SCRIBBLERS TO EDIT BOOK OF CAMPUS VERSE

Poetry Contest Open to All Men in University; New Men Admitted.

The Scribblers, at their first meeting last evening, in the Brownson room of the library, outlined plans for publishing a Notre Dame Anthology compiled from verses which appeared in the various University magazines for the past six years. This book, which shall be edited by Harry McGuire, the president, and three men whom he shall appoint, is to be similar to the "Notre Dame Verse," which Rev. Charles O'Donnell collected and edited in 1917.

In conjunction with the anthology the Scribblers are conducting a poetry contest which will be open to all students of the University. Three poems with five copies of each, no limit to length, and which have not been published before, may be submitted by each student on or before October 10. The prizes are twenty dollars in gold for the best and ten dollars in gold for the second award. These winning poems will be featured in the anthology.

The judges are to be T. A. Daly, Albie Kilmer, Rev. Charles O'Donnell, C.S.C., Rev. Thomas Crumley, C.S.C., and Professor George N. Shuster.

The following new men; James Hayes, Edward Lyons, Joseph Ryan, James Armstrong, John Brennan, Paul Funk and Denis O'Neil were selected to fill the vacancies caused by last year's graduated members.

Harry Flannery and Henry Barnhart were reinstated into the club as active graduate members.

The other Scribblers are: Harry McGuire, Jack Scallan, Robert O'Riordan, Jerry Holland, Albert Sommer, John Showel, Joseph Burke, Lawrence O'Leary, Charles McGonagle, Joseph Harvey, Edward Lyons, Anselm Miller and Ray Cunningham.

First Pep Meeting Thursday Evening

The first Pep meeting of the year will be held at 8 o'clock Thursday evening in Washington Hall. Coach Rockne will address the students. Harvey Brown, football captain, will talk for the team. Eddie Luther, the newly elected cheer leader, will lead the Notre Dame cheers for the first time this year.

The meeting is held according to a Notre Dame tradition of assembling the students on the eve of the first football game. Its purpose is to unite them in enthusiasm and to impress upon them the necessity of backing wholeheartedly the Notre Dame team when on the field.

It is also traditional for Rev. Matthew J. Walsh to relate his famous story of how Pete Vaughn drove his head through the Michigan goal post for a touchdown.

ABOUT DELIVERIES.

It is impossible to deliver the DAILY on the campus and to the Day-Students without some mistakes, especially the first few days when the carriers are unacquainted with the halls and routes.

If you have subscribed, and do not get your DAILY, leave a note to that effect with your rector, (Off-Campus men) at the Off-Campus office, and do so immediately.

Back numbers of the DAILY may be obtained at the DAILY office, located in the rear of Corby Hall, facing the Presbytery.

TO SNAP 'EM.

A. Hockwalt, Dome photographer, has returned to school with a Graflex camera.

Caseys Will Elect Officers Tonight

Notre Dame Council, No. 1477, of the Knights of Columbus, will hold its first meeting of the year in the council chambers in Walsh Hall tonight, for the election of officers. Sometime after the election of officers the lecturer will be appointed and the lecture course outlined for the year.

Retiring Grand Knight Henry Barnhart will make a short talk and then release the chair to the new Grand Knight. Short talks will be given by other members of the council.

FROSH ISSUE OF JUGGLER SOON

Dan Hickey, the Editor, Plans Many Innovations; Staff Is Announced.

The Juggler, Notre Dame's comic monthly, will make its first appearance on the campus about the middle of October with its annual Freshman number.

Dan Hickey, the editor-in-chief, has formulated plans during the summer months which when applied to the magazine will enable the editors to maintain its reputation among the leading humorous publications in the country. At present eight issues are being contemplated, and it is said that arrangements have been made to have the "Girls' Number" written and illustrated entirely by girls from various universities.

Besides the editor-in-chief, the staff includes: Joseph Ryan, managing editor; Vernon Rickard, art editor; Frank McCarthy, business manager; and Anselm Miller, the circulation manager. On the board of the associate editors are: Harry McGuire, Paul Funk, Jerry Holland, Paul Martin, J. Farrell Johnson, Joe P. Burke, Lawrence O'Leary, Edwin Murphy and Frank Kolars.

The art staff includes: Charles DeBarry, Ray Cunningham, Edward Kohl, John Moran, George Balduš and Wilbur McElroy.

Assisting Frank McCarthy on the business staff are: Paul Rahe and George Sadlier. Those who will assist on the circulation will be announced at a later date.

