Honors

John G. Borkowski, the McKenna Family Research Professor of Psychology, was appointed to the board of directors of the Child Abuse Services, Investigations, and Education Center of St. Joseph County.

Peter Easton, the Notre Dame Alumni Professor of Accountancy and academic director of the Center for Accounting Research and Education, recently had his paper "Scale and Scale Effects in Market-Based Accounting Research" listed on SSRN's Top Ten Download List for SMU Cox School of Business Research Paper Series.

James M. Frabutt, associate professional specialist, ACE Leadership Program, and concurrent associate professor of psychology, has been invited to serve as a consultant to the federal Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, US Department of Justice.

Christian Moevs, associate professor of Italian, had his book The Metaphysics of Dante's Comedy selected as a co-winner of the Howard R. Marraro Prize given by the MLA for the best book published in Italian Studies in 2005.

Jamie O'Brien, associate professional specialist in accountancy, received the BP Teaching Award for excellence in undergraduate teaching, spring 2007.

Frank Reilly, the Hank Professor of Finance, received the Lifetime Achievement Award, Midwest Finance Association, in Minneapolis, March 22–24.

Donald E. Sporleder, professor of architecture emeritus, was re-elected vice chairman of the Trails Advisory Board, Indiana Dept. of Natural Resources.

Oliver F. Williams, CSC, director of the Center for Ethics and Religious Values in Business, and Fellow of the Kroc Institute, was named the Donald Gordon Fellow at the Univ. of Cape Town and will serve in a joint appointment at the Univ. of Cape Town and Stellenbosch Univ. for the 2007 academic year.

Activities

Robert Audi, the Gallo Professor of Business Ethics, presented "Nationalism versus Cosmopolitanism in an Age of Globalization," Santa Clara Univ., Jan. 10; "A Multiple Stakeholder Theory of CEO Compensation" and "Two Anchors of Moral Judgment," Redlands Univ., Feb. 6; "Moral Virtue and Reasons for Action" and "The Problem of Evil: Divine Experience and Human Suffering," Biola Univ., Feb. 7–8; "The Marketing of Human Images as a Challenge to Leadership in Business" at the Drucker School of Management, Claremont Graduate Univ., Feb. 8; "Belief, Faith, and Acceptance" at a conference on the ethics of belief at the Claremont School of Religion, Feb. 9; "Nationalism Versus Cosmopolitanism in an Age of Globalization" at the US Military Academy (West Point), April 2; and a response to three critics of his Practical Reasoning and Ethical Decision (Routledge, 2006) in a symposium on the book at a meeting of the American Philosophical Association in San Francisco, April 6.

Nora Besansky, professor of biological sciences, was the keynote speaker and presented "The Coluzzi Paradigm: Evolutionary and Practical Importance of Vector Analysis" to the "Biology and Pathology of Malaria Parasites Network of Excellence Conference" at EMBL Heidelberg, Germany, April 9–11.

John G. Borkowski, the McKenna Family Research Professor of Psychology, (with Jennifer Lefever-Burke, research assistant professor of psychology, and R. Lanzi) organized the symposium "Early Risk for Developmental Delays among Children of First Time Mothers: Two year Findings from the Parenting for the First Time Project" at the "Gatlinburg Conference on Research and Theory in Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities" held March 7–9, in Annapolis, Md., where he presented "Prenatal Cumulative Risks and Maternal Parenting during Infancy" (with K. Howard et al.) and "Prenatal Maltreatment Risk, Early Parenting Behaviors, and Children's Emergent Regulation" (with J. Schatz and the Centers for the Prevention of Child Neglect); presented a poster titled "Insecure and Disorganized Attachment among At-Risk Children: The Influence of Subthreshold Neglect" (with J.R. Farris and J.S. Nicholson); presented the following papers and posters at the "Conference of the Society for Research in Human Development," March 29–April 1, in Boston: "Subthreshold Neglect as a Predictor of Infant Attachment Status" (with J.R. Farris); "A Longitudinal Investigation of Parenting Self-Efficacy in First-Time Mothers" (with C. Weaver et al.); "Improving Parenting Knowledge and Skills in At-Risk Mothers (with C.E. Akai et al.); "Prenatal Cumulative Risks and Maternal Parenting during Infancy" (with K.S. Howard et al.); "Childhood Risk for Obesity: The Influence of Early Maternal Risk and Association with Concurrent Social Competence (with J.B. Lefever et al.); "Parent Training: Implementation Strategies for Adventures in Parenting" (with S.S. Bert et al.); "Predicting Differential Outcomes Within a Parent-Training Prevention Program" (with S.S. Bert et al.); "Data Analysis Approaches with Atypical Populations: Going Beyond the Mean" (with J.S. Nicholson et al.).

