VOL. I. NO. 4

UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME, NOTRE DAME, INDIANA, FRIDAY, MAY 25, 1923

PRICE 5 CENTS

DELEGATES OF CRUSADE HERE THIS SUMMER

Every Section of the United States and Canada Represented

Notre Dame will be host to 1,200 delegates of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade on August 9 to 12, inclusive.

Members of the organization from every section of the United States and some parts of Canada will be in attendance at their fourth annual convention here at that time. Many church dignitaries, including Archbishop Henry Moeller, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and possibly the apostolic delegate, will also be here for the occasion.

Father Thill Talks

In preparation for the event, Rev. J. A. Thill, field secretary of the crusade from Cincinnati, appeared before a group of 25 students who will form a student committee to arrange for the convention, in the Badin Hall recreation room on Wednesday evening and outlined a tentative program for the three day affair.

The program includes the exemplification of the ritual of the crusade on Thursday night, August 9, a feature of which will be a torch light procession from the Church of the Sacred Heart to the grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes. On Friday morning a pontifical high mass will be celebrated, probably by the apostolic delegate. The remainder of the time will be given over to the discussion of mission problems and addresses by prominent Catholic clergymen. Exhibits of scenes at the various mission centers will be on display in the gymnasium throughout the conclave.

The Committees

The student committees in charge of the convention arrangements are as follows:

General chairman — Robert O'Riordan.

Room registration committee—Rev. George Albertson, C.S.C., Morris McNulty, Gilbert Uhle, Richard Murray and Thomas Leahy.

Display committee — Charles Guinan, John J. Ryan, and John Wallace.

Publicity committee — Charles Molz, Charles McGonagle, Claude Carson, Edward Frazer and Louis Bruggner.

Traffic committee — Thomas O'Connor, Arthur Bidwell, Hugh McGowan, James Ronan and Joseph Sexton.

Decoration committee — Joseph Foglia, Vincent Schneider, Clarence Bunce and Wilmer Burns.

Entertainment committee—James Egan, John Ryan, Edward Guinan, Norbert Clancy, James Collins and Frank McCarthy.

Juniors Elect Representatives

Junior class representatives on next year's S. A. C. were elected in the library yesterday. Mark Nolan, Norman Smith and Timothy Rau were chosen.

The fight for representatives at large centered around Nolan, Smith and Peter Curran. The class cast 58 votes for Nolan, 55 for Smith, and 41 for Curran.

Nolan is the present secretary of the S. A. C. He has been an officer of the junior class during the past year.

Rau was elected over Walter Moran in a close contest by a vote of 40 to 33.

BACK AGAIN

Thomas Barber, of Walsh Hall, who was called to his home in Erie, Pa., last Saturday by the serious illness of his cousin, Miss Mary Barber, returned to the University Wednesday.

Curtis Army Plane Forced to Land Near University

With but two gallons of gasoline left in the tanks, Pilot Eddie Stinson and his assistant, Milton Steen, were forced to land their plane yesterday afternoon on the Notre Dame campus just in back of Moreau Seminary. The aviators were on their way to Detroit from Chicago in a Curtiss eight cylinder army plane, and were just crossing over Badin Hall when they became aware of the gas shortage. Stinson is the same flyer who conducted a passenger service at Notre Dame two years ago and being familiar with the surroundings was able to pick a safe landing place.

FROSH FROLIC ON TONIGHT AT PALAIS ROYALE

Expect 300 Couples for First Frolic Since Five Years Ago

If the Freshman Frolic, which is to be held tonight in the Palais Royale is not a tremendous success it will not be on account of lack of efforts on the part of the freshmen, President R. L. Cahill, and the committees working under him.

It is expected that fully 300 couples will gather for the first frolic that has been held in five years. Many guests are coming from Chicago, Indianapolis, Toledo and elsewhere.

The dancing is to continue from 8 to 12 with Harry Leonard and the Red Jackets playing.

The list of chaperones includes Professor and Mrs. William Benitz, Dr. and Mrs. John M. Cooney, Mr. and Mrs. K. K. Rockne, Mrs. W. A. Halas and Mrs. Dr. Boram.

