ND Overwhelming Favorite Today

Despite an inexperienced and badly injured defense, Notre Dame's Fighting Irish (2 - 1) is a heavy favorite to crush Northwestern (0 - 3) today in the 35th renewal of a series which dates back to 1889. Game time is 1:30 p.m. in ND Stadium.

The Golden Domers hold a

25-7-2 edge over the Wildcats including a 35 - 7 victory in 1966, the last time these two teams met.

With four defenders out for the season and two more sidelined for at least today's game, the Irish face another scoreboard free-for-all, though Coach Ara Parseghian says,

"That's just not my cup of tea.

"I don't relish trying to outscore opponents in order to win," Ara says. "But under the circumstances, there's not much we can do about it since any normal progress on defense has been handicapped by the abnormal amount of injuries we have sustained."

Ailing are linebacker Bob Neidert (broken collarbone and separated shoulder), end Tony Capers (severed Achilles tendon), halfback Jim Sheahan (torn knee ligaments), end-linebacker Ed Vuillemin (torn knee ligaments), halfback Ernie Jackson (bruised knee) and linebacker Jim Wright (torn knee ligaments).

But on offense, things are healthy and productive. Notre Dame's Eleven Prolific Men are second in the nation in total offense currently with 1,612 yards gained in three games. The Irish have tacked up 118 points in their trio of outings.

Running the show is quarterback Terry Hanratty who ranks fifth in two departments according to this week's NCAA individual statistics. T.H.H. has 796 yards in total offense and 738 yards passing. He has connected on 56 of 93 attempts for 60 per cent.

The ND attack has Northwestern coach Alex Agase plenty worried. "If we hope to have success against Notre Dame," he says, "we're going to have to make them travel a long, hard road toward the goal line."

The Wildcat mentor worked his troops hard on defense this week after scouts informed him the Irish used 41 different offensive formations in the first three games.

Injuries have hit the Wildcats also. Starting halfback Ken Luxton will miss his second straight game with a back injury. Defensive end Ed Paquette also is on the shelf for a second consecutive week. He has a sprained ankle. Co-captain John Cornell has been moved to Paquette's position from left outside linebacker. Sophomore Joel Hall will fill in at Cornell's old post. Paquette will dress for the game, but Agase says he will see little or no action.

Today's game is the first of seven consecutive years when these teams will meet. Beginning next season, they will face each other in six consecutive opening games.

Kansas Vs. Nebraska

That irresistible force is going to meet the immovable object Saturday and once again "something's got to give."

Fourth-ranked Kansas, the national scoring leader averaging a stratospheric 51 points a game, meets sixth-ranked Nebraska, currently sixth in scoring defense, allowing an average of eight points per game.

The Huskers, last year's national champions in total defense, will get an extreme test from Kansas which is averaging over 460 yards a game in total offense.

Donnie Shanklin, who has gained 284 yards in just 17 carries a phenomenal 16.7 average, spearheads the Jayhawk rushing attack. John Riggins and lefthanded quarterback Bobby Douglas are also strong running threats in a backfield that has averaged 330 yards rushing a game.

Sherwin Jarmon, a converted offensive end, who has made key fumble recoveries in all of Nebraska's three victories and a game running pass interception in their last win against Minnesota is the standout on Husker defense. Jerry Mirtaugh, Dana Stephenson and Jim Hawkins are other key players on a defensive unit that has allowed an average of 91 yards rushing.

Notre Dame is back on the winning track. Both AP and UPI have ranked us No. 5 in the country. In only a week, with a victory over Iowa, Notre Dame has moved from No. 8 to No. 5. There is life in the Irish. We feel as a team we can be No. 1, but it will take a supreme effort by everyone to have a very successful 9-1 season.

This week's preparation was no different from any other week. On Monday, there is a very light workout for the varsity, including a brief introduction to the opposing team.

Tuesday and Wednesday are heavy work days. On these days, our prep teams simulate the opponents' offensive and defensive plays. Thursday is considered polish day when we practice an hour and try to perfect our game plan for Saturday's encounter. Friday is used to add the finishing touches.

Northwestern is a very aggressive team. I feel they are the best defensive team we will face all year. After that statement, many people will ask, "What about Purdue?"

I feel the thing that "makes" Purdue is its explosive offense.

The only thing that could prevent Northwestern from playing a good game is the fact that they have already played Southern Cal and Purdue. After those two games, you are bound to have bumps and bruises.

