Professors Don Plunkett, '29 And Carl Mathes Die in May

Two prominent Notre Dame faculty members died during the second semester. Professor Donald J. Plunkett, '29, acting head of the Department of Biology and a member of the University's staff for 25 years, suffered a fatal heart attack on May 19. Associate professor Carl Mathes, pianist, organist, composer and teacher of the Notre Dame Department of Music, died May 12. Mr. Mathes had been blind since birth and his death closed a career of more than 33 years of leadership in the music field.

Prior to joining the Notre Dame faculty in 1932, Professor Plunkett taught biology at Carroll College, Helena, Mont. He was awarded a master of science degree by the University of Illinois in 1937. Professor Plunkett was a member of the Indiana Academy of Science and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He is survived by his widow, Dorothy; a son, James T., Notre Dame sophomore; and two daughters, Colleen and Patsy. Also surviving are three brothers, Devere Plunkett, '30, assistant dean of the College of Arts and Letters; Roy and John Plunkett, both of Detroit; and one sister, Miss Bessie Plunkett of Cadillac, Mich. Funeral services were held in Sacred Heart Church at Notre Dame.

Professor Mathes was one of the community's fine artists and was not only a competent musician but was also a linguist. He won international fame a few years ago when a Christmas carol program he arranged for the choir of Our Lady of Hungary Church in South Bend was taped and broadcast to countries behind the Iron Curtain by the Voice of America. Professor Mathes wrote many Masses, instrumental compositions and songs and a number of these have been performed by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra which is conducted by one of his close friends, Eugene Ormandy.

Van Wallace Given Degree at Banquet

David Van Wallace, '27, of Mt. Clemens, Mich., received an honorary bachelor of science degree at the annual alumni banquet on June 8 with Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., presenting the degree to Van. A former Notre Dame athlete, Van Wallace has been paralyzed since his freshman year in 1924 as the result of a swimming pool diving accident. For almost 33 years he has been confined to an ambulatory cot. The Notre Dame Club of Detroit a few years ago, with the help of a local women's organization in that city, raised enough money to send Van to the Lourdes shrine in France. They also purchased a station wagon for him, specially designed for his comfort.

Many alumni and other friends of the University have seen Van's "wagon" at football games in the stadium as well as at student pep rallies in the field house. He attends various gatherings of the Detroit Alumni Club and is a frequent visitor on campus. Van is extremely active, although paralyzed from the neck down, inasmuch as he is an avid reader, sells insurance and can typewrite letters. Van's promising athletic career as a basketball and baseball player on Fighting Irish teams was cut short by the crippling accident in 1924.

Van has not achieved his youthful ambition of becoming a practicing engineer. Instead, he has attained something infinitely more worthwhile, he has become a great "institution" at Notre Dame and a tremendous inspiration to alumni everywhere. His mother and his sister were present when he was awarded the degree by Father Hesburgh. Van, truly, is representative of the real Notre Dame spirit!

This magazine is published bi-monthly by the University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, Ind. Entered as second class matter Oct. 1, 1939, at the Post Office, Notre Dame, Ind. under the act of Aug. 24, 1912.

More than 800 alumni returned to the campus for the Reunion Weekend program on June 7, 8 and 9. Early arrivals on Thursday were members of the N. D. Monogram Club who enjoyed a golf outing and business session.

Class dinners on Friday evening and Class Masses the following morning were two of the features on the weekend agenda. Alumni heard national president Pat Canny and Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., speak at the alumni banquet on Saturday night. An innovation on the program was the Field Mass celebrated in the Community Cemetery on Sunday morning for all alumni. Rev. John Wilson, C.S.C., '32, also preached the sermon.

Members of the Classes of 1907, 1912, 1917, 1922, 1927, 1932, 1937, 1942, 1947 and 1952 registered on Friday afternoon and Friday evening at the Law Building and in the various residence halls. An all-day golf tournament attracted numerous alumni on Saturday and winners were awarded prizes that evening at the alumni banquet by Father George Holderith, C.S.C.

Special features of the weekend included Father Hesburgh's luncheon for the Silver Jubilee Class (1932), the band alumni meeting, the presentation of Sherwood Anderson papers and the Lafcadio Hearn collection to the University Library by John Paul Cullen, '22, and John Bennett Shaw, '37, respectively, and the various "informal hours" conducted by the Colleges of Engineering, Arts and Letters, Science, Commerce and Law.

Observing their Golden Jubilee are these members of the 1907 Class.

New Members of Advisory Council

Five businessmen have been appointed to the Advisory Council for the College of Commerce according to Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C.

The newly named members are William H. Coleman, partner in Ball, Burge and Kraus, Cleveland, Ohio, brokerage firm; Robert H. Gore, Jr., The Governors' Club Hotel, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; James M. Morrison, The Morrison Construction Co., Hammond, Ind.; Richard A. O'Connor, chairman of The Magnavox Corp., Fort Wayne, Ind.; and Hugh M. O'Neill, president of Anchor Motor Freight, Inc., Cleveland, Ohio.

James Gerity, Jr., president of the Gerity-Michigan Corp., Adrian, Mich., is chairman of the 41-member advisory group which meets semi-annually on the campus. Council members consult with university officials on the academic programs and research of Notre Dame's College of Commerce. They also assist in career counseling and placement of the commerce school's graduates.

N.D. President Appointed Vatican Delegate

Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., has been appointed by Pope Pius XII as the permanent representative of Vatican City to the new International Atomic Energy Agency. Father Hesburgh and Frank Folsom, executive committee chairman and former president of the Radio Corporation of America, will represent Vatican City at the first general conference of the "atoms-for-peace" organization tentatively scheduled to be held in mid-August in Vienna. They were officially informed of their appointments in a recent communication from Monsignor Angelo Dell'Acqua, substitute secretary of state at the Vatican.

Editor Talks on ABC Network

High school students who are going steady at sixteen are "slaves of their own making," Rev. Frank Gartland, C.S.C., editor of The Catholic Boy, declared recently in a nationwide radio broadcast. Father Gartland expressed his views in a talk entitled "Youth Approach Marriage" on the "Christian in Action" program over the ABC Radio Network. It was the third in a series of talks during June on the theme, "Youth Are Better Than They Look."

Fr. Bachofer Named Acting Biology Head

Rev. Cletus S. Bachofer, C.S.C., has been appointed acting head of the department of biology at Notre Dame, according to an announcement by Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., president. A radiation biologist, Father Bachofer succeeds the late Professor Donald J. Plunkett who was also serving as acting department head. Father Bachofer currently is engaged in research dealing with the effects of radiation on the nerves of animals. The project is supported by the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission. He also conducts classes in radiation biology and physiology. A native of Salina, Kansas, Father Bachofer was graduated from Notre Dame in 1938 and received a doctorate from the University of Chicago in 1948. He has been a member of the Notre Dame faculty since that time. He was ordained to the priesthood on June 24, 1942.

American Physicists Meet on Campus

More than two hundred of the nation's leading physicists attended the American Physical Society meeting at Notre Dame on June 20-22. A total of ninety-two technical papers were presented during the sessions held in the Nieuwland Science Hall, the Engineering Auditorium and the Law Auditorium on campus.

Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., and Dr. George B. Collins, of the Brookhaven National Laboratory, were the banquet speakers at the Society's summer meeting. Dr. John W. Mihelich, associate professor of physics at Notre Dame, was chairman of the local arrangements committee.

Number of Converts Increased in 1956

Forty per cent of the 2,192 increase in converts throughout the nation during 1956 over the previous year took place in six dioceses which conducted "Crusades for Souls" or Catholic Census and Information Programs, according to Rev. John A. O'Brien, research professor at Notre Dame. A total gain of 883 converts over 1955 was recorded last year in the archdiocese of Indianapolis and in the dioceses of Evansville, Lafayette and Fort Wayne in Indiana and the sees of Alexandria and Lafayette in Louisiana, Father O'Brien pointed out. He based his conclusion on figures published in the 1957 Catholic Directory.

Art Teacher Addresses NCEA

"Art is slurred and slighted in many of our Catholic schools today," Rev. Anthony Lauck, C.S.C., told members of the National Catholic Educational Association meeting in Milwaukee, Wis. "The opinion of many teachers today on art is anything but flattering. They either cannot or will not realize what art can contribute to students, to teachers, and to the very process of learning in the school. On their visits they show little interest in the accomplishments in art." Father Lauck is a member of the Art Department at Notre Dame University. An artist himself, his work has received a number of awards and distinctions.

Addressing the Elementary Department of the N. C. E. A. at their annual convention, Father Lauck said, "It has become almost a custom in stories and biographies about artists to overemphasize their queerness and their quirks. There is the tendency to imply that there is something wrong with anybody who is an artist. In one way or another, every artist must be a lunatic. None of us care to deal with unsavory types in teaching, and so we may be persuaded that it is becoming and seemly to avoid such subjects as madcap artists and incomprehensible art."

Liturgy Program Observes 10th Year

Approximately 1,650 graduate students and 400 undergraduates attended the Notre Dame summer session, June 24 - August 6.

Notre Dame's summer Liturgy Program, observing its tenth anniversary enrolled nearly one hundred students. Liturgical scholars from this country and abroad served as instructors for the program which was under the direction of Rev. Michael Mathis, C.S.C. The department of religion also offered special summer programs in sacred theology and spiritual theology.

Workshops in Writing were conducted June 24 to July 12, and from July 15 to August 2. The sessions were designed to aid the teacher assigned to supervise the school paper or yearbook or student radio and television activities. The workshops also assisted teachers in stimulating a greater interest in creative writing among their students.

Dr. Biondo Writes Music Text

Dr. Charles Biondo, associate professor of music and director of the Notre Dame Symphonette, is the author of Starting the Instrumental Program, a new book published by the Gregorian Institute of America, Toledo ($4.50). Professor Biondo's book deals primarily with the teaching of instrumental music at the grade school level and is based on his experience in conducting an instrumental program in the parochial schools of South Bend, Indiana.

Professor Biondo has been a member of the Notre Dame music faculty since 1947. He was educated at Potsdam State Teachers' College, at Columbia University Teachers' College where he received a master's degree in 1946, and at the Chicago Musical College which awarded him a doctorate in music education in 1950. Dr. Biondo has headed the Instrumental Department of the National Catholic Music Educators Association since 1955 and is a frequent contributor to professional journals.

Fitzgerald Given $1,000 Award

Robert Fitzgerald, poet, translator and visiting professor of English at Notre Dame, has been awarded a $1,000 grant by the National Institute of Arts and Letters.

Fitzgerald is one of nineteen men and women who will receive fellowships or prizes totaling $23,000 for achievement in literature, art and music. The awards are sponsored by the National Institute of Arts and Letters and the American Academy of Arts and Letters. The Institute's Gold Medal for Sculpture was presented to Ivan Mestrovic, professor of art and sculptor-in-residence at Notre Dame, last year.

Fulbright Grants for Graduates

Three additional Notre Dame students have been awarded Fulbright grants for graduate study abroad during the 1957-58 academic year, Rev. Paul E. Beichner, C.S.C., Dean of the Graduate School, has announced. A total of five students and a Notre Dame faculty member have received Fulbright awards in recent weeks.

William H. Slavick, '49, a teaching fellow for his doctorate in English at Notre Dame, will study literature and serve as an assistant in English at Ludwig Maximilians University, Munich, Germany, beginning in September.

Douglas Cole, valedictorian of Notre Dame's 1957 senior class, will study comparative literature at Rheinische Friederich-Wilhelms University in Bonn, Germany, during 1957-58. Martin B. Tierney will study Chilean literature and culture at the University of Chile next year. He has majored in modern languages at Notre Dame.

Previously announced Fulbright grant recipients include Dr. Ernest Sandeen, associate professor of English at Notre Dame, who will lecture at the University of Aarhus in Denmark; Bernard G. Browne, Tuckahoe, N. Y., who will study political science at the Free University of Berlin; and Paul N. Clemens, Washington, D. C., who will study French history at the University of Lille.

Debaters Win National Tournament

Notre Dame's successful debating squad of 1956-57 won the National Invitational Tournament in which 30 top teams competed. The Irish combination of Paul Coffey and Jack Martzell placed first, while Martzell also was winner in the individual speaker ratings. Notre Dame was judged 10th in the United States National Debating Championships, held at West Point, N. Y., among a field of 36 intercollegiate teams.

Clare Boothe Luce Were Featured on Program

An address by Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren and the presentation of the Laetare Medal to Clare Boothe Luce, former U. S. Ambassador to Italy, highlighted Notre Dame's 112th annual commencement exercises on June 2.

Father Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., conferred seven honorary degrees and 1,225 graduate and undergraduate degrees at the ceremonies in the Stadium. Earlier, Bishop William Scully of Albany, N. Y., preached the baccalaureate sermon at a Solemn Pontifical Mass celebrated by Bishop Leo A. Pursley of Fort Wayne.

Honorary degree recipients, in addition to Justice Warren and Bishop Scully, included Ralph Bunche, Undersecretary of the United Nations; Joseph Kaplan, director of the U. S. Satellite Program and chairman of the U. S. National Committee for the International Geophysical Year; Monsignor John Tracy Ellis, historian and author, Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Ernest M. Morris, South Bend, Ind., civic leader and chairman of Notre Dame's Women's Advisory Council; James Shannon, Director of the National Institute of Health; and James F. Keenan, Fort Wayne, Ind., hotel executive and Notre Dame lay trustee.

Graduating class and members of the University administration and faculty assemble in stadium for flag-raising ceremony during Commencement exercises.

Clare Boothe Luce, former Ambassador to Italy, receives Notre Dame's Laetare Medal for 1957, from University president, Father Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C.

Notre Dame's senior class made the traditional "Last Visit" to Sacred Heart Church on Saturday of Commencement weekend. The ceremony, which is restricted to members of the graduating class, was conducted by Rev. Charles Carey, C.S.C., Prefect of Religion.

About one of every five seniors was commissioned an officer of the armed forces. A total of 231 senior members of Notre Dame's ROTC units received Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine commissions at Class Day exercises in the University Drill Hall on June 1st. Student speakers were valedictorian Douglas Cole, Forest Hills, N. Y.; class orator Robert F. Sasseen, Rockville Centre, N. Y.; and class president George Strake, Jr., Houston, Texas. Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, C.S.C., Notre Dame's executive vice president, presided at the Class Day Exercises.

Mrs. Luce was named recipient of the Laetare Medal on Laetare Sunday, March 31st. She is the sixteenth woman to receive the award which has been made annually since 1883 to an outstanding American Catholic layman.

In presenting the Laetare Medal to Mrs. Luce, Father Hesburgh cited the former Congresswoman and playwright as one who has "expounded the ideals of American and Catholic life." Mrs. Luce termed her selection for the Lactare Medal as "a most undeserved and rejoiced honor." Following the Baccalaureate Mass in the morning Father Hesburgh blessed an American flag which the senior class presented to the University on Washington's Birthday. Traditionally, the seniors' flag is blessed and flown for the first time on their graduation day and then throughout the following year. Chief Justice Warren told the graduates that "in the cultural and moral frontiers of this world lie your greatest opportunities for service."

"The greatest challenge of your generation is to conquer the cultural frontiers to a degree at least equal to the conquest of the scientific and technological frontiers," the former California governor declared. "All the materialism of science means little," Justice Warren asserted, "if man cannot live at peace with his fellow man." Bishop Scully, in the baccalaureate sermon delivered during a Solemn Pontifical Mass Sunday morning, reminded the graduates that the Catholic Church, at some sacrifice in missionary expansion abroad, has established an educational system in the United States "to provide a more intense and more vibrant Catholic life at home."

As an added feature of this year's fabulous Florida State Convention for Notre Dame Alumni, a huge waterspout was formed hundreds of feet in the air offshore and spelled out the 'welcome' as noted on photograph. Only the fast lens of a remarkable camera made this very unusual picture possible. (Ed. Note: Incidentally, if you've read this far and think all of us are nuts—and you might be correct—the above caption was created with a little artwork. However, the waterspout is authentic even if lettering is faked).

Third Annual Meeting Held in Ft. Lauderdale

Hawaiian Luau Served to Guests

by TRUDY ERNST

The 3rd Annual Alumni State Convention of Florida was held at the Sea Ranch Hotel in Ft. Lauderdale on May 3, 4 and 5. More than 100 Notre Dame men, their families and other guests enjoyed three days of sun and leisure including a bridge tournament, putting and softball contests, informal swim events and a Hawaiian luau which was prepared and served by the Mai-Kai Restaurant of Ft. Lauderdale. Under the direction of Jack Thornton, owner, and Robert Van Dorpe, manager, this famous show place of the South catered a magnificent spread of Polynesian-type food.

As in former years, the guests again were privileged to enjoy the famed hospitality of the Sea Ranch, one of the South's finest resort hotels which is operated by the Robert H. Gore Sr., family of Ft. Lauderdale.

Group Sees New Campus Movie

On Friday night the new Notre Dame film, in color and sound, was well received by the assembled group. Highlight of the weekend was the 34th Universal Notre Dame Night banquet toastmastered by Ed "Moose" Krause, Notre Dame's athletic director, and including as principal speaker Rev. Thomas J. O'Donnell, C.S.C., associate director of the Foundation. Krause reported on the records of various sports teams during the past academic year at the University while Father O'Donnell gave the inspirational talk of the evening. President George Ernst presented the club's annual donation to Notre Dame via Father O'Donnell.

On Sunday morning convention guests attended Mass at Assumption Church where Father O'Donnell was the celebrant. Dick Sadowski won the golf tournament after a battle with George Ernst which went seven extra holes. The weekend program was concluded with the serving of the always-delicious buffet lunch. It was decided that the convention in 1958 would again be held at the Sea Ranch Hotel on April 18, 19 and 20.

Those attending the convention included:

It was an 'all-Notre Dame' ceremony when the new Governor of Alaska, Mike Stepovich, '43, (left) was sworn in by U. S. District Judge Raymond J. Kelly, '15.

New Governor of Alaska Received N.D. Law Degree

Stepovich Is Father of Seven Children

Michael A. Stepovich, '43, is the youngest governor and the first native-born chief executive for the Territory of Alaska. The appointment by President Dwight D. Eisenhower was effective on June 8 when the U. S. District Judge Raymond J. Kelly, '15, presided at the swearing in ceremonies for the new governor.

Prior to receiving his law degree in 1943, Governor Stepovich graduated from Gonzaga University in 1940. During World War II he served as a yeoman second class in the U. S. Navy. After moving to Fairbanks in 1947 he was associated for one year with a law firm and was admitted to the Alaska Bar the next year. He served as Fairbanks city attorney for three years and also one term in the Territorial House of Representatives in the Territorial Senate and re-elected to a second four-year term.

Stepovich, an ardent sports participant, once refused an offer to play professional baseball. The governor is married and the father of seven children. In his inaugural address, Governor Stepovich put his administration firmly behind statehood for the territory. He said a "primary goal and objective of my administration will be to point toward statehood." The new governor said, "It is time for Alaskans to close ranks on this issue and turn their united efforts to obtaining that for which the overwhelming majority has spoken." Chief among the subjects for study he said would be the Alaska tax problem. "Our economy must not only invite new citizens but it must make them feel welcome. We cannot invite them with one hand and then slip them a discouraging high tax bill with the other."

Mike Stepovich is the fifteenth governor of Alaska and the son of one of the old Alaska pioneers who helped develop the territory in the early gold rush days.

LIBRARY ACQUIRES VALUABLE GIFTS

A virtually complete collection of the works of Lafcadio Hearn, 19th century American writer, and a collection of Sherwood Anderson letters have been acquired by the Notre Dame library.

The Hearn collection is the gift of John Bennett Shaw, '37, Tulsa, Okla., businessman and bibliophile. The Anderson letters were presented to the university by John Paul Cullen, '22, a Wauwatosa, Wis., Veterans Administration official. Their gifts were accepted by Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., Notre Dame president, and Victor Schaefer, university librarian, during the recent alumni reunion on campus.

More than 300 books, all first editions, are included in the Hearn collection. Among them are works translated into Japanese and other foreign languages. Hearn was born in Greece, lived in the United States, but he spent most of his life teaching and writing English in Japan.

The Anderson collection consists of Cullen's correspondence with and about the noted novelist. Anderson, who died in 1941, is perhaps best known for his Winesburg, Ohio; Tar, a Midwest Childhood; and Kit Brandon. He was also the author of many short stories.