The committees follow:

Tickets—Edward O'Neill, chairman, Raymond Durst, Arthur Penrod, Joseph Hemling, Daniel Brady, Leslie McDonald, Raymond Rice, Joseph Mulherne, Philip McLaughlin.

Programs—John O'Keefe, chairman, Stanley Walsh, Alfred Ostrom.

Decorations—Joseph Regali, chairman, Robert Iminger, William Reid, Charles Guinan, Edward Dugan, Donald Laskey.

Novelty—Charles Ward, chairman, Wallace Finch, Miles Ryan, Mark Mooney.

Floor—Paul Fleming, chairman, Thomas Halleran, John McMullen, Robert Cummins, Leslie McDonald, Nicholas Smith, Lawrence Gorman.

Music—Raymond Holden, chairman, Nicholas Smith, Michael Duffey.

LOCAL CASEYS TO STATE MEET

Endowment Fund to be Reported Upon—Irish Ball Team to Play

Stephen Willson, Harry McGuire, and John Flynn, officers of the local council of the Knights of Columbus, have been appointed delegates to the 22nd annual Indiana state convention of the Knights of Columbus, to be held this year at Michigan City, Ind., May 26, 27, 28.

Tim Galvin, prominent Notre Dame alumnus, sent a special notice of the convention to Henry Barnhart, grand knight of the local council, predicting it to be the greatest event of its kind in the history of Northern Indiana.

One of the important items on the convention program will be a report on the $50,000 quota to be donated to the endowment fund by the Indiana Knights of Columbus. Among the several speakers of note engaged for the occasion is Mayor William Dever, of Chicago.

An attractive program of entertainment has been arranged for the week end, the feature of which will be a baseball game between the K. C. team from Hammond and the Notre Dame diamond squad, with Paul Castner twirling for the locals.

Law Subjects Will be Taught During Summer

Law subjects will be taught at the Notre Dame Summer School this year, it was announced yesterday afternoon, after a meeting in the offices of Rev. Joseph Burke, prefect of studies.

Students who wanted to study law this summer were asked to be present, and because of the number that were at the meeting, classes in Suretyship and Partnership, by Professor Frederickson, and a class in Constitutional Law, by Judge Vurpillat, were decided upon.

All students wishing to enter these classes are asked to notify Father Burke immediately.

SPIRITED AND STRONGALUMNI

Reorganization Outlined to Senior Class in Meeting Wednesday

The organization of a spirited and powerful alumni body was the subject of the addresses delivered to the members of the senior class in the library Wednesday. The significance and plan of the Commencement exercises were also commented upon.

Rev. Dr. Matthew J. Walsh, president of the University, said that Notre Dame is now making new traditions, and he urged that the seniors give their every effort to the making of the new Commencement exercises a success.

"No college in the country has as beautiful Commencement exercises," he said. "The flag ceremony is particularly impressive."

Al Ryan, assistant alumni secretary, spoke of the growth of the Notre Dame alumni, mentioned that there had been but a few city clubs several years ago, but there were more than 25 now. He suggested the organization of class clubs subsidiary and working with the general organization. The Alumnus and the alumni directory, containing geographical, alphabetical, and chronological, were also commented upon.

Rev. Hugh O'Donnell spoke on the arrangements for the week, the bulletining of them, the limitation of Commencement invitations, the limitation of tickets, and the frequent wearing of caps and gowns during Senior Week.

LYONS ELECTED

Gerald Lyons, news editor of the DAILY, was elected as the staff's representative on the DAILY Board of Control yesterday at a general meeting of the staff. He won over his only opponent, Francis Kolars, by a vote of 14 to 11. Lyons, who is a junior in journalism, has been ill in the isolation hospital, but will return to take up his duties about Sunday.

George Baldus, of Corby, and James M. Barrett, a day student, are in the isolation hospital with mumps. Both will be confined until the latter part of next week.

