endowed chairs named in theology

Two endowed chairs have been filled in the University's department of theology, according to Prof. Timothy O'Meara, provost.

Joseph Blenkinsopp, Jr., professor of theology, has been named John A. O'Brien Professor of Old Testament Studies. This professorship is one of three chairs in Catholic theology in the department. Blenkinsopp, who joined the theology faculty in 1970, holds degrees from the University of London, the International Theological Institute of Turin, and the University of Oxford. A specialist in Old Testament studies, he has published numerous books and articles on biblical theology and for the last four summers has coordinated an archaeological project at Capernaum, Israel.

Rev. Thomas F. C. O'Meara, O.P., professor of theology, has been named William K. Warren Professor of Catholic Theology. Father O'Meara, who joined the theology faculty in 1981, holds degrees from Saint Thomas College in River Forest, Ill., the Aquinas Institute and the University of Munich. A specialist in fundamental theology, the theology of Thomas Aquinas, and the philosophy and theology of the 19th and 20th centuries, Father O'Meara has written fifty articles and several books, most recently, Theology and Ministry.

These appointments become effective in September, 1985. The three John A. O'Brien chairs memorialize the priest-author who spent forty years teaching and writing at Notre Dame before his death in 1980. A popular Catholic apologist whose books, articles and pamphlets reached millions of readers, Father O'Brien was a leader of the Newman Club movement and an early advocate of the church renewal issuing from the Second Vatican Council.

The Warren chair in Catholic theology was established by a $1 million gift to the University from William K. Warren of Tulsa, Okla. Warren, an oil executive, has been a member of the advisory council for Notre Dame's College of Business Administration since 1948. He received an honorary degree from the University in 1956.

wenig new development director for nyc

Mark L. Wenig, a 1974 Notre Dame graduate in communications, has been named the University's regional director of development in New York City. As one of six such directors, he will oversee development activities in nine Middle-Atlantic and New England states.

Wenig served for the last two years as U.S. marketing manager for Sadimax, Inc., a French electronics firm dealing in television and auto radio antennas. Before this he served as a sales representative of the French unit of Xerox Corporation in Paris, as a business development officer for Union Bank in Los Angeles and as a sales representative for Xerox in Los Angeles.

In addition to his Notre Dame studies, he completed a French language course at Middlebury College in Vermont and a management course at the Xerox Center in Leesburg, Virginia. He is an amateur radio license operator, a member of Alliance Francaise and the Foreign Policy Association of New York.

documen- tation

summary of the board of trustees meeting november 16, 1984

1. Dr. Thomas P. Carney, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, called the meeting to order, and Rev. Richard V. Warner, C.S.C., offered the opening prayer.
2. Dr. Carney introduced seven new trustees: Mr. Thomas A. Coleman, Mr. Bernard J. Hank, Jr., Mr. Terrence E. Keating (ex officio), Mr. Terrence R. Keeley, Rev. William M. Lewers, C.S.C., Mr. Frank J. Pasquerilla and Dr. Kathleen M. Sullivan.
3. The minutes of the spring (May 4-5, 1984) meeting were approved.
4. Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., reporting on a meeting of the Fellows of the University, said the bylaws had been amended to provide for the position of Vice Chairman of the Board of Trustees.
5. In the report of the Nominating Committee, Dr. Carney said that two persons had been nominated for Board memberships and that a third had been designated as an alternative nominee. The new trustees will not be announced until they agree to serve.
6. Mr. Andrew J. McKenna presented the report of the Ad Hoc Organization Development Committee.
7. The report of the Academic and Faculty Affairs Committee was presented by Dr. Martha E. Peterson. She said committee members had visited the Department of Government and International Studies and Psychology as well as the Memorial Library. Matters discussed by the committee included faculty and staff health benefits, sabbatical leave policy, preceptorships for junior faculty and the curriculum committee report.
8. Professor Timothy O'Meara, Provost, explained how the PACE Report is being implemented. He reviewed revisions in the Academic Council which was then formally approved by the Board of Trustees.
9. The trustees approved a resolution honoring the memory of trustee emeritus Alfred C. Stepan, Jr., who died Oct. 1, 1984.
10. Mr. Anthony F. Earley presented the report of the Student Affairs Committee. The ensuing discussion dealt with the alcohol policy, women's role on the campus, the social scene generally, and a proposal for campus townhouses. Mr. Philip Hawley urged a University admissions policy which would lead to equal access for men and women.
11. Rev. Donald P. McNeill, C.S.C., presented an overview of the Center for Social Concerns and its programs.
12. Rev. David T. Tyson, C.S.C., described the organization, programs and personnel of the Student Affairs division from his perspective as its new vice president.
13. The Alcohol Report and reaction to it were reviewed by Rev. E. William Beauchamp, C.S.C., and Father Tyson. They said a number of colleges and universities have inquired about it, and some have adopted it substantially as their own.
14. In a presentation on campus social space, Father Tyson described preliminary planning for a major addition to and a complete renovation of the LaFortune Student Center.
15. Professor O'Meara reviewed faculty appointments of note and the recent investiture of scholars in eight endowed chairs. He also discussed comparative data on faculty salaries and the reallocation of space in the Memorial Library.

