

$7½ Million Granted to University

Kellogg Grant Finances New Education Center

The W. K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Michigan, has given Notre Dame a $1,543,000 grant for the construction and operation of a Center for Continuing Education. The building will be erected opposite Morris Inn across Notre Dame Avenue. Construction is expected to start later this year.

Of the grant funds, $1,343,000 will build and furnish the center, and the remaining $200,000 will be used for its first four years of operation.

The new facility will be a buff brick, two-story building of contemporary design. It will include a lobby and registration area, an auditorium seating 350-400 people, meeting rooms, a library and exhibition area, audio-visual facilities, a series of seminar, conference or ties, limited food service and offices and quarters for visiting professors and research personnel.

Varied Use

It will serve scholars and others participating in academic and cultural conferences; alumni enrolled in continuing education programs; businessmen, professional people, tradesmen and others participating in specialized programs; friends of the University, parents of students and visitors.

The grant was announced jointly on December 22 by Dr. Emery W. Morris, president and general director of the Kellogg Foundation, and Father Hesburgh.

Adds New Dimension

Father Hesburgh, in expressing the University's gratitude to the foundation, said the Center "provides an exciting new dimension for the University's educational resources."

A Kellogg Foundation spokesman said Notre Dame was chosen as the site for the new center "because of its previous intensive interest in adult education, because of its national character, drawing students from all over the United States, and because of its international reputation as a cultural center."

Challenge II Begins Jan. 30

The Notre Dame Foundation will formally kick off the Challenge II fund-raising program with a meeting of all living former directors of the Alumni Association on Jan. 30, 31 and Feb. 1, according to Mr. James Frick, Foundation Executive Director. Already the Foundation has made extensive plans for the drive.

The program has been divided into two parts. Foundation and administration officials will personally contact those who might wish to give special gifts of $1,000 or more.

General donors, who will probably give less than this amount, will be reached by direct mail. Then each will be telephoned in succeeding years by an alumnus, who will also contact four other people.

Committees have been set up in 170 cities. Under the committee chairman, five subcommittees will function in each city: alumni fund, corporate fund, parents, friends and deferred giving.

Foundation officials believe that Challenge II will be successful because a whole new range of contributions has been established among Notre Dame benefactors. With 80 per cent of the alumni contributing in Challenge I, the average donation was $345, whereas in previous drives, the average was less than $100.

Also contributing to the success of Challenge II will be better planning. While the first Challenge program was set up in a shorter period of time, the Foundation has had almost a year to prepare for Challenge II.

New Field House Part of Challenge II

The University of Notre Dame last Saturday announced a comprehensive, $20,000,000 development plan focused on people and programs and also providing for the construction of three major buildings.

Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C. S. C., said the new, national fund-raising effort, to be known as Challenge II, will have as its theme, "Extending the Tradition of Great Teaching." He said 60 per cent of the funds will be used to initiate new programs of study and research, further strengthen the faculty and provide financial assistance for students with the balance allocated to physical expansion.

Major Objectives

Father Hesburgh listed these major objectives of the two-and-a-half year Challenge II Program, which is a segment of a ten-year, $66,000,000 development plan that was launched in 1958:

$6,500,000—Faculty development and new academic programs with emphasis on the social sciences and the humanities;

$5,500,000—Expansion of student aid programs, including scholarships, fellowships, loans and opportunities for campus employment;

$5,000,000—Construction of an Athletic and Convocation Center with a seating capacity of 10,500 for athletic, academic and civic events;

$3,000,000—Erection of two residence halls to provide housing for virtually all Notre Dame undergraduates.

Notre Dame's president pointed out that the Ford Foundation has already pledged $6,000,000 or 30 per cent of the $20,000,000 overall goal, provided the University double that amount in cash gifts and grants from its alumni, friends and other non-governmental sources by June 30, 1966. In a three-year development program which ended in mid-1963, Notre Dame received $18,603,157 in financial support in addition to an earlier $6,000,000 Ford Foundation matching grant.

