

The Observer

VOL. XVII, NO. 45

the independent student newspaper serving notre dame and saint mary's

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1982

"Stay the Course" — This is the phrase President and Mrs. Reagan point to which is carved out on this pumpkin; the same phrase is the presidents slogan for the upcoming elections to be held nationwide today. (AP Photo)

Economy is top issue in today's election

WASHINGTON D.C. (AP) — On the eve of off-year elections Republicans did not expect to win. Democratic campaigners talked of tougher times ahead, and President Reagan urged Americans "to cast your votes for hope, not despair."

The Democratic chairman accused the White House of plotting post-election cuts in Social Security. Republicans responded to these and other allegations with a pre-recorded assertion that the Democrats have been trying to scare voters with claims they know to be false.

The rhetoric has ended, and the balloting began before sunup today in New England.

Voters will choose a new House of Representatives, 33 senators, and 36 governors. They will elect state legislators in 46 states, and settle ballot issues highlighted by nuclear freeze votes in nine.

With just one exception, the party of the president has lost congressional seats in every off-year election since the Civil War, and GOP strategists expect 1982 to follow suit.

Their consensus is that Republicans will lose about 20 of their 192 seats in the House. They expect to hold control of the Senate, maybe even tighten it a little.

The campaign ended as it began, with national debate centered on the troubled economy. Reagan said his is the course to better times and asked the voters to be patient. He blamed current economic woes on big-spending government policies of the past and said Democrats offer only more of the same.

The Democratic argument is that Reagan has had his chance for two years, and that it is time to change economic policy. Edmund S. Muskie, former secretary of state, senator, and presidential candidate, was the Democratic spokesman in a recorded, election-eve TV commercial.

Muskie said the decision to be made today is "whether we stay with the course for a privileged few or say America can do better for all of us."

The Democrats have charged that the administration intends to cut Social Security benefits but will not announce the cuts until after the elections. House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., and Democratic Chairman Charles T. Manatt both have challenged Reagan to promise that there will be no reduction in anyone's benefits.

The president said in his campaign TV statement that Democrats were "playing on people's fears" with such suggestions. He said he would protect the solvency of the Social Security system and "the benefits of those who depend on it."

Reagan said his economic program of budget and tax cuts already has curbed inflation and started the economy toward recovery.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, a candidate for re-election in Massachusetts and the Democrats' spokesman in a weekend rebuttal to Reagan, said the administration's course is a blind alley that will lead to darker times. Former Vice President Walter F. Mondale, campaigning in New Jersey, said unemployment is likely to increase after the election, from the current 10.1 percent to 12 percent.

All Saints Day protest

Solidarity members hold memorial

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Polish militants turned All Saints Day into a silent political protest yesterday, unfurling Solidarity banners and putting up new monuments to demonstrators killed by the Communist martial law regime.

Police made no attempt to intervene, but remained on guard in Warsaw and other cities in advance of an eight-hour general strike called by the Solidarity underground for Nov. 10.

Millions of Poles streamed to cemeteries across the nation for the second day yesterday, snarling traffic and carrying armloads of flowers, candles, and wreaths to be placed on the graves of loved ones.

In Warsaw, protesters put up red banners marked "Solidarity" at the Powazki Cemetery, which is near a new memorial to Maximilian Kolbe — the priest canonized Oct. 10 as "the protector of all imprisoned."

They also placed flowers at a nearby unofficial memorial for 4,500 Polish officers executed in the Katyn forest, which is now part of the Soviet Union.

Although responsibility for the deaths of the officers whose mass grave was discovered in 1943 has not been officially fixed, most Poles suspect the Soviets, who at the time of the discovery blamed the Nazis.

The Polish government has refused to act upon Solidarity demands to erect a monument at the Katyn memorial, now marked by three rough birch crosses.

Small hand-made placards were placed beneath the birch crosses Sunday reading: "in Memory of People who Died in 1956-1982 for Truth and Freedom."

Mass riots against the Communist regime first erupted in 1956. Since martial law was declared last Dec. 13, at least 15 people have been killed in anti-government protests in Poland.

A memorial honoring the 15 was erected Sunday in a northern suburb of Warsaw at the Brudno Cemetery.

A black banner also appeared on the Katyn grave Sunday, saying "Man, Don't Murder Me." Covering it were badges of Solidarity, the first independent union in the Soviet bloc. The union was outlawed by the Polish Parliament Oct. 8.

Catholic worshippers said prayers in Warsaw churches Sunday, asking that interned Solidarity leader Lech Walesa be freed.

At St. Kostka Church on Warsaw's Paris Commune Square, about 5,000 churchgoers, some wearing Solidarity badges, attended a Mass in honor of those interned and im-

See PROTEST, page 3

ND Women's Caucus

Sex Offense Seminars stir rape awareness

By RICK KEPPEL
News Staff

To stimulate an awareness of the reality of rape and to educate people concerning its prevention and legal implications, the Notre Dame Women's Caucus is presenting a series of Sex Offense Seminars Nov. 2-4.

"People are lulled into thinking that it will never happen to them," said Beth Feely, a member of the Women's Caucus. "But sex offense is reality. It's not just something that happens to others. It can and does happen to anyone."

The Sex Offense Seminars begin tonight at 7 p.m. in the Hayes Healy Auditorium. Marsha Silverman, a member of the Sex Offense Staff of South Bend, is scheduled to present an overview of the problem, dispelling the common myths about rape and discussing the current college campus problem called "date rape".

Sergeant Bonnie Werntz of the South Bend Police will continue the seminars tomorrow, with a presentation of the legal aspects of rape, also at 7 p.m. in Hayes Healy Auditorium.

Werntz's talk will include a discussion concerning exactly what a rape victim should do to report the crime, what evidence is needed to prosecute the rapist, and what kinds of problems victims face in the courtroom.

Anne Schellinger, a Notre Dame Security Officer trained to deal with sexual assault cases, also will speak tomorrow night on the prevalence of sexual offense on campus and on preventive strategies.

The Seminars will conclude on Thursday with a program geared toward the practical prevention of rape. At 7 p.m. in the gymnastics room of Rockne Memorial, Harold Smith of the Y.W.C.A. will conduct a clinic to demonstrate some basic self-defense moves to deter attackers.

"It is important that people realize that rape affects women of all different age groups and backgrounds and not a particular stereotype," Lily Raymond, a member of both the Women's Caucus and the Sex Offense staff, stated. "It is equally important that victims of a sexual assault know that help is available to them. Although the seminars last only three nights, they tie in different aspects of the problem which will hopefully heighten people's awareness to its seriousness."

The Women's Caucus was formed last year to heighten awareness of the issues currently affecting women at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's. Besides presenting the Sex Offense Seminars, the Women's Caucus sends out informational newsletters and holds regular support group meetings. Eventually, the group hopes to establish a Women's Studies concentration in the Notre Dame curriculum.

Another member of the Women's Caucus, Kay Holland, said, "We have a deep concern for the development of women and encourage women of both campuses to participate."

Former ND student dies in cancer center

Martha Maher, who transferred to Notre Dame last January as a first-semester Junior, died Saturday, October 23, in the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center in Seattle, Washington.

Maher was not able to attend Notre Dame this semester because she needed a bone marrow transplant at the center. The transplant proved to be unsuccessful.

While at Notre Dame, Maher lived in Pasquerilla East and majored in accounting.

She was buried at Saint Augusta parish in her hometown of Kalamazoo, Michigan.

A memorial service for Maher and for all those who have died in the past year will be said by Father Theodore Hesburgh today at 5 p.m. in Sacred Heart Church. The homily will be given by Father John Fitzgerald, Director of Campus Ministry. Maher's parents are expected to attend.

There will also be a memorial service for Maher in Pasquerilla East on Nov. 14, according to Sister Evelyn Booms, rector of Pasquerilla East.

An interdisciplinary panel discussion of Jonathan Schell's best-selling and controversial book The Fate of the Earth will take place at Stepan Center tomorrow at 7:00 p.m. A panel of Notre Dame scholars including John H. Yoder, professor of theology; John Roos, associate professor of government and international studies; and William D. McGlinn, professor of physics, will participate in the program. The discussion will be moderated by Father Theodore M. Hesburgh, who, with Cardinal Franz Konig, has recently initiated a global cooperative effort by scientists and world religious leaders to oppose nuclear armament. The interdisciplinary panel discussion is sponsored by the College of Arts and Letters and is a requirement of the Sophomore Core Course. The public is also invited to attend. — The Observer

The Institute for Social and Pastoral Ministry is the new name for the old Center for Social and Pastoral Ministry. The six-year-old entity, which coordinates the University's programs in service to the Church, encompasses the Center for Pastoral Liturgy, the Institute for Clergy Education, the Religious Leaders Program, and the Center for Social Concerns. Its director is Monsignor John J. Egan, special assistant to Hesburgh. — The Observer

The Notre Dame press has recently published the book Choosing Well by Russell Shaw. Shaw, who is the secretary for public affairs of the United States Catholic Conference, believes that the aim of ethical inquiry is "to help us make consistently good use of whatever freedom we possess," and so considers "what freedom is... what constitutes the use and abuse of freedom." Choosing Well expands the theme of Beyond the New Morality, which was published by the University of Notre Dame Press in 1974 and which was co-authored by Shaw and Germain G. Grisez, professor of philosophy at Campion College, University of Regina, Saskatchewan. Each of its nine chapters concludes with a series of discussion questions. — The Observer

Richard Freedman, who graduated from Notre Dame last year with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering and who is a second-year MBA student at the University of Chicago, has been selected as this year's recipient of the Ernst & Whinney Accounting Prize. The prize, whose recipient is selected by a faculty committee of the University of Chicago's Graduate School of Business, is available to the top two percent of the school's student body. — The Observer

Notre Dame's postmaster, H.C. Colwell, has been promoted to a higher position in the Mishawaka office and moved last Friday. The Notre Dame branch will be directed by an officer-in-charge until a new postmaster is appointed, possibly in six weeks. The temporary officer will begin duties tomorrow. Colwell will serve as superintendent of postal operations in Mishawaka. He had served at Notre Dame for two and a half years. — The Observer

Phillip M. Hawley, president and chief executive officer of Carter Hawley Hale Stores, Inc., Los Angeles, has been elected a member of Notre Dame's Board of Trustees. A 1946 alumnus of the University of California at Berkeley, Hawley is also a graduate of the Advanced Management Program at the Harvard Business School. He is a trustee of the California Institute of Technology and a member of Harvard University's visiting committee for its Graduate School of Business Administration and Kennedy School of Government. He is also a member of the visiting committee for the University of California at Los Angeles Graduate School of Business Administration. Two of his eight children — Dr. Phillip, Jr. and Victor — have graduated from Notre Dame, and another son, Edward, is a sophomore this year. Hawley's membership brings the number of trustees on the University's Board to 44. The board will hold its annual fall meeting on campus Nov. 11-12. — The Observer

Father Theodore M. Hesburgh led a campus delegation to the White House Oct. 24 to present President Reagan with an unedited copy of the 1940 Warner Bros. film Knute Rockne — All-American, in which Reagan played the legendary Notre Dame halfback, George Gipp. The presentation of both film and videotape copies was preceded by a dinner in the Blue Room attended by Notre Dame's Executive Vice President, Father Edmund P. Joyce, Notre Dame head Football Coach Gerry Faust, and several other sports personalities. Following the dinner, the film was shown to guests in the White House viewing room. An unedited version of the motion picture, which starred Pat O'Brien as Rockne and proved to be a turning point in Reagan's film career, is very rare. Because of a misunderstanding over who owned the copyright to some material used in the original film, two famous scenes were cut out in 1956 when Knute Rockne — All-American was released to television. One was the deathbed scene in which a dying Gipp tells his coach to urge some future Notre Dame team "to win one for the Gipper" and the other recounts the famous locker room scene in which Rockne implores his team to do just that. Notre Dame's copy of the original film is believed to be one of only to exist. Hesburgh promised the President a copy of the Rockne film when Reagan received an honorary degree at Notre Dame commencement ceremonies on May 17, 1981. — The Observer

Near 100 percent chance of thunderstorms today. Breezy and warm with high in upper 60s to low 70s. Cooler tonight with a 40 percent chance of showers. Low in the low 40s. A chance of showers possibly mixed with snow tomorrow. Temperatures falling into the 30s by afternoon. — AP

'Childish maturity'

Recently in New Orleans, some construction workers were digging the foundation for a building. Guy Montana was perched atop his backhoe, taking a drag on his cheap cigar when he saw something gleaming in the muck. Digging further, he realized that he had unearthed a whole bunch of silver and gold coins. Sharp-eyed passers-by spotted the coins as well. What followed should give pause to anyone who thinks man has come a long way since the Stone Age.

Within minutes, dirt on this muddy fortune had spread through the glittering high-rises of downtown New Orleans. Hordes of well dressed executives, and secretaries in high heels descended upon the coins like vultures to carrion. "They were down in the ground in coats and suits and ties like groundhogs," said an amazed Montana.

Had the money grubbers been bums battering each other with wine bottles, the scene would have been more appropriate. After all, bums would need the money. But when reasonably affluent types are reduced to fiends for a few coins, it is something very revealing. Second mortgage payments aside, the people in the mud were there not out of necessity, but out of emotion — the same emotion present when the first ape-man battered his buddy with a bone to get his meat.

While the above story had a cast of just a few, the next one involves thousands of people and billions of dollars. The entire Bendix/Allied Chemical/Martin Marietta/United Technologies merger-takeover fiasco was a carnival. The best financial minds of Wall Street were the dancing bears, top lawyers were acrobats, the employees of the companies were the trained dogs, and presiding over this festival was Bendix boss and ringmaster, Bill Agee. At his side, appearing as clown, was his former scandalmate and current wife, Mary Cunningham.

We all know that the business of business is profits. Thus the ruthless behavior of some in the business world can be dismissed as the consequences of the pursuit of profits. However the actions of William Agee cannot be so easily dismissed. Agee attempted to use Bendix's money to purchase another company named Martin Marietta. Sadly for him, Martin didn't want to be bought. So they countered by trying to buy Bendix. Soon another company, United Technologies, offered to help Martin buy Bendix and then carve up the company. The predator had become the prey, and Agee was forced to call on Allied Chemical to save him. Allied did, but the price was high, Agee had to allow them buy Bendix. Thus when the final juggler had left the ring, Agee found that Bendix, his company which had originally raised the bigtop, no longer existed.