Members of 1947 enjoyed the Reunion program on June 7, 8, 9.

Reunion Weekend • 1957

The Class of 1917 had an exceptionally fine turnout as evidenced by the photo taken on the Morris Inn steps.

Editorial Comments from your Alumni Secretary

A recent survey of American institutions of higher learning resulted in widespread interest, and the designation—among others—of the “ten best universities.” These were:

Harvard
Yale
California (Berkeley)
Chicago
Columbia
Princeton
Michigan
Cornell
Wisconsin
Stanford

Jim Armstrong.

In summary, the selection was based on this statement of consideration, “. . . the faculty, the quality of research, as measured by publication, the student body, the physical facilities and, above all, the ethos of an institution—whether it has the character of a community of scholars — must be considered.”

There was much more of genuine interest. But this comment is not a report on the survey, or a quarrel with it.

Two things stand out.

First, no Catholic university is included.

Second, the 800 Notre Dame alumni who attended the 1957 Reunions, a number of them holding advance degrees from the listed institutions, seemed neither concerned nor convinced that the recorded superiority of these universities carried an essential corollary of the inferiority of others. There is probably no real basis for analysis.

But first of all there is a marked coincidence between the considered yardsticks of the survey and the material resources — endowment or tax support — of the leaders. And if we wish to achieve many of the things they have achieved — and we do — we must also increase our material resources — which we are trying to do at Notre Dame through the Notre Dame Foundation.

Secondly, however, we may be permitted to wonder whether the list does not involve a fundamental difference in purpose, especially between the listed leaders and the absent Catholic institutions.

Msgr. John Tracy Ellis (LL.D. '57), and Father Gustave Weigel, S.J., among other recent writers (Father Weigel in the current Review of Politics) have expressed dismay over the spiritual distractions of the Catholic intellectuals in our colleges and universities, and over the confusion which theological considerations seem to introduce into Catholic scholarship.

What brought this into focus for me, and I believe to the other Reunion alumni, and seems to me to justify some feeling that we may have chosen the better part, was embodied in several events of the Commencement-Reunion weekend.

At Commencement, from a list of men prominent for research and increasing publication, the Lay Faculty Award of the Alumni Association was given by the University to Francis O'Malley, essentially a teacher, a moulder of writers since 1933.

And at the Alumni Banquet, the most moving program feature in many years was the University's award of a degree in Civil Engineering to David Van Wallace, paralyzed after his freshman year, a member of the Class of 1927, who has been a spiritual inspiration to generations of Notre Dame men in spite of his modest acceptance remark that he “was the first in his class to retire and the last to get a degree.” This event was based on a recognition of the importance of the souls and the hearts of men as well as their intellects. Not many of those who witnessed the presentation would exchange it for academic excellence.

But in my mind the picture that will last longest as an argument against the quick acceptance of lower ranking took place on Sunday in the Community Cemetery, when several hundred alumni gathered for a Field Mass commemorating especially the priests and Brothers, and a few pioneer laymen, whose headstones brought back 115 years of men of all academic statuses. But no place in the publication of research is there more eloquent testimony to the devotion to learning than on these monuments of lives given in the unselfish sharing of the Truth, that generations of young men might be made really free.

I am sure that every Notre Dame man would like to see the University of Notre Dame listed among the top ten universities — by whatever yardsticks the future may use. And we are working toward that goal with generous alumni participation.

But it seemed to me that Reunion Classes and their experiences proved that there are things we would not wish to sacrifice in the competition. Most assuring to everyone was the evidence that Notre Dame, obviously progressing in the material considerations of the current survey, has sacrificed no part of heart or soul.

Pope Pius Honors Harrisburg Bishop

Most Rev. George L. Leech, Bishop of Harrisburg, who received an honorary degree from Notre Dame in 1942, has been appointed by Pope Pius XII as an assistant at the Pontifical Throne, an honor held by only nine archbishops and seven bishops in the United States. Bishop Leech is now a member of the College of Patriarchs (ex officio) composed of archbishops and bishops who have been designated by the Pope to membership in the Papal Chapel. Members of the College rank after cardinals and are assigned to a special place around the Papal Throne during official Vatican ceremonies. Bishop Leech has been active in events sponsored by the Notre Dame Alumni Club of Harrisburg.

TV-Sponsored Football Films

An 11-week series of football films, covering Notre Dame's 10 games, are available for television sponsorship this fall beginning with the Purdue contest on September 30. The films are an exclusive feature of Tel Ra Inc., a nationally known Philadelphia TV newsreel company and commentary is by Gene Kelly, famous football announcer. Each film will run for 26 minutes, allowing for three one-minute commercials plus the opening and closing sponsor identification.

All of Notre Dame's games are being filmed, in addition to another outstanding game for the weekend of October 21. The company does not accept beer or wine sponsorship. Films will be available east of Chicago for Tuesday showings, west of Chicago for Wednesday showings. For complete information, interested sponsors are advised to contact: George J. Kerrigan, Jr., 1518 Walnut St., Philadelphia 2, Pa.

Other members of the Court which will sit on that occasion are Chief Judge Biggs of the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit and United States District Judge Graven of the Northern District of Iowa.

The students who will participate in the argument before this distinguished tribunal are: John F. Murray of Elmira, New York; William J. Ragan of Buffalo, New York; Raymond J. Tam of Wahiawa, Oahu, Hawaii; and Donald L. Very of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

These contestants were selected on the basis of their performance in the semi-final argument on April 15 before the six judges of the Appellate Court of Indiana, sitting en banc.

Association Meetings

The Notre Dame Law Association plans a luncheon meeting on July 16 at the Biltmore Hotel, New York, in connection with the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

A very successful dinner meeting was held on May 1 at the Edgewater Beach Hotel, Chicago, in connection with the annual meeting of the Illinois State Bar Association. The principal address was given by Judge Luther M. Swygert, L'27, of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Indiana. Judge Swygert presides over the Notre Dame Practice Court, a very important part of The Law School's program. After Judge Swygert's address, Dean O'Meara spoke on some of the significant features of the Notre Dame program of legal education. Edmund A. Stephan, '33, of Mayer, Friedlich, Spiess, Tierney, Brown & Platt, Chicago, presided.

The Chicago meeting followed the pattern of the dinner meeting held at the Carlton House, Pittsburgh, on January 30 in connection with the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Bar Association. This meeting, arranged and presided over by Judge Hugh C. Boyle, '24, was an outstanding success. Many distinguished guests attended, including, among others: David F. Maxwell, President of the American Bar Association; Arthur Littleton, President of the Pennsylvania Bar Association; Ira S. Hill, President of the Allegheny County Bar Association; Chief Justice Charles Alvin Jones of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court; and Edmund C. Wingerd, Chairman of the Pennsylvania State Board of Law Examiners.

Hats Off

Under the leadership of Judge Roger J. Kiley of the Appellate Court of Illinois and George J. O'Grady of Ross and O'Keefe, Chicago, the class of 1923 has made a generous contribution to the Law Scholarship Fund. This is the first time a class has contributed as such.

Prize Winners

The Lawyers Title Award, contributed annually by the Lawyers Title Insurance Corporation, Richmond, Virginia, to the student selected by the faculty for excellence in the law of real property, was presented this year to Vernon O. Teofan of Austin, Texas. Other awards were presented to the following: the Hoynes Award to Thomas S. Calder of Worcester, Massachusetts; the Farabaugh Prize to Robert P. Gorman of Tiskilwa, Illinois; the Law Week Award to William T. Downing of Decatur, Illinois; and the Harry English Award to Patrick J. Berrigan of Lewiston, New York. All of the recipients received the LL.B. degree on June 2.

Justice Reed Talks At Banquet

Former Supreme Court Justice Stanley F. Reed was the principal speaker at the Law School's fourth annual honors banquet. The distinguished jurist stated, "Our free enterprise system, and our classless society, which provide equal opportunities for all men, are what have made our country such a successful democracy." Justice Reed declared, "Our country has prospered, not because we're richer, or wiser, or because of any particular stratification in our population, but because we have had the know-how to govern ourselves."

John Bennett Shaw, '37, of Tulsa, Okla., presented a virtually complete collection of Lafcadio Hearn books to the University on Reunion Weekend. Father Hesburgh received the gift in behalf of Notre Dame.

Mother Mary Aloysi, '22 Publishes Twelfth Book

Mother Mary Aloysi, assistant to Mother Vera, Mother General of the Sisters of Notre Dame in Rome and recipient of a Ph.D. degree from Notre Dame in 1930 recently announced the publication of her twelfth book. "The Immaculate Heart of Mary: The Tabernacle of the Holy Spirit," was printed by a New York and Cincinnati publisher, Frederick Pustet. The book was written in anticipation of the centennial of the apparition of the Blessed Mother to St. Bernadette in Lourdes. Mother Mary Aloysi is a native of Cleveland and she and Mother Vera are in the United States on a year's visit of Notre Dame convents.

Three Degrees From Notre Dame

She was the youngest in a family of ten children and has had a long career as a teacher and as a member of the order for more than a half century. She was head of the English Department of Notre Dame College, Cleveland, in 1947 and also served as Acting Dean. In addition to a doctorate, she also received two other degrees at Notre Dame, a Bachelor of Arts in 1922 and a Master of Arts the following year.

Superior General Talks To ND Alumni in Rome

ROME—Universal Notre Dame Night in Rome, Italy, was observed with a talk by Very Rev. Christopher J. O'Toole, C.S.C., Superior General of the Congregation of Holy Cross. The head table included, from left to right: Brother Loyola Christoph, C.S.C., Very Rev. Brother Oswald, C.F.X., Father O'Toole, George Gleason, Rev. Bernard Ransing, C.S.C., Rev. Edward Heston, C.S.C., and Brother Theophane Schmitt, C.S.C.

The ALUMNUS is privileged to print the excellent talk given by Father Christopher J. O'Toole, C.S.C., Superior General, at the Universal Notre Dame Night observance held in Rome, Italy.

There are several very appropriate reasons for commemorating Universal Notre Dame Night here in Rome. First of all, Rome itself is the universal city par excellence. Now, more than ever before, all roads—by land, by sea and by air—lead to Rome. No other city in the world exercises as much attraction for the historian, the classicist, the lovers of beauty and art, as does the Eternal City. Furthermore, Rome is the center of Christendom. Here, that eminent and saintly figure, our beloved Holy Father, Pius XII, radiates in all directions the spirit of Christ. His welcome embraces not only those of the Catholic Faith, but all Christians and all men who come with good will and open hearts. How fortunate we are that our Holy Father Himself is an honorary alumnus of the University of Notre Dame.

Another reason: the General Curia of the Congregation of Holy Cross, which looks not only to Notre Dame, but to all the houses and activities of the Congregation of Holy Cross throughout the world, is located in Rome. Likewise, the University of Notre Dame itself has a long tradition of universality in the choice of its students. At this school—so dear to all of us—one will find representatives from practically all nations of the world. Truly Notre Dame is, in the best sense of the word, a melting-pot for students of all nations and all races.

The Spirit of Notre Dame, a Reflection of the Spirit of Holy Cross

Today, throughout the world, Notre Dame men are gathered together united by a tender and warm affection for their Alma Mater. This strong union is not merely one of good fellowship. It goes far deeper than that; it is based upon something profoundly spiritual. Every student who goes out of Notre Dame should carry away with him an education as fine as that of any school in the country. But he carries away far more than that; he leaves Notre Dame with a spiritual grip on reality—with the conviction that Christ and His Blessed Mother are at the very heart of learning and life. And it is this spiritual element which vivifies the root and trunk of that beautiful tree which branches out in so many different directions and which we know as the spirit of Notre Dame.

In this connection, I would like to recall a letter which the Holy Father addressed to a former President—Father Hugh O'Donnell, for the centenary of the University. After indicating His profound impression at the size and extent of the University, the Holy Father continues: "These are indeed indications of an extraordinary physical growth made necessary by the scientific and spiritual expansion of the University. In fact, we like to think of them rather as an external expression of the Spirit of Notre Dame, that indefinable, yet very real and wholesome spiritual atmosphere which hovers over your campus and which is spread to the corners of the earth by your alumni whose training has prepared them to serve as edifying examples of the virility and real value of truly Christian education. It is a spirit which gives meaning to the life and direction to the education of thousands of young men, a spirit which imbues the students of Notre Dame with a happy, purposeful concept of life, of man's dependence on his Creator and of his active membership in the Mystical Body of Christ. We gladly avail Ourselves of this occasation to renew our commendation of that Spirit of Notre Dame, and pray that it may ever enjoy an even more universal and fruitful expansion."

What is the spirit of the "fighting Irish" but a reflection, in another field, of the courageous spirit of the early pioneers of Holy Cross in America? What is the family spirit at Notre Dame but a reflection of the family spirit—the spirit of union in the Congregation of Holy Cross written into its very Constitutions framed by our venerated Founder. What is the scholarly spirit at Notre Dame if not a reflection and result of our Constitutions on studies and teaching? In a word, the spirit of Notre Dame should be and is the spirit of the Congregation of Holy Cross translated into modern times and terms and reaching out to faculty, student body, alumni and friends throughout the world.

Spirit of Holy Cross—The Past

Allow me to review for you some results of this spirit of Holy Cross. And first of all, for a moment, let us glance toward the past. The origins of Holy Cross go back to the year 1821, when a saintly Priest—Father James Dujarié, pastor of a little parish at Ruillé-sur-Loir in the Department of the Sarthe, conceived the idea of gathering together a group of young men to help him in the task of Christian education. At that time, as you know, on account of the political upheavals which had shaken France, Christian education had suffered a very severe blow. Father Dujarié wished to do something about this in his own milieu. These young men, whom he grouped about him, he formed into a society, called Brothers of St. Joseph. At the same time, he conceived the idea of founding a community of Sisters for purposes of Christian education. These were the Sisters of Providence, who are now spread throughout France, America and other parts of the world. As time went on, this community of Sisters—for various administrative reasons—divided into two groups, one with the motherhouse at Ruillé-sur-Loir, and the other, with the motherhouse at St. Mary-of-the-Woods, near Terre Haute, Indiana. Undoubtedly, some of you, who are present here, are very well acquainted with the Sisters of Providence in the United States.

Meanwhile, on account of age and infirmities, Father Dujarié, at the suggestion of the Bishop of Le Mans, requested Father Basil Moreau to take over the direction of the Brothers of St. Joseph. Father Moreau had already founded a group of Auxiliary Priests in the diocese of Le Mans. The Brothers of St. Joseph and the Auxiliary Priests of Father Moreau were then united to found what we now call, the Congregation of Holy Cross (1837). Father Moreau also founded a community of Sisters, called the Marianites of Holy Cross. These Sisters, like those founded by Father Dujarié, grew in numbers and eventually were divided into three groups with three distinct motherhouses—one in France, at Le Mans; another in the United States, at St. Mary's, near Notre Dame, Indiana; and a third, at St. Laurent, near the city of Montreal in Canada. After the union of the two societies was effected, Father Moreau worked might and main to have the Constitutions of the Congregation approved by the Holy See. This approval came about in 1857, April 28, although the promulgation of the decree did not take place until May 13.

Here are some figures, which will give you a notion of how the Congregation of Holy Cross expanded in these early years. In 1840, we find foundations in Algeria; in 1841, in the United States; in 1847, in Canada; in 1848, in Guadeloupe; in 1849, in Italy; in 1852, in Bengal; in 1854, in Poland.

By 1860, three years after the approbation of the Constitutions, the Congregation of Holy Cross could count 77 establishments in France, 15 in the United States, 7 in Canada. At the same time, the Sisters of Holy Cross had established 27 houses.

Meanwhile the venerated Founder and the Congregation of Holy Cross underwent a series of severe trials caused both by internal problems and by the attitude of a Civil Government unfriendly to religious Congregations and to Christian education. However, these setbacks, sufferings and trials were the Calvary, so to speak, which lead to Easter morning; they were the prelude to even greater developments of the Congregation throughout the world and particularly in the United States and Canada.

Spirit of Holy Cross—the Present

Now what of Holy Cross in the present. The Congregation now has houses and activities in the following countries: France, United States, Canada, Italy, Eastern Pakistan, India, Haiti, Chile, Brazil, Spain and Scotland. In the Constitutions of Holy Cross, we read that the Congregation has, as its special end, first, the sanctification of souls by the ecclesiastical ministry, particularly the preaching of the word of God; second, the apostolate in the foreign missions; third, Christian education and instruction through teaching, the works of Catholic action, Catholic social activities and the apostolate of the press. Let us pause for a moment to see how the Congregation at present is realizing these various special ends approved by the Holy See. First of all, with regard to the sanctification of souls, we find Mission Bands preaching retreats and missions of various kinds in France, the United States and Canada, and Scotland. Lately, a very modern retreat house has been dedicated at Notre Dame, particularly for closed retreats both for single and married people. Holy Cross Priests are working in some 63 parishes throughout the world and in the Armed Services. The activities of the Family Rosary Crusade are already familiar to you. Suffice it to say here that the magnificent films on the Rosary, which have been produced in Spain, are being translated into all the leading languages of the world and will carry the powerful message of Our Lady everywhere. The television and radio programs, sponsored by the Family Rosary, cover the length and breadth of the United States. Another instance is the famed Oratory of St. Joseph, founded by Brother André, the great modern

Father O'Toole was elected Superior General of the Congregation of Holy Cross in 1950 and his official residence is at the Generalate in Rome, Italy. He is a Notre Dame alumnus of the 1929 class and was ordained to the priesthood in 1933.

Dr. Joseph M. Jenkins (right) receives his Notre Dame diploma, dated 1902, from Donald A. Doheny, president of the St. Louis Club. The presentation marked the highlight of the observance of Dr. Jenkins' 75th birthday.

N.D. Presents Degree to Doctor on 75th Birthday

Notre Dame doesn't often take a diploma to a graduate—most have to come to Notre Dame—but Joseph M. Jenkins, M.D., of St. Charles, Mo., is an exception.

The granting of his diploma was unusual in another respect, too: It took him more than half a century to get it.

Called from the University to his boyhood home in Uniontown, Ky., by the death of his mother in May, 1902, Joe Jenkins was unable to return for graduation exercises, because he didn't have the fifty dollar fare back to South Bend.

On Sunday, May 5 of this year, Donald A. Doheny, president of the St. Louis Notre Dame Club, presented the diploma, honoris causa, to Dr. Jenkins, on behalf of Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, C.S.C., University president.

It was the doctor's seventy-fifth birthday, and the diploma was only one, though one of the best surprises the day held for him.

For the presentation was made at a St. Charles Chamber of Commerce banquet, at which he was named that city's first annual "Man of the Year."

A general practitioner, Dr. Jenkins is in his fiftieth year of serving the St. Charles area, and has been active in civic affairs for the last 37 years, during which he has lived in the city itself.

It took an "emergency message" to get the guest of honor to the banquet, as he had planned to spend a quiet birthday at home with his family. He was unaware of the real reason for the call, until his black medical bag was taken from him, and he was escorted into the hall, to the applause of more than four hundred persons. The banquet guests had learned the identity of the "Man of the Year," only a few moments earlier.

Moved to tears by the ovation, the sight of many familiar faces and of course, Notre Dame's recognition, "Doc" became the principal figure in a program conducted in the manner of television's "This Is Your Life."

Among the evening's speakers was Rev. Paul C. Reinert, president of St. Louis University from which institution Dr. Jenkins received his M.D. degree in 1908. Father Reinert praised him as the "family" doctor, who specializes in "entire human beings," rather than in "one small part"; who sees the patient as an individual and considers his moral and spiritual welfare as well as his physical condition.

Both Doheny and Father Reinert lauded Dr. Jenkins as a credit to the institutions they represented, and to Christianity.

Known in St. Charles as a humorist and scholar, as well as a humanitarian and physician, Dr. Jenkins was lauded as a man who crowns his victories and good works with humility.

The Chamber of Commerce awarded him a plaque which reads, "In recognition of many years of untiring, devoted services to the community of St. Charles, Mo.," and gave him a portable television set.

A true Notre Dame man, Dr. Jenkins is an avid supporter of the University's ideals as well as its football team.

He is living proof that the diploma, whether it comes early or late, does not make the man. The man makes the diploma meaningful.

Community Cemetery of the Holy Cross Fathers and Brothers was the scene of final event on this year's annual Reunion Program.