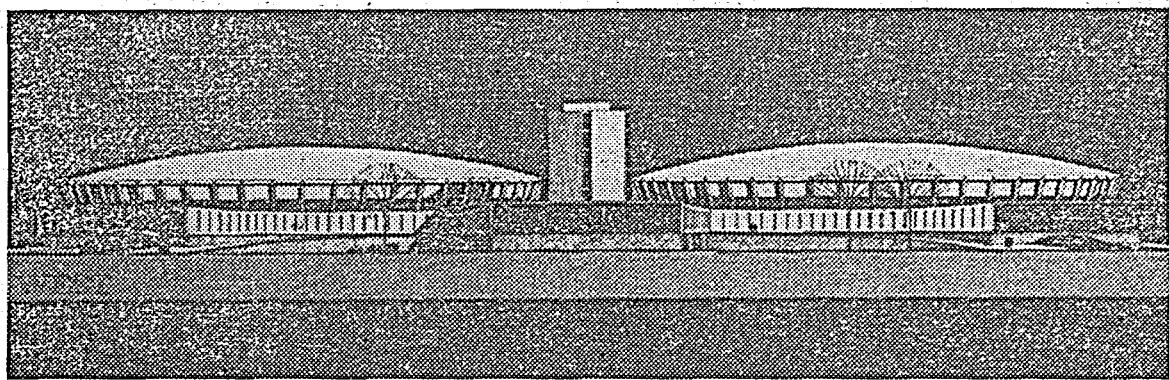

Father Hesburgh expressed deep gratitude to the trustees and officers of the Ford Foundation "for this reaffirmation of confidence in Notre Dame's future and for confronting the University with this second great challenge."

One Of First Five

Notre Dame was one of the first five private universities selected by the Ford Foundation to take part in the "Special Program in Education" when it was launched in September, 1960. Its objective, the Foundation said, was "to assist institutions in different regions of the country to reach and sustain a wholly new level of academic excellence, administrative effectiveness and financial support."

During the three-year $18,000,000 Challenge Program ending on

D'Antonio Discusses Birth Control, Love

By Steven Pepe

Dr. D'Antonio of the Sociology Department discussed before an overflow crowd, last Thursday in the Law Auditorium, the problems, responsibilities and duties of married couples facing the dilemma of birth control.

He emphasized the changing attitude toward marriage and population control developing in society and the Church today and outlined active steps the laity might take to insure a more thorough and open examination in this area.

Prof. D'Antonio defined his concept of conjugal love between two free, rational humans as the "unselfish, unexploitative seeking of the optimal good for each other."

This love or striving of a couple to obtain the maximal potential and good for the other is best developed only in marriage and the family, he said. From this love a married couple wishes to have children as a fulfillment of their love by unifying it through the procreation and education of a new life.

Sexual intercourse resulting naturally from this conjugal love is good, Dr. D'Antonio emphasized, and needs no other justification.

The Church's over-emphasis on procreation in marriage, Dr. D'Antonio explained, must be balanced by an equal emphasis on conjugal love in marriage.

"Nothing in God's law demands large families; this is a sacred hangover from the past's economic and social need of a high birth rate."

Unlike the former farm society, where children were an asset, today's society is such that children are a liability for parents to raise and educate, he said. Thus the married couple in their freedom, rationality and responsibility have a right and duty to make a decision on the number of children they can have and properly raise.

Married couples, Dr. D'Antonio stressed, should return to God children capable of knowing and loving Him and others. "A few children brought up well are better than many children raised in chaos and unable to love."

Exam Dates Switched

The semester exam schedule will be changed this semester, according to Leo Corbaci, Vice President in charge of Academic Affairs.

Although the student body has been kept in the dark about the switch, the schedule will be the same as the one found in the second semester schedule of courses booklet.

There will be no tests on Thursday, Jan. 30.