The one facet of this mess almost everyone agrees on is that it was senseless. Agee in conjunction with wifey Cunningham dreamed up the whole scheme as a way of showing that he was a tough guy. From their comments,

Ryan Ver Berkmoes Managing Editor

Inside Tuesday

it's obvious that this pair of lovebirds were giddy during the whole affair. Agee and Cunningham's own affair came to light a few years ago when rumors of backroom hijinks forced Cunningham to resign from her position as Agee's top aid at Bendix. She has since found other employment and a husband — Agee.

During an interview with gossip journalist Barbara Walters, Cunningham couldn't restrain enthusiasm for her and Agee's "strategy." She also told Walters' aides that it would be popping up in "the headlines." It did, with interesting results. Another piece of evidence that proves what a half-baked exercise in egotism their plan was, is Agee's response when questioned if he had considered the possibility that Martin might counter Bendix's takeover with one of its own. "We didn't put a high probability on it because we didn't think they had the resources." Had Agee and company bothered to check Martin's resources they might have thought twice.

There were better places for Agee to toss Bendix's money. Here in South Bend, Bendix's brake division is the town's largest employer. (Notre Dame is second.) The plant is old, and rumors of it soon being shut down by Bendix proliferate. Rather than spend his money in a failed takeover attempt, perhaps Agee would have been wiser to upgrade his brake division, thus insuring that foreigners won't steal his market, and giving a needed boost to the local economy. But then where's the glory in brakes?

The people in the above two stories all probably consider themselves mature. Yet their behavior would indicate the contrary. Maturity and age are not synonymous. Even people of the loftiest status behave in a manner that is not only primitive, but also childish.

The Episcopalian bishop in New York has embarked on a multi-million dollar beautification of his church. Many people claim that his church is already beautiful and that he should spend the money on the poor instead. The good bishop has been quick with his response. He defends the construction by claiming that the project is creating jobs for the poor. It has created jobs — 17.

A coach manages to blame everyone but himself when his team loses. A child flees from a broken vase yelling, "Rover did it!"

"LADEEZ AND GENTLEMEN, THE BENDIX AND FRIENDS CORPORATE FIASCOS AND THREE RING CIRCUS!"

The Observer

"Good morning, good morning..."
Design Editor..... Tim Neely
Design Assistant..... Troy Illig
Sarah Hamilton
Typesetters..... Jim MacLennan
Mark Miotto
News Editor..... Michele Dietz
Copy Editor..... Diane Dirkers
Editorials Layout..... Ken Cerabona
Sports Copy Editor..... Mike Riccardi
Typist..... Maura Murphy
ND Day Editor..... Dave Grote
SMC Day Editor..... Tari Brown
Ad Design..... Jeannie Euch
Photographer..... Pete Laches
Guest Appearances..... The Rising Sun
Laura and her cookies, Kool-aid and twinkies, Thunder and Lightning, Dzave and a new position

The Observer (USPS 598 920) is published Monday through Friday and on home football Saturdays except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $25 per year ($15 per semester) by writing The Observer, P.O. Box 0, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556. The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved. Second class postage paid at Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.

SMC presents:

COLLEGE TO CAREER DAYS '82
"An opportunity to explore a variety of careers and lifestyles"

Tues. Nov. 2 Barbara Hamel '79
Finance, History major
Banking Associate
Stapleton Lounge 6:30

Wed., Nov. 3 Barbara O'Toole '59
Humanistic Studies Major
ATTORNEY
Stapleton Lounge 6:30

Thurs., Nov. 4 Sharon McKernon '75
Government major Account Executive
Susan Freidman '74
Art major Photographer
Choosing a Major night
Carroll Hall 6:30

Sponsored by: Student Govt., alumnae, C & CDC

Ordination anniversary

Pope pays homage to St. Teresa

AVILA, Spain (AP) — Pope John Paul II paid homage to St. Teresa of Avila yesterday at a Mass for 200,000 Spaniards, saying that the 16th century mystic's life of poverty and meditation was an example for Christian women around the world.

"Her voice has resounded farther than the Catholic Church," said the pontiff in his homily. The Mass was celebrated in the walled city on the Plains of Castile, where the renowned Carmelite nun and church reformer was born and founded the first of the 17 convents she established in Spain.

Later in the day, a helicopter took the pope to Alba de Tormes, 45 miles northwest of Avila, where St. Teresa died in 1582. There beside the black casket containing her remains, he closed the year-long celebration of the 400th anniversary of her death, which brought more than 2 million pilgrims to Avila and Alba this year.

The Pope's 10-day, 16-city tour of Spain — the first by a pope to one of the world's most Catholic countries — was timed to coincide with the anniversary, but events beyond his control postponed it twice.

The attempt on the Pope's life on May 13 of last year delayed his original plans to hold the celebration. His intentions to hold the ceremonies on Oct. 15, the feast day of the saint, were delayed until after the Spanish election last week.

Yesterday was the 36th anniversary of John Paul II's ordination as a priest in Poland.

The primate of Poland, Archbishop Jozef Glemp of Warsaw, and the pontiff's successor as Archbishop of Krakow, Cardinal Franciszek Macharski, were sitting behind the pope as he told the vast throng at Avila of the coming of St. Teresa's Carmelites to Polish convents in the 17th century.

Before the Mass, John Paul II visited the Convent of the Incarnation where St. Teresa lived. Quipping and joking, he charmed some 3,000 nuns given a once-in-a-lifetime dispensation from their lives of silent prayer and fasting to come to see him.

As the cheering women repeatedly interrupted his speech on the virtues of a cloistered life, John Paul II said after one outburst, "I see silence is not observed today."

The Convent of the Incarnation houses 28 nuns, including an American, and five novices — who sleep with a single blanket in tiny unheated cells, wear dark veils most of the day, and kneel to pray on slabs of cork.

The American, a 23-year-old from Beavertown, Ore., is known as Sister Margaret because she is forbidden to give her family name. She said she became a sister of the Order of the Immaculate Sacred Heart last year after studying at the University of Dallas.

King Juan Carlos of Spain guides Pope John Paul II towards the line of dignitaries awaiting him after the pontiff's arrival at Madrid's Barajas airport Sunday. (see accompanying story). (AP Photo)

Over break

Sen. Howard Baker predicts no future aid cuts

By PETER CIOTTA
Staff Reporter

The present cuts in financial aid are part of an effort to stop "hemorrhage spending," commented Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker at a press conference in the St. Joseph Bank building in South Bend last Wednesday.

Senator Baker (R-Tenn.) was joined by Senator Richard Lugar (R-Ind.) to address questions concerning Republican policies.

When asked by The Observer whether the present Republican policies on cuts in federal aid to college students were the norm for the future, Baker stated, "I feel no further cuts will take place in the future." He added that the present legislation, which is often misunderstood, "has been very careful not to disturb programs which help those truly in need. Families making $30,000 and under are still eligible for aid."

Lugar said present policies will attempt to maintain the current level of student grants. He stated that he was "more confident that a stabilizing effect will occur."

Republican policies will "attempt to toe the present line," according to Lugar. "I'm not confident that an increase in aid will take place in the future," he added.

Joseph Russo, Director of Financial Aid at Notre Dame, agreed with overall Republican policy objectives, yet expressed a cautious concern over the repercussions of those policies along with the often misleading rhetoric used to describe Republican goals.

Russo explained that present federal guidelines implementing across-the-board cuts are a simplistic, effective approach to save money. Yet he questioned whether that savings was worth it.

Stating that Republican policies "speak of access, not choice," Russo questioned the future diversity of higher education, asking "will we have a situation where only the upper class will be able to attend the great universities?"

Russo disagreed with the opinion that financial aid cuts will bring about a stabilizing effect. "My biggest problem with the federal government is uncertainty concerning funds," stated Russo.

He explained that changing legislation in Congress, coupled with long delays in the institutional allocation process, have contributed to perhaps the most confused federal student aid picture since the government's inception of assistance programs.

...Protest

continued from page 1

prisoned for political reasons.

During the Mass, Warsaw actors — who have boycotted TV appearances since martial law began — read from the scriptures.

The priest conducting the Mass quoted Polish-born Pope John Paul II in his sermon, saying the outlawing of Solidarity was a violation of society's civil rights. He also appealed for peace and restraint.

SEND A DOMER TO INDY

JOE ZAKAS

● N.D. Grad

● Republican

● Pro-Life

We need a domer to represent NOTRE DAME
STATE SENATE

Vote TODAY: N.D.: Stepan Center S.M.C.: Augusta Hall Dining Room
Polls close at 6 p.m.

JOE ZAKAS for State Senator

Paid for by the Joe Zakas for State Senator Committee, Ross Byrne, CPA treasurer.

With a Ph.D. in both physics and philosophy, Dr. McKinnon talked about his two interests last night in the Memorial Library Lounge. (Photo by Pete Laches)

Interested in taking a class in Ballroom Dancing?

Wednesday, November 3, will be the first lesson of a five week ballroom dance class that will be held on Saint Mary's campus in the Regina Hall lounge basement from 8:30 p.m. to 10:00 p.m.

This class will be taught by Ray Sexton from Indianapolis and the total cost is only $25 for five weeks.

SIGN UP NOW IN THE SAINT MARY'S STUDENT ACTIVITIES OFFICE

PHONE: 284-4561

This offer is limited to Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students only.

SHARE BANKING FUTURES WITH MERCANTILE.

We'd like to interest you in a career with Mercantile Bank. Mercantile is one of Missouri's leading banks, headquartered in St. Louis.

We're always looking for qualified individuals with degrees in General Business, Accounting, Finance, Marketing or Business Management. Graduates can choose from a wide variety of banking specializations: Accounting & Auditing, Bond Portfolio Management, Data Processing, Operations, Trust Investments and International Banking. If you're interested in Commercial Lending, our Management Development Program may be for you.

We offer highly competitive salaries, personal growth, merit promotions, educational assistance and a fine employee benefit program.

We'll be on campus Monday, November 15.

If you're interested and want to find out more about opportunities with Mercantile, see your placement office, or send your resume to:

MERCANTILE BANK

Human Resources/MDP
MERCANTILE TRUST COMPANY N.A.

724 Locust Street
St. Louis, Missouri 63166

An Equal Opportunity Employer M/F

Expect 50% turnout

Hoosiers to elect senator, others

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indiana voters will elect a U.S. senator, 10 congressmen, four Statehouse officers and 125 legislators today in an off-year election being billed as a referendum on Reaganomics.

An estimated 3 million Hoosiers were registered to vote, but political experts predicted that only about half would bother to go to the polls.

The National Weather Service said Indiana's Election Day forecast called for showers and thunderstorms as a cold front moved toward the state. Afternoon highs were expected to range from the upper 50s to low 60s.

By state law, polls in Indiana's 4,686 precincts will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. prevailing local time. Voting in six northwestern Indiana counties and five southwestern counties, which are on central standard time, will begin and end an hour after balloting in the state's other 81 counties.

The economy has been a major campaign issue in Indiana, where the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate is 11.3 percent. The most recent figures are from August, when 283,200 persons were unemployed, according to the Indiana Employment Security Division.

Leaders from both major political parties say a high voter turnout is the key — depending on their perspective — to exploiting or blunting the bad economic news.

"With a turnout of a million and a half voters, we can win the Senate seat in a very close election," said State Democratic Chairman Jerry Miller. "Every point that the turnout exceeds 50 percent helps us."

The Democratic organization in each of Indiana's 92 counties is mounting a get-out-the-vote effort, working in conjunction with labor unions whose unemployed members have time on their hands.

"We have phone banks offering rides, baby-sitters, anything to make it easier for people to go vote," Miller said.

Miller and GOP state Chairman Gordon K. Durnil discount the old theories that weather can influence the outcome of an election.

"Those people who were shaky voters in past years because of the weather have pretty much dropped out of the system," Durnil said.

The conventional wisdom was that if it was a sunny day, farmers — who traditionally voted Republican — would stay in the fields, Durnil said. The GOP chief said he thinks farmers are a responsible group and would always find time to come to vote.

"I don't believe bad weather means a Democratic day or a Republican day," Miller said. "In this election, I feel the tide coming our way."

The top race on the ticket is the Senate campaign, where GOP incumbent Richard G. Lugar faces Democratic challenger Floyd Fithian. The American Party candidate, Raymond James, isn't expected to be a factor in the Senate contest.

'College to Career' features SMC grads

By MARY ANN POTTER
Staff Reporter

"College to Career Days '82", a program for those Saint Mary's students interested in learning more about liberal arts education and career decisions, will be held today through Thursday, Nov. 2-4.

The "College to Career Days" program consists of informal discussions with three Saint Mary's graduates who now are pursuing careers. These speakers will also be attending various classes to talk to the students.

Barbara Hamel, a 1979 graduate with a BBA in Finance and a BA in History, and a current banking associate for Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust Co., will begin the lecture series tonight at 6:30 in the Stapleton Lounge of LeMans Hall.

Barbara Patrick O'Toole, a 1959 graduate, will be the featured speaker tomorrow at 6:30 p.m., also in Stapleton Lounge. O'Toole, an attorney with Roger Baldwin Foundation of American Civil Liberties Union, Inc., has a BA in Humanistic Studies with an English minor. Both Hamel and O'Toole will speak on liberal education.

The series continues on Thursday with two discussions led by Sharon A. McKernan, an account executive with Merrill Lynch, who has her B.A. in Government.

The first of these discussions will be an meeting for students interested in internships — particularly the St. Mary's Washington D.C. internship program — to be held at 3:30 p.m. in the Student Affairs conference room of LeMans Hall.

While at Saint Mary's, McKernan participated in the Washington D.C. semester program in addition to other internships.

McKernan's second discussion will be held in conjunction with "Choosing a Major Night". McKernan will speak, as well as Mary Theiss from the Counseling and Career Development Center, and student representatives from each department will be available afterwards to answer any questions about each major.

This discussion, to be held at 6:30 p.m. in Carroll Hall, will include topics such as choosing a major and the relationship between a college major and a career.