Alumni Attend Field Mass On Class Reunion Weekend

The ALUMNUS requested permission to print excerpts from Father John Wilson's excellent sermon at the Reunion Field Mass. Father Wilson, '32, Assistant Director of the Province Development Staff, also was celebrant of the Mass.

This Mass is being offered here in the Community Cemetery as the official, spiritual, Alumni observance of the Centenary of the Papal approval of the Constitutions of the Holy Cross Fathers and Brothers. It is offered in adoration and gratitude to Almighty God for His manifold blessings of the past century on Holy Cross, and on Notre Dame since this is a University occasion. On this Pentecost Sunday, as we stand at the beginning of our second hundred years, we beg the Holy Spirit to continue His marvelously wise guidance here and in Holy Cross institutions all over the world. We offer this Mass for Holy Cross and Notre Dame dead—religious, lay faculty, students, alumni, friends—all over the world wherever they may be buried, in far-off countries, on battlefields, in peaceful cemeteries here at home. And finally, in a special way, we offer this Mass for the priests, Brothers and laymen who lie here in the Community

Cemetery and to whom we all owe so much as the architects and builders of our first hundred years.

This occasion, this quiet, peaceful place, these gray stone crosses marking the graves of our beloved dead—all these things combine to preach a sermon more eloquent than any human words. They speak of a century's accomplishments more effectively than any recitation of deeds and dates and names. What an occasion is this! Here we are, offering Mass on Pentecost Sunday surrounded by the graves of our pioneers, in the shadow of the institution which gave most of them birth, sent them forth for the glory of God, and the salvation of souls, and finally welcomed them home when their work was done.

We wander up and down these quiet, shaded paths and stop before the older graves in the cemetery, those of our pioneer priests and Brothers who laid so well the foundation for the world-wide fame of Notre Dame and the world-wide growth of their religious family, Holy Cross: Father Sorin, Fathers Granger, Corby, Walsh; Brothers Raphael, Peter, Bernard and all the rest. Here we can almost feel the spirit of Father Moreau, the founder of Holy Cross, who, though laid to rest in his native France, finds buried here many of his co-workers in the difficult early days.

We tarry longer before the graves of the men we knew and loved. Here we read a name, and smile as we recall a kindly sense of humor, a human touch that brightened the scene wherever its owner went—we are standing before the grave of a Father Farley or a Father O'Malley or a Brother Just.

Again we see another name and are filled with a sense of loyalty and gratitude to the old school that gave us this man and others like him—we are looking down on the spot where lies a Father Charles or J. Hugh O'Donnell, or Father Lavin or Brother Alphonsus.

Some men who lie here are famous—they have left a great mark on this place and their shadows have stretched across our land and beyond. But most of them lived quiet, obscure lives of devoted service. It is only in the sure perspective of history that we see the blessed accumulation of these many lesser lives making the others great. Without our so called "little men," our big men, Sorin, Cavanaugh, Zahm, Nieuwland, could not have been.

Notre Dame and Holy Cross face a great challenge today, and great opportunities. This challenge and these opportunities can be met in large part by more priestly manpower, priests who will work hand in hand with Holy Cross Brothers and, as always, with devoted laymen on the faculty and in administrative and advisory capacities. The future of our beloved University—as well as of all the works of the Holy Cross Fathers all over the world—is to a large extent in the hands of the 300 young men, and others who will join them, who now stand at various stages on the road to the priesthood. They deserve our daily prayerful support that they may keep faith with a glorious past.

Most of these priests, Brothers and laymen under these crosses, be it noted, said the words of their lives, softly, in a hidden manner—most of them did not shout. Yet their voices have joined together to produce a mighty hymn of praise, an "Ave Maria" heard round the world. In these critical, challenging days, our generation is called upon to add our verse to this Ave Maria, a song that the next century will swell to an even mightier crescendo for God, Country and Notre Dame, under the motto of the Congregation of Holy Cross: "Ave Crux: Spes Unica—Hail, Holy Cross: Our One Hope."

Students Form Committee To Contact High Schools

by JACK MARTZELL, '58

How can Notre Dame be certain of getting the best students coming from American high schools today? The search for the answer to this question has been the main reason for the formation of a new Student Senate Committee—the Student Committee for Enrollment Development. The aim of the committee is to formulate a program of high school student contact to be coordinated with the Director of Admissions and the existing and presently expanding Alumni programs. Working with the committee will be geographical clubs, the Senior Class, and various commissions of the Student Senate. The program, with its basic intention of working for and with the Alumni organizations, will consist mainly of four phases which can adjust to meet the specific needs of the Alumni.

The initial work of the program will begin in the fall of 1957 before the students return to Notre Dame. Specially appointed students will contact the high schools in his area which should be in session by that time. He will seek an opportunity to speak with outstanding students and gain information from the Administration concerning their top students. At the outset the areas of major concentration will be Metropolitan New York, Boston, Chicago, and Detroit; Northern Ohio (Cleveland, Toledo, and Akron); Fort Wayne, Indiana; Dallas, Texas; and Shreveport and New Orleans, Louisiana.

With the information thus attained, representatives of the committee will be sent to various schools with the intention of having meetings with outstanding students. This is one of the major areas of cooperation with the Alumni organizations — the personal contact with the prospective Notre Dame man. The students will be given a full brochure concerning the University and the representative will be well prepared to answer questions.

The third phase of the program will entail a follow-up of the beginning work by the representatives during the Christmas vacation.

The fourth phase will be the encouraging of top students gleaned from the meetings to visit the campus at the end of the semester. Thus they can see for themselves the opportunities that exist for getting a fine education as well as get the feeling of life at Notre Dame.

These four phases present the beginning work of the new student committee. Integration with and supplementation of Alumni programs will begin during the summer. By the fall of 1957 the intention is to have a well organized student-Alumni program that will be the answer to the question of how Notre Dame can assure herself of getting the top high school student.

GIFT APPRECIATION

Dear Father Cavanaugh:

Thank you kindly for your letter of April 2 acknowledging my small gift to the Foundation.

Starting out in the practice of law is no easy matter. The financial problems involved are only compounded by the demands placed upon the young practitioner by every conceivable type of charitable organization. You are no longer asked to give; you are told to give and in many instances precisely how much. All too infrequently the amount set is entirely disproportionate to the person's abilities.

I can truthfully say that I have never felt this way about the Notre Dame programs. The needs have always been legitimate and objectively presented. They have always been presented as invitations rather than demands.

I say these things because I want you to know that my gifts up until now have been necessarily small but they shall increase shortly as my capacity progresses but more so in appreciation of the attitude of mind and heart of yourself and your associate fathers in the Foundation's program.

John Paul Cullen, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and a member of the 1922 class, presented a valuable collection of Sherwood Anderson papers to the University Library on Reunion Weekend. He is shown making the presentation to Father Hesburgh.

Congregation of Holy Cross Observes Centennial of Vatican Approbation

Priests and Brothers of the Congregation of Holy Cross throughout the world began a year-long observance of the centennial of the Vatican's approval of the community's constitutions on May 13.

Bishop Leo A. Pursley of Fort Wayne celebrated a Solemn Pontifical Mass marking the occasion in Sacred Heart Church while the sermon was preached by Rev. Bernard I. Mullahy, C.S.C., assistant provincial of the Holy Cross Fathers' Indiana province.

A highlight of the observance was the ground-breaking ceremonies for the new $3,000,000 Moreau Seminary to be erected on the Notre Dame campus. Rev. Theodore J. Mehling, C.S.C., provincial, officiated by digging the first shovel of dirt at the site. Scheduled for completion in the fall of 1958, the building will house two hundred seminarians studying for the priesthood in the Congregation of Holy Cross.

The new seminary, like the old structure it will replace, is named for Rev. Basil Anthony Moreau, a priest of the diocese of LeMans, France, who founded the Holy Cross Fathers in 1835. This society of priests was later united with the Brothers of St. Joseph in the Congregation of Holy Cross. The community's constitutions were approved by the Holy See's Sacred Congregation for the Propagation of the Faith on May 13, 1857. Father Moreau was officially approved as a candidate for beatification on March 15, 1955.

The Holy Cross Fathers operate Notre Dame, University of Portland, Kings College and Stonehill College besides several other educational institutions here and abroad. They serve as missionaries, principally in East Pakistan, and as pastors and editors. The Brothers of Holy Cross administer St. Edward's University, and 36 high schools and boys' homes in the United States in addition to being engaged in missionary and editorial work.

CBS Awards $2000 Grant For "Cost of Education"

Columbia Broadcasting System Foundation, Inc., has awarded a $2,000 "cost of education grant" to Notre Dame in recognition of the executive post which John A. Schneider, '48, holds with CBS as general manager of its television spot sales. In announcing the grant, president Ralph F. Colin of the Foundation emphasized the importance of unrestricted gifts. "We believe that grants which a college or university can apply to its place of greatest need are grants which give the college or university the greatest help at this time," Mr. Colin said.

Schneider was one of 19 key executives who received recognition from CBS. Twelve colleges and universities benefited from these selections. The figure of $2,000 approximates the "cost of education" which is paid from an institution's endowment or other accumulated funds over and above the cost actually charged to the student. The CBS plan undertakes to "repay" independent colleges and universities in part on behalf of a limited number of executives meeting certain qualifications.

MIDLAND-ODESSA—Father Richard Grimm, C.S.C., was guest speaker on Universal Notre Dame Night in Midland, Texas. John Buckley is the club's new president.

John J. McLaughlin, '34, on behalf of the Class of 1938, presents check for $2,498.50 to Carleton G. MacDougald of Cranston, R. I., critically injured with his wife in an automobile accident in Virginia in September of 1955. Left to right, seated, are Mrs. (Catherine) MacDougald, Catherine Siena, 3; Martha, 2; Carleton, and Carleen, 4; standing, James M. McMullen, '36; Jack Curtin, '48, and McLaughlin, all of the Notre Dame Club of R. I. Charles 'Chuck' Sweeney, '38, former N.D. All-American end and now a South Bend business executive, was chairman of the drive.

Notre Dame is well represented on the faculty of King's College in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania. With an enrollment of 850 men, Kings was founded in 1946 and has a fine reputation as a center of learning. This group of Holy Cross priests and Brothers are assigned to the college. First row, left to right, are Fathers John Dupuis, Thomas Sheehy, Aloysius Cussen, George Benaglia, president, Richard Gorman, Herve LeBlanc, and William Donahue. Second row: Mr. Edward Hennessy, Fathers William Maloughney, Thomas Campbell, Edward Fagan, Augustine Peverada, Brother John Grimes, and Father James Kline. Third row: Fathers Eugene Jarczynski, Roger Quilty, Patrick Duffy, Thomas Feeley, Edward Hoffman, Brother Jerome Healy, and Father Daniel Lynch.

Fr. Cunningham Cited By St. John's Univ.

Rev. William Cunningham, C.S.C., '07, a member of the Notre Dame faculty since 1919, was one of 14 distinguished Americans honored at St. John's University, Collegeville, Minn., when the school awarded Centennial Citations as part of its 100th anniversary observance.

Father Cunningham was cited as "an apostle, ambassador and educational statesman." He was praised as a writer and editor and as dean of American Catholic higher education. The citation stated that "you have served with distinction on the Board of Review of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools; on the executive committee of the Association of American Colleges; and as vice-president representing the College and University Department of the National Catholic Educational Association since 1937."

The citation read, "In grateful recognition and appreciation for the service you have rendered American higher education, the Church, and the nation, the faculty and student community of St. John's University . . . takes joy in . . . presenting you with this award."

It's the BIGGEST!!

Father O'Toole

apostle of St. Joseph, whose cause of beatification is now before the Holy See. This immense Church—the largest in the western hemisphere—receives annually approximately four million pilgrims and visitors.

In the foreign fields, the Holy See has entrusted to the Congregation of Holy Cross, the archdiocese of Dacca and the diocese of Chittagong in Eastern Pakistan, as well as the Apostolic Prefecture of Haflong in the Province of Assam in India. In these Vicariates a substantial number of Holy Cross Priests and Brothers—many of whom received their education at Notre Dame—are carrying the message of the Church to the people of these countries.

In education the Priests and Brothers of Holy Cross have under their charge some 40,000 students. There are nine printing or publishing houses in the Congregation. There are seven homes for boys—delinquents or orphans, and one rather unique center for working girls in the city of Montreal, called the Centre Maria Goretti.

In general, the statistics are somewhat as follows: 1) The Congregation, administrative-wise, is divided into six Provinces, five Vice Provinces, three Vicariates, two Districts; 2) houses and activities number 260; 3) personnel (including the aspirants), about 3300; 4) the total family of Holy Cross, including the Sisters of Holy Cross, about 7500.

This brief recitation of facts and figures will give you a clearer idea of the working out in practice of the spirit of Holy Cross.

Spirit of Holy Cross—The Future

What of the future? It is of the very essence of any active religious institute to pioneer. When the pioneering spirit dies, then the zest and zeal and vigor of the Institute begin to decline. Certainly, pioneering is in the tradition of Holy Cross from the very beginning. Pioneering—which is another way of saying expansion—contributes new life and vigor to the community. It offers a challenge while, at the same time, it is an almost essential condition of vigorous life.

At the present time, thank God, vocations are coming in good numbers. We will continue our pioneering work, therefore, first of all, of course, in those directions suggested or indicated by the Holy See. You yourself know of the tremendous field there is in North America, particularly in the area of education—higher and secondary. Important as this is, there are even more important areas, more strategic areas, throughout the world. When you compare the facilities offered to Catholic young men and women in the United States, Canada and Europe for education with that which is offered, say on the continents of Asia and Africa, then you have some idea of the tremendous challenge which faces the Church and which faces the Congregation of Holy Cross as a Congregation within the Church. The greatest need today is obviously to be found on the continents of Asia and Africa. With the help of God, we hope to carry on the beautiful spirit of courageous pioneering that is so characteristic of the Congregation of Holy Cross.

Conclusion

In the beautiful mother Church of the Congregation of Holy Cross at Le Mans, there is found in the crypt a magnificent marble tomb executed by a French sculptor—M. Charlier. In it rest the remains of the venerated Founder of Holy Cross—Father Basil Moreau soon we hope to be raised to the honors of the altar. In another vast church in Montreal, in a black marble tomb lie the remains of Brother André—the Apostle of St. Joseph. The cause of beatification of this humble Brother is now before the Congregation of Rites in Rome. Both were gifted with great vision; the one foresaw a Religious Society the influence of whose Fathers and Brothers would penetrate throughout the world. His dream has come true particularly at Notre Dame. The other (Brother André) foresaw a great basilica rising on Mount Royal in honor of St. Joseph. His dream has come true. Father Sorin foresaw Our Lady mounted on a golden dome far above the tall willows that bordered the banks of St. Joseph's river. His dream came true. But these dreams and these accomplishments were based upon constant sacrifice and selfdenial, upon humility. They would have been impossible had it not been for the zeal and vision of Father Moreau who wrote the charter of Holy Cross at Notre Dame de Sainte-Croix over a hundred years ago. And so the spirit of Notre Dame du Lac—Our Lady of the Lake—Notre Dame, is the spirit of Notre Dame de Sainte-Croix—Our Lady of Holy Cross. Only because the pioneers of the Congregation and of Notre Dame were willing to stand at the foot of the cross in hardship and suffering and sacrifice, was it possible to raise the image of Our Lady to the glorious golden dome. There that image stands serene, visible to those who travel by the highways of air or land—a constant reminder to the thousands of students and Alumni who tread the quiet campus paths, of the true spirit of Notre Dame.

DALLAS—The Notre Dame Club of Dallas sponsored a city-wide Novena for world peace to Our Lady from May 4-12. A replica of the Grotto and an outdoor altar were erected on the campus of Jesuit High School. Total attendance was estimated by Chairman Sam A. Wing, Jr., as about 3,500. Members of the arrangements committee, shown in front of the Grotto, are left to right, John J. Moran, Joseph O'Rourke, A. D. Smith, Dave Cowdin, Jr., John Darrouzet, Mike Doran, Lancaster Smith, J. M. Reichenstein, Jr., Charles Lohr, club president Harold Tehan, club chaplain Monsignor William F. O'Brien and Wing.

Three Parishes Participate In Dallas N.D. Alumni Novena

A family novena honoring the Blessed Virgin and dedicated to world peace was sponsored recently by the Notre Dame Club of Dallas from May 4 to May 12. Bishop Thomas K. Gorman of the Dallas-Ft. Worth diocese officiated at the opening ceremonies on the front campus of Jesuit High School.

During each of the nine evenings three Dallas parishes participated in the services which consisted of hymns, Rosary, Memorare and Benediction.

The club encouraged family groups to attend and it was especially noteworthy that the suggestion was well received. General chairman of the arrangements for the novena was Sam A. Wing, Jr., past president of the N. D. Club of Dallas, and members of his committee included Msgr. William F. O'Brien, club chaplain; Mike Doran; Joe O'Rourke; Dave Cowdin, Jr.; John Moran; Lancaster Smith; John Darrouzet; A. D. Smith; Mrs. Charles Lohr; J. M. Reichenstein, Jr.; and club president Harold Tehan.

BULLETIN

Mrs. John J. Jordan, wife of Notre Dame's head basketball coach, died suddenly at home on June 24 of a heart attack. She was the former Miss Irene Howard, of Chicago, Ill., and was married to Johnny Jordan in 1936. Other survivors include her mother, two sisters and four brothers. A Memorial Mass was held at Sacred Heart Church on the campus before the body was taken to Chicago where funeral services were conducted in St. John the Baptist Church, two days later.

Prof. Robert Ervin, '36 Resigns From Lobund

Robert F. Ervin, '36, assistant director for administration in Lobund Institute, has resigned to accept a position as manager of research (Detroit) of Parke, Davis and Company, nationally-known pharmaceutical plant. Bob has been associated with the germ-free life research project in Lobund for the past 20 years and has assisted Professor James A. Reyniers, director of the Lobund staff, in the development of techniques for raising germ-free animals. He graduated from Notre Dame in 1936 with a B.S. degree in pharmacy and received a masters in bacteriology two years later.

As assistant director for administration on the Institute's staff, he was in charge of the physical plant, publications, public relations and the personnel engaged in this work. While he devoted himself almost entirely to Lobund research in recent years, Bob formerly taught bacteriological photography, personal and community hygiene and various laboratory courses at the University. He is a former president and secretary-treasurer of the Indiana branch of the Society of American Bacteriologists.

Bob was associate editor of "Lobund Reports" and was a frequent contributor to the "Journals of Laboratory and Clinical Medicine" and the "Journal of Documentary Reproduction."

In 1955 he won an award from the Chicago Dental Society for his work in the germ-free field. Ervin was elected secretary of the 1936 Class at the group's 20th Reunion last year.

Father George Holderith, C.S.C.

Celebrates 25th Year As Irish Golf Coach

Father Holderith has been coach of the Notre Dame golf team since 1933, and in those 25 years as the Irish mentor, his golf teams have won 165 matches, lost 61, and tied 11 for a winning percentage of .730, exclusive of ties. He is from Kokomo, Ind., and is the oldest coach from length of service at Notre Dame. Father Holderith has been instrumental in the great development of golf at Notre Dame, conducting many interhall golf tournaments, from which have come many of the varsity golfers. He has also sponsored exhibitions by well-known golfers on the University's Burke Memorial Course, such as the one featuring Jackie Burke and Jimmy Demaret last year. Father Holderith is a past president of the Association of College Golf Coaches.

This was the 28th season of intercollegiate golf at Notre Dame. In 1930, the first Irish linksmen went through a five-match schedule without defeat and were also undefeated in 1931. Four consecutive victories in 1932 gave them a consecutive victory skein of 17 in a row. The longest Irish winning streak is 22 consecutive dual matches from May 7, 1933 to May 11, 1935.

In 1944, Notre Dame won the N.C.A.A. golf title at the famous Inverness Country Club in Toledo. Notre Dame has entered the Nationals 18 times, winning once, finishing second twice, winding up third four times, and finishing fourth twice. Last year, the Irish finished sixth.

Individual honors have also come to men coached by Father Holderith. Win Day, 1936 captain, reached the quarterfinals of the 1934 National Amateur. Tom Veech, 1951 captain, equaled Day's achievement in the 1950 National Amateur. Tom Sheehan, a two-time Irish captain, set a new qualifying record in winning medalist honors in the 1939 National Amateur, and Tom Matey, the 1953 Irish captain, went to the semifinals of the 1951 N.C.A.A. tourney. Charles Thurn, co-captain of the 1957 team, was the South Bend City champ in 1955.

