

THE OBSERVER

Tuesday, September 9, 1997 • Vol. XXXI No. 12

THE INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER SERVING NOTRE DAME AND SAINT MARY'S

■ CONSTRUCTION BEAT

Students voice approval of renovations

Despite mid-game flood, students are happy with stadium

By DEREK BETCHER
Associate News Editor

Not even the unexpected addition of a third campus lake could mar Saturday's rededication of Notre Dame Stadium.

Although plumbing problems flooded the lower concourse with up to two inches of water early in the second quarter of Saturday's contest, student and administrative reaction to the inaugural game in the new stadium has been positive.

"Generally, everything went very well. The water is, of course, a problem we'll be addressing," summarized Mike Smith, director of facilities engineering.

Contrary to rumor, a burst water main did not cause Saturday's flooding; overflowing toilets did. The problem began when valves were mistakenly left closed on one of the two six-inch water mains which service the stadium. With the one water main shut off, water pressure in the stadium dropped to half of what it should have been,

The Observer/Kevin Dalum

Tours of the newly renovated Notre Dame Stadium were given to Notre Dame and local community members last week.

eventually triggering the flooding.

"Once pressure dropped, all of the toilets began to run wide open instead of just flushing and stopping. They then overflowed," explained director of facilities John DeLee. While attributing flooding to a lack of water may counter intuition, the flushing mechanisms on the toilets, in fact, need full water pressure to shut off, DeLee explained.

"If I had to guess, I'd say 1,200 gallons a minute — possibly more than that — were spilling into the concourse," De Lee estimated. It wasn't until roughly 2:30 p.m. that plumbers were able to locate and reopen the closed valve.

"It may have been closed last winter when the stadium was winterized, but I'm not sure why it wasn't reopened," Smith said.

University officials will meet today

see STADIUM / page 4

Gifts for a Justice

The Observer/Manuela Hernandez

Saint Mary's Student Activities Board members Katie Wehby (far right) and Tysus Jackson present Indiana Supreme Court Justice Myra Selby with gifts after her speech Monday afternoon.

See story on page 3

WVFI hopes for FM status by fall of 2000

By HEATHER COCKS
News Editor

The road to a berth on the FM band is getting rocky for Notre Dame's student-run AM radio station, WVFI.

The station, which has researched the transition for the past three years, may not broadcast on an FM frequency until close to the year 2000, station manager Boo Gallagher said yesterday, citing difficulties in finding an available FM frequency.

Last April, the officers of the University granted the station permission to seek FM status with the Federal Communications Commission. The switch would expand WVFI's listening range as much as four miles, encompassing Saint Mary's College and some areas of South Bend.

After getting the financial go-ahead from the University, WVFI hired its lawyers and is currently working with the FCC to find an open frequency over which the station can broadcast.

"We're conducting a search, but it doesn't look like there's much available right now," said station manager Boo Gallagher. "We're going to have to keep working hard at this."

Grant to supplement Center for European Studies

By ANTHONY R. PERRI
News Writer

Robert and Elizabeth Nanovic made a $5 million endowment to the Center for European Studies at Notre Dame that will transform the center into a full-fledged institute.

"The Nanovic Center will create a critical mass for European studies... building on the existing strengths present in the Arts and Letters College," commented director Robert Wegs.

Wegs hopes that the Center will improve the academic lives of students and faculty alike.

This sizeable endowment did not come as a surprise. According to University president Edward Malloy, "The Nanovics have been friends and benefactors of the University for many years." A 1954 Notre Dame graduate, Nanovic, upon retiring from financial counseling, has served Notre Dame as a member of the advisory council for the College of Arts and Letters.

The Nanovics' generosity came to fruition while voyaging down the Danube from Vienna to Istanbul during a trip sponsored by the Notre Dame Alumni Association.

The lectures on the cruise by Wegs set ablaze the spark of interest that the Nanovics shared concerning European Studies. The Nanovics began their direct support of the program with a $25,000 donation for lectures.

Their gift has culminated over the years to the present

'The Nanovic Center will create a critical mass for European studies...building on the existing strengths...'

Robert Wegs

$5 million donation, which will be credited to the "Generations" capital program. The Center for European Studies' mission is to focus, improve, and complement the pre-existing programs in the College of Arts and Letters concerning European history, culture, and current issues. From the beginning, according to Wegs, the center has always been "student oriented." Following that strategy, much of the new funding will benefit students as well as faculty.

An increase in student grant money in the form of ten $10,000 undergraduate grants for a summer study in Europe, a comparative graduate program, and an increase in faculty grants are some of the first fruits of the Nanovics' donation.

The center plans to complement the grants for foreign study with an expansion of on-campus sponsorship and co-sponsorship of student organization proposals concerning European studies.

The most profound result of the Nanovic Center becoming a full institute is the creation of the Second Major Program in European Studies. Using the existing faculty, Wegs believes it will give students "a chance to intensify and deepen their [European] studies." The program complements the experiences of Notre Dame students who studied abroad in Europe.

see NANOVIC / page 4

■ INSIDE COLUMN

Consider these legal terms

For purposes of this column, the student who is the subject will be referred to as Brian. This is not his real name, but he asked that he not be identified.

In March, Brian proposed to his longtime, hometown girlfriend. They agreed to get married in the summer.

In September, both returned to their respective schools. Brian began his junior year at Notre Dame and his wife started hers at a university in the south Texas town in which she lives.

One week into the school year, a student, without knowing the effect of his words, asked the rector of the dorm that Brian lived in what he thought about Brian being married. The rector was surprised to hear the news and called Brian down to talk to him about it.

The rector informed Brian that he could not live in the dorm because he was married. The rector referred him to the housing contract which said that residence halls are reserved for single members of the Notre Dame community.

A one-person off-campus apartment can run from $250 to $500 per month. University Village is a married student complex run by the University and exists on the cheaper end of that scale.

Brian was told that he could move into the University Village housing complex, but that it was full until Sept. 15. So he had to find another place to live while he waited for an apartment at the Village.

The University refunded Brian's housing cost, but charged him $25 a day to continue living in the dorm while he waited. Instead, a friend agreed to let Brian move into a one-room apartment with him until mid-September.

In addition to the inconvenience of waiting for a spot to open up, Brian had to bring his wife to South Bend; University Village is specifically oriented towards families.

So his wife now has to drop out of school, quit her job and move out of Texas to face a South Bend winter. While here, she has to find a job and maybe wait until Brian graduates (in two years) to return to school.

The questions of "Why doesn't she transfer?" can be answered with the same reason of why Brian does not transfer. She doesn't want to. Why should she be forced by her husband's University to make a different decision about her academic career than the one she has already made?

When contacted, a University official said that the rule is in place so that the dorm rules (parietals, limited overnight visitors) do not inhibit a married couple from being together. He also said that Brian's is the third such case he has dealt with this year.

The message in all of this is that you should always read the fine print. This University expects you to know all the conditions of every one of the pieces of paper that it sends to you.

There are no exceptions. Much like the civil courts, ignorance of the law is no defense.

In a school that is so concerned with legal language in its book of rules and legal misinterpretation of its non-discrimination clause, it is amusing how legalistic the school can be when it comes to every document that you sign as a student.

The views expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

■ TODAY'S STAFF

News

Allison Koenig
Sarah Hansen
Sean Smith

Sports

Kevin Robinson
Viewpoint
Kelly Brooks

Accent

Asleigh Thompson

Graphics

Pete Cilella

Production

Mark DeBoy

Allison Koenig

Matt Loughran

Lab Tech

Shannon Dunne

The Observer (USPS 599 2-4000) is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

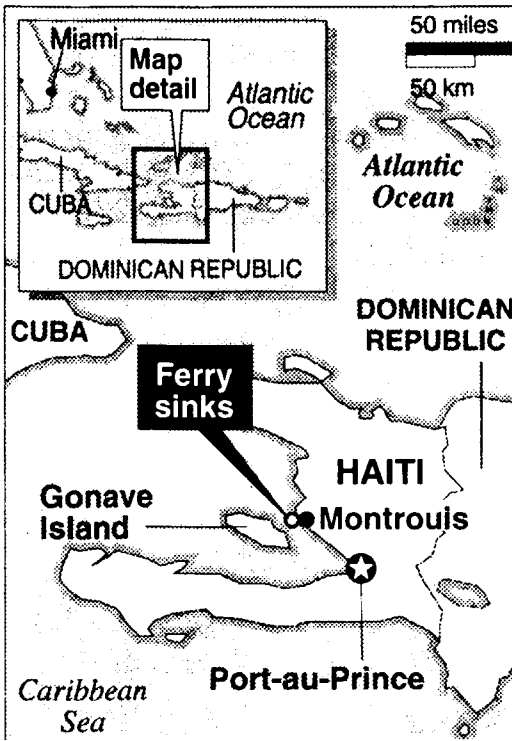

■ WORLD AT A GLANCE

Overloaded ferry boat capsizes, killing 400 passengers

MONTRouis, Haiti
A severely overloaded metal-hulled ferryboat capsized when passengers rushed to one side as it was leaving port on Haiti's central coast Monday, killing as many as 400 people trapped inside, survivors said. Hundreds more made it to shore.

The 60-foot boat was certified to safely carry between 80 and 260 people, according to varying estimates. About 700 had been jammed aboard, police and coast guard said. Thousands of Haitians wailed in grief on the pebbled beach of this fishing village as U.N. divers and a half-dozen fishing boats searched 200 yards offshore for victims.

Others helped carry bodies from coast guard boats to shore. U.S. Coast Guard and U.N. helicopters hovered above the spot where the ferry, The Pride of Gonave, disappeared in 75 feet of water as hundreds of its passengers screamed below-decks.

"The boat was overloaded. When it maneuvered to disembark, everybody ran to one side and the boat tipped over," said survivor Benjamin Joseph, a 38-year-old civil engineer.

The brand new ferry — it had gone into service only 10 days earlier — had no life jackets, and doors that were bolted shut prevented many passengers from escaping, Joseph and other survivors said.

The ferry sank early this morning in the Saint Marc Channel off Montrouis, 50 miles northwest of Port-au-Prince, Haiti's capital. It had left from Anse-a-Galets on Gonave Island, about 12 miles to the southwest.

Mickey takes over Miss America

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J.

Regis is out. Soap stars are in. Call-in polls are out. A professional journalist is in. The Peacock is out. Mickey Mouse is in. As for Miss America, she may have an "innie" and she may have an "outie." Either way, the producers of the 77th annual Miss America Pageant, which airs 9-11:30 p.m. Sept. 13 on ABC-TV, say the show will have more new twists than a bag of pretzels. It better. The pageant, a prime-time staple since 1954, endured its worst-ever television ratings last year despite a well-publicized call-in vote allowing viewers to cast their ballot for Miss America 1997. The telecast drew a 13.1 rating and a 25 share, which means about 12.7 million households tuned in. The call-in poll itself was a flop, too. Technical glitches plagued viewers, just as in the 1995 telecast, when they got to vote on whether the swimsuit competition should be held. Both times, millions couldn't get through. The low ratings prompted NBC — which televised the event for 30 straight years — to end its reign as Miss America's network. Enter ABC, which is owned by the Walt Disney Co. Produced and directed by Jeff Margolis, the telecast will retain its basic ingredients — the parade of states, the talent segment performances, the on-stage interview and the last-minute crowning. But there are lots of changes in the trimmings: For the first time ever, contestants are being given the choice of wearing a one-piece or a two-piece swimsuit.

Fair to display molesters' names

POMONA, Calif.

The Los Angeles County Fair will offer cotton candy, carnival rides and a chance to check out the names of the state's 64,000 registered sex offenders. The state Justice Department will set up eight computers in an exhibition hall that can display offenders' names, pictures, zip codes and crimes. A similar exhibit at the state fair in Sacramento last month drew 4,000 inquiries. "It's a perfect place to disseminate information families can use to protect their children," department spokeswoman Sara Brown said. Critics say the fair, which opens Thursday, is an inappropriate place for the information. "This appears to be a publicity stunt to drum up viewers," said Liz Schroeder, associate director of the Southern California branch of the American Civil Liberties Union. The information was made available under the state's Megan's Law, which requires police to release information on known sex offenders.

Squirrel brains are a deadly delicacy

FRANKFORT, Ky.