In both games, they made a very good showing. Against USC, Northwestern had more first downs and total yardage than the mighty Trojans. And when they played Purdue, the Wildcats held the Boilermakers to 13 points in the first half. Also in that game, they held Purdue to 90 yards passing.

In their first three games, Northwestern made so many mistakes that they actually beat themselves. They are bound to execute their game plan without flaws soon. Who knows? It might be today. This is why I respect Northwestern. I know they have the potential to win.

We are the same team this week as the first three weeks, except for more injuries on defense. Besides the well-known ailments, Tom Gasseling and Jim Merletti sustained knee injuries in Wednesday's practice.

The only change is the offensive and defensive units is Chuck Zloch. After his performance against Iowa, Chuck was moved from second to first team defensive halfback.

There are a few points to look for in today's game:

1. Northwestern's strong defense — it will give our potent offense its biggest challenge yet.
2. Northwestern breakaway halfback Chico K____ski — our defense will find it easier to tackle him than spell his name.
3. Notre Dame's young defense — they will mature today and play their best game of the season.

Tigers, Tigers, Ti-What Else?

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Mickey Lolich outpitched World Series master Bob Gibson and the Detroit Tigers broke through for three runs in the seventh inning Thursday to beat the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1 and win their first world baseball championship in 23 years.

Lolich, the rugged individualist who drives a motorcycle to the Tigers' home games, matched shutout pitching with Gibson, winner of seven World Series games including two in this classic, until the seventh when the Tigers got one of the big breaks of the Series.

The break came with two out and Norm Cash and Willie Horton on base as a result of singles. Jim Northrup walloped a long drive to center field which appeared catchable. But Curt Flood, one of the best centerfielders in the majors, stumbled as he turned to run for the ball and it sailed over his head for a two-run triple.

Bill Freehan followed with a double to left field scoring Northrup and giving Lolich and the Tigers a 3-0 lead over Gibson, who had pitched one hit ball through the first six innings.

That's all Lolich, working with just two days rest, needed to enable the Tigers to become the third team in Series history to win a seven-game series after trailing 3-1. He is the eighth pitcher to win three games in one series.

The Tigers, a come-from-behind team all season as they won 40 games after being tied or behind in the seventh inning, were held to one hit by Gibson over the first six innings.

But the Tigers erupted for seven hits in the final three innings to snap Gibson's seven game winning streak in Series competition.

It was enough to beat Gibson although Freehan then doubled in Northrup with an insurance run and singles by Horton, Northrup and Don Wert produced another run in the eighth.

A traditional late-season standout who likes to pitch in cool weather, Lolich was brilliant as he held the Cards to just five hits on the mild afternoon in the mid 60s while the crowd of 54,692 at Busch Memorial Stadium pleaded in vain for the Cardinals to solve his deliveries. But the only player to do so was Mike Shannon, who hit a solo homer with two out in the ninth, after the Tigers already had won the game.

Ara, Alex Reunion Set Today

In 1956, Ara Parseghian became head coach at Northwestern after an unbeaten 1955 season at Miami of Ohio. Alex Agase became Ara's chief assistant that year following two seasons with Iowa State.

In his seven years from '56 to '63, Parseghian compiled a 36-35-1 record, including four victories over Notre Dame in four attempts — 30-24 in 1959, 7-6 in '60, 12-10 in '61 and 35-6 in '62. His last two seasons (7-2 in '62 and 5-4 in '63) were the last winning years Northwestern ever had.

Agase took over when Ara departed in 1964. Alex has turned in report cards of 3-6, 4-6, 3-6-1 and 3-7. Those marks include a 38-7 loss to ND in '65 and a 35-7 defeat in 1966, Notre Dame's National Championship year.

McCarver Likes ND

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — There are some guys who can do it all, do it easily and do it anywhere.

It makes little difference to them whether they're at home or on the road, they'll do a job for you. These are those rare individuals who can go both ways. It doesn't necessarily have to be in their own backyard.

Old Jim Thorpe was that way. He didn't care where he was operating. It didn't matter. He was always good.

Bob Gibson and Lou Brock are the same breed and so are Purdue's Leroy Keyes and Southern California's O.J. Simpson. All they have to do is take their hat and coat off and they're ready. Just give 'em the ball.

Keyes, the Boilermakers' buzzbomb, goes both ways literally. Three ways if you wanna count sideways. He and his mates will be in Columbus, Ohio, Saturday for their bash with Ohio State but it shouldn't matter.