SENIOR WEEK PLANS GIVEN OUT IN DETAIL

Prominent Men Attend Exercises; Program is Elaborate

The program for the 79th Commencement of the University of Notre Dame, June 8, 9 and 10, has been completed. Besides the speakers, Lindsey Blayney, Ph.D., of Rice Institute, Houston, Texas, and Rt. Rev. James M. Kirwin, vicar-general of the Galveston diocese, other guests will be, the Rt. Rev. Joseph S. Glass, Bishop of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Rt. Rev. Herman J. Alerding, Bishop of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Reunions of the classes of '73, '83, '93, '03, and '13 will be held this year. There will also be an election of three new members to the board of trustees of the University. The places to be filled are those of retiring members: Warren A. Cartier, '87, of Ludington, Mich., Clement C. Mitchell, '02, of Chicago, and that of the late Samuel T. Murdock, '86.

The senior class committee helping to arrange the commencement celebration is composed of Raymond Gallagher, Merlin Rolving, Vincent Brown, Percy Wilcox, Vincent Engels, and Tom Lieb. The class poet will be Louis Bruggner, the valedictorian, Henry Barnhart, and the class orator, Raymond Gallagher.

The complete commencement program is as follows:

Friday, June 8

8 p.m.—Junior class play, Washington Hall, book by William Greavey, music and lyrics by Graham and Engels.

10 p.m.—Informal commencement dance, Palais Royale.

Saturday, June 9

THE NEW SCHOLASTIC

When the annual Commencement number is published in June, the career of the Scholastic as a weekly news and literary journal will have come to an end. Upon the last of two-score volumes, finis will be written. That inscription will close a narrative that tells of the lights and shadows of half a century, a narrative in which the glories of campus and classroom, the triumphs, the unforeseen defeats, have been told. Fifty years is a long time when the brief months that the student spends beneath the dome are considered. It is to the credit of the Scholastic, however, that during the half century of its existence, it has maintained a personality vividly its own. It has been a friendly light to the student during that time. In its pages, the traditions of the past have been happily mingled with the emotions of the present.

It has seemed to many perhaps that the Scholastic during the past few years has been unable to reflect truthfully the changing Notre Dame. There is, it is true, a place where past and present do not meet, where the present is only the present. Just when that place is reached few can ever tell. Few can say either whether the tradition of yesterday is more important than the necessity of today. This newspaper, which is born of necessity and of demand, cannot, however, disregard the past, nor the past as the Scholastic has represented it. If it has hopes, they are hopes for success, and success of the kind which the Scholastic achieved. In order to succeed, its editors can hardly do better than to seek inspiration in the initiative, the loyalty, the enthusiasm of the men who have edited the Scholastic during fifty years.

It appears now that the Scholastic may become a monthly magazine devoted to letters. Its future is now, however, fully determined. Still, it is untrue to say that the Scholastic is dead, or that the spirit and the viewpoint which have dominated it can ever die. Whatever the future brings to its name the past will glorify. From the radiance of that past, the editors of the DAILY may rightfully hope that some light be cast to guide their own efforts.

The Editor Says

Bill Voss, of the election committee of the S. A. C., deserves commendation. The big boy is a hard worker and not only does he do the tasks the S. A. C. gives election committee men, but he does them thoroughly. His many proposals never require more than minor changes.

WHAT'S COMING

Friday, May 25—Baseball, Notre Dame vs. Knox at Galesburg.
Friday, May 25—Freshman Frolic at Palais Royale.
Saturday, May 26—Baseball, Notre Dame vs. Iowa at Iowa City.

Jack Adams, '26, of Badin Hall, suffered a sprained ankle during the latter part of last week and is now almost able to walk.

Rev. George Finnegan to Meet Rev. Charles O'Donnell in N. Y.

Rev. George Finnegan, rector of Holy Cross Seminary, left yesterday afternoon for Rome, N. Y., where he will visit a few days with relatives. From there he will go to New York City, where he will meet Rev. Charles O'Donnell, who arrives on May 28, after a three months' trip in Europe. After visiting Washington the two priests will return to Notre Dame June 3.

Toledo Club to Hold Dance and Banquet

The Toledo Club will entertain its members with a farewell banquet in the Oliver tomorrow evening. This banquet and another big welcoming feed to be given early next fall when school opens were planned at a recent meeting. At the dinner tomorrow the final arrangements for the annual semi-formal dance to be given in Toledo will be made.

