Commencement Exercises

Commencement exercises of the students of St. Edward's Hall was held Saturday morning, June 13.

A word of special praise is due to the Sisters in charge of St. Edward's Hall for the excellent character of the exercises and the beautiful appearance of the Hall. Without, St. Edward's Park was one of Notre Dame's choice beauty spots, and within the corridors, rooms, and the large study-hall, where the exercises were held, were tastefully and beautifully decorated with bunting and flowers. The last impressions that departing Minims carried away with them to their city homes or far-away summer cottages were surely bright and happy ones.

Added grace and importance were given to these closing exercises by the presence of Rev. Father Cavanaugh, C. S. C., a goodly number of the faculty, and the parents of the children.

Father Cavanaugh, after awarding the prize medals, premiums and certificates, addressed to the Minims an affectionate, fatherly talk of appreciation and counsel. In the course of his talk he spoke warmly in praise of Father Sorin's wisdom in early establishing the Minim Department at Notre Dame, and recalled with pardonable pride the enthusiastic approval in regard to this department expressed by the lamented President Harper of Chicago University when on a visit of inspection at Notre Dame.

Advantages of a Separate Department

The advantages of having a separate department at the University for the boys under thirteen years of age are so many and so evident that it would seem almost unnecessary to mention them. In the first place, if parents are desirous of having their sons sent away to school when they are of such tender age, they must fully realize that special care and attention should be given to these boys. However, it would be a difficult matter to make special provisions for them, unless they be kept alone and be under the supervision of prefects and instructors who can devote their whole time to caring particularly for them. It would be practically impossible to make any deviation from the ordinary curriculum in order to benefit them if they were permitted to be among the other boys; for discriminations in any department, as among men in the world, always work unsatisfactorily.

Again, the intimate association of such young boys with older ones does not always lead to the best results. Whatever they notice in their elders they will strive to imitate; and it too often happens that they notice only the rougher side of the actions of their companions. Boys under the age of thirteen years, it must be remembered, cannot be expected to use very great discretion or judgment in shaping their actions, and the evil influence of one thoughtless person may leave a lasting impression on their youthful minds. Another advantage in having the Minims by themselves is this: their studies, their manner of spending recreation, and their tastes in general are very different from those of the more advanced boys. They can do better in class work if they follow such lines as are specially planned for them, and they will enjoy their games much better if they are where they can play them without interference from older boys. Life in St. Edward's Hall is thus made more home-like for them since the rules and regulations are especially suited for their best interests. There are a hundred and one little things that go to make up their comfort and happiness, that could not be taken into account if they were not in a separate department. They enjoy not only the special privileges of their own hall but also those of the older students—public lectures, concerts, games, etc. The Minims are made to feel that they are privileged students at Notre Dame. The Sisters of Holy Cross are in charge of St. Edward's Hall. They give the most scrupulous attention to the needs and comforts of the pupils in all that pertains to studies, health and personal neatness. None better than they know how to take the place of the mother in the training, the progress and the happiness of those under their care.

When placing their sons at Notre Dame, parents find great satisfaction in seeing that, if they have made a sacrifice in depriving themselves of the company of their children, they are leaving them in a beautiful home surrounded by every care and comfort, and, at the same time, affording them an opportunity of laying a deep and solid foundation for an education that will make towards usefulness and happiness through life.