Baseball Nine Named Champs of Mid-West

The Notre Dame baseball team coached by veteran Jake Kline enjoyed one of its most successful seasons and went to the semi-finals of the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament before being defeated by Penn State. The Irish were crowned champions of the Middle West by surviving a double-elimination series in which the other participants were Northwestern, Western Michigan and Alma. Prior to the district four regional playoffs, Notre Dame had a seasonal record of 14 wins and 8 defeats. Although they started slowly in the spring taking only 4 of 9 games, the Irish finished strong by winning 10 of their last 13 contests.

Prominent players on the squad included co-captain Elmer Kohorst, senior, who won All-American honors the past two years and was the team's leading batter. Gene Duffy, sophomore basketball star, was one of the outstanding members of the baseball team as center-fielder. Duffy ran a close second in hitting honors to Kohorst. Jim Morris, junior right-fielder, Steve Johnson, senior third-baseman, Ed Hurley, senior second-baseman, and Bob Giarratano, sophomore right-fielder all were heavy hitters for Kline's team.

The powerhouse of the pitching staff was Tom Bujnowski, senior right-hander, who had an earned run average of 1.56. The number two pitcher was Chuck Symeon, junior right-hander. Jim Carideo, senior shortstop, was a three letter man on the squad.

New Mexico

The Notre Dame Club of New Mexico celebrated Universal Notre Dame Night Thursday, May 2 with a banquet at the Kirtland Air Force Base Officers Club. Universal Notre Dame Night is always a joyful occasion here in New Mexico because it gives us an opportunity to renew old acquaintances with our out of town members who because of distance are prevented from attending the club's regular meetings. As for renewing acquaintance, we were greatly pleased with the presence of FATHER GRIMM, our Notre Dame representative, whom many of us pleasantly recall in our sojourn through Notre Dame.

After an excellent meal, our president LOUIS LUJAN presented our former president CECIL JORDAN with a memento of the club's esteem for his efforts in organizing the Notre Dame Club of New Mexico.

A talk by Father Grimm on the history of Notre Dame (which is never too often repeated), and a color film on The Notre Dame Spirit (which brought a mist to the eye of many a rugged alumnus) were the focal points of the evening.

As well as our own FATHER BUTLER, among our honored guests was FATHER KELLERHER, S.J., Pastor of Immaculate Conception Parish in Albuquerque.

Rome

In Rome sixty N. D. alumni, former students and friends gathered for the 34th celebration of Universal Notre Dame Night on Sunday, April 28.

The theme of this year: The Congregation of Holy Cross, was supremely highlighted here by the presence and participation of the Congregation's Superior General, VERY REVEREND CHRISTOPHER J. O'TOOLE, C.S.C. Father General gave an excellent talk on the nature, history, and mission of Holy Cross as well as an account of its work in our time. (Ed. note: Father O'Toole's comments are printed in this issue of the Alumnus. J.C.) The Rome Club feels especially honored this year in having the Superior General as its honored speaker on this theme.

To give local focus to the Holy Cross theme, BROTHER LOYOLA CHRISTOPH, C.S.C., Headmaster of Notre Dame International School for Boys in Rome, gave an account of the progress of the school, sketching the plans for the forthcoming new buildings and grounds for NDI. A large architect's drawing was also displayed.

Following last year's precedent the Rome celebration was held as a matinee affair in order to accommodate the numerous alumni who are priests and seminarians studying in Rome, for Rome has an ancient clerical curfew! Accordingly the program was held outdoors under Roman palms in the palatial gardens of the Palazzo Brancaccio.

A cold buffet supper was served to the tune of a musical trio who were clad in borrowed monogrammed football sweaters from NDI. Notre Dame banners and pennants served as a background while holding the center position of the area was a marble statue of Our Lady, a close model of the original atop ND's Dome.

Guests of honor, in addition to the speakers were: REV. BERNARD RANSING, C.S.C., Assistant General; REV. EDWARD HESTON, C.S.C., Procurator General (Club Chaplain); BROTHER THEOPHANE SCHMITT, C.S.C., Treasurer. REUNION REGISTRANT

J. ARTHUR HALEY.

Your secretary quickly learned that everybody in the class likes to read the class notes in the Alumnus but very few like to take the time to send in news. I also noticed that some of the classes were able to present a lot of it. In following this up, I called on "LOU" BUCKLEY, who is doing a swell job as secretary of the '28 class. He suggested the questionnaire which I recently sent out. Here are some results:

WILLIAM "WADE" SULLIVAN, of Algona, Iowa, an AB at Notre Dame spent a year at the University of Iowa Law School. He is now postmaster at the old home town of Algona. He is also a director in the Security State Bank in Algona. Aside from these business interests he is the owner and manager of two farms. (A gentleman-farmer, I'd say.) Wade was married on July 2, 1931 and has two daughters, Sheila, 21 and Molly, 18. Sheila graduates from St. Mary-of-the-Woods with a B.S. in Elementary Education in June 1957 and will teach in the public school system in Minneapolis. Molly graduates from Algona High School in May 1957 and is entered at Loretta Heights College for Women in Denver, Colorado. Wade is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and president of the Algona Country Club for two terms; he has been a director of this club for 15 years. He sees HAROLD P. KLEIN, vice president Iowa-DesMoines National Bank and casts aspersions at his golfing. Harold has a son at Notre Dame. Wade saw DENNY O'NEILL when he was the speaker at the Commencement Exercises at St. Mary-of-the-Woods. Also saw WALTER TOUISSANT, '28 and JUDGE HOWARD, '23 of Indianapolis. Wade would like to hear from DAN BRADY.

RIGHT REV. MONSIGNOR WILLIAM DEMPSEY GREEN, whose home was in Burlington, Iowa while he attended Notre Dame is now doing important work in his home state. After Notre Dame, in 1930, he received M.A. and S.T.B. degrees from Catholic University, Washington, D. C. and from Columbia University in 1940. Apparently he is doing double duty as Pastor of St. Philomena's Church in Dubuque and as Editor and General Manager of "The Witness," Archdiocesan newspaper.

MEREDITH HENRY DOYLE, from Menominee, Michigan, received his L.L.B. at Notre Dame. He spent three years, 1921 to 1924 at the University of Michigan. Meredith is not married. At present he is State Court Administrator and his business address is The Capitol, Lansing, Michigan. Before his present position he was prosecuting attorney, Menominee county in 1933 and 1934, assistant attorney general of the State of Michigan, 1941 to 1953, special legal advisor to the governor of Michigan (Honorable Harry F. Kelly) 1945, and took his present position on November 1, 1953.

We were saddened to learn of the death of VICTOR W. LABEDZ on January 22, 1957. We sent condolences of the class to Mrs. LaBedz and arranged to have a Mass said for the repose of his soul.

FRANCIS A. KLEIN, who came to Notre Dame from St. Louis, Mo., is back there now and is Book and Music editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. He was married on August 6, 1929 and has a son, RICHARD KEITH, 26 years old, who graduated from Notre Dame in 1952. Richard is now in the advertising department of the American Investment Co., Clayton, Mo. To the question about which of his classmates he hears from he answered: "They must all be dead; no word for years from any of 'em." Let's show Frank we're not all "daid" yet. He would like to hear from "DOUBLE I" PROBST.

CHARLES P. MARGUET, B.S.M.E., came to Notre Dame from New Albany, Indiana, down on the Ohio river. He is now President of the New Albany Box and Basket Company, manufacturers of all kinds of fruit packages and baskets. Charlie was married in June, 1932, and has three children, C. Patrick, 24; Mary Ann, 23 and Margaret, 21. Pat got a B.A. in Business Administration from Bellemore in 1955 and is now with Charlie in the basket business. He sees ANDY CONLIN, ROGER NOLAN and DOC GLEASON occasionally. We missed you at the last reunion, Charlie. Hope to see you there in '61.

JOSEPH STANLEY DIENHART was at Notre Dame from 1922 to 1925 and came from Lafayette, Frank Lonergan, '04, 'Man of the Year'; club president Hugh Lacey, Jr.; Rev. John T. Biger, C.S.C.; and Rev. Arthur Hope, C.S.C., guest speaker.

At present he is assistant director of athletics, assistant football coach, assistant basketball coach and business manager of the golf course at Purdue. Joe married Martha Alice McCoun in Indianapolis on June 29, 1929. They have two daughters, Joanna Marie (Dienhart) Mahoney, 24, Margaret Suanna, 18 and one grandson, Anthony Joseph Mahoney. Joanne graduated in Home Economics from Purdue in 1954 and "Susie" is attending Indiana University. Joe is a member of the Elks Lodge, Phi Delta Theta Fraternity, Blue Key Honorary Fraternity, National Football Coaches Association, National Basketball Coaches Association and Lafayette Chamber of Commerce. Joe is the author of a college textbook, "An Approach to Better Officiating," copyrighted in 1956 and published by the Purdue University Printers. His roommates at N. D. were CLEM CROWE and CHAS. "CHUNK" MURRIN. He would like to hear from them and others. According to Joe, Clem is head coach at Vancouver, B. C., in the Canadian Football League. He also said that JIMMY "RED" GLYNN of Indianapolis called him on the phone last fall and said: "It's sure good to hear your voice and talk with you, as I just heard 10 minutes ago that you were killed in an air accident in Northern Indiana." Happily, this was a false report.

WILLIAM L. DERGAN, originally from Terre Haute, Ind. is now a sales correspondent with the Linde Company, Chicago. He was married in 1938 and has two children 16 and 14. Bill attended the University of Dayton before he came to N. D. He would like to hear from HOWARD WEIMERSKIRK, his roommate.

On a recent trip, while in Akron, Ohio, I called FOREST J. SWARTZ. On the day I called, Forest was coming down with the flu; also, he had just lost his father, J.V., at the age of 87. We had quite a nice chat. Forest is now acting president, general manager and treasurer of the J. V. Swartz Company, a wholesale confectionery which his father founded. He is also a director in the Burkhardt Consolidated Co. of Akron, a company run by WM. G. BURKHARDT, '35. He was married in Aug. 31, 1932 to Helen Louise Moore, who he says "is still the boss." They have three children, Linde Ann, 17; Nancy Ann, 13 and John Charles, 8. Linde Ann graduates from Buchtel High this year and will attend college next. Forest is a trustee of the Akron Rotary Club and is very active in marine navigation, which he follows as a hobby. In 1940-41 he was commander of the Akron Power Squadron, a unit of the United States Power Squadron. Presently he is instructor of Marine Navigation (Celestial), and of Advance Piloting for the Akron Power Squadron.

We all hear from him by card. We all look forward to those five-year, all-out wing dings. I will say it doesn't take as much to poop out the old gang as it used to about thirty years ago."

HAROLD COSGROVE AND WILLIAM DAILY.

I wish to extend our sympathy to Judge John Lyons on the death of his father in Chicago early in May. ED RAFTER, HAL REYNOLDS, TOM JOHNSON, ED McSWEENEY, and your class secretary were among those who called at the funeral home to express our sympathy.

Congratulations to our classmate, PAT CANNY, on his election as president of the Alumni Association. It is the first president of the Association the Class of '28 has had since TOM BYRNE served in that capacity several years ago.

The Class of '28 cocktail party last fall was so well-received that I have arranged for another one at the Morris Inn following the Pittsburgh game on October 26. These get-togethers give us an opportunity to meet the wives of classmates. Incidentally, I have found the wives of '28 men to be the best supporters I have of this column. Please plan to attend this affair and bring along your wife and friends.

I had occasion recently to use the Tulsa telephone directory and located the address of LARRY ENGLERT. A letter to Larry brought an enthusiastic response. He operates the Larry Englert Drug Store at 2556 E. Admiral Place, Tulsa, Okla. Larry has two daughters, ages 19 and 12 and two grandsons by a step-daughter. Since Larry received his Ph.G. degree in 1927, he is listed in that class, so we have not been in touch with him. Larry inquired about JOHN ANTUS, LEO McINTYRE, VINCE PERIOTE, JIM SEXTON, WILLARD WAGNER, MARCUS FARRELL, STAN GRINAGER, SAM RICHARDSON, PAUL FRY, BILL PLUGHEL, GERALD SHEIBLEY and several others. Drop Larry a line urging him to return for our 30-year reunion.

Dick has four children, ages 13 to 25 and two grandchildren. One son is at the University of Maryland and another at Catholic University. Dick plans to attend our 30-year reunion.

ANTHONY BENNING is with DuPont in the chemicals research division. Tony is still single and lives in Woodstown, N. J.

JOHN EGAN wrote a newsy letter from 42 Brook Street, Wellesley, Mass., as follows: "I see AUSTIN (DUTCH) HOLLAND quite often. He is a very close friend of mine. He is a manufacturer's representative in sportswear and has three lovely children, living in Wellesley Farms not far from me.

"JERRY CROWLEY lives in Wellesley also. He is in the insurance business and the father of two fine children.

"CHARLIE COLTEN I see occasionally and he is connected with the State of Massachusetts at the Myles Standish Hospital. Charlie is the proud father of one boy.

"I also see from time to time ED BRENNAN who lives in the "mountains" (Berkshires) in the western part of the state. His oldest boy is quite a baseball player for Holy Cross.

"DR. JOE CONWAY is a successful practicing dentist in the neighboring town of Needham. We see his family frequently.

"SMOKEY KELLEHER is coaching hockey and teaching English at Cambridge Latin High School.

"JOHN MacMANMON is head of the State Highway Beautification Dept. and has a 'thriving' florist business in Lowell.

"FRANK HOLLAND visited me from New York recently and we had a fine time reminiscing one evening. He has been transferred to Washington by his employer, the Grace Steamship Lines. His family consists of two girls and one boy."

Thanks, JOHN EGAN, for bringing us up to date on a number of fellows from whom we had not heard in some time. John has been married since 1930. He is a buyer with William Filene's Sons Co. in Boston. He is also vice president of Filene's Cooperative Society.

JIM BERRY is a farmer and a justice of the peace near Stanley, N. Y. Jim has four children, ages 10 to 26. ROY E. WENDELL, '50

The appointment of Roy E. Wendell to direct the public relations program of the world-wide Army & Air Force Exchange Service with headquarters in New York City was announced recently by Maj. Gen. Harlan C. Parks, USAF, Chief of the Exchange Service.

The Army & Air Force Exchange Service is the self-supporting system of stores and services which serve military personnel and their dependents at over 11,000 outlets throughout the world.

As Chief of Information Services, Roy will be responsible for all public relations policy formulation and program development of a $1 billion a year business.

As staff advisor in public relations matters to General Parks, Information Services reviews all management policies and programs for public relations impact.

Five years ago, when he joined the Exchange Service, Roy's principal functions were in writing, designing, and production guidance. Currently, he is more directly concerned with policy in his new assignment.

He has also been active as a freelance writer with articles published in national magazines, including the Catholic Digest, Magazine Digest, Kiwanis Magazine, and others.

Roy, his wife Jean, and their two daughters, Gail and Carol, reside in East Meadow, L. I., N. Y.

cessful career festival in which 60 firms and organizations participated and which was attended by some 20,000 students from over 150 schools.

FRANK DAVID left Yankeeland to rejoin the rebels. He joined his brother Tom, '34, in his consulting engineer firm, Pan American Engineers. Frank's new address is 5711 Navaho Trail, Alexander, La.

TOM LAVELLE sent a clipping from page 35 of the April 1957 issue of Dun's Review and Modern Industry which contains a picture of J. F. "SAM" DUNNE, Mill manager, Farmer's Rice Growers Cooperative, West Sacramento, California. The last time I heard from Sam he sent me a note on his culinary creation, "Creamed Trout on Rice." He has two children, ages 9 and 11. Thanks, Tom, for the clipping. I wish all classmates would send me clippings referring to classmates.

VINCE CARNEY spent three months this winter in Europe. He has some wearing apparel plans for our 30-year reunion which will again set a precedent for class reunions at N. D. You will recall that Vince and WILLARD WAGNER introduced the famous class caps at our 20-year reunion and the shirts and ties at our 25-year reunion.

Plans are being made for a class of '28 retreat at the new Lady of Fatima Retreat House on the campus. The group is limited to forty members. There are individual rooms, heated and cooled, each with private toilet and shower. Chapel, lounge with library, and dining hall with connecting kitchen, are all in the same unit with the rooms. Dinner is served Friday evening and shortly after the noon meal on Sunday, the retreat ends. If you are interested, drop a line to JIM ALLAN, 4750 Sheridan Road, Chicago 40; or RAY MULLIGAN, 111 West Washington Street, Chicago 2.

JACK CANIZARO reports from Jackson, Mississippi, that his son has been accepted at Notre Dame this fall. He will attend our 30th reunion. TROY BONNER has been elected president of the Jackson Municipal Golf Association. Troy is still with the Veterans Administration in Jackson.

BILL DAILY, Branch Manager for the Employers Mutual Liability Insurance Co., who is located in Atlanta, Georgia, suggested that it would be a fitting tribute to Father Matt Walsh if the class of '28 would subscribe a sufficient amount of money for a room in the new Moreau Seminary to be designated the Father Matthew J. Walsh room. This proposal, as well as others, submitted for the "Living Chair" program and for a scholarship fund, are being considered in connection with our 30-year reunion program.

I called at the funeral home in Chicago on May 12 to express our sympathy to PAT VARAVETO on the death of his father. Pat is an architect with Lockheed Aircraft Corp. in Burbank, California, and lives at 657 West Broadway, Glendale, Cal. We had the opportunity to meet Pat's wife and his six-month old baby. Do any classmates have a younger child? Pat mentioned that he heard from Professor Kervick recently. Pat expects to be present for our 30-year reunion.

ED RAFTER reports that he saw the following '28 men at the Chicago-N.D. Club meeting on Universal N.D. Night: ED McKEOWN, JIM ALLAN, HOWIE PHALIN, BILL CARNEY, HAL REYNOLDS and RAY MULLIGAN. Since I was teaching a class that evening at Loyola University, it was impossible for me to attend.

FRANK CREADON informed me of the sad news of the death of the wife of DON CORBETT of Rochester, N. Y. Don has five children, ages 7 to 20. His two older boys are students at Notre Dame. Don was married in 1935. He practices law in Rochester and served as a member of the Assembly in the New York State Legislature in 1934-36. I wrote to Don extending our sympathy.

I noted that JOE BREIG's regular article in the Ave Maria was devoted to the subject of "The Sad Happiness of Grandpa" in the May 18 issue. As Joe states it, "For a couple of years I have been the grandfather of a granddaughter. Now I am also the grandfather of a grandson." I recommended the article to my fellow grandparents in the Class of '28. As you know, Joe is assistant managing editor of The Catholic Universe Bulletin in Cleveland and is the father of five children. Joe is also associate editor of the Family Digest and Our Lady's Digest. He is the author of five books, including "God in Our Home," "The Devil You Say," "My Pants When I Die," "Under My Hat," "A Halo for Father," and "Life with Mary."

BERNIE GARBER has suggested that classmates in the larger cities hold a '28 dinner with wives. These affairs could be very informal with cocktails and dinner, but no speeches, honored guests, etc. The idea sounds good to me. If you agree, will you arrange such a get-together in your city some time soon. I am depending on the wives to make certain that action is taken on this

SPOTLIGHT ALUMNUS

FARIS N. COWART, '34

The chairman of the Dade County Commission (Florida) is Faris N. Cowart. A Coral Gables accountant, Faris has been a prominent civic leader for many years. After graduating from Notre Dame, he took special courses at Michigan State University and also from the LaSalle Extension University in Chicago.

He not only is chairman of the Dade County Commissioners but he also serves as chairman of the Port Authority Commission and Civil Defense, all in Dade County.

Prior to establishing his own business in Florida, Faris had varied experience including accountant with the National Dairy Products Company in Detroit; athletic director in the Department of Public Instruction in Lansing; tax representative, public accountant and state auditor in Lansing; special agent for the U. S. Department of Labor, Washington, D. C.

He is state governor for the Notre Dame Foundation in Florida, director of the Greater Miami Boys' Drum and Bugle Corps, a past president of the N. D. Alumni Club of Miami, a past Grand Knight of the Knights of Columbus, and a director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Faris was named Man of the Year by the Miami Club in 1952 and was recognized as "Outstanding Catholic of Florida" two years ago by the National Conference of Christians and Jews. He is married and the father of three girls and one boy.

proposal. Please send me a news item with pictures as soon as you have held one of these get-togethers in your city.