Proposed: Renovate Campus Election

A constitutional amendment requiring all four officers of the student body to be chosen in a campus-wide election was read at the Student Senate meeting Jan. 9. The amendment would also provide that this election would be on a separate date from the election for college senators and class officers.

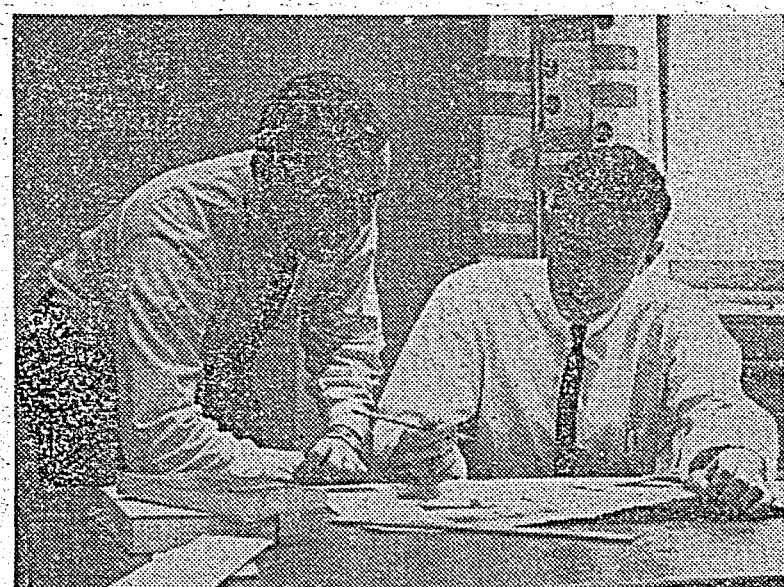

Presently the student body president is the only officer elected by the entire campus. He appoints the vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

Also at the meeting a motion was passed recommending the following vacation schedule for next year: Christmas Vacation, from Wednesday, Dec. 16, to Monday, Jan. 4; and Easter vacation from Tuesday, April 13, to Monday, April 26.

There will be a student body referendum to determine whether the Senate should recommend that this year's Easter vacation be from Tuesday, March 24, to Monday, April 6.

Tim Morrison, chairman of the hall presidents' council, said that pizza ovens would be installed in the halls. The council hopes that food sales in the halls will quadruple.

Terry O'Connor announced that the week of Feb. 16 to 22 will be Peace Corps Week on campus. During this week, six to eight Peace Corps staff members will be on campus to conduct a recruiting program, consisting of films, lectures, discussions, interviews and testing.

Barry Johanson, new VOICE editor, and John Buckley, news editor, study past issues of the VOICE.

Johanson Replaces Gearen As Editor of 'Voice'

Barry Johanson, a junior, dean's-list journalism major was named VOICE editor-in-chief this week by John Gearen, the paper's current editor.

Gearen, who founded the paper late in the second semester of last year, will continue his work with the staff as an associate editor.

John Buckley, math major and also a junior, was named news editor to fill the position vacated by Johanson.

Jed Kee, a sophomore in History and pre-law, will serve as assistant news editor.

Gearen said, "It has been a long struggle but the newspaper we have so badly needed is now solidly on its feet; in fact, we are ready for 8-page issues at the beginning of the second semester. I am sure I could not transfer the paper into any more capable hands."

"Notre Dame has a definite need for an independent campus newspaper," Johanson said. "The Voice is going to create a solution for that need — doing all it can to have this campus well-informed."

An Honor Code

Most students have by now been informed of the proposals for an Honor Code, and it is time that this began to occupy the serious concern of each member of the student body. An Honor System demands deep, mature reflection. The appeal of an Honor System is to individual responsibility and integrity, and offers a fuller experience of a meaningful dimension of an academic community — the fellowship of students.

