SMC Security probes assaults

By EMILY WILLET
Saint Mary's Editor

Saint Mary's Security is investigating the assault of a Saint Mary's student which took place at approximately 8:30 p.m. Wednesday night on the campus.

The victim reported that she was walking from her car in the Angela Athletic Facility parking lot on the walkway which runs beside the building when the attacker approached her from behind.

The victim said that the assailant covered her mouth with his hand and attempted to drag her toward a nearby tree. The victim said she freed herself from the attacker, slashing his face with her keys, and ran to McCandless Hall.

She described the attacker to the reporting officer as a white male, around 30 years old, with normal build, dark hair and approximately six feet tall.

Security conducted an investigation of the area which was to no avail.

This incident is the second reported attack on campus this week. On Monday evening Security responded to a reported assault on the walkway between McCandless Hall and the Cushwa-Leighton Library. While both cases are still under investigation, at this time the two incidents are believed to be unrelated.

"We do not have enough concrete evidence at this time to show that the incidents are associated," said Richard Chlebek, Director of Safety and Security.

Saint Mary's Security will be increasing security presence in the areas of the two attacks,

Muslim kidnappers demand more releases

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Shiite Muslim kidnappers said Thursday they back efforts to arrange a comprehensive hostage deal, but renewed demands that jailed comrades in Europe be freed as part of any swap.

Despite such obstacles, there was optimism that the hostage ordeal could end with a phased release of Arab prisoners held by Israel, Israeli POWs and the 11 Westerners missing in Lebanon.

In the latest sign of progress, Israel received the body of Sgt. Samir Assad, a soldier listed as missing in Lebanon since April 1983, and allowed a deported Palestinian, Ali Abu Hilal, to return home.

An Israeli military statement said Hilal's return was "a gesture" by Israel, "conditioned upon his agreement not to break the law in the future." The Palestinian activist was expelled from the occupied West Bank in 1986.

In Abu Dis, Hilal's hometown on the outskirts of Jerusalem, the mood was jubilant. The family prepared banners saying "Welcome Home, O' Hero Ali Abu Hilal."

The trade was the second public step in an apparent multi-stage deal.

United Nations Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar, in Tehran for talks with Iranian officials, said he believed there was momentum toward a resolution of the hostage issue.

"I am moving in that direction, as you know," said Perez de Cuellar, who has spearheaded diplomatic efforts to win the hostages' freedom. "I have already got good results, which I hope will be the beginning."

Others close to the hostage bargaining said behind-the-scenes talks continued.

"There is definitely a positive atmosphere about the issue and there are hush-hush, backstage efforts being exerted," said Abdulla al-Amin, a Shiite member of the Lebanese Cabinet.

In Washington, President Bush sidestepped a question on whether he believed the release of a Western hostage in Beirut may be imminent.

But he told reporters that Wednesday's release of 51 Arab prisoners by Israel "is bound to be viewed as very, very favorable."

In addition to the prisoner release, Israel also repatriated the bodies of nine Muslim guerrillas on Wednesday after receiving word on the death of one of its missing soldiers. The Jewish state has said it wants information on all its missing soldiers before releasing more Lebanese and Palestinian prisoners.

Thursday's statement came from the pro-Iranian Islamic Jihad. It was accompanied by a picture of American Terry Anderson, whom it is believed to hold. An identical photo was released by the group last month.

Anderson, 43, chief Middle East correspondent for The Associated Press, was kidnapped March 16, 1985. He is the longest-held Western hostage.

In the statement, Islamic Jihad urged Perez de Cuellar to keep trying to arrange a deal.

"We are fully prepared to extend the required support for him to reach the required comprehensive solution," it said.

Islamic Jihad welcomed the Israeli prisoner release as a "positive step," but said it was not enough.

"We ... consider it (the prisoner release) an incomplete one unless it culminates in freeing all our imprisoned brethren in the world, especially in Europe and the jails of the Zionist enemy," it said.

That apparently referred to Shiite prisoners including hijacker Hussein Hariri, held in Switzerland since July 1987, and brothers Mohammed Ali

Frustrated Democrat Senators question Thomas on opinions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frustrated Democrats accused Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas Thursday of evading questions about his retreat from past positions and unreasonably refusing to say how he would approach future cases.

But that frustration did not appear to be galvanizing opposition. Sen. Howell Heflin, D-Ala., who earlier this week suggested Thomas had changed his stances in a "confirmation conversion," said the nominee would have won Senate confirmation if the vote had been held Thursday.

Thomas' answers clearly exasperated Democrats who were trying to get the nominee to state his views on controversial issues and to reconcile his testimony during three days of hearings with what he had written and said over the past decade.

"That's the most unartful dodge I've ever heard," Thomas was told at one point by Sen.

Joseph Biden, the Judiciary Committee chairman, after the nominee said he "could not sit here and decide" whether unmarried couples had a right to privacy.

Thomas eventually said sexual relations and childbearing by unmarried couples were protected by a privacy right, but not before Biden said: "It's getting more like a debate to get information."

Despite such complaints, there did not appear to be solid opposition to the nomination.

Heflin, a member of the Judiciary Committee, said seven or eight moderate-to-conservative Democrats who are not on the panel told him they were leaning toward supporting the nomination.

The full Senate won't vote on Thomas' nomination until after the committee takes action.

While not saying how he would vote, Heflin said that Thomas "has given answers that would indicate he is more moderate in a lot of different fields" than Heflin expected.

Thomas continued to turn aside questions about his views on abortion, finally telling Sen. Herb Kohl, D-Wis., "Whether or not I have a view is irrelevant."

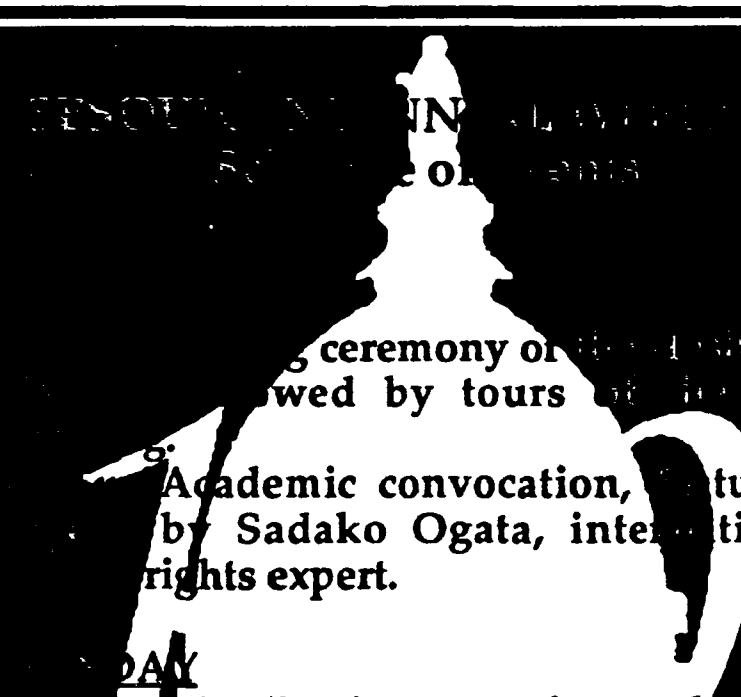

On the subject of changing positions, Kohl asked Thomas, "Why is it inappropriate for us to make an evaluation of your career based on all of what you have written and said?"

Kohl suggested that Thomas was telling the committee "Just view me on what I am saying this week," and the senator asked if that was the right way for the panel to make its confirmation decision.

Republicans on the committee came to his defense, as did President Bush who said at the White House that Thomas was "doing a beautiful job up there."

Bush, asked at a news conference about the credibility of Thomas' claim not to have an opinion on the landmark 1973

Valuable lesson to be learned from vacations

This is a story about two summer vacations that went awry and two dreams that should have never been realized.

The first dream was mine. For my eleventh birthday, my grandmother took my sister and I to Disney World for a week. The Magic Kingdom soon lost its kick and I spent most of the vacation trying to convince Grandma to take us to Gatorland, a theme park filled with monstrous alligators chomping raw meat in steamy swamps.

Barbara Moran

Asst. Viewpoint

Grandma refused to make the trip. But her refusal prodded me into a vow—that I would someday return to Orlando and visit Gatorland.

When my boyfriend and I trekked to Florida this past summer, I felt my quest near completion. I ran through the giant alligator jaws that marked the entrance and hurried to a pen to greet my gator pals. There they lay, happily basking in the summer glare. Then I noticed the sign:

"These alligators are two months old. When they reach six months, they will be slaughtered for their precious hides and tasty meat."

Tourists smiled for pictures while holding baby alligators with duct-taped jaws. Kids munched on fried Gator Nuggets and watched the Gator Jumparoo — a fun event featuring starved alligators jumping at a dangling piece of meat which a clever trainer jerked out of reach just as jaws snapped over it.

Grandma was a lot smarter than I had thought.

My dream shattered, I returned home despondent. But I did not have long to sulk before I was caught up in another quest, this one my Father's. Dad's dream was to have One Last Family Vacation. So the six of us packed into the minivan and headed for Quebec.

Those of you who have never endured a family vacation can kneel down right now and praise whatever merciful God to which you pray. Four days in Quebec with my family nearly pushed me into hysteria.

Here is a synopsis of the trip through quotes from our fearless leader and captain of the minivan, Dad:

"Sure we'll all fit in one car."
"Yes, I know where I'm going."
"Get out the map and find out where the hell we are."
"Sure I speak French."
"Excuse me, do you speak English?"
"I think you girls are a little young for beer."
"Let's each get a pitcher."

