

DR. WENDT GIVES TALK TO CHEMISTS

EXPLAINS PROBLEMS OF GASOLINE PRODUCTION; HAYNES TALKS TODAY

Dr. Gerald L. Wendt, chairman of the Chicago section of the American Chemical Society, delivered an illustrated lecture on "The Problems of Petroleum Refining," before members of the organization and students of the University, last night in Washington hall. This was the first joint meeting of the society in Indiana, and last night was the first half of the program. The meetings this morning are included in the program printed in this issue.

"The gasoline industry has increased without the aid of chemists but now their aid is secured in order that more careful stock of efficient production may be taken," the speaker said.

"What are we going to do when the production of gasoline stops? The present substitutes are unsatisfactory for many reasons.

"Vast quantities of petroleum oil are not available because of impurities and this is one of the greatest immediate problems of the chemists.

"The two leading substitutes are benzene and alcohol.

Future of Industry.

"Looking in the future oil shale is the greatest difficulty. There are 450 billion tons of oil shale available in the state of Indiana, each ton contains about 10 gallons of gasoline. There is, however, a prohibitive cost of transportation connected with this material. When petroleum gives out we will have to attempt the production of gasoline from this material.

"We have vast more oil in Mexico and California in which sulphur runs. The sulphur runs from one to seven per cent and for this reason these oils are entirely useless. A method for taking out the sulphur is one of the greatest needs for increasing the supply of gasoline.

The storing of gasoline causes a great loss in quantity by reason of evaporation. A great deal more gasoline is used in the summer time than in the winter and therefore it is necessary to store a great part of the supply during the winter time. In a tank with a wooden cover holding 3,000,000 gallons the loss by evaporation in a year is about 30 per cent while in a similar tank covered with a steel roof the loss is about 10 per cent by evaporation. The wind causes the chief loss by evaporation but this can be stopped by making the tank air tight. The change of temperature over night also causes a loss by evaporation."

A three reel film explained by the speaker gave the audience a clear and accurate insight into the manufacture of gasoline. The picture traced the various stages of the crude oil as it is pumped from the wells in Oklahoma until it reaches the consumer in the form of high or low grade gasoline.

Interest has been manifested in the talks to be given this morning. The best known speaker will be Elwood Haynes who will address the second group, that of industrial chemistry-metallurgical tendencies, on "Development Work on Alloys." Haynes is well-known as the inventor of America's first car. The second paper of the group will be presented by Professor E. G. Mahin of Purdue university, on the subject "Hidden Diseases of Metal." Mrs. Lee Supples of Lewis Institute, Chicago, will talk at St. Mary's this morning on "The Chemistry of Cloth."

Entertainment for the visitors will be in the nature of two lunches. (Continued on page four.)

Flannery, graduate student in the College of Arts and Letters. Harry A. McGuire and James F. Hayes took second place with an equal number of rejection slips.

The contest was inaugurated for the purpose of stimulating writing for national publications among the Scribblers. Flannery presented 26 rejection slips and had two articles accepted, one of which appeared in the May number of "Truth." BALL IS CLIMAX OF SENIOR WEEK

COLORFUL DECORATIONS AND PLEASING FAVORS ARE FEATURES OF DANCE

From the first strains of the grand march until the last glow of the lights faded the Senior ball, held last night at the Palais Royale, was a spectacular success. More than 180 couples paid tribute by their evident satisfaction to the careful and elaborate plans made by the committee in charge, headed by Owen E. Desmond of Chicago. The music by Don Bestor and his Benson orchestra exceeded the expectations caused by an organization of such national prominence.

The beauty of the ball was emphasized in the presentation of formal evening bags in gold brocade to the young women as favors. The bags, with gold cord and tassel, were lined with turquoise blue moire and contained a French leather card case, lip stick, eyebrow pencil and compact. In the card case, which was appropriately lettered, the program for the evening was found. A white gold combination comb and knife for a watch chain was the man's favor.

Dome of Flowers.

The Palais Royale was elaborately decorated. As the guests ascended the main stairs they met a huge canvas depicting Notre Dame from across the lake, with its church spire and golden dome. Palms and baskets of flowers lined the stairs and hallways. A color scheme of blue and gold was used in the ballroom. In the center of the floor a dome of golden calendulas and blue sweet peas rose above banked tiers of ferns. Directly beneath the dome in an open space a softly lighted fountain sprayed. One end of the ballroom was furnished with reed furniture. About the walls were hung the insignia of the university and the numerals of the class. The stage on which the orchestra played was covered with banners and streamers of blue and gold.

The committees in charge of the affair were as follows:

General chairman—Owen E. Desmond, Chicago, Ill.

FRESHMAN ORATORS IN FINAL CONTEST

PRIVITERA WINS FIRST; QUINLAN AND PELLEGRIN SHARE HONORS

Sam Privitera, of New York, a resident of Freshman hall and registered in the pre-law course, was adjudged the winner of the freshman oratorical contest held at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Washington hall. The title of his theme was entitled "Why Ditch Proposed Injustice?"

