My dear Friend

Altho' I do not know yet how much you lose by the fire of last night, for no paper has yet published the particulars of the disaster; still, I fear your share in the sad calamity is large & heavy. Indeed, all the victims of this dire accident have my sincere sympathies; but surely none more than yourself. It is a severe trial, of which I know something. But I pray that you may come out of it with renewed courage & increased energy

Your most sincere friend
