Cir. 19 July 1863

V. Rev. Dear Friend

Do you wish me to publish in Telegraph the documents you send me about the 'Missionaries' house?

Is it not an integral, if not primary, part of the project to found a house of refuge for fallen priests?

If so, should not this be intimated and known?

Do you know McHolliman with you?

Could you take Rev. Mr. Coffin-ger, who is Gray, deist and intemperate. This appearing mean-sensible as a to be, has married one of the finest women to become useful and known which the Almighty could well have given?

I think Rome must by this time be fully posted up in regard to the condition of affairs in our institutions. The wonder is how she could have been so long misinformed, disordered, concerning them.

Bishop Lucey was here yesterday.
You must be in a awkward position when Mr. Kead directs you to do a thing which the bishop forbids. I cannot see what, or how, the sisters are to act if you are the charge of us. So we are not allowed to afford them the benefit of holy ministry. If matters progress in this way, I think it likely that no new community will be received in the United States with a foreign Superior General. It will be well if even the old ones can flourish.

To say anything more of the Frobeniusianus' name, in the way of logging, in this device a German priest should be one of the collectors, or assistants.

With sincere regard and believes,
J. B. Furber
Alpin