Maureen Boulton, professor of French, made an invited presentation titled "The Life of the Virgin by Wace and Herman de Valenciennes: Conventions of Romance and Chanson de Geste in Religious Narrative," at a colloquium on "The Church and Vernacular Literature in Medieval France," Univ. of Toronto, March 29–31; and "Lives of Christ in the French of England: Theme and Variations" at a colloquium on "The French of England: Multilingualism in Practice, c. 1100–c. 1500," at Fordham University, March 31–April 1.

Jacqueline Vaught Brogan, professor of English, presented "Bishop's Subversion of Genre" at the American Literature Association Conference, San Diego, in May 2006.

Theodore Cachey, professor and chairperson of the Dept. of Romance Languages and Literatures, presented the invited lecture "Between Dante and Petrarch" and gave a seminar on "Mapping Petrarch's Canzoniere" for the Italian Studies Dept., Univ. of California, Berkeley, April 5–6.

Ian Carmichael, director of the Radiation Laboratory and professor of chemistry and biochemistry, presented "On the Development of XJCH Spin-Couplings as Probes of Inter-Residue H-Bond Strength in Oligosaccharides in Solution," written with staff member Hongqiu Zhao and Anthony S. Serianni, professor of chemistry and biochemistry; ^{13}C -Labeled N-Acetylneuraminic (Sialic) Acid: NMR and DFT Studies of JHH, JCH and JCC Spin-Couplings in Protonated and Ionized Forms," written with staff member Thomas E. Klepach and Anthony S. Serianni; ^{13}C -Labeled Methyl Aldohexopyranuronides: NMR and DFT Studies of Homo- and Heteronuclear Spin-Couplings Involving Hydrogen and Carbon," written with research associate Weilie Zhang, Thomas E. Klepach, and Anthony S. Serianni; "Parameterization of $^3\text{J}_{\text{HCOH}}$ and $^3\text{J}_{\text{CCOH}}$ Spin-Coupling Constants in Saccharides: Influence of Electronegative Substituents, and Application to Experimental Studies of H-Bonding in Solution," written with Hongqiu Zhao and Anthony S. Serianni; "Water Adsorption on $\alpha\text{-Al}_2\text{O}_3(0001)$ Surface: A DFT Investigation," written with research associate Victor A. Ranea and William F. Schneider, associate professor of chemistry and biochemistry, all at a meeting of the American Chemical Society, Chicago, March 25–29.

Dennis P. Doordan, professor and chair, Dept. of Art, Art History, and Design, presented "The Corinth Project at the Snite Museum of Art" on Dec. 5 at the "Creator, Collector, Catalyst: The University Art Museum in the Twenty-First Century" symposium organized by Princeton Univ. and the Wolfsonian-FIU, in Miami Beach, Fla.; "Frank Lloyd Wright and American Cultural Diplomacy in the Early Cold War" on Jan. 4 at the "Research Symposium on Cold War Fairs and Expositions" sponsored by the Victoria & Albert Museum and the Univ. of Brighton, in London; "Everything is Made Out of Something: The Place of Materials in Design History" on Jan. 18 at the Royal College of Art, London; and "Reflections on Modernism and the History of Architecture after World War Two" on March 1 as the keynote address for the symposium "Sanctioning Modernism: Post WWII Architecture" at the School of Architecture, Univ. of Texas at Austin.

James M. Frabutt, associate professional specialist, ACE Leadership Program, and concurrent associate professor of psychology, presented "Building A Community Response to Reducing Minority Involvement in the Juvenile Justice System" with R. Harrison and M. Duhart for the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, US Department of Justice, in February.