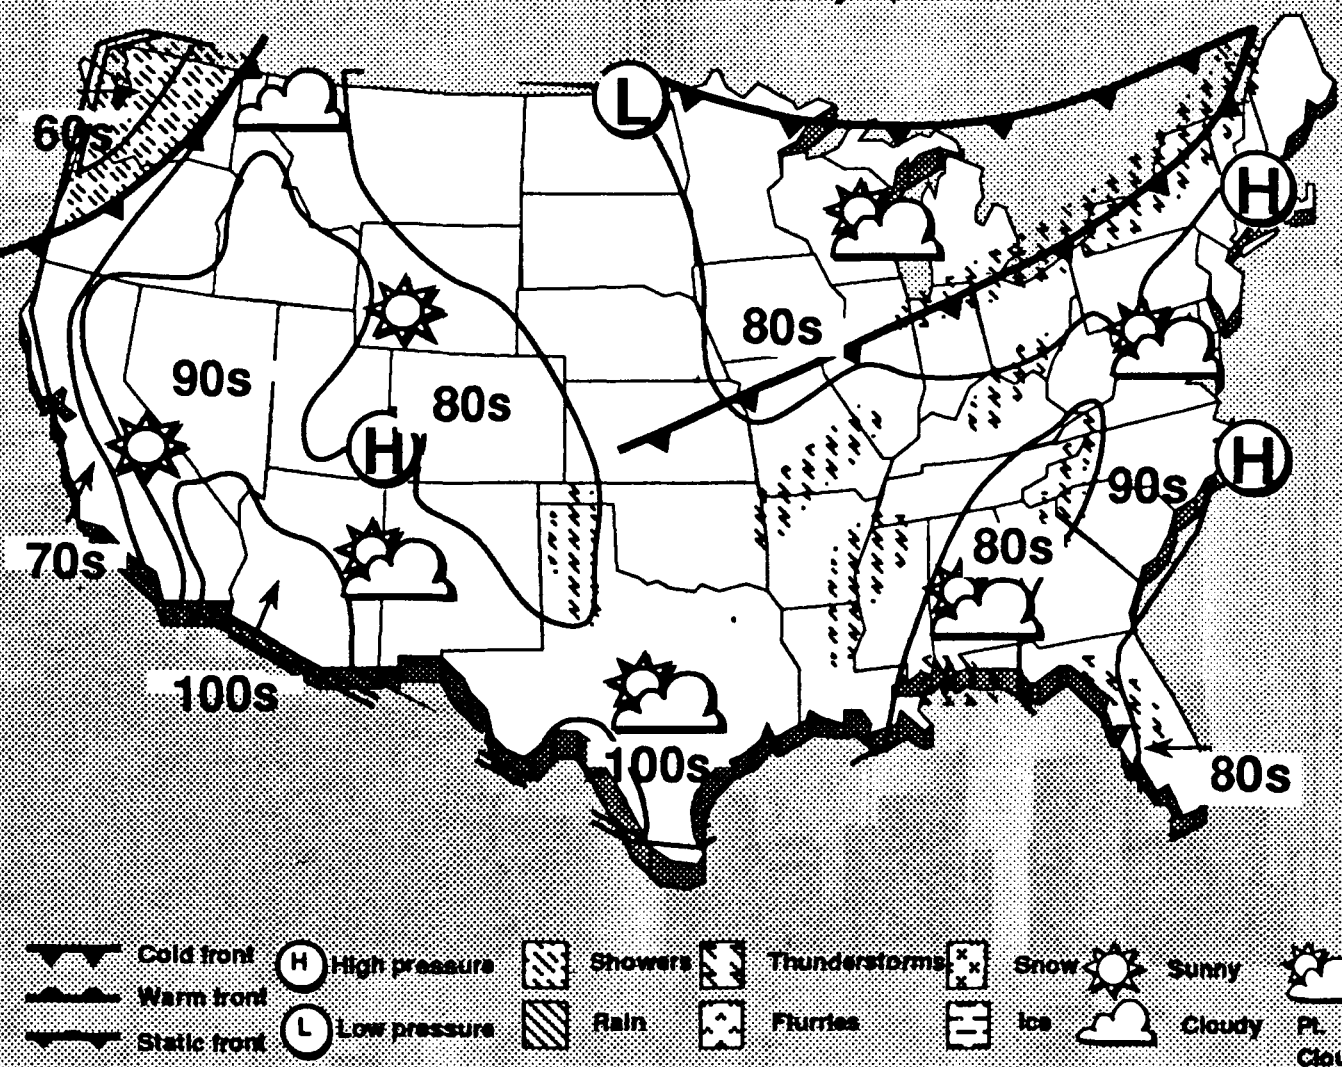

Somehow we made it home with no homicides or suicides, and I returned having learned some valuable lessons:

- Never trust your parents.
- Always trust your Grandma.
- There is something wrong with people who eat Gator Nuggets while visiting a park for alligators.
- Quebecois are stereotyped as obnoxious for a reason.
- Vacation disasters and shattered dreams can become sources of amusement if you have the right attitude. Take things in stride: when life hands you Gator Nuggets, make Gatorade.

Gunmen ambush bus and kill four

■JOHANNESBURG, South Africa— Attackers sprayed a commuter bus with automatic gunfire Thursday, killing four people and bringing the toll in five days of black township violence to more than 120. The surge in violence threatens to cripple a new peace treaty even before it is signed Saturday. Representatives of the National Party of President F.W. de Klerk, along with the warring African National Congress and Inkatha Freedom Party, are to approve the accord. Previous pacts have collapsed in disarray, but this would be the first signed by all of South Africa's three major political players. For that reason, it has been billed as an important step in ending violence that has killed thousands of blacks and stalled talks toward ending white rule.

Plane Crash Kills 14 in Texas

■EAGLE LAKE, Texas— Federal investigators searched amid charred wreckage today for the flight recorders from a commuter plane that witnesses said went down after a fiery explosion blew off a wing. Flight 2574, taking 11 people and three crew members from Laredo to Houston's Intercontinental Airport, crashed about 10:30 a.m. Wednesday about 75 miles west of Houston, spewing wreckage over a four-mile stretch of southeast Texas farmland. The Brazilian-made Embraer-120 had begun its descent to Houston's Intercontinental Airport when it disappeared from radar screens at an altitude of 11,800 feet, said officials.

More high school seniors smoke now

■ATLANTA— The first comprehensive study of smoking among U.S. high school students found that more than a third had smoked or chewed tobacco in the previous month and nearly one in five seniors were frequent smokers. Overall, 36 percent of students surveyed said they had used tobacco at least once in the previous month, the Center for Disease Control said. Thirteen percent of students from ninth to 12th grades were described as frequent smokers. The government's health goals include having no more than 15 percent of the nation's 20-year-olds smoking by the year 2000.

Shuttle begins ozone mission

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Space shuttle Discovery bolted into orbit Thursday evening with five astronauts and an observatory designed to scrutinize the alarming shrinkage of Earth's ozone layer.

Discovery thundered away from its seaside pad at 7:11 p.m. EDT, flames spewing from its twin booster rockets. The 100-ton spaceship pierced a hazy sky as it darted out over the Atlantic Ocean and up the East Coast.

"It's the moment we've been waiting for," said Don Wuebbles, an atmospheric scientist who has been working on the project for 13 years. "After 13 years, how can I put it in words?"

The shuttle's solid rocket boosters dropped empty into the ocean as planned two minutes into the flight. The ship reached orbit 6 1/2 minutes later on the thrust of three main engines.

Scientists watched breathlessly from Kennedy Space Center as Discovery sped out of sight with the first craft to be launched in NASA's Mission to Planet Earth, a decades-long probe of the environment from space.

"We're at a point in human history where we can affect the global environment, and we shouldn't fly blind on that," NASA's chief scientist Lennard Fisk said.

The unusual hours — an evening liftoff and the first night landing at Kennedy on Wednesday — are required for the precisely timed release of the Upper Atmosphere Research Satellite midway through the five-day flight.

Shuttle commander John Creighton and his crew had been working at night for months in preparation for the mission, shuttle flight No. 43. They awoke for the launch Thursday afternoon; Friday's bedtime was, as usual, at dawn.

People along the Eastern seaboard, especially in the South, had a rare opportunity to see the ascending spaceship. Discovery's course upon liftoff was up the East Coast as far as Cape Hatteras, N.C., where the shuttle arced sharply out over the Atlantic on its way to a 336-mile-high orbit.

Sesquicentennial celebration kicks off

By COLLEEN KNIGHT
News Writer

The year-long celebration of Notre Dame's sesquicentennial anniversary will start out with a bang with opening festivities this weekend.

The opening Mass of the school year will be held at the J.A.C. C. Sunday at 5 p.m. A video presentation during the Mass will highlight the history of the university, according to Kristin McCarthy, an active member of the opening events committee. The mass will be followed by a picnic and carnival at Cartier Field at 6:15 p.m., she said. The carnival will feature children's rides, game booths, a moonwalk, and music from The Clutch, a student band. Fireworks will go off at dusk to conclude the opening events. All students, administrators, faculty, and their families are invited to take part in the festivities. McCarthy, a senior, hopes that, "a family atmosphere will bring everyone together, just as Father Sorin brought the community together" when he founded the university in 1842.

McCarthy said that the sesquicentennial committee, which was formed almost three years ago, has put a great deal of time and effort into planning the celebration. At least 100 students and administrators are now involved. "It's amazing," she said, "students just don't know how much work has been done for the celebration."

The committee has planned more activities for the coming academic year and next summer to commemorate the anniversary. Some of the scheduled events include a homecoming dance and parade on the weekend of the Navy game and a national Catholic conference of bishops this summer.

Yugoslavian defense minister refuses call for army withdrawal

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Yugoslavia's defense minister rejected on Thursday the president's calls for the army to pull back in Croatia, and two Croatians resigned from the federal Cabinet out of frustration that the ethnic bloodshed continued.

The squabbling among leaders of the crumbling federation came amid new violations of a Sept. 2 cease-fire between Serbs and Croats in the secessionist republic.

The Tanjug news agency reported that Croatian forces gave up the strategic town of Kostajnica to Serb insurgents after days of heavy fighting. Tanjug and Croatia's Defense Ministry said 12 Croats died Thursday trying to hold the town 50 miles southeast of Zagreb, the Croatian capital.

Eleven others were reported killed elsewhere in Croatia overnight.

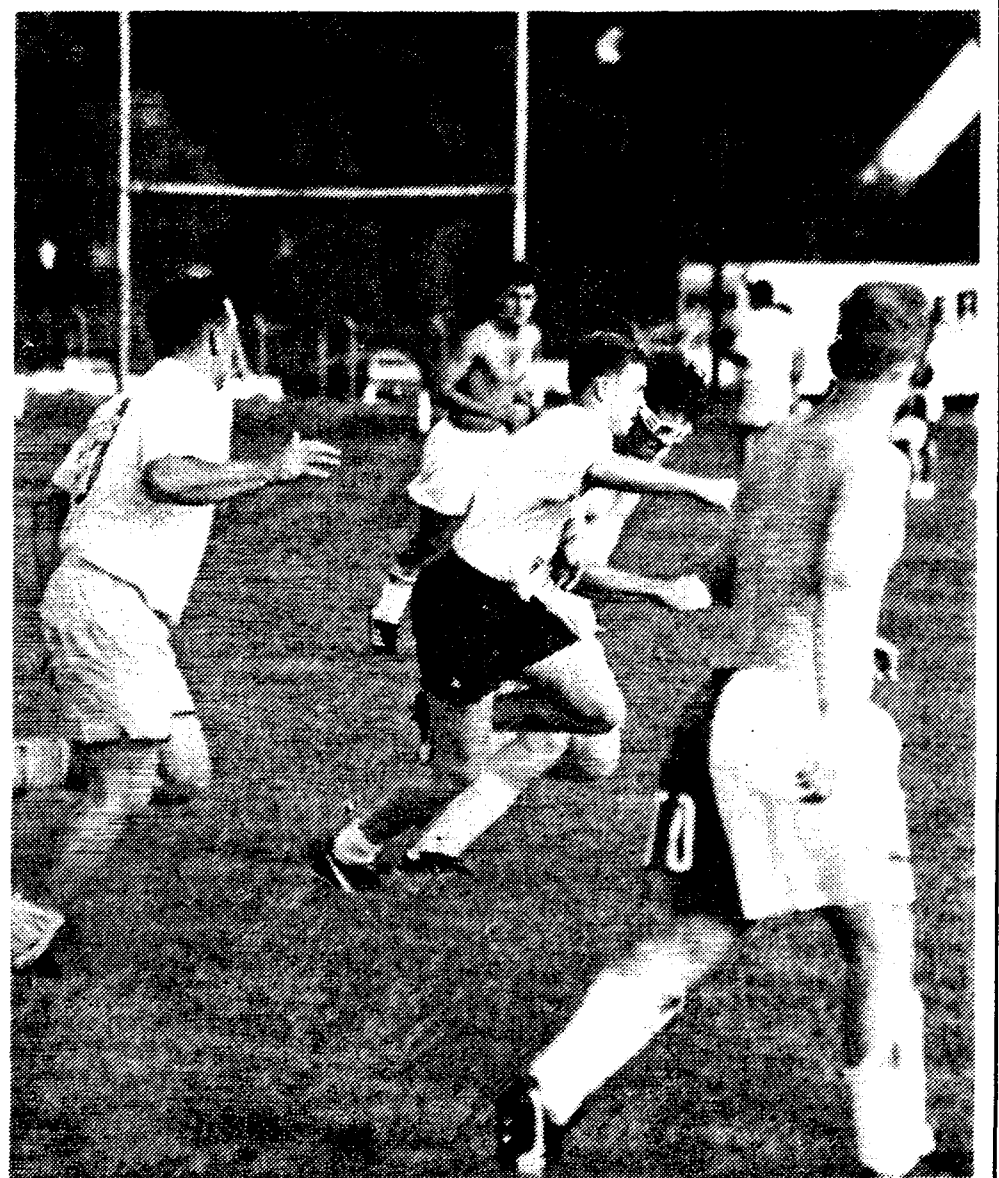

In other developments:

- Ethnic Serbs in central state of Bosnia-Herzegovina Thursday joined their countrymen in Krajina, a section of Croatia, in proclaiming autonomy, raising fears of ethnic violence in the mixed republic.