Squirrel brains are a lip-smacking memory for Janet Norris Gates. They were the choicest morsels of the game her father once hunted in Tennessee. "In our family, we saw it as a prized piece of meat, and if he shared it with you, you were pretty happy. Not that he was stingy," said Mrs. Gates, an oral historian in Frankfort, "but there's just not much of a squirrel brain." Now, some people might want to think twice about eating squirrel brains, a backwoods Southern delicacy. Two Kentucky doctors last month reported a possible link between eating squirrel brains and the rare and deadly human variety of mad-cow disease, Creutzfeldt-Jakob disease. Creutzfeldt-Jakob disease, thought to strike one person in 1 million, produces holes in the brain. Symptoms include loss of muscle control and dementia. It may take years, even decades, for symptoms to appear. Dr. Eric Weisman, a behavioral neurologist who practices in rural western Kentucky, reported in the distinguished British medical journal The Lancet that he has treated 11 people for Creutzfeldt-Jakob in four years, and all had eaten squirrel brains at some time. Six of the victims, ranging in age from 56 to 78, have died. The normal incidence of the disease in the area should be one case in about 10 years, he said. Weisman and co-author Dr. Joseph Berger, chairman of the neurology department at the University of Kentucky, cautioned that the number of cases is small, and no squirrel brains have actually been examined the disease. They said many questions remain, including how the squirrels would contract the disease, since they do not eat meat.

Army voids trial for discharge

FORT LEONARD WOOD, Mo.

An Army drill instructor accused of having sex with a female trainee received a discharge instead of a military trial that was to begin today. Sgt. 1st Class Robert F. Parrish, a drill sergeant with the 1st Engineer Brigade, was given an "other than honorable discharge." He faced a special court-martial on charges of sodomy and failing to obey two general regulations. Parrish was the third at Fort Wood to request and receive a discharge instead of a court-martial in sex-related cases. Five others have been charged, but no trial dates have been scheduled. Sgt. Christopher L. Burns, a drill sergeant, also faces a general court-martial Wednesday on charges of failure to obey rules, adultery and committing an indecent act. Eight others at Fort Wood have been convicted or pleaded guilty since the investigation into a military sex scandal that came to light in November at the Aberdeen Proving Ground in Maryland.

■ SOUTH BEND WEATHER

5 Day South Bend Forecast

AccuWeather® forecast for daytime conditions and high temperatures

	H	L
Tuesday	76	55
Wednesday	72	52
Thursday	66	49
Friday	70	55
Saturday	70	52

■ NATIONAL WEATHER

The AccuWeather® forecast for noon, Tuesday, Sept. 9

Lines separate high temperature zones for the day.

NATIONAL SUMMARY: Hot, humid weather will stretch from Texas to South Dakota today. Thunderstorms will ignite along the eastern edge of this air from North Dakota to Missouri. Additional thunderstorms will rumble near the Eastern Seaboard. Dry weather will comfort the Great Lakes as a few showers and storms dot the Northwest and the Rockies.

Atlanta 88	63	Dallas 97	72	New Orleans 85	72
Baltimore 80	65	Denver 70	52	New York 74	66
Boston 65	63	Las Vegas 96	78	Philadelphia 79	59
Chicago 72	61	Miami 89	73	Phoenix 106	85
Columbus 80	61	Minneapolis 82	69	St. Louis 81	69

'Whaddayathink' luncheons foster dialogue at SMC

By SARAH CORKREAN
Saint Mary's News Editor

Based on the goals Saint Mary's President Marilou Eldred set forth for the College, administration and staff members gathered for lunch yesterday to discuss the role individuals and departments will play to support and enhance the College community.

Funded by a grant for the Improvement of Post-Secondary Education (FIPSE), Whaddayathink luncheons were created in response by faculty and staff who saw a need for dialogue and interaction among members of the Saint Mary's community.

The overall goal of the Whaddayathink lunches is to improve community interaction within the Saint Mary's community, in an informal setting where members of different departments are able to converse about concerns and positive learning experiences students in each department.

Members of the 'think tank' that created the monthly luncheon meetings include Lorraine Kitchner, registrar, Deb McCarthy, assistant professor of chemistry, Suzie Orr, director of Residence Life, and Patti Valentine, director of media and community relations.

The lunches provide an opportunity for members from various departments of the Saint Mary's community, who do not normally interact with each other, to share thoughts and ideas about the future of Saint Mary's.

"The luncheons not only create an opportunity for positive interaction that encourages socializing, but a chance for members of each department to get to know each other on a more informal level," said Valentine.

At the luncheons, those representing all areas on the College are asked to sit with someone they don't know in order to create dialogue and generate ideas among different departments.

Each week a topic of discussion is presented in which groups spend the lunch hour discussing and brainstorming.

This week's luncheon invited members to think about how their efforts and those of each department support and enhance Eldred's goals for the College that were presented at the College Forum when she was named president last Spring.

Eldred's goals are to develop a plan to stabilize freshmen enrollment and increase freshmen enrollment for 1998-99; to develop and implement an enrollment management plan that will include student recruitment, financial aid, tuition, payment policies, retention issues, the place of athletics in student recruitment, student services, and other related issues; to develop a College-wide marketing plan that will include student recruitment strategies, College advertising, and local South Bend community involvement; to implement the recommendations from the audit of the College Relations division and stabilize staffing in that division.

The Observer/Manuela Hernandez

Community members discuss campus issues at yesterday's lunch.

After each luncheon, the ideas generated are compiled and shared with each department and the president.

University of Notre Dame International Study Program in

ANGERS, FRANCE

1998-99 Academic Year

"Top Ten Reasons You Should Not Go To Angers"

With

Professor Paul McDowell

Tuesday, September 9, 1997

7:00pm

Room 313 DeBartolo

Returning Students will be on hand to answer questions

Selby lists trademarks of heroes

By SHANA'E TATE
News Writer

Many graduates of all-women's colleges challenge students to show their college and themselves what they can do. Yesterday, Indiana Supreme Court Justice Myra Selby stressed the importance of such goals.

Selby spoke to a group of approximately 65 women at Saint Mary's College about the roles and challenges women are confronted with in college and in life. She addressed questions that students deal with such as, 'what am I going to do after college?' and 'what am I going to be?' These questions led to the central theme of her speech 'who has influenced you?'

Selby focused on heroes and how they influence others lives. She said that heroes are not always described correctly, and feels that some people think heroes are the chronicled characters, which are false images of television stars.

Selby believes that true heroes are people such as Colin Powell, Susan B. Anthony and Mother Teresa. "[Heroes are] those people who have the ability to reach out and touch those less fortunate... They are the people who have courage, integrity and honor," Selby said.

"Being a woman in society is a challenge in and of itself, because women can't be everything and be excellent at all times," insisted Selby. The more difficult choices to make, in her opinion, are the ones that take moral courage.

"Saint Mary's College tells us that we can and will be what we want to be and Justice Selby reinforced that," said Student Activities Board cultural chairwoman Tysus Jackson.

The speech Selby gave last night solicited various reactions from the students who attended.

"I thought that it was encouraging for all ethnic groups present here today," said senior Jennifer Warner.

"She proved to us that women can be successful in all aspects of life," said Sarah Gallagher, junior.

Selby graduated from Kalamazoo College with a bachelor's degree, where she was awarded the Kellogg academic scholarship. Selby is a 1980 graduate of the University of Michigan School of Law.

*Are you going back to your high school to visit your friends?
Why not do it in style?*

Become a High School Ambassador.

Help the Admission's Office by returning to your high school and speaking to prospective students about Notre Dame over Fall Break or Christmas Vacation.

REGISTRATION MEETINGS WILL BE HELD IN THE HAYES-HEALY AUDITORIUM (ROOM 122)

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9 AND

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10

7:30 P.M.

ATTENDANCE IS NECESSARY AT ONLY ONE OF THE MEETINGS.

Everyone is welcome.

Fun & Money

Full & part time positions.

Intelligent, aggressive & honest people to have fun selling home & car stereos, T.V.'s & VCR's.

Commission & bonus up to 30,000. Apply in person.

HIFI BUYS

3915 Grape Rd., Mishawaka
(Alltronics location)

SENIORS
BUY YOUR CHANCE TO WIN 2 PAIR
OF MICH TIX
$1 OR 6 FOR $5
Today 2-5pm
213 LaF.

An evening amongst friends

Students enjoy dinner and discourse in the dining hall on Monday. The Observer/Liz Lang

Stadium

continued from page 1

with the stadium's contractor, Casteel Construction, to look into the issue.

"We don't want it to happen again, obviously," Smith emphasized. "Other than that, the day was a success."

Smith's assessment may have been on target: Wet feet, dry throats and $2 cups of ice iced many students but could not put a damper over Saturday's game.

"There was a lot of hype for the rededication and the historicness of the day was pretty well publicized. In the end, I'd say the excitement met its billing," said Pangborn junior Anne Isabella.

Many students agreed, although some with reservations.

"I thought it was incredible, but it was unfortunate with the water," offered Lewis senior Elizabeth Dewey. "It was kind of strange because even though they increased the seating, it didn't feel any larger. Tradition definitely seemed intact, and I hope that feeling carries over to the rest of the season," she added.

Some student spectators would have preferred a crowd that broke with tradition and filled the stadium with unprecedented noise.

"It was very much like the old stadium — it wasn't as noisy as I thought it would be," remarked Keough junior Brian Dylong. "They should fill those seats with crazy people."

Indeed, many enjoyed the new stadium but did not view all of Saturday's fresh changes as improvements.

"I think the Bob cheer really needs to be revamped," said Anita Arockiasamy, a Walsh senior. "Maybe we should bob instead."

Even spectators without memories of the original stadium appreciated the significance of Saturday's rededication.

"Overall, it met the hype," said Knott frosh Mark Lorenz, "but I'd have to say the stadium was at least as much a part of that excitement as the product on the field."

SMC alumna donates $2 million

Special to The Observer

Saint Mary's College alumna Joyce McMahon Hank of Moline, Ill., has established two endowed chairs with a total value in excess of $2 million, marking the largest single gift thus far in the Sesquicentennial Campaign.

"The real significance of this gift goes far beyond the exceptional generosity of Joyce Hank. It represents a belief on Joyce's part that the unique character and quality of education offered at Saint Mary's must be preserved for future generations of young women," said former College president William Hickey. "This is a powerful statement coming from a person so knowledgeable about, and so involved in, the life of this institution."

The Joyce McMahon Hank Aquinas Chair of Catholic Theology will bring renewed prominence to the study and teaching of the theology of Thomas Aquinas at Saint Mary's. The second chair, which will focus on Aquinas' thought from the perspective of a different academic discipline, is still in the planning stages.

"By promoting the serious study of Saint Thomas Aquinas, Saint Mary's has the unique opportunity to guide students to an appreciation of the compatibility of faith and reason," Hank said.

Keith Egan, professor of religious studies and director of planning for the Center for Spirituality, has been named the first holder of the theology chair.

"(The chair) is most of all a tribute to the Catholic tradition which lies at the heart of the mission of Saint Mary's College and to the generosity and vision of Mrs. Hank," Egan said.

Hank, who graduated with honors from Saint Mary's in 1952 with a bachelor's degree in philosophy and art, has served the College in numerous capacities over the years. She has been a member of the Board of Trustees since 1989, president of the Saint Mary's Quad Cities Alumnae Club, officer of the college's Alumnae Association Board of Directors, and first national chair of the Madeleva Society.

Hank and her husband Jerry have been longtime philanthropic supporters of the college. In 1995, Mrs. Hank was presented with an honorary doctorate of humanities degree in honor of her many contributions to the College.

Hank, an accomplished artist, painted the portrait of outgoing president Hickey which was presented to the College last spring on behalf of the Board of Trustees. She has served as a member on the Board of Directors of the Catic Gallery of Art, Saint Ambrose University, Notre Dame's Snite Museum of Art Advisory Council, and the Davenport Art Gallery Guild.

A former elementary school teacher, she is the mother of five children. Her oldest daughter, Kathryn Hank Collett, graduated from Saint Mary's in 1975.

The Sesquicentennial Campaign for Saint Mary's College, which began in 1994, has raised more than $28 million toward its $30 million goal.

Nanovic

continued from page 1

Further in line with improving the faculty of Notre Dame, the Nanovic's endowment gave the means to begin the Nanovic Scholars program. Each year a European scholar will be invited to teach at the University for one or more semesters. He will join the European panel of experts, including an Italian Fulbright scholar, a Warsaw Program Polish scholar and a German scholar, housed at the Center's Flanner Hall offices.