We like to call ourselves Notre Dame men because of our outstanding tradition of school spirit. This is a pride in a community whose fundamental bond is not an athletic team but the students. We have been granted the fortunate opportunity of participating in the responsibilities of the higher educative process as equal members of a student community, and this situation places a very strong demand upon personal honesty. Each student should expect it of the other.

Now the honesty assumed by an Honor System extends beyond the confidence that students will not cheat into an understanding that students will realize the corporate nature of his scholastic endeavor.

However, without a mechanism of enforcement, a code would probably remain only an abstract ideal. In order to make it an effective presence, an Honor Committee is proposed. The proposal now under consideration runs like this. If a student is alleged guilty of cheating he is required to go before a committee consisting of six men selected by the S.B.P., chairman of the Blue Circle, Class Presidents, representatives of the four college councils, the Scholastic, WSND, and an elected member of the faculty. The committee will then elect a non-voting chairman. Membership in the court would rotate and no judicial commission would sit twice in the course of a year. A unanimous decision would be necessary to convict suspected violators. The penalties are strict, but entirely just in relation to the gravity of the offense. First conviction would result in the failure of the course; second conviction, suspension for one semester and third, expulsion. If a violation occurred during a final examination, first conviction would bring suspension and a second, expulsion. This is the tentative proposal of the committee now studying an Honor System.

The Honor Code demands much of the individual student. The success of the system depends entirely upon his full cooperation and active participation if he feels that an Honor Code is for the general best interest. This would be a new experience for him, and one which would demand self-examination and whole-hearted support. Opponents of an Honor Code fear a dwindling of student interest after the system has worn the course of a few years. This can come about only if individuals no longer recognize the primacy and importance of responsibility to the other students of the community. The system would surely then collapse into a negative, impersonal mechanism and its idealism would become oppressive. This would be disastrous to each member of the student body.

Recognizing the possibility of such an occurrence, it would be prudent to re-ratify the code each year. This would tend to sustain student interest in the system by reminding us that it is of deep personal interest and dependent upon student support. In re-ratification there would be a continuing sense of self-commitment. If after a few years the passage of the Honor Code referendum had become mechanical because of overwhelming support and traditional backing, then a move could be made that it be ratified as a permanent institution of the University.

Era of Ara

The Christmas holidays were brightened with the news that Notre Dame had acquired an able successor for Coach Hugh Devore. Mr. Parseghian had built an impressive record at Northwestern, including a string of wins against the Irish.

Coach Parseghian has indicated respect for the "discipline" of Notre Dame, to which we add our respect for his smart and vigorous style of football. It is hoped that these two qualities — discipline and ingenuity — will not prove to be incompatible here. Recent years have shown that a spirit based exclusively on discipline and tradition is not enough. A football team needs imaginative play, besides muscle and heart, to win with any consistency. Nor can spirit long prevail without success. Our new coach is an excellent man to rejuvenate that waning spirit — to make it exciting again.

As the student body of Notre Dame is quite distinct from that of any other school, especially that of a Big Ten school, we would urge Mr. Parseghian to meet with the student body in the near future to let both sides know that we mean to bring winning football back to the school that started it all — Notre Dame.

'63 In Review

Over the first semester of existence as a full-fledged campus news medium, the Voice editorial staff has tried to cover topics influencing every phase of life here at the University. We have tried to criticize, to emphasize, to analyze, to illuminate, and to commemorate those things which have a direct bearing on our campus life.

We have tried to deal with every subject open-mindedly and applied our knowledge and ability in presenting it well. We now give you a quick review of what we have done in the past semester so that you, in turn, can evaluate us.

—An explanation of the unfair conversion factor adopted by the Academic Council was made. An alternate plan worked out by Tom O'Brien was presented editorially and accepted by the Administration.

—A statement favoring more hall and social functions consistent with the expanded hall government instituted over the summer was presented. The sophomore class has been especially notable in this area.

—An examination and evaluation of the new memorial library's impact on study habits and the campus in general was given.