- In Zagreb, officials said a Yugoslav military helicopter carrying European Community envoy Henry Wijnandts and senior Croatian and army officials was fired upon by Croatian forces as it approached Okucani on Wednesday. No one was hurt.

The fighting pits Croatian forces against Serbian rebels opposed to seceding from Yugoslavia. It has claimed over 400 lives since Croatia declared independence June 25.

Croatia accuses Serbia of instigating the fighting to seize territory, but Serbia says Croatia cannot leave the Balkan federation while keeping territory dominated by Serbs. Serbs make up 12 percent of Croatia's 4.75 million people.

Cease-fire declared in Philippines

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Communist rebels declared a national cease-fire Thursday, and support grew in the Senate to give the U.S. Navy up to three years to leave its base, whose lease expires next week.

President Corazon Aquino was said to be considering the phaseout plan after failing to persuade senators to ratify a new lease for Subic Bay naval base. The current lease expires Monday and 12 of the 23 senators oppose an extension.

Under the proposal, the Americans would pay no rent during the withdrawal. Afterward, they could be allowed limited access to Subic on a commercial basis.

The rebel National Democratic Front said an indefinite, unilateral cease-fire went into effect at midnight Wednesday after it appeared the Senate would reject the base agreement.

The agreement, forged during 14 months of talks, called for the Americans to give up volcano-damaged Clark Air Base next year but keep Subic for 10 more years in return for $203 million in annual aid.

"We urge the members of the Senate to hold firmly onto their patriotic stand to categorically reject the draft bases treaty and leave no ground for any other entity to allow the retention of the U.S. bases," the rebels said.

The compromise was suggested by newspaper publisher Teodoro Locsin, Aquino's former speechwriter and adviser. Sen. Rene Saguisag, a former Aquino spokesman and bases spokesman, said he discussed the plan with the president during a luncheon Thursday and she agreed to consider it.

"She's resigned. Everybody I know is resigned to the defeat of the (bases) treaty," Saguisag said. "The president has accepted that no one is moving among the 12 senators."

Although Helmer's flash-in-the pan cooking methods and unorthodox style of instruction might not follow the rules of classical cuisine, they do make instant egg experts out of everyone he teaches. Art exhibition to debutSpecial to The Observer

"Georges Rouault: The Graphic Works" will open Sunday at the Snite Museum of Art. The 40 works will be on exhibit in the print, drawing and photography gallery through Dec. 29. The French artist Rouault (1872 - 1958) was essentially solitary in his art and often associated with the Fauve (wild Beast) movement, according to Rev. James F. Flanagan, C.S.C., associate professor of art, art history and design and curator of the Mestrovic collection at the Snite.

The exhibition features lithographs, wood engravings and aquatints that include a selection from "Miserere," "Les Reincarnations de Pere Ubu," "Les Fleurs du Mal" and "Le Cirque de l'Etiole Filante."

The artist's prints express his deep spirituality, says Flanagan, and "Miserere" is considered to be one of the most important statements ever made about man's inhumanity to man. Rouault's works have earned him a position as one of the leading masters of the graphic arts in the early 20th century, Flanagan adds.

In conjunction with the exhibition, a noontalk, entitled "Georges Rouault: Outlined in Black," will be presented by John Shields, Snite Museum education coordinator, on Tuesday, Oct. 29, from 12:10-12:55 p.m. in the paint, drawing and photography gallery. The talk is free and open to the public.

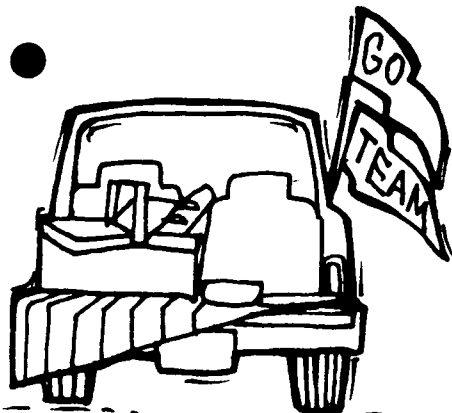

The Snite Museum is open Tuesday to Friday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Sunday 1 to 4 p.m. and Thursday 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. when classes are in session. It is closed Monday. Admission is free.

Soviet government promises radical economic reforms

MOSCOW (AP) — The restructured government of Mikhail Gorbachev reasserted its authority at home and abroad Thursday by promising radical reforms in a new economic union and demanding reciprocal U.S. withdrawal from Cuba.

Foreign Minister Boris Pankin said Soviet officials want the United States to match a planned Soviet troop withdrawal from Cuba by removing U.S. servicemen from Guantanamo Bay and halting maneuvers in the region.

The Kremlin moved to consolidate its authority as Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia solidified their independence from the Soviet Union by winning Security Council endorsement of their admission to the United Nations.

The General Assembly is expected to admit the three Baltic states next week.

But other republics were still struggling Thursday, three weeks after a hard-line coup collapsed and spawned an independence rush that left Soviet President Gorbachev with limited power over the economy and foreign policy.

Foes of Georgian President Zviad Gamsakhurdia intensified their criticism, accusing him of suppressing opposition in the southern republic and pledging not to let up until his government crumbles.

Political instability in various republics complicated efforts by economists and politicians to forge a workable economic confederation in place of the deteriorating union.

Ivan Silayev, chairman of the new Soviet economic commission, told reporters a draft plan for creating a market system should be ready before October. He said it will detail plans for economic cooperation between the West and the republics that stay in the loose economic union.

He also said his commission

Special to The Observer

South Bend photographer Steve Moriarty's newest exhibit on El Salvador will open Sept. 29 at the Snite Museum of Art and continue through Nov. 24. The museum will also host a reception for the artist on Sunday, Sept. 29 from 2 to 4 p.m. in the atrium.

The 40 recent black and white photographs expose the faces and the stories of a cross-section of Salvadoran society. They include photos of refugees, guerillas, union organizers, presidents and priests. Some of the subjects are dead, and others have disappeared since the photos were taken.

El Salvador has endured 14 years of civil war, which has killed 70,000 and displaced one million people.

Moriarty, a freelance photographer and adjunct assistant professor at Notre Dame, graduated from the University in 1969 and received a master's degree in fine arts in 1980. He has visited El Salvador seven times since 1985.

Moriarty's photographs and their captions are designed to convey the violence and tragedy of El Salvador's civil war. The exhibit's themes include:

- "People of Power"- portraits and descriptions of Salvadoran military, government and rebel leaders.

- "The Displaced People and Their Culture"- depictions of life and struggle of individuals among the one million "desplazados," the people fleeing violence within the country's borders.

- "Victims of Violence"- the physically wounded, insane and grief-stricken.

- "The Church of the Poor"- the embattled believers who revere the martyred Archbishop Oscar Romero and hope for a better future.

- "Hope for the Future"- a study of the village of Santa Cruz, a community of war refugees struggling to survive and rebuild.

Hamadi and Abbas Hamadi, jailed in Germany since 1987.

Mohammed Ali Hamadi is serving a life sentence for the hijacking of the TWA jet to Lebanon in 1985, in which a U.S. Navy diver was killed. Abbas Hamadi was sentenced in 1988 to 13 years in prison for kidnapping.

The Hamadis have previously emerged as a stumbling block since they were convicted of crimes, unlike most of the Shiite prisoners held by Israel.

Germany has maintained that the Hamadi brothers were legally tried and sentenced for terrorist activities and their release cannot be brokered. Perez de Cuellar has made similar statements.

Study predicts one-third of public school students will be minorities by 1995

NEW YORK (AP) — A first-ever forecast of the ethnic makeup of public schools predicts that a third of U.S. students will be from minorities by 1995, and such students will make up a majority of high school graduates in four states.

The study, released Thursday by The College Board and the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education, also stressed that some of the fastest growing groups, Hispanics especially, are most likely to drop out.

The report, "The Road to College: Educational Progress by Race and Ethnicity," predicted the non-white and Hispanic student population will increase from 10.4 million in 1985-86 to a projected 13.7 million in 1994-95.

Such pupils will constitute 34 percent of public elementary and secondary school enrollment by 1994-95, up from 29 percent in 1985-86, according to the study.

White enrollment, meanwhile, will rise by just 5 percent, from 25.8 million to 27 million, and their share of the student population will drop from 71 percent in 1985-86 to 66 percent in 1994-95.

Non-whites and Hispanics already make up a majority of high school graduates in Hawaii, New Mexico and the District of Columbia in 1989. By 1994, California and Mississippi will join that group, according to the study.

While the report contained few surprises, its sponsors said it underscored the urgency for more effective minority dropout prevention programs through college, and for more generous financial aid programs.

"Now, more than ever, equal educational opportunity for all students must be our nation's number one priority," said Donald Stewart, the College Board's president.

"For the first time, officials can pinpoint the patterns of of the increasingly multicultural student body and then make plans to better educate underserved ... racial and ethnic groups," said Robin Etter Zuniga, the study's author.

William Honig, head of public instruction in California, which had more minority graduates than any state in 1989, said states with rapidly growing minority student bodies need to keep standards high and be sensitive to all cultures. But he said educators should resist demands to "junk" traditional coursework in favor of mainly non-Western culture.

EDITORIAL

SMC policy hurts students

The two attacks at Saint Mary's this week emphasize the growing concern for student safety in the area. These incidents, added to recent reports of violence in off-campus neighborhoods, should be viewed by students on both campuses as serious examples of what can, and is, occurring in their community.

The attacks at Saint Mary's, however, illustrate an even greater concern for students: that of receiving complete and timely information from College officials.

When a Saint Mary's student was assaulted Monday evening around 8:15 p.m., it took an anonymous tip to The Observer to get even a brief notification of the incident from the College, two hours later.

Saint Mary's refusal to issue an immediate report on the incident left students speculating about the nature of the attack, while rumors of a "slasher" circulated through both campuses the following day.

When a second attack was reported Wednesday night at virtually the same time, campus media was again snubbed by officials at Saint Mary's.

This time, the tip came after midnight, and calls placed to security yielded only an invitation to contact the director of College Communications at her home for confirmation of the incident.

In both cases, Saint Mary's policy for releasing information regarding major security incidents was in error. In both cases, had it not been for the tips and persistence of campus media to get the valuable information to the student bodies, the incidents might have gone unreported, thus jeopardizing student safety even more. When such incidents occur at Notre Dame, Security alerts campus media immediately, day or night. The relationship is one of trust, with Security realizing the vital need for a timely report and the media realizing that it has the responsibility to inform the student bodies.

Such is not the case at Saint Mary's.

A confusing relationship exists between Saint Mary's security and the Office of College Communications. While security handles each incident, no information can be released through their department. All reports must come from College Communications, which like most offices, closes at 5 p.m., thereby eliminating the possibility of a timely press release.

If Saint Mary's has the interests and protection of its students in mind, a clearer method of releasing security information should be investigated.

The bottom line remains that students need to be informed of situations which threaten their safety and everyday lives. This is responsibility, responsibility of a College that claims to place student safety as its top priority.

