SENIORS HEAR COMMITTEES

Discussion Interesting and Spirited; to Be Continued at Next Meeting; Dance Plans.

The senior class met in the Library, Tuesday afternoon, and acted upon the report of the various class committees.

The pin committee reported, through its chairman, Charles Robrecht, that about twenty pins would be here a few days before Homecoming and that the first 20 men to pay the requisite $15 will receive the first pins. About 170 pins are promised before Thanksgiving.

A committee on senior class stationery was appointed by Donald Gallagher, president of the class, as follows: Jack Ryan, chairman; Bud Boyle, Leonard Murray and Charles de la Vergne.

Walter Moran, chairman of the general committee, made a report on what has been accomplished by the concessions and dance committees. Small blue leather note-books will be sold on the campus. Pillow-top and school-song concession also have been secured. Harry Denny's orchestra has been engaged for the "Golden Tornado" dance to be given at the Tribune auditorium on the night of October 27, after the Georgia Tech game. Two dances are planned on this night and an effort is being made to secure another hall.

The senior revue, which was postponed last year, will be put on some time before the Christmas vacation. A class mixer before the holidays is planned. A senior vaudeville and a comedy are being considered for presentation during the second half of the school year.

Gallagher spoke, asking each member to co-operate in carrying out class activities.

Jack Scallan, editor of the Dome, spoke to the seniors regarding the taking of the senior pictures for the Dome. It was decided to have all member of the class photographed in cap and gown.

A heated discussion on the adoption of canes by all seniors as a mark of distinction, marked the close of the meeting. The issue will be decided at a meeting of the seniors next week.

FOURTH NIGHT OF MISSION

Off-Campus Men Remember Football Team; Father Donahue Discusses Last Judgment.

The campus mission, conducted by Rev. James Donahue, C. S. C., has thus far proven to be a great thought incentive to the Notre man and its effects are being manifested each day by the large congregation that assembles to hear the incomparable sermons.

The sermon Tuesday evening, dealt with the Last Judgment, and the fact that now was the time to seek the mercy of God. Last night, Father Donahue, dwelt on the necessity of cleanliness in a man's heart, and emphasized the sacredness of the body, and the treatment which it must consequently receive.

At Father Finnegan's off-campus mission, the men offered their communion for the football team. The matter of bad companionship and immorality were discussed by Father Finnegan, at the mission services, Tuesday evening. The series was continued last night, with the subject of man's life and its relation to death.

The subject of Father Donahue's sermon was "When a Man's a Man."

Announce Chaperones for N. C. Band Dance

"Help the band back the team" is the slogan that has been adopted by the Notre Dame band dance committee, to encourage students to attend the affair which will be given at the Oliver hotel Saturday night, following the close of the mission Friday evening.

The following have been chosen as chaperones: Dr. and Mrs. John A. Stoeckley, Prof. and Mrs. John M. Cooney, Prof. and Mrs. William Logan Benitz, and Prof. and Mrs. Jose Corona.

FATHER IRVING TALKS TO K. C.

Committee Appointed; McGuire Is Made Lecturer Again; Father Foik Reappointed Chaplain.

Rev. Thomas Irving, vice-president of the University, was the speaker Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the Notre Dame Council, Knights of Columbus, held in Walsh hall. He spoke on "What We Have and What the Future Holds for Us," stressing the necessity for the college men to prepare, through education, for the work of after life. He stated in the course of his talk that most men were failures because of some weakness in character, not because of insufficient education.

Rev. P. J. Foik was again appointed chaplain of the council, and Harry McGuire was retained as lecturer. Rev. Charles Miltner and Thomas Hodgson were elected to the board of trustees.

Grand Knight Henry Barnhardt also named the following committees for the year:

Social Center Building—George Bischoff, Rev. P. J. Foik, Mark Nolan, Harry McGuire, James Egan, John James, Ray Cunningham, Tom Hodgson, Robert Curry, John Hurley and Al Sommer.

Dance—Gene Fogarty, John Hurley, Robert Rink, Vernon Rickard, Robert O'Boyle, Fred Forhan and Robert Worth.

Publications—Al Sommers, Ray Cunningham and Harry McGuire.

Entertainment—Harry McGuire, Norbert Clancy, Gilbert Uhl, Kelly, John Snakard and Thomas O'Conner.

House—John Hurley, Al Hockwalt, Walter Haecker, Bernard McNab and James Smith.