—An exploration of the influence of foreign students on the campus, and their reaction to American college life was delineated editorially.

—A re-evaluation of the "cut-system" was urged by the Voice. We are still hoping for some positive action.

—A suggestion was made to provide specific information about individual courses at registration. The English Department has provided some to its majors; the GP somewhat helpfully uses a brochure compiled a few years ago.

—A study was made of the laundry's allotment of 3 sets of underwear. No effect.

—The granting of scholarships to married students was urged.

—The "tight" control of Washington Hall was examined in hope of opening it up for a wider range of activities.

—A reading period was defined, discussed and outlined. A sub-committee has been organized.

—The over-all educational process at our Catholic university was examined under the title "Inculcation vs. Assimilation."

—The institution of new traditions in the Homecoming week-end was wondered about.

—The Sunday breakfast hour was changed after two editorials suggesting a more reasonable hour.

—Our faculty member of the editorial board resigned.

—The Voice was compared to the Scholastic, on paper and even over the air.

—The fiscal policy of Student Government was fine-tooth combed.

—A building of a stronger inter-hall athletic program based on the new hall system was suggested.

A definitive statement of the position and policy of the Voice was given.

—The New York trip and its financial handling by the Blue Circle was examined.

—The snowballing of SMC girls brought a critical statement on manly behavior.

—The falsely anticipated crowds at the basketball games, and the alleviation of this problem were looked into.

—The integration of the Freshmen into all halls on campus was supported in order to create seventeen competitive and socially active houses.

—Who's Who was praised for its selection of outstanding representatives to the national organization. In the representatives the merit of the selection resides.

—The Academic Commission was reviewed and its projections for the academic year were discussed.

—The tragic death of John F. Kennedy, our 35th President, brought a disheartened editorial and a special edition of the paper in respect for his memory.

These are the major topics we tried to cover in depth during the scholastic year of 1963.

'Players' to Give 'Rex' and 'Shrew'

National Players from Catholic University will perform Jan. 17 and 18 at 8:30 p.m. at Washington Hall. This year's productions will be Sophocles' Oedipus Rex, Friday, and Shakespeare's Taming of the Shrew, Saturday. Tickets are $1.50 for students and faculty members and may be purchased at the box office starting Jan. 15 at 4:00 p.m.

National Players, a professional group, is conducting its 15th yearly tour and has visited Notre Dame on each. Last year's audiences will remember Bernard McNerny as Bottom in Midsummer Night's Dream who will return this year as Petruccio in Taming of the Shrew. On his second tour is Richard Robison, a native of South Bend and Notre Dame graduate, who will be seen as Creon in Oedipus Rex.

He feels that the successful practice of rhythm as a method of birth control often results in an unnatural means that stands in the way of conjugal love. "This problem is the most distressing dilemma facing the Church today," Dr. D'Antonio hopes that advancements in science and possibly a wider, legitimate use of Enovid may solve this problem in the future.

As for the present, Professor D'Antonio calls for the laity to take an active part to support progressive theology in a re-study of the problem.

Dr. D'Antonio concluded, and this may best be achieved through the conjugal love of a couple in marriage and the resulting love of parents and children, man and his fellow man.

Administration Switches Made

Several switches have been made in the University's administration corps.

Fr. Joseph Hoffman is now acting director of admissions. Fr. William D. O'Neill replaced Fr. Hoffman as assistant to the Vice President for Student Affairs and as rector of Walsh Hall. Fr. Chester Prusynski took over as rector of Keenan in place of Fr. O'Neill.

Fr. O'Neill was replaced in the Freshman office by Fr. Roman Ladewski, formerly in the admissions office in charge of scholarships. Br. Lawrence Carter is executive secretary of the Scholarship Committee.

Mr. Devere Plunkett replaced Fr. Robert Woodward as director of Military Affairs. Plunkett will continue as the Assistant Dean of Liberal Arts.

