'Meet the Candidates Night' is held at SMC

Diversity and security were the primary issues addressed by both campaign tickets during the Saint Mary's "Meet the Candidates Night" Monday night at Haggar Parlor.

The McGowan ticket consists of Shannon McGowan running for student body president; Debbie Neiman, for vice president for academic affairs; and Kathy Sullivan, for vice president for student affairs.

Throughout the debate, the candidates emphasized several issues, including student involvement and open communication between Saint Mary's students, faculty members and Notre Dame students. Distribution of security newsletters was also suggested.

The ticket's campaign slogans include, "Waddle you do without us?" and "Get your feet wet."

The second ticket includes Lisa Catenacci for president; Deirdre Milon, for vice president for academic affairs; and Mary Beth Blajda, for vice president of student affairs. "Steer in the right direction" and "Ride with experience" are their slogans for the campaign. In their introduction, Catenacci spoke about the ticket's goal of extending dining hall hours and increasing security awareness.

Seven questions were directed toward the candidates by Saint Mary's current Student Body President Julie Parish. Parish's questions ranged from ways to encourage individualism and create diversification at Saint Mary's to ways of eliminating stereotypes between Saint Mary's and Notre Dame women. The candidates were allowed one and a half minutes for each answer. The Observer and the audience also had an opportunity to question the candidates.

Many new ideas for student involvement were presented by both tickets. Suggestions included continuing the diversity series with additional speakers and increased awareness, offering more courses centering on women and establishing programs to promote healthy relationships between Saint Mary's and Notre Dame women. Student art exhibits and "Major Nights," designed to help freshmen and sophomore students decide which course of study to pursue were also proposed.

The student government elections will be held during all meals in SAGA on Wednesday, Feb. 22. Due to the large number of students fasting at lunch during Lent, however, voting will also take place in Haggar Hall outside of the bookstore during lunch. Students may vote on the LeMans side of the dining hall during breakfast and dinner.

A 50 percent majority and one additional vote is required to win the election. If necessary, a run-off will be held on Friday, Feb. 24. The run-off will follow the same procedure as the original election.

Current Student Body President Julie Parish said both tickets represented themselves well but also said the candidates could have answered the questions more directly. "The candidates danced around a little bit with their answers," Parish said.

LONDON—Members of the Irish Republican Army bombed a British army barracks in western England early Monday, but most of the men had been evacuated before the blasts, and only one soldier was injured.

A half-hour before the three explosions, a sentry spotted two intruders and fired warning shots, then woke the sleeping soldiers and told them to get out.

Police set up roadblocks in the area of the Ternhill barracks following the pre-dawn blasts and said two suspects observed by the sentry were thought to be at large in a stolen car. They said they were searching for a car taken by a masked man from a nearby home at about the time of the bombing near Shrewsbury, 150 miles north of London.

The explosions shook nearby houses, started fires, blew out the wall of one accommodation block and destroyed the roof of another at the home of the 2nd Battalion of the Parachute Regiment, said Col. Peter Hicks, an army spokesman.

It was the second IRA bombing in six months at a British Army barracks in Britain. In the last attack in August, one soldier was killed and nine others were injured at the Inglis barracks in north London. Security was tightened at bases around the country.

One of the 50 soldiers sleeping in the barracks at the time of Monday's attack was injured slightly by flying glass. Most were away on weekend leave.

The battalion, part of the regiment whose colonel-in-chief is Prince Charles, is to begin a tour of duty this week in Northern Ireland, the domestic press agency Press Association said.

New 24-hour computer lab will open soon in LaFortune

By RON SEVERINO
News Staff

The MacIntosh Computer Lab in the LaFortune Student Center will stay open 24 hours a day beginning in April, according to Carolyn Goodnight, a consultant analyst at the Computing Center and Mathematics Building. Goodnight said the new lab will replace the current 24-hour lab in the CCMB.

When the LaFortune lab begins operating on a 24-hour basis, Goodnight said all the word processors in the CCMB will be moved to the second floor of the Hesburgh Library, near the Reserve Room.

The target date for this project is April 1, said Goodnight, although she said she is still looking for students to staff the lab. 24-hour student staffing will be a new task for Goodnight, who is primarily involved with employing students at the computer labs currently on campus.

The 24-hour lab presently in the CCMB doesn't require student workers around the clock, since computer operators, who monitor mainframe computers, are present at night.

There is more room for computers at the library than in the CCMB, and the location is more

IN BRIEF

James Carberry, professor of chemical engineering at Notre Dame, has been elected to the National Academy of Engineering, it was announced Monday in Washington D.C. Carberry was among 90 U.S. engineers and seven foreign associates elected this year. Cited for fundamental contributions to chemical reaction and heterogeneous catalysis, he joins the total membership of 1,482 engineers and 122 foreign associates. In catalysis, a chemical reaction between two or more substances is enhanced by the presence of a third substance, the catalyst, which remains unchanged in the process. The catalyst either speeds up the chemical reaction or increases the yield of the desired compound by in check the production of nonessential products. -The Observer

Arctic explorer Sir Ranulph Fiennes left Monday on a third attempt to walk unaided to the North Pole- an adventure he likened to "climbing a horizontal Mount Everest without oxygen." Fiennes, 45, flew to Montreal with partner Mike Stroud, 33, to prepare their attempt to become the first to make the 425-mile trek without dogs or other support. They will make camp at Ward Hunt Island, the world's most northerly land point, and hope to set out March 7. -Associated Press

INSIDE COLUMN

Despite complaints, ND is still special

For the past few months, whiners have run rampant on the Notre Dame campus.

I've been as guilty of it as anyone else, especially since I have been known to use this column space to rant and rave about what I feel are common problems at Notre Dame.

Constant complaints about the food, the social life, the housing policy, the checkmarking system, the way the University allocates its funds, the evil administration out to do us all in and the intolerant, homogeneous student body have reached my ears.

Granted, many of these are legitimate gripes, but anyone from outside the Notre Dame family who listens to us for a period of time probably concludes that life at Notre Dame is wonderful as long as no one has to eat, sleep, breathe, live in the dorms, have a social life or take classes.

I have a pleasant surprise for all the whiners out there, who seem to feel that Notre Dame can do nothing right for them: it could be worse.

Maybe I'm crazy, but I don't see, in the overall scheme of things, that this campus has too many drastic problems. In fact, in many ways, we are awfully lucky.

I am the first to admit that South Bend is not many people's idea of an ideal college town. Getting around is pretty inconvenient without a car, it doesn't have as many cultural activities as a lot of people would like, the DJ's of U93 have got to go and the winters would be great if only no one had to step outside.