Richard Quinlan, of Illinois, who resides in Walsh hall, was given second place in delivering an oration on "America Must." George J. Pellegrin, of Moreau Seminary, was given third place and William Coyne of Missouri, living in Brownson hall, followed in rank. Bailey Walsh, of Tennessee, and Marcus Fiehrer, of Ohio, both residents of Sophomore hall, were ranked fifth and sixth respectively.

Privitera is conceded to have won first place because of his forceful delivery of a theme of vital importance to the world at the present time.

The oratorical contest held yesterday consisted of six men picked from two groups. Incidentally all, with the exception of Pellegrin, are students in the pre-law course.

Judges officiating during the contest were Prof. Farrell, chairman; Brother Alphonsus and Prof. Bucknell.

Two Contracts Let for Dome of 1925

The Dome of 1925 has already taken its first steps on the road to chronicling next year's activities, according to an announcement by Dennis J. O'Neil, the new editor, that contracts had already been let for the photography and the engraving. Russell of Chicago, who was responsible for the excellent photo section of this year's book, was given the contract for next year's work. Among the many bids considered was an offer by White of New York city. The Pontiac Engraving Company of Chicago will again handle the engraving.

The staff of the 1925 Dome has not yet been picked. The editor asks for cooperation, and further states that the present Dome quarters will be retained.

STATE TRACK MEET CONTESTED TODAY

CINDER PATH SUPREMACY BETWEEN NOTRE DAME, BUTLER AND WABASH

The cream of Indiana's track world gathered from eleven Hoosier colleges and representing an aggregation of nearly 200 athletes will assemble on Cartier field this afternoon at 2 o'clock to await the starter's gun that will open the greatest state track carnival in the history of Indiana.

With the weather man's promise of several hours typical track weather, the historic stands of Cartier field will be occupied by several thousand students and local track fans who will be on hand to witness the eleventh annual running of the Indiana intercollegiate track and field meet. Unusual interest is being manifested in the gigantic cinder derby this year due to the galaxy of star performers which will represent Indiana's schools of higher education on the Notre Dame oval. "Rail birds" of all descriptions are predicting a wholesale slaughter of state records slaughter of state records when under Major John Griffiths, athletic director of the conference calls the sprinters to the mark for the opening event.

Events To Be Contested.

Although there are eleven universities and colleges entered for the afternoon's festivities, several of which are rather new comers in the race for the state title, present indications are pointing to Notre Dame, Butler and Wabash to constitute a triangular war for state supremacy on the cinder path. With Wabash conceded to be less powerful than the Bulldogs, Notre Dame is given an even show to dampen Butler's determination to wrest the state title from the Irish track records where it has remained for nine years. DePauw, Indiana and Purdue, however, cannot be left out of the running altogether. The Tigers and the conference schools are bringing several notable performers to the Hoosier track classic that may tumble the colors of Butler and the Little Giants. Spradling of Purdue and Nay of Indiana will be able to challenge the best men in their respective events that the other Hoosier colleges can produce. DePauw will have their Olympic hope, John Paul Jones, to take the pole vault and broad jump and figure well up in the high jump.

Many Stars Entered.

Barr, Layden, Luke Walsh, McTiernan, Cox, Kennedy, Wendland, Casey, Johnson, Livergood, Harrington, Milbauer, Rigney, Gebhardt and Oberst will figure prominently in Notre Dame's defense of its nine year old title. In the Purdue squad, Maddox, Spradling, Nejd, and Pence will lead the invasion for the Boilermakers, while Indiana will have among its entries such men as Nay, Ritterskamp and Held. Among the thirteen Butler entries will be seen such stellar performers as Gray, Doolittle, Woods, Grigg and Caraway. DePauw will have Jones and a crew of thirteen other performers and Wabash will figure in the scramble for state supremacy with such tracksters as Gustafson, Robbins, Johnson, Cripe and Thorn.

The other schools to send entries are: Manchester, Oakland City, Rose Poly, Franklin and Earlham.

STATE MEET

A charge of 50 cents will be required for admission to the state track meet this afternoon. Student athletic cards will not be accepted. The proceeds will be turned over to the Indiana intercollegiate athletic association.

THE DAILY'S PAGE OF SPORTS

Irish Baseballers Meet Iowa Today

Coach Keogan's Notre Dame baseball team left at 7 o'clock last night for Iowa City where the Irish diamond dusters will meet the Iowa university nine in a return engagement.

The Blue and Gold squad travels west to wipe out the defeat suffered at the hands of the Hawkeye aggregation last Tuesday afternoon. Notre Dame will have an even break and then come to win over the Iowans. The westerner's hard hitting ball club will stand a good chance of tasting defeat if Keogan drafts Magevney for mound duty. The Irish mentor did not name his pitching choice when he left last night but he carried three pitchers, Magevney, Stange and McGrath. Notre Dame, however, is just as anxious to win over Wisconsin next Monday as they are to subdue the Barrymen. Another factor that will play an important part in the Iowa engagement will be the work of the infield. In the Minnesota game, Magevney might have had a shut out over the Gophers had it not been for some loose fielding that enabled the visitors to push five runs across.