Who's Who Selections Include Leading Seniors

Thirty-three members of the class of 1964 have been accepted for membership in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Dating back an estimated twenty years at Notre Dame, Who's Who on campus this year was under the jurisdiction of the Blue Circle Honor Society. Mike Wilsey, of the Circle, acted as chairman and coordinator.

Included are the following:

Charles W. Blanchard; Paul R. Charron; Michael D. Ciletti; John P. Clark; Willard Counsell; Michael J. Coy; Paul G. Creelan; James E. Egan; David W. Ellis; Fred W. Heroman; John C. Kanaley, and Lawrence Kavanagh.

Also Patrick W. Kenny; John M. Lalli; Joseph A. Lanasa; Thomas R. Lehmann; Edward A. Maciula; William F. McDonald; Robert E. Mier; Richard D. Miles; Thomas E. Mulinazzi, and George P. Novak.

Others are Dennis J. O'Brien; Thomas G. O'Brien; Joseph E. O'Neill; William M. Pfeiffer; Michael J. Rieder; Warren C. Stephens; Paul E. Tierney, Jr.; Bruce Tutill; James P. Walsh, Jr.; Peter T. Whitehouse, and John G. Young.

The committee explained that the overall purpose of Who's Who was "to show recognition and approval to outstanding seniors for their significant contributions to the university and the student body over their four years."

Challenge II Aids Faculty, Students

June 30, 1963, Notre Dame received a total of $18,603,167 in gifts and grants from 23,438 donors. Of this, $13,285,520 was in cash, qualifying the University for the first $6,000,000 Ford Foundation grant. The unprecedented support included gifts averaging $345 from a record 80 per cent of Notre Dame alumni.

New Departments

In a move to strengthen its educational programs and research in the social sciences and humanities, Notre Dame plans to establish a department of experimental psychology, it was announced. With funds emanating from Challenge II, the University will also create new programs in such people-oriented fields as anthropology, demography, geography and religious sociology. Planning is also underway for area study programs, first for Latin America and later Africa.

Increased student aid resources are an urgent need, too, the Notre Dame vice president said, in this day of rising educational costs and higher tuition. Notre Dame is seeking additional funds to create undergraduate scholarships or grants-in-aid and graduate fellowships. Funds are needed, too, he explained, to create and expand University-operated low interest loan funds for qualified students requiring financial assistance.

Fieldhouse

The Athletic and Convocation Center, replacing a 66-year-old fieldhouse, will be erected east of Notre Dame Stadium, Father Walsh said. The 400,000 square foot facility will have twin arenas, one for basketball and assemblies requiring up to 10,500 seats, the other for fieldhouse activities and exhibitions. He described the new building as a center for intercollegiate sports — basketball, track, baseball (indoor practice), fencing, wrestling, boxing, et cetera — and a hub for intramural athletic activities. It will provide facilities for indoor student athletics, including a skating rink, and will be the headquarters for the Notre Dame athletic department. The Center will be used for major University convocations as well as for conventions of academic and religious organizations and civic events.

Residence Halls

The two residence halls for undergraduates will be erected on the new east mall north of the Notre Dame Memorial Library, it was announced. These buildings, coupled with two graduate residence halls soon to be built, will swell to twenty-one the number of student dormitories on the Notre Dame campus. Construction of these two buildings, Father Walsh said, will make it possible for most of the 800 undergraduates currently forced to live off-campus to share fully in the intellectual, spiritual and social life of the campus.

University Theatre Schedules "Tartuffe" After Semester Break

University Theater's next production, beginning immediately after semester break, will be Tartuffe by Moliere. Mr. Syburg, University Theater's assistant director, has done a translation of the play for this presentation. Tartuffe, the most frequently produced of Moliere's plays, is being done in commemoration of the 300th anniversary of its first production.

The role of Tartuffe will be played by sophomore Dave Garrick, Cleante by sophomore Pat Kelly, and Orgon by senior Mike Hartford. Dave, Pat and Mike all had minor roles in the Visit. Doriene will be played by Judie Smock, an Indiana University drama major.