With the events of this week, can Saint Mary's students feel confident that this is the case?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

South Bend police upset students

The following is an open letter to South Bend Mayor Joseph Kernan.

Dear Mayor Kernan:

When in the course of police work it becomes apparent that that a police force has become so embittered that it can no longer effectively conduct its duties in a humane and professional manner, then that police force should be forced to change or be run out of town.

History is full of such abuses. Perhaps history's most recent and powerful example would be the events in the USSR where the people decided no longer to be subjected to the terror of a police state.

Unfortunately, a police state now seems to exist in South Bend. The police force seems to be so embittered by what some perceive to be the assault and privilege of the Notre Dame students that the officers can no longer conduct themselves professionally, and the students are forced to live with the consequences of a mini-police state.

There are many reasons why this is intolerable: First, and most importantly, it represents a terrible abuse of power and authority.

Second, it flies in the face of history. Innocent citizens (represented by the students) will win out - they always do.

Third, many of these kids are no more privileged than their police oppressors, having to scrape together everything they and their parents have (or can borrow) to pursue their education.

And fourth, their "crimes" (if and when they are committed) are rather petty in nature - over-drinking, underage drinking, too noisy etc., compared to the real crimes in South Bend, of drugs, rape, assault, robbery and yes, even murder which get proportionately less attention than the students' minor offenses.

One would think they'd have more to do than arrest 20 and 21 year old citizens just to show the world how tough they are.

What we're really talking about here is "TURF." These (perhaps few) Neanderthal officers feel they must show these "overeducated big shot college kids" who's boss and if Due Process, and Human Rights get in the way, too bad.

Well Mr. Mayor, I'm afraid it doesn't quite work that way. We are a people of laws and when Due Process and human rights are ignored or abused, all of us are injured and all kinds of people will be asked to come to the aid of the college kids.

One might expect appeals to 60 Minutes, the ACLU, columnists from all over the country, the Civil Rights Commission, net work news teams, etc. One could go on but the point should be obvious that the students are not without their supporters and their supporters are not without their CLOUT.

The nastier the officers get, the more support the students will get. South Bend would be the focus of more attention than you can afford.

Weed out these bad apples while you can. If you don't know who they are, ask the students or read over the records of "dropped charges" in the past few years. Most are "public intoxication and disorderly conduct" charges; the common cry of the ignorant or untrained officer. Do it now while it is still your choice.

If this problem continues to be out of control events beyond your control will correct this problem and you may become part of the solution.

The complete guide to hotels and hot spots

By ELIZABETH COSTELLO

tudents travelling to the University of Michigan tonight to cheer Notre Dame to victory may be worried about which bars and night clubs are the hot spots.

Over night accommodations may also be necessary concerns.

First, though, you've got to get to the University.

So ... from Notre Dame take the Toll Road (I-90) to I-69 heading north. Take I-69 to I-94 towards Detroit/Ann Arbor.

Turn left taking the Saline Ann Arbor exit. This road curves onto Main St. Follow Main St. for a half mile (about 5 lights) and you will see the stadium on the corner of Main St. and Stadium Blvd.

Once you get there, don't worry, you don't need a friend or long lost acquaintance to impose upon to find a place to sleep — the list of hotels ranges from the Bell Tower Hotel (expensive) to the Knight's Inn (cheap).

If being close to the University in downtown Ann Arbor is an important factor in choosing your resting spot for the night, you might want to check out the following:

Embassy Hotel, located at 220 E. Huron St. Prices range from $30-$45, Call 313-662-7100 for reservations or information. Remember that hotels close to the school might be hard to book at the last minute.

Bell Tower Hotel, located at 300 S. Thayer St. A little more expensive with prices from $70-$100. Call 313-769-3010.

Regency Campus Inn, located at 615 E. Huron St. Prices range from $70-$100 as well. Facilities include a jacuzzi/sauna, outdoor pool and exercise equipment. Call 313-769-2200.

If your wallet won't allow the Bell Tower or the Regency, within ten minutes of campus, ranging from $30-$45, are:

Best Western Wolverine Inn, located at 3505 S. State St. Inn provides a jacuzzi/sauna. Call 313-665-3500.

Knight's Inn, located at 3764 S. State St. Outdoor pool included in price. Call 313-665-9900.

Lamp Post Inn, located at 2424 Stadium Blvd. Also provides an outdoor pool. Call 313-971-8000.

Red Arrow Motel, located at 5577 Plymouth Rd. Call 313-682-9944.

Red Roof Inn, located at 3621 Plymouth Rd. Call 313-998-5600.

With a little more cash and a lot less beer, one can spend the night just ten minutes from campus for $45-$70 at:

Comfort Inn, located at 2455 Carpenter Rd. Jacuzzi/sauna and indoor pool included in price. Call 313-973-6100.

Days Inn, located at 3285 Boardwalk. Also provides jacuzzi/sauna and indoor pool. Call 313-995-5200.

Hampton Inn North, located at 2300 Green Rd. Inn offers jacuzzi/sauna, indoor pool and exercise equipment. Call 313-996-4444.

Hampton Inn South, located at 925 Victors Way. Jacuzzi/sauna, indoor pool and exercise equipment also included. Call 313-665-5000.

Holiday Inn East, located at 3750 Washtenaw Ave. Provides an outdoor pool. Call 313-971-2000;

Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge, located at 2380 Carpenter Rd. Offers a jacuzzi/sauna and indoor pool. Call 313-971-0700.

For those of you who do have an old friend's place or Ryder truck to crash in and are only worried about the list of party spots, it's long as well.

The most popular Michigan student party spots include:

Rick's, Good Time Charlie's and O'Sullivan's. Rick's and Good Time Charlie's are on Church Street while O'Sullivan's is on South University.

Additional places to get a few beers and listen to various types of music are: The Apartment Lounge, 220 Fuller Road and the Nectarine Ballroom, 510 East Liberty. The Bird of Paradise, 207 South Ashley and The Blind Pig, 208 South First Street feature live jazz. Anyone who isn't 21 and doesn't have a great fake ID can get into the Nectarine if you're 18 or The Blind Pig if you're 19.

A live band can be found at City Limits, 2900 Jackson Road and the Habitat, 3050 Jackson Road. If your into Top 40, a DJ will be working at R B McBayens, 611 Church Street. To fall back into the 50s and 60s, Reunions, 3200 Boardwalk is the place to go.

And for those who are country at heart Aubree's Saloon, 39 East Cross Street in Ypsilanti is the place to do the two-step.

Great food can be found at Pizzeria Uno, a favorite student hangout, right down the street from O'Sullivan's on South University. Along with a warm atmosphere, patrons will also enjoy original deep-dish Chicago-style pizza, plus soups, salads, sandwiches and burgers.

The spirit of Notre Dame will come alive this weekend as the Fighting Irish once again face the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. The Notre Dame Club of Ann Arbor is well prepared to help ND students enjoy themselves before and after the game with events planned from Friday through Sunday.

Organizers of this weekend's events are ready to show students a good time in Ann Arbor with both a pep rally and a tailgate. According to club president Anne Branford Livert ('79), the club members have been prepping for this event for close to a year.

The pep rally will be held from 8 p.m. to 12 a.m. Friday evening at the Ramada Inn on Boardwalk St. It is free to ND students with ID. There will be food, a cash bar, a disk jockey, cheerleaders and a representative from the athletic department to get the weekend off to a lively start.

Saturday's tailgate, from noon to 3 p.m., is sponsored by all of the Notre Dame Clubs in Michigan. Located across from Michigan Stadium in the Pioneer High School lot, the festivities will be easy to spot by a large tent and a Notre Dame balloon. Also free to ND students, there will be plenty of food as well as much local coverage from radio stations, including a major Detroit station.

A mass will be held at 10 a.m. Sunday morning at the Ramada Inn, followed by a continental breakfast ($5). According to board member Kay O'Neil, the first priest contacted to preside over the mass, a true ND fan who has since fallen ill, had promised (threatened?) a 45 minute homily in the case of a Michigan win and no homily at all for an Irish victory.

"A lot of people have been working hard ... we really are trying to appeal to the students," says Livert.

Not quite 10 years old, the Notre Dame Club of Ann Arbor is one of the smaller, newer alumni chapters with 160 members. They do the usual student send-offs as well as plenty of educational and community services. This event is one they hope will be a big success with ND students.

Organizers expect 300-400 fans at the tailgate and encourage all ND students to come to Ann Arbor for the weekend's events.

There are rumors, says Livert, that Michigan fans are planning to crash the tailgate. There has also been a lot of local coverage of the upcoming game and Michigan's hopes for a win. Seniors from the Michigan team are evidently a little bitter about their losses to the Irish in the past three years and are determined to win in their last year.

Livert also makes a reminder to students that there is a time difference between South Bend and Ann Arbor and encourages students' presence at the tailgate around 1 p.m. Much of the radio coverage will take place then, and there have been requests on part of the station for the students to sing the ND fight song on-the-air.

