
You should read the personals more often

Svsette

Panama,
So who ever said "blonds are more fun"!!!

John Pinter,
You are cordially invited to dinner tonight. (Don't say I never asked you...)

Sincerely,
Bunkie

Victoria, alias Brendan,
Here it is at last (only 2 months late) - Have a nice day!
A friend of Teresa

Needed: Ride to Detroit Area weekend of March 14. Call Angela (41-5708) or Teri (41-4825)

Need ride for 3 to Wash, D.C. for spring break. Please call Janet at 2110.

Steve:
Beware of beady eyed SMC's that steal grain and bleary eyed ex-domers who switch the drafts.
Ryan

Grain:
Now that you've found your glasses, you can see what you're getting into. But without your keys, you can't get into anything. What will you be losing next?

Sloe Gin

Beat the Sioux!!!!

The third floor Regina girls have gone Hawaiian and are proud of it!!!

Bush may have won the nomination, but the Reagan women this the Simon campaigners are the foxiest!!!

Jim-
What happened to that 10pm phone call and pool game Monday at 6 pm?
Beth

Suds & Drugs & Rock n' Roll Corby's Street kids Softball Smoker, Sat. March 15th 8 pm 1121 W. Western Free Beer, & Food & Games Live Rock by "The Pages" $3.00 admission tix at Corby's or door.

D.C. Club Meeting - LaFortune Little Theatre. Wednesday March 12 6:30 p.m. Meeting, Elections and Bus-trip sign-ups [Bring money or check. No refunds!] Round-trip $55, One-way $30.

Like to party but can't afford it on a student budget? Bridget's serves up $7.50 drafts from 9:30-10:30 nitely. Bring a crowd.

Bridget's thinks you need a break! Happy hour from 4-7 daily. Quarter beers 9:30 10:30 nitely. Now that's a deal!

Come to Women's opportunity week. March 9-14, SMC.

Uncle Sam Wants you: to elect Mr. Bill as UMOC.

SOFTBALL
Anyone interested in coaching the ND women's softball team (fast pitch), please call Karen at 1258 or 2163

Dr. Liberal,
I'm no longer mute- let's talk.
Baby's breath

"Destroyer" Flynn
You just don't look very good in red. Congratulations anyway.
M.B.C.

Chers AQ's:
Je me suis vraiment amuse pendant mon sejour chez vous. C'etait vachement chouette, quoi. Je vous invite a Ann Arbor n'importe quand, et pour faire n'importe quoi(!).
Alors, ciao, et appelez-vous, mes tres cheres amies,
"Subjugation, Domestication, and Exploitation"
C'est le pied, babes.
Love,
Michael

Hey, Mike, you long lean and mean man about campus, you... if I ask you to the formal Saturday, will you take off your suit for me, too?
Hopeful

Foxy freshman blonde and equally foxy friend need ride to Lauderdale the 26th share expenses, driving. Ambi - 1362.

To the bathing beauties (especially Katie from Cleveland!) in Regina 3S. Thanks y'all, the luau was fantastic, and so was "the punch with a punch" (Right Melissa?)
Aloha,
Dallas

I need ride, Connecticut - NYC area. for break. Joe 1048

B. You're terrific! Remember I am with you. Love, J.

JOHN Q. PUBLIC:
IF KENNEDY WINS -YOU LOSE!
MARY JOE

Denise (Woz?)
At Christmas time we captured boots, An held Him for days as a hostage. But hou held on to more precious loots, When you latched on to Joe's sausage!
Happy 21st
Froggie and Cuz
Muncher who does
Bernie in Suds

I will pay megabucks for McDonalds $50,000 stamps. Call 287-0646 Ask for Mike.

Seniors! Save $$! Buy raffle tix for free Senior Formal Bid...LaFortune M-F, 12-1; LeMans S-Th, 7-9. Drawing at Senior Bar March 20, 11:00 pm Be There!

Hey Irish Women- from Upchuck, Indiana to Spokane, Washington, Good Luck in the Nationals!
-one well-fed photographer
P.S. - I hope they have ice cream in Spokane.

Need riders to OSU-COLUMBUS - Leave Thurs., return Sat. 7879

To all my friends out there who went on a Magical Mystery Tour this past weekend - sorry I couldn't make it. But next time it's up against the Wall for sure.

The White Album

Cheryl,
Hey, Happy Birthday. On this special day you are even more pleasing to my eyes. Enjoy it.
Your Bestest

WHO'S THE SENESE WITH THE FINESS

Business Majors:
Econ 124 and 224 tests for sale to highest bidder. Taking offers from females only in my room, tonight. Performance counts.
Big Red

Who's Big Red??? What is Big Red??? Why is Big Red???
Patti,
Have a good day!