This one should be Purdue all the way.

"I like Purdue, too," says Cardinal catcher Tim McCarver, who gave you a winner in Notre Dame last week. "With 13 points, though, I'll take Ohio State."

With 13 points, I'll go with Purdue. They should win by more.

O.J. Simpson and company also are on the road for their game with Stanford. They should win, too. By a bigger margin than Purdue.

Upsets? There could be a few, the same way there are each Saturday.

I know all about that fine California defense, but I like Army to beat the Bears, Nebraska to tip over Kansas and Iowa to surprise Indiana.

THE EAST

Syracuse over Pittsburgh—Cover your eyes.

Boston College over Villanova—This is supposed to be BC's year.

Yale over Brown—Blue is a more soothing shade.

THE MIDWEST

Michigan over Michigan State—Wolves have too much beef.

Notre Dame over Northwestern—Tim McCarver says the Irish can't miss.

Illinois over Minnesota—Dal Maxvill says McCarver should keep his mind on baseball.

THE SOUTH

Miami over LSU—A case of two good defensive lines.

Oregon State over Kentucky—Any time, any place.

Tennessee over Georgia Tech—A tough hurdle for the Vols but they should make it.

THE SOUTHWEST

Oklahoma over Texas—Shake hands, fellas, and come out fighting.

Arkansas over Baylor—Razorbacks may get a scare, though.

SMU over TCU—Not if there was some way the Horned Frogs could scuttle Chuck Hixson.

And Texas A&M over Texas Tech, Houston over Oklahoma State and Arizona State over Washington State.

THE WEST

Penn State over UCLA—Huskies show some signs of improving.

Wyoming over Brigham Young—Both have had better teams.

And Utah over New Mexico, Montana State over Idaho State, and Idaho over Montana.

NFL

The defense never rests. Not the Los Angeles Rams' any way. Nothing gets by 'em. Green Bay, on the other hand, always is at its best in a big one. This one is a big one and I'm going with LA. Those Rams are just too big and tough.

In The Other NFL Games:

Baltimore over San Francisco—Colts have convinced me, Units or no Units.

St. Louis over Cleveland—Football Cardinals keep working hard here without paying any attention to the World Series.

New York over Atlanta—Tarkenton says hello to his old boss, the Dutchman.

Minnesota over New Orleans—Although Vikings are hamstrung for a sound quarterback.

Dallas over Philadelphia—Cowboys have been warned about a possible licking in this one.

Detroit over Chicago—It's hard knowing which way the Bears will go.

Washington over Pittsburgh—Jurgenson prevails.

AFL

Buffalo over Miami—Bills are better than they've shown.

Oakland over San Diego—Raiders shooting for a record.

New York over Denver—Namath rarely has a bad day at Shea Stadium.

Houston over Boston—Oilers still upset about last week.

Kansas City over Cincinnati—Bengals asre in a little too deep here.

Ruggers Go Gridders' Route

By JOHN HEINRICH

The fate of the 1968 version of the Notre Dame Rugby Football Club has, in many ways, paralleled that of this year's football team. The Irish ruggers lost many talented players through graduation last spring. They opened practice sessions this fall with a fine array of talent but not as much experience as they would have liked. They opened the fall season by beating a strong opponent, although the opposing side had had nearly three more weeks of practice than the Irish. They lost their second game to a strong opponent and now must come back this week if they are to have a good season.

The 1967-68 ruggers, although their record was not outstanding, probably had as much individual talent as any contingent in the club's six-year history. Back Bill Kenealy and second row man Dick Carrigan were named All-Americans by the national rugby magazine "Scrubdown", and some campus rugby aficionados will argue that these two were not the best on the team: Captain Tom Gibbs, Jay Firoello, Pat Keenan, Bill Gormley, and Brien Murphy all performed outstandingly for last year's Irish.

This year's Irish are hardly bereft of ourstanding performers, of course. Club President Mike Brennan and Captain Neil Harnish lead the scrum along with big Clint Sullivan, and Mike Joyce. Andy Monahan and Dave Yonto are seasoned performers in the backfield. In addition to this nucleus of experience, however, the Irish have had an amazing turnout of exceptional rookies. Players like Dave Schiel, Tom Hughes, and Gary Gleason, along with numerous others, who have played less than one full season with the team, appear ready to take over for departed veterans.

