Academic Regulations

(From the current general Bulletin of the University and the special Bulletin for the summer session of 1940).

1) The registration of students, graduate and undergraduate, for courses in the summer session of 1940 will be on Tuesday, the 18th of June. No one may register for any course after Saturday, the 22nd of June, and no course for which a student has registered may be changed or discontinued after that date, without record of failure in the course.

3) All new students in the summer session of 1940 must have their transcripts of credit sent to the University not later than the 1st of June. To be acceptable, a transcript must come directly from the school that gives it—not through the student. This official record is to be secured from the last school attended by the student and should show the credits for the courses taken from the beginning of high school to date. Until this complete transcript is in the office of the director of studies no credit is possible for any courses taken at the University. Report cards or other certificates of credit received by the student from another institution are not accepted by the University, in place of transcript, for admission or for the purpose of record.

7) A student may audit one course, in addition to the courses taken for credit. The admission cards for auditing may be secured from the Director of Studies, after Friday, June 21. The auditing of a course is not matter of record.

9) To have a summer session count as a session of resident study a student must earn in the session at least four semester hours of credit.

11) The undergraduate who has less than fifty hours of college credit is not to register for any course numbered above 99. No undergraduate is admitted to any course in the 300-class. No graduate student can secure graduate credit for any course numbered below 100.

13) The graduate student who has a master's degree should register as regular student, for credit in the courses taken. All of his courses should be, in so far as possible, of the 300-class.

15) No one is to register as "special student" without the written approval of the Director of Studies. Courses taken by the special student receive no credit and can never be counted towards any degree at Notre Dame. The privilege of the special student is intended only for the competent person who is not qualified for the status of regular student and who wishes to take certain courses without academic credit for them.

21) The student is permitted three absences from any class in the summer session. A fourth absence prevents credit for the course. Absences at the beginning of the session because of late enrollment are counted against the student. There is no making up of work for the classes missed.

22) The student who does unfair work in any course will not receive a passing grade for the course.

27) The dissertation of the student who expects to receive a degree at the end of this summer session is to be submitted in final form not later than Friday, the 5th of July, to the head of the department in which the student has his major subject. The dissertation must be submitted in three copies, well typewritten, double-space, on standard thesis paper, in manila folders.

31) All the courses for the master's degree must be taken in residence at the University. No credit from another institution is accepted toward this degree.

33) At least fourteen of the twenty-eight semester hours of credit required for the master's degree must be in courses numbered above 199. As many of the courses as possible should be of the 200- or the 300-class.

35) No correspondence credits or extension credits are accepted by the University toward any degree. No credit is possible by examination merely.

41) No permission is given to any student to take the final examinations of a summer session before the time scheduled for them.

45) Exception to any of the academic regulations is permitted only for extraordinary reason.

Courses in the Summer Session of 1940

Listed below are the courses, graduate and undergraduate, to be offered in the summer session of 1940. Courses numbered below 100 are for undergraduates only; those numbered between 99 and 200 are primarily for undergraduates, but open to graduate students, for graduate credit; those numbered between 199 and 300 are primarily for graduate students, but open to undergraduates, for college credit; the ones numbered above 299 are for graduate students only. — Unless otherwise indicated in the schedule, immediately after the title of a course, the class in each of the courses listed below is held for a period of fifty minutes five times a week (on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday) at the hour indicated in the schedule. For fifteen hours of satisfactory work in a class or for thirty hours of satisfactory work in laboratory, one semester hour of credit is given.