On the other hand, Notre Dame does not have some of the problems it would have if it were situated in a larger city, either. We like to complain about South Bend, but we also like to be able to leave our doors unlocked when we leave our rooms. Students attending colleges considered to have more ideal locations also have to worry about walking around the campus alone after a certain hour.

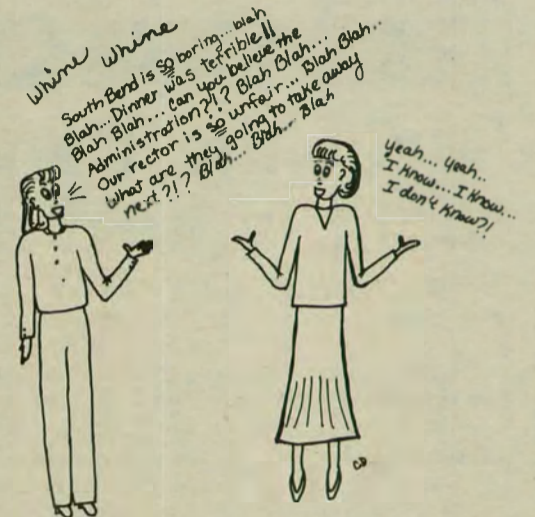

As for the social life complaints, which seem to go hand in hand with complaints about the size of South Bend, I can only say that there have been people who have tried to change things. The All-Campus SYR is the result of one such effort. Everyone kicked and screamed when the number of dances was curtailed, since it apparently curtails the amount of dating that goes on, yet I'd be willing place bets that very few tickets have been sold for this event.

If this type of solution is not a positive solution in the eyes of the majority, then maybe those who make up the majority should go over to student government and volunteer to help out to affect some changes that they do want.

I'm not wild about some of the policies that have been handed down from on high, either. But after I've been standing on my soap box for awhile, preaching about how much better I could be doing if I made the decisions around here, I try to calm myself down by making myself count my blessings. I start to feel pretty petty after I watch the news and realize what I could be coping with, when all I have to worry about is whether I'll be allowed to carry an open beer in the hallway.

Alison Cocks

Assistant Production Manager

When I first visited Notre Dame, and my tour-guide led me to the various points of interest around Notre Dame, I was impressed not only by the genuine love he had for this university and his open friendliness, but by the fact that I found these same positive qualities in everyone I encountered. The sense of unity and spirit that I detected immediately was a major factor in my decision to come here.

Sometimes, when I listen to the conversation around me, I wonder if this is the same place, if these are the same students who turned out in force to cheer the football team to victory against Miami, who rallied around a prospective freshman when she was injured in last year's keg toss, who greet strangers cheerfully on the quad.

I know it's difficult to be cheerful in the middle of February when it's freezing cold and the backlog of reading is piling high. But in the midst of whining about life in general, it is important to remember that, despite its problems, there is something about Notre Dame that brought us here, that keeps us here, and brings us back for years after graduation. Taking an active interest in student concerns is a positive thing, as long as we keep in mind that in spite of it all, this is a special place, and being here makes us luckier than most.

Wish your friends a Happy Birthday through Observer advertising.

Glee Club to perform at convention

By MAURA KRAUSE
Staff Reporter

The Notre Dame Glee Club will be performing at the "most prestigious national convention for choral groups, the American Choral Directors' Association National Convention," from March 8-12, according to Fred Scott, president of the Notre Dame Glee Club.

"The Glee Club's performance at the Regional Convention last year merited an invitation to the National Convention. . . Many different choral groups will be represented at the convention, but ours will be the only glee club there," said Scott. Scott continued, "Those present generally hear classical and academic music, but from us they'll hear, not only serious works of renowned composers such as Poulenc and Millhaud, but also spirituals and folk songs. This added a breath of fresh air to the regional convention last year."

The Glee Club will not only be the only glee club in attendance, but has also been asked to perform twice. The club will perform "first as a featured choral group, and then again as a demonstration choir at a special interest session on male choruses," according to a University press release.

The club will attend the convention during its spring break tour. Each year the club travels to different regions of the U.S. visiting alumni associations.

This year, the club will travel to St. Louis, Mo., Jackson, Miss. and Memphis, Tenn., where a visit to Elvis Presley's old home, Graceland is planned.

Members who tour with the group are chosen on a seniority basis. However, Scott said this year 52 of 70 members will tour instead of the usual 44, as the club received a grant from Student Affairs to cover the expenses of the convention and for an extra van.

"This rare convention invitation represents all of Mr. Stam's (the conductor's) hard work. He took a club which remains a fraternal organization and made it into a nationally renowned musical group. The club has lost none of its spirit, and its music has been enhanced," said Scott. "He has impressed upon us the value of good music."

Constitutional changes in HPC are discussed

By FLORENTINE HOELKER
Staff Reporter

Student Senate Monday evening debated aspects of a proposed constitutional change dealing with the Student Union Board.

The constitutional change, according to SUB manager Brian Reilly, is to ensure a bureaucracy that is more efficient and more qualified. This would guarantee better service to the students and would help clarify the exact nature of SUB members' powers.

Debate over the proposed change originated from a discussion whether or not a committee should exist to review the general policies and finances of SUB on a regular basis. Any such committee would consist of several student government, SUB and Hall Presidents' Council members.

Student Body President Tom Doyle said, "I think that since the Student Union Board is ultimately responsible to the senate and to the students, we (the senate) should know what's going on with its budget." He cited SUB as having the largest budget of any student organization.

Reilly agreed, but said that the creation of another group would be time-consuming and unnecessary. Reilly held that a regular report to the student government treasurer should suffice.

"Accountability is necessary, but at what cost?" asked Reilly.

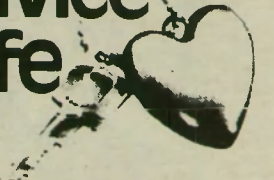

Concern was raised by Student Body Vice President Mike Paese that, with the present system, mismanagement in SUB could occur without the senate's immediate knowledge or intervention.

Both Doyle and Paese concluded that SUB should be more directly accountable to student senate to better deal with any inconsistencies or abuses. However, the issue was tabled until next meeting due to time constraints.

In other senate business, HPC said the date for hall government elections is set for March 28. Both newly-elected and old hall presidents will attend HPC meetings for the two weeks after the elections to ensure a smooth transition of power in the HPC.

convenient for students, said Goodnight. "It's the logical choice," she said.

Goodnight said the hours in the O'Shaughnessy MacIntosh lab will stay the same, and the total number of word processing labs will remain at three, despite the new changes. A new IBM PC lab in the Architecture Building is also scheduled to open when students return from Spring Break, said Goodnight. However, she said the lab will not be a word processor lab, but, rather, one "geared toward architecture and engineering students."