In past years, "College to Career Days" hosted about 18 women speakers. This year the number of speakers has been cut down, according to Vice President of Academic Affairs Beth Tighe. "The idea is to focus on these three women," explained Tighe.

She said that even though these women are all involved in business, they have diverse backgrounds. Tighe added, "I hope the women we have chosen will have a broad appeal."

Society features abortion topic this month

The Christian Legal Society of the Notre Dame Law School will sponsor two films and a lecture this month on the topic of abortion.

The films, which are 30 minutes long, will be shown in Room 105 of the Law School. The lecture by Professor Rice will be in Room 101. All three events will begin at 2 p.m.

Vocation Retreat

Where is the Lord leading you?

...a chance to explore religious life as a sister of the Holy Cross...

Nov. 5-6

7pm Friday - 7pm Saturday

Mary's Solitude St. Mary's Campus
it's FREE!!!

to register call SR PAT McCABE

284-4466/284-5629

University of Maryland-College Park SCHOOL OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS MASTER OF PUBLIC MANAGEMENT

Professional Education for Careers in • Federal, state and local government
• Public affairs units in private corporations
• Nonprofit organizations and associations
SCHOLARSHIP AND FINANCIAL AID AVAILABLE

For further information and application materials, call or write:

Lyn Chasen
Director of Admissions
School of Public Affairs
1218 Social Sciences Building
University of Maryland
College Park, MD 20742
(301) 454-7238

The University of Maryland is an equal opportunity institution. Minorities and women are encouraged to apply.

The Observer

There will be no news reporters meeting tonight.

Rocco's Hair

Styling

531 N. Michigan St.,

South Bend

Phone 233-4957

Student Senate

Section parties dominate issues

By MIKE KRISKO
News Staff

Efforts continued in formulating an agreeable proposal for the establishment of section parties at last night's Student Senate meeting.

One of the issues discussed was the advantage of section parties over dorm parties.

"Many dorms have inadequate social space in relation to the number of students living in them," said senate member, Chris Tayback. Other members discussed the issue further, agreeing that smaller parties provide an atmosphere for more relaxed, personal communication.

A report prepared by the Department of Psychology at the University of South Carolina entitled the "Notre Dame Needs Assessment" indicated that there is a need for enhancing the male-female relationships among Notre Dame students. The Senate will use this report to further support their proposal.

Another issue discussed was the alcohol problem on campus. By requiring the increase of food and non-alcoholic beverages available at parties, less emphasis would be put on the consumption of alcohol, according to Senate arguments.

Personal responsibility toward the party environment would be increased through the use of penalties and the concept of having the section party sponsors use their own rooms. The availability of additional social space on campus provides a positive alternative to off-campus bars, according to the Senate.

Student Body President Lloyd Burke re-emphasized that this experimental type of section party is different from the previously abolished section parties because it creates a more relaxed home environment.

Ensuing was a long discussion on which sections can hold parties. Since the situation could get out of hand if too many sections have parties, especially in larger dorms such as Flanner or Grace, it was suggested that lotteries be held to help set a limit. Burke suggested that the rector could have some input in deciding which section could hold a party.

Senate member Tom Yu stated that the section party proposal has the basic ideas, but needs to be rewritten. Burke, upon the group's approval, appointed Greg Miller, Chris Tayback, Bob Yonchak, and Yu to a committee to form the final proposal for section parties.

In other news, Senate member Sue Fleck presented her work on plans for "Lil' Sibs Weekend." She said that, "by involving the student body with its high school-aged brothers and sisters, the student government intends to develop a sense of responsibility and community. The weekend will give younger brothers and sisters a glimpse of what the Notre Dame family really is."

The Senate then unanimously approved that Fleck's plan be submitted to Director of Student Activities James McDonnell.

The Student Senate presentation at the Board of Trustees meeting on Nov. 11 was next on the agenda. Burke suggested the topics be concerning the need to improve social life on campus. He mentioned the possibility of having the meeting at the student union so student interactions could be seen first-hand.

Senate member John Gallagher reminded the Senate of the significance of the fact that the results of the Campus Facilities Survey — a survey conducted at Notre Dame to assess the relationship between campus facilities and social space and the social environment — has been submitted to the Board of Trustees.

Burke added that the Murday Report — a report from last year's president Don Murday assessing the differences between Notre Dame's facilities and those of other universities — should be presented in hope of showing in what aspects ND's social environment falls short of that at other universities.

Several topics were mentioned at the end of the meeting. Among these, Brian Collier expressed his concern about crime and the community's security.

Finally, as the meeting was about to adjourn, it was announced that the procedure for looking into the possibility of having cable TV on campus had begun and would be discussed at a future meeting.

Student Senate member Tom Yu discussed an additional proposal for section parties, a major priority of the Senate of late, at last night's meeting. (See accompanying story). (Photo by Pete Laches)

Board of Governance

Parietals changed at Saint Mary's

By CANDACE GRIFFIN
News Staff

Discussing a range of issues, from a new parietals system to the Oxfam Fast, the Saint Mary's Board of Governance held its weekly meeting last night.

New parietals at Saint Mary's College will go into effect Friday. The new hours are as follows: Fridays from 5 p.m. to 2 a.m.; Saturdays from 1 p.m. to 2 a.m.; Sundays from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m.; and Mondays through Thursdays from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Also discussed were "College-to-Career" days — featuring presentations by St. Mary's graduates who are currently pursuing careers — which will begin today and continue through Thursday.

Barbara Hamel, a banking associate with Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co., will speak to classes throughout the day today and at an informal reception at 6:30 tonight in Carroll Hall. Tomorrow's speaker will be Barbara O'Toole, an attorney with the Roger Baldwin Foundation of American Civil Liberties Union, Inc. O'Toole will follow the same schedule as Hamel, speaking in classrooms during the day and at the informal reception in the evening.

The lectures will conclude Thursday with presentations by Sharon McKernan, an account executive with Merrill Lynch. McKernan will hold a seminar on internships at 3:30 p.m. in the Student Affairs Conference Room, and will speak on choosing majors at a reception at 6:30 that evening in Carroll Hall.

The Board of Governance also announced that there will be a speaker on "How to Survive as a Christian Woman in the Working World" at 3:30 Friday afternoon in the Stapleton Lounge of LeMans Hall.

The Oxfam Fast, another topic introduced at last night's meeting, is an international fast which begins Nov. 18. Sign-ups begin tomorrow in the dining halls, the dormitories, the campus ministry office, and the off-campus student lounge.

The participation goal of this year's fast is 800 students, almost 200 more than last year. Bob Leutke of SAGA has agreed to give $1.55 per meal for every student who fasts. All proceeds will be given to the World Harvest for the hungry.

In other news, there will be a United Way Booth in LeMans lobby Nov. 9-11 to provide students with information about the United Way services. Classes and halls will also be sponsoring fundraising activities in the next few weeks.

Also on the agenda, there will be recruiting for high school juniors and seniors on campus, Sunday, Nov. 7.

Finally, there will be a meeting sponsored by the Alcohol Education Council of Saint Mary's next Tuesday in 171 LeMans. The purpose of the meeting is to encourage the responsible use of alcohol. Those interested should contact Sr. Karol Jackowski (4559).

Writers, Artists, i.e. EVERYONE:

CHIMES

welcomes all contributions of Poetry, Prose, PhotographySubmit to: Room 310
Madaleva
St. Mary's

The Amos Tuck School of Business Administration
Dartmouth College • Hanover, N.H.

Men and Women Seeking Graduate Education for Management are invited to discuss the

TUCK MBA

Tuesday, November 2

Scott Settle, Assistant Director of Admissions
Check with Placement Office • Administration Building
Room 213 • 239-5200

Don't forget to vote!!!

Corby's
CORBY'S
"Tuesday Night Special"
Budweiser Night

2 Bud Grenades / $1
GO IRISH, BEAT PITT

ALL SOULS
DAY MASS

WE GATHER TO REMEMBER ALL THOSE STUDENTS, FACULTY, STAFF AND FAMILY WHO HAVE GONE TO THEIR REST IN THE PAST YEAR.

Tues. Nov. 2nd
5:00 pm
sacred heart

LIBRARY AUDITORIUM

General Admission	$4.00	Tickets
Students	$2.00	284-4626

Q&A

A: (Murphy) Fundraisers.
(Hocter) We felt that it would be best for us to hold the fundraisers and hope that everyone would support them.

A: (Murphy) I think, as we said earlier, it doesn't really matter how much money we raise. Of course, we want to raise as much as we can. Realistically speaking, it's the fund raisers that count. A lot of participation in these fundraisers is what we want to see. Let the students be aware and educated about United

A. (Murphy) Yes. I think that, with the caliber of the people here, it will be successful.

(Hocter) We haven't heard much from the students because not much information has been available to them, but we get the feeling from the girls planning the activities that they are really excited and enthused and ready to talk it up. We think that, just in their enthusiasm, it will be a success.

They volunteered in response to the commission's appeal for testimony that could help resolve the questions that Israel has been agonizing over: when and how

The other commission members are Supreme Court President Yitzhak Kahan and retired Maj. Gen. Yona Efrat. The commission is governed by a strict Israeli law that forbids press commentary on the testimony.

The volunteer staff members of Gaza Hospital in the Sabra camp testified that they began to treat wounded on the morning of Sept. 16, eight hours before Israel says it authorized its Lebanese Christian allies to begin an anti-guerrilla operation in the Palestinian areas.

The witnesses, testifying separately in the hearing room on the Hebrew University campus, said they did not see any killings and did not realize a massacre was under way.

The commission members questioned them closely on evidence that could have implied Israeli involvement.

The witnesses said they saw as many as 10 bulldozers working in the Chatilla camp as they were led out of the area Saturday morning, Sept. 18. Israeli officers acknowledged allowing entry of only one bulldozer, for clearing rubble.

It was later learned that the bulldozers were being used to hide evidence of the massacre and dig mass graves.

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★ COUPON ★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

PONY ALL AMERICAN
with Blue Chevron

PONY ALL AMERICAN
with Red Chevron

PONY ALL AMERICAN
with Silver Chevron

PONY ALL AMERICAN
with Dyable Chevron

WHEN IT COMES TO BASKETBALL WE'VE GOT YOUR NUMBER.

Introducing the Pony All American with Custom Numbers and Lettering and Much More.

There's a hot new number in basketball.

We call it Pony ID's.

Pony ID's are super stick decals that you can apply right on the ankle patch of our new All American Basketball Shoe.

Now you can put your number... your favorite player's number... your school's initials... in your favorite colors... right on the Hottest Basketball Shoe in the game.

But Pony ID's are just part of what's hot in basketball this year.

The big story is the performance features we've built into our new All American Basketball Shoe.

- ① New Shoe Height 30mm. Higher Than Standard Construction.
- ② Full Padded Ankle For Comfort And Extra Support.
- ③ Pony ID Custom Decals.
- ④ Perma-Smooth Toe Box Which Features No Stitch Construction.
- ⑤ New "U" Super Support Lace System.
- ⑥ Unique Stabilizer Bar Toe Box Construction.
- ⑦ Super Grip Non-Skid Two-Color Sole.

Put your feet in our All Americans, and the first thing you'll notice is their incredible comfort and fit. There's no stitching on the inside of the Perma-Smooth toe box so there's nothing to rub against to cause blisters.

Lace 'em up and feel the support that their new "U" lacing system and 30mm. shoe height deliver.

Then turn loose a few moves to feel the lateral support shock absorption and traction you get with our super grip two-color sole.

But the best news of all is that Pony ID's and All Americans are at your favorite Pony dealer NOW!

THE MARK WITH THE CHEVRON.™

AND WE'VE GOT YOUR NUMBER:

Foot Locker
All Stores

Big Sky
University Park

All State Athlete
Southbend

Athlete's Foot
All Stores in IN.

Athletic Annex
All Stores in IN.

Dunham's
Anderson

Dunham's
Monsey

Mike's Sporting Goods
Gary Area

Coach's Corner
Terra Haute

Van's Sporting Goods
Central Indiana

Messenger's Sports Center
Mishawaka

Players Choice
Elkhart

Sports Den
Fort Wayne

Blyth's Sporting Goods
Griffitt

Emroe Stores
All Stores
Greater Indianapolis

All Athletic Dept. Stores
Indiana

Galyan's Trading Post
Indianapolis

Hartzler's Sports Shop
Fort Wayne

Dunham's Sporting Goods
Kokomo, IN.

