

The Observer

VOL XVIII, NO. 120

the independent student newspaper serving notre dame and saint mary's

TUESDAY, APRIL 3, 1984

Lewis freshman Sheila McDaniel pauses for a moment from her duties as a WSND-AM disk jockey. The radio station would like to see itself in a position on the FM dial next semester, but right now such a move seems unlikely. Story below.

The Observer/Javier Oliva

Chances are slim for FM 'Voice of Fighting Irish' station next year

By JOE INCARDONA
Staff Reporter

The chances that student-run WSND-AM will make a switch to the FM radio dial next year are "slim," according to a consultant hired by the University to look into the possibility of such a move.

Paul Matwiy, consultant to the Office of Student Activities on the project, said the application for the necessary license from the Federal Communications Commission is being withheld until those involved can decide if there is a good chance the FCC will approve it.

"We don't want to promise the students a new FM radio station unless we have a good shot at it," said Matwiy. He pointed out the University already owns one non-commercial license which allows WSND-FM, the student-run classical music station, to broadcast over the airwaves in South Bend.

The executive board of WSND-AM started its bid for the switch to FM last fall, when its members began preparing the FCC license application in cooperation with student activities. The board's members (all students) decided the new FM station would operate in place of WSND-AM, and proposed the station be renamed WFVI (Voice of the Fighting Irish). Matwiy was then hired to advise the board on the FCC application process.

Matwiy said the prospects for get-

see RADIO, page 3

Peace Corps Director Loret Ruppe to speak at ND commencement

By DAN McCULLOUGH
News Editor

Loret Miller Ruppe, director of the Peace Corps, will be Notre Dame's commencement speaker for 1984, The Observer learned yesterday.

Although Assistant Director of Information Services Michael Garvey said, "I can neither confirm nor deny anything until we have lined up all of the honorary degree recipients," The Observer was told by Ruppe's secretary she will be the commencement speaker and will be on campus May 20.

President Reagan appointed Ruppe head of the Peace Corps on Feb. 14, 1981. Prior to that she was co-chairwoman of the Reagan-Bush Committee in Michigan during the 1980 election. Ruppe is also the wife of former congressman Philip Ruppe.

An official White House press release said Ruppe "has spent most of her life in volunteer efforts," including the International Neighbors Club IV, and "has traveled extensively and shared ideals with past Peace Corps volunteers in many countries." Before taking over the Corps, Ruppe had no previous professional experience.

The Peace Corps, initiated by the late President John Kennedy, has changed from its original image. When initially established by Kennedy, the Corps was staffed mostly by young people affiliated with Kennedy's Democratic administration. In recent years, however, most Corps leaders have been loyal Republicans.

Recently, Ruppe has been accused of liberalizing the Peace Corps policy on offering abortions to volunteers. According to a Jan. 13, 1984, Washington Times article, Ruppe was responsible for a "more permissive policy that allows volunteers to remain in the Peace Corps until after a second abortion," rather than being dismissed after one abortion.

The article further states Ruppe decided to continue the practice of using federal money to fund abortion counseling, transportation and per diem expenses of pregnant volunteers. The article continues on to say about 200 volunteers have used the funds for abortions during the past three years. Ruppe has been criticized for this policy because it is not consistent with the current administration's.

Thomas Paulken, director of the Peace Corps' parent organization, ACTION, said the policies "were totally inconsistent with the president's philosophy and approach on this issue . . . It was the policy of this administration and this agency and all of its components that in no way would we use federal funds or federal encouragement to aid or abet abortions."

A Jan. 7, 1984 article, in The Washington Post, said Ruppe secretly tape-recorded a conversation with her deputy, Edward Curran, about difficulties in their working relationship. The article also said the incident was reviewed by White House counsel Fred Fielding and he reportedly found the taping violated agency regulations but was not illegal and should be handled as a personnel dispute.

Askew, Glenn, Hollings in Mock Convention

By TERRY BLAND
News Staff

Editor's note: This is the last of four articles outlining the platforms and objectives of the candidates who will be represented in the Mock Convention which opens tomorrow.

Ernest Hollings

As governor of South Carolina, Ernest Hollings was able to balance the state's budget for the first time since Reconstruction.

As president, Hollings says he would call for an across-the-board freeze on the federal budget, and repeal the 10 percent tax cut coming in July to help reduce the federal deficit.

"Ernest Hollings sees the deficit as the biggest crisis of today," says Joe Malvezzi, campaign manager for Hollings in the Mock Convention. "He believes that the economic growth of today is just a knee jerk reaction to falling energy prices."

Hollings says government should act as a leader in industrial policy. By assisting in research and finance, Hollings thinks government can act as a catalyst in bringing business, labor and agriculture into a partnership.

Besides a deficit freeze, Hollings sees the economic recovery policy as having a foundation in an improved education system. "Hollings believes in improving the public school system," says Malvezzi. "If you improve the school system in every city, you can also improve the state school system and the national school system. By educating people, you can decrease unemployment."

Hollings believes democracy in Central America can be sustained through economic and military aid to the region. In order to assist in establishing democracy, aid from outside forces like Cuba and Russia must be stopped.

Foreign policy is another issue Hollings sees as important. Hollings said about American marines in Lebanon, "if they're there to fight, there are too few. If they're there to die, there are too many." He does, however, believe the U.S. should support the president in any foreign policy decisions.

Hollings supports the Kennedy-Hatfield freeze on nuclear weapons. But he does not support nuclear build down because he believes it raises the chance of war, especially in Western Europe.

"The reason Hollings dropped out is because he did poorly in New Hampshire," says Malvezzi. "I believe Hart became a national candidate because of the coverage he received from the media. Hollings didn't receive that kind of coverage."

Malvezzi is running the Hollings campaign on campus by himself because he doesn't want people to get involved politically with someone they don't know. "I just want people to take a look at Hollings and get to know what he stands for," says Malvezzi. "Hollings has good ideas where the Mondale and Hart campaigns are based on empty promises."

Reubin Askew

Dave McAvoy, campaign manager for Reubin Askew, believes Askew's campaign is more organized than anyone else's on campus. "At the beginning of the campaign we came in last in a random poll throughout campus," says McAvoy. "Recently, we've been targeting the campus with banners and platforms and have climbed to fourth in a recent preference poll."

Askew is a conservative democrat who believes the U.S. should support El Salvador. "Askew believes we should give economic aid only to those regimes which do not violate the human rights of people," says McAvoy. "He does see Central America as vital to our interests."

Defense spending is another issue Askew has addressed. He believes in strong defense and favors an annual increase of about 5 percent in the defense budget. Askew would spend more on defense only if it would achieve specific objectives as part of a national defense strategy.

Askew opposes a unilateral nuclear arms freeze, but he believes the U.S. should resume arms control talks with the Russians. As a reaction to the reduction of nuclear weapons, Askew favors a build-up of conventional forces in NATO. Another defense cut Askew proposes is the elimination of the B-1 bomber and the MX missile.

Askew recognizes a strong need to reduce the federal deficit. He would apply restraints on spending to assist in reducing the deficit. By repealing the 10 percent across-the-board tax cut, Askew says the federal deficit could be reduced by $30 billion in fiscal 1984, and by $177 billion over the next five years.

As a pro-life supporter, Askew is the only democratic candidate to come out against abortion. He supports the idea of a constitutional human life amendment.

McAvoy says Askew has a good chance of winning in the Mock Convention. "In order to win, we have to create a momentum," says McAvoy. "We want the delegates to know how Askew stands on the issues." There are currently 10 students working on the Askew campaign, five of whom are student government officers.

In an effort to familiarize students with the Askew campaign, McAvoy plans to hold a happy hour in which platforms and buttons will be distributed. McAvoy will also begin a phone drive in which the election committee will contact each delegate by phone.

"I believe Askew's rise in popularity is due to the hard work the committee has put in on the campaign," says McAvoy. "Askew is an appealing candidate and if we can get the students familiar with his ideas, we have a good chance."

John Glenn

John Glenn, another conservative democratic presidential candidate in the Mock Convention, is a strong supporter of job legislation as way of fighting unemployment.

If elected, Glenn plans to provide $225 mil-

see GLENN, page 4

In Brief

A person claiming to represent Notre Dame won the "Wet Willie" contest this year at the Button in Fort Lauderdale during spring break. A student who asserts he is that person says he danced in the contest with an empty beer case over his head to remain anonymous. Last year a Notre Dame student won the "Wet Willie" contest and was nearly expelled. Dean of Students James Roemer issued a directive before spring break instructing students to stay away from such contests. — The Observer

The "Shamrocks Against Dystrophy" campaign, held the week before Spring Break, raised close to $1200 for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. Most of the money raised came in the form of pennies and small change, according to campaign chairman George Jordan. The money raised will be used by the South Bend MDA office to provide services to local patients. — The Observer

New permanent I.D. cards will be used beginning during the fall 1984-85 semester. During advance registration, Monday, April 16 through Wednesday, April 18, all continuing students will have their photos taken for the new I.D. card. The cards will be distributed during fall enrollment. The permanent I.D. card will not have a void date or the student's birthdate printed on it. Beginning with the fall 1985/86 semester students who have enrolled will also have their permanent I.D. card embossed with a date (e.g., 84ND85). This will validate the I.D. card for the entire academic year. — The Observer

A $2,000 Hibernian Research Award has been presented to Charles Fanning, professor of English at Bridgewater State College in Bridgewater, Massachusetts and David Brundage, senior research scholar at City University in New York. The award was given by the Charles and Margaret Hall Cushwa Center for the Study of American Catholicism at Notre Dame. Fanning is at work on a study of the Irish literary voice in American literature; Brundage is doing research in the history of Irish-American working people in Colorado during the 1890's. — The Observer

The Supreme Court, while adhering to its 22-year ban on officially sponsored school prayers, said yesterday it will consider letting public schools provide a daily "moment of silence" for students. The justices said they will study an Alabama law that allowed periods of silence at the start of each school day for student meditation or prayer. The law was struck down as unconstitutional by a federal appeals court that said the legislation's main purpose was promoting religion. — AP

Of Interest

Ian L. McHerg, chairman of the Department of Landscape Architecture and Regional Planning, at the University of Pennsylvania, is speaking today in the Annenberg Auditorium at 4 p.m. on "Design with Nature: The Ecological Dimension." — The Observer

A Latin Mass will be offered by Father Leonard Banas, in the Pangborn Hall Chapel tomorrow at 12:15 p.m. The Mass is being sponsored by the Classical Students of Notre Dame. All are welcome. — The Observer

Weather

Those April showers may come in handy later! A 70 percent chance of rain today and breezy. High in upper 40s and low 50s. A 70 percent chance of rain tonight and turning cooler. Low in mid 30s. Rain or drizzle likely tomorrow and cool. High in upper 30s and low 40s.