The only part of LaFortune that will stay open 24 hours is the hall immediately outside the computer lab, said Ceil Paulson, assistant director of Student Activities. He said the lower east door that leads to the lab will be the only unlocked outside door.

According to Phil Johnson, assistant director of Notre Dame Security, however, "Security plans haven't been finalized."

Goodnight said there was some confusion among students concerning the labs, as many believed there would be no 24-hour computer lab on campus when the CCMB lab closed. "It was never in the minds of the computer people that we wouldn't have a 24-hour lab," said Goodnight. "The 'where' of the 24-hour lab is what we weren't sure of."

Conditions for asylum in U.S. made more stringent

Associated Press

BROWNSVILLE, Texas—Central Americans applying for asylum will get an answer in as little as one day and will be subject to immediate imprisonment if turned down, officials said Monday.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service staff in southern Texas will be increased by 500 to patrol the border and speed up the weeding out of "frivolous" asylum claims, INS commissioner Alan Nelson announced.

More jails will be built to hold people who are turned down pending their appeal or deportation, he said.

"We intend to send a strong signal to those people who have the mistaken idea that by merely filing a frivolous asylum claim, they may stay in the United States," Nelson said. "This willful manipulation of America's generosity must stop."

A group called the Brownsville Ad Hoc Refugee Committee criticized the new INS policy as a "mean-spirited attempt to deter political refugees from applying for political asylum."

The policy will be phased in over the next several weeks. Nelson said the INS hopes eventually to process most asylum applications in the region in a day or two. Currently, asylum decisions can take months.

"We hope to have same-day service," said INS spokeswoman Virginia Kice.

The changes came the same day the INS was allowed to reinstate a policy restricting people seeking asylum from leaving southern Texas while they await decisions.

Tens of thousands of Central Americans are expected to cross the Rio Grande into southern Texas this year, according to the INS, which says political asylum requests from Central Americans have risen almost sevenfold over the past four years. More than 50,000 sought asylum in fiscal year 1988, compared with 7,063 in 1985.

According to INS records, 3,136 people applied for asylum between Wednesday and Sunday at the agency's Port Isabel Processing Center, a rural detention center 15 miles northeast of Brownsville, the main entry point for asylum-seekers from war-torn and poverty-stricken Central America.

But INS officials maintain that most of the Central Americans are here for economic reasons and do not qualify for asylum from persecution.

Robert Rubin, lead council in the lawsuit that led to the restraining order, said INS detention "should be the exception and not the rule for asylum seekers." He said the United States should show a "humanitarian spirit."

Roughly half of the Central Americans seeking asylum are from Nicaragua, Nelson said.

"In a real sense," said Rubin, in San Francisco, "the INS has become a prisoner of its own policy. And that policy as recently as 1987 and 1988 was to encourage Nicaraguans to come to the United States because they would be granted asylum."

National Guard staffs hospital after workers walk out in RI

Associated Press

CRANSTON, R.I.—National Guard troops in combat fatigues bathed and fed patients Monday at state-run General Hospital after scores of nurses and attendants walked out in a contract dispute.

The state, citing a law against strikes by state employees, sought a court order forcing workers to return to the 480-bed, mostly long-term-care hospital. Superior Court Judge Antonio Almeida said he would rule Tuesday.

Thomas Romeo, director of the state Department of Mental Health, Retardation and Hospitals, accused the members of Local 1350, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, of "walking away from patients" and said patients' lives were threatened.

"Not all the individuals up there right now know exactly what they're doing. There's not a lot of tolerance for error," Romeo said.

Seven of the 110 Guard troops on duty Monday had nursing training; the rest were given non-medical tasks like feeding, washing and dressing patients.

More than a dozen acute-care patients were transferred to other hospitals, and the facility stopped admissions.

"I think this is totally uncalled for," Connie Prior, 56, a quadriplegic who has been at the hospital for two years, said of the job action. "Number one should be the patients."

A four-day sickout ended Jan. 31 when the Guard was called in.

Doctors on Monday reported as usual, but about one-fifth of the 89 attendants and fewer than half the 13 licensed practical nurses showed up for the first shift, officials said. About half the 26 registered nurses honored the picket line, said Dan Caley, an MHRH spokesman.

Only one of 117 attendants scheduled to work at the state Institute of Mental Health, also staffed by union members, reported for work Monday morning, said Romeo.

Gov. Edward DiPrete called out the Guard late Sunday after the union voted four to one to reject a proposed 53-cent-an-hour raise offered in return for concessions on staffing, including a reduction in overtime and greater management leeway in transferring staffers from ward to ward.

The union, which has 1,300 members, about half of whom work at General Hospital, is upset with a new hospital policy not to replace absent employees to curb overtime.

DiPrete has ordered the MHRH to erase a $3.5 million projected deficit by the July 1 end of the fiscal year.

Negotiations broke down Friday, and no new talks were scheduled.

About two dozen people arrived by late morning in response to a hospital appeal for volunteers, said a volunteer who would not give her name.

National Guard member Sue McCabe, a registered nurse called in from her shift at Warwick's Kent County Memorial Hospital, said she was caring for about 10 patients, "so that's not really a big deal."

Jury for North trial will be sworn in today

Associated Press

WASHINGTON- A jury will be sworn in Tuesday in the trial of Oliver North, with the prosecution preparing a lineup of witnesses to testify he tried to cover up the Iran-Contra affair.

Lawyers for the fired presidential aide plan to rebut the prosecution's case by showing North had White House authorization for his activities. North, the key figure in the Iran-Contra affair, was indicted 11 months ago with former National Security Adviser John Poindexter and businessmen Richard Secord and Albert Hakim.

The latter three will be tried separately.

Two central charges against North, accusing him of conspiracy and theft in diverting Iranian arms sale profits to the Nicaraguan guerrillas, were thrown out last month on national security grounds.

The jury of nine women and three men was selected Feb. 9. But the trial was delayed when the Justice Department protested that North might divulge classified material in the courtroom. After receiving assurances from Independent Counsel Lawrence Walsh, the department on Wednesday dropped efforts to delay the trial.

The jurors have one thing in common: they had almost no exposure to North's nationally televised congressional testimony in 1987 in which he admitted, under limited immunity from prosecution, many details touching on the crimes with which he is charged.

The jurors include an electronics technician, a cashier, an clerical worker who says "I don't like the news" and an unemployed former office manager who says she recalled that North was "selling something to Iran."

North, a decorated former Marine colonel, is accused of 12 criminal charges.

Five include alleged lying to Congress in 1985 and 1986 by denying he was assisting the Contras. Four other counts allege that he lied to Congress and the attorney general and that he destroyed documents in November 1986.