Dunham's Sporting Goods
Muncie

Dunham's Sporting Goods
Logansport

Jimmy's Athletic Apparel
Hammond

Super Shoes
Indianapolis

GOOD LUCK FOR A GREAT SEASON TO COACH RICHARD DIGGER PHELPS & THE FIGHTING IRISH

Economic Update

Government price support loans made to farmers in November will carry an interest rate of 9.75 percent, down from 11 percent which had been in effect in October, the Agriculture Department said yesterday. Everett Rank of the USDA's Commodity Credit Corp. said the lower rate reflects the lower cost of money charged by the Treasury in November. The new rate is the lowest charged farmers by CCC since the 1979 crop when loans bore an interest rate of 9 percent, Rank said. — AP

Yields on short-term Treasury securities declined slightly in yesterday's auctions after rising the previous two weeks, officials reported. About $5.6 billion in new three-month bills were auctioned at an average discount rate of 7.813 percent, down from the 8.031 percent of last week. The government also sold about $5.6 billion in six-month bills at an average rate of 8.231 percent, down from 8.472 percent. Yesterday's yields, a measure of the cost of government borrowing from the public, were the lowest since the Oct. 18 levels of 7.437 percent for three-month bills and 7.762 percent for six-month bills. The discount rate on the new T-bills auctioned yesterday understates the actual return to investors. That return, or investment rate, came to an average of 8.08 percent on three-month bills and 8.71 percent on six-month bills. — AP

The United Auto Workers union and Champion Spark Plug Co. will open contract negotiations today in Fort Wayne, Ind., Raymond Majerus, UAW secretary-treasurer, said yesterday. In a statement, Majerus did not comment on specific issues of the talks but noted the company "has always been one of the most profitable auto parts manufacturers in the world. Although its profits have declined in the most recent economic recession, it still operates a viable, profitable business." The UAW represents more than 4,000 Champion workers at plants in Detroit; Toledo, Ohio; Cambridge, Ohio; Hellertown, Pa.; Burlington, Iowa, and Windsor, Ontario. Their contract expires Feb. 1. Champion makes more than 450 types of spark plugs and supplies more than 200 companies. — AP

The Indiana Department of Revenue sent out checks totaling $1.64 million on yesterday to out-of-state residents who paid an occupational income tax that was later declared unconstitutional. The Indiana Supreme Court order refunds to those who paid the taxes to Clark, Dearborn, Perry and Randolph counties and the city of New Albany. Revenue Commissioner William D. Haan said the 2,959 checks were the first group being mailed to comply with the court's order. Other claim forms have been received by the state and are in the processing stage, he said. All told, more than $2 million in occupational income taxes has been ordered to be repaid to people who filed proper claims with the revenue department. Haan said that people who have filed claim forms for the refunds should wait a few more weeks for processing before asking about the status of their refunds. As part of the court's order, just of 14 percent of each refund is being withheld to pay attorney's fees in the class action lawsuit. — AP

Wall Street Update

The stock market rose sharply yesterday, recouping some of last week's losses with a rally inspired by falling interest rates. Trading was relatively quiet, however, on the eve of today's elections. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, off 39.74 last week, climbed 13.98 to 1,005.70. Volume on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 73.53 million shares, against 74.83 million T Friday. — AP

A Texas International Airlines DC-9 gets a name change as a maintenance worker removes the backing from the new lettering of Continental Airlines who entered a merger agreement effective last Sunday. Another TI aircraft undergoes a facelift in the background at the Hobby maintenance hanger. (AP Photo)

fective last Sunday. Another TI aircraft undergoes a facelift in the background at the Hobby maintenance hanger. (AP Photo)

Tylenol reputation

Johnson & Johnson's major crisis

By MILTON MOSCOWITZ
Special to The Observer

It's always intriguing to watch the corporate mind at work during a crisis. How does it react?

Johnson & Johnson (J & J), one of the world's largest health-care companies, has on its hands an agonizing problem of which few Americans can be unaware. Nine people have died after taking Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules which had been laced with cyanide. Tylenol is the largest single selling product in J & J's medicine chest, bringing in $500 million a year or 8 percent of the company's total sales.

So you're J & J — what do you do? It needs to be stated first — and underlined heavily — that no one is blaming J & J for this tragedy. It's clear that the capsules were tampered with after leaving the factory. David Collins, president of McNeil Consumer Products, the J & J unit that markets Tylenol, put it this way:

"Tylenol was built on the quality of the product, the quality of the manufacturer. The confidence of the American consumer built this product. Nothing has changed. What has changed is that we have an insane individual or individuals out there who have elected to contaminate this product."

However, just because J & J is blameless doesn't mean that it can easily escape the consequences of this mindless poisoning. Many consumers stopped buying Tylenol of any kind, including in the tablet form. And some retailers swept their shelves of all Tylenol.

So J & J found itself a victim with the task of rebuilding consumer confidence in the Tylenol brand name. Many so-called "experts" on Madison Avenue believe it's an impossible task and that J & J would be smart to market its non-aspirin painkiller under a different name. But J & J is rejecting that gratuitous advice.

Lawrence Foster, public relations director of J & J, told me that the company has been gratified by the "outpouring of empathy and support" it has received from all quarters. And so J & J is determined to stick with the Tylenol name. Foster said it is J & J's belief that the American people are smart enough to see that Tylenol should not be hung because of the actions of a lunatic. Still, if that's the case, you wonder what went into the decision by J & J not to sign the recall advertisement which it placed in more than 300 newspapers across the country during the week of October 10. J & J paid $1.5 million for this space, which announced a voluntary recall of all Tylenol capsules and offered consumers three choices:

1. Return the bottles and have them replaced with Tylenol tablets.
2. Return the capsules to stores for replacement with tablets.
3. Return the bottle and get a cash refund for the unused capsules.

Nowhere in the ad was there a mention of Johnson & Johnson or its subsidiary, McNeil Laboratories. The top simply carried the notice that this was "a special announcement from the makers of Tylenol." People returning bottles were directed to send them to "Tylenol Exchange" at a Post Office box number in Maple Plain, Minnesota. J & J is located in New Brunswick, N.J.

Foster assured me that "no profound thinking" had gone into the decision not to sign the advertisement. Tylenol, he pointed out, had been sold on the Tylenol name, not on J & J's. But if J & J has such confidence in the sanity of the American public, why was it afraid to put its name on advertising space it had paid for?

Wall Street Journal reporter Dennis Kneale had one explanation. He said marketing experts had advised J & J that the Tylenol case might have "adverse effects on other J & J products." Can you imagine people not buying Band-Aids and Johnson & Johnson's baby shampoo because of the Tylenol contamination? I can't — but J & J is apparently not taking any chances.

(c) 1982, Los Angeles Times Syndicate

ND Financial Institution Series starts tomorrow

By SANDY VALENZUELA
Staff Reporter

Changes occurring in finance today is the underlying theme of the three-day Notre Dame Financial Institution Series. Speakers will present their topics tomorrow through Friday at 8:00 p.m. in the Memorial Library Auditorium.

The series, sponsored by the Notre Dame Finance Club, begins tomorrow evening with Dr. Walter O. Habermeier presenting "The Role of the International Monetary Fund in the Changing World Financial System."

Habermeier, the Counsellor and Treasurer of the International Monetary Fund, received his doctoral in economics from the University of Munich. He was formerly on the staff of the Deutsche Bundesbank in Frankfurt and held the position of Alternative Executive Director of the IMF for the Federal Republic of Germany.

He was also a member of the German Permanent Delegation to the OEEC in Paris and assisted the President of the European Monetary Agreement and was on the committee to liberalize invisible transactions. He has been involved in the International Monetary Fund since 1966.

Thursday, Roger E. Birk, Chairman and Executive Officer of Merrill

Lynch & Co., Inc., will discuss "The Financial Services Industry and the Throes of Change." Birk is a member of the Business Roundtable and is a Task Force Co-Chairman for the President's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control in Federal Government. He also serves on the President's Commission on Executive Exchange.

Friday, Leland Prussia will explain the topic of "Structure Changes: New Reality for Global Banking." Presently Chairman of the Board of Bank of America NT&SA, Prussia has also held the position of Executive Officer of the bank's World Banking Division. He is also the member of such exclusive clubs as the Commonwealth Club of California, Bankers Club of San Francisco, and the American Finance and Western Economic Associations.

He has been with the bank since 1956, at which time he was research economist. Aside from the bank, Prussia is a member of the California Roundtable and is on the Advisory Council of the J.L. Kellogg Graduate School of Management of Northwestern University. He also is a member of the Payments Systems Committee of the Association of Reserve City Bankers.

There will be an informal reception following each presentation at the Morris Inn. The reception will be open to everyone.

AURELIO'S

1705 So. Bend Ave.
277-4950

OPEN
4pm DAILY
Sun til 11:30pm
Fri & Sat til 12:30pm
Closed Monday

WE DELIVER to Notre Dame & St. Mary's

DINE IN or CARRY OUT
ENJOY OUR FINE PIZZA,
ITALIAN SANDWICHES PASTA
Free Liter of "RC" Delivery Order

CARRY OUT
THE FAMILY PIZZERIA
DELIVERY

Remember horror behind tainted mask

Halloween presented its usual array of costumes last weekend. Creative men and women who had devoted much time and patience in conceiving and making their masks and garb shared their artistic talents with their fellow revelers. But then there were some not so creative people who chose to substitute senseless attention-getters for artistic endeavors. Those were most notably the persons who made fun of the deaths of seven Chicagoans, the victims of the cyanide-tainted Tylenol capsules.

Paul McGinn

Roper Review

I distinctly remember the three "costumes" I saw at one Halloween party: a couple, in their mid-twenties, donned sheets emblazoned both back and front with the facsimile of a Tylenol capsule and skull and crossbones; another "creative genius" sported black leotards, a black mask, and an extra-strength Tylenol capsule box around his mid-section. Without a doubt, these three people caught the attention of the crowd, a crowd composed of well-to-do and intellectual New Orleanians.

Somehow, a few of the citizens of the "City that care forgot" forgot to care. In that city, 1,000 miles away from the funerals, the mourning, and the disgust, there was an insipid view that the license accorded to the pretend horror of Halloween should include the real horror of innocent men and women. And even though the local media blitzed the airwaves with the agony of the victims' relatives and the fervor with which Chicago police sought the murderer, these New Orleanians could not fathom the fact that those victims were just like the victims of the July 9 crash of Pan American Flight 759.

I remember taking off just 40 minutes after that fatal crash. As our jet skirted the air space above the crash site, I thought about how many persons I knew whose bodies lay in that still-smoking wreckage. I wondered how lucky I was not to have been a passenger on that flight and thought of the tragedy which lay scattered over that neighborhood in Kenner.

And yet, I saw no men or women dressed as crash victims or fitted with a model of that beleaguered plane. Of course, it would have been a morbid and heartless display to have made fun of something which immediately touched the lives of so many New Orleanians; doubtless, the crash affected a few of those in attendance, and to make fun of their misery would have undoubtedly provoked more misery and possibly anger.

But no one openly expressed anger over or resentment of the Tylenol costumes. Though a few gave disapproving glances, many tapped their conversation partner on the shoulder to view the "witty" and "topical" costumes.

By last weekend, the month-old media blitz about the Tylenol case was beginning to jade the senses of any New Orleanians. Those seven deaths and the search for their murderer(s) were no longer "news," but had become simply another example of man's inhumanity to man.

But even though the local and national media pummeled the story into the heads of their listeners, how could New Orleanians laugh at another's misery while still mourning the crash of Flight 759? Was it a simple question of the mileage which separated the amusement of the party guests and the horror of the Tylenol tragedy?

Could we ever hope to instill within ourselves a longer lasting sense of sympathy for those victims?

But the key to understanding the conflicting responses lies not in a lengthening of one's feelings of sympathy. The key lies in an individual's ability to place himself within the mind of the mourner, to empathize with his fellow human. Sympathy allows the individual to remain an anonymous and distant observer of the situation. He who merely pities another maintains his unaffected outlook and fails to become one of "those poor devils."

Empathy, however, pulls the empathizer into the same predicament which the mourner experiences. It is easy to empathize with a friend or loved one who experiences misery. It is easy to feel with a victim's relative whom we see every day on the street. It is easy to grasp the horror of a plane crash which occurs only across town. But it is so difficult to empathize with those about whom we merely read or hear, those who never shake our hands.

Empathy does not concern a competition between us and them; empathy is a matter of community respect for those who are not just like us, but those who are us. If we are to truly share in the misery of one another, we cannot simply pity them; we must feel for us.

Genuine learning begins only after graduation

For seniors, every little landmark through the year takes on special meaning — the last October break, the last home football game, the last first semester, on the list marches until the final day. These constant reminders of our academic mortality often lead us to reflect on what we have gotten from our four years here.

Robert Wack

Both Sides

Many seniors, myself included, are chafing to get out. We are ready to graduate, more than willing to take that last step. There are also those who are finding it hard to break away, to leave the comfort and security behind. Both groups, though, as a whole would probably say that Notre Dame has prepared them well for what comes after these four years. This belief could not be any further from the truth.

True, we have all received some of the finest academic training in the country, but this pales in comparison to the vast ignorance most of us suffer from when it comes to life in the "real" world. At Notre Dame, we have been living in an insulated, self-contained environment. Most of us came from the same nice, upper-middle class suburban terrarium, innocent of the true rigors of survival. Even during the summer, when almost all slave to earn money for the coming school year, we still have the comforts of home, free room and board, and plenty of friends around.

For some, graduation will not be that traumatic. The transition from the Notre Dame fantasyland to whatever illusory world the family's wealth constructs will be fairly smooth. Whether these people are to be pitied or envied is not clear; the fact remains that they will not have to deal with the everyday demands of survival.

The rest of us will not have it so easy with loans to be paid, deadlines to be met, and the rest of the interminable morass of trivial and not so trivial details of living. What has Notre Dame taught us about cutting back to one meal a day so we can pay our rent? What arts and letters course teaches you how to deal with bums and winos on the subway? Who in the science department tells you how to figure out what buses to take across town? How many professors in the College of Business can tell you what to do when you are in a strange town with no money?

It is common for seniors to feel that when they graduate from college they are finished with learning and are now about to start making a living. It comes as a shock to many to find out that they have only just begun to learn, and that working is more learning how to survive than living. Why do you think alumni come back so rabidly in love with their memories of college? If life after graduation was such a cake walk of reaping the fruits of our four years labor, tailgaters would be a lot less crowded. The fact of the matter is, Notre Dame is fun, and we do learn a lot of neat things, but when it comes down to getting along in the world, there is no substitute for the big classroom out there. Any smugness felt as we step out after receiving our diplomas will not last long.

P.O. Box Q

Open contraception debate

Dear Editor:

Since I have been at Notre Dame, I have heard and read little discussion about contraception by members of the Notre Dame community. This surprises me because the moral issue of contraception is one of which is of special concern to modern Catholics: that is, modern secular society promotes contraception as the best solution to many of the world's problems whereas the Catholic Church teaches that contraception is one of the world's problems.

The Church teaches that contraception is evil in itself and that it facilitates and leads to many other moral evils, such as sex outside of marriage and abortion (most directly in that some forms of the pill and the I.U.D. work, on occasion, by causing early-term abortions).

Who is right — modern secular society or the Church? We will never know the answer to this question unless we examine the arguments on both sides and consider which "group" is better able to judge the morality of contraception.

I write this because on Oct. 12 The Ob- server printed an article which reported the search for an effective male contraceptive. And, I think it is fair to observe that the article had an obvious tone of advocacy.

Now, I am not suggesting that such articles not be printed; I am challenging The Observer and the Notre Dame community not to let the modern secular society dictate our attitudes on the magnitude of the moral issue of contraception. Why not search out and report upon the studies of those who find the free dispensation of contraception to be one of the chief causes of the epidemic of teenage pregnancy? Why not report the studies of those who have catalogued the extensive physical dangers risked by the use of contraception? Why not report the enormous success of natural family planning techniques? And why not, as members of a Catholic community, engage in respectful and obedient consideration of the Church's teaching on this matter?