Interaction is also the focus of this year's summits sponsored by the Center for European Studies. Wegs hopes to increase "the student dimension" in guest speakers' visits.

Already with the current visit of Tony Jut, a member of British Parliament, student dinners and discussions are scheduled separately from the faculty events to provide the maximum benefit to the students.

Wegs noted that Europe's problems and successes often affect the U.S. profoundly, making it imperative to expand students' knowledge.

why's wvfi got such a bad rap?

be a part of it.

ben folds five jon spencer blues explosion boss hog pavement silkworm man or astroman?
smashmouth yatsura superchunk velocity girl girls against boys built to spill cardigans radiohead smashing pumpkins prodigy primus atari teenage riot magnetic fields wu tang clan
a tribe called quest the pixies

archers of loaf chisel polvo squirrel nut zippers slint yo la tengo u2 husker du smoking popes the smiths violent femmes rl burnside minor threat circle jerks sebadoh the urge no fx pennywise new order joy division jawbreaker buck 'o nine beck

they might be giants the ramones sonic youth blur oasis nirvana fugazi wilco son volt the sex pistols angry samoans tuscadero uncle tupelo chemical brothers daft punk bad brains jacobson beastie boys
the mighty mighty bosstones ministry dinosaur jr.

goldfinger
reel big fish suede shellar weezer braid sweep the leg johnny the multiple cat fishbone talking heads citizen fish flaming lips john coltrane miles davis ny dolls dead kennedys firehose manitoba everclear archers of loaf
firehose
foo fighters

we play the music you listen to.

DJ APPLICATION DEADLINE HAS BEEN EXTENDED! PICK UP YOUR APPLICATION OUTSIDE OF WVFI'S BROADCAST STUDIO (2ND FLOOR OF LAFORTUNE) TODAY. APPLICATIONS WILL BE ACCEPTED UNTIL NOON ON THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 11TH. DON'T MISS OUT!!!

we play the music you will be listening to.

RHA to hold hall elections today

By MICHELLE S. PRIMEAU
News Writer

Due to a lack of interest at election time last spring, the Saint Mary's College Residence Hall Association will be holding executive board elections tomorrow. Polls will be open for residents of Holy Cross, Annunciata, and Regina Halls from 7:30 a.m. until 7 p.m. on the LeMans side of the dining hall. Run-offs, if necessary, will be held on Friday.

"The extra time has allowed candidates to develop platforms that will work for current residents. In the spring, there isn't that advantage," Suzie Orr, department of Residence Life director, said. "The tickets running have had more time to plan and are more cohesive."

One ticket is running in each of the three residence halls. Running for Holy Cross Hall are Mary Ellen Blumreich, president; Jennifer Appleton, vice president; Anne Pangilinan, secretary; Vera Nackovic, treasurer.

Their platform is based on social, spiritual and fund developments.

Candidates in Regina are Amalia Gonzalez, president; Sarah Martin, vice president; Janelle Dombrow, secretary; Mary Jones, treasurer. They are placing an emphasis on hall unity in a building that consists mostly of singles.

Annunciata's ticket is Gina Drew, president; Amy Moore, vice president; Sara Grudzinski, secretary; Eileen Newell, treasurer. Their platform encourages the social interaction of residents.

LeMans and McCandless halls, who elected their executive boards last April, will be forming their hall councils this week. RHA is inviting residents of all halls to apply for chairwoman positions.

"We're really excited by the strong turnout at Activities Night, but we still need people for chairs. Everyone is welcome to apply," Barbara Nolan, RHA vice president and election coordinator, stated.

'The extra time has allowed candidates to develop platforms that will work for current residents. In the spring, there isn't that advantage.'

Suzie Orr

Just under par...

The Observer/Liz Lang
A student practices his golf swing on South Quad in front of the Rock yesterday, just a few short steps from the actual golf course.

Wanted: Saint Mary's women. Call 631-4540 to be a part of The Observer.

Innsbruckers,
Tust es nicht vergessen, gell?
Bis Mittwoch!

American Heart
Association
Fighting Heart Disease and Stroke

CPR
can keep your love alive

American Heart
Association
Fighting Heart Disease
and Stroke

Medical miracles start with research

Skeletal remains may be missing children

Associated Press

URBANA, Ohio
Coroner's investigators today worked to identify skeletal remains a sheriff says may be those of two children reported missing two months ago.

The remains, discovered Saturday in woods about three miles from the home where the children were last seen, were taken to the Miami Valley Crime Lab in Dayton for positive identification. A man cutting his hayfield found the remains after sensing an odor.

India Smith, 11, and her half brother, Cody, 5, were reported missing by their stepfather on July 9.

Sheriff David Deskins has said he is awaiting the results of dental and other tests.

Deskins said the remains appear to be of a male and female. Investigators believe the size and appearance of the skeletons may link them to the children.

The College of Business Administration

presents:

Career Day 1997

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 12
9:00AM-4:00PM

ATRIUM OF THE COLLEGE OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION
1ST, 2ND, AND 3RD FLOORS

Choose what is right for YOU!

Please pick up a brochure in the College of Business Administration Complex for a listing of companies, session times, and resume critiques

Student beneficiaries criticize Bishop Estate

By BRUCE DUNFORD
Associated Press Writer

HONOLULU

Kamani Kuala'au — student body president, a senior bound for Princeton — had reason to be nervous.

He had been summoned from his classroom at Kamehameha Schools to a meeting across town at the headquarters of the Bishop Estate, the $10 billion foundation which supports the nation's wealthiest private school.

A day before, he had helped draft a letter in support of embattled school president Michael Chun. And now he was reduced to tears by Lokelani Lindsey, one of the Bishop Estate's five trustees — and thus, one of the most powerful people in all of Hawaii.

"I'm not going to do this," said Mrs. Lindsey, in the course of what Kuala'au described as a 2 1/2-hour interrogation, "but how would you feel if I wrote a letter to Princeton and told them that you're a rabble-rouser?"

This private confrontation would soon become part of a very public commotion — an eruption of criticism of the Bishop Estate's trustees, highlighted by a protest march some two weeks later by 1,000 alumni, students and supporters of Kamehameha Schools.

They accused individual trustees of trying to micromanage the school, usurping the administration and getting involved in such things as homecoming T-shirt designs and school yearbooks.

But the outpouring of censure hasn't stopped there. Critics say the trustees, appointed by the members of the state Supreme Court, have an incestuous relationship with the judiciary, and have failed the children they claim to serve — kids of Hawaiian ancestry.

Gov. Ben Cayetano has ordered an investigation into the affairs of a trust that is "so big and it impacts so many people ... I think it warrants the attorney general moving forward and taking a look as objectively and as fairly as possible."

The trust, fueled by revenues from 337,000 acres of once royal lands, was established in 1884 under the will of Princess Bernice Pauahi Bishop, a descendant of King Kamehameha, the 18th-century chief who conquered and unified the Hawaiian Islands.

Her will established Kamehameha Schools as the sole beneficiary. Today, the tranquil campus of aging but well-kept buildings sprawls across 600 acres of wooded tropical hillside overlooking Honolulu's downtown high-rises. It serves 3,100 students.

Although it began primarily as a vocational and trades school, Kamehameha Schools today bills itself as a college preparatory school for Hawaiian children of exceptional ability.

■ NEWS ANALYSIS

Calls could hurt Gore in election

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON D.C.

For Al Gore, this could be a hazardous autumn in the pursuit of the presidency, and he can't control the risks just ahead. Put a special prosecutor on the Democratic fund-raising case, and it probably would haunt him well into campaign year 2000, or longer.

Once installed, special prosecutors in high-profile cases don't hurry. And they can hurt a political figure without bringing charges, with what they say, and simply because their operations can keep a troublesome issue going.

The Iran-Contra counsel, whose final accusations hit George Bush just before the 1992 election, had been at it for seven years.

Gore's problem is in the process Attorney General Janet Reno began on Sept. 3, a preliminary review that may be the first step toward appointment of a special counsel into the political fund-raising calls he made from the White House, seeking Democratic donations for the 1996 elections. At least 46 connected, according to telephone records given Senate investigators early in August.

"On a few occasions, I made some telephone calls from my office in the White House," Gore acknowledged five months earlier, after his role was disclosed.

But the number that counts now is six. Those calls from Gore produced $120,000 in donations the party put into its campaign account, instead of using it for unregulated, party purposes. The Democrats say he wasn't told.

Candidate contributions are limited by law; the unrestricted donations to political parties are exempt.

Gore has said repeatedly that he did no wrong, asked only for lawful donations, and breached no rule by calling from the office because the practice is not forbidden to vice presidents or presidents.

He said he is confident the Justice Department review will find "what I did is legal and appropriate."

Reno has had four special counsels appointed in cases involving top administration officials, most notably Whitewater, although President Clinton actually asked for that one himself. But she has resisted Republican demands for an outside prosecutor to deal with Democratic fund-raising excesses.

In doing so, she told the Senate Judiciary Committee that the Gore calls were not subject to such an inquiry because they were for unregulated "soft money" donations, not the "hard money" that can be spent directly on campaigns.

But when the Democrats had to admit some of the money went to the campaign account, saying the transfer was unknown to Gore or to the donors, the admission undercut Reno's earlier argument against an independent counsel.

IBM INFORMATION DAY

BS/MS/Ph.D GRADUATES

Bring copies of your resume.

DATE: Friday, September 12, 1997

TIME: 9am-4:30pm

LOCATION: College of Business Administration

DRESS: Casual

DISCIPLINES: Computer Engineering
Computer Science
Consulting Engineering
MIS
Technical/General Sales

We give recent graduates the tools, the support and the resources they need to explore ideas.
We're pushing this company to the Nth degree.
And you can take us there.

VISIT www.cybrblu.ibm.com

IBM is committed to creating a diverse environment and proud to be an equal opportunity employer.

Cheap tickets.
Great advice.
Nice people.

London	$272
Paris	$323
Frankfurt	$353
Madrid	$342

Fares are from Indianapolis, each way based on a 11 purchase. Fares do not include federal taxes and passenger facility charges, nor do they include departure charges paid directly to foreign governments, which can total between $3-$60, depending on the destination. Int'l. student ID may be required. Fares are valid for departures after September 15 and are subject to change until paid in full. Call for fares to other worldwide destinations. Restrictions apply.

Council Travel
1-800-2-COUNCIL
1-800-226-8624

SPRING BREAK '98
CANCUN MAZATLAN
SOUTH PADRE JAMAICA
LOWEST PRICES GUARANTEED!

FREE "ALL INCLUSIVE" PARTY PAK
REG. $99 HURRY-LIMITED OFFER

ORGANIZE A SMALL GROUP
EARN CASH & GO FOR FREE!

FREE TRIPS! 1-800-SURFS-UP
www.studentexpress.com

Evidence focuses on Fowler

By LARRY MARGASAK
Associated Press Writer

Former Democratic National Chairman Donald L. Fowler routinely contacted federal agencies on behalf of donors, documents show, in one case contacting the CIA on behalf of a Lebanese fugitive despite a warning that he not do so.

Setting the stage for a confrontational hearing Tuesday, Senate Republican investigators said evidence of the contacts surfaced in some 22,500 pages of documents the Democratic Party recently turned over to the Governmental Affairs Committee.

Fowler is the only witness scheduled to testify Tuesday in the committee's hearings on campaign finance abuse.

According to the investigators, Fowler will be confronted by documents showing he contacted the CIA on behalf of Roger Tamraz

Tamraz was a substantial Democratic donor who visited the White House frequently in 1995 and 1996, even though he has been sought by a Lebanese court since 1989 on embezzlement charges. Tamraz has denied the allegations.

Fowler has said he didn't recall asking the CIA to vouch for Tamraz, but the GOP investigators, speaking only on condition of anonymity, said the documents make clear he did so.

Weld blasts Helms about hearing

By JIM ABRAMS
Associated Press Writer

William Weld says a rival Republican's refusal to hold Senate hearings on his nomination to be ambassador to Mexico was "un-American" and sent the wrong message to the Mexican people.

Helms

The former governor of Massachusetts said Sunday there is little precedence for an ambassadorial nominee to be denied a hearing. "It's just not the American way," he declared on ABC's "This Week."