GLEE TRYOUTS TO BEGIN TODAY

Meeting Yesterday Began Season.

The first 1923 meeting of the Glee club was held in Music hall yesterday. Thomas Hodgson, president, called the meeting to acquaint the members of last year, the nucleus of the 1924 organization, with the program of this season.

The general plan of rehearsals was announced. Rehearsals will be held two hours a week, on Tuesdays and Wednesdays, under the direction of Dr. J. Lewis Browne, director. Sectional rehearsals will be under Joseph Casasanta, assistant director. The sessions under Dr. Browne will be held between 4 and 6 o'clock, the others will be at noon.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock, Dr. Browne will meet the old men in Washington hall. At 4 o'clock students who wish to become members, will be given tryouts.

No announcement has been made as yet of the plans for Glee club trips this year. George Koch, business manager, laid his plans before the members of the Governing board yesterday afternoon.

ANNOUNCE NEW APPOINTMENTS OF PROFESSORS

College of Commerce Gets Most New Men; Mr. Bucknell Takes Important Post in English.

Faculty changes and appointments were announced yesterday by the office of the Director of Studies.

New professors include:

J. Edward Rourke, B. A., assistant professor in the College of Commerce. He was professor of economics at St. Edward's College, Austin, Texas. He is teaching Business Administration.

Elton E. Richter, assistant professor in the College of Commerce. Mr. Richter is a graduate of South Bend high school, and was a student at the University of Chicago from October, 1920, to September, 1921. He was graduated from the University of Chicago in 1921.

Henry Barnhart, assistant instructor in English in the College of Commerce. Mr. Barnhart received his degree in Foreign Commerce from Notre Dame in June. He followed post-graduate work in English, in preparation for a Master's degree, during the summer.

William Connolly, instructor in Commercial Geography and Railroad Traffic. Mr. Connolly received a degree in Commerce at Notre Dame last year.

George Wack, instructor in German. Mr. Wack was graduated in philosophy from Notre Dame last year.

Rev. Michael Mulcaire, C. S. C., professor of Economics and Sociology. He received the degree of A. B. from Notre Dame in 1917. In June, 1923, he received a Ph. D., specializing in Sociology. During the summer he left to visit his parents in Ireland and will return on October 1.

Rev. Omer J. Chevrette, S. T. D., professor of Metaphysics and the History of Philosophy. He was graduated from the Athenaeo Pontifici Seminari Romani in July, 1920, and in 1922 received a degree of J. U. D., from the same university. Father Chevrette also studied at the Studio Della Congregazione del Concilio, and spent four months at the supreme judicial tribunal of the Catholic Church, the Sacra Romana Rota.

William Bucknell, M. A., professor of senior English, taking the place of Rev. John Cavanaugh, C. S. C., ill in Mercy hospital, Chicago. Mr. Bucknell received his M. A. from Cambridge University in 1918. He was assistant master at Portsmouth Municipal Secondary School for Boys, in 1913, was a Member of the Convocation at the University of London. He received his A. B. from Cambridge in 1914. After his graduation he was professor of English Literature in the College of St. Francis Xavier, Antigonish, Nova Scotia. He is a lecturer and writer of some distinction.

William F. Roemer, M. A., instructor of Logic and Ethics. Mr. Roemer received his degree from St. Louis University in 1921. He was a substitute teacher here last year.

Rev. George Lee Holderith, C. S. C., professor of Science in the preparatory seminary and in charge of the Off-Campus office. Father Holderith received his preparatory and university training at the University of Notre Dame. He received his A. B. in 1918. After the completion of his novitiate he spent four years in Washington and pursued courses in Theology and Canon Law.

Father Cavanaugh Is Recovering

The recovery of Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, who has been seriously ill at Mercy hospital in Chicago, is now assured.

Father Cavanaugh is reported much better. He will, however, it is said, be confined to the hospital for several weeks to come, as the nature of his illness requires that he have absolute rest and quiet.

Father Cavanaugh was stricken with cerebral congestion while conducting a funeral service in Chicago several weeks ago.

YEAR SOLEMNLY OPENED SUNDAY

Father Walsh Welcomes Students to University; Bishop Caruana Sings High Mass.

A pontifical high mass celebrated by Rt. Rev. George J. Caruana, Bishop of Porto Rico, a sermon of welcome by Rev. Matthew J. Walsh, president of the University, and an academic procession of the faculty, marked the solemn religious opening of the scholastic year Sunday morning. The exercises, held in the church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart were well attended.