Thomas J. Keating, '23, and Edward L. Keating, '26, left on Friday for Fort Wayne, Ind., to attend the ordination of their brother, Rev. Joseph Keating, to the priesthood. On Sunday they will attend his first mass at St. Mary's Church in Lafayette, Ind. Edward Fitzgerald, '23, Cyril W. Neff, '23, Balfe Wagner, '26, and John H. Wagner, '26, all of Lafayette, will also attend the first mass.

Through the Looking Glass

If it rained soup this guy would be toting a fork:

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 21.—Edward Becker sat in a social card game last night. Picking up his hand he fell over backwards, fracturing his shoulder. A straight flush, queen high, fell to the floor beside him.

And if it rained forks this guy would be a haystack.

And I suppose if it rained cats he'd be a fish.

Queen high—no wonder he fell over.

Wonder if Edward said his prayers that night.

Edward's lucky it wasn't Woolworth high.

Mothers! teach your children to play cards lying down.

I hope that Ed's better five-eights was along. If she wasn't, little Edward is going to have the devil's own time trying to make her believe that story.

If the bunch was framing Edward he surely fell for it.

"Didn't he though?"

"And hast thou drawn a queen high flush? Come to my arms my beamish boy. Oh bless my shirts, my shoulder hurts." He chortled in his joy.

At that he was lucky he didn't have five queens when he fell.

He'd be in a hospital now. Ask any card player.

It's a little late to mention it, but you ought to know that Hooda's sister, Mita Thotut, was down for the Senior Ball. She just got here. You see the stages are a little slow yet out in that part of the country; the trains are a little slow, and Mita is a little slow. Anyhow we are now trying to persuade her to remain over for the Senior Ball next year. At that rate she ought to be just about ready by then. Mita is a nice looking girl, and she brought a bunch of photographs along to prove it. She wears a veil, but she will let anyone see the photos. It sounds funny doesn't it? But then I suppose that the sweet thing is just bashful.

She announced last night that she would do all she could to make the Ball a success next year. She also said, "I would so love to meet the president, Mr. Gallagher, and the vice president, Mr. Shean, and—." But right there Hooda nudged her and she closed up.

Earlier in the day she was met at the station by Hooda. Hooda was all excited as she alighted. Hooda kissed her and said, "How's ma and pa and the cow?"

"Shut up," said Mita, "We ain't got no more cow. D'ya want these people to know it?"

Miss Thotut says that she had a very pleasant trip down, making it all in one stretch except when they ran her car into a siding to load on cement. "But," said she, "the next car had straw in so you see I was really fortunate after all."

She's a great girl.

Dear Mr. Two Bits:

This is not at all authentic at all, you know. Not at all, but we did hear something about that Dead Sea. It is not at all authentic at all, you know, but what we did hear was that three colyumists took a bath in it.

This, of course, may have but made it ill. We wouldn't say that it actually killed it.

Commerce Men Have Big Day

The activities of the day for the junior exporters expedition to Indian Lake were interesting and many. Professor James E. McCarthy was in charge of the party.

A South Bend motor bus carried the men to the lake, where all amusements were given over to them. Two indoor baseball games played outdoors, resulted in victories for the team captained by Albert Birmingham over the team of John Dore. Professor McCarthy pitched the second game but was not well supported. Swimming, boat racing, explorations, lunch at the resort; dinner at the Never-Mind Hotel, and a bit of music, completed the day. The hotel was decorated with Notre Dame colors.

Dan Brady and Nicholas Smith were nominated for S. A. C. representatives of next year's sophomore class at the freshman meeting held Thursday noon.

Another candidate for nomination was James Waldron. Brady received 24 votes, Smith 20, and Waldron 8. The meeting was not well attended.

The election of one of these nominees to represent the class next year will be held next week.

SPORTS

Tuesday afternoon we had two real ball games when the Pre-Medics staged a comeback and won from the Pharmacists 7-2 while the Civils lost to the Miners 8-7.