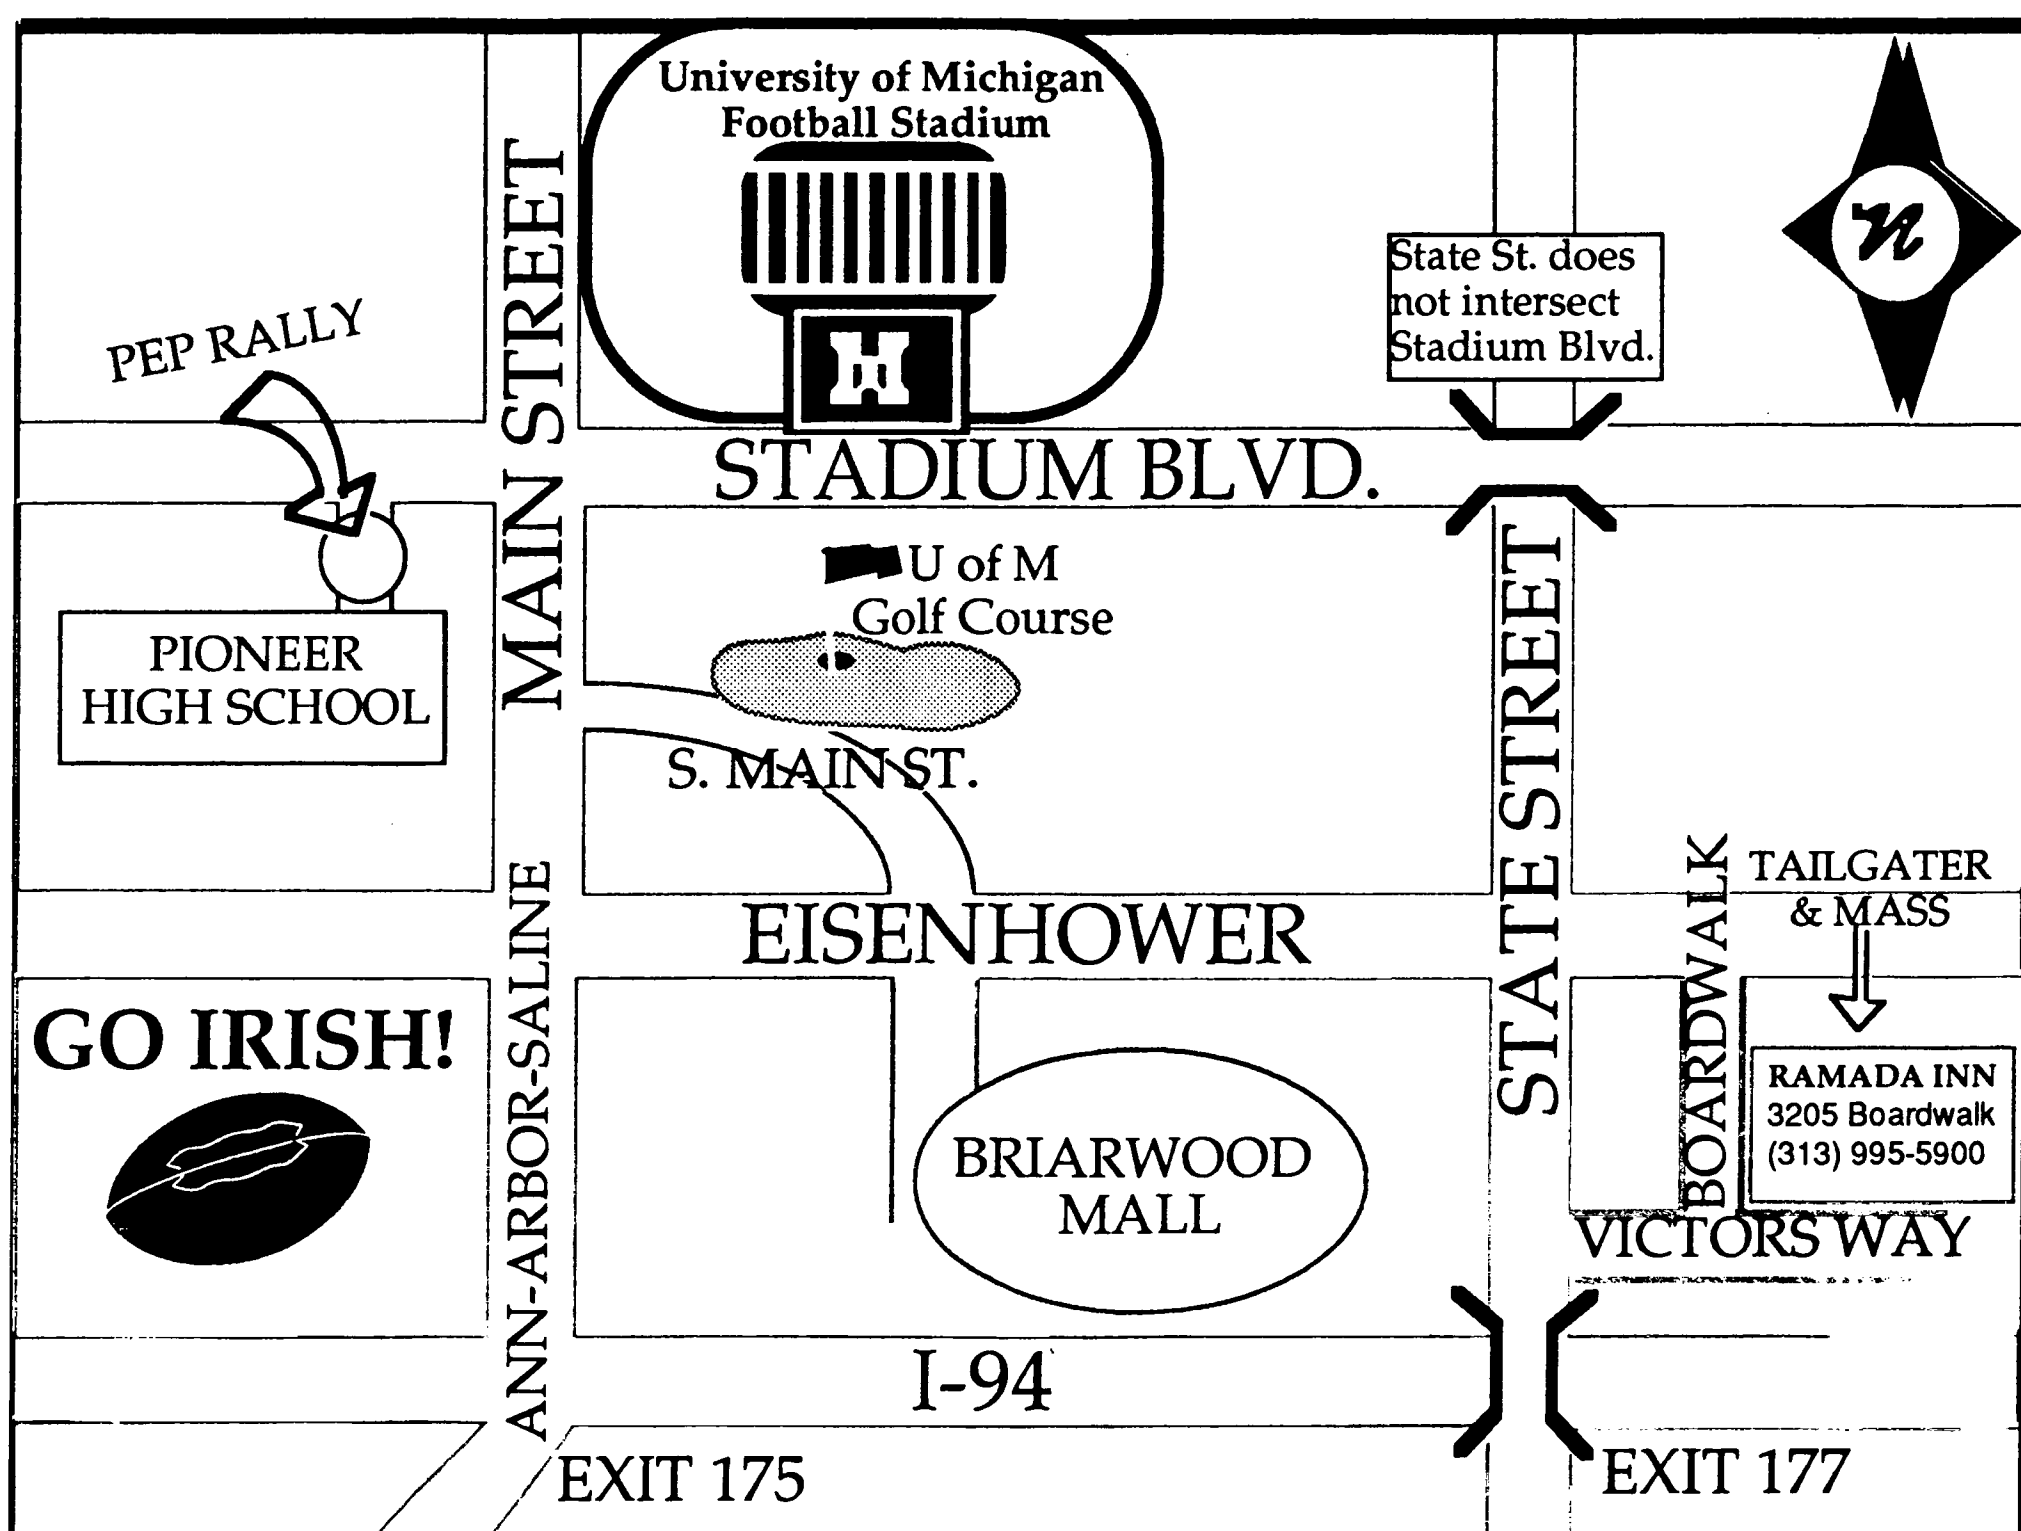

Club members will also be filming the weekend's events, later to be edited into a program for a local public access cable station. "Go Irish-Beat Blue" buttons sponsored by the club will be on sale.

Students who do not have tickets for the game are encouraged to make the trip to Ann Arbor anyway. If there are no tickets to be found, plenty of local restaurants and bars will be showing the game.

The trip is worthwhile just to experience the lively downtown area and the fun of State Street. "We know students will be starving and poor," says Livert. The club is prepared to feed all and show ND students a good time.

Directions to the Ramada Inn:

From I-94, exit State Street, go right (toward the city), take a right onto Eisenhower Blvd., and a right onto Boardwalk St.- it's on the left- (this is a commercial area).

An S.O.S. from a field angel to the Pope

To His Holiness, Pope John Paul II,
Papal Apartments in Vatican City,

Reverend and dear Holy Father in Rome:

Yesterday, a flyer marked URGENT showed up in the mail. Titled "Nine Day For Changing World History," it began: "On August 25, 1991, a message was delivered from Heaven to every individual on earth."

"The message, given by the Virgin Mary, Mother of Jesus, was conveyed to a young woman in Medjugorje, Yugoslavia ... Mary, who identifies herself as 'Queen of Peace,' asks all the world for nine days of renunciation to bring to fulfillment secrets which had begun in Fatima, Portugal, when She appeared to three children in 1917 ..."

The flyer reproduces the Aug. 25 message of Our Lady, allegedly appearing in Yugoslavia. "Dear Children ... I invite you to renunciation for nine days so that with your help everything I wanted to realize through the secrets I began in Fatima may be fulfilled ..." The letter that came with the flyer was addressed simply to "Field Angels, and it came from a group calling itself 'Caritas of Birmingham.'"

The letter notes that in the August message, "For the first time, Our Lady mentions 'Fatima' and the secrets given there."

Caritas has been "working around the clock" to put out "packets" containing "this extremely important message. We are asking you to put hundreds or even thousands of copies in your churches, businesses, and community bulletin boards."

Father Robert Griffin

Letters to a Lonely God

Holy Father, may I respectfully suggest that the time has come for you to release the famous "Fatima letter?" Most Catholics believe that the letter contains the "third part" of the Fatima secrets, which Pope John XXIII refused to disclose in 1960, as he was expected to do, because he believed it would distract the Church too much.

If the letter were released soon, perhaps it could shed some light on the credibility of the Medjugorje phenomenon. Sincerely yours, Bob F. Griffin, field angel.

"Once more unto the breach, dear friends," and I wish it were otherwise. It seems that "Nine Days in September," beginning today, are going to be even more suspense-filled than the "Eleven Days in October" were in 1962, when the Cuban missile crisis took place.

I'm sorry to be considered the irresponsible priest who is grieving the mother of Jesus. The last time it happened I was accused in The Observer of being dishonest in the pieces I wrote in resistance to the Medjugorje hype.

I humbly admit that I'm a lightweight and a curmudgeon; but when a priest I have respected and loved all my ordained life tells me I'm dishonest, I start examining my conscience.

Perhaps both us are making laughing stocks of ourselves as we fall out with each other, trying to get the attention of students.

"Odium theologicum" — or the strong dislike which Christians sometimes have for another person's religious opinions — has never been attractive. It's especially inappropriate when a burnt-out English teacher differs with the expertise of a nationally-known theological scholar.

Jesus said that if the children hadn't greeted him with hosannas on that first Palm Sunday, the rocks would have cried out. A man should be allowed to be as responsive to his conscience as the good Lord fantasized that a rock could be.

I don't think I'm dishonest when I try to defend Our Lady against her followers, willing to believe she reveals things that come short of the glory of God.

In this long century of anxiety, the Catholic woods have been filled with visionaries warning the Church against the apocalypse to come as a punishment for sin: of murderous firestorms lasting for three days of darkness; of the great rivers in Europe turned red with the shed blood of martyrs, as the Communists raise banners displaying the hammer and sickle over St. Peter's in Rome; and of nuclear annihilation that will devastate the turning earth.

These horrors will come as chastisements from God satisfying His need for justice. If He is cruel, we are told, it's because He loves us.

Genocides and holocausts are forms His mercy may take when, as our Heavenly Father, He resorts to "tough love" to bring us to our knees so that we will not lose our souls.

In a world where two-thirds of the children go to bed hungry every night, God is already disliked — unfairly, I hope — for being careless. Once we start seeing Him through the visionaries' eyes as the chairman of the board in charge of chastisements, some of them not yet off the drawing board, how can we resist the idea that a new dimension has been added to the mystery of suffering?