Membership and Transfer—Robert Curry, Walter Rader, Jack Ryan, Charles Collins, James Crowley, Jack Scallan, Harry Stahl dreher, John Bartley and Jack Adams.

Resolution—Walter Shiltz, Peter Cray, Herbert Jones, John Dore and Paul Rahe.

Boy Relief Work—Mark Nolan, Bernard Livergood, Thomas O'Conner, Robert Cahill, Gene Mayl and Paul Funk.

Initiations—Ray Cunningham, Thomas Keating, John Lynch, Alphonse Gellner and Henry Sutter.

Finance—John James and James Egan.

The newly organized K. of C. quartet sang and short talks were made by Rev. Foik and Rev. Charles Miltner.

Scholastic Staff Meets in Brownson Room

The members of the Scholastic staff are requested to assemble in the Brownson room of the Library for a very important meeting, Friday, 12:30.

NO CLASSES.
According to an announcement from the Director of Studies office, no classes will be held Saturday, Founder's Day.

THE FIGHTING IRISH.
The Notre Dame football team will leave for Brooklyn, to play the Army, from the N. Y. C. station, Thursday morning, 10:17. All students, who are free at that time, will meet at the station to stage a demonstration for Rockne's Fighting Team. Classes will not be excused.

TAKES SENIOR'S DOMEPICTURES

All Men of Class of '24 Urged to Appear Before Camera This Week.

Jack Scallan, editor of the Dome, is facing a serious handicap in working out the senior section, for the reason that the members of the senior class are failing to report for the Dome pictures. Only 15 seniors have reported thus far and it will be impossible to complete the work by the end of next week, if more co-operation is not shown on the part of the seniors.

Rudy Madlenar and Gevine Gerasta of the Russel studio of Chicago have set up a studio in the K. of C. chambers in Walsh hall and will be on duty every day from 8:30 to 11 and from 1 to 5. The Russell company took the scenery pictures of the campus last year, and critics have declared them the best pictures ever taken at Notre Dame.

Aside from the cap and gown pictures, the Russell company will take photos in several poses of seniors or others if they so desire, on approval and without charge. A fee of one dollar is being charged for the seniors cap and gown pictures.

The sophomore class pictures will be taken on Cartier field today at 12:30.

FOOTBALL TRIP TIMESCHEDULE

To Stop at Toledo Sunday Morning for Mass and Breakfast; Pullmans Secured.

The schedule for the student football trip to Pittsburg for the Carnegie Tech game, November 24, was announced last night by the trip committee of the S. A. C. The special train will leave South Bend on the night of November 23, and must leave Pittsburg before midnight, November 24.

The fare to Pittsburg will be $13.92 for the round trip. Pullman accommodations may be obtained at the following rates: Lower berth, $4.50; upper berth, $3.60; drawing room, $16.50. The drawing room accommodates five people. These Pullman rates are for one way only. The train will be made up of high class steel coaches and Pullman cars, and as many of each type as necessary.

The trip will be made via the New York Central lines to Toledo and Cleveland, and via the Erie, and Pittsburg and Lake Erie railways to Pittsburg. On the return trip a stop of two and one-half hours will be made in Toledo for Mass and breakfast.

The schedule for the special train is:

Lv. South Bend, Nov. 23, 10:30 p.m., Central standard time.

Ar. Pittsburg, Nov. 24, 6:30 a.m., Eastern standard time.

Return:

Ar. Toledo, Nov. 25, 6:30 a.m., Eastern standard time. Stop for Mass and breakfast.

Lv. Toledo, Nov. 25, about 8:00 a.m., Central standard time.

Ar. South Bend, Nov. 25, about 11:50, Central standard time.

Junior Class Promotes Princeton Ticket Sale

The ways and means committee of the junior class are promoting a sale of tickets for a trip to the Princeton-Notre Dame game. The class has been granted the concession to sell trip tickets on all the football games this fall.

A trip to Pittsburg will be the prize given to the winner of the sales contest, for which all men of the University are eligible. John Moran, Corby hall, and Joe Toolen, Badin hall, are in charge of the contest.

FRESHMAN HEAR FIRST LECTURE

Daly and Reidy Are Candidates for President; Finals to be Held Tomorrow.

Members of the freshmen class elected officers at a meeting in Washington hall Tuesday evening, and at noon yesterday attended the first of a series of lectures given by the Department of Education.