The Badgers appearing on Cartier field next Monday while not regarded as a consistently dangerous ball club will be just as strong as any conference nine the Irish have met yet. The Cardinals lost to Purdue by a heavy score after nosing Illinois out of the conference lead. When Wisconsin played Purdue earlier in the season, the Badgers were forced to go twelve innings to beat them 10 to 9, and the victory was affected by the use of two pitchers.

The following men made the Iowa trip: Silver, Smith, Stange, McGrath, Magevney, Nolan, Prendergrast, Sheehan, Pearson, Vergara, Crowley, Dunne and Quinlan.

DONOVAN FEATURES TENNIS MEET WITH FLASHY WIN

CHICAGO, Ill., May 23.—Frank Donovan of Notre Dame broke into the spotlight in the annual western conference tournament today by registering a smashing victory over Kurzkrok of Butler, 6-1, 10-12, 6-3, in the feature of the day's singles. Donovan after winning two previous matches almost met his master in the Butler star. Notre Dame and Butler college are participating in the conference tourney by invitation.

WALSH KEEPS LEADERSHIP WITH LATE RALLY, 8 TO 7

Scoring seven runs in the last two innings of a seven inning game, Walsh overcame a six run lead and defeated the Day Dodgers 8 to 7 on the varsity diamond yesterday afternoon. The sensational rally in the closing chapters of the interhall struggle saved Father Haggerty's charges from having their string of victories broken by the Off-campus aggregation.

Nyikos on the hill for the town men displayed unusual effectiveness and had the Walshites puzzled for five innings after allowing one run on one hit in the opening frame.

Antoine hurling for Walsh pitched an excellent game with the exception of the fourth and fifth inning when the Dodgers found him for seven runs. A home run by Sullivan, the bambino of the Walshites, with two men on in the sixth started the fireworks for Walsh. The fifth was the banner inning for the Day men, three hits and an error contributing largely to the score.

DECISION COSTS M'GOWAN VICTORY IN BOSTON TRIALS

Danny McGowan, Notre Dame flyweight boxer who represented Indiana and Kentucky in the Olympic boxing trials at Boston last week was not knocked out by Pete Sarron of Birmingham, Ala., as was announced in The Daily this week.

McGowan fought and won a three round fight with Willie Russell of Boston and another three round mixer with Johnny Burns of the United States Army. McGowan broke his hand in winning the fight with the army boxer, but continued the schedule which called for an engagement with Pete Sarron. Boston papers gave McGowan the decision over Sarron although the judges favored Sarron with their decision.

Monogram Club Holds Annual Formal Dance at Palais Royale Next Monday

When the members of the Monogram club meet for their annual formal dance at the Palais Royale next Monday night they will have as their guests the minor monogram men, the non-monogram actors in the recent Monogram Aburdities and the best friends of the Monogram club members. For each has the privilege of inviting one guest.

The music for this gala affair will be furnished by Harry Denny and his band. The dance this year is expected to outdo the notable success of last year, and to this end the committee in charge has made intensive preparations. The nature of the novelties that will feature the dance have not yet been announced.

At Other Colleges

CARNEGIE TECH INSTITUTE—Miss Josephine Gibson, one of the most popular girls in her class was selected as Queen of the Campus. She will be crowned next week, when the annual Campus Week is observed.

PURDUE UNIVERSITY—Plans have been completed for the annual freshman cap burning ceremony which will take place tonight. The band will head the parade and immediately after the band the freshmen co-eds will form in line. Many unusual affairs have been planned by the committee in charge.

NEBRASKA—Seventeen students contributed Nebraska's first book of student verse.

The poem winning the first prize of $50 offered by alumni of the class of '98, was written by Janet Pressley, a graduate student.

The poem which took second prize a $25 offered by the Vestals of the Lamp, honorary organization for women of the College of Arts and Sciences, was written by Helen Rumhons.

Both these women are members of Chi Delta Phi, women's honorary literary sorority.

Of the 47 poems in the book the majority are rhymed and metrical. Over a third, however, are free verse. Only some half-dozen men contributed to the volume, by far the greater part of the work having been written by women.

DELEO WINS

(Continued from page three.) The showing of Joe DeLeo in his yearling year indicates a bright outlook for the Notre Dame varsity team of next season. After DeLeo had made such a remarkable showing in the tournament last fall, it was expected that he would be cast as a member of the varsity team this spring to play in the non-conference games. A recent ruling issued from Coach Rockne's office prohibits any freshman participating with a varsity team in non-conference games. This ruling kept DeLeo from playing with the Notre Dame varsity team in the matches with DePaul, Loyola and Culver.

The matches in the university tournament that were scheduled yesterday were postponed because of the inclement weather and play will be resumed at the beginning of next week.

The Notre Dame golf team leaves South Bend for Culver this morning at 10 o'clock to meet the cadets in an 18 hole match this afternoon. The cadets are figured to be strong in this sport and were prominent in the national interscholastic golf circle last year. The following men made the trip: Captain Adams, Ward, Bulger, Foglia and Harris.