Weld has been locked in a five-month battle with Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., the conservative chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Helms has refused to hold hearings on the nomination, saying the politically moderate Weld has disqualified himself for the post by his past support for the medical use of marijuana and for needle-exchange programs as a means of preventing AIDS.

Weld, who quit his governorship to campaign for the ambassadorship, has complicated the situation by lashing out at Helms and suggesting that their quarrel was in a larger sense a fight for the soul of the Republican Party.

The White House urged Weld to continue waging a public battle. "We've encouraged him to make his very impressive case publicly," presidential spokesman Mike McCurry said today. "And now's the time to do it with Congress."

He said Clinton would stick with Weld "until he gets confirmed."

Weld expressed confidence that he would prevail, citing a letter Friday by Sen. Dick Lugar, R-Ind., and three other members of Helms' committee asking Helms for a "special meeting" to consider the nomination. "Obviously, this thing is going forward," he said.

But in a CNN interview broadcast Saturday, Senate Majority Leader Trent Lott, R-Miss., said the nomination was dead, and that Weld was to blame for acting "not very diplomatically" in his campaign for the post.

The White House brushed off Lott's comment. "We think that's wishful thinking by the majority leader," McCurry said.

Weld has had harsh things to say about Helms, and the senator's spokesman, Marc Thiessen, said Sunday that the nominee had been "completely unapologetic" about those comments in his television interview. "Jesse Helms is not going to be insulted by William Weld to holding a hearing on this," Thiessen said.

The University of Notre Dame International Study Programs

LOOK!

- Do you want to enrich your college experience?
- Did you know you could spend a semester or year abroad and still graduate in four years with a Notre Dame degree?
- Are you aware of Notre Dame's ongoing study programs?
- Would you like to learn about our new programs?

Find answers to these and many other questions by attending an

OPEN HOUSE

When: September 10, 1997

Where: Hurley Building around the globe!

Time: 4:30 p.m.

Hosts: ISP Staff, 109 Hurley

Tel. 631-5882

Refreshments will be provided!

P&G

Cordially invites you to an Executive Presentation and reception given by

Gretchen Price, Vice President, Global Internal Controls

7PM, September 10, 1997
at Jordan Auditorium, COBA

Procter & Gamble bases its success on its people. Being a global leader in the consumer products industry with annual sales of more than $35 billion, P&G provides many dynamic opportunities for business managers.

Ms. Price will provide an overview of these dynamic careers and how business managers provide proactive analytical skills and strategic leadership to our Global business. Representatives from our Advertising, Finance & Accounting, Management Systems, and Market Research functions will be on hand to discuss specific career opportunities.

Refreshments, catered by Macri's, will be available in the Atrium.

Spencers shower Diana's grave with flowers

By AUDREY WOODS
Associated Press Writer

The people's flowers, heaped outside the Spencer family estate, were gathered up and scattered on Princess Diana's island grave Monday, and Britain's tabloids pledged to stay out of her sons' private lives.

Diana's brother Charles, the 9th Earl Spencer, thanked people around the world for flowers and letters that "have genuinely helped us to mourn her death." He released photographs of the island carpeted in blooms.

"The knowledge that Diana's life gave so many people so much can now be balanced by the hope that, in death, her legacy will be immortal," Spencer said.

As the nation returned to work Monday on a perfect early autumn day, the crowds of mourners that lapped around the gates of royal palaces and Diana's ancestral home abated but did not cease.

Reminders of grief were abundant: flowers and candles, newspaper headlines and everywhere, Diana's expressive face — images of a woman incessantly photographed throughout her life.

The government began discussing a fitting public memorial for the "people's princess." And the Spencers rejected Buckingham Palace's offer to consider restoring in death the honorary title "Her Royal Highness," stripped in last year's divorce.

In Paris, the bodyguard who was the sole survivor of the Aug. 31 crash that killed Diana, her boyfriend Dodi Fayed and their driver was reported to be conscious but not yet able to assist police.

Trevor Rees-Jones underwent surgery four days ago to reconstruct his badly injured face, his parents said Monday, adding that he would be unable to speak to police for "some time."

French authorities are investigating what, if any, role paparazzi pursuing the princess's car may have played in the Paris crash. On the day Diana died, Spencer said editors who had bought paparazzi photos of Diana through the years had "blood on their hands."

"Spencer's bitter attack on newspapers will force every editor and every journalist to reflect deeply on the way they conduct themselves," The Sun, Britain's top-selling newspaper, wrote Monday.

"The Sun, for its part, has no intention of carrying photographs which invade the privacy of Princes William and Harry," said the tabloid, which has a circulation of 4 million.

Other tabloids joined in the commitment to ban intrusive photos from their pages and respect the privacy of William, 15, and Harry, 12. Even The Independent, a respected broadsheet, said it will never again carry photographs of the young princes in private situations.

"If we are not all sadder and wiser," we ought to be, The Independent said in a front page editorial Monday. "The hunt became a blood sport. The quarry dead, let us find gentler pursuits."

Spencer has directed his pointed words at the royal family, too, eulogizing his sister Saturday as someone who "needed no royal title to continue to generate her particular brand of magic."

Hours later, Buckingham Palace raised the possibility of restoring to Diana the title "Her Royal Highness."

The H.R.H. designation was bestowed on Diana when she and Charles married in 1981. It is held only by senior royals, and she lost it when she and Charles divorced in 1996. Officially, Diana relinquished the title voluntarily, though she made it clear afterward that she resented doing so.

Royal Standard

Queen Elizabeth II shattered royal protocol on Friday by making her first live, televised address since the early days of her 45-year reign to pay tribute to Princess Diana. In another sign of great respect, the Queen allowed the use of her own royal flag to drape the coffin of her former daughter-in-law. Normally this version of the British Royal Arms can only be used by the Queen.

AP/Wm. J. Castello

PEACE CORPS INFORMATION SESSION

Information Seminars
Center for Social Concerns
Tuesday, October 7
6:30 pm

(800) 424-8580
www.peacecorps.gov

MARKETING CLUB

Tonight at 7:30pm
COBA Lounge (basement of COBA, next to the computer lab)

All are welcome!
FREE FOOD!

F
I
R
S
T

M
E
E
T
I N
G

OLD NAVY
CLOTHING CO.

Now Hiring

Old Navy Clothing Co., the store that makes shopping fun again,™ offers you the remarkable opportunity to be part of our exciting growth in the family value priced clothing market.

★ SALES ASSOCIATE POSITIONS ARE AVAILABLE ★

We offer limited opportunities to learn, promotion based on talent and ability, and great personal satisfaction

WE ARE NOW HIRING FOR THE MISHAWAKA LOCATION

Great student opportunities!

Please apply in person at:

Old Navy Clothing Co.

Princess City Plaza

4510 N. Grape Rd

Mishawaka, IN

Monday-Saturday

10am-7pm

Scientists: Volcano may collapse

By KEITH GREAVES
Associated Press Writer

MONTSERRAT
Scientists warned residents to stay in the northern tip of Montserrat on Monday, saying an "explosive event" from the island's smoldering volcano seemed all but imminent.

Rapid buildup of lava and pressure inside the volcano may cause the dome to collapse "at any time," the Montserrat Volcano Observatory said.

A collapse could send avalanches of super-heated ash and rock — or pyroclastic flows — as far as the central coastal town of Salem, it said. Previous eruptions have rained volcanic pebbles and ash on the town, which lies on the northern edge of the evacuated zone.

The observatory said volcanic activity had increased to a "dangerous level" and urged all residents to head north "immediately." A series of small pyroclastic flows raced down the volcano's western flank early Monday to within a half mile of Salem, according to scientist Stephen Sparks.

More than half of the island's 11,000 residents have left since the Soufriere Hills volcano awoke in July 1995. The southern two-thirds of the 39-square-mile island is off limits, but residents sometimes ventured back to check on homes and tend livestock. About 5,000 people are packed into shelters and homes on the north.

Mir hobbled again by computer breakdown

By MITCHELL LANDSBERG
Associated Press Writer

The Mir's onboard computer, which seems to have a mind of its own, broke down again Monday and forced the crew to shut down most of the space station's equipment.

Russian and American space officials downplayed the seriousness of the computer crash, the third aboard Mir since mid-July. The station was able to maintain its orientation toward the sun, and its power supplies were in much better shape than during the previous breakdowns.

Ground controllers said they hoped to repair and restart the computer Tuesday. In the meantime, they said, the crew was in no danger.

"Why do these malfunctions happen?" asked Vladimir Solovyov, the chief of Russia's Mission Control. "Do you know why your car breaks down? ... It's hard to say what the reasons might be."

Space agency spokesman Valery Lyndin may have put it best: "The computer has become capricious again."

Capricious is as good a word as any to describe the Mir's endless, and endlessly vexing, journey around the Earth for the past eight months or so. The space station, which has been aloft for 11 years, has spun from one mishap to the next — from a fire to oxygen system breakdowns, from a collision with a cargo ship to the repeated computer breakdowns.

Mir's computer became unplugged on July 17 when a crew member accidentally disconnected a cable, then broke down again on Aug. 18 during docking of a cargo ship.

In the latest fumble, the computer shut itself off about 11 a.m. Monday (3 a.m. EDT), and the crew responded by turning off most systems to economize on power, Lyndin said.

Career Night

Thursday, September 11, 1997

7:30-9:30pm

COBA Atrium

- meet with recruiters from 40 companies
- bring your resume
- learn about Summer Internships & permanent jobs
- Sample of companies attending:
Bank of America
Deloitte & Touche
LaSalle National Bank
Proctor & Gamble

Sponsored by ND Finance Club

All Majors and Classes Welcome

JAZZMAN's NITE CLUB

525 N. Hill Street 233-8505

THURSDAY COLLEGE NIGHTS

SEPTEMBER 11TH FEATURING

SKALCOHOLIKS

(7 PCS. SKA & FUNK BAND WITH HORNS)

Doors open 8:00 p.m.

21 and over with proper ID's

$2.00 with College ID - $4.00 without

Off Duty Uniform Police Security -

Lighted Parking

Save $1.00 with this ad before 11:00 pm

Coming Thursday, Sept. 18

TASHI STATION

Don't get evicted- Hold your off campus party at Jazzman's- no rental cost - must be 21 or over

233-8505

Events of the Week:

Tuesday (9/9) 7:30pm
LaFortress BaLLroom

recruitment party

[music, food & fun for all]

This party is the chance for you to discover the phenomenal possibilities that Student Union Board possesses. Hopefully, you will also discover how badly we want you to take advantage of these "possibilities."

Tuesday (9/9) 3:00pm
LaFortress Info Desk

james earl jones tix

The voice of Darth Vader, CNN, The Lion King to just name a few is coming to this very campus. So snag the tickets while you can.

Saturday (9/13) 7:30pm
LaFortress BaLLroom

toledo

[jazz guitar]

excellent musical fanfare
co-sponsored with OMSA

sub: the foreign object between your toes

VIEWPOINT

page 10

Tuesday, September 9, 1997

THE OBSERVER

NOTRE DAME OFFICE: P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556 (219) 631-7471
SAINT MARY'S OFFICE: 309 Haggar, Notre Dame, IN 46556 (219) 284-5365

1997-98 General Board

Editor-in-Chief
Brad Prendergast

Managing Editor
Jamie Heisler
Assistant Managing Editor
Dan Cichalski

Business Manager
Tom Roland

News Editor.....Heather Cocks
Viewpoint Editor.....Kelly Brooks
Sports Editor.....Mike Day
Accent Editor.....Joey Crawford
Saint Mary's Editor.....Lori Allen
Photo Editor.....Katie Kroener
Advertising Manager.....Jed Peters
Ad Design Manager.....Jennifer Breslow
Production Manager.....Mark DeBoy
Systems Manager.....Michael Brouillet Controller.....Kyle Carlin

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and objectively as possible. Unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the majority of the Editor-in-Chief, Managing Editor, Assistant Managing Editor, News Editor, Viewpoint Editor, Sports Editor, Accent Editor, Saint Mary's Editor, Photo Editor, and Associate News Editor. Commentaries, letters and Inside Columns present the views of the authors, and not necessarily those of The Observer. Viewpoint space is available to all members of the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's community and to all readers. The free expression of varying opinions through letters is encouraged.