I hope to meet with our President FRANK CREADON to make plans for our 30-year reunion as soon as I can corner him in Chicago. He has attended Metropolitan Life Insurance Company meetings in New Orleans and Bal Harbour, Florida, recently and a meeting of the American Mosquito Control Association at Miami Beach. Frank talked to GEORGE COURTY there. Incidentally, Frank's son is following in his dad's footsteps as a member of the N. D. Glee Club. Frank still is a member of the famous Paulist Choir in Chicago.

Our 30-year reunion will be held on Friday, June 6, Saturday, June 7, and Sunday, June 8, 1958. Please mark your calendar accordingly and make plans to be with us for a great weekend. We expect this to be even better than our famous silver anniversary reunion in 1953. Drop me a line now advising that you will attend and letting me know you are willing to help in carrying out our promotional plans to assure another record breaking attendance.

(Ed. Note: Your class secretary was honored guest and principal speaker at a recent luncheon held during a two-day institute conducted by the Illinois International Association of Personnel in Employment Security and Knox College, in Galesburg, Ill. According to the Galesburg Register-Mail, Louie was also one of the speakers on a panel session. JC)

From the Alumni office:

JAMES A. ALLAN has been named third vice president of Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Company and American Motorists Insurance Company. He has also served as a member of the Workmen's Compensation Committee on the Industrial Commission of the Chicago Bar Association. He was promoted from assistant secretary of the companies to his present position.

Again the labor of love for dear old '31. Our reunion must have taken a lot out of some of the old men of our class judging from the dearth of news during the past year. However, there are a few who do manage to respond to postcards and calls for help from time to time. We never see or hear from NORBERT STARSHAK, Walgreen Drug executive in the big city, but Mrs. Starshak is active in helping Notre Dame High School according to an article and picture in the Chicago Tribune recently. While in the loop recently I ran into GEORGE COURTY, '30 who was visiting his old haunts for a few days. George looks fine and at present is occupied with interests in Miami, Florida.

Among the faithful '31 correspondents are JIM and Marie McQUAID, who by the time of publication of this column will have returned from their pilgrimage to the grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes. "Just because we didn't write and 'complain' is no reason for you to think we didn't miss your usual wonderfully newsy column in the Alumnus. We did, but like you, we must have been just too busy to take time to drop you a line, and then too I figured you had done such a splendid job on getting the 25th Reunion off and over with such enthusiasm you were enjoying a well deserved rest from the reporting. Jim asks that I thank you for the subscriptions you sent. We are terribly excited about our trip and seem to live in a constant stage of goose pimples, half the fun is getting ready. We leave Chicago Saturday, June 8 from Midway via Pan American. We plan to drive up to Chicago Friday morning after Mass and Holy Communion and will stay overnight at a motel close to the airport leaving our car there until we return. JIM ARMSTRONG has written to VINCE McALOON in Rome and Vince has written a wonderful letter telling us he will be happy to meet us in Rome and that we will be surrounded by "warm Notre Dame friends." This all sounds like a dream, Jim, and I still feel that some day I will wake up and find it is a dream! I am rather thrilled about an arrangement in Lourdes. I felt that someone would be thinking of Jim while there (one of the volunteer helpers who care for the sick, taking them to baths, services, etc.) so I wrote Sr. St. Patrick (whose name was given to me by Francis Cushing in Indianapolis) asking her to plan on giving me a job to do among the sick while I was at Lourdes. I am happy to say that Sr. St. Patrick was happy to have extra help that week as they are expecting a very large English-speaking pilgrimage. Incidentally, FRANCIS CUSHING is in Sunnyside Sanitarium in Indianapolis and I am sure he would enjoy hearing from any of the boys whom he knew at N. D. He made a solo pilgrimage to Lourdes last year and plans to go again this summer. He has tuberculosis, but manages to remain very cheerful and we have had some wonderfully helpful letters from him about our trip. You know we feel that our "miracle" has already happened, being able to make the trip, so this will truly be a Pilgrimage of Thanksgiving. Please remember us in your good prayers, especially June 11th to 15th. We do hope you can make it down to see us off. Jim will need all the bolstering he can get for he was a bit apprehensive about flying, but I know Our Lady will take care of him." Our prayers go out to Jim and to Marie for a tremendous outstanding job she is doing for him.

In a copy of "Broadcast" published by RCA, I saw the smiling face of JOHN FORD MEAGHER as one of the participants in an engineering conference for the 1957 NARTB Convention held in Chicago. No more plugs, Red, if you fail to phone the next time. EDDIE AGNEW has been one of the '31ers attending the Notre Dame Club of Chicago Monthly Luncheons held at the Western Society of Engineers on the first Monday of each month. However, he failed to show for Universal Notre Dame Night due to being snared by FRANK "TWEET" HOGAN, Drake Hotel dance band leader during our college days, into attending a Loyola Fathers Club meeting the same night. Among those attending UND Night at the Lake Shore Club were PAUL DUNCAN, AL STEPAN, DON O'TOOLE, GIL SEAMAN, RAY COLLINS, BEN OAKES, GENE VALLEE, TOM CONLEY and BERT METZGER. I drove home with LEO HODELL, '32 who is now a fellow parishioner in Evanston. I am serving my second term as treasurer of the Notre Dame Club of Chicago and am anxious to have the class of 1931 lead the classes in 100% payment of membership dues. If any of the local '31 men have forgotten to send their $5.00 check, please do so as soon as possible.

MATT GARRIGAN, ever faithful Detroitter, responded to my card promptly. "Hope this reaches you by the deadline, May 15th. News here is a little slim, but I'll try to see what is at the bottom of the barrel. Thought I'd run across some '31ers at UND Night here in Detroit, but nary a one did I see. Looked for Bob Massey, who usually shows up and we manage an annual visit, but no Bob. In fact I haven't seen or heard of him since the weekend last June. (Bob, the easiest way to keep up with Matt and your other classmates is through a letter to me for the column. I am sure you will send one for the next issue.) HENRY KOPEK and I managed to visit occasionally, in fact we and our respective spouses took in the Oklahoma A & M vs. University of Detroit basketball game and then finished off the evening with friends here at home. Henry feels and looks well and is busy with the laundry machinery business. MARTIN WIDER and I managed to see each other frequently living only a few blocks apart. Some of his younger boys drop in on Uncle Matt for a coke or treat. Right now Martin's oldest boy, Charles, is taking down the storms and putting in the screens. That is what I call having it made. Hit the fifty mark and be able to have classmates' children take over the chores! I talked to FREDDIE RAHAIM last December when I got stranded in Jacksonville for a while en route to St. Petersburg to see my father who was quite ill. Everything is OK with Fred and Jacksonville. I may be in Kansas City later this month and hope to contact Ben Oakes who I am sure is still there. This is it Jim. I hope it can be considered a filler. May see you on the Campus the weekend of June 7th." Thanks Matt for a fine letter. Ask Heine to work on the other Detroitters and send me a letter next month.

The Brooklyn dynamo manages to get around and as usual, JOHNNIE BURNS always has a lot of news for the old men of '31. "Turn backward, turn backward; O Time in thy flight." I've forgotten the author, but I'm all for the turning . . . to June 8, 9 and 10 of last year and a repeat performance of that grand reunion. It was so good, after 25 years, to see those CARROLL HALTERS, LOUIS ESPOSITO, BOB KENDALL, ART MARGRAF, and CHARLIE "RED?" McALEER and so many others of our wonderful group. It'll have to be Memory Lane from now on; here's hoping all of the pleasant moments were vividly etched. ED CUNNINGHAM, ED (SLIM) MAHON and yours truly were the only '31ers attending the N. D. Club of New York dinner dance on Universal Notre Dame Night May 3rd in the Park Lane Hotel. REV. JOHN A. CAVANAUGH, C.S.C., Honorable Robert Briscoe, Lord Mayor of Dublin, Ireland and Hon. Robert F. Wagner, Mayor of New York City were the principal speakers. It was good to see ED CUNNINGHAM down from Central Valley, N. Y. for a Notre Dame event once more—he's been away too long. TIM

ST. LOUIS—Albert J. Ravarino (center) has been named 'Man of the Year' by the St. Louis Club. The award is being presented by Club President Donald A. Doheny. The presentation was made as part of the Club's observance of Universal Notre Dame Night. Looking on are the Very Rev. Paul C. Reinert, S.J., St. Louis University president; the Very Rev. Theodore Mehling, C.S.C., provincial of the Holy Cross Fathers' Indiana Province and guest speaker; and John Higgins, president-elect of the St. Louis Club.

TOOMEY, '30 was our personal MC from cocktail hour to "Good Night Ladies." It was a wonderful evening. I spent the Easter weekend with BILL KELLY, '28 and his family in Rye, N. Y. We visited with the DICK BARBERS, and finally got the Judge out of his easy chair for a long walk in Playland and the beach. Didn't see FRANK McCULLOUGH, but Dick reports Frank and his family are well. JIM MULVANEY was in the city in early February. We got together for dinner one night and a visit to Long Island City to the Driscoll family, relatives of Jim. On his previous visit, in October, DICK BARBER, TIM TOOMEY and myself joined Jim in a very pleasant visit to Leone's, where genial Gene piles the food too high. JIM GALLAGHER's wife, Lorraine, suffered a heart attack last August. Her improvement has been steady, but very slow. Please say a prayer for her recovery. I hope this letter reaches you before the deadline, Jim. Please give my best to any of the boys you may see in your travels. My regards to you and your family." Thanks John for a lot in interesting news. Put my name down for a fall report on the football games.

From BOB GORE: "I was very happy to receive your card. Since JOHN SULLIVAN and myself constitute the entire '31 class representation in Ft. Lauderdale I am afraid there is very little to report on either of us. However, the Third Annual Notre Dame State Convention takes place May 3, 4, and 5 at the Sea Ranch Hotel and undoubtedly more men of the '31 Class will be present at this affair. I promise to buttonhole each one and forward any information they may volunteer." Don't forget that promise Bob as I can use it for the next copy. GIL SEAMAN was in Florida in April and hoped to see Bob, but apparently missed connections. GIL PERRY, whom Gil Seaman and I were the last to bid fond farewell late Sunday afternoon of the Reunion sends news from Pennsylvania.

"In response to your request for some news about the "31ers" in Wyoming Valley, Pennsylvania, I am submitting the following belated news:

DR. PETER CASTERLINE, ex 31 and "FRESHMAN HALLER" is practicing medicine in Wilkes-Barre, and is head of the heart department at a local hospital. He is married and has three daughters. He dabbles in the stock market, and reports that it, too, has a heart—a kind one. He keeps a light burning in the window of his summer home at Harveys Lake for all Notre Dames passing by.

DR. MAURICE REGAN enjoys a lucrative practice in the valley. He has two sons and a daughter. Maury hasn't changed much in appearance except for a few wrinkles. He gave the principal address at the Wilkes-Barre Club on Universal N. D. Night. By the way, he's sporting a new Cadillac.

BYRON PAUL KEARNEY, supervisor with the D. P. A., active in Legion circles, and a confirmed bachelor, contends that the belles at St. Hedwig's were superb "charlestoners" despite JOHNNY BURNS' contradictory observations. Incidentally, I visit with John via telephone when he rushes thru the region.

About me? . . . Well, I've been the supervising principal of the local schools for twenty years. Ten years ago I opened a furniture appliance store to provide extras. I have three daughters ranging in ages from 6 to 12. I intend to enroll them at St. Mary's so that I shall have an excuse to visit the campus.

Keep up the good work Jim.

—GIL"

GORDY SALMON sent some interesting snapshots with his letter. "These few snapshots are all that could be developed out of the two rolls that I took last year. Had intended to pass them on to you before this, but a severe case of Manana made it impossible. Regret that last year's successful production is not being repeated this June." Thanks much for the pictures and note Gordy. Among those recognizable in the pictures are: LEO KLETZLY, DON MIHAN, JOHN WEIBLER, JIM GALLAGHER, JIM DOWLE, NICK BOHLING, BILL LEAHY, JERRY CROWLEY, DICK BAKER, EMIL TELFEL, LARRY CULLIGAN, JOE WILK, GEORGE JACK-ABOICE, WALT DE BAENE, JOE BOYLAND, AL STEPAN, FRANK CHAMBERS, BOB MASSEY and someone inspecting the bags of ice cubes for the days construction work. DEON SUTTON, now at 1195 Marbro Drive, Memphis, Tennessee responded with a letter and news on ED. LABARTHE.

"Dear Jim,

Many thanks for your post card dated April 18, which, according to the postal stamp, managed to get out of the post office the same day.

You have done such a commendable job with our '31 Class affairs, I would like to write your Alumnus report for you but all I can tell you is about myself. Only my wife and a little fellow who just rang the door bell are really interested in me. (The door bell ringer thinks I am going to subscribe to his magazines)

I have recently returned from three months working my head off in various parts of Latin America. Outside of six and a half days work each week, the only thing startling that happened was that I went to Chile by mistake, during a minor revolution. I'm applying for a faintly colored purple heart because I almost ripped off my little toe, on the starboard side, trying to get to the window fast enough to see who was shooting who, outside.

In Mexico City, one of the younger members of our Alumni, SR. WILLIAM AHUMADA, has recently been promoted to an executive position in Celanese Mexicana.

I was unable to locate our old young friend, ED. LABARTHE during my last stay in Mexico City. It is dangerous to get in touch with Ed because he always only has time for a quick lunch. Along about four, when the vest buttons start popping from the food intake, Ed gives some kind of a secret Mayan signal meaning charge the bill to me and a fellow does not have much chance to pay for the meal a second time.

Jim, hope there are one or two words in the above worth publishing, which I doubt, but anyway, you are doing a great job so Thanks.

Best wishes,

Deon"

This winds up the current analysis of what's going on with '31. Please remember the requests for prayers for sick members of the families of our classmates. I hope all of you have a wonderful summer and will try to send your hard working secretary news for the next issue.

REUNION REGISTRANT
W. LAWRENCE SEXTON.

I have good news, '33's—our contributions are steadily mounting, and at the last trip to the vault by keeper-of-the-keys JOHN O'SHAUGHNESSY, amounted in the neighborhood of $1,000 . . . which, as TV comics are prone to say, is a fairly decent neighborhood. Lot's of precincts haven't been heard from yet, though—keep 'em coming, lads!

To get right into the main body of the news, I'm going to start quoting from some of the contributors. Unfortunately, most of them had no time to include any news notes, but I'm in hopes the litany of names and addresses will spur others on to more locquacity.

Outstanding among donors was EUGENE G. RAU, who gave the lordly sum of $100. Gene has two children, lives at 749 Scotch Plains Ave., Westfield, N. J., and is vice president and chief engineer of his firm. Thanks, boy!

We won't have space to comment on all the others, so let's just run them through:

F. GRANGER WEIL, 4344 Gratiot Avenue, Port Huron, Mich., four children, two grandchildren, executive vice president, Times Herald.

JOHN J. RYAN, RFD No. 3, Lloyd Harbor, Huntington, N. Y., two children, vice president and counsel, Republic Aviation.

The sales manager for Carrier Current equipment of General Electric Company's communication products department is Edwin W. Kenefake. Ed joined the GE Company in 1936, and has had a highly successful career with this organization.

Before he became associated with the marketing aspects of the company's communications branch, Ed obtained eight patents on various devices he developed as a design engineer. He has had more than two decades of engineering and marketing experience in the communications field.

While his headquarters have been in Syracuse, N. Y., for the past several years, he has traveled extensively in connection with his microwave work. Advisory assignments took him to Venezuela and Guatemala in 1954, and to India and Pakistan in 1956. He was one of the last persons to leave New Delhi when that area was ravaged by an earthquake and flood.

He leads a somewhat calmer life in Syracuse with his family of four boys and one girl and his wife Ann Marie. Mrs. Kenefake helped to organize the ladies auxiliary of the Notre Dame Club of Central New York and is a past president of that group.

Ed has been extremely active in alumni affairs having served as president of the Notre Dame Club of the Capitol District (Albany, N. Y.) and also president of the Notre Dame Club of Central New York (Syracuse).

See and hear from FATHER JIM DONNELLY at Lampasa now and then—he is doing a great job there."

(Which reminds me if this editorial voice may break in again—let's all say a prayer that Father Jim and his mission did not suffer from the tornado and flood that ravaged Lampasa a few weeks ago. I could find no mention of his name but all we had was AP coverage out East where I was on business at the time.)

JOHN M. BARRETT, 1757 Jackson St., Alexandria, La., construction engineer, U. S. Army, $25—thanks, John!

Some of the fellows sent letters as follows:
From LARRY SEXTON:

I often see FRED ZIETLOW who is the general manager of one of the largest plumbing and heating companies in the state. BOB LEWIS, formerly of Frankfort, Indiana, has been located here in Indianapolis for many years as assistant director of the F.B.I. The three of us, I believe, are the only members of the class of '33 residing in Indianapolis. This may exclude TOM MEHAFFEY, as I don't remember if he graduated with his original class. Tom and I both started in '28 but I was forced to lay out of school one year and I believe Tom missed a semester.

Besides golf as a hobby I endeavor to see eight or nine of the school's football games every year. I have only missed three home games at Notre Dame in the past seventeen years. Kindly tell JOE McCABE when you see him I again plan to have the same parking spot.

From ED SARGUS, Belmont Federal Savings & Loan, Bellaire, O.:

Enclosed is my check for $10.00 to help keep the ball rolling for the 1958 reunion.

I am sorry that I have been so lax in keeping in contact with Joe McCabe, class secretary, but with my release from the service and consequent marriage, and resultant family of three children it seems that every time one of the five year reunions came up my wife Betty and I were being blessed with a new addition.

You may or may not know that I went back to Notre Dame Law School in '49 to complete the last two years of law and it was quite an experience as you might suspect. I received my degree in '51 and passed the Ohio Bar the same year. Since then I have been in general private practice and have been blessed with good fortune.

While we were in South Bend I had hoped to get up to Chicago sooner or later and had planned on making a visit with you one of my first duties. It will certainly be a wonderful experience to get back and relive four wonderful years.

Incidentally, my office is in my old hometown of Bellaire, although our family home is in St. Clairsville (Ohio) which is on U. S. Route 40, and it would be a real pleasure to welcome you if you ever have occasion to be passing through.

From DR. BOB DONOVAN:

I have already pledged $100 to the Moreau Seminary Fund but am happy to enclose my contribution to the class fund.

Wouldn't it be nice to donate this class fund in honor of MOST REV. JOHN O'HARA, Archbishop of Philadelphia, whom we all remember fondly as "the Pope," our tireless Prefect of Religion.

At our summer home in Kennebunkport, Maine, we see the Crowleys a great deal and ADAM WALSH. We also hear frequently (understatement!) from JACK SAUNDERS, N. D. Foundation governor for Mass. ART McMANMON is still a big boy in size and general manager of Donnelly Outdoor Advertising since his graduation from Harvard Business School. JAMES O'DEA is the famous district attorney of our county—won his last election hands down. He is being boosted for next governor. Here's a thought for the reunion—why not appoint a lieutenant in each state to whoop things up?

Many thanks, Bob—swell idea. How about that, President Rohrs? (Incidentally, will try to call you in Arlington next time I'm Bay Stating.)

Well—that's all for now, class. Been a pretty good haul this time—keep it coming! And keep up your prayers also for classmates living and dead—I'm sure we can all use each other's prayers.

SPOTLIGHT ALUMNUS

JAMES L. O'DEA, JR., '43

In a major political upset, James L. O'Dea, Jr., became the first Democratic district attorney of Middlesex County (Mass.) in over half a century. After graduating from Notre Dame in 1943, magna cum laude, Jim received a bachelor of laws degree from Harvard and later was law clerk to Chief Justice Qua of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court.

He served with distinction in the U. S. Marine Corps during World War II, was wounded at Iwo Jima and was awarded the Bronze Star, Purple Heart and Presidential Unit Citation. Jim was elected to the Massachusetts legislature in 1949 and subsequently re-elected three other times. He was appointed Majority Whip, second in Democratic leadership, in the House.

While in the legislature he received an appointment to the Committee on Reorganization of the Correction System and was chairman of a special subcommittee studying prison systems throughout the country. Jim sponsored the new probation law in Massachusetts establishing certain standards for probation officers.