North allegedly helped prepare false chronologies, saying no one in the U.S. government learned before January 1986 that Hawk missiles had been shipped to Iran in November 1985. He also is accused of lying to the attorney general that the National Security Council was involved in diverting money from the arms sales to the Contras, and with falsifying documents showing his involvement with the Contras.

Catenacci ticket deserves your vote

The Observer endorses the ticket of Lisa Catenacci for Saint Mary's student body president, Mary Beth Blajda for vice president for student affairs and Deirdre Milon for vice president for academic affairs.

Experience in student government, visibility to the students, and a professional and practical approach to working with the administration sets the Catenacci ticket apart from the Shannon McGowan ticket.

Catenacci currently serves as junior class president, Milon holds the position of junior class treasurer and Blajda was sophomore class president. While experience alone does not make for a successful administration, it is vital for the student body officers to have a working knowledge of the bureaucracy. The Catenacci ticket has this knowledge and therefore the capability to continue the improvements that Julie Parrish's administration has made.

Student government's success depends on its visibility to each student. The Catenacci ticket has shown a willingness and dedication to listen to the student needs and a competency in acting upon these needs.

Communicating student needs to the administration requires clearly defined goals and the professionalism to make these goals reality. As a result of their extensive experience with Saint Mary's administration, Catenacci, Blajda and Milon can develop pragmatic alternatives for student concerns.

While neither ticket has addressed successfully the issues of security information problems and student diversity at Saint Mary's, the Catenacci ticket is more likely to push for necessary change.

Exercise your right to make student government work for you. Vote for Lisa Catenacci, Mary Beth Blajda and Deirdre Milon on Wednesday.

Campus-Wide SYR starts tradition

Dear Editor:

When the Student Union Board took a survey last semester to find out what you, the student body, wanted to see and do on campus, the responses we received were outstanding. You said you wanted more opportunities to get out of the dorms, more weekend events to get away from the same old party-hopping, and more ways to meet people of the opposite sex (What? At Notre Dame?)

In keeping with the unified spirit and classy tradition that we've all come to enjoy, the Student Union Board is responding to your suggestions in a big way. For the first time ever, the entire campus of Notre Dame is invited to come together for The Campus-Wide SYR. For one night, on Friday, Feb. 24, everyone on campus will be able to party together. The North Dining Commons will be the place to meet with your friends from all over campus, dance to the incredible music of the Rave from Chicago, and win prizes just for walking in the door.

This SYR does have a twist. If you no longer trust your roommate's taste in dates and you want to meet that perfect someone you've been waiting for during your entire college career, the SUB is providing a computerized dating service free of charge. Sign up for yourself or your entire section. The Campus-Wide SYR is the beginning of another great ND tradition. Tickets and computer date applications are available from your dorm SYR commissioners and at the LaFortune Information Desk. Friday, Feb. 24, The Campus-Wide SYR, a night to remember.

24 hour lounge not really needed

Dear Editor:

I'd like to respond to the column written by Matt Gallagher (Feb. 15), as well as all the students who wonder why the Oak Room is not open 24 hours. As an employee of the Oak Room, and a student who studies there regularly, I am glad the Oak Room is not open 24 hours.

24-hour space is available in each dorm-- and I realize that this is not ideal, but a successful social life is not dependent on where one can be social, rather, it depends on the individual. Most of the people I know have managed to enjoy their years at Notre Dame immensely even without a 24-hour Oak Room.

I do not see the 24-hour service as necessary or even beneficial for Notre Dame as an institution or its student body. We know that, as an institution, Notre Dame can well afford to keep it open, so let us put financial considerations aside.

As an employee, I saw the ugly side of the 24-hour facility. On any given Thursday, Friday or Saturday night I was called many an unflattering name because I refused to give someone more chips or fries without charging them extra. A large number of students supposedly from civil families stood on the tables and chairs, pointed towards what they wanted, demanded rather than asked, and that is if they were sober enough to speak for themselves. The students seem to forget that I am an employee providing a convenience, not a slave, and the Night Oak is not a necessity.

I am also not being paid to police the students, but I sometimes must. Every nacho or fry that is passed out has to be watched to make sure it is not eaten before the student gets to the register.

When I walk around to clean up the tables, I find empty beer cans with the beer, if not spilled on the floor, then filling a nacho dish to the rim. I then have to do a balancing act of getting it to the trash can without spilling it. Two trash cans sit at the exit but it seems a lot of students don't know how to clean up after themselves. Once things do get cleaned, a broken salad bar is found, a trashed bathroom, a kicked-in front door, and the list goes on.

I enjoy working at the Night Oak on Friday and Saturday nights. I have fun with the people with whom I work. I even enjoy serving most of the students. But some students have to learn to be considerate and grateful for the Oak Room as a convenience, not abuse it and think it their right. The 24-hour Oak Room is not a necessity. If the continuation of a 24-hour service is going to make or break a person's social life, then that person better move to the city that never sleeps.

'Simon'--a student creation

accent writer

The dream of four college seniors will finally come true with the opening of "Simon". This entirely student-produced, student-directed and student-written musical will be presented in Washington Hall February 22-25.

In the musical, Simon is a piano player in Shirley's Bar & Grill who falls in love with Emily, a visitor to the bar. He feels strongly for Emily, but has trouble expressing his emotions in words and tries to express himself through his music. Other characters include Shirley, the bar's proprietress; Jeffrey, a singing, tap-dancing bartender; and Annie, a waitress who enjoys spending her time with Simon.

Three Notre Dame seniors: Robert Meffe, Mark Costanzi, Brant Beckett and a senior at Seton Hill College, Shawn Stur-nick, have been working on this musical for almost two years.

Robert Meffe, a pre-med / music major, is the executive producer and writer of the music in "Simon". He's had experience with music as student conductor of the Notre Dame Glee Club for three years. He has also worked on ten musicals, five of which are with the Pittsburgh Civic Light Opera. He said, "Being in the Glee Club helped me get a good conception of stage presence." He added that it also helped him get an understanding of how voices are projected in an auditorium.

Shawn Stur-nick, one of Meffe's good friends from his hometown, contributed to half of the show's lyrics. His experiences on stage include roles in "The Crucible" and "Twelfth Night". He has also written a play, "Lope de Vega", a musical that will be collaborated with Robert Meffe.

Mark Costanzi, the writer of the script and a major in communications and theater, has had readings of his play "Private Moments" and is busy acting in Notre Dame / Saint Mary's College Theater with such roles as Creon in "Antigone" and Charley in "Death of a Salesman".

He said, "Playwriting gives you a whole new perspective on the characters." He continued by saying that "As a playwright, you can do anything, but when you are an actor, you have no idea what the playwright intended."