Janet E. Smith
Asst. Professor
Program of Liberal Studies

Caveat emptor!

Dear Editor:

We the members of Pasquerilla East Hall wish to relate what recently happened when we attempted to purchase hall sweatshirts. After contacting every T-shirt shop listed in the South Bend Yellow Pages, we decided to do business with Colley's Imported Sportswear, because they offered us the most competitive price. When we went to the store to look at sample shirts and color charts, the owner explained that the person to whom we had previously spoken had misquoted their prices, and that we would have to purchase the shirts for an additional two dollars. We then agreed to this price adjustment, and made an order for one hundred and twenty sweatshirts the following week.

When we returned to Colley's with cash in hand, ready to order our sweatshirts, the owner informed us that, due to price increases which she had encountered, her price for sweatshirts had more than doubled. Although we as students complain that Notre Dame is not "the real world," and that we often lose touch with events occurring beyond the realm of the Golden Dome, it is difficult to believe that the price of a sweatshirt could more than doubled in a week's time.

Fortunately, we have discovered that not all businessmen in the South Bend area are as unreceptive to students' business as Colley's. Upon examination of this situation, however, we have become concerned about the manner in which student business is handled by some merchants.

Can these businessmen, in these depressed economic times, actually afford to reject legitimate accounts? Or, do they assume that Notre Dame students are either wealthy or naive enough to pay exorbitant prices for the items they wish to purchase?

As members of the Michiana community, our business affairs should be accorded the same respect and courtesy as those of any other citizens. It is our responsibility, therefore, to assert our rights as consumers, and to refuse to patronize those establishments which do not respect us as equal members of the consumer world.

Residents of Pasquerilla East

The Observer

The Observer is an independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and as objectively as possible. Editorials represent the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, opinions and letters are the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556 (219) 239-5303

Editorial Board

Editor-in-Chief.....Michael Monk
Managing Editor.....Ryan Ver Berkmoes
Executive News Editor.....Dave Dziedzic
SMC Executive Editor.....Margaret Fosmoe
Sports Editor.....Chris Needles
Editorials Editor.....Paul McGinn
Features Editor.....Tari Brown
Photo Editor.....Rachel Blount

Department Managers

Business Manager.....Tony Aiello
Controller.....Eric Schulz
Advertising Manager.....Chris Owen
Production Manager.....Maura Murphy
Circulation Manager.....Ray Inglin Systems Manager.....Bruce Oakley

Founded November 3, 1966

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes will hold a meeting tonight in the St. Ed's chapel at 8. All are invited.

— The Observer

The ND-SMC Women's Crew

Club will discuss winter training at a mandatory meeting tomorrow night, scheduled for 8 at LaFortune. — The Observer

Sports Editor Chris Needles

will discuss the Irish offense as well as Coach Gerry Faust's recent verbal offensive on tonight's "Speaking of Sports" program, to be hosted by Will Hare. Air time on WSND, 64-AM, is 10. — The Observer

Tom Nissalke, the new coach of the Cleveland Cavaliers, could justifiably beg off when quizzed about his team's record-tying, 21-game losing streak. After all, Nissalke's been around for only two of the losses. But he prefers to tackle the streak head-on. "I told the players I can see how the team lost a lot of games, and how they won only 15 last year," Nissalke said. "It isn't going to be easy." Cleveland's 119-95 loss to the Milwaukee Bucks Sunday night matched the NBA record of 21 consecutive losses over two seasons. The Detroit Pistons lost 21 in a row in 1979-80 and 1980-81. — AP

Negotiations aimed at ending the six-week old National Football League players' strike were recessed after an air of optimism reverted once again to frustration. Player representatives, angered over a management wage-scale proposal, charged the club owners with moving backward in negotiations. They later vented their anger in a one-hour meeting with mediator Sam Kagel in New York City last night. — AP

Irish unranked by AP

No. 1 Pitt opens wide margin

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press

The Pitt Panthers opened a commanding lead today in The Associated Press college football poll, while Washington fell from second to 10th and Southern Methodist moved past Georgia into the runner-up position, its highest ranking in 32 years.

In addition, Arizona State shot from seventh place to fourth, while Miami and Auburn dropped out of the Top Twenty and Maryland and Florida replaced them.

Pitt, a 63-14 winner over Louisville, received 48 of 60 first-place votes and 1,181 of a possible 1,200 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

SMU trounced Texas A&M 47-9 and nosed past Georgia into second place with five first-place votes and 1,095 points. Second is the Mustangs' highest standing since they were No. 1 for two weeks during the 1950 season.

Georgia received three firsts and 1,092 points following a 34-3 triumph over Memphis State and Arizona State, which turned back Southern California 17-10, earned three firsts and 986 points.

Pitt, SMU, Georgia and Arizona State are unbeaten and untied, as is Arkansas, which defeated Rice 24-6. The Razorbacks received the remaining first-place vote and 964 points in holding onto fifth place.

Rounding out the Top Ten are Nebraska, Penn State, Alabama, UCLA and Washington.

Nebraska remained No. 6 with 891 points following a 52-0 rout of Kansas. Penn State trounced Boston College 52-17 and climbed from eighth to seventh, while Alabama downed Mississippi State 20-12 and rose from ninth to eighth with 754 points.

UCLA, unbeaten but once tied, whipped Oregon 40-12 and jumped from 11th to ninth with 727 points, while Washington, which had been No. 1 for six consecutive weeks earlier in the year, plummeted from second to ninth with 660 points after losing to Stanford 43-31.

The Second Ten consists of LSU, Florida State, Clemson, Oklahoma, Michigan, Southern Cal, West Virginia, North Carolina, Maryland and Florida.

Last week, it was UCLA, Southern Cal, LSU, Florida State, Clemson, Miami, Oklahoma, West Virginia, Auburn and Michigan.

AP Top 20

The Top Twenty college football teams in The Associated Press poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, this season's records and total points. Points based on 20-19-18-17 etc. Notre Dame opponents are italicized.

1. Pittsburgh (48)	7-0-0	1,181
2. So. Methodist (5)	8-0-0	1,095
3. Georgia (3)	7-0-0	1,092
4. Arizona State (3)	8-0-0	986
5. Arkansas (1)	7-0-0	964
6. Nebraska	7-1-0	891
7. Penn State	7-1-0	850
8. Alabama	7-1-0	754
9. UCLA	7-0-1	727
10. Washington	7-1-0	660
11. Louisiana State	6-0-1	602
12. Florida State	6-1-0	543
13. Clemson	6-1-1	415
14. Oklahoma	6-2-0	306
15. Michigan	6-2-0	294
16. USC	5-2-0	281
17. West Virginia	6-2-0	277
18. North Carolina	5-2-0	233
19. Maryland	6-2-0	184
20. Florida	5-2-0	121

HOCKEY

In this year's NHL playoff format, the top four teams in each division make the playoffs, regardless of overall league standing.

PRINCE OF WALES CONFERENCE

Adams Division
	W	L	T	GF	GA	Pts.
Montreal	7	2	3	57	41	17
Quebec	6	4	1	59	53	13
Boston	5	4	3	39	40	13
Buffalo	4	5	3	50	49	11
Hartford	2	6	2	32	49	6

Patrick Division
	W	L	T	GF	GA	Pts.
N.Y. Islanders	11	2	0	66	36	22
Philadelphia	8	5	0	54	40	16
N.Y. Rangers	6	7	0	53	54	12
New Jersey	3	7	3	43	56	9
Washington	3	6	1	36	49	7
Pittsburgh	3	9	1	42	70	7

CLARENCE CAMPBELL CONFERENCE

Smythe Division
	W	L	T	GF	GA	Pts.
Winnipeg	6	3	1	51	32	13
Los Angeles	5	4	3	47	49	13
Calgary	5	7	2	66	65	12
Edmonton	4	6	3	59	65	11
Vancouver	4	6	2	43	39	10

Norris Division
	W	L	T	GF	GA	Pts.
Minnesota	9	2	1	54	37	19
Chicago	6	2	4	52	43	16
St. Louis	5	7	0	44	48	10
Toronto	2	5	4	38	45	8
Detroit	3	8	1	37	58	7

Yesterday's Result

Calgary 6, New Jersey 3

Tonight's Games

Vancouver at Quebec
Minnesota at Hartford
New Jersey at Montreal
Pittsburgh at N.Y. Islanders
Detroit at St. Louis

Brian

The saga of a 6 month old domer.

Classifieds

The Observer will accept classifieds Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. However, classifieds to appear in the next issue must be received by 3 p.m. the business day prior to insertion. All classifieds must be prepaid, either in person or through the mail.

NOTICES

Surplus jeeps, cars and trucks available. Many sell for under $200. Call 312-742-1143, ext. 7316 for information on how to purchase.

TYPING AVAILABLE 287-4082

FOR RENT

Nice furnished house 2 blocks to N.D. 277-3604 or 288-0955.

Student Housing - Clean - Safe $100/mo. 291-1405.

WANTED

Desperately need ride to Pitt vs. N.D. game. Will leave anytime. Share expenses. Therese 284-4298

3 Rides needed Champaign-Urbana ISU. Weekend of Michigan game. Nov. 6. Call Al 282-1630.

NEED RIDE to U. of Ill. this weekend. Will share expenses. Marya 1266/7

Riders wanted to Pittsburgh for the Pitt game. Will be leaving Friday between 10 and 11 a.m. Call Tim at 8631

FOR SALE

FOR SALE: Girl's size 9 suede jacket. Marya 1266/7

FOR SALE 1 Pitt GA. Or will trade for Penn State GA. Call Kim at 288-1917.

TICKETS

You Won't Believe It But ... I need two Penn State GA's, and rather badly at that. Do you want to make my entire career here under the Golden Dome complete? Then please sell me your Penn st. fix call cindy at 2948

Help - My mom is bringing Jim Morrison and two other friends in from the African Continent to see Penn State play football. So I need 2 GA's and two stud. fix for ultra high bux call Mark at 3249

WILL PAY BIG MONEY FOR 4 PENN STATE GA TIX. CALL 312-565-5959 COLLECT AND ASK FOR STEVE LONGLEY.

Need Penn State Ga's. Will pay cold hard cash. 8539

GOLLY JEEPERS! I need two PENN STATE GA's, big brother would like to see a game with Pop. Call DAVE at 1165.

NEED PENN ST GAs BIG TIME! $$$ CALL 1627

NEEDED DESPERATELY! 2 g.a. fix to the penn st game. The earlier you call the more deluxe your bux. call matt 277-4573

Need 2 GA's & 2 student fix for Penn St First game ever for my family 277-0593

I need Penn State tickets! Student or GA Melissa x1308

HELP! Need two PITT GAs. Please call Nancy 1880.

HELP! Haven't seen parents in 3 months and won't see them til Christmastime unless I can get some PENN STATE GA's. Please reunite me with my parents. Kathy x6973. Thankyou

HELP! I need 4 Penn St. GA fix. Call Brian at 255-3287

Need 2 G.A. fix for Penn. State game. Parents want to see first ND game. Please call Nancy 4449 SMC.

Wanted: 4 G.A.'s for Penn St. $$$ Call Sue x5429 (smc) $$$

We need Penn State GAs. Call Dave 3673 (best late) or Tim 3667

Need two GA's for Penn State $$$ are no problem. Call Mike at 3626.

FREE BEER or 2 PITT fix (or both) wanted. Call 1374

Wanted: 2 GAs to Penn St. Name your price. 6849 after 10 pm.

I need tickets to the Pitt game. Please call Ari at 277-8371

NEED 4 PITT TIX CALL 1175

NEED PENN STATE GA TIX CALL 1173

I NEED 6 GAs ... and all the help I can get in finding them. They don't have to be together. 7947 Ask for Kathy. THANKS.

help need Penn St fix student or GA Call Steve 8670 or 8681

WE NEED PENN ST TICKETS CALL DAVE OR DON 1850

I NEED PITT, PENN ST GAs $$$CALL BRENDAN 3207

PERSONALS

ASSOCIATE WITH US
HOLY CROSS ASSOCIATES, 1-2 YR. POSTGRAD SERVICE PROGRAM WITH SIMPLE CHRISTIAN LIFESTYLE IN USA AND CHILE. CHILE DEADLINE NOV. 4. CALL MARY ANN ROEMER 5293.

SENIORS
FOR 1983-85, CONSIDER WORK WITH HOLY CROSS ASSOCIATES PROGRAM IN CHILE. APPLICATION DEADLINE NOV. 4TH. CALL MARY ANN ROEMER 5293.

Q: What do you call a hot dog with the insides all taken out?
A: A Hollow Weenie!

If you want to do New York right-do it with the Fitz. Thanks Kelly and Nancy I had a great time!

Love, Gloria
P.S. Nancy, the phone is for you!!

And a big Hello! goes out to Mary Jane, Kathy, Julie, Therese, and Amy. Wild Walsh Frosh!

TO OUR FRIENDS OF 61 W 62nd ST (17 J)
NYC AND ROCK PUB WILL NEVER BE THE SAME. Mr. Butler's boxers. Guido dancing. shopping from strangers in Central Park lunch at The Saloon Colleen's apt. keys in Boston. unexpected businessmen. cocktails. waterskiing on Hudson R. GW bldg. It's just a funny thing! Confusing. Thanks for the laughs and crazy times!!!
LOVE. YA! KAREN, JULIE, ELLEN, SHEILA, JOAN, KRIS

Yo Bridget happy 18th birthday you fox monster you love ya

A1 & A2

GOOD LUCK, DZAVE!!!

MATT: So you didn't like the teatards huh? We'll do it again sometime without them? GUESS WHO

Kelly green underwear. brown shoes with a tux. stripes with plaids, and my personals. all in BAD TASTE, the theme of this fall's BEAUX ARTS BALL

Its coming soon. The BEAUX ARTS BALL. Fri. Nov. 12. 8:30 PM Featuring the sounds of THE VERBS. Candidate for Event of the Semester most definitely Karen J. Congratulations for acceptance to Loyola. No more small town blues!