As district attorney he instituted a juvenile panel which caused a more effective disposition of youthful offenders.

Recently, the Notre Dame Alumni Club of Boston held a dinner in special recognition of Jim O'Dea. He is married to the former Carol Gibbons and they are the parents of four sons, James, Dennis, Brian and Kevin.

Especially keep the rosarys jingling in honor of Our Lady and Notre Dame.

P.S.—Your class secretary is in the advertising department of Kemper Insurance, Chicago (4750 Sheridan Road, LO 1-8000 . . . so if you get in to the city give me a call!)

P.P.S.—Here are some late arrivals:
JIM HARRIS, assistant football coach, Holy Cross University, Worcester, Mass.

BERNARD L. COUSINO, Erie, Michigan: "Glad to help your Reunion treasury a little. Am still in feed processing and farming. Have five children in four schools—our oldest, Neil, is now a freshman at N. D. When our Class Gift is decided, I will be happy to pay my share."

We're late again this time, gang, and we can only hope that your Editor will publish our copy. If this comes to you in the fall instead of the summer, you have no one to blame but your Scribe. We will try to be more efficient in the future. The deadline caught up with us before we were aware of it this trip to press.

A long phone call from BILL RYAN (confirmed by a letter) as well as lengthy communiques from FRANK HOLAHAN, ART CONRAD and a note signed "JACK P." (which leaves us in the dark) rounds out most of our material.

Let's start in with the earliest postmark. This note on the Morris Inn letterhead was signed by a "JACK P." No doubt our friend Jack expected us to recognize the handwriting. If we should know either it, or the name, we humbly apologize because we have drawn a great big BLANK. Anyway, here is what our anonymous writer had to say:

"Remember JIM KELLY, who was our Sophomore Class secretary.

"Jim is spending three months here at Morris Inn directing the campaign to raise $3,000,000 for the Holy Cross Fathers Seminary—a new Moreau Seminary to be built on the Campus.

"Jim is in the Public Relations and Fund Raising business and it is fitting the Holy Cross Fathers have one of their own to do the job.

"Jim lives at 63 Rodney Place, Rockville Centre, Long Island and said he would appreciate a note from some of the old gang.

"He sees JOE BITTNER, BILL MURTHA and BILL KENNEDY once in a while. He asks about the whereabouts of FRANK HOLAHAN and JERRY MERGARDT and BILL HELM.

"Jim and his wife Kay are the proud parents of two lovely children—both adopted—Patrick and Margaret Mary. Travel keeps him away from home so he wants the boys to write in case he gets to their home town."

We very much appreciated hearing from "JACK P." and only hope that he will identify himself in the future.

COLONEL HOLAHAN (Louisiana Colonel, that is) came through after a long silence. Frank seems to have been moving also, not only into a new home but around the country. Here is the Holahan report:

"I don't believe that I have written you since we completed our home in Chevy Chase and moved into it. We like it very much around here, and of course have long since been well settled. If you get to Washington sometime give us a ring, and we would like to have you out. As close as Baltimore is, we seldom get over there, and when we are there we are always in a rush as we were when we attended the Navy game last fall.

"Louise is in fine fettle as are our three youngsters. After seeing O'REILLY's and GRAVELL's family pictures, I hate to mention only three, but the Lord was not as good to us as to them. Johnny is a freshman at St. John's High School, a local military school operated by the Christian Brothers, and he likes it very much. Billy is in the fifth grade at Blessed Sacrament School, and Rita Louise, not yet three, keeps us all hustling. The boys are looking forward to attending N. D., of course.

The Robert Echenrodes, '48, Columbus, O., have an active household with these seven attractive children. Bob was named "Man of the Year for 1957" by Columbus alumni. The little Echenrodes include Anne Marie, 7; Susan, 6; Audrey, 5; J. W., 4; Nancy, 3; Molly, 2; and the baby, Marcy, 4 months.

"One of the attractions of my present position is that I should no longer have to travel. Within a few months in 1956, however, I covered more than 50,000 miles commuting to the west coast. This did give me a chance to make occasional stops with my mother in Galesburg and sister in Chicago and see a few of the '35ers. I stopped off at N. D. for the Purdue game, and who should be sitting beside me but PAUL FERGUS and his wife. We had a couple of libations and a visit at his home after the game. He has a very nice place just beyond N. D. as you may know, and a most pleasant family. The advertising business must be good. He has a daughter at Dunbarton College in Washington whom I have since tried unsuccessfully to contact a couple of times.

"I spent that evening with BILL RYAN and Elouise and their two talented daughters, and, as always, enjoyed the Ryan hospitality. Their new home is a dandy! Bill gave me quite a sales pitch about the coming reunion, and I must admit that I had previously been dilatory. I am sure we all spend $10 for many more foolish purposes.

"As I mentioned above, we attended the Navy game in Baltimore—Louise, our two boys and Ned and Jane Rowan, who were our guests for the weekend. Due to having the children with us and the baby waiting at home with a sitter we had to leave right after the game so did not have an opportunity to see you. The ROY SCHOLZ very kindly had the lot of us for an excellent lunch at their home where we enjoyed meeting their youngsters.

"On one junket to Fort Worth, San Diego, San Francisco, Reno and Chicago, Louise accompanied me. While we were waiting for our plane in San Francisco who should we see in the airport but VAIL CLIFF who, as you may know, is a big wheel with United Airlines. We had a visit with him while he waited for the postmaster general. A few weeks later I was entering the Cathedral in Salt Lake City, and once again met Vail. He surely has not changed much since 1935.

"On another trip to Salt Lake City I spent a very pleasant evening with PHIL PURCELL, having a grand dinner at his club with plenty of reminiscing inasmuch as I had not met him since graduation. You mention something in your column about his looking for a rich widow. Let me tell you, he had a mighty nice gal with him that night. He showed me through his business building, and it surely made me realize I should have been in the insurance business.

"CAMILLE GRAVEL and Catherine stopped in to see us months ago, and Camille promised to stop by after the election last fall, but we have seen or heard nothing from him—maybe he doesn't want to show his face since Eisenhower won so handily.

"We see the ROWANS occasionally in Wilkes-Barre. Ned is doing well as an insurance adjuster, and has a mighty fine little boy and girl. PAUL LOCHER, who was in our class as a freshman and sophomore, but dropped out to graduate a couple of years later than we did, lives near us, and we see him and his wife occasionally. He is professor of History at Georgetown University and seems to enjoy life with his wife and two children after many years of bachelorhood. CHARLIE HILL, '35, is an up and coming surgeon and also lives near us. I have talked with him on the phone a couple of times, but as yet we have not been able to get together. I understand he has six little ones now.

"Keep up the pitching about the Reunion. I surely am going to try my best to be there. You kinda startled me when you said in your column that we'll never have another one! What's the matter—RYAN and HAMILTON getting too old?"

Do you ever get up Baltimore way, Frank? (Other than a Navy game, that is.) We certainly would like to see you and Louise. Maybe we ought to have a reunion of Louisiana Colonels—are you for it?

It's been so long since we last heard from ART CONRAD that his "report to the nation" really gave us a lot of interesting material. As you will read in his letter, he is now, in addition to being president of the Heritage Foundation, also the director of Traffic Education for Chicago.

Counting Art as a close personal friend for over twenty-five years, we have always been fascinated by what happened to him. From time to time we have reported in this column his interesting escapades. Who can forget his Navy days when he was the President's special courier to Yalta. Things just happen to some people—and when they happen to ARTHUR LUCIUS they usually happen in a big way. Here is Art's story in his own words:

"Congratulations are in order to you once again for keeping up the good record for the Class of 1935 in the Notre Dame Alumnus. I read the magazine from cover to cover and I think we can be proud of the continued cooperation between us bums in the field, and our chubby class secretary.

"To bring you up-to-date on my own meanderings, attached is a copy of the GABRIELLE, a publication of St. Mary's College at Notre Dame, Indiana. You will notice in the second row a fat-faced individual named Arthur L. Conrad, who has just had the distinction of being elected to the Board of Lay Trustees at our sister school across the road. Sister Madeleva is a very persuasive and charming woman and it is difficult to say "no" to her. Virginia and I ran a centenary dinner last year and put some $14,000 into St. Mary's till through that effort. I never particularly scored at St. Mary's in 1935, except with my wife, and so I get quite a chuckle out of being a Lay Trustee at this late date.

"In addition to the above mentioned extra curricular activities, at the invitation of Chief Justice RAYMOND P. DRYMALSKI a member of the Class of 1928, I assumed the duties of Director of Traffic Education for Chicago. The first task in organizing this effort for the nation's second largest city has been the establishment of the Driver Improvement School. With the Cardinal and the Mayor in attendance, this school was opened in October 1956 after some tedious months of preparation.

"In a very short span of time, because of the gift of gab of the director, (a bow in the direction of the Wranglers)—a good deal of attention has been focused on this educational effort. We have had requests from twenty-five (25) cities across the nation for permission to copy the Chicago plan, and the Attorney-General in Canada has approved the system lock, stock and barrel. In May I will address the Canadian Magistrates Conference in Ottawa.

"This effort is most challenging, Hoch, when one considers that last year over 40,000 people were killed with these things called automobiles and one-million seven-hundred thousand (1,700,000) were injured. If you come out Chicago way I would be very happy to show you our modern classrooms, the curriculum and the other efforts that are going into the project.

"At the moment we are enlisting the support of the clergy, Catholic, Jewish and Protestant, in an effort to establish the moral responsibility of the man behind the wheel. Each of these denominations has proposed a "Motorist's Prayer." The Cardinal, Archbishop of Chicago has issued a short and the most effective pastoral letter in fifteen (15) years. He simply stated that it is a sin to disobey traffic regulations. The Jewish and Protestant efforts are equally good.

"On the Heritage side of the picture, we have published a few new purpose books: CHALLENGE OF LIBERTY by Robert V. Jones, and another Keller book entitled, THE CASE FOR RIGHT TO WORK LAWS, which is a defense of voluntary unionism. We are at the present time working on a manuscript by Colonel Augustin G. Rudd, entitled BENDING THE TWIG, which we hope to publish within the next month, and which deals with the attempt of the John Dewey's of the Columbia University Teacher's College to capture the minds of our young people. Other manuscripts are on tap and when the interest, funds, or both are forthcoming, we shall attempt to do our bit in providing the American reader with some thought provoking books.

"On the Catholic side, as you probably know, we published Monsignor John Tracy Ellis' article, AMERICAN CATHOLICS AND THE INTELLECTUAL LIFE in book form. I think this was one of the most challenging articles that I have ever read. I asked Bishop Wright of Worcester, Massachusetts to write the "Foreword" to the book. He did and its distribution has increased by leaps and bounds. We have continuing great plans for this important book. For example, Father Hesburgh has placed a copy of the book in the hands of each of the 400 faculty members at Notre Dame. We are hoping that we can get out a second edition which will place a copy of the book in the hands of every member of the Catholic Education Association. I hope then that Notre Dame will sponsor a symposium on the subject at some future date.

"About other folks of the Class of '35 seen and heard in this part of the country, I see my old buddy and room-mate JACK CLARK several times a week. He is setting an outstanding example of how to run a movie theatre in the middle-west. People have come from many sections of the country to study his operations of the Tiffin Theatre on the northwest side of Chicago. Jack has done an outstanding job. He, of course, has more irons in the fire, on a wide variety of projects, including a coffee machine company, than anyone I have ever known. He is just the same wonderful "guy" that you knew at school. Wonderful family—two boys and two girls. Mimi will be a freshman at St. Mary's, while his son John is a champion swimmer at Fenwick.

"Some months ago JAKE KUNZ stopped in Chicago on an auditing job and spent a night and a day with us. Jake has two boys, one of whom I have the privilege of calling "god-child." He and Dorothy have built a lovely new home in Oconomowoc, Wisconsin, and are growing grey at the temples like the rest of us.

"We are now looking forward to seeing the 25th reunion fund grow and if there is anything else that we can do here to stimulate funds, please call upon us. Our best to you and your wonderful family."

Our best to Virginia and the CONRAD gang. How about a trip east and a refresher at the Baltimore "whistle stop" so we can really hash over your life. Your last visit included your talk at the Lyric, as we recall. We can't avoid one comment, Art, it took several glances at the St. Mary's Board of Lay Trustees to find you. We rushed to a mirror to find out whether we looked that old. Slow down, man, you'll live longer! (Even our secretary thinks we look like a boy by comparison.)

BILL RYAN gave us a call one evening several weeks ago when he was in Baltimore on a flying trip for Associates Investment Company. Seems that Associates is expanding all over the country and Baltimore is no exception. Bill was here looking over new sites. On his return to South Bend he dropped us a note which we give you now:

"It was nice to chat with you while in Baltimore recently. I wish I had had the time to visit with you personally—maybe next time I can.

"The drought in the Alumnus last issue was concerning. It seems we ought to have something in it from somebody, somewhere. Here is a quick bit of information which may be worthy of print.

"I was in New Orleans a few weeks ago and spent a day at Alexandria with CAMILLE GRAVEL. Our Company is opening an office in his city so I combined business with the pleasure of seeing him again and meeting his wonderful family. Despite the lack of letters, Camille is not inactive in his duties as vice president of the southern division. He has a list of some 38 men in his territory and is in the process of contacting them by letter or personally in regard to the forthcoming 25th reunion. Camille is more than hopeful that the southern boys will get in back of our program even at this early date and show tangible interest by coming through with the "mazuma." We are looking forward to Camille's progress reports.

"I talked to JOE BEACH on the phone. Joe, as you probably know, is proprietor of the Beach Furniture Company as well as some allied companies and is one of our old standbys as far as interest in the class of '35 is concerned. He had some ideas to pass on to me which I will submit to JIM HAMILTON and DAN YOUNGERMAN.

"My future itinerary at this writing will get me to other parts of the U. S. over the next several months and I will keep referring to my trusty '35 directory to contact as many of the fellows as possible. You may be assured I will drop you a line as I get my additional information."

Appreciated both hearing from you and receiving your letter, Bill. Hope the next time you're in the east you will be able to drop out for a chat with a "cold one."

It is with a great deal of regret that we discovered that JIM HAMILTON's father died on April 11. To the president and his brother, Bob, we extend the very sincere sympathy of the Class of '35.

We note that the western Veep was busy early in May with his financial campaign. PHIL PURCELL got out a communique to all of his constituents on May 17. We will be interested to know the outcome of his campaign.

From a copy of the letter which DAN YOUNGERMAN wrote to CAMILLE GRAVEL we gathered that Camille, as the southern Veep, is also on the beam. We shall be interested to know the results of his campaign, too.

That leaves ANDY MAFFEI to report for the east. How about it, Andy, when do you start?

As you all know, ED VAN HUISSELING started this ball rolling some months ago. It would seem that this is our low period between reunions—low in interest, low in financial contributions. Let's get back on the beam for the big push in 1960.

Bob has accepted the position of manager for the Detroit research activities of Parke, Davis and Company. He starts his new job the first of August. ANDREW L. LOVE, '30

Andrew L. Love was appointed comptroller of the Western Union Telegraph Co., on April 10, 1957. A native of Ottumwa, Iowa, he received a degree in business administration in 1930 at N. D., and the following year was awarded his Masters Degree from Columbia University. Subsequently, he spent five years on the staff of the Columbia University School of Business as an instructor in accounting. During this period Andy collaborated with Messrs. J. L. Dohr and H. A. Ingraham in writing a textbook on cost accounting. In the fall of 1936 he became associated with Arthur Andersen and Company, public accountants, and left their employ to become assistant comptroller of Postal Telegraph Company, Inc., on April 1, 1940, continuing in this capacity until the merger of Postal Telegraph with Western Union in October, 1943. He has served in various capacities in the merged company and was responsible for the coordination of the company's budgetary control program, accounting methods and cost accounting prior to his recent appointment.

Andy is a member of the New York Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants. He resides at 79 Stratford Road, West Hempstead, N. Y., and is married to the former Amanda Frances Adams of Danville, Kentucky. They have a fifteen year old son, who is a sophomore in prep school.

REUNION REGISTRANT
ROBERT BOLZ.

There are still many of our class that I have not heard from and would appreciate if you would send me your questionnaire as soon as possible. Without your help and information our class news is nothing; with your help we can continue to make our report new, interesting and informative.

ROBERT M. ORTALE, is a practicing lawyer in Kingston, New York. Bob was on the campus for the Oklahoma game last year at which time he saw his roommate JIM MCGOLDRICK, AL KIEFER and TOM REARDON. He talked to TED FERICKS of Ohio recently and all is well with Ted.

JAMES J. RAAF, lives in Santiago, Chile with his wife and three lovely daughters: Mary Angela, 7; Barbara Ann, 4; and Maria Elena, 1. Jim is the manager of the International Machinery Company. Jim loves South America and states that Chile is the paradise of all the Latin countries. Although Jim only gets to the States every three or four years, he is planning on being at the campus for our 20th reunion . . . the Good Lord willing.

ED VAN HOENE is the manager of the systems procedures department of the Airborne Accessories Co. in New Jersey where he lives with his wife and eight very fine children named: Edwin Paul 14, Elizabeth 12, Martha Jean 10, Virginia Theresa 8, Clare Loretto 5, Mary Cecelia 3, Paul Joseph 2, and Catherine Marie 6 months. Ed, you must be mighty proud of that family. Ed saw JOE McKEON at N. D. Club meeting and PHIL SHERIDAN of Rutherford. He would like to hear from BOB BOLZ and TOM HOGAN.

MATT MERKLE is a Lt. Colonel in the United States Air Force, stationed in Wiesbaden, Germany. He has four fine children named Brian 13, Christine 9, Philip 4, Maureen 7 months. Matt has been stationed in Germany for three years and has seen a great deal of Germany. It is too bad I didn't know you were there because my wife Pat and I were in Wiesbaden in May 1956. We went through 11 countries. We'll have to get together and compare notes. Matt will be stationed in the PAS of the AFROTC at Notre Dame for the next three years. That is one way of being on hand for our 20th reunion. The last N. D. man Matt saw was Lt. Colonel LARRY SUTTON who was in Germany, but now has transferred to the Air Force Academy here in the states (See last issue for notes on SUTTON).

Sorry, but that is all the news that I have received from our class. I still have hopes of hearing from the missing clan in time for our next issue which goes to press in August.

In reviewing my last column I find that the opening sentence was "our sources of info are slowly responding." Apparently everybody relaxed because I have not had any correspondence from anybody since then. Let's get the old penmanship moving. Had dinner recently with JIM MORAN of another class who mentioned that he had seen REX ELLIS at some of the California ND functions. Rex is an attorney and practicing in the Los Angeles area. Also JOHN McINTYRE who is in the Navy; is now a Lt. Comm. and is apparently stationed in the Los Angeles area. I think I mentioned JOHN MARTIN in our column before but he comes in for a little extra publicity having become the father of twins since our last issue. This makes four children for the household. VIN RYAN was at the reunion and has been associated in business with BILL COLEMAN. At the present time Vin is living and working in California. LEO SANTINI I see, occasionally at one of the ND functions in the city. Leo's family have a prosperous moving and trucking business here in New York. JOHN SCHRODER from down Atlanta-way is now a member of the Jesuit Fathers. I don't know where John is located at the moment but knowing the Jesuits from high school I presume John is studying some place. MYLES WALSH is with the Lionel Corp. and lives out on Long Island. Have a 1940 scholarship check from NORMAN BOURKE. Norman writes that he has been teaching at Auburn College at Auburn, N. Y. and working on his Doctorate Degree. The contributions keep coming in and are always welcome. Have a note here that RED BOWLER met a friend in Chicago recently. Red was with the Joliet Arsenal for a while and is now with the Bridgeport Brass Co. doing sales work. We would appreciate a further word from these fellows with a little more personal data. Have some word that FATHER DICK FALLON is assigned here in N. Y. Dick is teaching at Bishop Du Bois High School, on the West Side. One of the principals involved in an unusual shipping venture this past year was HENRY DOWD. The Italian ship was washed up on the shore of Scituate, Mass. and was about to be abandoned when Henry and his group worked out a plan for refloating. There was an article in Fortune magazine about the venture. Will close with a plea for at least a card from your summer vacation. We are now badly pressed for info.