The Observer

The Observer (USPS 599 2-4000) is published Monday through Friday and on home football Saturdays, except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $25 per year ($15 per semester) by writing The Observer, P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556. The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

Design Editor..... Chris Bowler
Design Assistant..... John Mennell
Layout Staff..... Tina and Sharon
Typesetters..... Michelle and Ted
News Editor..... Amy Stephan
Copy Editor..... Mark Potter
Sports Copy Editor..... Dave Dziedzic
Viewpoint Layout..... Paul
Features Copy Editor..... Mary Healy
Features Layout..... Mary
ND Day Editor..... Melinda Moore
SMC Day Editor..... Maggie O'Connell
Ad Design..... Mary Easterday
Photographer..... Lev Chapelsky

A few solved problems

They're called "parking lot issues" — the little things student government workers do to make life for the rest of us a little better.

More this, and more that. A meeting here, a store there. Oft-repeated on the trail to the presidency (or the senate or hall government), these wanton promises rarely materialize, and the campaign posters are long gone come August or September. In addition, very few candidates are ever put to the test of re-election.

But bureaucratic miracles do happen, and outgoing Student Senator Dave McAvoy and Student Union Movie Commissioner Mary Jane Costello have followed up on particular problems about the campus with a laudable amount of fervor.

You know this scenario. He's been on the phone for twenty minutes. Twisting and untwisting the cord, he's shifted from his left to his right foot 42 times. To his right, she's been staring into the grey marble for upwards of fifteen minutes, blankly gazing around the graffiti-covered sign which reads "Please limit calls to five minutes." The line begins at the large Rubbermaid trash can and begins to extend up the stairs.

This is the entrance to the Pit in the Memorial Library, where a little while ago, only two campus phones served the hundreds of students who use the facility daily. Now that number has been bumped up to three, and word from student government is that a fourth may be added.

McAvoy began the drive to get that phone last December. After getting Ombudsman to determine if there was sufficient demand, McAvoy says he went to see Fred Baumer, comptroller of the University, to see if another telephone could be installed.

"Baumer wouldn't pay for it, but he said if Student Government paid for it, OK, and if you get the library's approval," says McAvoy, who adds it took him until January to get all the necessary yeses. From there, McAvoy called Indiana Bell to get price quotes on the rental and the installation.

"I took all these facts to Brian (Callaghan, student body president) who got Student Government to pay for it. After that it was a good two months before anything happened," he says.

Finally in February, the long-awaited phone appeared on the wall, at an initial cost of $80 and a monthly charge of $17. The process took almost four months to complete, but McAvoy seems to believe the bureaucratic toil was worth it.

Says McAvoy, those smaller projects "take a lot of

Mark Worschheh

Managing Editor

Inside Tuesday

time because you've got to go and hit every base, talk to every person," but he adds, "The turning point came when we decided we were going to pay for it."

Over in Cushing Hall, "James Bond Week" begins tonight, the latest in a series of great movies brought to Notre Dame with the help of SU's movie commissioner. Under Costello's direction, such blockbuster's as 48 Hours, Gandhi, Trading Places, Risky Business and War Games have been shown on the screen in the Engineering Auditorium.

Costello chose all of the movies for this semester, a change from when the sponsoring club could not only pick the film, but the exact date as well. She says last year "clubs could pick any movie they wanted. It didn't allow me to make any package deals with any film company."

The quality of campus films "had been deteriorating," she says, and clubs who received bad lottery picks often had to show unpopular movies. The profits from the showings now are pooled and distributed to campus clubs.

Costello says she has received complaints from some students about the weekend price hike to $1.50, but rising rental fees justify the increase, she says. From the viewer's side, it seems the biggest problem has been keeping change supplied to the ticket-takers, and problems with film projection have also been greater this year.

Nonetheless, the better movie offerings have made the problems seem minor, and it's hard to argue a recent release isn't worth another 50 cents.

The views expressed in the Inside column are the views of the author, and do not necessarily reflect the views of the editorial board or staff.

Lettuce hear from you...

Write:

The Observer
P.O. Box Q
Notre Dame, IN
46556

Laundry Notice: To insure that all charges for special/express laundry, drycleaning and tailoring are able to be billed, all items picked up after April 13, 1984 will be strictly on a cash basis. No charges to the students' accounts will be permitted. However, this does not apply to the regular student bundle service. Any amount over the bundle allotment will be billed on the next semester's invoice. Seniors are reminded that their accounts must be billed prior to graduation, including overuse of bundle service. We will have balances owed, as a result of exceeding the laundry allotment, for seniors only, on May 10, '84. Any bundle input by a senior after that date may result in a negative balance which will require us to collect cash upon receipt of the bundle by the senior.

Outward Bound is more than a trip of high adventure. It's discovering yourself. Learning that you're better than you think you are. And finding out how to work with others. Come join us on a wilderness trip of excitement and self-challenge. You may come back a better you.

Hang in there!
Send for more information:

Name _____

Street _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

School _____

Check the courses that interest you:

Canoeing _____ Desert Expeditions _____

White Water Rafting _____ Wilderness Backpacking _____

Sailing _____ Mountaineering _____

Outward Bound, Dept. CH
384 Field Point Rd.
Greenwich, CT 06830
Phone toll free (800) 243-8520

No experience necessary. Outward Bound admits students of any sex, race, color and national or ethnic origin. We are a nonprofit organization. Scholarships available.

The Observer/Lev Chapelsky

Movin' on up

Student Body President Rob Bertino (center) begins to organize his new office on the second floor of LaFortune, which he moved into yesterday. Helping Bertino is his executive advisor Tom Knee to the left, and Student Body Treasurer Al Novas to the right.

Deadline past, but new alcohol policy remains undisclosed

By FRANK LIPO
News Staff

The April 1 deadline set for the announcement of the revised Notre Dame alcohol policy has passed, and it is unclear exactly when the long-awaited policy will be made public.

The passage of the deadline was not publicly acknowledged by Fr. William Beauchamp, head of the Committee on the Responsible Use of Alcohol or by Dean Timothy O'Meara, University provost. Both Beauchamp and O'Meara were unavailable for comment, they were both attending a session of the Provost Advisory Committee. Neither the Provost's office nor the University Information Services office were able to provide information regarding the impending policy.

Student Body President Rob Bertino is playing the waiting game along with the students he represents. He has "no idea" what the policy will be. It will be released by the week of April 9 he assumes, but he is unsure whether it will be a general release or a release to the rectors followed by a general release.

When asked about the upcoming April 6 deadline for release from on-campus housing without penalty, Bertino speculated there would only be a small tie between the new policy and on-campus housing withdrawals. He said most students who are going to move off-campus have anticipated some sort of change and already are in the process of making arrangements for an off-campus move.

Brian Callahan, former SBP and one of two students on the alcohol committee, commented on the relationship between the housing withdrawal deadline and the imminent alcohol policy. He believes the housing withdrawal deadline will not be a problem. "Anyone who moved off-campus due to the alcohol policy would not be penalized," he said.

Although it is unclear exactly when the policy will be released, Callahan shed some light on the delay. "I think they (the University officers) forwarded it to the University trustees and they are waiting for a response. It should be out later this week or very early next week."

Although unable to discuss details of the new policy until it is announced, he spoke of his willingness to discuss the details of the policy when it was made public. He from $30 to $40. The issue will be discussed in future meetings.

A debate regarding the candidacy of Harold Augustine for Senior Fellow was opened. Debate ended when some student senate members objected to the discussion. Executive Coordinator Ray Wise said "I don't think that it's for us to decide." David echoed this philosophy, saying "This is a decision for seniors... it's not really any of our business."

Bertino announced a new policy regarding the recording of senate votes and other information. He said votes, attendance, and subcommittee participation will be tabulated henceforth, and "will be made public in the future."

Office hours have been set up so that anyone can discuss student government-related issues with the student body president and vice president. Bertino will be available on the second floor of LaFortune from 10-11 p.m. on Sunday and Monday, and David from 11-12 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday.

In other business, Bertino noted the cabinet application deadline has been extended to Friday. He stated a new constitution will be voted on at the next senate meeting.

The Observer

The independent student newspaper serving Notre Dame and Saint Mary's is accepting applications for the following positions:

Advertising Design Manager

- Previous design experience is preferred.
- The job requires working in the afternoon and supervising a staff of advertising designers.
- Submit resume and personal statement to Mark Worscheh by 5 p.m. today. For more information, call The Observer at 239-5303.

The Observer
3rd Floor, LaFortune Student Center
Notre Dame, IN 46556

Architecture students move Beaux Arts Ball to South Dining Hall

By JENNIFER BIGOTT
Staff Reporter

Changes have been made in this semester's Beaux Arts Ball, according to Dan Rectenwald, vice president of the student chapter of the American Institute of Architects. The AIA sponsors the dance each semester.

The Beaux Arts Ball was cancelled last fall due to the combination of crowded conditions in the Architecture Building and alleged instances of alcohol abuse. According to Rectenwald, crowding was a problem at the last Ball because tickets were sold before the Ball and at the door. When a surprisingly large number of people turned out, the building could not house all those who had purchased tickets. Additional complications arose from the presence of alcohol, which was prohibited.

Consequently, almost two weeks after the event, Dean of Students James Roemer said there would be no more Beaux Arts Balls in the future. "It's a University building and what you do inside of a school building is very controlled, and I guess... there's a question as to whether we were complying with those rules," said Rectenwald.

Since then, officers of the AIA have talked with Roemer, rectifying previous problems. As a result, the AIA will sponsor another Beaux Arts Ball. "We view the Ball as one good tool for us to reach out and open up to the campus," said Rectenwald.

Approximately, 600 people attended the last Beaux Arts Ball. Proceeds from the event are allocated for various operating expenses of events designed to promote campus awareness of the Architecture School. Such events include lectures, seminars and exhibits. "We've delegated authority and gotten more people involved," said Rectenwald.

Radio

continued from page 1

ting a new FM station on campus were much better last fall when the group first looked into applying for an FM license. He said the odds have diminished since then because another group in the South Bend area decided to apply to the FCC for the only frequency available for a new non-commercial FM station.

"Given the fact that there are already five non-commercial FM stations in South Bend, I don't think the FCC would grant two public licenses to anyone," said Matwy. He said he believes the situation is further complicated by the fact the University also owns several commercial radio stations in South Bend. Matwy stressed, however, the final decision about submitting the FCC application rests with WVFI's executive board.

Matwy also emphasized he and the members of the station's executive board are "exploring lots of different avenues" in their attempt to determine the future of the new station. One of the options being considered is a complete rebuilding of the carrier current system which transmits WSND-AM's signal. This would allow the new station to broadcast in stereo on the AM dial. WVFI will also relocate its facilities to the LaFortune Student Center, moving into a new studio described by Matwy as "one of the top two in the South Bend area."

SUMMER

STORAGE RESERVATION

SPECIAL
RATES

MASTER MINI WAREHOUSES

Very Close to Campus
Approx 2½ Miles North US 31
Gates Open All Day Sunday

Call Now
683-1959

Spring twilight

Leaving books for later, Lori Arick and Dan Lally take time out to watch the sunset near St. Joseph's lake. Many students are taking advantage of the warm weather, knowing that with South Bend's temperamental weather, spring is never certain.

The Observer/Lev Chapelsky

Saint Mary's selects commissioners

By JEAN STEINWACHS
News Staff

Eight new commissioners for next year's student government at Saint Mary's have been chosen.