Father Walsh, after welcoming the new men to Notre Dame gave a brief historical sketch of the University from the time of its founding by Rev. Edward Sorin.

He then gave some interesting statistics on colleges and recounted the benefits of a university training. He outlined the many advantages offered the young men at Notre Dame, advantages, many of which, he said, are not found in other colleges. He emphasized the importance of a religious training as supplementary to education and in closing said that "Notre Dame men should be thankful that they are privileged to attend a university where God comes first."

Rev. Thomas Irving and Rev. William Carey officiated as deacon and sub-deacon, respectively, at the mass. Rev. Joseph Burke was assistant and the Rev. Charles Miller and the Rev. Patrick Haggerty were honorary deacons. Rev. Francis Wenniger was master of ceremonies. The academic procession was under the directorship of Prof. William Benitz.

A musical program prepared by Rev. Walter O'Donnell, organist, and the Moreau Seminarists was a feature of the ceremonies. At the conclusion of the mass, the entire congregation joined in the singing of "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name."

S.A.C. PLANS FOR HOMECOMING

Notre Dame in South Bend Centennial; Freshmen to Meet

Plans for Homecoming were begun at a meeting of the Student Activities Committee held Sunday in the Brownson room of the Lemmonier library. William Greavy, Mark Nolan and Norman Smith form the Homecoming committee. These men will work in conjunction with Cheer Leader Ed Luther and Matt Rotherth, chairman of the Blue Circle. Concessions will be strictly limited. Suggestions will be welcomed by the committee.

Notre Dame will present a tableau at the South Bend Centennial, the S. A. C. announced.

The S. A. C. will give a Notre Dame dance Saturday night, but the place has not been decided upon.

Arrangements were made for a freshmen election to be held sometime this week. The committee also decided to give the band financial backing. A grid-graph has been obtained and will be placed in the gym.

"HELLO WEEK" IS NEXT WEEK AT UNIVERSITY

Blue Circle Meets Wednesday to Make Plans for First Hello Week of Year.

"Hello" will be the salutation all over the campus, between every man, next week.

The Blue Circle will make arrangements to hold "Hello Week" next week, Matt Rotherth, chairman of the circle, announced yesterday. A meeting will be held in the South Room of the Lemmonier library at 12:30 Wednesday to make plans for the week.

The circle has the same purpose as the Boosters of last year. The name was changed at a recent meeting of the S. A. C., and the new personnel was named. The blue signifies loyalty, the gold, friendship and service. They will be given some mark of distinction within the year.

Fifty men were chosen as members of the circle, most men active in campus affairs being chosen. The roster follows:

Noon, Eugene, Day; O'Brien, L. Harold, Day; O'Conner, Thomas, Walsh; DePaolis, Paul, Corby; Picarski, F. E. Corby; Ryan, Donald, Brownson; Lyons, Gerald, Corby; Schaeffer, Gilbert, Day;

Sheerin, James, Brownson; Stapleton, Walter Corby; Schneider, Vincent J., Badin; Scoggins, R. C. Walsh, Badin; Sommers, Al, Badin; Whalen, Tom, Badin; Walsh, Tom, Sorin; Leo Cavanaugh, Day.

The first meeting of the Blue Circle will be held Tuesday at 12:30 in the South Room of the library.

Senior Classmen to Meet Today

The Senior Class will meet in the North Room of the Lemmonier library at 12:30 p.m. today. Announcements will be made about class pins and about methods contemplated to finance class activities.

The Senior Football dance will be held on the night of the Georgia-Tech game, October 27, according to officers of the class.

The Musical Revue, written and arranged by members of the Senior Class, will be produced under the direction of Rev. Walter O'Donnell soon, officers of the class say.

THE CLASS OF 1927

Contemporary with the open season for dramatic critics, the equinoctial storms, the ripening of the fair fruit of the vine—the fruit of the tomato vine, to be explicit—we have in these wistful autumn days the annual immigration of freshmen. In contrast with the scarlet harvest of the vine, however, the froth is green and hard, green gold if you will—but not the kind whose verdure colors Christmas jewelry.

With shining countenance exuding the debonair nonchalance of youth, his spirit, eager for the seed of knowledge, soars in its quest for wisdom. But, to the point—

In these four years the eager young man will mold his ideals, ease into his lifework, and adapt himself to the estate of manhood. He will carve his character and by that carving his life is triumph or decay. Any flaw that develops in him will here develop and be certain to mar the man through his years. One false stroke will irretrievably damage him, a man arrived at the most important period of life.