Your secretary has just returned from a wonderful two-week vacation spent on Miami beach. While at a party at La Gorce Country Club, I was talking with a man from Buffalo. I mentioned that I used to ride through that city on the train on my way to school; that it always looked so cold and snowy. The gentleman asked me if I was a N. D. man by chance and I said I sure was. He shook my hand and introduced himself as HENRY "HANK" BURNS, Class of 1929. He and his wife were also enjoying a little relaxation in the tropics. I promised to mention our meeting, and here it is. Mr. Burns has a son attending N. D. at present. Needless to say, we had a good bull session.

Well, the letters keep coming, thank goodness. After a little prodding, JOHN O'LOUGHLIN wrote a most welcome missile. John writes the following:

"GENE QUINN—three children; lives in La Jolla, Cal. Engaged in the plastic business. (Taught John how to play bridge when he was in Chicago.)

TIM LYNCH—also has three children; works for an insurance company; and a good N. D. rooter.

DAN BRADLEY—I have already received a swell letter from Dan; it was printed in an earlier Alumnus. (Ed. Note: Dan was recently elected 2nd vice president of the Detroit N. D. Alumni Club. He is Detroit district manager for Shell Chemical Co. —JC)

BILL MARSHALL—a patent attorney for Pure Oil Co. Recently moved to a new home in Chicago; told John that JACK LUCAS has a good position in one of the advertising firms in Chicago. (Sent a letter to Jack, but it came back; where are you Mr. Lucas?)

JAY REYNOLDS—five youngsters and another one expected. Jay was at the reunion, if my memory serves me correctly. John thinks Jay is in the steel warehousing business.

REN CUTLIP and his wife, Angie, (they hail from

SPOTLIGHT ALUMNUS

WILLIAM H. O'BRIEN, '40

The new vice president of finance at Shulton, Inc., nationally known manufacturer of Old Spice for men, is William H. O'Brien, a member of the 1940 Class. The company also makes pharmaceuticals, chemicals and other toiletries.

Bill, after graduation, was with the American Business Credit Corporation in New York City as a traveling analyst. He served with the 8th Air Force in England, Belgium and Germany during 1942-1945. After the war he returned to the ABC Corporation as an assistant to the president. In 1948 he was made vice president in charge of the company's Chicago branch.

For three years, from 1950 to 1953, Bill was vice president and director of Raybur Corporation (financial consultants) in New York City. Before being named vice president of Shulton, he was appointed comptroller in 1954. Bill is married to his Notre Dame roommate's sister, the former Dolores Smith, and they have one daughter, Maureen, 4. He is a member of the Comptrollers Institute of America, Notre Dame Club of New Jersey, American Management Association and has been active in various civic affairs.

North Bend, Oregon) visited Chicago in November on their way back from Dayton where they saw Bill Hoyne. Ren is in the ice cream manufacturing business, and also a frozen foods distributor. At a dinner party, the CUTLIPS, FRANK KENNEDYS, BILL STURMS (Haskins & Sells) and EMMET NECASES (Insurance) and BOB KENNYS (lawyer).

Ren and Angie were godparents for Kennedy's fifth child. (Hey, Frank; how about a letter?)

JOHNNY MEYER, of Danville, re-elected state senator and appointed to a really live committee—Public Utilities.

BILL MAUREY—lives in Ivanhoe with his family; works in advertising department of Archdiocesan newspaper, New World.

CLARENCE "RUBE" MARQUARDT (saw Rube at the reunion) an Oldsmobile dealer in Oak Park, I guess. (Own one myself, partner.)

RAY KELLY from Flint, Mich. A stockbroker and branch manager for the William C. Roney Co. Has five children.

John, himself, is a district traffic manager for Illinois Bell Telephone Co. Just noticed as I was typing this that Frank Kennedy is also with the telephone company. The above data from Ren Cutlip on has been supplied by Frank. Thanks, Frank. And many thanks to you, John."

A note from BOB BISCHOFF. Bob is Pennsylvania district sales manager for Merchants Creamery Co. His address is 1035 Overlook Avenue, Cincinnati 38, Ohio. Bob has had a run of bad luck, but his faith in N. D. ideals has helped him through his difficulties. Very best of good luck to you, Bob.

A most welcome letter from JERRY O'DOWD, whom I last saw on Saipan. I was loading bombs on a ship berthed near Jerry's LST or LCI. (I never got navy ships identified right.) He had just returned from the picket line around Iwo Jima where he had taken a pounding. We had a wonderful time gassing about everything while we were close by.

Jerry and wife, Ruthie, welcomed their first child last June. Must have been just about reunion time. They named him, Tom. Jerry, at the time he wrote to me, was waiting to be admitted before the U. S. Supreme Court, on March 31, in Washington. We all wish you success, son. An item in the Fort Wayne, Ind., News-Sentinel, dated Dec. 22, 1956, describes Jerry's narration of Midnight Mass over radio station WOWO. It also lists Jerry's many affiliations with law, fraternal and vets groups. He is also a member of the Knights of Columbus, 4th Degree.

A brief but welcome note from high in the Andes Mts. of La Paz, Bolivia; BILL GARSON, with the American Embassy, 12,000 feet up. (How can you breathe way up there, Bill? I got woozy on top of Pike's Peak!) Bill is business manager for Agriculture in the U. S. Mutual Aid program. This program extends from the tropical tributaries of the Amazon up through the cold barren plateaus of the Andes. Bill and wife Mary have three children, attending school taught in Spanish by Sisters from Italy. Thanks, Bill. Any news is always welcome.

From JOHN LANDRY at Maxwell AFB: Al Perrine's letter prompted John to write, and we're real glad he has written. John's address is 654 Hubbard St., Montgomery 6, Alabama. He has been in the military aviation business since 1941, mostly in the training end. Flew B-24's in England and F-51's in Korea. Been in aircraft maintenance for the past 10 years. Married to a "Texas blonde, no oil wells!" since 1946 and they have two adopted children. John was with HQ, ATC for Command & Staff School; he leaves in June for San Bernardino, Cal., to become directorate of Flight Safety Research. When he arrived in Ala. John had a small reunion with LARRY (Lt. Col.) McLAUGHLIN, PAUL (Major) BROWNFIELD and CHUCK (Major) KELLY, of '40. Paul, whom John met once in Tokyo in 1950, goes to the Pentagon in June. Paul took part in Operation CANUSA, a joint exercise with the RCAF.

John also talked with TOMMY SHEIL'S (Ex. '41) a few times in Dallas. HARRY Mc. came from Denver where he had been in the ROTC work for five years; has six children. Twin brother LARRY is now a civilian back in Detroit and also has six children.

GARD OLIVEROS is in base operations. John last saw him in 1948 at Chanute Field. Gard, according to John, recently completed graduate studies at Stanford and is at Wright AFB. I saw Gard at the reunion, John, but didn't get to talk much with him.

CHUCK KELLY came to Ala. from the Pentagon. John and Chuck graduated from flying school at Albany, Ga. in 1942. Chuck will return to Washington, D. C.

Forgot to mention that HARRY McLAUGHLIN goes to Kimpoo, Korea from Maxwell. JOHN HENEHRY, (now a Major General, USAF, I believe, according to the Reservist Magazine) was at Maxwell in April. Gen. Henehry is the youngest

DAVID J. CURTIN has recently been named assistant to the president of The Haloid Company in Rochester, New York. Haloid manufactures photographic papers and photo-copying equipment and supplies together with xerographic units which operate on an electrostatic principle to produce dry, positive prints of anything written, typed, printed or drawn.

Dave is a member of the Notre Dame Club of Rochester and lives with his wife, Peggy, and their five children at 106 Overbrook Road.

From DR. THOMAS PUCHNER: I was married on February 2, 1957, to Dorothy M. Swietlik (Marquette University B.S. '50) of Milwaukee, Wisconsin. I am particularly interested in hypertension and its effect on the heart.

familiar wail . . . and I'll make it brief . . . how about dropping me a line or two this summer? Sure could use some help!

PARTY POOPERS

Sometime back your secretary had the nerve to call a few of the members of the class party poopers. This was done in light vein to highlight a few of the people who still had not paid their class dues. Quite a few people took this very indignantly, a few others took it as a good incentive to pay their dues.

After checking with BILL MOORE, class treasurer, your class secretary wants to report that more than ever we have some very definite PARTY POOPERS in our class who have not done anything to meet our request for five dollars to cover the expenses of a growing class.

Please take this any way you wish, and if it applies and if it hurts please sit down and write out that five dollar check, made payable to the Class of '45, and mail it to Bill Moore at 720 Irving Place, Plainfield, New Jersey.

LOCAL SCENE

I have been extremely busy these last few weeks with a very big meeting for the alumni in Long Island, a meeting in which TERRY BRENNAN was guest speaker, and in which we were fortunate enough to have PAT CANNY, President of the National Association. The meeting was Co-Chaired by DICK DIGAN, of our Class. Another tremendous assist was given by JIM DONNELLY, who looks just as young and energetic as the day he graduated. TONY EARLEY, another '45 celebrity sat on the dais, having been chosen as the Notre Dame Man of the Year by the New York Club. In all, the Class of '45 was very well represented in this highly successful local affair.

SPOTLIGHT ALUMNI

JAMES L. BOURKE, '33

James L. Bourke has been named a vice president of the D'Arcy Advertising Company at a meeting of the Board of Directors held in St. Louis.

Married and the father of five children, Jim makes his home in Cleveland Heights, O., at 2688 Scarborough Road. He currently is account executive on The General Tire and Rubber Company account for D'Arcy, one of the nation's largest advertising agencies. He began his career after graduation as a reporter on The Cleveland Press and later joined Foster & Davies Advertising Agency in Cleveland to handle all national advertising in connection with the General Electric Company "Hour of Charm" radio program. He became associated with D'Arcy in 1946 after serving as a lieutenant in the United States Navy during World War II.

TEWKSBURY, JERRY WAYNO, BOB WHITE, J. LAWRENCE WILLENBRINK and REV. HAROLD ZINK, C.S.C.

Attendance at the 10-year reunion was somewhat disappointing, particularly when compared with the 164-man turnout for the Class of '52 with whom we shared Morrissey Hall.

But the fellows who were back comprised a congenial group, and all agreed that the weekend was a memorable one and whetted their appetites for a bigger and better reunion in 1962.

A feature of the class dinner Friday night was the election of officers, with JOHN MASTRANGELO nosing out both ELMER "MOOSE" MATTHEWS and JIM SHERIDAN by a vote for the presidency. For the former All-American guard who now lives in Leechburg, Pa., it is the second term in the office, since he was our first president from 1947 to 1952.

In line with a new directive from the Alumni office, we elected four regional vice presidents: JACK GALLOWAY of Albany, N. Y., for the East; JIM ATKINSON of Mt. Prospect, Ill., for the Midwest; BUD WILLENBRINK of Louisville, Ky., for the South, and JOHN GLAAB of Anaheim, Calif., for the West. JOE SHARP, a CPA from South Bend, was unanimous choice for treasurer.

In the absence of retiring president SAM ADELO, whose duties with the State Department prevented his being with us, outgoing vice president FRANK SZYMANSKI served as emcee for the short meeting after the whitefish dinner in the dining hall. The adeptness at banter which seems to characterize successful politicians—he's the Auditor General of Michigan—was very much in evidence as Frank played for laughs and handed out such mementoes as a bottle of hair dye to BILL "POP" McCORMICK, a comb to balding JOE CANNAVO, and a pair of miniature pink garters to bachelor MOOSE MATTHEWS.

Two of our classmates who are Holy Cross priests honored us with their presence for portions of the weekend: FATHER JOHN A. DRISCOLL, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church in South Bend, who said the Saturday morning Mass for our deceased classmates, and FATHER HAROLD G. ZINK, assistant at the huge Sacred Heart parish in New Orleans, La.

No less than 17 states were represented at the reunion, Indiana leading the way with a dozen representatives. Illinois sent eight; Michigan seven; Ohio six; New York and Pennsylvania four each; California three; Massachusetts two, and there was one each from Connecticut, Kentucky, Louisiana, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, Oklahoma, and Wisconsin.

All members of the class join me, I'm sure, in thanking JIM MURPHY and his committee for the splendid groundwork they did in preparation for this successful reunion. Responding to Jim's masterminding were a small but eager band composed of JOE SHARP, ED BALL, JOE LEAHY, PETE RUCANO, and myself.

WISPS FROM THE WEEKEND: The class's counterpart to Democrat politico FRANK SZYMANSKI is DONNELLY McDONALD, elected last year to the state legislature on the Republican ticket in his home city of Fort Wayne; he's a leading advocate of home rule for the Hoosier state . . . DR. AL KUNTZ heads the medical setup at the Aerojet General plant in Sacramento, Calif., and reports the cigarette findings presented to the recent AMA convention in New York were sensational in every sense of the word . . . JOHN GLAAB hauled his family—six in all, including his mother—all the way from California in a 14-ft. house trailer, and BOB SHAW—first '47 man to register—brought his wife and two adopted daughters from Tulsa for a look-see at the campus, so beautiful in the spring of the year . . . GENE MOORE and his wife (the former Joan Molloy) dropped their four toddlers off at Lorain, O., enroute from Reading, Mass.; she attended the St. Mary's 10-year get-together the same weekend . . . BUD WILLENBRINK—who hasn't missed a Kentucky Derby since 1941 but who slept through all weekend activities—bore some impressive scratches as a result of an accident which could easily have been more serious; forgetting he was in an upper bunk Friday night, he rolled out of it! . . . BOB TEWKSBURY pioneered a new trend in men's fashions Saturday—a brown suit and blue sneakers! . . . Six of Frank Leahy's former linemen (KEN SCHUSTER, FRED ROVAL, BOB WHITE, SZYMANSKI, MASTRANGELO, and GLAAB) exchanged squad memories all Saturday afternoon whilst soaking up the sun in front of Morrissey; aggregate weight—1,400 pounds!

BOB MULCAHY, who had planned to drive out with FRANK PELLITERI from his home in Wantagh, N. Y., wrote regrets that the plans had fallen through; Bob and his wife, Doris, have two sons and are expecting a third child in October, and he and his father maintain a law office in nearby Mineola.

In closing, let me insert a couple of serious thoughts. First of all, I'll be satisfied to do half as well as JIM MURPHY in this business of being class secretary. Of this I'm confident: If you men of '47 will be generous with cards and letters and calls bearing information of interest to all of us, the job will be a pleasure and a breeze.

Secondly, a collection taken up at our class dinner netted $88. The unhappy fact is that in the coming five years some of our number will die, and that number will increase as the years roll by. Some of that $88 has already gone to defray incidental expenses incurred by the reunion committee, but the bulk of it is earmarked for Requiem Masses.

There's no doubt in my mind that many of you who weren't able to make the reunion would like to contribute a dollar or two or more to this fund. Just send your offering to me and I'll see that it is delivered to our treasurer and credited to your name.

Keep this in mind:

Right!
WRITE!

A letter from DR. TOM DOOLEY, in Nam Tha, Laos, to DEAN BALDINGER of the College of Science:

"Let me describe my hospital to you. The village of Nam Tha is the northernmost tip of Laos. We are less than ten miles south of China, a few dozen miles east of Burma, and near the Communist Phong Saly Pathet Lao Province. It is exactly half a world away from Notre Dame, and on the edge of tomorrow.

Our hospital compound consists of three buildings. The main one, recently finished by the people for me, is a mud brick, white washed clinic building, with a room for sick call, one for surgery, and one used as a delivery room, and anything else. . . . Then across the front lawn (which is really a buffalo wallow in these monsoon months) we have a group of two identical buildings, high on bamboo stilts (protection from tiger) and made of bamboo and thatch. These are our two wards, one clean, one dirty. The clean has 18 beds, American style, and dirty had 20 mats, Lao style. Both are painted Kelly green on the inside, the outside is natural bamboo color.

Clinic runs about 80 to 100 per day, diseases most commonly encountered are upper respiratory infections (nights are bitter cold, days warm, weather deep in the monsoon mud), plenty of hemoptysis which I label tuberculosis for lack of X-ray, and treat accordingly, though ambulatory. Then we have a lot of yaws, tropical ulcers, malaria (25%) fungus infections, and leprosy. The yaws and ulcers need only antibiotics and good hygienic cleansing and dressing. The Lao witch doctors treat with tobacco juice, betel nut juice, cow dung, and ginger root (prognosis, poor). We smear only about every tenth malaria, history is enough to make the diagnosis. The fungus infections need only soap and water, and the lepers we can do little for save treat their secondary infections.

Our "clean" ward at the hospital has several verberal malaras, one black (and I mean black) water fever, several kids with fulminating lobar pneumonia, (how cyanotic can a child get). Then we have a few post operative hernias, Caesarean sections, and hair lips. The dirty ward has three lepers, a dozen yaws, and other assorted infectious cases.

We do surgery every other day, save emergencies. We have a small generator (the first one in this village) which we use only for the surgical lamp, and on alternating nights, for movies. Spinals, open drip ether, and locals are our anesthetics.

I originally had three ex-Navy corpsmen (the same who were with me in Viet Nam). My mission was intended to be only one of six months. But the royalties are still coming in from my book and the movie rights, and my medicines are holding out, so I have decided to stay here 'till broke. This should be July or so.

As two of my men were married, and had duties to their families, they returned to America at the end of the six months. I paid them no salary, and couldn't expect them to stay on.

To replace these I have two students from Notre Dame, John de Vitry, and Bob Waters. Though neither know a bandaid from a hemostat, or a leper from whooping cough, they are rapidly learning. . . . and suffering a bit in the process. They had the motivation, and the willingness to work in a stinking village like this, for a hyperthyroid Irishman like Dooley. . . . that is all I asked. They are learning the medicine they need to act as my corpsmen, and they are learning it in a hurry. Bob throws a nasty IM injection, and John de Vitry washes a leper's ulcer with compassion, gentleness, and ability.

We aren't bringing any great blow to stagger the onslaught of Communism. We aren't cursing Asia or her ills. We may not even be doing a very good job. But we are trying to show the people of this area, and deep into the underbelly of red China, just what four American guys are like, how we live, and possess those qualities attributed to goodness. We have complete confidence that all who come in contact with us go away pleased with us, and therefore. . . with America."

Received a very nice note from AL "HARPO" MARKS' wife Anne telling of the arrival of their daughter, Rosemary, on October 19. Al is finishing his senior year at the Stritch School of Medicine in Chicago. After graduation, he will intern in New York. Also at Stritch are: JACK MADDEN, JIM PATTERSON, DAN COLLINS, GENE SCHRANGE, and MIKE HUSSEY.

JACK WHELAN writes from Gainesville, Florida: "I was discharged from the U. S. Air Force in December after two years in Morocco and nine months as an instructor in advanced radar operation in Yuma, Arizona. My wife, the former Sue Whelan of St. Mary's, our new baby Julie Marie and I have settled here in Gainesville, Florida where I have entered the University of Florida as a Civil Engineering student. Should be here about three years." Jack also mentions that he recently talked to VIRG BARDASH on the phone and that PAT DREW is the godfather of their baby girl.

DON BERRY is announcing the St. Patrick's day birthday of his first child, Dona Mary, born in Edwards, California. Don says: "Wife and baby did real well!"

DAN MARSALEK is currently stationed with the Navy at Great Lakes, Ill. He recently graduated from Western Reserve School of Dentistry and is expecting to be boarding the U.S.S. Essex sometime in July. Dan asks if "we ever hear any word from SYL SCHULTZ or the other boys from Louisville?" AL DeCRANE is now at Georgetown Law School and he and Joni are the proud parents of Lisa Ann, born January 23. That makes two for the DeCrane's and Al says "Little Dave is having some trouble at his 17 months trying to figure out why we went and got another child when he wasn't out looking for new parents." Also at Georgetown, writes Al, are the following: ROGER BLATZ, JIM WELSH, BOB HULL, BOB HOODECHECK and ED FARRELL. Continuing, "JACK BRADSHAW is with the Navy at Patuxent and gets into town quite often. JIM INGRAM lives around the corner and they had their second little boy recently. Also see BILL BIRD, his wife, Barb, and their two girls, the JERRY TRAVISES and their girl, and DAN and Joanne REARDON and their two girls quite often."

ED DE BOER reports that he is still working for G. E. in Schenectady, New York in the Electric Utility Engineering Department. He expects to remain there about four years before getting a district office engineering assignment. FRED DAHL also works for G. E. but at the Electronic Park Plant in Syracuse. Fred had two children at last counting.