The new commissioners will be Lisa Fitt (entertainment), Jane Akalaitis (movies), Kacey Horner (public relations), Trish Cullo (election), Mary Beth Lavezzorio (traditional events), Dorie Murray (judicial), Liz Adams (off-campus) and Jeanne Budak (Christian life). The graphic/publicity commissioner will be chosen Wednesday, and the athletic commissioner at a later date.

The criteria for the choices were an application and a fifteen minute interview with the student body president, vice president of student affairs and vice president of academic affairs.

Some new changes have taken place in student government commissions. The speaker, alumni and development commissions have been taken over by the vice president of academic affairs, and the off-campus commissioner will be a student government representative. There will also be an RA representative as a commissioner next year.

Anne Marie Kollman, vice president of student affairs, said the RA commission will "hopefully get student government and RAs working together more than they have in the past."

Budak says her commission "wants to allow the students to voice opinions about Christian life through meetings in halls. We also hope to get more students involved in volunteer work."

Lee Ann Franks, student body president, stressed student government is willing to listen to students, and the meetings are open to anyone interested in attending.

Glenn

continued from page 1

lion in funding to aid victims of the recession. Glenn is an advocate of the Women, Infants and Children program and by giving $100 million to this program, Glenn claims the government could reduce economic problems within families.

Like Hollings, Glenn believes education is an important issue in the upcoming election. By ensuring equal access and opportunity to all people in the school system, Glenn sees the U.S. as continuing to be a leader among nations.

Glenn also strongly endorses the Kennedy-Hatfield freeze. However, Glenn feels it is not enough to advocate a freeze, if the freeze perpetuates unnecessarily high levels of strategic arms. Glenn holds that the only safe and sensible route to nuclear reduction is to return to the bargaining table with the Soviet Union.

Along with the reduction of nuclear weapons, Glenn supports an increase in conventional forces. He also endorses the replacement of the Joint Chiefs of Staff with a central military staff and establishing an independent office for evaluating the Defense Department.

Glenn says he would cancel the MX missile and develop a small, more accurate land-based missile.

Glenn wants to establish a strong and diverse manufacturing base which he sees as essential to the United States economic security. By developing a coherent set of policies, Glenn says the U.S. can better compete at home and abroad.

Allen Gates, campaign manager for Glenn on campus, was unavailable for comment.

Social researchers mail computer attitude quiz

By BUD LUEPKE
News Staff

Technology. It shapes our lives. The telephone has become essential in every home. The television set is for many, an intrinsic part of daily living. In 1984, computers are the "new" technology.

The Social Science Training and Research Laboratory is mailing to random students a survey concerning attitudes towards computers. The survey is aimed at discovering different conceptions of, and feelings toward, computers.

Dr. Stephen Arndt, a programmer/consultant at the Lab, came up with the idea of the survey while in his own work with computers. He explained, "Once I sat next to a guy working a computer, and he was sweating. Some people fear computers. I had never thought of them (computers) that way." Arndt said he worked with computers in the Navy and now has a computer in his home.

The survey was mailed last week to 1500 undergraduate students, about 20 percent of the student body, and were sent completely at random. About 250 surveys have been returned, and Arndt said the return rate is less than what he had hoped for. Arndt said he expects to receive the rest of the surveys within next two weeks.

The survey itself includes a wide range of questions. It begins with questions aiming at categorizing students by year, sex, department of study, and experience with computers.

The survey then asks the student how he views computing and people who work with computers. For instance, do you view computers as feminine or masculine? Do you view people who spend a lot of time with computers as socially inept or socially adept? For these questions, a student may circle a number one through seven, one being one extreme and seven being the other. All of the questions have degrees to their answers such as this.

The survey next asks for the student's personal attitude toward computers. For example, using a scale of one through seven, it asks if you view computers as easy or difficult, as humanizing or dehumanizing.

The survey's purpose, as Arndt admits, is unclear at this time. He has no hypotheses yet. "For now," he said, "I just want to find out what the conceptions (of computers) are. You see advertising making assumptions of what people's misconceptions are, but no one ever really went out to ask them." Arndt also said, "Once I know what the conceptions are, I can then think about ways of softening the impact of technology on society."

Arndt expects the results of the survey to be completed by the end of May or June. To find out more about the survey or its results, Arndt can be contacted in the Social Science Training and Research Laboratory on the fifth floor of the Memorial Library.

SENIORS

Time is running out!

Buy your Senior Formal Bid Today!

On sale in LaFortune and LeMans,
4:30-6:30, April 2-4

Tux fitting and Second City Tickets
also available

Don't miss out on the biggest event of the year!!

After your last exam, what tough questions will you still be facing?

We don't have your answers. But we'll listen to your questions, share some of our own about who we want to become and where we want to journey. For anyone who has considered the path of priesthood, the Holy Cross Fathers' One-Year Candidate Program provides an opportunity to ask and explore the possibilities in community.

Contact:
Rev. Andre Leveille, C.S.C.
Vocation Director
Box 541
Notre Dame, IN 46556

219-239-6385

NEW PRICES

No Software for your Macintosh?

	LIST PRICE	OUR PRICE
Microsoft's Basic	$150	$110
Multiplan	195	142
Chart	125	90

PeopleWare Computer Products, Inc.
P.O. Box 10359
Minneapolis, MN 55440
In South Bend, call: 272-7580.

© 1984

EYES TIRED

College sometimes over taxes the visual mechanism at near.

If you are experiencing more headaches
blurring when reading
having trouble focusing at far

Special reading lenses could make your day easier

See Dr. James M. Bowers for help

1606 Miami St.

Phone: 287-2379

Closed ALL day Wed. and Sat. afternoon

The important points behind Viewpoint

On March 25, a new administration took over at The Observer; its first issue was printed the next day. The current issues of The Observer are now the product of this new and

David Grote

Speaking out of turn still inexperienced group. If the first breaths of this new leadership prove unsteady, inexperience will probably be to blame.

Viewpoint is no exception. New people, new writers and new leadership mean errors in both the appearance and the content of this page. Hopefully, these errors will start to disappear as I become more settled as editor.

The Viewpoint page in The Observer is the one place where issues and ideas are examined and discussed, and where the reader is given a chance to respond.

Occasionally, the opinion expressed will be an official statement from The Observer's editorial board. This statement will be published in the form of a house editorial. A house editorial is a consensus of the ideas of the ten members of the editorial board and will appear when important issues surface on campus.

The house editorial, though, is the exception rather than the rule. Most of the articles you will read on this page will be the opinions of individuals, the great majority of them students. These articles will raise important issues and will hopefully prompt you to formulate your own ideas.

You will not always agree with the opinions on this page. Sometimes you may be downright offended. But if the writer has expressed himself clearly, and has inspired you to think, then he has certainly fulfilled his duty as an editorialist.

But Viewpoint articles will not be confined to student writers. The Observer is always looking for new people with new perspectives. In the future this page will seek out articles from faculty and administrative staff, who with their experienced and professional point of view may offer accurate descriptions of such things as the changing job market, the dynamic future of personal computers, or the explanation of the official Church stand on important social issues.

The Viewpoint page serves a vital role as an open forum for ideas and opinions at Notre Dame. One of its duties is to provide space for all members of our community to express their opinions.

P. O. Box Q provides our readers with the opportunity not only respond to articles appearing in The Observer, but also to allow readers to expound on issues they see as significant in the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's community.

Guest columns and letters to the editor are the readers' stake in The Observer. The students, faculty and administration should make use of the resources we offer.

As editor, though, the final day-to-day decision of what appears on the Viewpoint page is solely my own. Letters to the editor are printed when space provides. But to responsibly serve readers it is important to print as many letters as possible. If two letters promote the same point of view on a topic, we may only run one of them. In this way, the opinion is still honored, even though a name may not appear.

The content of Viewpoint should be intellectually compelling, clearly presented and representative of various perspectives. Hopefully, during the upcoming year, Viewpoint will meet this goal with consistency.

P. O. Box Q

Satirical exploits

Dear Editor:

It's refreshing to see that The Observer has decided to branch out into unexplored territory with bold new additions to its format; now we, the readers, are blessed with funny, accurate parodies of the simple-mindedness and naivete that threaten this university.

The Viewpoint article entitled "Come to Paradise, come to Notre Dame" really had me in stitches. The author seems to touch all the bases with his mocking of the automatons that threaten to stifle any attempt at free thinking by the students of this university.

Especially pointed were the attacks on the fictive narrator's dangerous moral complacency, insidious self-righteousness, his flair for absurd hyperbole, and his simple ignorance of the very real problems of alcoholism, strained relationships between the sexes, and lack of open-mindedness on the part of the students, faculty and administration.

This article is a stunning example of one of the things this campus needs: parody that is relevant and makes us laugh. It is a parody, isn't it?...isn't it?

Christopher Miller
freshman

Opportunity to learn

Dear Editor:

I can almost remember when I too was a freshman, when I thought Notre Dame was paradise, when Friday quizzes were "tests of integrity"... Freshman year was when the reasons for coming to Notre Dame were still fresh in my mind, when my naivete and innocence were staunchly guarded against all that was evil by the protectors at the Freshman Year of Studies.

Imagine thinking that the reason why every Chemistry 115 student received the same quiz was because it made grading so much easier. Surely it was obvious that these were tests of character, not chemistry.

Academic competition motivates students to work harder, learn better, and struggle more to achieve that precious academic edge over their peers. Unfortunately, this competition also breeds backstabbers and cheaters.

As a tutor for Freshman Chemistry, my job was supposedly to help failing students become more proficient at learning the subject matter. Most students enrolled in these tutorial sessions were not "F" students, but rather, "B" students struggling to obtain that competitive edge.

A sadder point was that some students were not interested in learning chemistry, but in learning how to get the coveted "seven" on the weekly quiz. In so doing, these overachievers denied proper instruction to the students with real problems.

When a person steals answers on a quiz, the cheater is the only person harmed; when a student steals the opportunity to learn from another student, this is a greater offense.

But wait... let us not forget that this is as close to paradise as an earthly paradise can be...where freshmen and teachers are above reproach...well, at least backstabbers here do not have long hair.

Ted Underiner
Senior

Alcohol and exams

Dear Editor:

There seems to be two controversial issues receiving attention on this page during these past weeks: the campus alcohol problem and the campus cheating problem.

Many members of the student body, faculty, and administration agree that there is some form of abuse regarding both these problems. A major concern of these persons is that both abuses have been readily accepted as part of the everyday life at Notre Dame.

Since the administration feels that the best way to handle situations such as these is to take away the source of the problem (e.g. taking care of the alcohol problem by taking away alcohol). I feel that the administration should remain consistent in its behavior by simply doing away with all exams as a solution to the cheating problem.

Tim Reilly
Junior

Campus comments: What is your favorite building on either campus?

Holy Cross is definitely my favorite. It has so much character and really feels like home.

Kathy Watry — 86
Nursing
Saint Mary's College

Cushing, because I don't have any classes there.

Mike Flaherty — 87
Freshman Year of Studies
Notre Dame

Pasquerilla East, because my future wife lives there.

Derek S. Gandy — 86
American Studies
Notre Dame

Any building except Flanner or Grace. I can't understand why a place like Notre Dame built such eyesores. The North Dining Hall is ugly also.