Cardinal Suenens wrote: "Christ came not take away our suffering, but to fill it with His presence." If we believe this, doesn't the picture that the visionaries leave us with, of the Blessed Mother trying to shield us from the chastisements of God, seem primitive? As a Catholic, one learns to shrug off the prophets of gloom.

Medjugorje has always seemed like another set of instructions on how to sidestep an apocalypse, or avoid a showdown with the Almighty. My suspicions are that those six young people have had their lines fed to them by the Franciscans in charge of the parish church they attend, for the monthly messages, attributed to Our Lady, have the banality of parish preaching. The Bishop of the diocese, I notice, also has misgivings about the influence of the Franciscans on the visionaries.

The Aug. 25 message links Medjugorje to Fatima. Fatima, you may think, is above reproach, because the Pope goes there to say Mass. Fatima, so far as I can see, will have a cloud hanging over it, until the last of the Fatima secrets is made known.

Rumors have it that the catastrophe described in Sister Lucy's letter involves the sudden melting of the polar icecap, causing the water level to rise in the world's oceans, leaving continents flooded, and millions drowned.

Hasn't the time come for the Pope to publish the Fatima letter, to give Catholics, anxious to do the right thing, an idea of the secrets which "nine days of renunciation will bring to fulfillment?"

Medjugorje is becoming Catholicism's longest running soap opera. Believing in mysteries may be part and parcel of a revealed religion. Believing in secrets in which warnings are handed down, and trusting that they have anything to do the religion of Christ, strikes me as mindless.

But if the Pope could get the last of the Fatima secrets out on the table, maybe we would know what we're dealing with when Our Lady plays "I've got a secret," at Medjugorje.

Maybe all of us should send letters and telegrams to Vatican City, Peace to the fellowship whose names are written in the Lamb's book of Life. I never said I didn't love you.

Lady Harriers to meet top-10 Hoyas

Observer Staff Report

The Notre Dame women's cross country team travels to Washington D.C. this weekend for a dual meet against Georgetown University.

This is the season opener for a team with plenty of question marks. Of the 22 runners on the squad, 13 are freshmen, including Sarah Riley—the California state champion as a junior—Eve Flood and Stefanie Jensen.

"We should be a very improved team this year, but we will be dealing with a lot of young people," Irish coach Tim Connelly said. "Hopefully, the older runners will help the younger ones as they adjust."

Among the top returnees are seniors Diana Bradley, team captain Amy Blaising and junior Lisa Gorski—the fourth-place finisher at last year's Midwestern Collegiate Conference Championships.

SMC Belles lose opener; hope to improve on road

By KILEY COBLE
Sports Writer

The Saint Mary's volleyball team will have left early this morning to compete in the University of Wisconsin's Whitewater Tournament. The Belles having just defeated North Park College on Wednesday are now 1-5.

"I'm glad we're going on with a win," coach Julie Schroeder-Biek said. "Everyone played so we saw improvement with the freshmen as well."

The team has a pretty young team this season with no seniors and four freshmen. However, Schroeder noted the team's statistics improved on their hitting percentage and their serving percentage.

"Everyone was smart on their serves yesterday," Schroeder said.

The Belles will be compete against Eau Claire College at 4 pm and at 6 pm against Wisconsin Lutheran. Depending on how the team does on Friday will determine who and when they play on Saturday.

Not only does Cragin enjoy playing with the team, Brown praises her efforts as part of the team.

"She's a great team player," Brown said. "She realizes her strengths and weaknesses, and understands why people play ahead of her in the back row."

Back row defense is the one weakness in her game that Cragin continues to work on. Katie Cavanaugh substitutes for her in the back row.

"I need to improve on playing the back row, especially on my passing and digging," Cragin said. "I'm working on it. It's getting there."

The only options for a future in volleyball lie in Europe and on the beach, neither of which appeals to Cragin. Her plans are to pursue a career in business management. However, she has her sights set on this season.

"As a team, our goals are to get an NCAA bid and do well there," she said. "I want to do all I can for the team."

12 reasons why you'll love Macintosh

1. It's easy to use.

Bring home an Apple® Macintosh® computer today, and use it to complete assignments by tonight—even if you've never used a computer before.

2. You don't have to speak computerese.

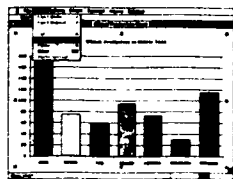

Instead of cryptic MS-DOS commands such as COPY C:\WORDPROC\DRIFT.DOC A:\WORK, Macintosh uses familiar words, such as Copy and Print, and pictures, such as file folders for storing your documents and a trash can for files you want to throw away.

3. You don't have to be a computer science major to set one up.

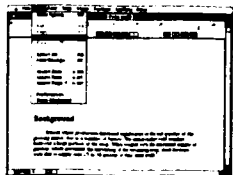

Just plug everything together, flip the "on" switch, and you're ready to roll.

4. It's a breeze to copy information and paste it into another document.

To copy this chart, simply use the mouse to choose the Copy command.

To place the chart in another document, just choose the Paste command.

5. All Macintosh programs work in the same way.

Learn to use one Macintosh program, and you've learned the basics of using them all. For example, the commands you use, such as Open, Close, Copy, Paste, Save, Cut, Print, and Undo, are found in the same place—every time.

6. It can grow with you.

This week you're majoring in philosophy, next week it's nuclear physics. After all, no one knows exactly what the future will bring. That's why millions of students have found that investing in a Macintosh is a smart move. Because Macintosh can immediately help you do whatever you do—better. And if, come tomorrow, you find that you want to do something different, no problem. It's easy to upgrade your Macintosh to help you rise to the challenge.

7. It's great for college and beyond.

Doing your work faster, better, and more creatively is also a plus in the working world—and that's precisely why Macintosh computers are used in 74 percent of Fortune 1000 companies.*

74%

8. It's got connections.

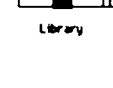

To connect a printer, a modem, an external hard disk, or just about any other peripheral to a Macintosh, simply plug it in. That's all there is to it.

10. It's so easy to network.

Just connect the LocalTalk® cable from one Macintosh to another Macintosh. It takes just a few minutes, and you don't have to buy any additional hardware or software.

11. You can connect to your school's mainframe or minicomputer.

With Macintosh, you can send in assignments, gain access to software you need for a class, and receive lecture notes, class schedules, and other information—right from your own room.

12. It's more affordable than ever.

Macintosh prices have never been lower—especially with the student pricing available from your authorized Apple campus reseller. You may even qualify for financing, which makes Macintosh even more affordable.

These reasons all add up to the power of Macintosh. The power to be your best.*

SESQUICENTENNIAL OPENING EVENTS

PREPARING FOR THE NEXT 150 YEARS

The University this week begins a 14-month observance of its Sesquicentennial, celebrating its evolution over 150 years from a log chapel parochial school to a national Catholic research university with growing international dimensions. The observance will feature more than fifty special events, ranging from international academic symposia to student activities and from liturgical celebrations to dedications of new campus facilities.

The major themes of the observance, reflecting both Notre Dame's academic tradition and its religious heritage, are inquiry, belief, and community. Father Malloy has posed five topics to be explored during the Sesquicentennial: Notre Dame and the understanding of its past; Notre Dame and Catholic education in the United States; Notre Dame and the life of the mind; Notre Dame and the creative imagination; and Notre Dame and the social and ethical issues of an interdependent and technological world.

It is most appropriate, then, that the event that begins the Sesquicentennial Year is one that has much to do with each of these topics and the themes from which they spring. This event is the dedication on September 13-14 of the Theodore M. Hesburgh Center for International Studies, which houses the Joan B. Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies and the Helen Kellogg Institute for International Studies.

Women's golf hopes to roll on Men's XC try to extend streak

Observer Staff Report

Entering its fourth varsity season, there were many question marks facing the women's golf team. With only two returning letter winners, it wasn't clear if the team would be able to compete with some of the best teams in the midwest. Last weekend at Michigan's Lady Wolverine Invitational, however, the Irish proved that they are capable of competing with the best, finishing fourth in the nine-team event with a 54-hole total of 1031.

Sophomore Chrissy Klein of Kokomo, Indiana sparked the Irish with a 251 total, including a first round 78, good enough to tie for eighth. Senior captain Allison Wojnas was close behind, finishing the 54-hole event tied for 10th at 254. Sophomores Alicia Murray carded a three round total of 265 to tie for 20th and classmate Denise Paulin finished 28th with a 269 total.

This weekend, the Lady Irish will rely heavily on Klein and Wojnas once again as they travel to Normal, Illinois for the Illinois State University Invitational. They will play 36 holes on Saturday followed by 18 more on Sunday against some of the midwest's best teams. Purdue and Bowling Green State, two teams who defeated the Irish last weekend, will be represented along with Illinois, Indianapolis, Missouri and Michigan State among many others. The 19-team event will give the Lady Irish a true indication of how they stack up against some great competition.

Although inexperienced, the 1991 women's golf team isn't lacking talent. Wojnas is the reigning New Jersey State Women's Amateur Golf Committee champion and Murray finished second in the South Dakota Women's Stroke Play Championship this summer. That talent will have to come out this weekend if the team hopes to be successful at Illinois State.

The Michigan State Invitational is next on the agenda for the Lady Irish and considering last season's performance in East Lansing, good things are on the horizon. In the first two rounds, the team fired back-to-back school records of 322 and 316 and coach Tom Hanlon is hoping for a repeat performance this season.

Trips to the University of Illinois and Northern Illinois University will round out the team's fall slate.

A coup is afoot in the nation's capitol. On Saturday, Georgetown will try to break the Notre Dame men's cross country win streak in their annual dual meet. The Irish have won four straight against the Hoyas.

The meet will be the first test for a team which finished third at the NCAA championships, but lost its top two runners to graduation. Nonetheless, Notre Dame coach Joe Plane is looking forward to the competition.

"The meet is a wonderful early season test," said Plane. "Traditionally, Georgetown has had a very good team."

For the first time, Notre Dame goes into the meet with a national ranking (5th) and the ranking will be an added incentive for the Hoyas.

"When no one expects you to do well, you can sneak up on them," said senior captain Pat Kearns. "There's a pressure to being noticed."

Representing the Irish in the meet will be seniors Pat Kearns, Kevin Keegan, Mike Drake, juniors John Coyle, Nick Radkewich, J. T. Burke, sophomores Mike McWilliams, Hugh Mundy, Jeff Matsumoto, and freshmen J. R. Meloro, Nate Ruder, and John Cowan.

Plane expects Coyle, Kearns, McWilliams, and Radkewich to be competitive with the top runners of Georgetown, but a victory will be a team effort.

"Our goal is to have all twelve of our runners in before their fourth man finishes," said Plane.

For Kearns, the Irish will be successful if they "run as a team and not individuals."

The meet will be a proving ground for the yet untested freshmen Meloro, Ruder, and Cowan.

"It's a trial by fire," said All-American Coyle. "They either sink or swim."

All three freshmen were very successful at the high school level, but come to the meet with some apprehension and some excitement.

"I'm a bit nervous, but I'm basically looking forward to the experience," said Meloro.

"I'm really excited going into the meet," said Cowan. "I'm most excited just to be running with the team."

Plane is eager to see the freshmen compete.

Traditionally, a freshman has come in and made a mark for the Irish in his first year. Last year, McWilliams was that freshman. Who will stand out this year remains to be seen.

Georgetown's lineup features several very experienced runners in Steve Holman, Dan Ireland, and Mike Manley.

Men's soccer to take on Billikens

Observer Staff Report

After a disappointing season opening loss to Midwestern Collegiate Conference rival Loyola, the Irish men's soccer team must put their best performance on the line tonight as they visit 12th-ranked Saint Louis.