Alexander Hahn, professor of mathematics and director of the Kaneb Center for Teaching and Learning, served as an on-site reviewer of a five-year mathematics/science/technology partnership project funded by the National Science Foundation and led by Hunter College, New York, Nov. 2–3.

Prashant V. Kamat, professor of chemistry and biochemistry, senior scientist in the Radiation Laboratory, and concurrent professor of chemical and biomolecular engineering, presented "SWCNT Based Nanostructured Hybrid Assemblies for Next Generation Solar Cells," "INOR 000—Single Wall Carbon Nanotube Scaffolds for Photoelectrochemical Solar Cells," and "Meeting Clean Energy Demand with Nanostructure Architectures" at the ACS national meeting in Chicago, March 26–28.

Gary Lamberti, professor of biological sciences, presented "Restoration of Stream Ecosystems in Alaska, Michigan, and Indiana" to the Dept. of Biology at Valparaiso Univ. on March 20.

David Lodge, professor of biological sciences, presented "Biology and Policy of Invasive Species" at the Mote Marine Laboratory in Sarasota, Fla., April 2–6.

Dan Meisel, professor of chemistry and biochemistry, senior scientist in the Radiation Laboratory, and concurrent professor of chemical and biomolecular engineering, served on the Department of Homeland Security Directorate of Science and Technology panel on "Scholarships and Fellowships in the Physical Sciences," Washington, D.C., March 16–18; and presented "Unidirectional Photo-Induced Charge Transport in Templated Nanostructures," written with staff member Tali Sehaye et al., at the meeting of the American Chemical Society, Chicago, March 25–29.

Kevin M. Misiewicz, associate professor of accountancy, presented "Shaken and Stirred: A 'Moral Competence in Tax Practice' Module" at the mid-year meeting of the American Taxation Association, San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 24; and was interviewed on "Making Preparing Your Tax Return Less Taxing," WNDU-TV, Notre Dame, Feb. 20.

Christian Moevs, associate professor of Italian, presented the invited lecture "A Reading of Paradiso II" at the Newberry Library in Chicago, Feb. 16; the invited lecture "Poetry as Theology in Dante's Paradiso" at the Univ. of Cambridge March 9; the invited lecture "Creature and Creator in Dante's Paradiso" for the Universities of Oxford and Reading, March 12; and four invited lectures at the University of Leeds: "The Canto of Ugolino," "A Reading of Paradiso II," "The Cantos of the Primo Mobile," and "Dante and God," March 13–15.

Al Neiman, professional specialist in philosophy, presented "Addiction and Mood Disorder in the Fast Food University" as an invited response to the presidential address at the annual meeting of the Philosophy of Education Society, Atlanta, on March 20.

Rev. Ronald Nuzzi, director of the ACE Leadership program, presented an evening lecture with the Rev. Andrew Greeley, "Catholic Schools Still Make a Difference," at Our Mother of Sorrows Church, Tucson, Jan. 30; an in-service for faculty at St. Augustine High School, Tucson, on Jan. 31; a lecture, "Leadership Theory Applications in Catholic Education," at the US Military Academy, West Point, on March 8; a workshop, "The Spirituality of Teaching," to educators in the Diocese of Fall River, Mass., on March 19; and a keynote address, "Charting the Future of Catholic Education," to educators in the Diocese of Venice, Fla., on March 23.

Dean A. Porter, director emeritus of the Snite Museum of Art, was one of three jurors for the exhibition "Art from the Other Half of the West," Desert Caballeros Museum, Wickenburg, Ariz, March 23; and delivered the invited lecture "Beyond O'Keeffe: The Women Artists of Taos (1929–1979)" at the Wickenburg Desert Caballeros Museum, March 24.

Frank Reilly, the Hank Professor of Finance, coordinated and participated in a panel on "The Evolving Characteristics of the High Yield Bond Market"; and presented "An Analysis of Credit Risk Spreads for High Yield Bonds" with coauthor D. Wright.

Jeanne Romero-Severson, associate professor of biological sciences, presented "The Last Stand of the Living Dead: Genetic Vulnerability in Quercus rubra L" at Eastern Kentucky Univ. in Richmond, March 22–24.