Eight new marks

Swimmers rewrite record book

by Michael Ortman
Sports Writer

Pick your cliché:
"Records were made to be broken."
"They rewrote the record book."

"It's not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game."

"They gave 110 percent."
All of these familiar quotations could have a place in a story about the performance of the Notre Dame swimming team in the Midwest Invitational swimming and diving championships held this weekend in Normal, Illinois. Although the Irish finished a distant fifth in the ten-team field, 253 points behind first place Western Kentucky, the Notre Dame swimmers broke a remarkable eight varsity records.

"I know we're not able to compete head-to-head against the scholarship-rich powers like Western Kentucky or the Big Ten schools," said Irish coach Dennis Stark, "but I think our performance this week was outstanding. Different teams measure success in different ways, and this was certainly a successful weekend for us."

Stark's swimmers spell success R-E-C-O-R-D-S. Ten of the fifteen Irish swimmers who made the trip either earned a new individual school mark or swam on a record-setting relay team.

Freshman Glenn Battle, sophomore Mike Shepardson and junior captain John Komora led the assault on the record books with three new marks a piece.

Komora, Notre Dame's two-time most valuable swimmer, set a new standard in the 400-yard individual medley with a time of 4:18.5, almost three full seconds faster than the mark he set three years ago.

The South Bend native also anchored two of Notre Dame's three record-breaking relay teams, the 400-yard medley relay and the 400-yard freestyle relay.

The Adams high school graduate also came within two-tenths of a second of setting two more varsity marks in both the 50- and 100-yard freestyle events, records which were set by Jim Kane way back in 1975.

Komora's time :21.7 in the 50 free earned him third place in the field of 44 swimmers. The highlight for the Notre Dame team came when Komora's :47.31 clocking in the 100 free earned the Irish their only first-place finish of the meet.

Komora summed up his fine weekend performance quite simply. "I just shaved down, got psyched and that was that."

As well as joining Komora on those relay teams, Battle and Shepardson set individual marks of their own. In the 200-yard individual medley, Battle clocked a time of 2:00.7, three tenths of a second better than Komora's old standard set two years ago. Shepardson swam the 100-yard butterfly in :52.7, more than a second better than Tom Hartye's three year old best.

A third Irish relay team earned a spot on the record books as well. In the 800-yard freestyle relay, Greg Bohdan, Dave Campbell, Michael Hilger and John Gibbons finished seventh among the ten schools with a time of 7:13.77.

Junior John Willamowski was the fourth member of the medley relay team, swimming the breaststroke leg. Hilger and Campbell staged a competition of their own in the 1,650-yard freestyle. In the event's first heat, Campbell set a new varsity record with his time of 17:10.90. But his life in the record book lasted less than twenty minutes. In the event's second heat Hilger shattered the mark, clocking a 16:54.51. Hilger finished eighth in the field of 18, and Campbell finished eleventh.

Sophomore Don Casey was not going to be left out of the record-breaking party as he broke the record in the 200-yard butterfly for an unprecedented eighth time, covering the distance in 1:57.59.

The three-day-long meet was a sort of mini-season for the Irish. Stark refers to the 1979-80 campaign as a "season of closeness," and that it was. The dual meet records of 7-5 included a pair of losses which were both decided by two-one hundredths of a second. On five different occasions during the regular season the outcome was not determined until the final relay was over. Much the same occurred in the Invitational.

[continued on page 7]

Irish swim team captain John Komora, pictured here, played an enormous part in smashing many Irish swim standards this past weekend.

Basketball team holds awards banquet

Senior co-captain Rich Branning received four awards while juniors Orlando Woolridge and Kelly Tripucka earned three a piece at the University of Notre Dame's annual basketball banquet Monday night at the Athletic and Convocation Center.

Branning earned the Assist Leader Award for the third straight season after topping the Irish in that department in '79-'80 with 93. The 6-3 Huntington Beach, California native also owns the Irish career record with 466.

Branning and Tripucka each joined the 1,000-Point Club during the season. Branning finished with a career total of 1,232 points, while Tripucka currently boasts 1,192 with his senior season to come.

Branning also was honored for his captain's responsibilities, in addition to receiving a special recognition award as Notre Dame's first four-year starter since Kevin O'Shea in 1946-50.

Woolridge received the Most Improved Player Award for his progress throughout the '79-'80 campaign. He came on strong in the second half of the season to score in double figures in his last 14 games and shoot at a

.661 clip for the field during that period.

The 6-9 center from Mansfield, La., also merited the Most Accurate Shooter Award thanks to his team-high .585 shooting mark -- and he shared the Rebounding Award with fellow junior Tracy Jackson. Both finished the regular season with 179 rebounds.