ENGINEER'S NIGHT AT SENIOR BAR Tuesday, Nov. 2 - 10 pm

ENGINEER'S NIGHT AT SENIOR BAR Tuesday, Nov. 2 - 10 pm

ENGINEER'S NIGHT AT SENIOR BAR Tuesday, Nov. 2 - 10 pm

DDT did a job on me
Now I am a real sickie
Guess I'll have to spread the news
That I got no mind to lose
Gonna get my PhD
I'm a Teenage Lobotomy

Slugs and snails are after me
DDT keeps me happy
Now I gonna have to tell em
That I got no cerebellum
All the girls are in love with me
I'm a Teenage Lobotomy

Clemson awaits word of NCAA's verdict

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) - The NCAA's Infractions Committee has reached a decision on the fate of defending national champion Clemson's football program but won't make it public for now, says a committee member.

The committee, meeting at Indian Lakes Resort in a Chicago suburb, met with Clemson officials Thursday, Friday and Saturday, then held a seven-hour huddle Sunday, according to committee member Minette Massey of the University of Miami.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association has spent 19 months looking into allegations of football recruiting violations.

Rader named 12th Ranger manager

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Doug Rader, who never has managed in the major leagues but was a fun-loving, five-time Gold Glove winner as a player, became the Texas Rangers' 12th manager in 12 years yesterday.

Rader, 38, who spent three years as manager of the Hawaii Islanders of the Pacific Coast League, the San Diego Padres' Triple A farm team, officially was named to manage the Rangers at a 1 p.m. news conference. Hawaii posted a 221-201 record and made the PCL playoffs twice.

General Manager Joe Klein introduced Rader as his choice to rebuild a team that lost 98 games last year in the American League West. Rader replaced interim Manager Darrell Johnson, who took over last July after Don Zimmer was fired.

See RADER, page 12

THURSDAY AT THE SNITE

It's an event:
MUSEUM TOURS
CIDER & DOUGHNUTS
BUTTONS

NOV. 4
4 TO 8 PM

COMPLETE
BEAUTY
SERVICE
FASHION FLAIR
BEAUTY
SALON
*REDKIN
SCIENTIFIC
HAIR CARE CENTER

Precision Cutting, Perms, Correcting Hair Coloring

Next to Cira's Restaurant
Evenings by Appt.

2009 Miami
288-0733

"A decision has been made," she said told The Greenville News from her home late Sunday, "but all I can tell you is that it will go back to Kansas City to be typed up and a confidential report will be mailed to Clemson."

"Clemson has 15 days to decide whether to take an appeal or not. If it does not take an appeal, the decision officially will be released from Kansas City. If it does take an appeal, it will not be heard until a later date."

An appeal is presented before the NCAA council, which is scheduled to hold its next meeting in January.

Although Massey would not be specific about the six-member Infractions Committee's three-day session with Clemson officials, she said: "everyone behaved and performed well and were well prepared. Everyone was as congenial as they could be, under the circumstances."

Clemson officials returned Sunday to await the panel's verdict.

"We know nothing," university attorney Morris Rosen said Sunday evening from his Charleston home.

Rosen said Clemson would be notified within 24 hours of an NCAA news release on the decision.

Irish defensive linemen Mike Gann (78) and Bob Clasby (91) break through the Navy offensive line to put pressure on Middle quarterback Tom Tarquinio (17). The "Gold Rush" forced Tarquinio into a Giants Stadium-record six interceptions. (Photo by Scott Bower)

"Sparen Sie 30¢"

Viennese style, with a touch of cinnamon.

"Economisez 30¢"

Smooth and light, French-style.

"Risparmia 30¢"

Creamy rich, with an orange twist.

"Sábhail 30¢"

Delicious, like a chocolate after-dinner mint.

"Epargnez 30¢"

Rich and chocolatey Swiss.

"Risparmia 30¢"

Delicate and aromatic, with just a kiss of amaretto flavoring.

30¢
STORE COUPON
30¢

"Save 30¢"

GENERAL FOODS INTERNATIONAL COFFEES.

To the retailer: General Foods Corp. will reimburse you for the face value of this coupon plus 7¢ for handling if you receive it on the sale of the specified product and if upon request you submit evidence of purchase thereof satisfactory to General Foods Corp. Coupon may not be assigned, transferred or reproduced. Customer must pay any sales tax. Void where prohibited, taxed or restricted by law. Good only in U.S.A.

Puerto Rico and U.S. Gov't. Install. Cash value: 1/20¢. Coupon will not be honored if presented through outside agencies, brokers or others who are not retail distributors of our merchandise or specifically authorized by us to present coupons for redemption. For redemption of properly received and handled coupon, mail to: General Foods Corp., P.O. Box 103, Kankakee, IL 60902.

This coupon good only on purchase of product indicated. Any other use constitutes fraud.

GENERAL FOODS CORPORATION

30¢
30¢

Joe Rudzinski (51) moves in to make the stop on Navy tailback Bryan Caraveo (right). Rudzinski had five tackles in Saturday's 27-10 Notre Dame victory. (Photo by Scott Bower)

Eastern swing

ND women third in Penn tourney

By MIKE SULLIVAN
Sports Writer

It was a good fall break for the Notre Dame women's volleyball team. The team traveled to Philadelphia to take on its toughest competition of the year and, by playing well, greatly enhanced its chances for an NCAA tournament bid.

The first stop for the Irish was the University of Pennsylvania Invitational. They came within one point of advancing to the finals, finishing with a 4-2 record in the tournament and an impressive third place showing. The losses came against the eventual tournament champion and runner-up.

Notre Dame was pitted against host Penn in the first match. Penn, the tournament champion, did not supply a nice welcome, taking both games. The Irish turned things around, however, as they handled Cornell (15-7, 15-11), Wake Forest (15-3, 15-12), Colgate (16-14, 16-14), and Duke (15-6, 15-2) easily to reach the semifinals.

Cornell, which had lost to the Irish already, was the opponent. After the Irish took the first game, 15-8, it appeared that they would get a rematch with Penn in the finals. However, Cornell fought back to win the second game, 15-13, and force a third and final game.

Once again, Notre Dame appeared ready to go on to the finals as it jumped out to a 14-11 lead, needing just one more point for a victory. Cornell hung tough, though, and came back to take the last five points and the match.

Coach Sandy Vanslager's Irish proceeded to take their act to the Main Line to play Villanova University. The Wildcats, however, were no match for the smarter and quicker Irish. Notre Dame won the match in three straight games, 16-6 (the Villanova scorer made an error), 16-14, and 15-4.

"The girls were functioning as a team," said Vanslager. "There was a lot of good movement from offense to defense."

"They didn't err as much," added Assistant Coach Dan Anderson. "The coverage and the defense was good."

"We've seen an overall improvement in individual play," continued Vanslager, "which we expected at this point in the season. We would have been even stronger except for injuries. Karen Bauters is still hurting. She couldn't get up on her jump because of her bad ankle. We also really could have used (injured co-captain) Josie Maternowski."

Injuries was not the only problem that the team was forced to overcome. A shortage of players was also a major problem. Because of their budget, Vanslager and Anderson could only bring eight players to Philadelphia.

Co-captain Mary Jo Hensler, because of Maternowski's absence, had to fulfill all the duties of team captain. Hensler, Bauters (who is valuable to the team even when injured), Terese Henken, Jackie Pagley, Robin Israel, Nancy Evans, and Maureen Morin needed to have the stamina to last as many matches as necessary.

The October break activity did not end in Philadelphia, however. The team had to play in another tournament at Lake Michigan College last Saturday.

This tournament included some small schools from Michigan and Ohio and was comprised of games to 11, rather than of games to 15. The results are not recognized by the NCAA.

The team started out slowly, making many service errors as the players had trouble adjusting to the cramped quarters in the Lake Michigan gym. The lack of room also gave the team problems in setting up spikes. While waiting for the set, the spikers were forced to stand right against the benches.

By the time the team adjusted to the situation, it had no chance to reach the finals. It finished up the tournament with a 5-3 record.

The team's NCAA-recognized record is now 10-1 as it heads into its final five matches. The next match is tomorrow when the team travels to Tri-State College for a triangular meet with Tri-State and IU-PU Fort Wayne.

... Rader

continued from page 11

Owner Eddie Chiles also elevated Klein from his farm director's job to general manager after firing Eddie Robinson.

Jim Leyland, third base coach for the Chicago White Sox, was the other finalist in Klein's search for a manager.

Rader was known as "The Rooster" during his playing days, which included nine years with the Houston Astros.

Asked what kind of a player he was, Rader said: "I was a good player at the end of the game when it meant something. I enjoyed every game to the hilt ... I played hard."

YOUR CHANCE TO COME TO LONDON

Junior-year programs. Postgraduate diplomas. One-year Master's degrees and Research opportunities in the social sciences are offered at the London School of Economics and Political Science.

The wide range of subjects includes: Accounting & Finance, Actuarial Science, Anthropology, Business Studies, Economics, Econometrics, Economic History, European Studies, Geography, Government, Industrial Relations, International History, International Relations, Law, Management Science, Operational Research, Philosophy, Planning Studies, Population Studies, Politics, Sea-Use Policy, Social Administration, Social Work, Sociology, Social Psychology, Statistical and Mathematical Sciences, Systems Analysis.

Application blanks from:
Admissions Registrar, L.S.E., Houghton Street, London WC2, England.
Please state whether junior year or postgraduate.

LSE London School of Economics and Political Science

Your Team! Takes a New Slant on Excellence—The Winning Combination!!

AND LETTUCE NOTRE DAME SERVE YOU

what tastes like a million and costs just $2.19

The Huddle's NEW Chicago styled Italian Beef Sandwich!!

Something NEW in the Deli

Announcing the Addition of a full Food Counter

Health

with coupon

Use this coupon for a 10% discount on any 1/2 lb. purchase of this new delicious Health Food.

Expires 11/30/82

With coupon

DAY CAFETERIA

South Dining Hall

Our Winning Combination

Soup Du Jour

Sandwich Nook

$2.89 Ham & Cheese $2.89

or Turkey

with potato chips and pickle

Tossed Salad Coffee

any weekday lunch in November 1982

Vending says

"Lettuce Serve You"

At our many locations from the library to your dorm

If your machine isn't filled

or having trouble call Dean at ext. 7777

For faculty and administration

The Faculty Dining Room

weekdays 11:30-1:00

Free cup of coffee

with any purchase of soup and entree

November 1982

OAK ROOM CAFE

South Dining Hall

Oak Burger Steak Fries

12 oz. Soda $2.75

Any Monday nite

in November 1982

9:00-11:30 pm

THE FIGHTING IRISH

with coupon

BUY A WHOLE PIZZA

and get FREE 3-12 oz. sodas

Oak Room Cafe

Between 9pm-11pm

November 1982

Baseball commissioner falls in owners' vote

CHICAGO (AP) — Bowie Kuhn, in his 14th year as commissioner of baseball, was fired yesterday in a vote of owners that ended 11 months of wrangling over his fate.

The commissioner was fired in a vote by the National League owners, despite gaining a majority. The vote was 7-5 in favor of Kuhn's re-election, but he needed three-quarters of the votes, or nine. The American League vote was 11-3 in favor of retaining Kuhn.

Kuhn's second seven-year term as commissioner expires August 13, 1983, when a new commissioner must be elected. None has been selected yet.

Although the dissenting votes in the National League were not announced, they reportedly were cast by owners Nelson Doubleday of the New York Mets, August A. Busch of the St. Louis Cardinals, Ted Turner of the Atlanta Braves, John McMullen of the Houston Astros and William Williams of the Cincinnati Reds.

The announcement, made by American League President Lee MacPhail and National League President Chub Feeney, followed a joint session of the owners that lasted only 27 minutes.

"We regret to say the commissioner failed re-election," MacPhail said.

Feeney said the NL vote was taken on a proposed compromise that would have kept Kuhn in office but would have added a business officer known as COOBA, for "Chief Operating Officer of Business Affairs."

However, five NL owners refused to accept the proposal, apparently because the business officer would have reported to the commissioner, and that was enough to block Kuhn's chances to staying in office.

Kuhn, whose job came under heavy fire as early as last December, refused all attempts to give the business officer equal or greater power than the commissioner.

Blair Kiel (5) tossed this pass to Larry Moriarty for a touchdown in the third quarter of Saturday's Navy game. The 18-yard connection was Kiel's second TD pass of the afternoon, and of the season. Kiel rolled up 220 yards passing against the Midshipmen. (Photo by Scott Bower)

Irish runners impress new conference foes

By NAT RICH
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame cross country team raced twice over break, and the net result was an impressive meet victory and a pleased coach.

In the first meet, the Central Collegiate Conference championships, the Irish nailed down seventh place in a highly competitive 25-team meet. Said Coach Joe Piane, "We ran OK, but not our best. Overall I was pleased with how we did, that was a tough race."

Last Saturday, though, brought out Notre Dame's best. Running against the members of the recently-joined Midwestern Cities Conference, Notre Dame barely nipped Oral Roberts University by a score of 28-29, and took first place overall.

Ralph Caron led the Irish with a third place finish and a time of 23:19. Marc Wozniak finished fourth and Andy Dillon took fifth. Tim Cannon and Tim Bartrand wound up seventh and ninth respectively.

Piane was very pleased with his team's showing, "I'm really happy with that performance, especially being against the members of our new league."

The Irish coach also looked optimistically towards the NCAA District IV championships on November 13. "We're running very aggressively and confidently right now, and that's what we'll have to do to make it to the nationals." The District IV Championships involve all Division I teams from six Midwestern states, of which the top four proceed to the National Championships.

Ira Progoff Intensive Journal Workshop®

November 6 and 7

Process Meditation Workshop

December 4 and 5

Indiana University at South Bend
237-4261

The Thomas More Society of Notre Dame Presents

"Contemporary Issues Lecture Series"

Wednesday Nights 8:15-9:15

Rm. 115 O'Shag Hall

Q and A Period following presentations

Nov. 3

"Euthanasia and 'Living Wills'"

Dr. Charles Rice,
N.D. Law School

... Trip

continued from page 16

failed to put them away. The Demon Deacons scored off of a couple of corner kick situations to notch the win.