Fine pitching on the part of Gilsinger, of the Pre-Medics, striking out 12 in the seven innings, and the fielding of Craden and Gladen gave some real snap to the game. Cook and Fox handled a mean stick, the former getting a clout for the circuit. Weibel demonstrated how it should be done when he made a spectacular catch in right field.

The Miners won their game in the last of the seventh when after two were out and two strikes Mike Gibbons rose to fame by sending a clover kisser to center as the winning run crossed the plate. The game was hard fought all the way and the fine points were brought out when the Civils' center fielder showed the spectators how to catch a fly ball twice.

Civils010 150 0-7

Club Standing
	W.	L.	Tie	Pct.
Mechanicals	1	0	0	1.000
Miners	1	0	2	1.000
Pharmacists	1	1	0	.500
Pre-Medics	1	1	1	.500
Civils	1	1	0	.500
Chemicals	0	0	1	.000
Electricals	0	2	0	.000

There has been some criticism regarding the entrance of the Mechanicals, Civils, and Electricals into the league already formed by the four other clubs because of the lack of time all the teams cannot meet. Would it be better if these three clubs together with one more club form a separate league and the winner of each division play a final game for the championship, or is it best to leave the club standing as it is?

From Off Stage

Two excellent reasons account for the success of the motion picture version of "The Little Minister." The first is Sir James Barrie, the author, and the second is Betty Compson as "Babbie." The combination is irresistible, and Miss Compson seems to derive as much pleasure from her role as a much greater actress, Maude Adams, did from another Barrie play, "Peter Pan." It is doubtful if a more pleasing Gavin Dishart could have been found than George Hackathorne, as the "Little Minister" he left little to be desired. Others in the cast were Nigel Barrie, Guy Oliver, Robert Brower and Edwin Stevens.

It is interesting to note that the similarity in theme which "The Little Minister" bears to Hauptmann's "The Weavers." Both are concerned with the revolt which takes place among a poverty-stricken people when the limit of human endurance has been reached. Where Hauptmann seizes an opportunity to cry out against economic oppression, Barrie succeeds in telling a love story as well, and this he does with the humor and sentiment which mark all his works. Hauptmann is, no doubt, the greater playwright, but there are those who, like Philip Guedalla, will always be grateful for "the cheerful clatter of Sir James Barrie's cans as he goes about with the milk of human kindness."

GRECIAN PLAY AT ST. MARY'S

Open-Air Theater; Girls Tour Library; Other Notes of a Day

The Classical Department of St. Mary's College presented the "Alcestis" of Euripides last evening on the campus, in the Open-Air Theater, which was modeled after the stage of the Greek theater at the University of California.

The intellectual appeal of the dramatic restraint of the Greeks and the beauty of Hellenic grace characterized the play. Extolling the virtues of friendship and hospitality, the tragedy is laid in Pherae, the kingdom of Admetus, and is concerned with the deliverance of the queen, Alcestis, from the bonds of an heroic death. The distinctively Grecian chorus unified and gave religious coloring to the drama.

Miss Dorothy Doran, as Admetus, portrayed well the regeneration of the king from selfishness to noble abnegation. Miss Genevieve Lang, as Alcestis, was queenly in the dignity of poignant sorrow. Beautiful in its pathos was her farewell to Admetus and her two children, roles played by Alice Rose Carr and Frances Krieg.

Miss Catharine Boyle, as Lord Heracles, manifested histrionic ability. Her compelling voice and ease of manner were especially strong in the passage between Heracles and the cup-bearer, Miss Elizabeth O'Hara. Miss Frances La Ponite, in the role of the life-greedy Thanatos, was effective in her characterization.

The other characters, Miss Maybelle Cass, as handmaid, Miss Germaine Christen, as the earth-bound Apollo, and the guards, attendants and mourners completed the cast.

The chorus, a link between actors and audience, displayed splendid unison of action. The part of the chorus leader was taken by Miss Helen Carroll, and the other members were: Misses K. Bohn, H. Denver, A. D. Dunham, D. Fischer, M. Higgins, M. Nash, M. Rembusch, H. Sayre, M. Schmauss, L. Stieglitz, F. Sturgis, R. Tennes and R. Vendley.