W. Robert Scheidt, professor of chemistry and biochemistry, presented "NO Hemes from Toxic Gas to NRVS" at an invited department colloquium at the Univ. of Louisville, April 5–6.

Donald E. Sporleder, professor of architecture emeritus, is serving as AIA150 Champion for the AIA Northern Indiana Chapter and assisted in coordinating the AIA Northern Indiana and School of Architecture events for National Architects Week in celebration of the 150th year of the American Institute of Architects.

Richard E. Taylor, professor of chemistry and biochemistry, presented an invited seminar titled "Synthesis and Evolution of Biologically Active Polyketides" at Northwestern Univ., Evanston, Ill, April 9–10.

Julia Adeney Thomas, associate professor of history, delivered a paper titled "Real" Photography as Social Critique: Beggars, Bourgeois Values, and Maimed Veterans in Postwar Japan" at the Association of Asian Studies conference in Boston on March 24.

Oliver F. Williams, CSC, director of the Center for Ethics and Religious Values in Business and Fellow of the Kroc Institute, presented "Catholic Values in the Business World: The Challenge and the Promise" to the Notre Dame Club of Reading and Alvernia College, Penn., March 19; and "South Africa: A Vision of the Future" to the World Affairs Council of Western Michigan and the Notre Dame Club of Grand Rapids, Mich., on March 26.

Documentation

James A. Burns, CSC, Graduate School Award

Nominations are requested for the James A. Burns, CSC Graduate School Award given annually to a faculty member for distinction in graduate teaching or other exemplary contributions to graduate education. Contributions can be in any or all of the following areas: building or developing a graduate program, teaching quality graduate courses, excellence as an adviser or thesis director, and excellence in service as a director of graduate studies or in any other similar position. Faculty from the colleges of Arts and Letters, Science and Engineering, and the School of Architecture, are eligible.

The nomination packet should include a minimum of four letters of support (two from students and two from faculty) but no more than six, and a copy of the nominee's CV. All documentation should be sent to the department chair, who will forward all documentation to the Graduate School by Friday, March 9, 2007.

The first Notre Dame President with an advanced degree, a doctorate from the Catholic University of America, Father Burns was the leading reformer of Catholic education in this country in the first quarter of the 20th century. One of his most significant contributions was to raise academic standards by recruiting faculty with doctoral degrees.

James A. Burns, CSC, Graduate School Winners Since 1990

1989–1990 Rev. Ernan McMullin
1990–1991 Lawrence Marsh
1991–1992 Wilhelm Stoll
1992–1993 Scott Maxwell
1993–1994 Joan Aldous
Francis J. Castellino
1994–1995 Robert C. Johansen

1995–1996 Jeanne D. Day
1996–1997 Arvind Varma
1997–1998 David Legee
Thomas Mueller

1998–1999 Gail Bederman
1999–2000 Katherine O'Brien O'Keeffe
2000–2001 Thomas Nowak
2001–2002 Cindy Bergeman
2002–2003 Joan Brennecke
2003–2004 Gary Lamberti
2004–2005 Scott P. Mainwaring
2005–2006 John Cavadini
Daniel Costello

Research Achievement Award

The Research Achievement Award is presented annually to honor a distinguished Notre Dame faculty member who has made significant contributions to scholarship in their discipline and to the research and education goals of the University.

The dean of each college and school may nominate two full-time faculty members, currently active in research and teaching. In addition to the nominee's curriculum vitae, each nomination should include a two-page letter that addresses the selection criteria:

- The nominee's past research accomplishments and future research potential.
- Demonstration of universal recognition as a research leader.

The director of the Office of Research will assemble a committee to review the nominations. The committee will include one member from each college and school, and will make a recommendation to the dean of the Graduate School, who will select the winner.

The award consists of a plaque and $10,000 placed in a discretionary research account for the recipient's use. The winner will also be recognized in the Commencement program and at the President's faculty dinner.

Nominations must be received by Erin Ytterberg in the Office of Research, 511 Main Building, no later than March 9, 2007.