Seven hundred and nine men the largest freshman class in the history have registered at the University, was announced by the Rev. Joseph Burke, director of studies, at the lecture. "Welfare, Work and Worship." The series will be given every Wednesday at 12:50 o'clock.

All freshmen will be required to attend the lectures, given for the purpose of assisting the first year men in their college life at Notre Dame. Father Burke advocated the reading of the following books: "How to Use Your Mind," "How to Study in College," and "A Success in a New Era."

Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, Prefect of Discipline, also spoke in the interest of "Welfare." A spirit of co-operation among members of the Freshmen class was urged by Father O'Donnell.

"A prefect is not a policeman; he is a man who will help you whether it be for your physical or moral welfare," the Rev. William F. Cunningham, of the Department of Education, told the class.

The Rev. John O'Hara, Prefect of Religion, who spoke on "Religion," and its relations to college life, said: "Religion has proved itself imperative to college life." He related the plan adopted by the University of Michigan to have religion taught in its departments by September, 1924.

Nominations for officers in the freshmen class were made Tuesday night. Final elections will be at 6:30 tomorrow night.

Two men were voted for nomination for each office. Daly and Reidy were nominated for president; O'Donnell and McCabe, vice-president; Donahue and Murray, secretary; McDermott and O'Brien, treasurer.

The meting was in charge of the S. A. C. Don Gallagher, president of the senior class; Mart Mooney, Don Miller, Ed Hunsinger, John Sheehan, John Moran and Charless Molz supervised the balloting.

Barr Is Elected Head of Keystone Club

John B. Barr, of Pittsburg, was elected president of the Keystone club at a meeting of the Pennsylvania men, Monday evening. Anslem D. Miller, of Port Allegany, was elected vice-president, and Pete Cray, of Pittsburg, chosen secretary-treasurer. John R. Melley, Mahonoy City, was appointed publicity manager.

SPECIAL MEETING.
The Presidents and Student clubs and organizations will meet Friday, 12:30, North room of Library. MARK NOLAN.

S.A.C. GRANTS SALE RIGHTS

List Published for Those Allowed to Sell on Campus and at Student Trips.

The concessions committee of the Student Activities Committee has published the names of those to whom selling privileges have been granted. The S. A. C. asks the students to buy only from those men who have been given permission to sell. This does not mean that the concessions are limited to a certain few, the S. A. C. announces. Any man desirous of soliciting students should present his proposition to the S. A. C., and his petition will be given full consideration.

Following is a list of all concessions granted by the S. A. C. this year:

Joseph R. Bergman: Monogrammed stationery.

Ray Cunningham and John P. Hurley: Dance programs, souvenir footballs, baseballs, and basketballs; athletic and scholastic award medals, souvenir jewelry and special orders for rings and pins which the Max Adler's campus store does not handle.

Jay R. Masenich: Dance programs, novelties for dances and banquets.

Maurice McNulty and James L. Sheerin: A novelty pencil.

Thomas Donovan, John Stanton, and Frank Picarsky: N. D. arm-bands, lapel pennants and megaphones—to be sold at Homecoming only.

Ward Connel and Paul Kennedy: The exclusive concession to sell Victory buttons on the days of the Georgia Tech and Purdue games.

Wm. F. Sheehan: Chrysanthemums for Georgia Tech and Purdue games.

Raymond R. Downs: Class pins, club pins, rings and invitations.

Bernard B. Foley: School colors on the Student-trip.

Junior Class: Tickets on Army, Princeton, Nebraska, and St. Louis games.

Francis E. Steel: To sell candy on Student trip.

Arthur C. Hohman: Remington portable typewriters.

Senior Class: Sheet music, containing N. D. songs; a leather notebook, and pillow slips.

1924 Dome: Campus views.

THE SALVI CONCERT

The harp concert of Signor Alberto Salvi in Washington hall Monday evening was a performance which brings to mind the tremendous success scored by Galli Curci when she sang to the Notre Dame men in the gym some years ago. Signor Salvi's audience was enthusiastic, as their appreciative applause indicated.

Notre Dame men appreciate good entertainment. They are not uninterested in the finer things, as has been charged. It is true that the entertainments in Washington hall have been "passed up" by many students in favor of a South Bend movie, or a date, but the evidence seems to point to the fact that this seeming defection is due to the "small time" character of the entertainment afforded. When a really good program is offered, there is no lack of attendance and no lack of appreciation.