Observer Phone Lines

Editor-in-Chief	631-4542	Business Office	631-5313
Managing Editor	631-4541	Advertising	631-6900/8840
News/Photo	631-5323	Systems	631-8839
Sports	631-4543	Office Manager	631-7471
Accent/Saint Mary's	631-4540	Fax	631-6927
Day Editor/Viewpoint	631-5303	Viewpoint E-Mail	Viewpoint.l@nd.edu
General Information	631-7471	Ad E-Mail	observer@darwin.cc.nd.edu

■ ALL ABOUT YOU

Wildlife Abounds Underfoot

News flash: We are not alone. The wildlife population has soared tremendously while we were home this summer. The number of squirrels has reached a record high. Experts recommend staying indoors until the situation is under control. Shouldn't the squirrels be doing instead. That plan wasn't so bad, either. Yes, I scurried from a rodent that probably weighs less than my hand alone. It wasn't a pretty sight. I ran a good distance before the squirrel decided I had surrendered. I had to stop to catch my breath. That squirrel had given me quite a workout, but at least I was safe. (Until the next encounter, anyway.)

If that isn't enough, I have also been chased by a goose. Apparently there are spots on campus that need signs stating, "Private geese property, trespassers will be attacked," because no one warned me of this problem. I thought I was being kind to Mother Nature and all of God's creatures when I let a herd of geese cross the sidewalk in front of me while I patiently waited. My exam could wait, after all. But no, I accidentally made eye contact with the leader and my pride and dignity quickly vanished. This lone goose took it upon herself to waddle crazily after me, with her neck bobbing back and forth. She wasn't as fast as that little squirrel, but she held her own.

Did you know that geese hiss? Well, they do and it doesn't exactly create a friendly atmosphere.

So what did I do? I ran. What else could I do? Some men's sports team was running by just then (just my luck), so I jogged with them and tried to blend in. I wonder if they noticed me.

Yes, you could call me a coward, but I prefer to label it as "giving the underdog a chance." Instead of thinking I am an embarrassment to myself I believe I provide entertainment for the people lucky enough to witness these distressing situations. Humor me and believe that, too. And trust me, there is always plenty of people around. This is probably not going to help my dating scene when SYRs roll around.

Everyone, please learn from my examples and take heed in my warnings; the abundance of wildlife is for viewing pleasure only, and only then at a safe distance that is preferably far, far away. After all, who knows when these ferocious, vicious, 10-pound animals might attack at large? I know I could surely spare another degrading wildlife moment in the course of my day. I can humiliate myself on my own; I don't need any help.

Bridget Rzezutko is a junior English major at Saint Mary's. Her column appears every other Tuesday. She can be reached at Rzez1904@saintmarys.edu.

The views expressed in this column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

■ LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Time for Unity Among Dorms

The women of Howard Hall would like to openly express a feeling of disapproval toward the final comments made by Heather MacKenzie in her Sept. 2 Inside Column entitled, "The Great Urinal Invasion."

It is one thing to write a column centering on the discomfort and unfamiliarity associated with change. However, it is another matter entirely when one takes the opportunity to openly libel the home of another. To single out our home, and proclaim it to be an undesirable or inferior place, is to attack the very core of our community. Dorm rivalry has its appropriate time and place — interhall sports, pep rallies, or promoting dorm spirit. The fostering of friendly inter-dorm adversaries is arguably part of the mystical "Notre Dame experience." However, the act of public dorm bashing does not fall under the auspices of good sportsmanship. Neither Howard Hall, nor any other dorm, should be regarded as the subject of taglines following a bad anecdote.

Indeed, all 28 residence halls on this campus are intensive communities of men and women — individuals who live and worship, and build lasting relationships with one another. When a community such as this is openly mocked, it is not the mere outer structure that is insulted, but also the souls who dwell within. If MacKenzie feels discontented with her current living conditions, perhaps she should stop to think that there are people in the world who would be grateful for her "MOD-ular furniture" or something the size of her "old pink Barbie mansion" to have shelter. We are very fortunate men and women to have the accommodations we do, and to be at a place like Notre Dame. We should not be forcing barriers between each other, but rather should be working together as a family and sharing our blessings with those who are less fortunate.

The Women of Howard Hall
September 4, 1997

something? Building a nest? Hibernating? Falling out of trees?

I don't even know what squirrels do but they aren't doing any of these things. Why not? Because they are too busy harassing me. I have already had numerous vicious encounters with rampant squirrels this semester. They are starting early this year, everyone — Beware! Take guard! I was leaving the dining hall with two friends when who should cross our path but an overgrown rat with a fluffy tail. I tried to remain calm. I had to remember to breathe. My one friend, God bless her, knows my fear of these critters and said, "Go on ahead, I'll distract it." Nice try, but I was its one and only victim. I was his target, and he had me locked.

The squirrel stood up on his two hind legs. He came charging at me with full speed. I understood this as a sign of attack, but I decided to hold my ground this time. I don't give in to terrorists.

That was my plan anyway. I thought it was a good one. However, what actually ended up happening was I ran like the wind

Bridget Rzezutko

■ DOONESBURY

GARRY TRUDEAU

■ QUOTE OF THE DAY

"It often happens that I wake at night and begin to think about a serious problem and decide I must tell the Pope about it. Then I wake up completely and remember that I am the Pope."

—Pope John XXIII

■ STAT CRUX DUM VOLVITUR ORBIS

Pilgrims, Paris and the Pope

Two Mondays ago eight other students and I returned to Notre Dame exhausted, jet-lagged, and badly in need of a shower. We nevertheless arrived on campus in a sort of holy fervor, for we had just spent a week in Paris, where World Youth Day had taken place. This was an enormous gathering of Catholics from nearly every country in the world, invited by Pope John Paul II to pray, worship together, and to grow in zeal for the influences of a godless secular culture. Why mention this? Because World Youth Day gave reason to hope that though America is shackled by what the pope calls "the culture of death," our generation still has the will and the courage to "repent and believe in the Gospel." A moral war is raging in America; World Youth Day was the Gospel of Life's battle cry.

Paris was bursting at the seams with Catholics. Flags waved in the streets from nearly every country in the world. Throngs of pilgrims crowded into Notre Dame Cathedral, the Basilica of Sacre Coeur, the magnificent Saint Chapelle. Thursday afternoon, 700,000 gathered at the Eiffel Tower to greet the pope. Cardinal Jean Marie Lustiger, archbishop of Paris, presided over the ceremony. Incidentally, the cardinal is a Jewish convert, who, at the age of 14, read the Bible from cover to cover and decided that he believed every word of it. His inspirational leadership was second only to that of the holy Father himself. Our pope's saintly and unwavering dedication to the Gospel has earned him the deep respect and admiration of the faithful. The pilgrims' unreserved love for the pontiff was apparent for the world to see.

We camped out Saturday night, along with 800,000 others, at the place where they held the Mass the following day. That night there was a three-hour baptismal vigil, where the pope himself brought 10 catechumens into the Church. After Mass Sunday, the Holy Father announced in October, St. Therese of Liseau, to whom the opening mass was dedicated, would be made a Doctor of the Church. This was truly a historic moment, for she will join a select few saints whose writings contained such erudition and insight to have been of fundamental importance to the development of Church learning. This is even more astonishing considering that St. Therese died at the age of 24. Her letters and autobiography surfaced only after her death, but they have cast their spell on pope and peasant alike; her little way of spiritual childhood has influenced the interior growth of countless men and women in our century. At the announcement, the crowd erupted, showing its unanimous approval.

Pope John Paul II took the theme for World Youth Day from St. John's Gospel: "Master, where do you live? Come and see." The Holy Father invited us as individuals to a personal encounter with the living Christ. We also experienced collectively, in a most profound way, the unity of our one, holy, catholic, and apostolic Church. The body of Christ was not just a quaint metaphor, but a visible and substantial reality; it was physically and spiritually manifest. This unity of believers confounded the secular world. No one expected or could explain the sheer numbers, the euphoria and energy, the faith and hope that for a few short days, lit a consuming fire of love in a corner of the world. "I came to cast fire upon the earth, and how I wish that it were already kindled!" In Paris, two weeks ago, Catholics furthered our Lord's wish. I can still hear the echoes of a million voices at Mass saying, "Amen" in unison and the shouts of ecstatic pilgrims, "Viva la Pope!"

Aaron Kheriaty is a junior philosophy and pre-med major at Notre Dame. His column appears every other Monday. He can be reached by e-mail at aaron.d.kheriaty.1@nd.edu.

The views expressed in this column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

■ LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We are all Children of God, Including GLND/SMC

There have been, are, and will be many Holy Cross Religious who are homosexuals. I am one of them.

There is an old cemetery on Notre Dame campus. In it are buried Holy Cross priests, brothers, and some few laymen. Among the many some were homosexuals. If one denies that, he is not dealing with realities.

The assumption is that those homosexual Holy Cross Religious buried on campus contributed a lot to God and country, and for some, to Notre Dame as well. We honor them in death as we never honored them in life.

Unfortunately they lived during the Time of the Great Silence. Because the very Church they sought to serve shamed them, they could never speak their name. Because the culture they were born into excluded them, they lived in Shadowland. Never allowed to be whole, they lived fractured lives, doing immeasurable harm, primarily to themselves, but also their associations. There was always an important part of them they were not allowed to share. What you saw was the half you got. The other half remained in hiding, fearful of the judgment and condemnation and punishment of the "real" ecclesiastics and people.

In former years it was very difficult to be Catholic and homosexual. It was even more painful to be Holy Cross Religious and homosexual. We were not allowed to speak our name. We lived shamed lives in the shadows, always afraid to show ourselves in the light. We could only whisper our names in the confessional or to spiritual directors. Even there some of us experienced fear and pain when, instead of Jesus, we got homophobic judges.

All of what I have written is praenotanda for the outrage I have felt concerning Notre Dame's treatment of Gays and Lesbians at Notre Dame/Saint Mary's College (GLND/SMC). Patricia O'Hara, vice president for Student Affairs has "denied the request of GLND/SMC to be recognized as an official student group, saying that the group's purpose was inconsistent with the mission of the University and the moral teaching of the Catholic Church" (as reported in Notre Dame Magazine).

As for the "moral teaching of the Catholic Church," I assume GLND/SMC promotes the distribution of condoms. Jansenism is alive and well on campus when the promotion of condoms is considered a sin, horrendous enough (and, in conjunction with other matters) to incur the punishment of official exclusion (more weight is given to condoms than those dying of AIDS).

Why does the University give more weight to red-neck ecclesiastics than to the students, the parents, and even members of the faculty and administration who encourage the students who are about to have sex to play it safe? We're talking about life and death and the administration is talking about banning on campus the sale of the preventive medicine.

The homosexual community (GLND/SMC) is above-board and honest about their sexual behavior, some forms of which, as they see it, are consistent with their orientation. It's because they are being honest that they are being punished. "Who asked?" administrators ask. "They would have done better not to tell. It's because they told that they must be punished."

"Everything was done in the darkness and shadows before. Why didn't they leave things alone!" administrators say. "But they have come out into the light, telling us who they are, and how they behave, and what rights they demand — and for all that they must be punished."

The GLND/SMC members speak their names openly and proudly, daring to come out of the shadows where before they were assigned. They speak of the need for affirmation from the Notre Dame community. They list the rights they demand as human beings, and the dignity they expect as children of God. For these reasons, among others, the administration feels that homosexuals must be punished. As a group they do not belong at Notre Dame. They must not be allowed official recognition.

Only a few hundred showed up for the rally on campus last spring. A thousand officially is denied to one group there is always the threat it will be denied to others as well, possibly under the reason: "not Catholic enough," or "not Catholic at all." The Church has been too long too concerned about sexual matters, as if that is what makes one "Catholic."

GLND/SMC are not outsiders, not second-class citizens, not lepers. They are Church as much as anyone in administration. They are the people of God, the beloved of Jesus. Like all men and women they have a God-given conscience which they must use personally and responsibly as they make their own individual journeys to God.

Let them on campus as an official body. Bless their assembly. Otherwise, you break faith with those homosexual Holy Cross Religious who lie buried in your midst.

Donald W. Whipple
Congregation of the Holy Cross
Cocoa Beach, Fla.
September 2, 1997

Has Campus Newspaper Done its Job?

As a new student at this University, I can only say that your front-page article of Sept. 1, which covered faculty reaction to the "Spirit of Inclusion," has given me greater assurance that my decision to attend Notre Dame was the correct one.