Despite the loss to the Ramblers, the Irish proved they will be a force to contend with this season. One of the many bright spots against Loyola was the team's potent offensive attack. Although they couldn't put the ball in the net, they proved their offensive prowess, outshooting the Ramblers 15 to 5. Midfielders Kenyon Meyer and Jason Fox along with forward Kevin Pendergast led the way, firing three shots each.

Second-year coach Mike Berticelli was also pleased with the play of his freshmen. Berticelli's first recruiting class overcame their first-game jitters and performed with a great deal of maturity. Rookie goalkeeper Bert Bader set the pace, stopping four Rambler shots in his first collegiate match.

An even better performance will be needed tonight, however, if the team hopes to defeat the highly touted Billikens. In nine seasons at the helm, coach Joe Clarke has established Saint Louis as a soccer powerhouse, earning seven N.C.A.A. tournament bids. Seven starters return from an impressive 18-5-2 campaign in 1990, including first-team all-M.C.C. performers Brian McBride and Steve Kuntz. The Billikens left the M.C.C. this season, however, to join the Great Midwest Conference.

Traditionally, the Irish haven't had much luck against Saint Louis. Overall, they are 2-6-0 against the Billikens, including a pair of losses in 1990.

After tonight's tough road match, the Irish return home for four straight, beginning Wednesday night against Central Michigan. The home stand features matches against seventh-ranked Evansville on September 22 at Moose Krause Stadium and 14th-ranked Indiana on September 26, which has been moved to South Bend's School Field to accommodate a larger crowd.

Tonight's test at Saint Louis will give the talent-laden but inexperienced team their first test against national-calibre competition, and if they continue the domination they showed against Loyola, they should be very successful.

Irish women to face tough competition in Cincinnati

By MIKE SCRUDATO
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women's soccer team will try to rebound from Tuesday's subpar performance at Dayton when they hit the road again this weekend for two games in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Tomorrow, the Irish face the Cincinnati Bearcats, ranked 22nd nationally and sixth in the Central Region, where the Irish are ranked seventh. On Sunday, Notre Dame will be opposed by the Vanderbilt Lady Commodores.

The Irish, who came out flat for the Dayton game, will look to turn up their intensity level this weekend, when two impressive wins could catapult them into the top 25 nationally. "I think the importance of these games will help to motivate our players," a confident Irish coach Chris Petrucelli said, "I've seen Cincinnati play, and I know Vanderbilt well. I believe that we have the ability to win both games."

Susie Zilvitis

The Central Region matchup with the Bearcats is extremely important for the Irish because of the teams proximity in the rankings. A win tomorrow will be a big step toward one of the team's goals — establishing themselves as a power in their region.

The Bearcats are entering this season minus five starters from last year's squad. However, there is still plenty of talent left. Last spring they finished with a 6-1-2 record, including a win over Notre Dame. On offense they are led by junior Kati Cassidy, who finished 1990 with seven goals and two assists. Kimberly Cowen, a junior college transfer, is taking over at goalkeeper this season for Cincinnati.

The Bearcats enter tomorrow's game with a 1-1 record. They opened the season with a 2-1 overtime win over Wisconsin-Green Bay. On Wednesday, they fell 1-0 to Southern Illinois-Edwardsville despite having two more shots on goal.

Vanderbilt is returning 10 starters from last season's 15-2 team. The potent Lady Commodore offense is powered by high-scoring forward, junior Jeannie Barrow. In 1990, she led the team with 12 goals and 11 assists. In goal Vandy will rely on sophomore Lauren Korff, who posted a 0.88 goals against average as a freshman.

The Lady Commodores have had two impressive outings this year. They shutout Arkansas-Little Rock, 2-0, in their season opener, outshooting them 32-7. To follow that up, Vanderbilt crushed Huntington 5-1, while taking 26 shots and limiting them to nine.

One problem the Irish might be faced with this weekend is fatigue. With two games in 24 hours, Petrucelli will be counting heavily on his bench.

"Over the course of the week-end we are going to have to use a lot of different people," Petrucelli added, "When we use them depends on Saturday. If we can get a early lead, we can play some other people. If not, we are going to have to use them Sunday."

For the Irish, the key to having a good weekend is going to be their offense, which has the ability to score. To do so, they must demonstrate the teamwork and intensity they showed in last Saturday's 2-0 win over Mercyhurst and successfully get the ball into tri-captain Susie Zilvitis, the team's all-time leading scorer, and sophomore Alison Lester, last year's leading scorer, Notre Dame should score some goals.

On the other side of the field the Irish have been solid all year. Thus far, the Notre Dame defense has not allowed a goal and they have shown the ability to counterattack effectively. Junior goalie Michelle Lodyga has played well, making 14 saves in the team's first two games.

Notre Dame will return home to take on Michigan State.

Sailing club to host Regatta.

By JONATHAN JENSEN
Sports Writer

Perhaps the only exposure you've had to sailing is watching Dennis Connor's great victories in the America's Cup.

The Notre Dame/Saint Mary's Sailing Club has its own version of the America's Cup—the 1992 Collegiate Nationals next June. The ND/SMC Sailing Club takes its first step towards the Nationals this weekend in the annual Irish Intersectional Regatta at Eagle Lake, located just twenty minutes northeast in Michigan. The Regatta attracts perennial Midwest powers like Michigan State, Wisconsin, and Michigan, as well as respected East Coast schools such as Georgetown.

The Irish Intersectional is one of the two best fall regattas, according to Moira Sullivan, Commodore of the Sailing Club. Sullivan singled out sophomores Michael Kane and Greg Millar as two of the Club's best skippers and also commented on the team's prospects this fall.

"We've always been very competitive in the Midwest," said Sullivan. "I think we will be among the top three teams this fall, and we should make it to the Sloop Nationals again."

"Our goal this fall is to qualify for the Timme Angsten Regatta at Thanksgiving in Chicago," said Sullivan.

The Timme Angsten is the premiere regatta of the fall and a goal for many other teams as well. Not only will the ND/SMC Sailing Club compete in thirteen regattas across the Midwest this fall, but they will also give sailing lessons to any beginners who are willing to learn. The Club offers an opportunity for travel to other Midwestern Universities and a chance to sail for one of the Midwest's most respected Sailing Clubs. With an interesting mix of new freshman and upper-class skippers, the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's Sailing Club figures to be one of the top teams in the Midwest and hopefully contend for a spot at the Collegiate Nationals.

Tight end Irv Smith carries his game to new levels

By ROLANDO DE AGUIAR
Sports Writer

Irish tight end Irv Smith made the most memorable play of the young football season last Saturday when he dragged several Indiana defenders 25 yards into the end zone to complete a 58-yard touchdown pass from Rick Mirer.

"I just felt myself straining as hard as I could to finish the job. I couldn't tell how many people were on my back," said Smith. "I could see Tony Smith in front of me, and I felt a tug on the ball, but he says he was trying to help me block. I just wanted to tuck the ball in because if I had lost the handle, it was gone."

Smith has worked hard this fall to improve his game. He visited former teammate Pat Eilers at the Minnesota Vikings' training camp this summer.

"From the bowl game until the beginning of Fall practice, I have been trying to decide how good I want to be in football. Over the summer, I went to Minneapolis to visit a friend, and I talked to Pat Eilers. He said, 'The people that stick around the NFL are the ones that work hard.' So I got to watch [Vikings tight end] Steve Jordan and his work ethic, and that helped me a lot."

Smith has adopted the NFL work ethic in his work at Notre Dame. Though he backs up preseason All-American Derek Brown, he practices like a starter.

"I want to practice like I am a starter," he said. "I just want the opportunity, and if I don't rise up then it's my fault. I just want the opportunity."

This diligent practice has apparently paid off for Smith. Brown, Smith, and sophomore Oscar McBride have as much trouble telling themselves apart on film as their coaches do.

"We rotate in practice because we all need to work and we all need to rest," Smith said. "When we watch film of practice, a coach will ask 'Who was that?' and Derek, Oscar and I will look at each other. Oscar and Derek are both taller than I am, but we can't tell the difference between those two. We all have different styles, but we have the same skills."

Smith sees himself as a bruiser, because his 6-4, 233-pound frame is compact compared to Brown's 6-7, 252.

"We have different styles because of the way we are built. I can get low and block men easily. Derek is 6-7, and I am 6-4. He has to work harder on staying low, while I can usually get under the pads. We all have pretty good hands as receivers, and all three of us get the job done when we're called on."

That job may be either catching the football or blocking for the punishing Irish running game. With a Holtz offense in place, the latter is usually the case.

"Being in the type of offense we're in, any time we catch the ball, it's a bonus," he said. "In the game, we have to come through, because passes are rare enough."

"I enjoy catching the football. Catching the ball gives you a great deal of satisfaction. Once you catch that first pass, you really block well, because you feel so pumped."

Brown definitely caught the ball well Saturday against the Hoosiers, but sees a lot of room for improvement in his game.