LEO DIGIOIA is working for American Machine and Foundry in New York. Ed winds up his letter: "I would like to hear from PHIL GOTUACO. Would you happen to know his whereabouts or address? Also there are quite a few in our class who seem to be missing and no one has heard about since graduation. I wish we could get them to rally behind the flag and help make the class column the best."

To which we say "AMEN," Ed. All of us would like to hear from you. Your job, family progress, activities, and who you've seen from the Class of 1953... these are the things we want to know. Just jot me a short note, long letter or even a post card and keep us posted.

From the Alumni office:

ROBERT E. VISINTINE received a doctor of medicine degree from Ohio State University on June 7.

THEODORE C. GARLAND was recently graduated from the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy with a doctor of osteopathy degree.

WILLIAM EDWIN LANGLOIS, received the Doctor of Philosophy degree in Applied Mathematics at Brown University's annual Graduate School Convocation.

Appearing above is the first reply to this magazine's request for any photos that the alumni would care to display. By coincidence, details on the lad, born on April 27, include the name GEORGE A. PFLAUM III. Now that the ice has been broken by an extremely proud father, let's have some more of them!

By your own doing, gentlemen, our column once again will be one of the pygmies in this magazine. MR. SUMMERFIELD can't accuse me of some of the difficulties and overwork that his personnel have endured in the past year principally because they very seldom have to extend their services to my mail box. With summer pending and leisure time in abundance, why not schedule a few minutes of that time to pass on your activities to this column.

The foreign postal employees recently brought me the following good news. "Mr. and Mrs. PATRICK PICHU SUN request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Patricia Frances to Mr. LAWRENCE JOHN GOLUACO Saturday morning, the ninth of February, Nineteen hundred and fifty-seven, at nine o'clock, Holy Family Catholic Church, Hsin Sheng Nan Road, Taipei."

The following is an excellent effort by JACK NASHERT to bring us all up to date. "Mildred and I moved into our new home, which I built, last April, and now have a permanent address, which is 2725 N.W. 68th Street, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. If you have room this time, you might ask the fellows to drop me a note at that address when they have a chance.

"I am now the proud father of a son, age 2, and a daughter, age 1, so I guess you might say the grass hasn't been growing under my feet.

"I just heard from BOB HOWARD, who is living at the Shelton Hotel, 49th and Lexington Ave., New York. He is employed by an architectural firm in N. Y. and seems to like his work fine.

"During the winter, I received wedding invitations from JACK BRINCE, who married a girl from Philadelphia, and FRANK (SWISH) RAITH, who married Miss Pat Bundschuh of New Rochelle, N. Y., and South Bend. Both invitations reached me long after the ceremony was over, since I have moved several times in the past three years."

A recent note from LARRY MULLIN displays little regret that he was separated from the Army at Ft. Sheridan last August. Since that time he has been working with Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. He can be located at 5221 Third Ave., Minneapolis 19, Minn. May 18th of this year was the lucky day on which he married the former Miss Mary Freeman. A recent relay of information from the Marine base at Twenty-nine Palms, Calif., reveals that James Francis Boesen, Jr., has joined the fold. A former running mate of James, Sr., JOE JOYCE, reports he is taking the big step at Notre Dame this summer, July 6th to be exact. Joe is with the Holiday,

Miller, Myers and Stewart law firm in Des Moines, Iowa. He also passed on that JIM MACCOMB will marry Miss Kay Dale, S.M.C. '56, in Franklin, Pa., on June 30th. Jim is associated with Paul Manning Chevrolet, Des Moines, Iowa.

BILL GUILFOILE squeezed a note in just before the deadline indicating quite a glimmer of hope now that separation date from the USN shows on the calendar for next Dec. 14th.

I have received the following from WALTER DUSCHKA from 826 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago 5, Ill. "On March 26th it will be a year since the death of LARRY ASH. This is to let the fellows know that a Mass will be offered for Larry in the name of our class in Dillon Hall chapel that morning arranged through Fr. Joe Barry. This won't make the "Alumnus" in time, but I'm sure all of us who knew Larry will offer up our prayers for him in a special way when they hear of this. Larry's parents will also receive a Mass card at that time.

"This is to suggest, too, George, if someone has not already done so, that we enroll our departed classmates in the Holy Cross Foreign Mission Purgatorial Society as some of the other classes are doing. Our class accomplished much both athletically and scholastically at school and also in the short time since graduation. It would be fitting if we remembered our deceased members in a special way.

"Heard from JIM MAYER at Christmas. He's flying blimps for the Navy at Lakehurst NAS, New Jersey, right around home. I bumped into PHIL LOPRESTI while on a visit back to N. D. Phil is there working on his M.S. in E.E.

"As for myself, I'm working in Chicago for Western Electric, still single, solvent and happy. It's good to hear about the men who are trickling back into civilian life and also of those who still have 'time to serve.' Thanks for the fine job of reporting."

It is with some grief that I report to all of you the death of Lt. (j.g.) JAMES N. BUCK, who was killed in a plane crash on March 19th of this year. His wife, family, and parents are assured that all of us are remembering him in our prayers. Jim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Buck, live at 10858 S. Washtenau, Chicago 43, Ill.

I am open to any suggestions on how we may use this column to organize and arrange for class memorial Masses. Other classes are doing it by maintaining a general fund in the name of the class treasurer or secretary. This to me seems the most logical method and I would gladly maintain it and any other obligations along these lines that you would desire me to do for you. I am open to any suggestions on how we may organize it promptly and efficiently.

Must leave for now. Regret this brief message, hope that through your efforts next issue will bulge with the Class of '54.

From the Alumni office:

EUGENE W. HENRY has been awarded a pre-doctoral fellowship by the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council. He is presently with the United States Air Force at Dayton, Ohio. He will study, beginning in September, 1957, at Stanford University's Electrical Engineering Department.

LT. JOHN W. HOUCK (Law degree from N. D. in '55) will be home from Korea in August and begins a teaching assignment on the College of Commerce faculty in September. He, his wife Mary, and son Christopher plan to live in Veville. The Taro Leaf, 24th Division newspaper, recently carried a feature about the Army's only known floating bull session—of which John is moderator and was one of the organizers.

1955 Tom F. O'Malley 6738 Kenwood Kansas City, Missouri

Gentlemen, by the time that you read this column, I will have turned in my resignation to Uncle Sam and bid the Navy a fond farewell. Note the impressive position that my title now implies. Civilian! To all those less fortunate than myself, I dedicate this column. We all know what a little touch of home can mean to the troops on the far-flung battlefields of the world. From just such a place come greetings from JOE MADIGAN who is stationed at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. Joe is enrolled in Army medic school at the Fort. He mentions that he is trying to get into Public Relations but, as yet, he hasn't heard anything definite. It seems that Joe had a chance meeting with JIM IRWIN in San Antonio. Jim is stationed with the Air Force in Houston. In ending, Joe sends a request for the current address of TIM NORTON who I understand has been sent to Korea. Anyone having this information please forward it to Joe at the following address: Pvt. J. V. Madigan, US52429704. Co. A, 1st Bn., MTC, BAMB, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Congratulations to ROY BELKNAP and his wife Maureen on the birth of a daughter Catherine Anne. Taking after her dad in size, Catherine weighed in at 8 lbs. 1 oz. Roy figures that she should be ready for an electric train in two or three weeks. Dad Belknap has been Ship Store Officer on a tender welded to the dock in Newport but thinks that he will be sent to a destroyer sometime in June.

I was happy to receive another letter from JOE FONTANA and his wife Rosemary. Joe is stationed with the Marines in Florida and has been branching out into the wonderful world of sports. I was asked not to mention this but I'm going to do it anyway. Joe was the coach for the Fleet Marine Force touch football team at the Marine Air Station. His team was undefeated and won the Atlantic Coast football championship. After winning the Marine league, they played seven Navy teams and the inevitable happened. The Navy lost! Congratulations, Joe, but under the circumstances, I must demand a replay of those last seven games. It's the least you could do. Even more important, the stork is due to deliver a tiny Fontana sometime in September. Again, congratulations. JIM VACHRIS, his wife Barbara, and their two children were stationed with the Air Force for nine weeks in West Palm Beach, Florida. They're now stationed in Salina, Kansas. The Fontanas end with a request for ED KELLY, former Navy Exchange Officer of the biggest little retail store in the Navy, to write and bring them up to date. It seems that Ed hasn't written since his marriage last January.

Every year I have a birthday, which, for the last few years, has been happening yearly, I have to marvel at MIKE COSTELLO and his capacity for remembering dates. I received another card from him with a short note. I'm sure that you'll be surprised, Mike, when you learn that I only had two years to serve. Anyway, thanks very much for the card and let me hear from you at length when you get time.

HAL WILLENBORG sends a card from sunny Japan where his ship has docked for a short stay. I don't think that there are going to be too many places left that Hal hasn't seen. We won't count this, but he naturally hasn't had a chance to visit my duty station in Olathe, Kansas. Cheer up, Hal, some day you might complete a jingle and win an all-expense paid trip. It's possible.

When last seen, DAN MOORE was undergoing Marine boot training in San Diego, Calif. Prior to this, Dan was working for the Defense Projects Division of Western Electric Co. in Fairbanks and Anchorage, Alaska. He operated a short wave radio station for a time and then worked in the construction and accounting departments. Quite a change in climate, Dan.

The well-travelled DICK REAMER sent a card from Vienna where he is in the process of forming a Notre Dame alumni club. He mentions that the membership has now grown to eight and that they plan to hold a mass meeting in a phone booth as soon as all of the arrangements are taken care of. Dick extends an invitation to any classmates. St. Mary's graduates, or subway alumni who visit the area to drop in and have one on him. The address is as follows: Pension Cosmopolite, Alserstrasse 23, Vienna 8. Phone A25060. If anything comes of this, gentlemen, let me know and I'll report the facts in the next class column.

GEORGE VOSMIK sent a native runner with a note from Okinawa where he is stationed with the 4th Marine Battalion. According to his report, the national sport on the island is "rain watching." I've always said that those people in the Far East have all the fun. George plans to be transferred to Fort Sill, Oklahoma, in the near future and will spend the rest of his obligated service as an artillery instructor. He included some news notes in his letter. JACK MURRAY is with the 9th Marines and is planning to return to the States very shortly. JOE CAPKA is with an engineer battalion and also calls Okinawa his home. Must be quite a place! MIKE DePADRO and his wife Anne have just added a new name on the mailbox. A daughter, Suzanne, was born to them in February. Congratulations to them both. Mike is stationed at the Marine base in El Toro, California. Latest word indicates that FRANK WHITE is spending his time at Camp LeJeune, North Carolina with an infantry outfit. Drop a line, Frank, say you're feeling fine. JOE HIGGINS is aboard an aircraft carrier and has been sailing in and out of Japan. LEO CALLAHAN is leaving Japan for the States and plans to be discharged soon after arrival. BILL BYRNE is in advanced training with the Marine Air Corps.

JACK GOETSCH writes that he is enjoying his stay with the Air Force at South Ruiship Air Base just outside of London, England. Jack is Administrative Officer for the Office of Special Investigations. I don't think that I had word of this before, but Jack married the former Joyce Wilke and they're both enjoying the government-financed tour of England.

HUGH SCHAEFER writes from Tulsa, Oklahoma where he is working for Sinclair Oil and Gas Company. He spent six months in the Army at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and then was released into the cold and cruel. From the sounds of things, Hugh was laundry and morale officer for the entire fort. During his free time he acted as secretary-treasurer for the post golf club. Ensign Pulver of "Mr. Roberts" fame had nothing on you, Hugh. JOE MCGRAW is still employed with the Kewanee Oil Company in Tulsa and is attending law school at night. Incidentally, Hugh inquired about the whereabouts of BERT METZGER, DICK NORTON, and DON LUECKE. How about it?

I received a letter from BOB MOORE who is working with the DuPont Company in Orange, Texas. In past columns I had apparently reported that Bob was working at two or three different companies, all of them incorrect. He dropped me a line to set the record straight and also to bring me up to date on some of the '55 people that I hadn't heard from previously. Bob's most important news item is that he and his wife are expecting their first baby in June. He digs back into the archives and mentions that DON MERRIDIAN is working for Shell Chemical in Houston. MARTY REINHART is with the Monsanto Chemical Company in Texas City, and REGGIE GRIMM, and BILL BECK are working for either oil or chemical companies on the Gulf. BOB VOYT is working in Muskegon, Michigan, for the American Spring Company. DAVE WEIDMANN is working for RCA but no other details are known.

A card from JACK REED indicates that he is now in the Army Signal Corps. He has recently finished the Southeastern Signal School at Fort Gordon, Georgia, and is now stationed at Fort Polk, La. Jack had been attending the Tuck Business School before the Army took aim.

A welcome letter arrived from JOHN CONNAUGHTON whom I hadn't heard from in some time. John has been on the island of Luzon for eight weeks in conjunction with a 3rd Marine Division maneuver. He is planning to leave the island for a week of liberty in Hong Kong and then on to Okinawa and Japan. All of the news to follow is from John's letter. SAM BUDNIK has recently completed a tour of duty with the Marines in Borneo, India, and Pakistan. Sam is now holding forth on Okinawa. JOHN KURTZ was recently married and the Navy has him and his wife living in California at Mare Island. ED KELLY entered Officer's Candidate School in January after spending an enjoyable time in Fort Lauderdale. JOHN QUEENAN is in his third year of Medical School at Cornell. He plans to marry Miss Carrie Neher of Greenwich, Conn. on June 15th and then will take substitute internship in Neurology at Bellevue Hospital in New York during the summer. BOB RUSSELL, when last heard from, was with the Air Force on the outskirts of Seoul, Korea. JOHN HACKETT is in his third year of Medical School at the University of Illinois in Chicago. JOHN RYAN and TOM GORDEN are in their second year at the Stritch School of Medicine, Loyola University, Chicago. PAT McNAMARA is in the Army and stationed in the Los Angeles area.

BOB HUNECK sends greetings from Neckarsulm, Germany where the Army has him vacationing. Bob took his basic training at Fort Leonard Wood in Missouri, and was then sent overseas. He and TOM BARNICLE, who is stationed in Heidelberg as a clerk in an Army hospital, took advantage of their leave period and visited Switzerland, Italy, and Austria. And, of course, a trip wouldn't be a trip without a visit to the solemn city of Paris. Bob enclosed a picture taken of him and Tom in Pisa, Italy, with none other than the leaning tower in the background. I understand that the two of them completed the job before they were through seeing the town. A mention is made of MAX ROESLER who has been drafted into the Navy and is aboard an oiler floating between San Francisco and the Far East. LOU CENTLIVRE is also enjoying the sights abroad, and is stationed with the Army in Nance, France. Okay, Bob, Joe's it is on the first football weekend next fall.

Well, gentlemen of '55, it looks like I'm down to the bottom of the mail bag again. The letters started coming in long and strong for a short time and then they began to tumble off. The only thing that makes this column interesting is your interest in the column. In this case, "no news is bad news." I'm sure that you all get tired of my preaching so I'll get down off the isolation booth.

Again I leave you with the thought for this issue. "Do something every day to make others happy, even if it's just to let them alone."

CHARLES E. O'BRIEN has been named a systems analyst in the systems and procedures department of the Milwaukee plant, Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co.

DAVID R. COHEN was recently named sales director for Fides Publishers, Chicago, Illinois. He will handle sales promotion and advertising for the Catholic book publishing firm.

EDWARD P. ZOTTER has been appointed sales supervisor, Armour Handy Home Products, Armour and Company, Alliance, Ohio. He will work in the Detroit and surrounding area.

RONALD A. MAKOWSKI has received a master of automotive engineering degree from the Chrysler Institute of Engineering in Detroit. Commencement exercises were held on June 11 at the Chrysler Corporation Engineering division's auditorium for students who this month completed two-year post-graduate courses in automotive engineering.

From the Alumni office:

BILL O'TOOLE and FRANK OLAZABAL are studying medicine at the Johns Hopkins Medical School.

TED LAUGHLIN has been awarded a fellowship given by the Lederle Laboratories and will do research at Georgetown University.

RANDALL C. CARLL is a first lieutenant in the Marines and is taking a 16-month course at the Chinese Language School, Washington, D. C.

(Editor's Note: AL VITT is now in the armed forces and unable to continue as class secretary. Anyone interested in being correspondent for the ALUMNUS magazine should write to John Cackley, Managing Editor, Notre Dame ALUMNUS, Notre Dame, Indiana.)

WILLIAM J. WELDON has received an Elihu Root-Samuel J. Tilden Scholarship for three years of study at the New York University School of Law. Recipients of the scholarships, which are valued at $7,200 each, were announced May 12 by Dean Russell D. Niles.

From JOHN MANION:

GENE GORDON was last seen in his hometown of Sterling, Ill., telling of his fine new job with the Texas Company in Lockport, Ill.

NICK RAICH informed us that he and his wife are the proud parents of a husky little Nick, Jr., born during the month of May. Nick just purchased a house in his hometown of Milwaukee; he reportedly is doing quite well with a real estate firm there.

Also in Milwaukee, BOB ERDMANN recently began work with an architecture firm.

CARL EIGLESBACH had his public accounting efforts interrupted as of May 26 when he reported to Fort Leonard Wood for six months of Reserve Active Duty. Although he wasn't too happy with the thought of leaving the friendly south side of Chicago, the six months is better than two years.

BILL HINTON and wife, Ruth, both looked in fine shape as they were leaving St. Joseph's Church in Mishawaka on June 2; seems they were visiting their parents in the Michiana area. Bill is in public accounting in Chicago.

JEROME V. SWEENEY II reported that his life as a salesman for Sylvania Electric is great. He gets home quite often and has really been seeing the country.

Office of the President
The University of Notre Dame
Alumni Association

July 12, 1957
Cleveland, O.

Fellow Alumni:

The majority of Notre Dame men are uninterested in what happens to Notre Dame. At first thought, that statement may seem to be a gross exaggeration to readers of this page. But on the other hand if it's true, alumni are undoubtedly wondering why, as President of the Association, I don't do something about it.

This, I promise you will be done. In our 89 years of Alumni activity, the predominant quality of Notre Dame has ostensibly been the one great spirit that gives energy to all our programs. But as that great American, Al Smith, used to say "Let's look at the record."

I don't necessarily wish to "talk money" but the best tangible yardstick of Alumni interest is the annual report of the Alumni Fund. In 1956, our Alumni participation was 48.4%. In other words, that means that the majority of our Alumni are not interested enough to support the University. And at this time, the record shows 400 fewer Alumni have contributed than during the same comparable period of 1956.

Our enrollment has reached the point where, because of our higher standards for admission, it requires constant alumni interest if we are to bring in qualified applicants. Our rising costs to students tends to reduce our field of prospects, which means more active alumni missionary field work. Other colleges are presenting stiffer and increasing competition which we must meet affirmatively if we are to maintain our distinctive universal enrollment pattern at the proper standard. Our alumni must see that these standards are correctly interpreted and are not permitted to become rumors and exaggerations that will only complicate our relations with prospective students.

I don't want to believe that our athletic misfortune last fall is the cause for lack of alumni interest. But I do say that we need successful athletic programs, as much as any other, in order to kindle and keep alive enthusiastic interest and help of all alumni. It may be we have lulled ourselves into believing that because Notre Dame is bigger, with many new faces and ideas that we can decentralize our ideas. Perhaps we feel that specialization is adequate.

We have an individual responsibility created by our own ties with Notre Dame. Some are spiritual, some intellectual, some from friendship and some from practical values that come to us from the growth and respect of Notre Dame in our special fields. Primarily it is an inner conviction!

It has been said that the heritage of the past is the seed that brings forth the harvest of the future. Ours is a rich heritage, a heritage which the world calls that indefinable Notre Dame spirit. Our job is to stir up the will of the Notre Dame man, to get him to translate what he feels and knows into action. Notre Dame needs this action on all its fronts in order to hold its position with the world's leading universities. The progress in every direction needs it, so that the work of those who have gone before us and those who are working now will have deserved success. Eternal vigilance is the price of victory.

I firmly believe that our history and heritage prove that reverses make us stronger. I am sure that as the result of our football misfortune last year the world will recognize what we mean by Notre Dame spirit.

This is the year when real Notre Dame men will stand up and be willing to be counted.

Sincerely,

J. PATRICK CANNY,
President