Brant Beckett who met Robert as a freshman, contributed the other half of the lyrics and also serves as the director of the Notre Dame production. A history major, Beckett has directed productions of Edward Albee's "The Zoo Story"

Courtesy of K. Lynn Berry

Members of the cast of the play "Simon" pose during rehearsal for this upcoming student-run production and Christopher Durang's "The Marriage of Bette and Boo".

Meffe said that he started composing the music about four years ago. He also stated that there was no reason for writing the music, but they were just reflections on a character he created named Simon.

So with the music that Robert already wrote and with the knowledge that three of his friends had some experience with stage and music, the four got together and "Simon" was finally finished last December.

Costanzi said, "It's the music that makes it good and that's what people will remember."

Appearing in the Notre Dame production will be Steve Wehmeyer as Simon, Jackie Bayliss as Emily, Mary Louisa Meehan as Shirley, Paul Savatoriello as Jeffrey and Stephanie Pile as Annie. David Foster, Lewis LaGrange and John McKee play regulars in the bar.

Music direction is by Jeffrey McGarrity with choreography by Jilanne Klaus. Kevin Hoffman and Dan Gore built and designed the set respectively.

Tickets are $3 and can be purchased at the LaFortune Box Office, 239-5957. Visa and MasterCard are accepted.

Costanzi explained that after the production, the musical will be revised and parts will be rewritten (if needed). Then the four hope to publish "Simon" and that it will someday make it in a great theater, or maybe even Broadway.

The exploration of relationships between men and women has recently received a great deal of attention at Notre Dame. A different type of relationship found on the Notre Dame / Saint Mary's campus will soon be explored by the Saint Mary's Theater and Communications Department through their presentation of "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie."

The play opens on Wednesday, February 22 and runs to Sunday, February 26 at St. Mary's O'Laughlin Auditorium. Showtime will be at 8:10 p.m. Wednesday thru Saturday. On Sunday, there will be a special 3 p.m. matinee.

Saint Mary's junior Leisa Heintzelman stars as Miss Jean Brodie. Heintzelman is supported by a cast consisting entirely of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students. The play deals with Jean Brodie's interactions with her students Teddy Lloyd (Mark Costanzi), Sandy (Amy McFadden), Mackay (K. Lynn Berry) and Mary (Kristen Schumacher). The cast members have been rehearsing since the end of winter break.

"The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie" is set at an all girl's school during the 1930's. This setting serves as a place to deeply explore the relationships between teachers and students.

The play centers around Miss Jean Brodie, a teacher who has devoted her life to her students. When a drastic event occurs at the school, the audience finally realizes Miss Jean Brodie's true personality. This revelation sheds a new light on a relationship that has existed ever since people began teaching one another.

Julie Jensen, professor of communication and theater at Saint Mary's College is the director of "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie." Jensen describes the play as a "complicated story about the relationship between students and teachers." According to Jensen, the play raises the question of "what to do in the face of an extremely powerful teacher."

Tickets for the play will be sold for $4 to all students through the O'Laughlin Auditorium Box Office. Tickets will also be sold at the doors each night of the performance.

According to Jensen, the significance of "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie" extends beyond the academic sphere. The message of the play holds true for any situation in which one person becomes all too powerful.

Gilbert wins Volvo, gains confidence

Associated Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Brad Gilbert is serving warning that he is ready to make a major move up the tennis rankings ladder in 1989.

Gilbert, a finalist two weeks ago in Chicago, dominated Johan Kriek for two sets Sunday and then captured the singles title in the $415,000 Volvo Tennis Indoor Championship when a groin injury forced Kriek to retire.

"It was an unfortunate way to end the tournament, but it feels good to be back in the winner's circle again," said Gilbert, the No. 6 seed in the Indoor and currently ranked 19th in the world.

Gilbert had little problem handling No. 16 Kriek's power game, winning the first two sets by identical 6-2 scores.

"I played consistently. I didn't really go for a lot of winners. I just played the ball back," said Gilbert, who defeated Kriek for the sixth time in seven meetings.

"I played well all week. I just thought if I played one match at a time, things would fall into place," Gilbert said.

Gilbert, a bronze medalist at the 1988 Olympics, earned $53,550 for the win, while Kriek took home $26,775.

The Indoor title was the second for Gilbert, who defeated John McEnroe in 1982.

Sooners still No.1 in AP poll

Associated Press

Oklahoma on Monday became the first No. 1 team in five weeks to hold the top spot in The Associated Press college basketball poll.

The Sooners did need some extra time, however, as they were taken to overtime before beating Kansas 94-89 last week. That and a victory over Colorado, also on the road, improved Sooners to 23-3 and earned them 61 of the 65 first-place votes from the nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters and 1,296 points.

Meanwhile, two schools made their first-ever appearances in the poll.

St. Mary's, Calif., 22-3, joined The Top Twenty at No. 19, while Ball State, 21-2, took the final spot in the rankings.

Arizona, 20-3, held second, receiving two first-place votes and 1,224 points.

Georgetown, 20-3, improved one place from last week with 1,146 points. Indiana, which beat Michigan at the buzzer in its only game last week, jumped from ninth to fourth.

The Hoosiers, 21-5, received one first-place vote and 976 points, four more than North Carolina, 22-5.

The Tar Heels, who jumped three places with two victories last week, were followed by Syracuse, which held the No. 6 spot, and Missouri, which dropped from third after losing at Iowa State last week.

Syracuse, 22-5, split two games last week, losing to Georgetown and beating Providence. The Orangemen had 934 points, four more than Missouri, 22-5.

Louisville, 18-5, and Duke, 19-4, each jumped two places from last week. The Cardinals moved to eighth with 852 points, while Duke had 810.

Illinois, fifth last week, rounded out the Top Ten after losing 72-52 at Wisconsin. The Fighting Illini, 21-4, had 696 votes, 105 more than West Virginia, which led the Second Ten and holds the nation's current longest winning streak at 20 games.

The Mountaineers were followed by Florida State, Michigan, Iowa, Seton Hall, Stanford, North Carolina State, Nevada-Las Vegas, St. Mary's and Ball State.

Ohio State and Louisiana State both dropped from the Top Twenty.

AP Photo
J.R. Reid, shown here in action against Maryland last Sunday, led the North Carolina to two wins last week, propelling the Tarheels up three spots to No. 5 in this week's AP Top Twenty poll. In college basketball last night, Pitt edged Villanova 73-72, Memphis State topped Louisville 72-67 and Duke destroyed Georgia Tech 91-66.

Upsets make Pitt difficult to ignore

Associated Press

PITTSBURGH—Thanks to Brian Shorter, who is having one of the best rookie seasons in Big East Conference history, upset specialist Pitt's season likely will be lasting a lot longer.