Mike Prados — 87
Program of Liberal Studies
Notre Dame

The North Dining Hall — I hate surprises.

Patty Talamo — 84
Science Pre-professional
Notre Dame

The Observer

P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556

(219) 239-5303

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and as objectively as possible. Unsigned editorials represent the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, letters and the Inside Column present the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

Editorial Board

Editor-in-Chief Bob Vonderheide
Managing Editor Mark Worscheh
Executive Editor Margaret Fosmoe
News Editor Sarah Hamilton
News Editor Dan McCullough
Saint Mary's Editor Anne Monastyrski
Sports Editor Michael Sullivan
Viewpoint Editor Dave Grote
Features Editor Mary Healy
Photo Editor Pete Laches

Department Managers

Business Manager Dave Taiclet
Controller Maripat Horne
Advertising Manager Jeanie Poole
Circulation Manager Jeff O'Neill
Systems Manager Kevin Williams

Founded November 3, 1966

Strange days indeed

Trash bin treasures

by Marc Ramirez
features columnist

Rummaging through the Observer's assorted trash buckets sometimes produces interesting results, more interesting than one might tend to believe. Below all the crumpled-up paper balls, broken pencils and used-up pens, old homework assignments and Snickers wrappers, there lie written words the average person at Notre Dame never sees.

Particularly if you're looking through the goodies in the trash can next to Viewpoint editor's desk.

That rubbish consists of those letters to the editor that had the misfortune to be shunned by those responsible for choosing what's fit to print. And, so, as a public service to the Notre Dame community who have the right to know the opinions of some of The Observer's readers, here's a sampling of some of the treasures discovered at the bottom of the wastebasket.

Dear Editor:

Recently I had the opportunity to spend three weeks staying with my brother in Grace, and I certainly must say that I can't figure out what everyone is complaining about. The music played on the South Bend radio stations was great, and, after nearly a month of listening to those vibes, I'd like to tell everyone that they're just a bunch of spoiled brats. The music is perfect as far as I'm concerned.

Ronnie Smith

Harrison Grade School
Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Editor:

Can't anyone ever get any privacy? I'm gone for five minutes, and all of a sudden everyone wants to know where I am. Well, if you must know, I've been sick, and I'm in the darn bathroom. I'll be out in a minute. Sheesh.

The Beef

In a Wendy's restroom somewhere in America

Dear Editor:

I've been reading entirely too much about the alleged cheating in Dr. Emil Hofman's chemistry class, and I'll have you know I'm pretty darn sick of it all. The possibility of students cheating at Notre Dame really burns me up, and personally, I'd do anything to lead the case against students like that if I could only figure out a way to pass my LSAT and become a lawyer.

Will Cheete

Pangborn Hall

Dear Editor:

I read a few months ago about all the hype that went on your campus due to the popularity of Cap'n Crunch, and as a concerned citizen, I think the whole thing was a big mistake. I happen to know the Cap'n personally, and he's about as bad as they come. Yeah, just ask him to tell you some of the things he did in Ft. Lauderdale over break. What a dirty old man. Also, if possible, I'd like to come to your school to conduct a series of lectures on his lewd behavior. Can this be arranged?

The Lucky Charms Leprechaun

On grocery store shelves everywhere

Dear Editor:

I've come to a conclusion. Parietals are useless. I mean, think about it. If Joe and Mary fall asleep in Joe's room and are caught after 2:00 doing nothing but sleeping, they still get in trouble. But if people are gonna have sex, they don't have to wait until after two in the morning to do it, right? Consider this: two people can meet at a party and decide to have sex at 8:30, 9, and every half hour after that until parietals. I do it all the time.

Al Wyzretti

Somewhere on campus

Dear Editor:

My son receives The Observer at home, and as I was paging through some of the old issues, I happened to notice some of the photo spreads you ran of the Space Shuttle Columbia. If I wanted my son to see all of that space stuff, I'd send him off to see "Return of the Jedi," which I don't let him do either. Kids have too much on their dirty young minds nowadays to be seeing nonsense like space voyages and the like. Please cancel our subscription.

Mrs. Bea Hyndthetymes

A disgusted mother in Peru, Indiana

Dear Editor:

The Far Side cartoon which ran the other day about anteaters of the future was totally inaccurate and untrue. You see, there won't be any anteaters in the future. I'm going to take my M-16 and blast them all to extinction when I get outta this dump, and if anyone thinks I'm kidding just let them try and stop me.

Sy Copathe

An Army ROTC living in a trench

In pursuit of fac

by Kathy Schubert
features staff writer

Q: What was born on a rainy afternoon in 1979 in Montreal, Canada?

A: Trivial Pursuit, an adult board game that Scott Abbott and Chris and John Haney hope will be their "million dollar baby."

Abbott and Chris Haney, former Canadian journalists, got the idea to invent their own game while playing Scrabble. It took the two less than an hour to design its basic structure.

The object of Pursuit is to move around the wheel-shaped board by rolling a die and then answering a question. There are six categories of questions: geography, history, art and literature, science and nature, entertainment, and sports and leisure. There is a special space on the board that corresponds to each of these categories. A player obtains a marker by answering the question correctly when he lands on such a space. A player must collect a marker from each category and then travel to the center to win.

Sounds pretty simple, right? Just answer six little questions and get to the center. No big deal.

A definite misconception. This is where the "adult" aspect of the game comes into play. There are 1,000 questions for each category, and the answers are not obvious.

Trivia buffs feel this game was made for them. Finally something to challenge the intellect. That's something you can't say about video games or Dungeons and Dragons, which relies mainly on imagination.

Pursuit has been called the most successful game to come along in the last 30 years. So far this seems to be holding true. Stores have been selling out the $40 game as fast as they get them in. Translations of the game are being marketed around the world, and a second supplement (the original is called Genius I) called Silver Screen is already available in the U.S. Also due out soon are two other supplements, All-Star Sports and Baby Boomer. Baby Boomer will contain questions spanning the 1950's through the early 1970's.

The appeal of Pursuit is obvious. It's a great get together game in that anywhere from two to 24 people can play. It's a lot of fun, but it may have an adverse effect on your ego. Remark one student, "I always considered myself pretty intelligent, but after an hour and a half (of Trivial Pursuit) I'm not so sure." But don't let that stop you.

A roomful of Notre Dame students pursuing right, are Karen Russell, Teresa Barker, A. Left to right above are Nick Wiggins, Alice

Movies

Splash — unreal but amusing

by Paul Cimino
features staff writer

What is it like to fall in love with a mermaid? Well, if you are interested in acquiring an answer to this question, "Splash" is the movie for you.

"Splash" is a wonderfully funny and delightful movie about a New Yorker named Alan Bauer (played by Tom Hanks) who has his dreams fulfilled. Alan shares ownership of a New York-based fruit and vegetable supply company with his brother (played by John Candy from SCTV). The business is doing great, but Alan's life has taken a plunge. Saddened by the fact that he has no one to love, Alan plods around in a dejected state for the first 15 minutes of the film. After taking an extremely costly cab ride from New York City to Massachusetts, Alan falls out of a small motorboat into the bay (I won't tell you what he was doing there in the first place) and because he has never learned to swim, sinks slowly to the bottom.

Enter our mermaid (swimmingly portrayed by Daryl Hannah) who rescues Alan and drops him on the shore where he awakens a few hours later. After giving him a quick kiss, the mermaid jumps back into the sea and leaves Alan standing alone on the beach with a bunch of questions.

A few days later, the mermaid shows up in the buff at the Statue of Liberty where she causes quite a scene. When she is arrested by the police, Alan's wallet is found in her possession and he is immediately notified. Alan picks her up at the police station and takes her to his apartment. Throughout the course of the following days, Alan educates her, names her Madison and falls deeply in love with her.

Life is not all peaches and cream for this couple, however, as they are continuously pursued by a crazed scientist (played by Eugene Levy, another SCTV veteran) who is trying to prove to his peers that Madison really is a mermaid.

Being a hometown Noo Yawk boy, I immediately knew that I had a good flick on my hands when I noticed that the opening scene was filmed on the Staten Island Ferry. But don't get the idea that this film is only for New Yorkers. On the contrary, it is a film for anyone who enjoys a good laugh.

The acting is of a high caliber and each of the four of the major characters' roles are written and portrayed in such a manner as to augment the efforts of the other three. Tom Hanks is exceptional as Alan. He definitely succeeds in playing the straight role to Daryl Hannah's naive humor. Hannah is also very good as the beauty from the sea. And what more needs be said about the talents of Candy and Levy who have been mainstays of the Second City Television Network for years. Their raucous and quick-witted humor keeps the action moving at a fast and funny pace throughout the film.

The story suffers slightly from unbelievable at times, but come on; this is a movie about a guy who falls in love with a mermaid; the whole premise is just a little overboard.

Despite this fact, "Splash" is wonderfully entertaining and worth the price of admission. One word of advice: Buy your popcorn and soda before the show starts because every minute is filled with laughs and fun which you won't want to miss. Rated P.G. for Pretty Good!

The Observer/Thom Bradley

Jazzing it up

A New Orleans musician blows his clarinet as part of the Preservation Hall Jazz Festival, sponsored by the Saint Mary's Performing Arts Series, which took place Friday night at O'Laughlin.

s and fun

The Observer/Paul Cifarelli

sue their pastime pleasure with the hottest game on the market. Top, left to nn Seeley, Kathy O'Brien, Kathy Martin, Katy Stephan, and Stephanie Siegel.
e Groner, Jeanne Bowman, Ed Mulholland and Dan Lally.

Records

A new dimension to Jackson

by Gerry Bernat
features staff writer

Joe Jackson fans will be surprised if not, perhaps, aghast at his latest effort, Body and Soul. Once bitter and cynical, Jackson has become personal and hopeful in his music, which has developed and matured both musically and lyrically since his earlier work.

Body and Soul follows musically along lines rooted in Jackson's last two albums, in which Jackson showed his ability with 40's and 50's era jazz and the clean, more modern sounds of Night and Day. Jackson's musical expertise and maturity is prominent throughout the album, and is most pronounced in the last two songs, "Be My Number Two" and "Heart of Ice."

"Be My Number Two" is a song about love and hope threatened by cynicism and self-doubt, and features an impressive combination of tenor sax and violin, which brings the clean and musically superb song to a close. Liberal use of saxes, violin, trumpet, and piano gives Body and Soul a full, well-orchestrated sound. "Heart of Ice" closes the album on an upbeat and positive note which is primarily instrumental, and is indicative of where Joe Jackson stands musically.

Like his music, Joe Jackson's lyrics have matured markedly since his early albums. Body and Soul delivers a much more personal message than Jackson fans have heard before, as a closer picture of the artist is allowed to develop. "The Verdict" sees Jackson's cynicism melt away as he gropes for what he knows to be right amidst frailty, indecision, and fear. "Go for It" displays an optimistic side of Joe Jackson that has never before shown itself in such clear terms.

While Body and Soul deals with primarily the same themes that Jackson has written about in the past, glaringly absent are the bitterness and cynicism that once colored Jackson's point of view and that are evident in the well-played "Is She Really Going Out With Him?" from Look Sharp! In looking at how we treat one another and ourselves, Joe Jackson has, apparently, grown up and accepted the imperfection of life.