"MEAT" IN THE MEETING

An editorial in THE DAILY a short time ago commented that Notre Dame has more activities than the whole republic of Nicaragua. That statement may have been supplemented by saying that Notre Dame students, in their quest of activities, have developed an extraordinary faculty to hold more meetings than the bolshevistic agitators of the soviet government, or our allied nations in their controversy over the league covenant.

A day never passes at Notre Dame on which there is not at least one or two, or more meetings of some sort. And in many instances these meetings are scheduled at the same time during the noon hour, or at any other period when classes are not likely to be held. These meetings (with some exceptions) seldom are attended by a representative group, and consequently little or nothing is accomplished at them. The small attendance is very often due to conflicts with other meetings, but usually the men who belong to these organizations fail to make their appearance because they realize that too much time is consumed in trivial discussions, when they could be using their spare moments to a better advantage. They understood the folly of wasting an hour or two each day in some conference listening to difficulties which easily could have been settled in an executive gathering before a general meeting was called.

It is not denied that meetings are essential factors to the success of all properly organized institutions. The very structure of our own democratic government depends upon the decisions reached by our representatives and senators in the house and senate. But when purposeless clubs exist and hold purposeless sessions at Notre Dame, such a group as the S. A. C. is justified in its efforts to curb the purposelessness of it all by "clubbing the clubs."

FORTUNATE MEN

The class of 1927 is fortunate. Books are not flung before them with the mere injunction: "Become educated." They need not start their college years with a hazy idea of what they are doing, knowing little of what is relevant to the desired end, and knowing little of how to advance to that end.

Their way is mapped out. They are shown how to progress through their four years, and they are given, from the start, the atmosphere that will make them like their journey and make them seek the ultimate in all they meet, learning all well and efficiently.

The freshmen lectures and the Freshman Handbook indicates the direction of the travel; they supply this atmosphere. The first group meeting has been held, and Father O'Donnell, James Swift and Don Gallagher have set the stage. They have suggested what a Notre Dame man is, and they have reminded the men that they are Notre Dame men, and as such, will make the journey through four years of college.

The first educational lecture was heard yesterday. It was general, preparatory, much like the second one to be delivered by Father Walsh on "The Traditions of Notre Dame." After that the lectures will become more definite. They will be detailed sign-posts to aid the freshmen on their journey.

VISITS UNIVERSITY

Tom McKeon, sensational Notre Dame varsity end during the eighties and all around athlete, spent the week end at the University and by an invitation from Coach Knute K. Rockne, witnessed the game from the players' bench last Saturday afternoon. He made many interesting comments on the battle and compared the tactics of the 1923 pigskin warriors with those of past days.

TO UNDERGO OPERATION.

Rev. Gregory Gerrar, O. S. B., has undergone a serious operation in New York city. He is seriously ill. Father Gerrar had charge of the art gallery at Notre Dame while here, and was a recognized national authority on art.

Through the Looking Glass

HOODA.

(The Play went on.)
For no reason at all the villain was singing. The people clapped, the orchestra started up. The villain with a broad grin, that is a grin of such breadth and expanse that the most conservative, not to mention sensational, would say, "The man is grinning," or "What a lovely grin," (anyway a grin) he started singing.

A rigid and steely concentration hushed the house. Every eye was fastened on him. Hooda sat his gum tighter. It was a large moment. The American public was getting its jazz. So low has the American public fallen that it actually likes to hear tunes that it can understand. They crave jazz music. They can't live without it. If you make a sound, even a little one while the American public is getting its jazz music it kicks you, bites you, or worse still, it will perhaps invite you to its house and sing for you.

But Hooda did not know all this. He hardly knew half of it. He showed his guilelessness right there by asking a passing usher with earnest politeness to bring him a glass of ice water. The rude usher winked, and totally misunderstanding Hooda he said, "Me too. Last night. Some party."

The villain was singing a song called "Don't Think You'll Be Missed," by Hardy Fist. It went like this:

Got an Aunt in Minneapolis,
Got an Uncle in St. Paul,
And when they fight
They hire a hall.
Auntie's sore for the Bible gives
Three pages to St. Paul;
While it doesn't even mention
Minneapolis at all.
Oh, I got those sawed-off, hammered-down, dog-eared
Blue Vitriol blues. . . . Some squall.