But these things cannot be known, except in retrospect. The yearling steps blithely down the days, completely oblivious to all but the exhilarating ease of existence. Nor is it good to be too serious at this age. Just enough seriousness to be sensible, just enough gaiety to enjoy life at a period when it is most full of enjoyment—that is the proper menu.

THE TEAM AND TRADITION

The football teams that have made Notre Dame famous in athletics are known to be teams that fight. Old students recall many games won by last-minute scores because the Irish never gave up the fight. Such games are memories to all of us.

One of the reasons that glorious victories have been won in the face of seemingly certain defeats is the spirit of a fighting student body. Traditional Notre Dame teams have never been found wanting. But now we are beginning a new year. Coach Rockne has arranged the most difficult schedule in our history. He also has assembled what is perhaps the best array of talent that has ever tread Cartier field.

But even though the team of 1923 seems to be destined to rival that of 1913, undefeated though they played the very strongest, the 1923 team cannot be a success unless backed by the unflagging support of every Notre Dame man.

Students do not remain in their rooms, in the library, in the laboratory, nor do they spend an afternoon in town, when the Irish play on Cartier field. Such things are done at some schools; but not at Notre Dame.

The largest number of students that ever attended Notre Dame is here this year. The spirit of previous years must be infused into the men who are here for the first time. Every man must feel it is his personal duty to back the team wholeheartedly and always. He must see that another year of glorious tradition is added to the history of a united Notre Dame.

Through the Looking Glass

A musician! maybe a good musician! At last he, Hooda, was to realize his life's dream. To blow a horn. And blow hard. Could anything (save perhaps a new pair of shoes, or a square meal, or a check from home, or a date, or, well, almost anything) could anything be sweeter?

You're darn right—it could. Hooda has seen the band master and was not frightened. He had spoken up bravely. "Sir," said our hero, "sir, could you let me in on the band?"

"Sh-ss-ssh," said the band master in a frightened tone, as he put his finger to his lips, asking secrecy. "Sh-ss-ssh! What do you know about us?"

"Nothing," said Hooda, "I just want to play; that's all."

The band master looked relieved. "It's enough," he said, "but I shall start you out carrying instruments for the boys. This week you will carry that instrument of Joe Blow. Joe is a great musician and thinks much of his instrument. Take good care of it. You may start by taking it down to Niles where he is to play tonight. Go!"

Hooda went. After three hours of climbing he reached the right floor of Music hall. He walked into the musician's room. There sat the musician—at the piano!

STICKY STANZAS.

He wanted to star—to be au fait, you see.

He went to Tokio—got in at three. Now Edward Mc. Zoolzehack's not at N. D.

The editor and manager of the keep on fighting for it if it had to DAILY let it out that they would be printed on bandages using arnica for ink.

Or Else: Editor: Wheel-chair that freshman write up while I put crutches under the column.

It would be simpler: Will you please send up three stiff fingers, I'm going to embalm an article "Good Living"?

Make it very easy to take a rap at someone.

Imagine: Editor: Plaster that football story while we bleed this advertiser, will you?

Reporter: As soon as I sterilize this feature on barns.

Valentino must have thrown in the sponge in favor of Mickey.

Lots of Welter-wait champions at the Oliver Hotel lobby.

How the Terrace Gardens have changed.

First Stude: What do you think of Helen Holmes?

Sec. or Third Stude: I like her fine, but I don't believe Helen has been very young recently.

Thirst: (to druggist): Will you give me something with a kick in it?

Druggist: Ya, a job in our Complaints department.

Judge: How many times have you burglarized?

Prisoner: Just one too many.

He: What's the hardest thing to fill?

Answers—

She: A pocket flask, using a jug!

It: A straight!

You: The old soak!

CLASS REGULATIONS

Rules for class absences have been made public by the office of the Director of Studies. The regulations follow:

1.—Absence from any class exercise, whether that be recitation, written test or required examination, shall constitute a "cut."

2.—Three tardinesses, or one tardiness after fifteen (15) minutes of the class period have elapsed, shall constitute a "cut."

3.—The unit of credit shall be the semester hour. The credits made possible by perfect attendance in any course shall be one and one-tenth times the number of hours set aside for the course—for example, a five (5) hour course, if perfectly attended, will earn five and five (5.5) credit hours.

4.—For each cut one tenth on a credit hour shall be deducted from the credit possible in the course affected by the absence.

5.—The maximum number of cuts in any course shall be three times the number of hours set aside for the course. If a student "cuts" beyond that limit, his credit for the entire course shall be canceled.