Much of what Joe Jackson tries to accomplish through Body and Soul is written in an explication of the album printed in generously superlative terms on the back of the cover. Most of the album was recorded in a stone and wood hall using digital systems. The recording quality of Body and Soul is excellent.

As a whole, Body and Soul is much more instrumental than Joe Jackson's earlier albums. Most of its songs are able to stand up by themselves, but are better taken as parts of the whole album. Likely candidates for radio airplay are "The Verdict," "Be My Number Two," and "Happy Ending," a cute boy-meets-girl duet. These three songs seem to have enough lyric to attract radio-listener interest, whereas other cuts may prove to be too instrumental.

Body and Soul is, like most Joe Jackson albums, different than all of his other work. This fact may comfort some disappointed fans who won't appreciate Jackson's musical progress. It seems to be taking him farther away from his earlier expressions of bitterness and cynicism, which so accurately exposed many human wants, weaknesses and disappointments without giving in to these personal stumbling blocks. By Gerry Bernat Body and Soul, Joe Jackson Graham Maby, bass; Vinnie Zummo, guitar; Ed Roynesdal, keyboards and violin; Tony Aiello, saxes and flute; Michael Morreale, trumpet and flugelhorn; Gary Burke, drums; Ellen Foley an Elaine Caswell, vocals; Joe Jackson, vocals, piano, sax. A and M Records

Dancin' Irish not just a sideshow

by Tracy Oakes
features staff writer

The Dancin' Irish, a squad of ND and SMC girls who perform to the tunes of such singers as Michael Jackson, The Cars, and George Benson, are in the process of steppin' out into areas other than the home basketball scene.

The squad, composed of sixteen or seventeen girls, is best recognized for its performance of various dance routines during halftime at ND varsity basketball games. They are, however, involved in other activities which extend beyond these occasional, brief performances. In fact, the character of the Dancin' Irish, shown in their enhancement of campus spirit and entertainment and their promotion of unity between schools, is that of one of the more dedicated and social organizations on campus.

Preparation for events begins with a two day clinic which instructs all prospective Dancin' Irish candidates on the choreography of two dance routines. During the tryouts which follow these clinics, the girls are judged by a committee on their ability to master one of the routines and on their showmanship. After acceptance, the squad follows a rigorous schedule which includes a one or two hour daily workout finishing with a final videotaping with the help of Saint Mary's Assistant Athletic Director Tim Dillon.

All routines performed by the squad are choreographed on a volunteer basis through group input. So far, aside from home basketball games, the Dancin' Irish have participated in such activities as the homecoming parade, dancing on the quad, selling programs before football games, and on occasion performing at halftime during a ND soccer game.

Co-captains Cheryl Diaz and Jill McPartlin agree the season has been successful, with the exception of a few unforeseen problems. These problems began with the loss of their moderator, Jan Bishop, and the lack of a replacement.

When asked about the effect on the squad of coping without a moderator, Patty Whitehouse, a two year veteran, commented that Bishop had never closely associated with or assisted the squad. The captains had always been self-sufficient and responsible for coordinating arrangements for games and choosing uniforms.

Without the authority of a moderator, the squad faced various scheduling problems due to a lack of voice in the athletic department. Eileen Hogan, also a two year member, expressed frustration over the apparent apathy on the part of the department, which resulted in the squad being denied the opportunity to perform at the best attended games.

To further complicate matters, the Dancin' Irish were forced to operate without University funding, although they did receive assistance from Saint Mary's College.

The squad is optimistic with regard to the future. Their main objective is to broaden their horizons and to overcome some of the difficulties encountered this year.

An important priority this year is the quest for a "home base" offering guidance and representation to authority. Such guidance could be found in departments other than Student Activities, with which they are currently affiliated. Once this is attained, the Dancin' Irish hope to expand their performances into other areas, possibly including ND soccer games or dance recitals in the South Bend community.

In any case, the Dancin' Irish are truly a dedicated and professional group, willing to make the sacrifices and commitments necessary for quality performances. With the continued support of the student body, (and the hope of a new sound system), the Dancin' Irish look toward continued expansion into other activities while always remaining Notre Dame basketball's "halftime show."

Dancin' Irish member Jill McPartlin is cuddled by the Chicago White Sox mascot.

Brian Davis

The Dancin' Irish perform one of their many rousing routines on the basketball court floor. Left to right are Keri Kennedy, Marci Anguilli, Sharon Connerly and Theresa Bleier.

A Bookstore Basketball scorekeepers' meeting will be held tonight at 6:30 p.m. in the LaFortune Little Theater. Anyone interested in scorekeeping for the tourney, including those already signed up, should attend the brief meeting. Those who cannot attend should call Cathy Chopp at 6293. — The Observer

Aerobic Exercise Instructors for next year are being sought by NVA. Qualified applicants should contact the NVA office this week. — The Observer

An interhall tennis tournament will be sponsored by NVA on Sunday, April 8. Students interested in this all-day event should contact their hall athletic commissioner for information about their hall's team. Rosters must be submitted by 5 p.m. April 4. — The Observer

Major league baseball will be the topic of discussion on Speaking of Sports tonight on WSND-AM 64 at 10 p.m. Join in the lively conversation by calling 239-6400 or 239-7425. — The Observer

Keep training for the Irish Spring Run, a six-mile race around campus, the lakes, and the golf course. It's coming up Saturday, April 14 at 10 a.m. Deadline for entries is this Friday. Registration must be made in person at the NVA office, and a $3 fee will be charged. Trophies and t-shirts will be awarded. — The Observer

Cheerleading tryouts will be held beginning tomorrow, with the first clinic at 6 p.m. The first tryout will be held on Thursday, April 5, from 6-10 p.m. The second clinic will be held on Friday, April 6, at 6 p.m. Cheerleading finals then will be conducted, then, on Saturday, April 7, from 6-10 p.m. All sessions will be held in the ACC Pit and the tryouts will be open for the public to watch on Thursday and Saturday. — The Observer

Interhall lacrosse representatives who missed the organizational meeting should call Rich O'Leary at the NVA office (239-6100) before Wednesday. — The Observer

The squash club will host a tournament April 6-8 for players at all levels. It is open to all students, faculty and staff. Sign-ups will continue through Thursday at the ACC courts. For more information, call Sean at 277-1405. — The Observer

NVA Aerobics Classes are now underway at the and Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 p.m. Classes are held in Gym I of the ACC. — The Observer

Women's Bookstore has 14 slots yet to fill for this year's tournament. Teams may sign up on a first-come, first-served basis by calling Patty at 1313 or Kathleen at 1618. — The Observer

The ND Track team has a meet this Saturday. Anyone interested in helping with this event, please call Susan (x6738) or Jennie (x6865) by Wednesday night. — The Observer

The ND Women's Track Team placed fourth out of 17 teams at the North Park Invitational in Chicago last Saturday. Jeanne Luther placed first in the discus and third in the shot put and javelin. Karen Takacs took third in both the 200- and 400-meter races. Rosemarie Luking placed third in the 1500-meters, while Jennie Salvador was fourth in the 400-meter low hurdles. Cindi Short, participating for St. Mary's, placed second in the 800-meters and third in the 3000-meters. The Irish return to action on Saturday for the ND Invitational. — The Observer

Holy Cross Softball tournament action continues. Results so far: Moreau 6, St. Ed's 5; Morrissey 10, Moreau 1; Holy Cross 4, Keenan 2; Flanner 6, Grace 3; Sorin 16, Cavanaugh 8; Flanner 7, Sorin 4; Zahm over Howard, forfeit; Dillon 11, Stanford 5; Pangborn 5, Fisher 0; Alumni 10, Off Campus 9; Carroll 11, Alumni 7; Carroll 8, Pangborn 2. — The Observer

Soccer and baseball officials are needed for the NVA spring season. Anyone interested should go to the NVA office at the ACC. — The Observer

An Tostal innertube water polo still has a few spots left for your team. Signups will be taken on a first-come, first-served basis at the Rockne Memorial pool, today from 6 to 8 p.m. Bring rosters, $7 fee and team name. — The Observer

Tennis

continued from page 12

match," said junior Paul Najarian. "After Hawaii, in the locker room, you could see that we all wanted it. We just said 'let's go for it!'"

The Irish got out to a quick start against the Bobcats, as Najarian won at fifth singles against John Knezevitch 6-1, 6-0 and captain Tim Noonan defeated Tim Bruin at fourth singles, 7-6 (7-3), 6-1.

"I played really well today," said Najarian. "I seemed to pick up my form in Florida. Yesterday, I was so cold I didn't do well, so today I got psyched up for the match."

"He (Knezevitch) got discouraged. He was a good player, but after I won the first set he let down. After yesterday, it felt good to come back and win."

Even after his win, Noonan wasn't totally happy with his play. "I'm still not playing great," said the team captain. "I played well on some big points — that was the difference."

"He tried to come in on the second set, and I hit my passing shots real well. I think he might have been tired from playing this morning (against Hawaii)."

"I was not too pleased with our performance today," said Fallon. "We still made too many unforced errors. But we're playing much better doubles; we just need more practice."

Tomorrow, Notre Dame will be on the road again, travelling to Bowling Green University. Last year the Irish defeated the Falcons 7-2 at Courtney.

"They are always tough at home," said Fallon, "last year we had a close match."

Classifieds

NOTICES

COMPUTERIZED TYPING SERVICE - 277-6045. W/pick up & deliver.

TYPING AVAILABLE - 287-4082

GIVE ME THE LATE NIGHT CLUB!!!!!!

NEED CASH? Earn $500+ each school year, 2-4 (flexible) hours per week placing and filling posters on campus. Serious workers only; we give recommendations. Call now for summer & next fall. 1-800-243-6679.

ANNE STRATTON IS A WOMAN-GOD! THE MOLES OF HOLY CROSS THANK YOU ONCE AGAIN HC RULES THE PARTY SCENE OF ND

ALABAMA TIX!!! Front row, but can't go. Call Mark 6871

Experienced typist will do typing. Call 287-5162.

LOST/FOUND

LOST ND MEN'S RING. LOST ON 3/15. YELLOW GOLD, BLUE STONE WITH NO ENGRAVED ON TOP. MY NAME IS ENGRAVED ON THE INSIDE. THERE IS A REWARD FOR ITS RETURN. CALL JEFF AT 8854. THANKS.

LOST: A red wool sweater in O'Shag sometime before break. If found please call 7101.

LOST A BLUE DOWN JACKET DURING LAST FRIDAY'S WALSH HALL PARTY. BRAND NAME IS ASCENTE. CONTAINS PRESCRIPTION GLASSES IN THE POCKET. IF FOUND PLEASE CALL 283-3115 or RETURN TO 115 HOLY CROSS HALL. REWARD AND NO QUESTIONS ASKED!

FOUND: GOLD CROSS PEN WITH WORDS "ComVac" ON SIDE. CALL 1866 TO CLAIM.