In addition to his 1,000-Point Club honor, Tripucka received the Father Tom Brennan Award which goes annually to the team's top free-throw shooter. His .762 figure from the line this year paced the Irish. The 6-6 Essex Fells, N.J., native also earned the Offensive Consistency Award after scoring in double figures in all but one

[continued on page 7]

Runners defeat Iowa in final event

by John Smith
Sports Writer

As if it were a pre-written movie script, the Irish track team pulled out a 66-65 victory Friday when unheralded heroes Ahmad Kazimi and Brian McAuliffe finished first and third respectively in the triple jump to nudge Notre Dame past the University of Iowa. The Hawkeyes led 62-60 entering the final event.

"It was great how the meet ended," commented an excited Irish assistant coach Ed Kelly, "Ahmad and Brian are hidden under the bleachers most of the time, but this time it came down to their performance. It was a lot of pressure on them with everyone watching, but both of them came through with personal bests. Kazimi 48'6 1/2", McAuliffe 45'10". They're two of the greatest guys I've ever coached; I couldn't be happier for them."

Kazimi and McAuliffe wouldn't have been in the position they were if it hadn't been for some outstanding performances by their teammates. Eleven Notre Dame runners exhibited personal bests for an ACC crowd that included Athletic Director Edward "Moose" Krause and Associate Athletic Director,

Colonel John Stephens.

Sophomore Jacques Eady improved his previous times in both the 440 yard run, which he won in a time of :49.0, and the 300 yard dash, where he finished second to Iowa's Dennis Mosley in :31.24. Jim Christian finished a strong fourth in a :32.82 time which topped his previous best.

Other personal bests came from Steve Dziabis and Tom Bernier in the 600 yard dash. Dziadis, who qualified to run in the 600 last weekend, completed the circuit in first place 1:10.87. Bernier ended in fourth place with a fine time of 1:14.31.

The turning point of the meet came in the 60 yard high hurdles. The Irish entered the competition hoping to come away with at best a second place finish considering the speed on the Iowa team. Notre Dame's Dave Bernards, Tim Twardzik, and Dan Callan were obviously not intimidated by the Hawkeye hurdlers as all three posted personal bests of :07.51, :07.57, and :07.78 respectively to gain a first, third and fourth place tie.

"The hurdles were definitely the key event of the meet," stated Iowa coach Ted Wheeler, "our strong point is definitely our speed."

If the hurdles was the event upon which the victory was built, the two mile run was the competition that almost lost it.

Notre Dame, recognizing Iowa's speed, knew it had to dominate the middle and long distance events. Aldo Bartolini, John Filosa and Marc Novak figured to provide the Irish with more than enough strength, but Hawkeye Tom Ferre was not impressed as he upset the pack. Bartolini took second, and Filosa finished third.

Chuck Aragon, Rick Rogers, and Jim Macauley dominated the 880 as they ran away from all Iowa's competition with times of 1:53.77, 1:54.41, and 1:54.44 respectively.

The 1000 yard run was totally dominated by the Irish as Jay Miranda, Pete Burger, and Jim Slattery finished better than any of the Hawkeye competition. Miranda won in 2:12.45, followed by Burger at 2:13.78. Slattery posted his personal best at 2:13.98.

The first event of the day was the mile run; it should have been an omen to the Irish that the day would turn out well. Kevin Kenny and Tony Hatherly crossed the finish line together in a 4:12.85 time.

[continued on page 6]

Alumni captures South Quad by virtue of tie with Dillon

by John Smith
Sports Writer

Alumni Hall captured the South Quad Interhall Hockey Championship last night by tying Dillon Hall 1-1 in the ACC. The "Dogs" now stand 6-0-1 as they prepare for their first round playoff game against Stanford Hall, North Quad runner-up at 5-1-1, on Thursday night. Dillon, 5-0-2, will take on North Quad champion Grace (6-0-1) in the other playoff game.

Last night's game, played before a crowd of 300, was highlighted by some fine goaltending. Dillon's Dan Marchiori stopped repeated efforts by Alumni's potent offense, including break away attempts by Bill Egan and Dave McGonigle in the game's waning moments.

"Big Red" also peppered Alumni's goalies, Phil Fowler and Frank Schornagle, but only one shot found the net.

Both teams came out with fire in their eyes in the second half, after a scoreless first twenty minutes. Dillon appeared to have momentum on their side when they were whistled for a two-minute tripping penalty. Alumni took advantage of the power play as sophomore Matt Brach slapped home an unassisted goal past Marchiori's right shoulder for a 1-0 lead.

Alumni tried to hold on, but Dillon's consistent attack produced a goal when Brian Parker took a centering pass in front of the net and poked it past Schornagle at point blank range. It turned out to be the final goal of the evening as it knotted the score at one.

The game then became one of dashes up and down the ice with both teams failing to connect on scoring opportunities. In the end it came down to defense with Marchiori leading the way.