First, let me say that I am happy to see that the major student newspaper is such a progressive institution. I refer to the fact that the reporter who wrote this story was able to measure the faculty's reaction by talking with a mere two professors (and those of similar opinion). It is indeed pleasing to see that obsolete principles of journalism such as that which once required reporters to get both sides of the story (and which unfortunately hold sway at more retrograde newspapers like The New York Times) have apparently been discarded at The Observer.

Second, I am pleased to discover that certain members of the administration of this Catholic university are possessed of a great ecclesiastical authority. For example, take assistant dean Ava Preacher's declaration that the Catholic Church ought to "reflect the milieu" in which it finds itself. Were it not for Preacher's clarification, without doubt my own ignorance would have led me to suppose that the Church ought to follow St. Paul's admonition to "be not conformed to this world."

I eagerly await further enlightenment from your newspaper!

Emil J. Kiehne
Notre Dame Law School
September 3, 1997

Going, Go

"I wanted real adventures to happen to myself. I wanted adventures to happen to people who remain at home; they never do."

Nagoya, Japan

"We studied in a Japanese university, and more than anything, we took back the language. A major difference for us was transportation. Here everyone uses cars, but there everyone uses subways, which close at 11 p.m.!"

---Mark Shimizu '99

Mexico City and Monterrey, Mexico

"There were five of us from Notre Dame living with one host family in a house — four women and one man. We were all from different cultural backgrounds. At Notre Dame it sometimes seems hard to break through those types of barriers, but in Mexico we all became really close."

---Clare Murphy '98

SMC around the World

"My mind is a blur of feelings, impressions and questions. Travelling through Japan, China, Singapore and Malaysia has created a never-ending series of stories and experiences."

---Julia Vodicka '99

Jerusalem, Israel

"In Jerusalem we were in different people's shoes; we were living right on the border. It is the home to three world religions, so I gained a knowledge of history, a new understanding of how things work politically, peace treaties and such. I also took home a new appreciation of the USA and all the things we take for granted."

--- Mark Rincon '98

London, England

"Eight of us lived in a flat downtown. None of us knew each other before we went over, but we're all best friends now. We brought back an appreciation for the American sense of efficiency. Everyone was way more laid back there. We're not used to waiting in lines."

---John Gordon '98

Maynooth and Dublin, Ireland

"My year in Ireland was incredible — the people, the Guinness and the heritage brought an irreplaceable dynamic to my ND experience as a whole!"

---Heather Campbell '98

Angers,

"It was a tough decision to leave Angers, but it was the best I've made since I've been here. I've loved France: the language, the wine, the cheese, and the people!"

---Sh...

ing, Gone

self. But real adventures, I reflected, do not must be sought abroad."

--- James Joyce, "Dubliners"

Rome, Italy

"Being in Rome was amazing. If you walk anywhere, you're bound to see something 2000 years old, surrounded by ice cream shops and pizza parlors."

---Ingrid Soens '98

Santiago, Chile

"Santiago combines the best of all possible environments. One minute you feel the energy of a vibrant capital city, and the next you can take advantage of one of the service programs Notre Dame offers, and volunteer with people who don't have electricity. The variety in Chile is incredible: deserts, the Andes Mountains and even glaciers in the south!"

---Megan Ferstenfeld '98

Fremantle, Australia

"I grew more during one semester in Australia than I have in three years at Notre Dame."

---Claire Kittle '98

Innsbruck, Austria

"It's nearly impossible to pinpoint my favorite aspect of the Innsbruck Program, but the first thing that comes to my mind is the mountains — the Alps encircle the town and provide endless opportunities for skiing, hiking, snowboarding and mountain biking. Not much can compare to walking up to their simple yet majestic beauty every day for nine months."

---Andria Wisler '98

Toledo, Spain

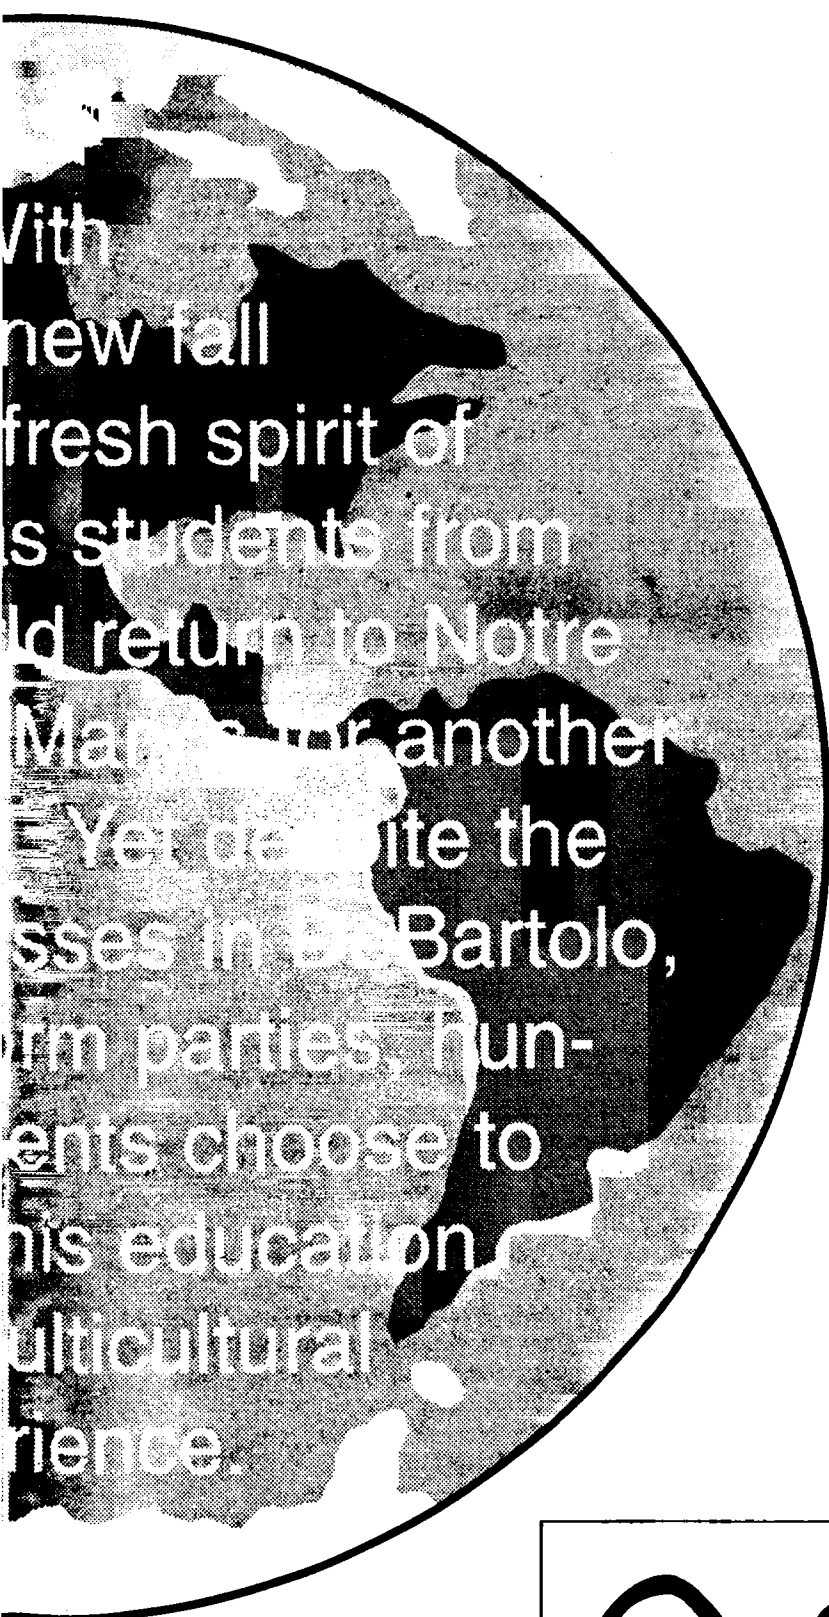

"One of the most interesting things about Spain was the nightlife. Personally, I could never quite get used to going out at 1 a.m. and coming home after sunrise the next morning. One time I was at this bar at 5:30 a.m. and it was still completely packed."

---Kelsy Hamilton '98

France

...sion to go to
...e best decision I've
...at Notre Dame. I
...anguage, the culture,
...and maybe even the

hannon Ewan '98

■ NFL

Chiefs slip by Raiders with three seconds left

Grbac proves he can play in crunch time

By ROB GLOSTER
Associated Press Writer

OAKLAND, Calif. — Elvis Grbac and Andre Rison, newcomers to Kansas City, knew little of the Chiefs' decades-old feud with the Oakland Raiders. On Monday night, they became part of the rivalry's lore.

Grbac threw a 33-yard scoring pass to Rison with three seconds remaining to give the Chiefs a 28-27 victory over the shocked Raiders.

The Chiefs (1-1) got the ball at their own 20 following a punt with 61 seconds left in the game. Grbac got the drive going with a 21-yard completion to Lake Dawson and followed with a 20-yard completion to Brett Perriman.

With 11 seconds remaining on the clock, Grbac faded back and found Rison in the end zone for the touchdown. Rison was mobbed by his teammates after making the winning catch.

Jeff George, making his home debut for the Raiders (0-2), had third-quarter scoring passes of 37 and 16 yards to Rickey Dudley as Oakland built a 27-13 lead. But George was intercepted twice late in the game, and one of them was returned by Darren Anderson.

That pulled the Chiefs within five at 27-22. Oakland prevented the Chiefs' offense from moving effectively after that — until the final dramatic drive.

Grbac, Rison and Perriman all were free agents signed by the Chiefs this offseason. George was a free agent signed by Oakland.

Grbac, who was 21-for-35 for 312 yards, also threw a 5-yard scoring pass to Kimble Anders. Pete Stoyanovich added field goals of 24, 23 and 23 yards.

Rison had eight receptions for 162 yards. Tim Brown caught 11 passes for 155 yards for the Raiders.

George, who went 19-for-39 for 295 yards, was back on national TV for the first time since his sideline tirade at Atlanta coach June Jones got him suspended for most of last season.

Napoleon Kaufman added a 10-yard scoring run and Cole Ford had field goals of 34 and 32 yards for the Raiders, who have lost eight of their last nine games against the Chiefs.

The Chiefs nearly were undermanned by three fumbles, two by kickoff and punt returner Tamarick Vanover and one by Marcus Allen — a former Raiders player — after his last regular-season game before a Raiders crowd.

Trailing 13-10 at halftime, George drove the Raiders 76 yards in three plays following the second-half kickoff. His 37-yard scoring toss to Dudley, who shrugged off a defender on his way to the end zone, came one play after the two combined on a 22-yard completion.

Allen's fumble gave the Raiders the ball again, and they needed just 42 seconds to score on Dudley's second scoring catch — which was set up by Kaufman's 41-yard run.

Vanover fumbled the ensuing kickoff, leading to Ford's 34-yard field goal and a 27-13 lead. After Stoyanovich's third field goal, George — trying to avoid a sack — shoved a pass that was picked off by Anderson.

The Chiefs went for a 2-point conversion and, with a wide-open and frustrated Greg Hill waving in the end zone, Grbac threw incomplete toward Rison to leave the score at 27-22.

With the win, the Chiefs tied their regular-season series against the Raiders — one of the most bitter rivalries in sports — at 36-36-2.

Tempers flared several times between the teams, but there was no renewal of the bench-clearing brawls that often accompanied Chiefs-Raiders games in the 1970s and 1980s.

The 63,000-seat Oakland Coliseum was nearly full despite a mass transit strike that made commuting to the game a nightmare for many fans.

Joe Bugel failed for the second straight week to get his first win since taking over as Raiders coach. Oakland tied its season opener on the final play of regulation time at Tennessee, but lost in overtime.

Grbac, who had just 115 yards passing in a season-opening 19-3 loss in Denver, threw for 133 yards in the first half alone against Oakland as the Chiefs took the halftime lead.

Kaufman's touchdown around left end capped an 81-yard drive that included a 26-yard reception by Tim Brown and gave Oakland a 7-0 lead midway through the first quarter.

After Stoyanovich's 23-yard field goal, the Chiefs took a 10-7 lead on Grbac's scoring pass to Anders. Allen, who spent 11 seasons with the Raiders and has been their nemesis since joining the Chiefs in 1993, made a key 14-yard catch to keep Kansas City's first touchdown drive of the season alive.