Past Research Achievement Award Winners

2001 Arvind Varma
2002 Eugene Ulrich
2003 Maureen Hallinan
2004 George Marsden
2005 Frank Collins
2006 John Borkowski

Faculty Award Nominations Sought

Established in the 1927–28 academic year by the Alumni Association, the Faculty Award singles out that faculty member who, in the opinion of his or her colleagues, has contributed outstanding service to the University of Notre Dame. Each year a selection committee, composed of prior winners and representing the colleges and the Law School, studies the recommendations submitted by former recipients of this award, the deans, and individual faculty members, and selects a winner.

Nominations must be received by Brandon Roach, executive assistant to the provost, 300 Main Building, no later than March 9, 2007.

Reinhold Niebuhr Award Nominations Sought

Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, CSC, and Chancellor Willy Brandt of West Germany were the first recipients of Reinhold Niebuhr awards sponsored by friends of the Protestant theologian and author. Receiving this award in September 1972, at ceremonies at Union Theological Seminary in New York City, Father Hesburgh announced the establishment of a Reinhold Niebuhr Award at the University of Notre Dame. This award is made annually to a student, faculty member, or administrator whose life and writings promote or exemplify the area of social justice in modern life.

The initial award to Father Hesburgh was $5,000. This he turned over to the Notre Dame endowment to underwrite an annual cash award of $250 for the winner of this campus honor. The selection committee includes representatives from the colleges and the Law School, Campus Ministry, Center for Social Concerns, rectors, Ladies of Notre Dame, and the student body. All members of the Notre Dame community are invited to submit recommendations for this award to Brandon Roach, executive assistant to the provost, 300 Main Building, prior to March 9, 2007.

Grenville Clark Award Nominations Sought

On October 20, 1978, Father Hesburgh was one of three recipients of the Grenville Clark Prize, an award given every three years by the Grenville Clark Fund at Dartmouth College. Following the procedure established when he won the Reinhold Niebuhr Award in 1972, Father Hesburgh donated the $5,000 Clark stipend to the Notre Dame endowment to underwrite a cash prize of $250 to be awarded each year. This award is made to a faculty member, administrator, or student whose volunteer activities serve to advance the cause of peace and human rights to which Grenville Clark devoted his extraordinary life of public service. The selection committee includes representatives from the colleges and Law School, Campus Ministry, Center for Social Concerns, rectors, Ladies of Notre Dame, and the student body. All members of the Notre Dame community are invited to submit recommendations for this award to Brandon Roach, executive assistant to the provost, 300 Main Building, prior to March 9, 2007.

Foik Award Nominations Sought

The Rev. Paul J. Foik Award Committee invites nominees for the award, which is given annually to a library faculty member who has contributed significantly to library service to the Notre Dame community or to the library profession through personal scholarship or involvement in professional associations. The award is named for the Holy Cross priest who served as director of Notre Dame's library from 1912 to 1924 and was a leading figure in the library profession in the first quarter of the 20th century. It is among those announced at the President's faculty dinner in May. Previous winners, beginning with the first award in 1991, include Maureen Gleason, Robert Havlik, Joseph Huebner, Rafael Tarrago, Janis Johnston, Charlotte Ames, Dwight King Jr., Stephen Hayes, Katharina Blackstead, Margaret Porter, Lucy Salisbury Payne, Laura Anderson Bayard, Joanne Bessler, Doug Archer, Eric Lease Morgan, and Carole Richter Pilkinton.

All members of the University Libraries' and Law Library faculty with two or more years' service are eligible. Please send letters of nomination to the Reverend Paul J. Foik Award Committee, c/o Melodie Eiteljorge, 221 Hesburgh Library, by March 9, 2007. Such letters should include reasons for considering the nominee for this award.

Special Presidential Award Nominations Sought

The Special Presidential Awards are given to members of the faculty and/or the administration for distinguished service to the University over an extended period of time. The presentation of a citation and a stipend are made to the recipients. Nominations, from the faculty at large, must be received by Brandon Roach, executive assistant to the provost, 300 Main Building, no later than March 9, 2007.

University Committee on Libraries (UCL)

Minutes of the Meeting of February 16, 2007

7:30 – 9:00 am, Café DeGrasta

UCL Members. Present: John Weber (Chair), Heidi Ardizzone, Charles Barber, Edmund Edmonds (ex officio), David Leighton, Parker Ladwig, Brian Pitts, Andrew Sommesse, David Smith, Laurence

Taylor, Jennifer Younger (ex officio). Absent on Leave: Susan Blum. Absent: Semion Lyandres, John Robinson, Gordon Wishon (ex officio), Ashlee Wright.