16. Mr. Frank E. Sullivan presented the report of the University Relations Committee. The Committee was briefed on the University's new Department of Community Relations, recent series of regional trustees' meetings, and a projected fund-raising campaign.
17. The objectives, financial goal and timetable for the projected campaign were reviewed by Dr. William P. Sexton, Vice President for University Relations.
18. Mr. Terrence E. Keating, president of the Notre Dame Alumni Association, made a slide presentation describing its long-range planning program.
19. Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, C.S.C., Executive Vice President, reviewed the chronology of developments concerning the televising of college football, litigation and court decision.
20. Dean Michael J. Loux of the College of Arts and Letters presented a paper on the impact of computers and technology generally on teaching, scholarship and research in the liberal arts.
21. Mr. Jerome W. Van Gorkom presented the report of the Financial Affairs Committee. He expressed guarded optimism that the University will emerge from the current fiscal year "in the black."
22. The report of the Investment Committee was presented by Mr. Robert K. Wilmouth.
23. Mr. Thomas J. Mason, Vice President for Business Affairs, itemized current campus construction and renovation projects.
24. The trustees' attention was called to pending litigation involving the University.
25. Board of Trustees committee assignments were circulated.
26. Two technical resolutions were approved.

National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowships for Translators

No. FY85-297

Program:

Fellowships are available to published translators of creative literature to enable them to set aside time for specific translation projects from other languages into English. Preference will be given to translators who have published original creative work and to projects for translations of work not previously translated, including work of intrinsic literary value from languages not commonly translated. Eligible applicants must have either published a translation of a novel or of a volume of 50 or more pages of fiction or poetry, published a book-length translation of a work of literary merit, or published a total of 50 pages of translations, of creative literature in literary magazines, anthologies, or books. Publication must have taken place after January 1, 1970. Applications will be accepted from individuals only. Anyone who has received a Literature Program fellowship in translation or creative writing since January 1, 1982 is not eligible to apply in this category. Additionally, applications for both creative writing fellowships and translation fellowships will not be accepted from an individual in the same year.

Fellowships for translators are for $10,000 or $20,000, depending on the length and scope of the project. Applicants must specify one of these two amounts on the application form. Fellowships generally will be awarded for the amount requested or not at all. Individuals interested in translating plays should not apply here, but should contact the Endowment's Theater Program instead.

National Endowment for the Humanities Humanities Projects in Media

No. FY85-304

Program:

Outright, matching, and combined grants support the development of quality radio, television, and film programming in the humanities. Such projects should be designed to stimulate in large general audiences an understanding of and appreciation for the essential activities, knowledge, and methods of the humanities. The Media program is especially interested in projects which translate into television and radio the acknowledged literary, philosophical, and historical masterworks of civilization. There must be an active collaboration between production personnel and humanities scholars with expert knowledge in the subject area, particularly in the formative stage. All television projects should be designed to reach national audiences. Radio projects of local or regional interest are eligible for funding. Support is provided for planning, scriptwriting, and/or production. Planning grants are limited to a maximum of $20,000. There are no specific ceilings on scriptwriting or production grants. Any group of scholars of professionals with experience in the media and the humanities is eligible to apply. Applicants may work with or within a non-profit institution or organization, such as a production facility or cultural organization, or may form their own non-profit independent production group for the express purpose of developing a specific project. Funding is also available for projects to develop programming designed primarily for children and youth. Additional guidelines for such projects may be obtained from the Media Program. Deadlines for that program are the same as for the regular Media program.

National Endowment for the Humanities Program Development (Including Libraries)

No. FY85-305

Program:
Grants in this category support new ways of presenting the humanities to the general adult public. This program supports projects that fall outside other guidelines of the Endowment. Proposals in two areas are especially encouraged: (1) history, theory, and criticism of the arts; and (2) the interpretation of literature. Projects highlighting the forthcoming Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution are also encouraged. As the "Humanities Projects in Libraries" program has now been integrated into this program, proposals submitted by libraries should be submitted by the Program Development deadlines and will compete with all other applications submitted to this program during a particular grant-making cycle. Two categories of support are offered: Planning Grants, which are limited to a maximum of $15,000 and six months' duration and for which no cost-share is required; and 2) Implementation Grants, which range from $15,000 to $20,000 for periods of one to three years and require a cost-share of 20% (30% in the case of renewals). It is strongly suggested that a preliminary statement be submitted at least four weeks before the deadline for formal applications.

The Tinker Foundation, Inc. Tinker Postdoctoral Fellowship Program- Ibero-American Studies

No. FY85-313

Program:

Up to eight annual stipends of $18,000 plus $2,000 for traveling expenses are awarded each year to support research projects concerning Latin America, Portugal, or Spain. The program affords the opportunity to do research in the Foundation's areas of interest: social sciences, marine sciences, and international relations. Its primary objective is to foster intellectual growth by encouraging field research which will have significant theoretical implications within or between disciplines or for public policy. Candidates are required to select a senior consultant who may represent the second discipline in which they will be working, and to affiliate themselves with an institution other than their home university. The Fellowships are for individuals who have completed their doctoral studies no less than three years but no more than ten years prior to the time of application. Citizens and permanent residents of the U.S., Canada, the Latin American countries, Portugal, and Spain are eligible. U.S. citizens and others with a Ph.D. from a U.S. university may do their research in an appropriate country of their choice; non-U.S. citizens who do not hold a U.S. doctorate may use the Fellowship only at a U.S. institution. Each applicant must have a letter of recommendation sent directly to the Foundation by February 1.

Deadline:

January 15, 1985