Nevertheless, the team and Hunter had to be pleased with the trip, especially in light of their lack of success in past October breaks. "The Greensboro win was great," tri-captain Jay Schwartz said. "They were a little overconfident. And that was such a big crowd. So it was nice to beat them there in that situation."

The Irish will play their last two games this week with one change in the schedule. Grace College has removed itself from the schedule on Tuesday. Bethel College will take its place, playing Wednesday afternoon. The Irish will close out the season on Saturday at the University of Toledo.

Though Akron and Indiana will probably take the Great Lakes region's two playoff spots, the Irish have to be credited for their determination in turning the season around. After the shaky start, the team could have packed it in, especially after injuries to two of the three captains, Mike Sullivan and Jay Schwartz. Instead, they can take pride in the effort they've shown and look forward to even better things next season.

Calling All Coeds

Welcome to The Castle!

The Queen's Castle

For the total look on a styled Hair Cut, Shampoo,
Blow Dry, Condition

Regular $16.25

Now $10.00 with coupon

272-0312

272-8471

54533 Terrace Lane

Across from Martin's (St. Rd. 23)

We are only minutes from campus

COUPON

Hrs. Tue, Wed, Sat 8:30-5:30

Thur, Fri 8:30-8:30

Closed Mon

NOTRE DAME CLUB OF PITTSBURGH
(alumni club)

welcomes everyone to:

NOTRE DAME-PITT PEP RALLY

7:00 pm-1:00 am FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1982
Ballroom, Sheraton at Station Square Downtown Pga

Assessment: $3.00 for students $2.00 with N.D. I.D.'s
$5.00 for adults

Features: Cash Bar, Music, Dance and Raffles

and

ND-PITT 5th QUARTER REUNION

SAT. NOVEMBER 6, 1982 BLARNEY STONE RESTAURANT
30 Grant Ave. Etna, Pa. 15 min. from Pitt stadium

Before and after the game

Bus service to and from the game $5.00

Special Irish Buffet and Irish entertainment $5.95

Reservations and information (412) 781-1666

and

PRE-GAME AND POST-GAME FESTIVITIES

SATURDAY NOVEMBER 5, 1982 THE UNIVERSITY CLUB

123 University Place Oakland, a short walk from Pitt stadium

Pre-game

Cash Bar open at 10:30

Buffet $10.00

Post-game

Cash Bar until 6:30 pm

nd club of pittsburgh is proud to provide this jam-packed weekend of excitement and enjoyment come join the fun!

Graduating in Engineering, Computer Science, Accounting or Finance?"

Consider ANR's career possibilities

OIL & GAS EXPLORATION & PRODUCTION ...
NATURAL GAS TRANSMISSION, STORAGE ...
COAL GASIFICATION & SYNTHETIC FUELS
DEVELOPMENT ... COAL DEVELOPMENT &
MARKETING ... INTERSTATE TRUCKING
FREIGHT SYSTEM.

American Natural Resources Company is a Michigan-based, $3+ billion, multi-company corporation involved in these diverse activities. ANR diversity translates directly into increased career development opportunities for you. Our history is one of success. Our continued growth prospects are excellent! Register in the Placement Office today for an on-campus interview. You could become part of the American Natural Resources System.

American Natural Resources Company
One Woodward Avenue
Detroit, Michigan 48226 • (313) 965-8300

An Equal Opportunity Employer

*Register for a Friday, November 12th
On-Campus Interview.

Irish sink Navy

Kiel, Duerson help break slump

By RICH O'CONNOR
Sports Writer

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — The Notre Dame Gold Rush defense forced Navy quarterback Tom Tarquinio to throw six interceptions, and Blair Kiel connected on his first two touchdown passes of the season as the Irish defeated the Middies 27-10 Saturday at the Meadowlands.

But it wasn't easy. Notre Dame fans must have felt that they were in for another long afternoon when Mike Johnston had his first field goal attempt of the game blocked by Navy's Brian Cianella on ND's opening drive, his first miss in 14 attempts this year.

Navy took over on its 26-yard line and, to make matters worse, marched 61 yards in 10 plays to Notre Dame's 24. Using a shotgun formation, Tarquinio completed 4-of-6 passes for 35 yards in Navy's longest drive of the day.

But the Middies were having trouble with their snaps, and on second down at the Irish 24, the snap from center Dennis McCall sailed over Tarquinio's head.

Tarquinio picked it up and, under heavy pressure, unloaded the ball into the end zone, where Dave Duerson intercepted and returned it 46 yards. Duerson's first of three interceptions recouped the momentum lost by Johnston's missed field goal, and the Irish never looked back from there.

Notre Dame then drove 38 yards to the Navy 21-yard line, but the drive stalled when Kiel was sacked for a 20-yard loss, taking the Irish out of field goal range.

It didn't take long, though, for the Irish to get on the scoreboard.

Notre Dame's first scoring drive began at the halfway point of the second quarter. Kiel took the offense 80 yards in eight plays, the last one being his first touchdown pass of the season — a 3-yard toss to Chris Smith. Kiel was 6-of-6 for 73 yards passing on the drive with Tony Hunter and Joe Howard each hauling in two passes for 30 and 31 yards, respectively.

Kiel went on to complete nine in a row — just one short of the Notre Dame record.

"We made a conscious effort to open up the offense," said Assistant Coach Ron Hudson. "By sending receivers out all over we were able to spread the defense out and hit the open man."

"Blair going outside puts pressure on the cornerback," added Offensive Coordinator Tom Lichtenberg. "With his speed it gives our offense an added dimension. We intend to stick with a combination of drop-back and rollout passing to use the players' talents fully and keep our opponents off balance."

A well-organized, ball-control short passing attack, hidden since the Michigan victory six weeks ago, suddenly reappeared at the Meadowlands.

With five minutes to go in the second quarter, Kiel led the Irish on another march. The junior from Columbus, Ind., completed 5-of-9 passes for 51 yards and moved the ball to the Navy 23 in 13 plays, leading to a Johnston 40-yard field goal with 0:35 remaining.

Hal Von Wyl's subsequent kickoff was then fumbled by Navy's Napoleon McCallum, who took a vicious hit from special-teams stand-out Tony Furjanic. Jack Shields recovered for the Irish, and Johnston kicked a 48-yard field goal — the longest of his career — to close out the scoring in the first half with Notre Dame up, 13-0.

In the third quarter, the defense came out ready to play, intercepting four passes in Navy's first 17 plays and forcing a punt on their other possession. Stacy Toran, Daane Spielmaker, Mark Zavagnin and Duerson each picked off a Tarquinio pass. After Toran's interception at the 7-yard line, Kiel dropped back to pass, only to be sacked in the end zone by Eric Rutherford for a safety — the first points given up by Notre Dame in Giants Stadium, and the first points given up against Navy since 1978.

After Zavagnin's interception, Kiel took the Irish 47 yards in five plays with an Allen Pinkett sweep for 18 yards, and an 18-yard touchdown pass to fullback Larry Moriarty the big plays in the drive.

Then the Irish blew it wide open.

After the kickoff, Duerson intercepted on Navy's first play, and returned the ball to the Navy 12-yard line. On the second play from scrimmage, Pinkett went off the left side for 12 yards and his third career touchdown.

Pinkett, making his first start in place of the injured Phil Carter, broke the century mark for the first time in his college career, carrying 27 times for 129 yards.

"The last two weeks we weren't executing, so we just went back to basics," said Pinkett. "We used mainly isolations and sweeps with the emphasis on execution. As long as the team wins, carrying for as much as I did is good. The offensive line really did the job today. The holes were there all day long."

Despite Kiel's 18-of-34, 220-yard outing and Pinkett's performance, Navy refused to give up, even when behind by 25 points.

"Navy played well," said Duerson. "They displayed a true Navy spirit — never say die. They were still playing for the win, even at the end of the game."

In a fourth-quarter drive, Tarquinio led Navy 51 yards in 5 plays. Bill Cebak caught a 26-yard pass for the touchdown. The Middies were aided in the drive by a 25-yard pass interference penalty.

Navy tried the onsides kick, and when the ball bounced off Hunter, Jeff Daniel recovered for the Middies. After gaining one first down, Tarquinio's second-down pass was intercepted by Duerson, and the Irish ran out the clock. Tarquinio finished with 18 completions in 44 attempts for 199 yards, but six costly interceptions.

Overall, the Irish players and coaches were pleased with Saturday's performance — especially after the Oregon debacle the week before.

"We were concerned about our offense, and we've been banged up a little the past two weeks as far as injuries," said Irish Coach Gerry Faust. "But I thought the offense did an excellent job. We're pleased overall, but we've still got a long way to go. We have to improve, especially against a team like Pitt next week."

Joe Howard caught three passes for 50 yards in Saturday's game at Giants Stadium in the New Jersey Meadowlands. Notre Dame completed 19 passes in its offensive resurgence. (Photo by Scott Bower)

... Needles

continued from page 16

In yesterday's Chicago Tribune, John Husar's column contained a scathing criticism of Faust. "He can't accept critics hounding his go-nowhere offense," Husar wrote. "Faust would like to have us all leave him and his team alone to coach and play by themselves. Pretty please.

Come out on Saturdays and bring only encouragement and compliments. Just like in high school in Cincinnati...."

Husar got even more vicious, but I think you get the idea.

Even Bill Moor of the normally tame, "rah-rah" South Bend Tribune felt compelled to add his advice. "Faust should be far too busy to worry about what is being said in the newspapers and the dorm hallways," Moor wrote in yesterday's edition. "It's time to go back to work and forget about what the press is writing and what the students are saying."

An apology from Faust may be forthcoming, perhaps as early as this morning's weekly press conference. So it would be best to reserve any hasty judgments until it appears.

But, for now, I'd like to know what you think. Are we really to blame? Has The Observer been fair to the team, or have we been overly critical? Or do we have the right to speak our minds and print what we feel to be the truth? Address your comments (200 words or so) to me in care of P.O. Box Q, Campus Mail, and perhaps I can allot some space later in the week to voice your opinions.

You've no doubt noticed that I've refrained from making any comments of my own. That's because this thing has been blown way out of proportion already; any opinions I would add are unnecessary at this time. I've furnished Faust's remarks solely for the purpose of those who did not run across them last week in their hometown papers.

What we have to keep in mind is that these are a crucial couple of weeks for Gerry Faust and the immediate future of the Notre Dame football program. This season — and a major bowl bid — can still be salvaged with victories these next two weeks against No. 1 Pittsburgh and No. 7 Penn State.

The Irish offense played impressively in spots Saturday, even though Navy once again performed more like the Midshipwomen than the Midshipmen. If everyone plays to his potential (how many times have we used that word this year?), then back-to-back upsets are not out of the question.

Some of you may feel that I'm "chickening out" by not voicing my opinions. Admittedly, it's a neat feeling to be quoted in the Sun-Times and assorted other papers in this country.

But it's no fun at all to be made the scapegoat for Notre Dame's most embarrassing performance in years.

So, at least for this week, we'll try to be nice to the team. Think nice thoughts. Be totally positive going into Pittsburgh this weekend. That way, if the Irish win, everything will be hunky-dory.

But if they lose, they will have no one to blame but themselves.

Offense resurfaces

Saturday's Game
Notre Dame	0	13	14
Navy	0	0	2
	8		10
Scoring
ND — Smith 3 pass from Kiel (Johnston kick)
ND — Johnston 40 FG
ND — Johnston 48 FG
NAVY — Safety (Kiel tackled in end zone by Rutherford)
ND — Moriarty 18 pass from Kiel (Johnston kick)
ND — Pinkett 12 run (Johnston kick)
NAVY — Cebak 26 pass from Tarquinio (Tarquinio pass to Clouse)
	ND	Navy
First downs	24	17
Rushing attempts	48	25
Net Yards Rushing	94	73
Net Yards Passing	234	199
Passes comp-attempted	19-37	18-44
Had intercepted	0	6
Total Net Yards	328	272
Fumbles-lost	3-1	1-1
Penalties-yards	7-86	5-54
Punts-average	8-42.1	7-43.1
Individual Leaders
RUSHING — Notre Dame: Pinkett 27-129; Morris 3-28; Moriarty 5-17; Navy: Clouse 14-38; Tarquinio 4-17; Skehan 3-12; Caraveo 2-11.
PASSING — Notre Dame: Kiel 18-34-0, 220; Karcher 0-2-0, 0; O'Hara 1-1-0, 14; Navy: Tarquinio 18-44-6, 199.
RECEIVING — Notre Dame: Hunter 7-85; Howard 3-50; Moriarty 3-36; Hayward 2-28; C. Stone 1-14; Pinkett 1-13; Brooks 1-5; C. Smith 1-3; Navy: Stevens 4-83; Cebak 4-40; Caraveo 4-26; Clouse 3-23; Heine 2-17; Brand 1-10.
Attendance — 72,201

Mike Gann (78) chases Navy quarterback Tom Tarquinio (far right) as Bob Clashby (91) gets by Middle guard Bob Dill (74) to pressure Tarquinio into throwing his first of six interceptions. Dave Duerson (23) returned his first of four intercepted passes 46 yards behind the blocking of linebacker Mike Larkin (42). (Photos by Scott Bower).