The costumes and lighting effects were, in a great measure, accountable for the beauty of the scenes. The Minute Valse, Sonia, Serova, was interpreted by E. Colgan; E. Ryan, P. Periolat, C. Ensel and M. Simpson. St. Mary's orchestra played the postlude and furnished accompaniments throughout the episodes.

What is more interesting than a well-conducted library? The members of the classes in Magazine Writing and in High School Methods who visited the South Bend Public Library Wednesday, are unanimous in the opinion that for pure interest few things surpass such institutions.

Miss Florence Tutt, head librarian, conducted the girls and the Sisters, by whom they were accompanied, through the various departments and explained in detail the workings of the library system. The South Bend Library is rendering efficient service to the community, as is evinced by its large circulation and by the number of persons who visit the reading rooms.

The students who enjoyed the trip were: the Misses M. Kennedy, M. Hayes, M. Kavanaugh, H. Cleary, E. Hamlin, E. Cusack, M. LaPine, M. VanHeuval, J. Schill, M. Doyle, G. Smith, C. Cleary, E. McGinnis and A. Duggan.

While the juniors and seniors explored South Bend, Wednesday afternoon, the members of the sophomore class held a consolation party in the Senior Club House. The delicious odors and merry laughter, which emanated from the sanctum during the afternoon, were proof of the jolly good nature of the occupants and of their ability as cooks.

Miss Ruth Flood, president of the class, obtained the use of the club house, and for the time being the sophomores reigned supreme. Miss Jean Duncan, as chief cook, wielded a magic spoon. Miss Angella Halligan shared honors as chief "bottle washer." Miss Salome Fischer, as general manager, gave conclusive proof of her executive ability.

Mrs. Nellie Thompson-Cullen and her aunt, Mrs. E. Thompson, of Salt Lake City, who are driving through to Boston, stopped off at St. Mary's last evening for a brief visit. Mrs. Cullen, '79-'82, was a brilliant student in English, art and music, and during her stop at her Alma Mater was especially interested in the changes which have taken place in the studio and Conservatory of Music.

Two is company, three is a crowd, but eight is a picnic according to Sister Loretella, dean of the Normal Department. The first and second year normal students, including the Misses D. Hurley, M. Newburg, G. Vanderbrook, E. Long, K. Greaney, C. McCarthy, K. McGill and M. Kisanee, enjoyed a picnic Wednesday afternoon in the woods at Trimmel's farm. Toasted sandwiches, coffee, cookies and ice cream comprised the lunch.

TRACKMEN TO COMPETE FOR STATE TITLE

Lafayette Scene of Meet; Mile Relay Will be Feature Event

On next Saturday the Notre Dame track team will send their speed and strength against a brilliant array of down state athletes, at the Indiana State Meet to be held this year at Lafayette. The 1923 track classic will attract a large number of stars from Wabash, Butler, Purdue, Indiana, Notre Dame and several of the smaller colleges, with the result that the greatest speed men and field stars of the state will be brought together, to compete for the state championship.

Layden and Barr will meet some fast competition in Tykle, of Purdue, who was clocked in the century last week in .09 3-5. Butler, Wabash and DePauw will have men in this event who have been running about .10 flat. The 220 will also see some speed from Tykle and his teammate, Maddox, with Barr running in .21 4-5. Montague, who has been taking the 440 in .50 3-5 and his running mate, McTiernan, will be set up with Caraway, of Butler, a .51 flat man, Sweeney, of Wabash, .50 4-5, and Cady, of DePauw. Wabash will send in a fast half miler who is credited with 1.58, and will have the company of Disney and Barber, of Notre Dame, also Cady, of DePauw, during the run. In the mile and two mile, Kennedy, Sheehan, Cox and Wentland will be on the program with a fast field, who have been running the mile about 4.27 and 4.31 and the two mile in 9.50 and 10 flat. Desch, in the low, and Casey and Walsh, in the high hurdles will meet a fair field that have been topping the timbers in around .15 3-5 for the high and .26 3-5 in the low. Thome, of Wabash, is the leading shot putter of the downstate schools, with a heave of 42 feet, 7 inches. Lieb and Flynn, of the Irish squad, have been tossing the brass knob in the neighborhood of 43.6 and 42. With the exception of Notre Dame, the Indiana schools do not seem to have any discus throwers of note. Last Saturday Lieb set up a new field record of 137 feet 6 inches, while the downstaters are only measuring off about 118 feet. Moes' javelin record of 196 feet does not seem to be in any immediate danger unless a dark horse is uncovered before Saturday.