The teams traded field goals just before halftime. Ford tied the game with 43 seconds left, but Grbac's 43-yard pass to Rison led to Stoyanovich's 24-yarder with two seconds remaining.

Classifieds

The Observer accepts classifieds every business day from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Notre Dame office, 314 LaFortune and from 12 p.m. to 3 p.m. at St. Ignace College. Deadline for next-day classifieds is 3 p.m. All classifieds must be prepaid. The charge is 3 cents per character per day, including all spaces.

NOTICES

THE PRIMROSE PATH BED & BREAKFAST-LOCATED 15 MINUTES NORTH OF CAMPUS HAS OPENINGS FOR FOOTBALL WEEKENDS. LOVELY HISTORIC INN. FULL ELEGANT BREAKFASTS. 4 GUEST ROOMS. A/C, CABLE TV. 2 NIGHTS REQUIRED. $80-$100. CALL 616-695-6321

SEASONS INN Bed & Breakfast home. ROOMS AVAILABLE Football weekends 219-674-0270

SEASONS INN Welcomes Motorhomes/Campers of all sizes. Spacious lots available. Reserve Now 219-674-0270.

THE COPY SHOP LaFortune Student Center Store Hours Mon.-Thur.: 7:30 a.m.-Midnight Fri.: 7:30 a.m.-7:00 p.m. Sat.: Noon-6:00 p.m. Sun.: Noon-Midnight (closed home football Sat.'s) Phone 631-COPY ACHTUNG, BABY!!!

Come to first German Club meeting Wed. night @ 9:30 Montgomery Theater, La Fortune

GERMAN CLUB!

LOST & FOUND

Lose a set of keys to room 407? ask Carlo at x1862

LOST: STUDENT TICKET BOOK-LET ON GOD QUAD SATURDAY AT 1 PM IN SECTION 30. SIGNED ILLEGIBLY. CALL BELINDA ABER AT 4-2652.

WANTED

Driver wanted to transport 4th grader between school and afternoon activities each Tues. and Wed. Female preferred. Contact D. Bennett at 631-8298 or bennett@nd.edu.

RecSports seeks referees and linespeople for the upcoming Intramural Soccer season. Sports/officiating background is preferred but not required. Call Mark Heitkamp at 631-6100 for clinic dates.

FOR RENT

WALK TO CAMPUS 2-5 BEDROOM HOMES $195/PERSON 232-2595

QUIET, SAFE NEIGHBORHOOD! PRIVATE 3 ROOM FURNISHED APARTMENT 5 MILES FROM CAMPUS. NO SMOKERS OR PETS. UTILITIES PAID BY LANDLORD. 257-8521

ROOMS IN PRIVATE HOME FOR FOOTBALL WEEKENDS AND OTHER ND-SMC EVENTS. VERY CLOSE TO CAMPUS - 5 MIN. DRIVE OR 15-20 MIN. WALK. 243-0658.

THAT PRETTY PLACE, Bed and Breakfast Inn has space available for football/parent wknds. 5 Rooms with private baths, $70-$90, Middlebury, 30 miles from campus. Toll Road, Exit #107, 1-800-418-9487.

NICE FURNISHED HOME GOOD AREA NORTH OF ND CLOSE 2773097

ENTIRE HOME FOR FOOTBALL WEEKENDS 2773097

bed & breakfast football weekends near ND 272-5989

FOR SALE

86Mazda 626 runs good. New tires, exh, alter, brakes. $2200 obo. Chris x1512.

Contemporary lakefront home for sale on Lake Michigan, 1/2 acre, $795,000. Call Chuck Ruth at 1-888-225-RUTH.

1988 Chevy Nova 111,000 miles. Automatic. A/C. Starts Great. Looks Nice. $1600 OBO. 287-6604

87 Ply Colt, 136K mi, 1 owner, very dependable, $800 OBO. Call 255-1317 for more details.

CD PLAYER dual cassette, auto-reverse system, w/ detachable speakers 1 yr old-NO DEFECTS $50 call 1183

NEW Women's Wooden Lacrosse Stick! $20 Call Lisa 271-8361

1990 Geo Metro XF1 39,000 miles, good condition, runs great, $2200. Air conditioner (Kenmore) $150. Washer (Kenmore) $100. Call x 9039 or 232 4204

Elec. Smith Corona Typewriter w/memory. W/xtra cartridge. $95.00. 233-4414

TICKETS

I NEED GA TIXS ALL ND HOME GAMES.272-6551

Looking for USC, BC, Navy, or W. Virginia tickets. Call at (609)259-1731 or during the day (201)316-4117. Leave message.

WANTED—2 GAs FOR USC Family visiting—will pay big bucks for best seats. Call Jon—634-2028

Looking for GA's to Any & All ND Games! Will Beat Any Offer! Will Trade Any Home Game for LSU. Call 634-4872

WANTED: 3 MICHIGAN STATE GA'S FOR FAMILY. PLEASE CALL 634-4196, LEAVE MESSAGE.

Need a pair of LSU tickets. Have a pair of USC, Michigan, or Stanford tickets to trade. Call 901-755-4273.

NEED TO TRADE: I have 4 W.Va's and need 4 for Navy. Call Connie at 243-2794

Desperate Dad has 2 tickets to G.Tech/ BC/ Navy/ W.V. Wants to TRADE for Mich. St. and USC so can bring family with! Call Casey 289-3349

I NEED GA's TO MICH. ST. CALL JIM AT 634-3985

Have BC & USC or $$ To trade for MSU tickets. Call 243-4743, ask for Meaghan.

I sell three student ticket booklets, $199 for each. (You need an ID!) Call ASAP 634-4465

NEED MSU, LSU TIX FOR SALE BC GA'S CALL AN X2855

USC ALUMNI FAMILY, NEVER BEEN TO USC V. ND GAME, WANTS TO COME BRING A FAMILY OF 6. NEEDS FOOTBALL TICKETS. PLEASE HELP! 213/951-4202.

I need GA's for MSU, BC, and UMich. Call Nikki @ 634-2367.

Wanted: ND Football Tickets Discreet Buyer - Call 1-800-255-2850

NEED TWO TICKETS

to Michigan state and two tickets to

Navy.

Please call 4-2674 ask for Karen.

For Sale: Two ND/Purdue tix. Best offer. 243-1623.

Need tix to Purdue? I have 4. Call Grant at 287-9027

NEED 2 MICH TICS $ $ CALL JOHN C 716 848 1268

ND ALUM IS IN NEED OF 2 GA'S TO USC. GUARANTEED TO BEAT ANY OFFER. CALL ASAP 2435887. ASK FOR MIKE.

NOTRE DAME FOOTBALL TICKETS BUY - SELL - TRADE

232-0058

CONFIDENTIAL TICKET-MART, INC.

BUY/SELL ND SEASON AND INDIVIDUAL GAME TICKETS. 674-7645.

Buying GA's seasons or individual games. Top dollar paid. Confidential service. Call 234-5650.

ND FOOTBALL TICKETS FOR SALE DAYTIME #: 232-2378 EVENING #: 288-2726

ND TICKETS WANTED DAYTIME #: 232-2378 EVENING #: 288-2726

FOR SALE

N. D. G.A.'S 271-9412.

WANTED N D G A'S TO ALL HOME GAMES 271 1526

I need 1 or 2 GAs for the Georgia Tech and/or the Michigan State game!!! Please call Amy at 810-355-9140.

I NEED USC AND BC GA'S CALL DAVE @ 634-4905 $ $

ND ALUM WILL PAY $100 A TICKET FOR USC GA's 2773097

Married Student TIX For Sale 273-3844

I need 8 (eight) that's right 8 GA's to the Mich. St game. I'll take all offers and as many tickets as I can get - X-3530 Ask for JOE

Need Michigan State Tickets!! Call Ryan @ (312)938-8984

mhrsle - Purdue Tix matt at mhorslie@bach.helios.nd.edu. Willing to trade.

SALE Married student tix 283-0920

ND Alum 2 pay TOP $ $ 4 USC TIX! 410-737-6115

Have Mich St; 6 together; will TRADE only for USC or other game; 813-281-2339

Local Models Needed for Natl Modeling contest. Win Free Trip to New York! 18 to enter! No cost or obligation. Call 679-4745 for details by Sept. 20.

ND FOOTBALL SUCKS! All Home Game GA's for sale. $25 Each. Call Disgruntled Bill at 634-4340

WILL TRADE 2 ND HAWAII 30 YARD LINE GA'S FOR 2 USC GA'S 2773097

PERSONAL

MEMORIAL AIDS QUILT COMING TO CAMPUS VOLUNTEERS NEEDED IF INTERESTED CALL ERIN AT 4-3857

CLASS OF 1998

Pick up the OFF CAMPUS DIRECTORY outside the '98 office door (213 LaFort.) Limit one per apartment or room.

NEED A JOB??? — Student Activities is accepting applications for LaFortune student building managers. Must be willing to work nights and weekends. Apply in 315 LaFortune.

Lost: charcoal gray sports bra, last seen Walsh Hall bathroom, info call 41126.

Need formal dresses for 13th! Call Steve or Al at x2090

Drummer looking for bandmates. Call Jim at x0677.

DJ APPLICATION DEADLINE EXTENDED!!!

wvfi — 640 am will be accepting disc jockey applications until Thurs., sept. 11th at noon outside of our office on LaFortune's 2nd floor. Pick up an app. and get it to us ASAP. Don't miss out!!!!

Frosty and his Evil Sidekick!

I feel goopy.

I have chartered a course to the Vineyard, but tonight I am Nantucket bound.

We are the knights who say Ni!

The Griffey countdown: 11 in 19 games to tie.

So, how we doing on the Stylebook?

Hey, www.fansonly.com has pictures from the game and the Dillon Pep Rally. Look for someone YOU know.

Ask about the free plant.

Go abroad to CHILE!! see the andes mountains, deserts and glaciers. info meeting this thursday at 4:30 in 205 DeBartolo. Don't miss it!!

SMC Cartoonist Wanted! Call Lori @ 631-4540 ASAP if interested

KATIE DREW: You dont have too much time to think about this decision... Remember, it's always worse to regret something that you DIDN'T do...

When they look back see everything he's done, they will realize that Nixon's the one.

i need michigan tix. EMERGENCY!! call ashleigh at 634-3663.

happy anniversary ingrid and pat. you two are the cheese in my macaroni!

The were surfing for souls to the beat of Rock and Roll. All right!

It was totally rockin'

We out

■ MLB

Griffey named AL player of the week

Associated Press

NEW YORK
Ken Griffey Jr., who hit his 50th home run of the season Sunday, was named the American League's player of the week Monday.

Griffey led the league with six home runs, 12 RBIs, 10 runs and a 1.080 slugging percentage for the period Sept. 1-7.

Griffey, who is the 15th different player to hit 50 home runs in a season, needs 11 homers in his final 19 games to tie Roger Maris' all-time single-season mark.

For the year, Griffey is hitting .306 with 50 home runs and 134 RBIs. He leads the league in home runs, RBIs and slugging.

•To Support
•To explore common issues of being gay or lesbian at Notre Dame
•To Assist

Meeting for Notre Dame Lesbian and Gay Students Group

Today, Tuesday, September 9

For time and location of meeting, call: 1-8041

NDLGS Group Advisors: Fr. Tom Gaughan, C.S.C

Sr. Mary Louise Gude, C.S.C.

All Meetings are private and confidential.

The Office for Student with Disabilities is looking for students to be Readers and Note Takers for students with visual impairments.

Readers are needed for courses in:

Biology Chemistry
Government Political Sciences
Theology English

Note takers are needed for courses in:

Accounting
Business

These positions are paid $6.35 an hour for undergraduates and $6.85 an hour for graduates. 3 to 5 hours per week. Schedule for readers is flexible depending on reader's and student's schedule. Note takers must be able to attend class with student.

For more information, please call the Office for Students with Disabilities at 631-7157 or stop by 109 Badin Hall.

■ NFL

Young's return still up in the air

By DENNIS GEORGATOS
Associated Press Writer

SANTA CLARA, Calif.
Concerned concussion-prone Steve Young could be one hit away from being driven into retirement, the San Francisco 49ers took a cautious approach to his playing status Monday, saying there's a chance he may get another week off.