6.—When all the requirements for a course shall have been met, the penalties in tenth-credit-hours for absence shall be deducted by the instructor from the total possible. The remainder shall be reported to the office of the Director of Studies as the student's credit in the course.

7.—Whenever a student shall have accumulated "cuts" to a point where his credit standing in the course is imperilled, the instructor in charge shall notify the Director of Studies.

8.—A class shall be considered dismissed if the instructor does not report for duty within fifteen (15) minutes after the time set for the class to convene.

9.—Only those "cuts" which a student accumulates while absent in the common interest of the University shall be canceled by the Department of Discipline. In these cases, tests and quizzes omitted by the student shall be made up at the convenience of the instructors concerned.

10.—Every absence on the last day before recess, or on the first day after a recess, shall be penalized by a double "cut." The word "recess" shall apply to the Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter holidays.

11.—Deficiencies in credit hours resulting from accrued "cuts" during any semester, must be made up by perfect attendance, or by carrying extra hours, during succeeding semesters.

12.—Absences shall be counted from the first day of class in any course.

From Off Stage

If you enjoy a combination of good mystery and clever comedy, you will like "Strangers of the Night," this week's attraction at the Orpheum. It is an adaption, and a very good one, of the stage success, "Captain Applejack," in which Wallace Eddinger and Mary Nash starred.

The cast included Matt Moore and Ambrose Applejohn, Enid Bennett as Poppy Faire, Robert McKim as the very efficient villian, and Barbara LaMarr as an equally efficient vamp. Matt Moore, who can readily turn his hand to any role given him, gives one of the best performances of his career, both as the lethargic Ambrose, and as the adventurous Captain Applejack. The remainder of the cast is admirably selected, the honors going, perhaps, to Enid Bennett, who showed flashes of more than ordinary ability.

It was directed by Fred Niblo, a man of brains and imagination, who recently began making independent productions. If they are all on a par with "Captain Applejack," the public will have no quarrel with him.

At the Blackstone, Lois Wilson and Richard Dix appear in Zane Gray's popular novel, "To the Last Man." If it were only for the fact that Frank Campeau, Noah Beery, and Robert Edeson are in the cast, the picture would be worth seeing. The book, from which the picture is derived, is a historical novel dealing with the Northwest.

Between Covers

A Son at the Front, by Edith Wharton. Charles Scribners' Sons, New York. $2.00.

"A Son at the Front" is, as may be told without any great penetration, a war story, and a war story which appears at a time when other war stories are being relegated to the attic. Coming as it does, however, from the pen of Edith Wharton, its tardiness may be forgiven, since its author has a following which is willing to accept anything she may be pleased to give them.

John Compton is a man who, because of his separation from his wife, has never had an opportunity to become acquainted with his son who has grown to manhood. In the summer of 1914 George visits his father only to be called to arms the next day with thousands of other youths of French citizenship. Compton's acceptance of the blow, his readjustment to new conditions, the portrayal of Julia Brant, his former wife, and the glimpses of war time Paris are done in the fashion which has brought Mrs. Wharton recognition as one of the most able of modern authors.

Mrs. Wharton is unossessed of a rare story telling power and of a knack for describing the workings of the mind under strong emotions. In "A Son at the Front" her material is ample, and she handles it as capably as she does her most famous work, "Ethan Frome."

J. S. B.

Fortune's Fool, by Rafael Sabatini. Houghton Mifflin Co., Boston and New York. $2.00.

Rafael Sabatini, creator of Scaramouche and of Captain Blood, the weaver of colorful romances of by-gone days, has produced another novel, "Fortune's Fool," which promises to add greatly to his popularity, although it has neither the expert character portrayal nor the excellent description found in his earlier successes.

It is an interesting story of the time of Charles II which concerns one Randal Holles, the second of that name, a former colonel in the Parliamentary Army, whose father had been partly responsible for the death of Charles I. These unfortunate circumstances make it impossible for him to obtain a commission in the Royalist forces, despite the friendship of the powerful Duke of Albemarle. As a last resort, Holles, in his straightened condition, agrees to abduct a popular actress with whom the Duke of Buckingham has become enamored. After the abduction he repents, and, to redeem himself for his dishonorable act, endeavors to rescue her. The remainder of the story in which Holles regains his honor and becomes fortune's favorite is written in Sabatini's best fashion.—J. S. B.

A score of students watched an aviator write the word "Lucky" Strike" in huge smoke letters above the campus Monday morning. The plane was flying at an altitude of 3000 feet.