The mile relay race will be one of the biggest features on the card and a close race is looked for between Notre Dame and Butler, the latter carrying the baton in the fast time of 3.25 1-5. Wabash is also expected to put in a fast quartet. Hogan, Weeks and Livergood will see some big competition in their events, with Woods, of Butler, and Pence, of Purdue, rated as pretty fair jumpers, and Whitmer, of Purdue, will be expected to vault about 12 feet. Hogan went over at Wisconsin with the bar at 12:3 and with good climatic conditions, should repeat. The state broad jumpers are covering about 22 feet. Livergood being shy of that mark by a few inches last Saturday.

KNOX COLLEGE PLAYED TODAY

Red Magevney Likely Pitcher of the Game Today

The Notre Dame baseball team left yesterday afternoon for Galesburg, Ill., to play Knox College. Sheehan, shortstop, who is injured and out of the game for a few days, did not accompany the team. Kane will play shortstop in place of Sheehan, and Vergara will play at third in Kane's place. The personnel of the trip includes Curtin, Cerney, Magevney, Falvey, Stange, Nolan, Foley, Kane, Vergara, Bergman, Castner, Thomas, Kelly, Coach Halas and Manager Ed. Lennon.

Knox has been traveling at a fast clip in the Little Nine conference and expects to give Notre Dame a hard battle. With Red Magevney in form the Halasmen are confident of beating the leaders of the Little Nine. Notre Dame plays the University of Iowa at Iowa City Saturday.

BADIN BEATS CARROLL 3-2

Badin Hall defeated Carroll Hall, 3-2, yesterday afternoon on the varsity diamond in the best Interhall game of the season. Pitcher Callahan pitched remarkable ball, allowing but four hits, and bested Sturgess, of Carroll, who gave nine scattered blows. The game was featured by the splendid fielding of the teams and Barry, of Carroll, starred at shortstop. The batteries were: for Badin, Callahan and Smith; for Carroll, Sturgess and Finch.

MOREAU BEATS BADIN
Moreau Seminary defeated Badin Hall 3-0 in a practice baseball game Thursday afternoon on the Seminary diamond. Both teams played good ball, but the better fielding of Moreau held Badin scoreless. The batteries were: for Moreau, Fogarty and Wetzel; for Badin, Callahan and Smith. Callahan allowed but six hits. Score:

TOURNAMENT MAY END SOON

Finals Expected by Sunday; Wednesday Results; Today's Games

The remaining games of the golf tournament at the University are expected to be finished by Saturday or Sunday. Finals in all of the flights, except the championship, should be finished by that time, and prizes will be handed to the winners immediately after the games by J. R. Medart, who is in charge of the games.

Medart asks that all who are to play in the finals will hand in their names to him immediately so that a referee may be appointed to be present at the time set. Further details will be printed in Saturday's paper.

The games today will be between Robert Peck and George Ward, semifinals; P. Romweber and Frank Cahill, semi-finals; James Durcan and Frank Howland, second round; Bion Vogil to play the winner of the Durcan-Howland match; Harry Stuhldreher and E. Casey, semifinals; Harvey Brown and R. McClure, second round; and Pete Cray and R. Scoggins, second round. Eighteen holes will be played in the finals of flights C and duffer. Thirty-six holes will be played in the championship and B flights.

Robert Peck defeated Edward Brown, 7 up and 5 to go, on Wednesday; P. Romweber defeated Ray Downs, 4 up and 3 to go; J. Bartzten defeated J. Corbett, 1 up in semifinals. The defeat of Corbett was the surprise feature of the tournament as he was expected to go into the finals or to be the winner of flight B.

Otho Taylor has departed for his home in Tulsa, Okla. He intends to resume his studies here in September, however.