Guest: Nigel Butterwick.

Call to order at 7:30 by Chair, John Weber.

1. Welcome and Agenda Review

Weber welcomed the committee members to the first meeting of the year. The next meeting will take place Thursday, March 8, 2007, at 7:30 am at Café DeGrasta.

2. Approval of Minutes from December 8, 2006, Meeting

Pitts motioned to approve the December 8, 2006, UCL meeting minutes. The motion was seconded by Barber and passed unanimously.

3. Chair's Report – John Weber

Weber called for volunteers to serve on the Foik Award Committee. He gave an overview of the award and mentioned the administrative support available. He also mentioned that the previous award winners would serve on the committee. Edmunds, Pitts, and Weber volunteered to serve.

4. Director's Report – Jennifer Younger

Younger handed out samples of the four winning bookmarks designed by Art, Art History, and Design students to celebrate the Fiesta Bowl funding given to the University Libraries. She mentioned that the library is currently recruiting for two faculty positions: a Music Librarian, and a Reference/First Year Experience Librarian. She mentioned an article from the Chronicle for Higher Education, "Are Editors Out of the Tenure Process?" (January 5, 2007) which among other things discusses the format a dissertation should take – electronic vs. print, and whether the dissertation should be considered the same as a book. There were questions about UMI Dissertations Publishing which makes abstracts of dissertations available electronically. This is also different from how some dissertations are available via Google.

Younger discussed the library budget assumptions for fiscal years 2007/2008 and 2008/2009. The Elsevier journal package were renewed in the fall 2006 for the calendar years 2007 and 2008; Wiley for calendar years 2007, 2008 and 2009; and Oxford for its usual one year, 2007. Each publisher has individual requirements and the contract negotiations with Elsevier and Wiley in particular are very time consuming. In addition, the Elsevier and Wiley packages have lesser inflation rates for multiple year agreements. Thus, the multiple year renewals are to ease the library workload and contain inflation. Also, the library has been involved in improving use data gathering, preparing for an electronic resources management system called Verde, and completing a journal vendor switch to Harrassowitz. As a result, there are no plans for cost-analysis of these specific packages for FY 2007/08. There are also no plans for library-wide journal cuts, although subject selectors may individually choose to do so outside the Elsevier and Wiley packages. Within the packages we have a limited opportunity to "trade" titles so that we have formal subscriptions to more highly used titles and can cancel subscriptions to lesser used titles, if we maintain our overall spending rate. The timing for journal cancellations was also mentioned. Usually discussions begin about 18 months before cancellations go into effect – such that, e.g., the cost-analysis for journals and journal packages should be done in fiscal year 2007/2008 for the fiscal year 2008/2009 budget which pays for the 2009 calendar year subscriptions.

Younger announced that an international student movement for free culture, Freeculture.org, in collaboration with the Alliance for Taxpayer Access (ATA), declared February 15, 2007, a "National Day of Action" for students that support open sharing of scientific and scholarly research findings on the Internet. The Federal Research Public Access Act was introduced last year by Senators John Cornyn and Joseph Lieberman and is awaiting reintroduction in the 110th Congress. UCL members were not aware of Notre Dame students who had participated.

5. University Libraries' Cooperative Agreements

Younger distributed an initial list of cooperative agreements for the University Libraries. It was compiled from submissions by library faculty. One of the points is to demonstrate that the library is leveraging its resources. Weber asked which agreements were the most important and how the balance between what the library contributes and what it receives is described. Younger mentioned the Northeast Research Libraries Consortium as an important example. The library saved more than 10 times its annual membership fee on just one deal (Web of Science). Original cataloging in cooperation with OCLC was another example of where the library gets many times over what it contributes. Younger said the Michiana Academic Libraries Consortium (MALC) was not initially on the list because although the member libraries share the same library catalog software, there are four different underlying databases. However, it will be added as there are some cooperative aspects in sharing policies with the potential for a union catalog.