"Whee-ee," howled Hooda. The man next to him dished him a smutty look, and he kept still. The villain was singing again, a sad song this time. The audience sat with their faces frozen with appreciation. The song was:

Honey, ya lef me flat,
Gave me the door and slammed my hat.
When I think of the good old times
When ya kept me clear of crimes,
And also of my dimes,
I get wild.

Honey, whyja leeme?
Y'oughta know 'ud greeme.
When I think of all the pluggin'
That I did to get your huggin'
And not to mention muggin',
Honey, I rave; honey, I rave. . . .

He bowed. There were no applause this time. The women were holding their handkerchiefs and weeping. The men were holding their pocketbooks and had a far away look in their eyes. They filed out of the theatre as the curtain came down. It was like a funeral procession, but more sad for there were no benefactors. Hooda left, forgetting his hat, shoes, and phone number.

The Off Stage has casually suggested that Hooda has been in the theatre for a week now. Out of compassion he has condescended to meet Hooda with a cab and take him to a restaurant at once. Perforce we are led to believe that there is an ulterior motive. Questions like, "How'd you get by with the absences," will very likely creep into the conversation.

I'd like to wine and dine tonight
Some dainty little sinner;
To hear the tiny tinkle of
A goblet with ice
In something nice,
Held by a soft, cool little hand.

To dance beneath old moon dust lights;
To hum a love tune in her ear
Read two sweet lies
In two brown eyes,
And—what's the use? I'm in Freshman hall.

Blackstone—Drifting.

At one time and another during the past, productions of the type of "Tell Me Why" have been attempted, and they were generally unsuccessful. Because of the spirit of the producers they have often degenerated into a mere commercialization of a very delicate theme. Fortunately, "Tell Me Why" escapes most of the defects which have marred previous plays of the same kind. It is by no means sensational, but is an object lesson which comes highly recommended by the Illinois Hygiene League which has been engaged in this work for a number of years.

At the South Bend premiere last Sunday, James H. Brennan, secretary of the Illinois Hygiene league, appeared at the Oliver to lecture upon the picture and to explain the purpose for which it was placed before the public in terms which left no doubt in the minds of the audience as to the philanthropy of the venture.

The Editor Says

Traditions are glorious things. Despite its youth even this little column has its traditions since all of the discussions that have appeared in it began with journalism references. (This paragraph explains the presence of the remark in the next.)

Columns of comment, we remark, are becoming popular with newspaper readers. Such papers as The Baltimore Sun, The New York World, The Public Ledger, and the Hearst papers, are becoming partial to such columns. The presence of these columns possibly is a sign of a changing journalism—a journalism in which news is reduced to the bone and comment is increased, —a change to a more individual journalism.

The DAILY, you know, must be as up-to-date as its contemps, and, accordingly, today if space permits, it begins a column of campus comment. Many have urged such a column, but whether it is really wanted is still a question. We would like to know if you want such a column; write and tell us whether or no.

The success of such a column depends not only on what is talked about, but how this talking is done. The Scholastic contained a column during the latter part of last year that was well done. It was cleverly written, and while it was pointed, it did not, I believe, ever sting. Because of unintentional stings, such columns are dangerous. The writers must be good judges of human nature; they must be able to say things so that they cannot be understood in an unexpected way that hurts, or causes the wrong impression.

The first several installments of the DAILY column will be feelers, and we hope to improve them. They will feel the way, and if they receive commendation, they will be continued. In time they may approach the excellence of the one that appeared in The Scholastic by Dick —, or the one in The South Bend Tribune by Frank Wallace. We hope so.

Suggestions for a name are wanted. "Quad Wrangles" has its merits, but Wallace thought that one up first. Suppose you think one up, and tell us about it.

* * *

The columns of trees near the grotto are being reduced. The elms were too thick, and "that big oak was spoiling this beautiful elm," the gardener explained yesterday. "They should be farther apart," he said, "so that they may grow better, and so that their tops will be full, spreading out and forming cathedral-like arches."

* * *

And, while we think about it, we want to urge you not to support the band by gliding to Harry Denny's music on Saturday, but, if you have "educated wind," to get up there in the band room and blow.

If so, why not eliminate some of those years of apprenticeship usually spent in gaining experience.

To help you accomplish this aim Babson Institute offers a one-year intensive training course.