Doonesbury

Garry Trudeau

Simon

Jeb Cashin

Nobody's Prefect

K.C. Ryan

Campus

- 4 p.m. — History Dept. Lecture, "Transcendental Grace: Biblical Themes in the New England Renaissance," Dr. Timothy L. Smith, Director of the Program in American Religious History, Johns-Hopkins, Library Lounge,
- 4:20 p.m. — Physics Colloquium, "Quantum Mechanics as a Conceptual Revolution," Dr. Edward MacKinnon, Rm. 118 Nieuwland Hall,
- 4:30 — Biology Dept. Lecture, "Black Fly Colonization: Entomological and Biomedical Aspects," Dr. Edward W. Cupp, Galvin Life Sciences Auditorium
- 5 p.m. — Mass, All Souls Day Memorial Mass for students, faculty, staff and family who have died in the past year, Father Theodore Hesburgh, Celebrant, Sacred Heart Church
- 7 & 10 p.m. — Film, "Fiddler on the Roof," Engineering Auditorium, Sponsored by Notre Dame Student Union, $1
- 7:30 p.m. — Film, "The Mechanical Paradise," Annenberg Auditorium, Sponsored by Office of Student Affairs, Educational Media, and the Snite Museum
- 8:30 p.m. — Film, "The Powers That Be," Chautauqua Coffeehouse, Sponsored by Notre Dame Student Union,
- 8 & 10 p.m. — Film, "Bringing Up Baby," Chautauqua Coffeehouse, $1
- 8 p.m. — Meeting, Fellowship of Christian Athletes weekly meeting, St. Ed's Chapel
- 8:15 p.m. — Concert, Notre Dame Orchestra, Adrian Bryttan, conductor, Little Theatre, Saint Mary's College

T.V. Tonight

Tuesday, November 2

- | | | |
|------------|------|--------------------------------|
| 6:00 p.m. | 16 | NewsCenter 16 |
| | 28 | NewsWatch 28 |
| | 34 | 3-2-1 Contact |
| 6:30 p.m. | 16 | NBC Nightly News |
| | 22 | CBS News |
| | ABC | ABC World news Tonight |
| | 34 | Making It Count |
| 7:00 p.m. | 16 | Decision '82 |
| | 22 | Laverne & Shirley |
| | 22 | The '82 Vote |
| | 34 | The MacNeil/Lehrer Report |
| 7:30 | 22 | Family Feud |
| | 34 | Straight Talk |
| 8:00 p.m. | 16 | NBC-TV Election Night Coverage |
| | 22 | Bring 'Em Back Alive |
| | 34 | Nova |
| 9:00 p.m. | 22 | CBS Tuesday Night Movie |
| | 34 | MYSTERY! |
| 10:00 p.m. | 34 | Sound Festival |
| | 11:0 | NewsCenter 16 |
| 11:00 P.M. | 16 | NewsCenter 16 |
| | 22 | 22 Eyewitness News |
| | 28 | NewsWatch 28 |
| | 34 | Dick Cavett Show |
| 11:30 p.m. | 16 | NBC-TV Election Night Coverage |
| | 22 | Quincy & McMillan & Wife |
| | 28 | The '82 Vote |

Observer note

The Observer announces the following promotions from news staff to staff reporter: John Burchett, Scott Hardek, Chuck Krill, Dan McCullough, Mike Mazzoli, Cathy Pax, Barbara Pitts, and Mary Ann Potter. Dan Kopp was also promoted from staff reporter to senior staff reporter.

The Daily Crossword

- | | |
|---------------------------|---------------------|
| ACROSS | DOWN |
| 1 Bacon fat | 1 Violet bloom |
| 5 Chesterfields | 2 "It's —!" |
| 10 Destiny | 3 Lover boy |
| 14 Stravinsky or Sikorsky | 4 Saturate |
| 15 Paisley fabric, e.g. | 5 Health resort |
| 16 Release | 6 Castilian's gold |
| 17 Rickey item | 7 Leading |
| 18 Arterial trunk | 8 Ludicrous |
| 19 Beverage in Bari | 9 Cache |
| 20 Amphitheater | 10 Intensely active |
| 22 Sibling | 11 Surrounded by |
| 23 Tree of knowledge site | 12 Antler branch |
| 24 Distracted employee | 13 Harrow's rival |
| 28 Former cabinet member | 21 Alias |
| 29 Edible item | |
| 33 Lady of Spain: abbr. | |
| 36 Cozy retreat | |
| 39 Geological os | |
| 40 Hellman play | |
| 44 "That's —" (1953 song) | |
| 45 Wee pie | |
| 46 Novel | |
| 47 Track official | |
| 48 Small bills | |
| 51 Chronometers | |
| 58 Stylish | |
| 61 Correlative | |
| 62 Stood up | |
| 63 Remarkable one | |
| 64 Hoisting machine | |
| 67 Greek peak | |
| 68 Forbear | |
| 69 Bowed | |
| 70 Cunning look | |
| 71 Afternoon affairs | |
| 72 Soviet vetoes | |
| 73 Colleen | |

Friday's Solution

11/2/82

"Tradition" TONIGHT!

The first of the S.U. Movie Series.....

Fiddler on the Roof

Engineering Aud. $1.00 7, 10 pm

...A bit of love, a touch of class and a pinch of tradition...
Come together in the Student Union Movie Series

- Nov. 2 Fiddler on the Roof
- Nov. 3 Black Stallion
- Nov 4 Shoot the Moon
- Nov 5 Victor Victoria
- Nov 6 French Lt's Woman

MOVIE MOVIE MOVIE MOVIE MOVIE

The Student Union presents:

BRINGING UP BABY

Chautauqua Ballroom
2nd floor-LaFortune

Tuesday Nov. 2 8:00 10:00 $1

MOVIE MOVIE MOVIE MOVIE MOVIE

Freshman tailback Allen Pinkett (20) turns for yardage in Saturday's 27-10 Irish win over Navy. Pinkett totaled 129 yards on the afternoon, his first 100-yard effort for Notre Dame. See the football special on page 14. (Photo by Scott Bower)

Icers, 1-3, suffer sweep in initial home series

By ED KONRADY
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame hockey team's first homestand proved disappointing, as it dropped both games last weekend to a very physical Northern Michigan University team, 5-2 and 4-3.

The losses dropped Notre Dame's record to 1-3, after an opening-season split with Michigan the weekend before.

The series saw its share of penalties, 19 in the first game and 25 in the second. There were a number of five-on-three situations for both teams. However, the Irish could only capitalize on three of nineteen power play situations.

"We did a lousy job on our power plays," said Coach Charles "Lefty" Smith. "We weren't moving the puck and shooting well. Adjustments were made, but we didn't react enough to them. It takes time for new people to get used to the system."

"The passing and hitting were very poor. We weren't following through on checks, especially back checks. We missed a lot of opportunities around their goal. We just weren't quick enough."

'... whenever you lost as much talent as we did, there are bound to be some question marks...'

Both goalies put on a show for the crowd. Senior Bob McNamara had 27 saves in the first game and 28 in the second for the Irish. He saved the day on more than a few defensive lapses, with stunning saves on breakaway attempts.

The Wildcat goalie, junior Jeff Poeschl, had an extremely good series, saving 35 shots in the first game and 36 in the second, many of them point-blank.

Notre Dame outshot NMU 37-32 and 39-32, but had trouble putting the puck inside the red posts.

"We didn't exploit them like we could have," said sophomore winger Brent Chapman. "Their goalie was hot, and (Dave) Mogush and (Eric) Ponath really took advantage of their opportunities. But we just had no passing and we didn't play our positions."

"We've only played one or two good periods this series," said McNamara. "We weren't playing the body enough and they were beating us to the puck."

We will improve, though. I feel that I'm playing better as games go by. I'm getting more comfortable, both by playing in more game situations and working harder in practice."

The Irish opened their season with a split against the Wolverines, at Michigan. The young icers took the first game 9-5 and dropped the second, 5-4.

"I was happy with the way our offense played," said Smith. "Whenever you lost as much talent as we did, there are bound to be some questions marks. But I thought we moved the puck well, skated aggressively, and put a lot of pressure on Michigan for the most part. I was especially pleased about our balance — I think ten different guys scored goals and 14 had an assist."

IRISH ITEMS — Senior Kirt Bjork got his second goal of the season Saturday and added two assists, giving him seven points, the highest among the Irish this season. After his first career hat trick in the first game against Michigan, senior John Higgins scored his fourth goal last Saturday, giving him six points, second among the icers. On the injury list are defensemen Sean Regan, in a body cast with a broken arm (out until December), and John Keating with a severe thigh contusion (may be ready any day), both of whom missed the series, and Tony Bonadio who suffered a first-degree shoulder separation in the second period of Saturday's game. Attendance for Friday night was 1,589 and Saturday night was 1,563. Notre Dame's next series will be against Western Michigan University, with Friday's game at the ACC and Saturday's game in Kalamazoo, with student hockey tickets priced at $1 each.

Faust remarks cause national stir

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — "There he is! That's the one who cost us the Oregon game! It's his fault!"

And so I was greeted (in jest, of course) upon entering the Giants Stadium press box here Saturday. After a week of being a total recluse, avoiding all contact with newspapers and such, I had no clue as to what my colleagues were talking about.

Now I know.

As some of you may know, Gerry Faust holds a press conference via telephone hookup every Tuesday morning at the ACC. It is mainly for the benefit of out-of-town media, although local writers are invited to attend.

Normally, nothing startling is ever said at these Tuesday get-togethers, and if something is, it usually never goes any farther than Fort Wayne anyway.

Last Tuesday, however, was different.

In case you missed it, Faust, whose team was coming off an embarrassment-of-a-lifetime 13-13 tie with winless Oregon, had some choice words for Irish fans and the media in general, and Notre Dame students and The Observer in particular, in light of his squad's sub-par performances the last couple of weeks.

What follows is a sampling of Faust's comments, which were gathered thanks to the cooperation of the Chicago Sun-Times, USA Today and station WAMJ-AM 16 in Mishawaka, which taped the conference:

• On the Irish possibly underestimating their opponents: "I think we as coaches have not taken those teams light (sic), and I don't think the players really down deep have taken them light. I think the problem lies that when (the players) are in the dorms... (they're) around other students, and other students tend to take things lighter, and being in that environment, (it) is very difficult sometimes for us to convince the players otherwise."

• On how he could instill confidence in his struggling offense: "I think we have to make them believe in themselves. There wasn't any problem with that until the writers started writing (negative articles), and sometimes writers can be more detrimental than you can imagine... Young people are gonna read newspapers and when they read that they're not scoring... after a while they're gonna believe that. What we have to do is counteract that kind of thing and we gotta tell them that we can (score points).

Chris Needles
Sports Editor

"There are certain things you (the writers) bring out that are very factual, and those things you have to live with. If I could take our players and put them in a vacuum for 12 weeks we'd have less problems."

"Sometimes... when writers write (negatively) it can influence a player to think something that may not really be a problem at that point, but becomes a problem because of the situations that are written."

Those loaded, but seemingly innocent, comments traveled across the country faster than a Federal Express package, and suddenly a national crisis was at hand.

Undaunted, and probably unaware of the impending uproar, Faust came right back displaying the same attitude the next day in a teleconference with the Baltimore/Washington, D.C. writers who cover Navy football.

"We were doing real well," Faust said, "until the writers and fans put it into the kids' minds that they had scored only so many points or gained so many yards. That started the kids wondering."

Strong statements, indeed. And that's why they appeared in newspapers from New York to Los Angeles, and back, last week.

Faust has subsequently retracted his statements, but it may be too late. The feedback, meanwhile, is just beginning to roll in.

See NEEDLES, page 14

Upset UNC-Greensboro

Irish enjoy 3-1 Southern trip

By SAM SHERRILL
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame soccer team had its best October road trip in its history last week, compiling a 3-1 record against very creditable opposition. Coach Rich Hunter's crew ran its record to 14-5-2 as the season winds down this week.

The Irish departed for the swing through Kentucky and North Carolina on something of a hot streak, toppling Marquette in overtime on the road and obliterating poor Valparaiso 10-0. First up for the Irish was the University of Kentucky on the first Saturday of break. In Lexington, ND extended its win streak to four by a score of 3-1.

Belmont Abbey College was the next victim. The Irish defense was the hero of this game, a 1-0 victory. The crucial game of the road trip, however, came on Thursday when the Irish went up against powerful North Carolina-Greensboro.

UNC-Greensboro had been ranked as high as 15th in the country until a recent loss to Clemson. The Irish were playing before what easily was their biggest crowd of the season, a throng of about 5,000. But instead of cracking, the Irish maintained their composure and played the game tight early on. Then, late in the first half, a fan in the stands blew a whistle. One of the Irish freshmen thought play had been stopped, so he picked up the ball. The ball was in the penalty box at the time. One penalty kick later, the Irish were down 1-0.

Notre Dame came out hot in the second half and tied it just ten minutes into the half. No further goals were scored, and the two teams went into overtime.

The Irish could smell the upset now, and they apparently weren't about to let the opportunity pass by as it had against Indiana and Akron. A few minutes into the first overtime, David Miles scored on a beautiful bicycle kick. As this was not sudden death, the teams had to play the entire period. The Irish hung tough, however, and even scored another goal, walking away with a 3-1 overtime verdict, their biggest win of the season.

Hunter's squad travelled to Wake Forest University for the last game of the trip, hoping for a sweep and a seven-game winning streak to bring back with them. But it was not to be, as the Irish fell 2-1. Once again, the Irish outplayed their opponent, but

See TRIP, page 13

Student hoop tix distribution opens

Any Notre Dame student who purchased basketball season tickets via the summer application may pick up the tickets at the ticket window on the second floor of the ACC from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. according to the following schedule: SENIORS — Today; JUNIORS and all undergraduate students in the ninth semester or higher — Tomorrow; SOPHOMORES, GRADUATE and LAW students — Thursday; FRESHMEN — Friday. Any Notre Dame students who have not yet purchased basketball season tickets may fill out an application and pay for tickets at the Gate 10 ticket windows of the ACC today. These tickets will be available on a first-come, first-served basis and will be distributed to seniors, juniors, sophomores and graduate students on Thursday, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. at the second floor ticket window. Freshmen may pick up these tickets on Friday.

Package 'A' Lower Arena tickets are sold out. However, Package 'B' Lower Arena and both Bleacher packages are still available. The following games comprise Package 'A': Nov. 27 — St. Francis (Pa.); Dec. 1 — Kentucky; Dec. 7 — Indiana; Dec. 11 — Dartmouth; Jan. 17 — Lafayette; Feb. 2 — La Salle; Feb. 7 — Seton Hall; Feb. 21 — Akron; March 10 — Northern Iowa.

The following contests are contained in Package 'B': Nov. 18 — Yugoslavia; Nov. 26 — Stonehill; Dec. 4 — UCLA; Dec. 9 — Fairfield; Jan. 12 — Canisius; Jan. 19 — Bucknell; Feb. 5 — South Carolina; March 3 — Hofstra; March 7 — Dayton.

The Saint Mary's Student Activities Office is handling the sale and distribution of tickets for all SMC students.