KODAK POCKET CAMERA WITH THE INITIALS TCJ AT HAPPY HOUR FRIDAY IN 704 P.E. IF YOU ACCIDENTLY TOOK IT, PLEASE CALL TERRI AT 4281. IF IT WASN'T TAKEN BY MISTAKE, PLEASE JUST SEND THE FILM THAT WAS IN IT TO 704 P.E. THANKS

FOUND: GIRL'S KEY CHAIN WITH LARGE GOLD HEART. FOUND IN STEPHAN CENTER SUNDAY NIGHT. CALL x1765.

LOST: A friend from Walsh. Hey, banana, please find your way back.

LOST: Green SWING WEST winter jacket. REWARD!!! Please call 3401 so my mom won't kill me!

FOR RENT

HOUSES - FURNISHED - 1 MILE FROM CAMPUS 4-6 BDRMS. 2 BATHS CALL 277-3461

WANTED

CHOOSE LIFE FOR YOUR BABY! CONSIDER THE OPTION OF ADOPTION! INFERTILE COUPLE WANTS TO ADOPT INFANT. WRITE P.O. BOX 5398, FT. WAYNE, IN 46805.

GOING MY WAY??? Huntington, Columbia City, or Ft. Wayne for Easter Break can leave as early as Wed. noon, will pay Call Susan 4515

Come to Boston for the summer. Couples are seeking mature persons to help with childcare and household responsibilities in exchange for room, board and $125 net weekly salary. Please call Kate Goldfield at 617-862-7982 or write: 283 Marrett Road, Lexington, MA 02173.

NEED RIDE TO IU FROM 4/6 TO 4/8. CALL PAT AT 7374

Need ride to COMISKY PARK for White Sox Opening Game. It's this Friday, April 6. Please Call Paul at 277-4851 or at 239-5313. Can leave anytime!

Immediate part-time job with nearby insurance office. Receptionist- typist 40 wpm. peppy personality. Pay $4.50 - hours flexible - call Jim Lenox 272-0404.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE: GREEN OVERCOAT, LARGE. IN VERY GOOD CONDITION. MARINE SURPLUS BEST OFFER. CALL PATTY AT 8654

ELECTRIC GUITAR - MINT CONDITION - CALL AFTER 5 233-9093

Collector's item - Iron bust Kluke Rockne with stadium, field, football, dates 1924-1929. Size 6x7. $100 or best offer. Contact V. Benjamin at 419-924-2907 or 283-7740

MAXELL UDXLI's $2.60 CALL STAN 802 GREAT STEREO DEALS TOO.

MAXELL's & TDK's $2.50. CALL MEAKS 277-3306

PERSONALS

OAR HOUSE: COLD BEER & LIQUOR. CARRY OUT TIL 3 AM. U.S. 31 N. ONE BLOCK SOUTH OF HOLIDAY INN.

SURPRISE!

THE SUNSHINE BOYS ARE COMING!!

RICHARD J. BARNET

ATTENTION: WE WANT TO BUY A BOOKSTORE TEAM POSITION WILL PAY EITHER $25 OR 2 CASES OF BEER. CONTACT CHRIS AT 8555 OR JOHN AT 3651. WE MEAN BUSINESS!!!!

ERNEST HOLLINGS FOR PRESIDENT MOCK CONVENTION '84 The Fiscally Responsible Candidate. DELEGATES, Take a Good Long Look Before Choosing a dedicated politician over a DEDICATED SERVANT!!!!!! ERNEST HOLLINGS for PRESIDENT MAKING tough decisions, not AVOIDING them.

TE WALTZ BALL IS BACK!! Try out your social dance skills from Freshman Year! Come waltz with Strauss and swing with Benny Goodman! Chautauqua. Friday night, 8:30.

Are the HABITS out of the wash yet?

You Are Invited To JESUS IN JERUSALEM A SLIDE PRESENTATION/LECTURE BY JEROME MURPHY O'CONNOR, O.P. INTERNATIONALLY RECOGNIZED NEW TESTAMENT SCHOLAR TONIGHT, APRIL 3 7:00 P.M. HOWARD HALL

Theo Majors: Please attend the Special Lenten Prayer Service for members of the Theology Forum tonight, April 3 at 10:00 p.m. in the Howard Hall Chapel.

THE CIRCUS IS COMING IN ONE DAY - OLD FIELDSHOUSE MALL - NOON

If you have a personal computer and a modem, you should try our computer bulletin board service. Several hundred users from all over Michiana and beyond to talk to and help solve your problems. For more information call Kangaroo Concepts, Inc. at 277-5306. Free demonstrations available.

Debbie, Thanks for keeping my secret! Bill

Zarfa, Yeah, Munster! Key road trip. Patty has NICE blue underwear! Seductive Dancing. I didn't know that they sold BOG at the Store? Placid stop sign! Let's play restaurant-We'll pretend Scale owns Azar's!

Ann, That's a nice drawing of you. If I hang it up, you'll probably get lots of phone koalas!

THINK FAST!!

Wednesday lunchtime fast, that is. If you're one of the fasters, relieve those pangs of hunger through prayer. WHERE? Lunchtime, Wednesdays. WHEN? Meditation Room of Center for Social Concerns. See you there!

TRICIA YOU'RE GORGEOUS! PLEASE CALL 4666 FROM HOLY CROSS BARTENDER W/ SHADES, BANDANA & PIERCED EAR

MACRI'S DEAD!! THE DELI'S MEAT WILL BE BEAT!

TO little JIM B. FROM 227 DILLON, THE GIRLS IN AUGUSTA TELL ME YOUR ANKLE ISN'T THE ONLY LIMP PART OF YOU. GROW UP.

PSYCHOLOGY MAJORS and perspective majors: come to the psych workshop Wed. 7:00, Little Theatre, La Fortune, for career, grad school, and undergrad course info.

DAWN B. Since I've known you I've learned: 1) You have a SMILE which brightens up a room more than anything Edison ever came up with; 2) You know a 1001 ways to use CHOCOLATE; and 3) I hope WE can continue to see each other. There! Who said lawyers can't be brief! YOUR SHORT LAWYER

Oh to be back on the NORTH COAST where the BUZZARD rules the skies.

SENIOR CLASS ADVISORY COUNCIL MEETING TONITE (TUES.) ALL MUST ATTEND. PLEASE BRING TICKET MONEY TO MEETING. MEETING IS AT 6:30 AT THE NEW ORLEANS ROOM IN LAFORTUNE.

GROUND ZERO nuclear war education club, meeting tonight, 7, Center for Social Concerns. New members welcomed.

JUST WHEN YOU THOUGHT IT WAS SAFE TO WALK ACROSS THE QUAD-KIRK'S BIG BUTT RETURNS! CATCH IT AT A STANFORD HALL NEAR YOU!

TALL, DARK AND HANDSOME? AVAILABLE THE WEEKEND OF APRIL 14TH? SENIOR WENCHES HAVE BEEN DITCHED BY BOYFRIENDS AND ARE SEARCHING FOR SENIOR FORMAL DATES. INTERESTED? SUBMIT PROPOSALS TO MARCI, CHERYL, JENNY, AND LAURIE IN BADIN HALL.

FOURTH MALE ROOMMATE NEEDED OR CAMPUS VIEW APT. IF INTERESTED PLEASE CONTACT BRIAN AT 1238 ANAL/ANAL

GENE DELAUNE is 19 today!! Call him at 7374, or stop by 355 Morrissey to deliver personal b-day greetings!!!!

Dear Gene, Isn't it a TRIP to be legal?! Your favorite sister, Robin, alias Elizabeth

HEY ROWE-MANCE!! Happy 7th!! Always, H

Karin HAPPY BIRTHDAY to the girl who is the best of everything. Thanks. Love, Jim

BEAUX ARTS. . . BEAUX ARTS. . . BEAUX ARTS

Friday, April 6- "STEREOTYPES," A Beaux Arts Ball 9:00-1:30 Presale tickets only

If JACK DANIELS only knew how much she abuses him! When will she learn to make winnable bets? Perhaps another bottle of V.O. not to say anything about THOSE EYEBROWS! or those just friends' dates! Watch out for the incredible shrinking hairspray!!!

Slow Death is funnier. A Friend

FLORIDA SLAM

I CAN'T DECIDE WAS IT DUFER, DO-FOUR, OR (OVER) DO-FOR IN FLA TERR-BARE

Joe Wagy ManGod of Fisher Hall - Happy Legality! Diz and Race

Conrad, I'm Serial. Thanks for a great weekend! Your favorite JAP

DEAR KARIN, NO MATTER WHAT HAPPENS OR WHAT YOU THINK, I LOVE YOU ALWAYS, PAUL

NEED A RIDE TO CINCINNATI LEAVING WED 4/4? CALL EMILE 3770

TO CATHY DAVID AND THE WRECKING CREW (ALIAS "THE STUDENT BODY"): THANKS FOR "VISITING" OUR ROOM. IT NEEDED A WOMAN'S TOUCH! THE VASELINE MADE THINGS A LOT EASIER (AND WE THOUGHT YOU WERE NICE GIRLS!) YES, APRIL 1 IS A WONDERFUL DAY. I HOPE YOU LADIES WILL BE UP FOR A CHALLENGING SITUATION SOON. BEWARE OF WATER BALLOONS. HOPE YOU ARE READY TO GET WET LOVE ROB AND HIS THREE PERVERTED ROOMMATES. P.S. NEXT TIME NO VASELINE.

HEY ERIN! What's happened since the Happy Hour? Geez, Louise — I L — you! Dr. Hil P. Arious

I 2 Fille Mai Gardee La Fille Mai Gardee

Parker comes home, leads Reds past Mets

Associated Press

CINCINNATI — Dave Parker delighted a hometown crowd with a two-run single, and Mario Soto baffled New York on seven hits as the Cincinnati Reds routed the Mets 8-1 yesterday in the traditional National League opener.

Parker, a Cincinnati native who signed with the Reds as a free agent in the off-season, responded to a standing ovation with a bases-loaded single in his first at-bat as the Reds scored three runs in the first inning off Mike Torrez and claimed their ninth opening-day victory in 11 years.

Eddie Milner barely cleared the lowered eight-foot outfield wall with a three-run homer in the second inning that put the Reds ahead 6-1 and chased Torrez, 10-17 last season. Milner also had a single and a double in four at-bats to help the Reds win their first game under Manager Vern Rapp.

Soto, 17-10, a year ago with 242 strikeouts and league-leading 18 complete games, fanned eight while going the distance in a match-up between the league's two worst teams of 1983.

The earliest NL opener in modern-day baseball history was played in a festive atmosphere before a crowd 46,000 on a sunny and mild April afternoon.

Retired Reds catcher Johnny

Bench led a traditional opening day parade through downtown and then was wheeled onto the field on a horse-drawn carriage. A fan from nearby Middletown, Ohio, chosen in a radio contest, threw out the ceremonial first pitch as elected officials and other dignitaries crowded the field.

Soto, who has never lost to the Mets in nine career appearances, made his third consecutive opening day start in style with two strikeouts in the first inning.

Cincinnati then struck for three runs in the first inning, loading the bases with none out on Gary Redus' double, Milner's single and a walk to Dave Concepcion.

Parker hit a ground single through a hole at second for two runs, and Concepcion scored when Dan Driessen hit into a fielder's choice.

Darryl Strawberry, last season's Rookie of the Year, homered leading off the second, but Cincinnati exploded for four more runs in the bottom of the inning.