Mardi Gras Bids Available Tonight

Tickets will be sold to the 680 Mardi Gras lottery winners this evening from 7:30 to 9:30 in the Fiesta Lounge of the Student Center.

Winners are instructed to bring their identification cards, receipts from the initial lottery sale, and $2.50 for the purchase of bids to the Carrousel Ball featuring Si Zentner.

Those who have sold ten raffle books are likewise instructed to pick up their bids in the Mardi Gras office, Room 2-B of the Student Center, today.

Tickets for the Champagne Brunch, Chad Mitchell Trio Concert, Communion Breakfast, and hotel reservations can also be purchased at this time. The hotel accommodations and tickets to the Mardi Gras activities will be limited.

Mock Convention Positions Filled

Several new positions have been filled for the Republican Mock Convention slated for the first week in March.

Mike Dillon, senior head of the public relations committee, will be convention chairman. Gene McGulre, junior chairman of the delegates committee, will be temporary chairman. Lee McCarthy of WSND was selected as keynote speaker after placing first in the speaker competition finals held on Jan. 6.

Sunday, Jan. 12, the state delegations met in the Law and Engineering Auditoriums. Mock Convention officials spoke to the delegates on their duties. Nominations were taken in each state for a state chairman of the delegation. The delegations will select their chairmen when each state caucuses this Sunday, Jan. 19.

DePaul, Creighton Dribble Over Irish

Notre Dame returned home for a basketball game with DePaul on the night of Jan. 8 after a disastrous road trip and promptly found out that it will take more than a home court advantage to snap Johnny Jordan's men out of their doldrums. DePaul romped to its tenth straight victory, 85-73, before a record fieldhouse crowd of 4,500 which included two bus loads of boisterous DePaul rooters.

The Blue Demons' sharp passing and shooting were too much for Jordan's shuffled line-ups to handle. The Demons' team balance was best pointed up by the fact that they had three men score over 20 points. Dave Mills, a 6-10 center, scored 23 while Emmette Bryant and Jim Murphy tallied 21 apiece. Setting up easy jump shots with their quick patterns, the Demons shot 52 per cent from the field.

The Irish were led by Ron Reed with 25 points and Larry Sheffield with 20. Unable to work the ball in close and taking forced shots from the outside, the Irish had a shooting percentage of 32 per cent. N.D. quickly fell behind the Demons at 36-21 and trailed by 11 at the half, 44-33.

With the insertion of Jay Miller into the lineup in the second half, the Irish made a brief threatening gesture and closed the gap to 49-43. DePaul then spurred to its biggest lead of the night, 74-53, and coasted home from there. Miller scored 14 points and pulled down 17 rebounds in a fine second half performance.

What was supposed to be the best team in N.D. history has been hampered by the loss of 6-10 star Walt Sahn. Bothered by a muscle pull and spasms in his back since last summer, Walt is out indefinitely.

Creighton

Playing for the first time since Coach Johnny Jordan announced his resignation, Notre Dame suffered its fifth straight loss last Saturday night. Powerful Creighton shellacked the Irish 95-81 before a record Omaha crowd. All-American Paul Silas scored 37 points for Creighton while Larry Sheffield led the Irish with 28. Notre Dame's record dropped to four wins and eight losses.

Navy — Opponent To Be Feared

The Navy football team, which defeated Pittsburgh, 24-12, during the regular campaign, beat the Panthers once again in a ballot box battle.

Monogram winners on the 1963 Notre Dame football team cast 14 votes for Navy and ten for Pittsburgh with reference to "the best team played." Only two other teams received votes, Southern California and Michigan State.

Ara Signs — Jordan Resigns

On Saturday, Dec. 14, Ara Parseghian was named the head football coach at the University of Notre Dame. The announcement was made by the Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, C.S.C., Executive Vice President and Chairman of the Faculty Board in Control of Athletics.