When the Panthers, 14-10, surprised then-No. 12 Seton Hall 82-76 last Saturday, it was their fifth victory this season over a nationally ranked opponent. Pitt earlier upset then-No. 2 Syracuse, (No. 3) Oklahoma, (No. 2) Georgetown and (No. 9) Seton Hall.

"I've heard they're an up-and-down team, but every time I see them, they're up," Seton Hall coach P.J. Carlesimo said. "To me, they're definitely an NCAA tournament team."

One Panther who hasn't endured a roller-coaster season is Shorter, the 6-foot-6 sophomore forward who quickly has made Panthers fans forget about backboard-shattering Jerome Lane's premature departure to the NBA.

Shorter is averaging 19.9 points and 9.8 rebounds per game a better rookie season than those of former Big East stars Patrick Ewing and Chris Mullin—and often has played his best against the best teams. His season-high 37 points came in Pitt's 99-91 upset of Oklahoma, now No. 1.

After Shorter had 26 points and seven rebounds against Seton Hall, Carlesimo said, "I think Brian Shorter is a great player. He was a great player when he was recruited and he's adjusted very well to his year off. The thing that surprises me is he's only a sophomore."

Shorter is the No. 2 scorer to Wilt Chamberlain in Philadelphia high school history and almost certainly would have broken the record if he hadn't played his senior season at Oak Hill (Va.) Academy.

Shorter sat out last season because of Proposition 48. But Pitt coach Paul Evans said Shorter refused to sit around while sitting out, and instead hit the weights—and the books.

Shorter cut his weight from 235 pounds to 217, trimmed his body fat from 21 percent to 16 percent and put his grades in order.

"Basketball means so much more to him than it does to the other so-called superstars," Evans said. "It's what got him out of Philadelphia. A lot of kids say, 'I want to be a pro,' but they don't work hard at it, they just want the glory. Brian really wants it."

Shorter, second in the Big East in scoring and rebounding prior to Monday night's game against Villanova, has been named the conference's Newcomer of the Week three times. That's more than any other player, including freshmen stars Billy Owens of Syracuse and Alonzo Mourning of Georgetown.

Mark Aguirre (dribbling), shown here in his first game with the Detroit Pistons after being traded from Dallas, scored eight points in his debut for Motown. Adrian Dantley, then player for whom Aguirre was traded, has yet to report to the Mavericks. In the NBA last night, Cleveland beat Houston 110-90, Chicago bested Portland 102-98, Denver took Detroit 103-101, New Jersey quenched Miami 117-109, Atlanta trimmed the L.A. Clippers 114-100, Dallas corralled San Antonio 105-93, Utah blasted Phoenix 118-92 and the L.A. Lakers nipped Sacramento 100-97.

Tennis

hours, faced the Tar Heels of North Carolina. North Carolina holds the No. 1 spot in southeastern U.S., and has traditionally vied for a top ten spot in the national poll. In this, the fourth meeting between the two schools, the Irish fell into a 4-2 deficit after the singles play. But the squad regrouped to sweep the doubles competition and upset UNC, 5-4.

"The three doubles teams had to concentrate on their own individual matches," said senior captain Brian Kalbas. "It is the first time in my four years that we had come back from a 4-2 deficit."

No. 1 DiLucia and No. 3 Walter Dolhare posted the two singles victories that gave the Irish the surprising victory.

DiLucia found himself in a three-hour-and-ten-minute marathon against David Pollack. The 5-10 freshman came up on the winning end in three sets, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.

"All weekend David was excellent in singles and doubles," said Bayliss. "He has the temperament of a champion and a great big heart."

No. 3 Walter Dolhare's play has come full circle and is playing at a particularly high level. In the UNC contest, Dolhare disposed of Brian Jones, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

"Walter had a career match," said Bayliss. "He beat the No. 9 player in 18-and-under, and played his best match at Notre Dame."

According to Bayliss, his squad's success could be short-lived because 8-1 Indiana University is coming to the Eck Pavillion today at 3 p.m. Already this season, the Hoosiers have conquered No. 15 Arkansas, a highly talented Oklahoma squad and No. 18 Tennessee.

Irish women lose to No. 3 Lady Vols

Special to The Observer

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—Sheila Frost scored 31 points and grabbed 12 rebounds as No. 3 Tennessee defeated Notre Dame 98-43 in women's basketball Monday night. The loss was the most decisive ever suffered by the Notre Dame women's basketball team.

Tennessee improved to 25-2 with the victory while the Irish slipped to 15-8.

The Lady Volunteers took an early 25-4 lead and led 43-16 at halftime.

Tennessee scored 10 straight points to take a 41-point lead, 95-34, with 4:02 left.

Bridgette Gordon added 21 points for Tennessee.

Karen Robinson scored 12 points for Notre Dame.

Tennessee now leads the series with Notre Dame 6-0, thrashing the Irish last year 91-71 at the JACC. The previous worst loss ever dealt the Irish was also at the hands of the Lady Volunteers, 90-55 during the 1986-87 season.

Notre Dame next travels to Dayton on Thursday for a 6:00 p.m. matchup with the Flyers.

New Jersey Devils goalie Sean Burke stops this shot by Ulf Dahlen of the New York Rangers, but the Rangers eventually exorcised the Devils 7-4 Monday. The victory put the Rangers atop the NHL's Patrick Division with a 31-22-8 record.

Many Irish bound for IC4A's

By SCOTT BRUTOCAO
Sports Writer

A handful of athletes on the men's track team competed in the Indiana Intercollegiate over the weekend in an attempt to qualify for upcoming meets or to work on their events, and the results were encouraging. The team was concerned with individual performances and had no regard for overall team competition.

"We got some good individual performances, which was the reason we were down there," said Head Coach Joe Piane. "Needless to say, I was pleased with the outcome."

Highlighting Irish performances was Raghib Ismail, who won the 55-meter dash in 6.26 seconds, just missing qualifying for the NCAA Championships by .03 seconds. The run was Ismail's best to date.

The freshman from Wilkes-Barre, Pa. also competed in the long jump for the first time of the season, and impressed everybody by jumping 23-feet, 10-inches, good enough to qualify for the IC4A (Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America) Championships on March 4-5.

Teammate Rusty Setzer qualified for the IC4A's in the 200 by finishing in 21.7 seconds. Setzer also made it to the final heat in the 55 meters with Ismail, but scratched coming out of the blocks.

Sophomore Richard Culp ran the 400 meters in 49.23, which was sufficient to qualify him to the IC4A's in that event.

Senior Dave Warth travelled to Bloomington to run the 600, in which he recorded a 120.23 time. Piane said this will give Warth some additional leg speed in the 800, his usual race.

