Michael Wiescher, Freimann Professor of Physics, has been appointed to the National Science Advisory Committee (NSAC) Review Committee of the Department of Energy Low Energy Nuclear Physics Facilities.

Christina Wolbrecht, assistant professor of government and international studies, received the Leon Epstein Book Award from the Political Organizations and Parties section of the American Political Science Association at its annual meeting in San Francisco, Aug. 29 through Sept. 1.

Activities

Jeffrey Bergstrand, associate professor of finance, presented "The Growth of World Trade and Outsourcing" with Scott Baier, assistant professor of finance and business economics, at the American Economic Association annual meeting, New Orleans, in January.

John G. Borkowski, McKenna Family Professor of Psychology, organized a symposium, based on data from the Notre Dame Parenting Project, on "Psychopathology and Adjustment Problems in Adolescent Mothers and their Children" for the Gatlinburg Conference on Research and Theory in Mental Retardation, March 5-7, at which meeting he also presented a paper, with C. Willard, on "Self-Regulation in Children with Teen Mothers." He presented a paper, with C. Willard, on "Academic Achievement in Children with Adolescent Mothers" at the meetings on the American Educational Research Association, Seattle, April 12; presented two papers at the meetings of Society for Research in Child Development on "Self-Efficacy in Adolescents Who have Siblings with and without Disabilities" (with M.O. Grissom) and "Conduct Disorders in Children with Adolescent Mothers" (with C. Willard and S. Williams), Minneapolis, April 19-21; and organized an invited conference on "The Measurement of Child Neglect" in Keystone, Colo., July 22-25.

Thomas Cosimano, professor of finance, presented "Monetary Policy under the Basel Accord," cowritten with R. Chami, at the International Monetary Fund in July.

J. Michael Crant, associate professor of management, presented "Being Proactive in Your Career: A Longitudinal Mediated Model Linking Personality and Career Outcomes" with S. Seibert and M. Kraimer at the Academy of Management, Washington, D.C., in August.

Norman Crowe, professor of architecture, conducted a summer program design task force with José Cornélio da Silva, visiting assistant professor of architecture, in Viseu, Portugal, during the month of July. The task force designed a building for the new School of Architecture of the Catholic University of Portugal (UCP) and an urban design proposal for integration of the new campus of UCP into the medieval fabric of the city of Viseu.

Alan Dowty, professor of government and international studies, and Kroc fellow, was a member of a panel on "Does the Risk of Nuclear War Belong to History?" at the conference on The Waning of Major War, Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies, Notre Dame, April 7; was a member of a panel on the "Balances of Power, Imbalances of Weakness: Globalization and U. S. Foreign Policy" annual Theodore B. Hesburgh Lecture on Ethics and Public Policy, Kroc Institute for International Peace Studies, Notre Dame, April 10; and presented "The Al-Aqsa Intifada: Revealing the Chasm," coauthored with M. Gawerc, at the annual meeting of the Association of Israel Studies, Washington, D.C., May 16.