Other suggestions and questions followed. Weber suggested including the year an agreement started. Another asked who the audience was for this list: UCL, the library, someone else? Weber suggested this information could be an important focal point for the 2006–07 UCL's annual report and that it might also be used in discussions with the Academic Council. Edmonds offered to include the cooperative agreements of the Law Library. Smith suggested animating the descriptions and grouping the agreements as major or minor. Sommese suggested including the amount of funding and time involved. Younger also thought that the scale might be helpful. Ladwig suggested characterizing the agreements as internal to the University vs. external, external being of more interest. Pitts asked whether there were any cooperative agreements with Indiana University-South Bend. Younger replied that there is an agreement among Indiana's academic libraries for reciprocal on-site borrowing. Edmonds mentioned local agreements where paralegal students could use the Law Library's resources. Younger mentioned the Alliance for Catholic Education masters program as another local example where Notre Dame students use St. Mary's education collection. Ardizzone suggested including the net gain and the good-will generated, for example by participating with OCLC.

Smith suggested that the list could be displayed as a matrix using the descriptive elements deemed most important. Younger concluded this initial discussion by describing the paradigm shift from cooperative agreements as a supplement to a library's activities to one where the library depends on those agreements. As an example, Butterwick mentioned the RapidILL program, recently introduced by the library as a way to obtain articles from participating institutions in less than 24 hours for a cost similar to traditional interlibrary loan.

6. Copy Services in the University Libraries

Barber mentioned a concern received from a colleague who has experienced problems in using the copiers in the Hesburgh Library. The colleague suggested that the copiers are poorly maintained and that there is little help when needed. Younger explained that copiers used to generate revenue such that a staffed copy center was provided for patrons. In recent years, however, revenues declined substantially and the copy operations have had to be subsidized. As a result, the library removed its staffed copy center. The library then had to find a vendor to support self service copy services, but the vendor required that the library buy the machines. The machines are about 5 years old and still in good condition.

Overall, there is only a complaint every 2 or 3 months. Occasionally the user will think the machine is not working when it is only "sleeping." The library's vendor does provide a 4 hour service turn around during the work week. There are about 7 or 8 public machines in the Hesburgh Library (and 1 in most of the branch libraries). Sommese asked what changed the economics. Younger said that online access was the main factor. With the closing of the staffed copy center, however, the library is not losing money now. Someone pointed out that the machines do not accept departmental accounting codes. Younger said that with a $5,000 deposit, a department can make an arrangement with the library for copy cards for departmental use. She said there would be an opportunity to review the library's copier services next year because the contract will be up for renewal. She also noted the installation of the library's Knowledge Imaging Center, a large scanner recently made available to library patrons in the Hesburgh Library reference area.

Committee members agreed on the desirability of incorporating scanning services and other new technology.

Adjourn

The meeting adjourned at 9:00.

Respectfully submitted,

Parker Ladwig
Acting Recorder

Correction to Faculty Listing

The listing in issue 4 for Lawrence C. Marsh incorrectly showed his title as associate professor emeritus. His correct title is professor emeritus of economics and econometrics.

Changes to Notre Dame Report

Online: The Notre Dame Report is now available online at the Provost Office Web page. The link is: <https://www3.nd.edu/~provost/academic-resources-and-information/NDreport/>.

After June 2007, this publication will be available only online. The printed Notre Dame Report will be discontinued at the end of this academic year. Instead of the printed version, you will receive an e-mail notification when a new issue is posted at the website, where they can be downloaded and printed. If you have a staff assistant who receives Notre Dame Report, please pass along this message.

Searching: The pdf versions of Notre Dame Report now available can be searched by clicking on the search icon (binoculars) and typing in a name or subject. We are moving toward an integrated, fully searchable, electronic archive of the documents included in the Notre Dame Report that will be more useful for faculty and staff. Posting pdf files of upcoming issues is the first step in this process. We look forward to more timely dissemination and easier access to documents of interest with the electronic formats.

Submissions: Information for reporting activities, honors, or publications should be sent by e-mail to ndreport@nd.edu. Paper submission forms and copies of publications are no longer needed. For deadlines and other submission information, see issue 1 of the report or e-mail the editor at ndreport.1@nd.edu.