The Irish opened Sept. 28 against Wheeling College. Wheeling is not recognized as a major rugby power, but it had already played one game and had been practicing a full month. The Irish, on the other hand, had practiced for only nine days and their only combat experience came in the intrasquad scrimmage held a week earlier. Nonetheless, the Irish whipped Wheeling soundly, making up for their lack of finesse and conditioning with the muscle that has become a Notre Dame trademark.

Hopes of an undefeated fall season crumbled, however, when the Irish went up against the University of Iowa and Palmer

Chiropractic College in a three game slate last weekend. Notre Dame "B" and "C" teams took on Iowa's "A" and "B" teams, respectively, Saturday, and the Irish "A" team battled Palmer Sunday. None of the three teams was equal to its task. The Irish lost at Iowa 6-0 in the "B" game and 11-0 in the "C" game, then fell to Palmer 17-6 in the "A" game after holding a powerful Palmer side to a 6-6 tie at halftime. The first team was hurt by the loss of Clint Sullivan, ejected for fighting, and Paul Hennessey, injured, in the second half.

Now the Irish must try to rebound against an opponent traditionally tough on the Irish, an opponent who promises to be better than usual this year. John Carrol University of Cleveland has dropped rugby in favor of throwing their personnel to the newly formed Cleveland Rugby Club, which will be made up of John Carroll ruggers and whatever other talent the Cleveland area can produce.

President Mike Brennan has commented that, "This is probably the best overall talent we've ever had." Whether all this talent can be molded into a really outstanding rugby side will be determined in large measure by the outcome of the fall season, starting this weekend against Cleveland.

The Irish Eye

The Selectors

Both wire services rated Penn State No. 3 this week, yet the Nittany Lions are 1½-point underdogs to UCLA tonight. Just makes you wonder who ranks college football teams and how they do it.

The Associated Press polls an undisclosed list of 50 sportswriters and broadcasters from across the nation. Each man picks his top 15 teams. They receive points on this basis: 20, 18, 16, 14, 12, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1.

United Press International's ratings are determined by a 35-man board of college coaches. Each mentor picks a top 10 with 10 points going to the top team, nine to the second, etc.

UPI's selectors are chosen from seven geographic areas. They are: East: Tom Cahill (Army), Bob Blackman (Dartmouth), Ben Schwartzwalder (Syracuse), Bill Elias (Navy), John Yovicsin (Harvard).

South: Vince Dooley (Georgia), Charley Tate (Miami of Fla.), Frank Howard (Clemson), Paul Dietzel (South Carolina), Johnny Vaught (Mississippi).

Rockies: Ben Martin (Air Force), Eddie Crowder (Colorado), Mike Lude (Colorado State), Tommy Hudspeth (Brigham Young), Lloyd Eaton (Wyoming).

West: John Ralston (Stanford), Tommy Prothro (UCLA), Jim Owens (Washington), Bill Sweeney (Washington State), John McKay (USC).

Southwest: Frank Kush (Arizona State), Darrell Royal (Texas), Hayden Fry (SMU), Bill Yeoman (Houston), Frank Broyles (Arkansas).

Midwest: ARA PARSEGHIAN (NOTRE DAME), Woody Hayes (Ohio State), Murray Warmath (Minnesota), Duffy Daugherty (Michigan State), Alex Agase (Northwestern).

Midlands: Bob Devaney (Nebraska), Chuck Fairbanks (Oklahoma), Phil Cutchin (Oklahoma State), Dan Devine (Missouri), Pepper Rodgers (Kansas).

The Shillelagh

In 1930, William T. Cosgrave, president of the Irish Free State, presented a shillelagh to Notre Dame immortal Knute Rockne. The Rock immediately suggested that it be made a traveling trophy for the ND-Northwestern series.

The Irish and Wildcats each came into the game 7-0 that year. Besides the shillelagh, it meant the National Championship. The Irish took both with a 14-0 triumph and copped their last two games for a 10-0 season. Notre Dame has the Shillelagh 17 of the 24 game-years since then.

The Incredibles

You can believe this if you want. It's true, but oh so incredible. Sports Illustrated last week sent this department Dan Jenkins' account of the Purdue game with a note attached: "The enclosed material is from today's issue of Sports Illustrated. You may want to note or quote." Sure.

Purdue, OSU In Big Game

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI)—Purdue's Boilermakers tapered off with a limited workout Thursday to conclude preparations for a Big Ten game with Ohio State Saturday at Columbus.

They also worked on their kicking game. Coach Jack Mollenkopf said Ohio State is "much improved" and has "a well balanced offense and their defense has been excellent."