From actual experience the fundamental principles of business are made clear. By positive examples, the student is shown how to apply these principles in the conduct of every day commercial affairs.

BOXING CARD ENTRIES OPEN FOR BROOKLYN

Large Field of Candidates in All Weights Except Heavy and Flyweights.

The entries for the boxing tournament to be staged as one of the principal features of the Homecoming program, are now open, and all men in the University are eligible to compete. Applicants will be signed up by Frankie Cahill in the apparatus room of the gymnasium on Friday afternoon of this week, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Of the entries registered up to date very few men have signified their intention of entering the heavyweight division, and no names have been entered in flyweight and bantamweight sections.

The following men have signed up and are now training with the boxing team.

Featherweight, 118-125, Joe Szanyi, 122; "Wildcat" Whitaker, 120; Pat Welsh, 122; Mike O'Keefe, 124; Jim Moran, 124. Lighweights, 125-135—Jerry Left, 134; Ted Colby, 132; Mike Auderberg, 135; Jack Spillane, 131. Welterweight, 135-145—Rigley, 140; Ike O'Toole, 140; Hub Walthers, 144; Gene Young, 143. Middleweight—145-158—Ray O'Brien, 150; Bill Flannigan, 154; John Bianchi, 155. Light heavyweight—Al Doyle, 160. Heavyweight, 17- up—Butch De Vauet, 198.

Jim Donahue is expected to sign up the latter part of the week. The entry list may be so large that a preliminary schedule will be arranged and run off on a special occasion. The program for the night before Homecoming will comprise only of the finals, from which the champions of each weight will be declared.

Badin and Day Dogs In Tough Scrimmage

The Badin Hall gridders scrimmaged the Day Dogs yesterday afternoon on the Badin Athletic field. The Day Students' line, which is under the coaching of Father O'Donnell, showed promise and gave the crack Badin line a tough battle. The Day Dogs have good material, and with coaching, they should prove to be a big factor in interhall football. Sommer, of Badin, played well in the line.

IRISH LEAVE FOR BROOKLYN

Rockne Takes 33 Men East; Army Points to Break String of Losses With N. D.

"We are up against a tough proposition but the boys will give all they have got," said Rockne, as the team prepared to leave for the East, yesterday.

That is the whole situation summed up in a few words and there will be no alibis.

The Army team, reinforced by several new men, including "Tiny" Hewitt, will endeavor to the extent of their ability, to avenge the long string of defeats that they have suffered at the hands of the Fighting Irish. Two defeats and one tie out of ten encounters are the only reverses the Rockmen have brought home with them from the Plains of West Point.

Weight will not count so much in Saturday's battle, in so far as it is all on the side of the cadets, but it will be a battle of brains against brains and brawn.

The team went through a light workout yesterday and a short dummy scrimmage wound up their last appearance on the home grounds, before leaving to meet West Point.

The following men will leave with Coach Rockne and Manager Walsh, from the New York Central station at 10:17, this morning: Farrell, Collins, Crowe, Bach, Gluckert, Noppenberger, Captain Brown, Weibel, Regan, Walsh, Arndt, Kizer, Vergara, Harrington, Milbauer, E. Miller, Oberst, Stulhdreher, Reese, Crowley, Bergman, Enright, Cerney, Layden, Mayl, Hunsinger, Murphy, D. Miller, Maher, Connell, Finch, LaFollette, Friske.

A BIG willing companion for every note book

ACTUAL SIZE
You like to grasp a pen like this. It's big. It's husky. It looks strong, reliable, long-lived. And it is.

This new Wahl Signature Pen is a wonder for college work. It never needs prompting. You don't have to shake it. Touch that flexible point to paper and the ink starts with your thought.

The Wahl Comb Feed regulates the flow so perfectly that the ink never floods. The ink capacity is enormous.

And the everlasting nib—it's a marvel. It suits itself to any writing style. Just seems made for your hand. It is heavy 14-karat gold. Tipped with the hardest and finest grade of iridium that money can buy. Experts say this everlasting nib is the finest made.

Another big idea—clipped in pocket, purse, shirt-front, or notebook, the Wahl Signature Pen will not leak. The patented cap-construction assures this. The gold band you see around the cap prevents splitting.

There are two big sizes at $7 and $5—one for men, one for women. Ask for the Wahl Signature Pen. Other Wahl Pens from $2.50 up.