Schomburg Elected Dome Art Editor

O. W. Schomburg, architecture, 1925, was elected art editor of the Dome at a meeting held by the junior members of the art staff Friday afternoon. Schomburg succeeds J. O. Foglia who, elected by his class last year, was forced to resign this fall because of the pressure of his work. The editor-elect is a New Englander, claiming Long Beach, Connecticut, as his home.

The opening of the present school year marks the eighth consecutive year of Ideal Laundry service in the University. Students wishing to have their laundry charged to their school account will secure a clothes number from the Sister in the clothes room. Otherwise bundles may be left at the News Stand. Pickups will be made at all halls and the News Stand Mondays and Thursdays.

EDDIE LUTHER CHEER LEADER

Coach Rockne Talks to Men on What a Cheer Leader Should Be; Eleven Candidates.

Ed Luther, junior in law, will lead the Notre Dame cheers for the coming year. Luther was chosen from eleven candidates by the S. A. C. last year.

Each of the candidates addressed the S. A. C., Coach Rockne telling of his plans as a cheer leader, and the men led the S. A. C. in a yell. Coach Rockne addresses the members as to the qualities a cheer leader should have, and after a short conference, Luther was elected.

The assistant yell leaders have not yet been picked, but the try-outs are now taking place and they will be chosen within the week. Luther is a South Bend man and has attended the University and preparatory school for six years. He has been prominent in other student activities.

FRESHMAN HAND BOOK ON SALE THIS WEEK

The new Freshman Hand Book will be sold on the campus within the week. The booklet contains a resume of the customs of Notre Dame and will instruct freshmen in them.

The hand book was compiled by the S. A. C. and published at their expense. It will be on sale at the News stand and in the halls at 10 cents a copy. It is a 41-page book and contains information about the University.

CHAMPION-MOONEY.

VARSITY WORKS DEFENSE GAME

Livergood at Infirmary With Infection; Kiley and Hunk Help Rockne Perfect Defense.

Defensive play was the program of football practice for the Rockmen yesterday afternoon. The ends worked under the direction of Roger Kiley, brilliant pass receiver on the left wing of the Irish teams of 1920 and 1921, who stopped off at the University yesterday. "Hunk" Anderson, one of Kiley's teammates of two years ago was also present to assist Tom Iieb in working with the linemen.

The backfield candidates worked worked on the aerial attack and on general defense tactics to break up passes. Rockne's kicking staff went through a half hour of punting practice and revealed some good stuff in the educated toe department. Last year, Castner, DeGree, Stange and Layden bore the brunt of the kicking work, but somebody must be found this year to fill the shoes of Castner and DeGee.

Layden, Collins, Mageveny, James and Farrell were out in uniform today, but Bernie Livergood, who is expected to show great form at full back this season, is confined to the infirmary with an infected leg. The practice session closed with running signals.

J. ADAMS WINS GOLF HONORS

De Leo, Runner-Up, as Irish Stars
Make Brilliant Show in City Golf Meet.

Jack Adams, of Badin Hall, title holder of the University Golf Championship, played a brand of golf that enabled him to lead a field of 124 golfers in the annual Invitation Tournament, held under the auspices of the Chain-O'-Lakes Country Club, Saturday afternoon. Adams finished the play with a total of 116 for 27 holes, the scores being 39, 40, 37. The prize was a silver loving cup donated by the club.

The Irish golf star was pushed hard for the honors by Joe De Leo, a freshman at the University, who finished with a total score of 119 and took second place. De Leo was awarded a pair of platinum cuff links.

Joe Foglia, a junior of Walsh Hall and runner-up in the University Tournament last spring, played a consistent game and finished in fourth place.

Jack Adams played a steady game throughout the day. He came out of sand traps and the rough as easy as though playing on the fairway. Due to being off form on his putting, Adams missed some short puts that cost him a 33, which would

DRAMATIC CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Expect Most Plays to Be Shapesperean; Affiliated With National League.

The first Dramatic Club meeting of the year will be held tomorrow evening in the Brownson room of the library.

At this meeting, which shall be open to all aspirants, general plans for the year will be discussed and suggestions will be received as to whether the club should center its activities around Shakespearean, one-act or three-act plays.

The purpose of having the initial meeting open to new men is to familiarize them with the scope of the organization and to enable the old members to become acquainted with the applicants before admitting them to the club.

Shortly before the close of school last June it was decided that the Dramatic Club could benefit greatly with external assistance, and so it became directly affiliated with the National Drama League of America.