Freshman Sean Schneider just missed qualifying for the IC4A's in the mile, running it in 4:13.20. Schneider missed the qualifying mark by .06 seconds.

Sophomore John Cole, who already qualified for the IC4A's in the high jump, surpassed his previous performance by jumping 6-feet, 10-inches.

This weekend the Irish host the Alex Wilson Invitational, a high-powered meet with many NCAA qualifiers expected.

Irish hockey to end season

Notre Dame faces off against Western Michigan in finale

By BRIAN McMAHON
Sports Writer

The University of Notre Dame hockey team wraps up its regular season schedule tonight when the Western Michigan Broncos invade the JACC.

Since the Irish will not compete in a postseason conference playoff this year, this is the last game of the year for Notre Dame, as well as the end of the careers of 10 Irish seniors.

"This is it for us seniors," said senior co-captain Matt Hanzel. "We'd like to finish with a good taste in our mouths."

The Broncos, like the Irish, have had a disappointing season. Predicted in preseason polls to finish as high as third place in the powerful Central Collegiate Hockey Association, they were decimated by injuries all year, including the loss of leading scorer Jeff Green in late January. He had 44 points in 30 games.

Presently, the Broncos are in seventh place in the CCHA with a 7-17-6 conference record and 10-21-6 overall. They've been especially cold of late, going 0-7-1 in their last eight games, including a sweep last weekend at the hands of the defending NCAA champions, the Lake Superior State Lakers.

Since Green's injury, the scoring slack has been picked up by junior center Paul Polillo, with 12 goals, 38 assists, and 50 points, and senior winger Ron Hoover, 28-18-46. In the nets, senior Bill Horn has played 32 games (9-17-6) with a 4.27 goals-against average and .867 save percentage. Horn may, however, be rested tonight and replaced by freshman Rob Laurie, 1-4, 6.25 GAA, .795 save percentage.

Still, the Irish have an opportunity to show how far they have come this year since their first game, an 8-2 loss at Western Michigan. Their strong showing against Michigan two weekends ago, coupled with their 7-2 bombardment of Lake Forest last Wednesday, has instilled some confidence in the team.

"We had a great weekend of practice," said Irish coach Ric Schafer of this past weekend's outdoor practices forced by the unavailability of ice at the JACC. Schafer also indicated that he would go with basically the same line-up as he has all year rather than playing younger players just to give them some experience. "We have loyal seniors who deserve to play,"

Adding further interest to the game is freshman David Bankoske's effort to break the Notre Dame freshman assist record set in 1970 by John Noble. The record is 35. Going into the game, Bankoske has 34.

Baseball

"He has as much potential as anybody in college baseball," said Murphy. "The two-year layoff has hurt him, but I look for Frank to have a great year."

Freshmen Jason Martinez and Corey Mee will serve as utility players for the Irish.

OUTFIELD

Junior Dan Peltier (.414, 7, 70), a pre-season All-America selection by Copper-tonne Collegiate Baseball, moves from right field to centerfield.

"Dan Peltier's a ballplayer," said Murphy. "We could stick him at shortstop, and he'd do the job. . . and he's lefthanded. Moving him to center is going to give him the ability to have more leadership."

Peltier set school records with 89 hits and 21 doubles in a 1988 season that saw the Clifton Park, N.Y., resident post a .581 on-base percentage. He will bat third in the Irish lineup.

Freshman Craig Counsell of Whitefish Bay, Wisc., will bat second in the lineup and play left field. The rest of the Irish lineup will shuffle according to various circumstances, such as whether the opposing pitcher is lefthanded or righthanded.

"Craig's an infielder by trade, but he's got a great sense for baseball," said Murphy. "He's not exceptional in any one area, but he's a total player."

last season after switching from the football team to baseball.

The Irish hope they can have more luck with football players this spring, as Notre Dame flanker Pat Eilers provides depth in the outfield. Eilers played baseball his freshman year at Yale before transferring to Notre Dame.

"I picture him the same way he is in football," said Murphy. "He finds a way to get on the field. He does everything correctly, he works as hard as anyone. He's making that transition of not playing for a few years, but it's amazing he's made the rapid development he has."

Sophomore outfielder Mike Rotkis (.372, 0, 12 in 28 games) has a good chance of starting at designated hitter.

CATCHER

What was a problem area early last season has turned into one of the most stable departments on the 1989 Notre Dame team. Junior Ed Lund (.285, 1, 30) is the man responsible for that transformation.

"His development is astonishing," said Murphy. "He's come from being an also-ran to a frontrunner, and he's one of the better catchers in the nation."

Martinez and freshman Matt Krall will back up Lund.

STARTING PITCHERS

Seniors Erik Madsen (8-4, 3.74 ERA) and Mike Passilla (7-4, 5.30) and junior Brian Piotrowicz (7-3, 4.86) return to the rotation. Freshman Brian Conway of Indianapolis will join them, replacing the graduated Kevin Chenail.

"Our object is to make the people hit it and give our defense a chance to make the plays and not walk anybody," said Murphy. "Great stuff doesn't make for great pitchers, you have to know how to pitch. That's what we're trying to impress upon these pitchers."

RELIEF PITCHERS

Junior Mike Coffey (2-0, 5.79) will try to replace the graduated Mike Harmon (6-4, 5.18, 5 saves) as Notre Dame's closer.

Another junior, Tony Livorsi (3-1, 4.97) will serve as a setup man, as will freshmen Tom Gulka of Lake Oswego, Ore., and Dan Marzec of Palatine, Ill.

"When you lose a guy with Harmon's temperament, similar to Hutson, it's very, very hard to replace," said Murphy. "He had that bulldog mentality we're looking for in Coffey or Livorsi right now."

OUTLOOK

In the wake of the sweep over Miami, both Collegiate Baseball and Baseball America have predicted the Irish to win the Midwest Collegiate Conference and earn an automatic bid to the NCAA tournament. Murphy does not quite agree with that, especially since defending conference champion Evansville returns seven starters.

"Our program has received a lot of recognition with the wins over Miami, and we deserve it," said Murphy, "but all the speculation doesn't mean a thing in baseball."

The Irish open the season with road trips to the states of Texas, Florida and North Carolina. Along with the Miami and Texas games, Notre Dame will face 1988 NCAA participant Pennsylvania and Southeastern Conference team Vanderbilt. Notre Dame has 19 road games before its home opener March 29.

"Our schedule's much tougher," said Murphy. "For us to try and repeat the record we had last year would be impossible, but I never put anything past these guys or anything past Notre Dame."

"What we need to do is continue our team identity of blue-collar, aggressive play. We want to leave the opponent with the feeling that when you strap it on against Notre Dame, you'd better be ready for a dog-fight."