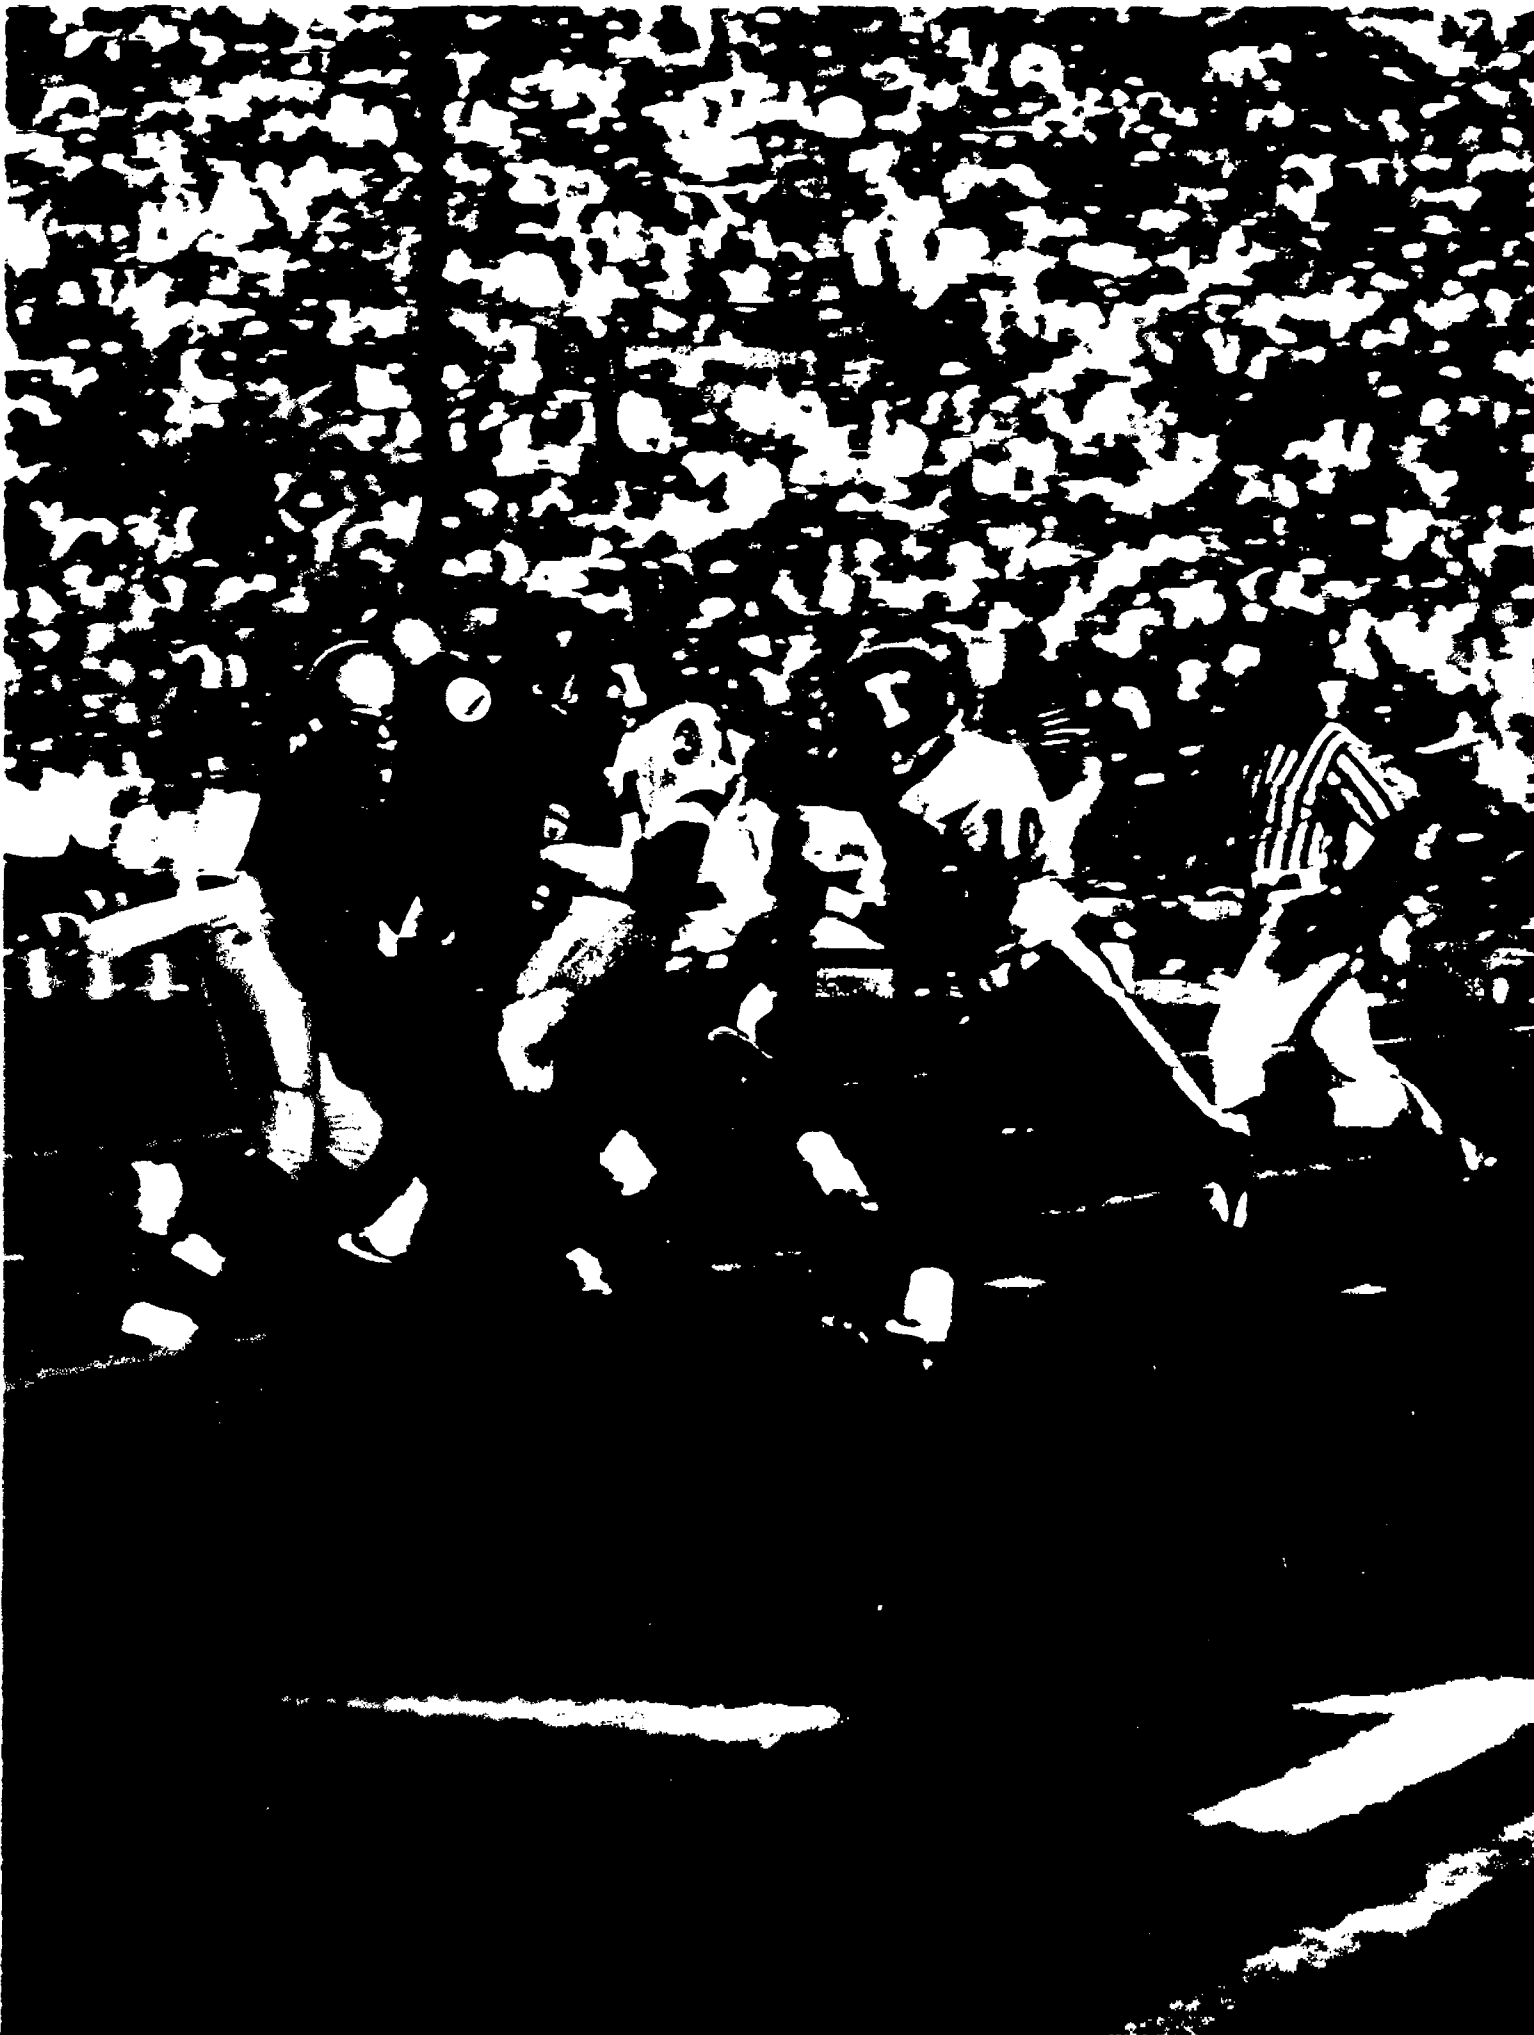

"I had a decent game against IU. I did some things well, and some things not so well. Each week I have to get better, and keep as injury-free as possible. We've learned all the things we need to learn. Now we just need to go out and do them."

Smith feels as though the offensive line is very well-prepared to face an inexperienced Wolverine defense on Saturday.

"We (the offensive line) have to be ready to come off the ball quickly," he said. "Our offensive line is really mature; we have six great people up front."

Smith also plays baseball for the Irish. Last season, he hit .178, with five home runs. He sees many similarities between the two sports.

"At Notre Dame, football and baseball are alike," he said. "Coach Murphy is a perfection-

Hard work has paid off for Irv Smith. This catch against Indiana is the highlight of the year for the Irish.

ist just like Coach Holtz. Discipline is big with both coaches, and both are very goal- and team-oriented."

Smith counts his best moment on the baseball diamond as one not of offensive force, but of defensive accuracy.

"Last season, I threw a runner out from right field, and that really gave me a high," he said. "It's because someone is trying to test your ability right there and you have to live up to it."

Brown ready for tournament

By RENE FERRAN
Associate Sports Editor

The Notre Dame volleyball team travels to Springfield, Mo., this weekend for the Southwest Missouri State Invitational. Besides the host Bears, Ohio State and Eastern Michigan round out the tournament field.

The Irish (2-1) open with the 14th-ranked Buckeyes tonight, and clearly this should be the feature match of the tournament. However, Notre Dame coach Debbie Brown doesn't want to overlook either Southwest Missouri State (1-5) or Eastern Michigan (1-2).

"This match will be a great opportunity for us to beat a ranked team," she said. "If I have a worry about this weekend, though, it's that we might take the other two teams lightly, and we can't afford to do that."

Ohio State (3-2) recently competed at the Volleyfest in Austin, Tx., in which it posted a four-game victory over 15th-ranked Pepperdine. Its victory over the Waves salvaged a weekend in which it lost two other tough matches to seventh-ranked Texas and ninth-ranked Brigham Young.

The Buckeyes also participated in the NCAA tournament last year, and return four starters from that squad. Senior Leisa Wissler (72 kills in 1991) is one of the top returnees, and is a player the Irish will have to stop in order to pull the upset.

"She is a good all-around player, especially in the front row," Brown said.

Last Friday, the Irish were swept away by another member of the top 25, Kentucky, at the Big Four Classic. Brown hopes the team has learned from the experience as it heads into tonight's matchup with Ohio State.

"I think it had an effect on us," she said. "They knew that we didn't do as well as we had hoped."

One change Brown has made in the lineup is to start junior Cynthia May over sophomore Molly Stark, who has struggled in the early going. In the Louisville match last Saturday, May came off the bench and gave Notre Dame a much needed lift in its four-game win over the Cardinals.

Cragin the killer for Irish volleyball

By DAN MCKENNA
Sports Writer

When it comes to providing instant offense on the volleyball floor, few can match the hits and kills of rightside hitter Marilyn Cragin.

"Marilyn's a very powerful hitter, and has the ability to hit very well," Coach Debbie Brown said. "It's important to our team for her to be involved, so we try to get her the ball as much as possible."

As a sophomore, Marilyn led last year's team with a 2.65 kill average and was second in kills with 270. This year she will be even more depended upon to carry the offense. Brown believes she has the ability to do this.

"She played a key role in our win against Louisville," Brown said. "She had thirteen kills and hit at an efficiency of thirty-nine percent. We got her the ball in critical situations when we needed to side out, and she made it look easy. I believe she has the capabilities to play every game on this level. I anticipate a strong season from her both offensively and with her blocking."

It was as a blocker where Cragin got her start in the game, during her freshman year at Miraleste High School in Rancho Palos Verdes, CA.

"I played all of high school as a middle blocker," Cragin said. "When I made it to Notre Dame I was moved to rightside hitter because we had a lot of strength up the middle. I enjoy this position more because I can get a better approach on the ball."

During the summer before her senior year of high school, Cragin competed on a select team which traveled to the Soviet Union, Finland, and Sweden. She learned about more than just volleyball on this trip.

"The real experience came more from visiting with the other players than from playing against them," Cragin said. "It was fun and interesting to meet these teams and see their cultures. It really made me appreciate the U.S."

Also an exceptional long jumper in high school, Cragin's decision between track and volleyball was not a difficult one.

"High jumping is such an individual sport," Marilyn said. "I like the spirit of a team, especially ours. If something goes wrong, like I hit into the net or hit out, I'll get encouragement from my teammates. We believe in each other, and when I'm down I can turn to them. They are very spirited, easily excited, and fun to play with."