Dan Bilardello doubled and Soto, trying to sacrifice, placed a perfect bunt for a single. Milner then homered just inches over the right field wall, bringing on reliever Ed Lynch.

With two outs, Parker singled and Driessen walked. Nick Esasky then hit an infield popup that the Mets surrounded but let drop for a double scoring Parker.

AP Photo

Dave Parker (39) congratulates Dave Concepcion after Concepcion's seventh-inning homer yesterday. Parker, making his Cincinnati debut, drove in two runs in the Reds' 8-1 opening day victory over the New York Mets. See story at left.

Reagan replaces Kuhn

Associated Press

BALTIMORE — Harold Baines drove in three runs, and LaMarr Hoyt pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 5-2 victory yesterday over the Baltimore Orioles in an American League opener attended by President Reagan.

Reagan tossed out the ceremonial first ball as a last-minute substitute for baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, then sat in the dugout of Baltimore's defending world champions for one inning before departing by helicopter.

A first-inning home run by Cal Ripken Jr., the league's Most Valuable Player of 1983, provided Baltimore's first run off Hoyt, who won 24 games and the Cy Young award last season. Hoyt finally came out after 7 1-3 innings, having yielded seven hits, three by Dan Ford.

Britt Burns earned the save for Hoyt, coming on after Ford and Ripken had singled with one out in the eighth. Eddie Murray then singled home Ford.

The White Sox, last year's AL west Division champions, already had struck for two runs before Ripken's opposite field drive into the right field bleachers.

Singles by Rudy Law and Carlton Fisk, and a ground out by Baines produced the first run off Scott McGregor, an 18-game winner last year.

Chicago loaded the bases on walks to Greg Luzinski and Tom Paciorek before Fisk scored on a sacrifice fly by Ron Kittle.

The White Sox made it 3-1 in the second when a sacrifice fly by Law scored Julio Cruz, who had walked, stole second and took third on a throwing error by first baseman Murray.

White Sox defeat Orioles

JUNIORS

SENIOR TRIP DEADLINE
DEPOSITS DUE FRIDAY, APRIL 6

Sign-ups in front of Student Activities Office
in LaFortune:
11:00 am to 1:00 pm and 6:30 to 7:30 pm
Monday thru Friday

SENIORS
This is almost your last chance to buy
Senior Formal Tickets
Only TODAY and TOMMORROW in
LaFortune and LeMans
Rent tuxes 4:30-6:30
LaFortune, from 5:00-6:30

SUMMER STORAGE SPACE
Special discount for ND/SMC students
(5 x 10 spaces and larger)
CALL 259-0335 to RESERVE SPACE
SELF LOCK STORAGE OF MCKINLEY
816 East Mc Kinley
Mishawaka
Security Patrol Checks

PROFESSIONAL BUSINESS MANAGERS

U. S. Navy Supply Corps has openings in training programs offering early managerial and technical responsibilities. Qualified applicants will receive 10 months paid training program leading to immediate managerial positions in one of the following areas:

- ★ Systems inventory management
- ★ Acquisition Contracting
- ★ Computer Systems
- ★ Financial Management

Starting salary $17,000 with benefits—rapid advancement.

Qualifications: BA/BS degree or be within 12 months of graduation from college, B average preferred. U.S. citizenship a must. Age limit 29. Call Navy Toll Free

1-800-382-9782

Navy representative on campus 10-12 April

Attention all juniors interested in bartending during the 1984-1985 school year:

Applications for bartenders at the Alumni Senior Club are now available at Student Activities.

Applications are due by Fri. April 6

Reserves propel Georgetown to top

Associated Press

SEATTLE — Georgetown has Patrick Ewing and Houston has Akeem Olajuwon, but the Hoyas are NCAA basketball champions because they also have a host of reserves, led by freshmen Michael Graham and Reggie Williams.

While Ewing was named the Most Outstanding Player in the Final Four after his personal battle of 7-footers with Olajuwon, Williams and Graham carried second-ranked Georgetown to an 84-75 victory over Houston for the national championship last night.

"It's a fabulous feeling. We're elated to win the national championship," said Coach John Thompson, whose team narrowly missed the title in 1982. "It's much harder to get here than win one game for the national championship."

"Guy Lewis is an excellent coach. They've been to the Final Four three straight years."

Thompson and his players embraced joyfully as the final seconds ticked off, the memories of the runner-up finish to North Carolina two years ago were wiped away.

But it was sorrow again for Houston, which was upset 54-52 by North Carolina State a year ago. Olajuwon and his Cougar teammates sobbed on the bench as time ran out Monday night, before 39,471 fans in the Kingdome.

It was the first time since Ohio State in 1961-62 that a school had lost the championship game two years in a row. Houston also reached the Final Four in 1967, '68 and '81, but has never won the title.

The depth of the Hoyas, who finished 34-3, was never more evident than in the final 7:35 of the first half. Ewing was on the bench with two fouls, while Olajuwon picked up his second and third personals. Olajuwon picked up his fourth foul less than a minute into the second half, and played tentatively the rest of the way.

In winning their 11th straight game and 21st of the last 22, the second-ranked Hoyas culminated the rebuilding program that Thompson began when he took over a 3-23 club in 1972. The former backup center for the Boston Celtics has been criticized for some of his tactics on and off the court, but he said after the championship victory that "the bottom line is that my kids graduate."

"I don't have a problem with people criticizing us," he said. "I'm not concerned with my critics."

"I'm elated about winning the championship," Thompson continued, "but the hardest thing is to get here. Anyone can win one game."

For a while, it looked as if it would be Houston winning that elusive "one game."

The Cougars, 32-5, hit their first seven shots, including three field goals by Young and two by Reid Gettys to take a 14-6 lead. But Georgetown came back to tie it at 14 and again at 16 before taking the lead for good.

The Hoyas went into the locker room leading 40-30 at halftime behind a basket by Jackson and two by Wingate. They led by 12 twice early in the second half, the last at 44-32 before Olajuwon connected.

While the Nigerian All-American was sitting down for six minutes, Franklin picked up the slack with his jumper cutting the Georgetown margin to 51-47 with 13:56 to play. Franklin continued to drive the middle but the shooting of Williams and Graham held off the Southwest Conference champions.

Houston three other times cut the margin to five points, the last on a field goal by Eric Dickens to make it 72-67. The Hoyas made good on the free-throw line down the stretch, as they snapped the Cougars' six-game winning streak.

Houston could take some consolation in rolling up 75 points against the Hoya defense, which had held opponents to an average of 57.4 points in previous games this season.

Georgetown, champions of the Big East, usually uses 10 players but had to do without standout defensive guard Gene Smith, who suffered a sprained right foot in a 53-40 victory over Kentucky in the semifinals Saturday.

While Ewing was sitting down to avoid further foul problems late in the first half, Olajuwon picked up his second and third personals before sitting out the last 42 seconds of the half. This marked the first time in four tournament games that Olajuwon did not play the entire game.

Ewing got his third personal with 12:08 to go and Georgetown leading 55-49. But he went out for only about a minute just before Franklin's two free throws cut the Houston deficit to 57-54.

The Georgetown Hoyas won the NCAA Championship last night by defeating the Houston Cougars, 84-75 in Seattle. Center Patrick Ewing (left) was named the Most Outstanding Player of the Final Four. See game story at right.

Toronto Maple Leafs fire Nykoluk

TORONTO — Mike Nykoluk, described this season by Toronto owner Harold Ballard as "too nice a guy" to fire, was told by the Maple Leafs yesterday his contract will not be renewed for the 1984-85 National Hockey League season.

But rather than call a news conference about the move, word of the firing came during the club's annual Molson Cup award presentation. Nykoluk was expected to attend the noon-hour luncheon, but remained in his Maple Leaf Gardens office, unavailable for comment.

There was no immediate comment from team officials concerning Nykoluk's successor. Dan Maloney, an assistant coach, would be the likely heir. Another possibility is Roger Neilson, a former Leafs' coach who was released by Los Angeles yesterday, several hours after Nykoluk was let go.

Nykoluk appeared to be on his way out from behind the bench as long ago as the all-star break, but was given a vote of confidence at that time by Ballard.

Team captain Rick Vaive, who registered his third successive 50-goal season for the Leafs to claim the Molson Cup for the third consecutive time, said it was unfortunate the blame for the Leafs' poor performance this season had to rest on one person's shoulders.

"It's everybody's fault," said Vaive, one of the bright spots on a club that finished last in the Norris Division with a 26-45-9 record. The 45 losses were the most ever suffered by the Leafs in one season. "It's unfortunate one guy has to lose his job over it."

The club also was wracked by injuries in every area for most of the season and the club Nykoluk had to work with put together three winning streaks all season — one of four games and two of two games.

STUDENTS!
WIN A FREE TRIP TO SAN DIEGO!
Announcing...A Suitcase Party at Lee's

Thurs., April 5, 5-7 p.m.

Tickets are $5 available from Senior Advisory Council members or in LeMan's (includes free admission to party, drinks provided)

Trip for 2 leaves April 6, returns April 7
For more info, Call 283-1689 or 283-6280

Saint Mary's English Department presents

RICHARD TILLINGHAST

author of The Knife and other poems

A Reading from his Poetry
Wednesday, April 4
8 p.m. Carroll Hall (in Madaleva)
St. Mary's College

The Knights of the Castle

Men's Hair Styling at its finest minutes from campus

SPRING SPECIAL

$5 Haircut only

$8⁵⁰ Haircut, Shampoo Blowdry

offer only applies to male patrons

54533 Terrace Lane
Across from Martin's
St. Rd. 23

Hrs: Tues, Wed: 8:30-5:30
Thur, Fri: 8:30-8:30
Sat: 8:00-2:30
Closed Mon.

★ ★ ★ Candidate Debate ★ ★ ★

A campus representative of present Democratic hopefuls will give statements, debate issues.

TUESDAY NIGHT, APRIL 3rd
7:00 - 8:00 in HAYES HEALY

Bloom County

Berke Breathed

Mellish

Dave

Guindon

Richard Guindon

An aerial photo which caught Eunice Benson emptying the trash in her bathrobe, just as she thought.

The Far Side

Gary Larson

Humor at its lowest form.