Veterans Pat Pesavento (12) and Mike Moshier (3, in background) form the returning double play tandem the Notre Dame baseball team will be counting heavily upon this season, especially early. The Irish play their first 19 games on the road. Steve Megargee previews the baseball season at right.

Pesavento, Peltier lead Pat Murphy's Irish on the field

The days of sneaking up on people are over for the Notre Dame baseball team.

A 39-22 1988 season and last fall's two-game sweep over a Miami team currently ranked first in the country basically assured that fact. It does not bother Irish coach Pat Murphy one bit.

"That's a feather in our cap," said the second-year coach, whose team set a school record for consecutive wins (16) and wins in a season last year. "We don't want to sneak up on people. We want to compete against people when they're at their best and against the best."

Notre Dame will face two of the nation's best teams this year in Miami and Texas year, but they'll do it without five of last year's starters. First baseman Tim Hutson, who set school records for home runs (18), runs batted in (74) and total bases (148) in a season last year, is the most notable figure lost to graduation.

"Trying to replace Tim Hutson and the type of year he had," said Murphy, "you're not going to do it. We have to find other people to pick up the slack in other areas."

Below is a position-by-position look at the Fighting Irish team that opens its season Thursday at Trinity.

INFIELD

With last season's double-play combination of shortstop Pat Pesavento (.385, 1 home run, 35 RBI last season) and second baseman Mike Moshier (.261, 2, 26) returning for a third year together, this looks to be Notre Dame's strongest area.

"Having Pesavento and Moshier, not only for their abilities, but for their leadership qualities, gives us a strong base in the infield," said Murphy.

Pesavento, who had turned down draft offers from the Boston Red Sox and the Toronto Blue Jays the last two years, set a school record with 38 stolen bases last season and will lead off the Irish batting order. Baseball America rated the senior from Lockport, Ill., as the eighth best shortstop in the country.

Freshman Joe Binkiewicz of Wintersville, Ohio, should start at first base, while sophomore Mike Coss (.230, 0, 16) returns at third.

Murphy also is high on Frank Jacobs, a tight end on the football team. Jacobs has not played baseball since starring for Newport Catholic High School, but the sophomore could see time at first base or designated hitter.

ND men's basketball team travels to Dayton for rematch

By MOLLY MAHONEY

DAYTON, Ohio-- The Dayton Flyers, who host the Notre Dame men's basketball team tonight at 7:30, were not quite treated hospitably when they faced the Irish Jan. 31.

In fact, five Irish players went out of their way to make sure that the Flyers went home seeing double after losing 85-75 in the Joyce ACC.

Notre Dame juniors Jamere Jackson and Keith Jackson and freshmen LaPhonso Ellis, Daimon Sweet and Elmer Bennett all scored in double figures, preventing Dayton from focusing on any one player.

Ellis and Robinson wrecked havoc upon the Flyers, tallying 18 and 16 points, respectively.

Jackson contributed 11 to the cause and Sweet and Bennett combined for 26 points off the bench.

The Irish (16-5) made sure the visiting Flyers had a long ride back to Dayton by bruising them with a 46-28 rebound advantage behind Robinson's team-leading 11 boards.

Dayton's Anthony Corbitt and Negele Knight were the only Flyers able to dent the Irish armor as they scored 15 and 13, respectively, in a losing cause.

But tonight the tables will be turned.

It is the Irish who must travel, going to a University of Dayton Arena where Digger Phelps' squads have had their troubles. Notre Dame has won six of 12 contests at Dayton during the Phelps era.

The Flyers (11-12) take a two-game losing streak into tonight's contest.

"Dayton plays very, very well at home," said Phelps. "I think they're tired of losing. They know before going into their conference tournament that they need a big win.

"They'll be ready to play against the Irish."

Dayton fell to Saint Louis University on the road Feb. 18 and lost again on Feb. 21 to Evansville 109-83 behind Purple Ace sharpshooter Scott Haffner's 65 points-- the most scored in 12 years in a Division I game.

Guards Knight and Ray Springer will try to get the Flyers back on track tonight and stop the Irish from gaining momentum after close wins over LaSalle and Houston.

Both have done their share of scoring and passing to put Flyer points on the scoreboard. The combo has teamed with Corbitt, a 6-6 and a half, 215-pound forward, who has established himself as a force in the paint.

Corbitt and 6-9 and a half, 220-pound senior forward Steve Pittman, who can score inside or out, have been formidable on the boards and will be looking to prevent the Irish dominance in the key that took them out of the game earlier this season.

The Irish will be battling injury and illness tonight. Ellis

Men's tennis to face Indiana

Irish fresh off upset wins over Tarheels, Murray State

The Notre Dame men's tennis heads into today's matchup with Indiana after having passed a small milestone over the weekend.

The improved Irish stunned the No. 1 southeastern collegiate team, North Carolina, and also knocked off perennial power Murray State, while bowing to host West Virginia.

Coming into the competition, the young Irish squad could have easily played well and fell to three top national teams. Instead, Notre Dame boosted its record to a surprising 8-3 mark.

"The victories at West Virginia are the highlights of my brief coaching career at Notre Dame," said Irish head coach Bob Bayliss, who presently holds a 307-110 career record. "From hereafter, I'm not going to underestimate these guys."

Notre Dame is in the midst of rigorous 10-match stretch during which, as of today, the Irish have won three out of four. The Irish seem to have taken a liking to playing an underdog role, with which they have been all too familiar lately.

"I think it is easier to play when you're on a roll," said Bayliss. "And you have nothing to lose."

The Irish, who took a six match winning streak into the contest, pummeled Murray State 6-1. The Irish captured five singles victories ensuring them of their seventh victory. The last two doubles matches were not played because they would not have altered the result of the competition.

"When I saw Murray State practicing, I thought there was no place to hide," said Bayliss. "But I thought we were well prepared, and the courts were much like our courts. The reason we won is that we came out of the blocks very quickly."

Up next for Notre Dame was the West Virginia Mountaineers. The 20th-ranked Mountaineers snapped the Notre Dame's seven match winning streak by handing the Irish a 6-3 loss. The match was closer than the score indicates considering the fact that two of the matches were decided by third-set tiebreakers that fell in West Virginia's favor. Moreover, the Irish team was without the services of their No. 5 player Mike Wallace because of a nagging shoulder injury.

"In fairness to West Virginia, they were very inspired and played very well," said Bayliss. "The crowd was really into the match, and they were just a little bit better than us."

No. 1 Dave DiLucia earned the sole Irish singles victory by decisively downing 27th-ranked Joby Foley in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2.

"Against West Virginia, David was really on target and totally disarmed Foley," said Bayliss of his No. 1 player's sixth consecutive win. "His quickness was the difference but he had some truly brilliant passing shots."