At the same time, Father Joyce announced that Hugh Devore, who served as interim coach this past season, was elevated to the post of Assistant Athletic Director. Fr. Joyce also said that Parseghian would sign a four-year contract.

Parseghian has been a head coach since 1951. He was the head man at his Alma Mater, Miami University of Ohio, from 1951 through 1955, and has been the coach at Northwestern since 1956. His 13-year record shows 75 victories, 41 defeats, and two ties. This past year at Northwestern, the Wildcats won five and lost four. His Northwestern teams gained four straight victories over Notre Dame from 1959 through 1962 (30-24, 7-6, 12-10, and 35-7). The two schools did not play this past season.

Parseghian is a native of Akron, Ohio, where he was born May 21, 1923. After graduating from high school, he enlisted in the Navy where he played football under Coach Paul Brown at Great Lakes.

Following his discharge, he entered Miami University where he competed in football, basketball, and baseball. He won All-Ohio halfback honors and received All-American mention in 1947 when Miami played in the Sun Bowl.

Following his graduation, Parseghian played with the Cleveland Browns but an injury brought a quick end to his professional playing career. He launched his coaching career when he returned to Miami as an assistant to Woody Hayes in 1950 and moved into the head coaching position when Hayes went to Ohio State the following year.

In making the announcement, Father Joyce said: "We feel very fortunate in securing the services of such an outstanding coach as Mr. Parseghian. He has had a splendid record both at Miami University and at Northwestern University, and he is one of the most respected men in the coaching profession. On behalf of Father Hesburgh, our University President, and the Faculty Board in Control of Athletics, I welcome him to the post of head football coach at the University of Notre Dame."

From Devore came the following statement: "First, my congratulations to Ara Parseghian. We all know that he is a great coach, and it will be a privilege to cooperate with him. As for my new task as Assistant Athletic Director, well I've always been most happy to serve my alma mater in any capacity, and I feel honored in being appointed to this position."

..... in the Sportlite

Since our last edition of Sportlite, much has happened on the sports scene at Notre Dame. We have gained a new football coach and have lost a basketball coach. We have also lost quite a few basketball games and the much needed services of our starting center.

Things, indeed, look pretty bleak and there is not really much to say that hasn't been hashed and rehashed by every armchair expert in the country. Maybe Mr. Parseghian has committed suicide in coming to coach the seemingly declining Irish football squad. We doubt it. Notre Dame may not have a winning season next year; in fact, it looks extremely doubtful. A new coach means a new system for players to learn, and it is hard to integrate the players and the system into a winning unit in a few months. There is hope for the situation, though, and with new blood in the Irish football machine there should be a turnaround and a rise once again to some semblance of national prominence. Best wishes from The Voice to Mr. Parseghian, his staff and to all of the Irish footballers.

The basketball picture, however, still remains a complete blank. There is no word as to whom will replace John Jordan as coach and only conjecture about when Walt Sahn will be able to play again this season.

Irish Sink Ohio; Sunk By Wisconsin

Exciting and suspenseful are the only words to describe the two meets that the Notre Dame swim team had over the weekend. In all, four varsity and five pool records were set. The first meet was with Ohio University, Friday night. From the first event on, the lead changed hands three times before the Irish finally capped the meet by winning the last relay. Captain Chuck Blanchard led the team to this 54-41 victory by setting a varsity record in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 0:52.2, and by winning the 200-yard freestyle.

The next day the Irish hosted the University of Wisconsin. In this meet alone five pool records were set, one by Rory Culhane with a time of 5:29.0 for the 500-yard freestyle. Going into the final two events, N.D. was ahead 42-40. But Wisconsin took the next two events to defeat the Irish for the first time this season by a score of 56-47. Tom Kennett and Mike Schuck took first and second in the diving while Tom Kristl and John Woods did the honors in the 200-yard butterfly with Tim setting a new varsity record of 2:18.7.