Campus

- 12:15 p.m. — Brown Bag Lunch, "A Faculty Conversation with Jose Carlos Sebe," 1201 Library
- 12:25 p.m. — Economics Workshop, "Federal Deficits and the Economy," Library Lounge
- 1 p.m. — Graduate Student Blood Drive, Student Health Center
- 3 p.m. — Lecture, "The Phenomenological Experience of the Home," Dr. Perla Korosec-Serfaty, Library Lounge
- 3:30 p.m. — Seminar, "Interstitial Diffusion and Microvascular Permeability in Normal Tissues and Tumors," Leonard E. Gerlowski, 356 Fitzpatrick
- 4 p.m. — Lecture, "Design With Nature: The Ecological Dimension," Prof. Ian L. McHarg, Annenberg Auditorium
- 4:15 p.m. — Lecture, "The Brazilian Community: An Historical Perspective," Prof. Jose Carlos Sebe, 105 Law Building
- 4:30 p.m. — Seminar, "Transcription and Replication of LaCrosse Virus," Dr. Jean Patterson, Galvin Life Science Auditorium
- 6:15 p.m. — Graduate Student Women Support Group Meeting, Wilson Commons
- 7 p.m. — Lecture and Slide Presentation, "Jesus in Jerusalem," Jerome Murphy-O'Connor, O.P., Howard Hall
- 7 p.m. — Lecture, "Cretaceous Wave-Dominated Delta, Barrier Island, and Submarine Fan Depositional Systems of the Rocky Mountains: Clastic Models for Hydrocarbon Exploration," John K. Valsley, 101 Earth Sciences Building
- 7:30 p.m. — Organizational Meeting of the L-5 Society, 118 NSH, All interested persons are welcome
- 7:30 p.m. — Lecture, "Michelangelo the Sculptor," Prof. Charles M. Rosenberg, 127 O'Shaughnessy
- 8 p.m. — Concert, Laura McEvoy, Senior Piano Recital, Annenberg Auditorium

TV Tonight

- | | |
|------------|-------------------------------|
| 9 p.m. | 16 Riptide |
| | 22 CBS Special: Miss Teen USA |
| | 28 Three's Company |
| 9:30 p.m. | 28 Shaping Up |
| 10 p.m. | 16 Remington Steele |
| | 28 Hart to Hart |
| 11 p.m. | 16 NewsCenter 16 |
| | 22 Eyewitness News |
| | 28 Newswatch 28 |
| 11:30 p.m. | 16 Tonight Show |
| | 22 Magnum PI/McCloud |
| | 28 ABC News Nightline |

The Daily Crossword

ACROSS

- 1 Soak in water
- 6 Reminder
- 10 Parent
- 14 Evans or Lavin
- 15 Declare to be true
- 16 Qum's land
- 17 Artist's stand
- 18 Quote
- 19 Penny
- 20 Forbidding-looking one
- 22 Use a glaciarium
- 23 To: Scot.
- 24 Eft
- 25 Colloid
- 26 Use needle and thread
- 27 Superiority in rank

32 Assignments

- 35 Object of devotion
- 36 Ponder on
- 37 Standing out of water
- 39 Fruit cake
- 41 Freight trailer
- 42 Letters
- 44 Student's paper
- 45 Deep furrows
- 47 Goddess of plenty
- 48 Sticky stuff
- 49 Lacerate
- 51 Tree of Brazil
- 54 W.I. dance
- 57 Redhead
- 59 Arrow poison

60 Particle

- 61 Dress material
- 62 — boy!
- 63 Ballerina's concern
- 64 — Gantry
- 65 Chestnut horse
- 66 Otherwise
- 67 Unkempt

DOWN

- 1 Was not alert
- 2 Crown
- 3 Follow
- 4 Elysium
- 5 Pallor
- 6 Long-tailed parrot
- 7 Forced to leave
- 8 Apportion
- 9 Mine output
- 10 Sour one

11 Surface

- 12 Breathe hard
- 13 Poker term

21 Small number

- 22 Jap. coin
- 25 Gold cover
- 26 Lanky person
- 28 Lichen
- 29 Is drowsy
- 30 Actor Joel Mc—
- 31 Wriggling
- 32 Nuisance

33 Heb. mea-

- 34 Bespangled
- 35 — fixe
- 38 Resound
- 40 Censures
- 43 Properties

- 54 Fibber
- 55 Division word
- 56 "I — man with..."
- 57 Indifferent
- 58 Enameled metal
- 60 Native of: suff.

- 46 Pigeon sound
- 47 Rowboat adjunct
- 50 Delete
- 51 One at —
- 52 Propelled a boat
- 53 Art of mimicking

Monday's Solution

© 1984 Tribune Company Syndicate, Inc. All Rights Reserved

4/3/84

This week at the Engineering Auditorium:

JAMES BOND WEEK

Tues.—Goldfinger

Thurs.—For Your Eyes Only

Wed.—Live and Let Die

Fri & Sat.—Never Say Never Again

All shows, $1.00

Chautauqua
Wednesday, March 4

7, 9:15, 11:30
Admission, $1

Irish linebacking corps looks strong

By JOE BRUNETTI
Sports Writer

Notre Dame linebacker coach George Kelly should feel lucky.

He has three high school all-Americans to fill two spots at inside linebacker for next year's football team.

In addition to being highly touted out of high school, Tony Furjanic, Mike Larkin and Mike Kovalesski each has proven his ability to perform well in crucial situations.

If there is one thing that the three lack, however, it is experience. Each of the three have only one year of experience on the starting defensive unit.

"They're all young. They've only played one year (on the starting team)," says Kelly. "But, their abilities are far in excess of the total linebacking picture that I have had in years."

To what degree the Notre Dame linebacking corps will be able to dominate opponents depends on whether Larkin returns to his form of 1982.

Tony Furjanic

Larkin had a banner sophomore season in '82, making a second-leading 112 tackles for the Irish. The 6-1, 221-pound, Moeller High School graduate broke his arm prior to the opening of last year's season and was forced to sit out the entire year.

"Larkin's progress has been fine. But, when you sit out a year, it sets you back," the veteran Irish mentor notes. "It's not like starting over, but it knocks you out of your groove, and Mike is finding it hard to get back in the groove. Right now, he lacks the necessary timing."

With Larkin forced to redshirt the '83 season, the Irish coaching staff called upon Kovalesski, then a freshman, to fill Larkin's shoes.

Kovalesski started the first nine games of the season before getting hurt in the Pittsburgh game. After sitting out the Penn State and Air Force games, he returned to start in the Liberty Bowl.

"Not having Kovalesski in there really hurt us," Kelly says.

The 6-2, 218-pound Kovalesski turned out to be the surprise of the defensive unit last season, finishing third on the team in tackles with 62.

"Kovalesski is a real competitor," praises Kelly. "He surprised us last year. He learned fast, but more importantly, he performed well under pressure."

The mainstay for the Irish at middle linebacker will be junior-to-be Tony Furjanic. Besides having to meet the need to excel as a player, the role of a leader may also fall on the shoulders of the Chicago native.

"I would hope he'll be a leader," Kelly says of his 6-2, 231-pound star. "He's not the type to speak out. Instead he leads by example."

As a freshman, Furjanic earned a monogram through his impressive play on special teams. He had a stellar season in 1983, leading the Irish defense with 142 tackles, and starting all 12 games. He also shined in the Liberty Bowl, garnering a pass interception and later being named the Notre Dame defensive MVP.

"He's had an outstanding spring. He has started where he left off last season," comments Kelly. "His abilities at this point are on par with the Zavagnins and Crables."

One problem Kelly will face is what to do with all the talent and only two starting positions to fill.

"I'm not sure," says Kelly. "It's still too early to tell, but one may play outside linebacker."

With all of the talent Kelly has available, the inside linebacking positions again will be a strong suit for the Irish.

The Observer/File Photo

Notre Dame linebacker Mike Larkin appears to have recovered from the arm injury which kept him out of action last season. With Larkin and two other starters returning, the linebackers appear to be the strongest unit on the Irish defense. Joe Brunetti takes a look at the promising picture at left.

Overcome slow start

Lacrosse team defeats Kenyon

By MIKE SULLIVAN
Sports Editor

The ultimate goal this year for the Notre Dame lacrosse team is to win the Midwest Lacrosse Association title, so, although games against the Dukes and Georgetown are important, the MLA contests are the games that really matter. This past weekend, Coach Rich O'Leary's Irish took a step in the right direction by pounding Kenyon College, 17-7, in their MLA opener.

Notre Dame used its superior depth to an advantage against its hosts. The Irish gradually turned a close game into a rout by pulling away in the second half.

"We used a lot more players than they did," said O'Leary. "We tried to run, be aggressive, and wear them down. I did feel we had a better team, but if things went wrong, like them getting ahead, then I felt we could win the game because of our conditioning."

Which is pretty much what happened. Kenyon surprised Notre Dame by scoring the first two goals of the game and holding the 2-0 lead until 10 minutes were gone in the first quarter.

Then the depth of the Irish seemed to pay off as they exploded for four goals in the last five minutes. Sophomore Tim Corrigan started things going with an unassisted goal and Don Gayhardt tied the score 15 seconds later. Bob Trocchi and Steve Pearsall finished off the scoring in the quarter.

Pearsall added his second of five goals to give Notre Dame a 5-2 lead early in the second quarter, but Kenyon rebounded, scoring two unanswered goals to close the gap to one.

"They were able to stay in the game because their few shots went in," explained O'Leary. "We were controlling the ball so well on offense that we fell asleep on defense."

The teams traded goals late in the half to make the score 6-5, but then the Irish suddenly turned the game around in the closing seconds. With 25 seconds left in the half, Pearsall scored his third goal of the game. Then, with one second left on the clock, Trocchi picked up his third of five goals to increase the halftime lead to 8-5.

Kenyon made one last run at the Notre Dame lead when it scored at the 13:38 mark of the third quarter to close to two, 8-6. However, the Lords ran out of gas as the Irish scored the next nine goals of the game. By the time Kenyon scored its next goal (with 25 seconds left in the game), the outcome was no longer in doubt.

Pearsall and Trocchi were obviously the offensive stars for Notre Dame, each adding an assist to go with his five goals. For Trocchi, the output brought his totals through four games to 13 goals and three assists, putting him in position to challenge the Irish goal-scoring record. Steve Linehan set the record of 42 in 1982.

The offense was not limited to just Pearsall and Trocchi, though. Tom Grote and Joe Franklin each contributed a goal and two assists, while Kevin Rooney and Gayhardt added two goals apiece.

On defense, Rob Simpson started in the goal and came up with eight saves. Pat Poletti and Brian McKeon contributed a save apiece in relief, while Steve Cloud led a defense that had to play without one of its stars, Justin Shay, who missed his second straight game with a thigh bruise.

Notre Dame will now take its 2-2 record to Lake Forest tomorrow in what O'Leary hopes will be a good tune-up for Saturday's crucial test against Ohio Wesleyan in Delaware, Ohio.

Men's tennis team gains weekend split

By ED KONRADY
Sports Writer

Battling gusty, chilling winds, the men's tennis team split a triangular match last weekend at Courtney Tennis Center.

The Irish dropped a 7-2 decision to the University of Hawaii Friday, before regrouping to defeat a tenacious Ohio University squad, 6-3, on Saturday.

The victory raised the Irish record to 10-6, halfway to their sixth consecutive 20-win season.

Earlier Saturday morning, Hawaii improved their record to 31-3 after a 6-3 victory over the Bobcats.

The cold winds seemed to affect the Irish more than Hawaii. "I was disappointed in our play," said Coach Tom Fallon, "especially against Hawaii with the weather in our favor. We lost four matches with a 6-1 first set or worse. This tells me that we didn't get used to the wind before the match. I'm very disappointed in that."

After Friday's disappointing showing, which ended a three-match winning streak, the team showed up Saturday determined to make amends.

"Everyone wanted to win this see TENNIS, page 8

The Observer/File Photo

Joe Hart (17), Dwayne Hicks (30) and their Notre Dame teammates overcame a slow start Saturday but soundly defeated Kenyon College, 17-7. See Mike Sullivan's story above.