Young

"That certainly will be something that we will talk about to the doctors," coach Steve Mariucci said. "Will another week minimize (risks) even more? I'm going to ask that question, so I can't give you an answer until I hear from the doctors."

Mariucci did say there was a possibility the 35-year-old Young, who has had three concussions over his last 12 games, would resume playing next Sunday against New Orleans. He said more would be known about his possible return on Tuesday.

Young's agent, Leigh Steinberg, said Friday that another concussion would trigger a serious look at retirement for Young, a two-time NFL MVP and a five-time passing champion who led the 49ers to their fifth Super Bowl title in 1994.

Young, who sustained his latest concussion when he was kneed in the head by Hardy Nickerson during San Francisco's season-opening 13-6 loss at Tampa Bay, sat out Sunday's 15-12 win at St. Louis on the recommendation of his neurologist, Dr. Joseph Lacy.

He visited Lacy on Monday and went over the results of a brain scan taken last Thursday. The scan found no abnormalities but Young was scheduled to see a neurosurgeon for a second opinion.

"The neurologist has met with Steve a couple different times and feels that he's OK to go," Mariucci said. "He wants another test, another opinion just to verify what he finds."

"We want to be right. We want to do the right thing so I guess we're taking extra precautions."

There are concerns that repeated concussions can cause permanent brain damage.

On his show on KNBR radio, Young said he would listen to the doctors and abide by Mariucci's decision as far as his return to the field. He also made clear he wanted to play again.

"The three concussions, and I've talked to a lot of people and they're fluke shots," Young said. "It's not like something that happens every day. But pretty soon, a fluke turns into something normal if it keeps happening. So I think you just play and hope that this kind of thing doesn't keep coming up."

Mariucci did not rule out starting rookie Jim Druckenmiller for a second straight week and having Young as his backup.

Saint Mary's College Ireland Program

Information Sessions:

Sept. 9	Sept. 10
7:00 p.m.	7:00 p.m.
Haggar College	DeBartolo Classroom
Center, SMC	Building
Room 303	Room 117

Student panel talks about study abroad at St. Patrick's College Maynooth, Ireland Everyone welcome!

Shorin-Ryu Karate

- Discipline
- Self-Defense
- Self Confidence
- Fitness

Classes Begin Thursday, September 11
Continuous Program - $18.00 Per Semester
Meets: Tuesdays & Thursdays 6:00-7:30
Rockne RM. 219
Black Belt Instructor: Carl Putnam

Register in Advance at RecSports
For More Info. Call 1-6100

Demonstration

Tuesday, September 9, Rockne Rm. 219

RecSports
www.nd.edu/~recsport

PGA Tour Money Leaders Through September 7

1.	Tiger Woods	$1,949,920
2.	Justin Leonard	$1,453,661
3.	Greg Norman	$1,248,256
4.	Steve Elkington	$1,240,411
5.	Scott Hoch	$1,213,555
6.	Ernie Els	$1,176,608
7.	Jim Furyk	$1,161,681
8.	Davis Love III	$1,132,523
9.	Phil Mickelson	$1,121,990
10.	Brad Faxon	$1,093,505
11.	Jesper Parnevik	$1,077,587
12.	Mark O'Meara	$1,044,560
13.	Nick Price	$987,445
14.	Vijay Singh	$943,276
15.	Stuart Appleby	$930,556

The Observer/ Peter Cilella

■ PGA

Jones tops Norman in Canada

By RON SIRAK
Associated Press Writer

MONTREAL
Somehow it was fitting that the fascinating head-to-head showdown between Steve Jones and Greg Norman in the final round of the Canadian Open was won with a good bogey.

These are two of golf's more durable players.

Jones has bounced back from injury, oblivion and now the bitter disappointment of not making the Ryder Cup team.

And through it all he has maintained good humor while still being underappreciated by many golf fans. He is, after all, a guy with seven career victories, including the 1996 U.S. Open.

Norman has no problem with the recognition factor, it's just that sometimes he is more remembered for what he hasn't done rather than what he has done.

He endured just about every disappointment the game has to offer, and it is a measure of his greatness that winning the British Open twice among the Grand Slam events is considered underachieving.

Finishing one stroke behind Jones at Royal Montreal Golf Club gave Norman his 31st second-place finish on the PGA Tour. Eight times he was runner-up in a major.

Both golfers played with admirable heart Sunday.

Starting the final round with a one-stroke lead he never surrendered, Jones never caved in to the pressure applied by Norman. And Norman never quit trying, even when he made a double bogey on No. 11 to fall four strokes behind.

"I just told myself there are still a lot of holes to play," Norman said about his pep talk to himself after an adventure in the trees.

It was good old-fashioned match-play golf.

"I'd throw one in there and he'd throw one in there," Jones said. "It was a lot of fun for a while out there."

In a nine-hole stretch, from Nos. 4-12, only one hole was halved. There were five birdies, three bogeys, a double bogey and a pair of two-shot swings during that stretch as Norman bobbed between one and four strokes behind.

"Every time I gave a punch

he gave a counter-punch," Norman said.

Norman cut Jones' lead to one stroke when he rolled in a 45-foot birdie putt on No. 16. An exchange of pars on No. 17 brought the match to the final hole.

"I knew if I made a par I would win," Jones said. "That hole is just so hard to birdie. And when Greg drove into the rough it almost put more pressure on me because now it seemed like I should hit the fairway."

Hitting the 18th fairway was not something Jones had done all week and on Saturday he made a great par after landing his ball on the edge of the water on the left side.

"I just knew I didn't want to put it in the same place I put it yesterday," Jones said.

He drove into the right rough, near Norman. When his first swing moved the ball only 50 yards, leaving 150 more to go to reach the green and leaving the ball still in the deep rough, it looked like Jones would let it all slip away.

"I was just hoping I'd make a bogey then," he said. "I was hoping there would be a play-off."

Fall Break Seminars

October 19-24, 1997 Experiential/Service Learning

Center for Social Concerns

APPALACHIA SEMINAR

- Service Learning at one of 15 sites in the Appalachian region
- One credit Theology
- Information meeting: Tuesday, September 9, 7:30-8:00 PM

CULTURAL DIVERSITY SEMINAR

- Explore the cultural richness of Chicago
- Examine issues of diversity and related concerns
- One-credit Theology or Sociology
- Cosponsored with Multicultural Student Affairs
- Information meeting: Tuesday, Sept. 9, 4:15-4:45 PM

WASHINGTON SEMINAR

Environmental Issues: Challenges and Responsible Solutions

- Direct contact with political, agency, and Church leaders in Washington, D.C.
- Service and political awareness opportunities
- One-credit Theology or Government
- Information meeting: Tuesday, September 9, 7:00-7:30 PM

*If you see Erin today,
Please wish her a Happy 21st Birthday!*

*Love,
Mom, Dad,
M & T*

*Attention Saint Mary's
Class of 2001 . . .*

Interested in planning the activities for your class?

Freshman Class Board Elections Coming Soon . . .

Mandatory Informational Meeting
September 8 & 9 at 7:00 pm
In Hagar Parlor

Be There!

Applications Available Now at the CSC

Applications Due: Sept. 11, 1997

✚ Campus Ministry This Week ✚

<http://www.nd.edu/~ministry/>

Opening of the School Year Mass

Sunday, September 14th, the Feast of the Holy Cross, faculty, staff and students gather for the Opening Mass, 12:30 pm in the Joyce Center. Lunch will follow. Basilica and residence hall masses will be cancelled on this day.

Campus Bible Study

Interfaith Christian bible study - all are welcome! Every Tuesday at 7:00pm at the Badin Campus Ministry Conference Room. First meeting on Tuesday, September 9. For info call Fr. Al D'Alonzo, CSC @ 631-5242 or 631-5955.

Catechist Program

We are looking for students who are interested in teaching Religion for a South Bend Parish Religious Education Program. The Catechist Program, organized through Campus Ministry, provides placement, transportation, formation, and support for the student catechists. Openings are available in Elementary, Junior High and High School classes. Please call John or Sylvia Dillon at 631-5242 for information about this very popular program.

Eucharistic Minister Workshops

Wish to serve as a Eucharistic Minister during this academic year in your hall, at the Basilica or at any mass at Notre Dame? You are REQUIRED to participate at one of these workshops:

Tuesday, September 9, 10:00 pm, Basilica

Sunday, September 28, 3:00 pm, Basilica

Graduate Student Bible Study

All Are welcome! Meets Wednesday nights, starting September 3, at 8 pm at FOG Apartment 17-2C.

RCIA (Rite of Christian Initiation for Adults)

Informational meeting for candidates Sunday, September 14 @ 4:00pm in the Badin Hall CM Office; meeting for sponsors is on the same day, @ 5:00pm in the Badin CM Office. Regular sessions begin Sunday, Septbmer 21 at 11:45 am. Contact Kate Barrett or Ema Osaki @ 631-5242 for more information.

Welcome to our gay and lesbian students

Campus Minsitry welcomes any gay or lesbian undergraduates, or those discerning their sexual orientation, to come together for conversation, support and friendship. Call Kate Barrett @ 631-5242 or Alyssa at 634-1884. All conversations are completely confidential.

OFFICE OF
CAMPUS MINISTRY

103 Hesburgh Library:
631-7800
112 Badin Hall:
631-5242
Basilica Offices:
631-8463

■ COLLEGE BASKETBALL

Legal problems plague Buckeyes

Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Three players — including last year's leading rebounder and a top scorer — have been removed from the Ohio State men's basketball team, coach Jim O'Brien said Monday.

The players are Shaun Stonerook, Jermaine Tate and Trent Jackson.

"While I continue to evaluate the direction of our program, I feel that Shaun, Jermaine and Trent have failed to live up to their obligations as student-athletes at Ohio State University," said O'Brien, the former Boston College coach in his first year at the Columbus school. "Thus, I have concluded that it is in their best interest and the best interest of the Ohio State basketball program that they continue their education elsewhere."

The Buckeyes finished 10-17 last season under coach Randy Ayers, including a 5-13 Big Ten record.

Stonerook, a 6-foot-7 forward, was the Buckeyes' leading rebounder as a sophomore last season and was sixth in the Big Ten with 7.7 per game.

He also ranked third on the team in points (11.6) and was second in assists (3.7) and steals (1.6).

Stonerook recently was declared academically ineligible for the fall quarter.

Tate, a 6-9 junior, sat out the final 11 games of the 1996-97 season after being diagnosed with cardiomyopathy, a heart condition. He averaged 14.1 points and 6.4 rebounds before being sidelined.

Jackson, a 6-4 sophomore guard, played in 14 games last year. On Aug. 22, he and team captain Damon Stringer were charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest after a scuffle with police outside a Columbus bar.

They pleaded innocent in Franklin County Municipal Court. No court date was set.

■ MEN'S SOCCER

McKnight honored

Special to The Observer

Notre Dame freshman mid-fielder Reggie McKnight was named the Big East Co-Rookie of the Week, leading the 18th-ranked Irish to their first victory of the season in a 3-0 win over Providence on Sunday. McKnight accounted for all three goals in the game, scoring one and assisting on the other two.

McKnight, who is the only freshman to have played in all three outings, earned his first collegiate start against the Friars. He assisted on Notre Dame's first two goals in the first half and then tallied his first collegiate score at the 55:20 mark of the contest.

The Irish currently have a 1-1-1 overall record and are 1-0-1 in Big East play.

Weight Watchers

At Work Program

This REVOLUTIONARY program is coming to ND.

Free information/registration.

Date: Thursday, September 18

Time: 12:10-12:50pm

Location: LaFortune, Foster room

Contact: Jessica Brookshire 631-5829

This series starts September 25, for 10 weeks and includes all materials, cost $120.

VISA/MC/Discover accepted.

Join The Observer
Production Staff

"Mark has lots of candy to share!"

1997 Gender Studies Opening Reception

Gender, Race, and Alumni Student Networking

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 11TH

4:30 - 6:00 P.M.

LA FORTUNE BALLROOM

Speakers:

Opening Comments by Dean Mark Roche

Kathleen Sullivan MA '82, PhD. '87 - Associate Director, ND Alumni Association

Jackie Rucker '83 - ND Black Alumni Association

Deb Childs - ND Black Alumni Association

Lisa Karle '85 - GALA - ND-SMC

Fran Feeley '90 - GALA - ND-SMC

■ MLB

Tiger's Blair wins three in a row

Associated Press

DETROIT Damion Easley's two-run homer powered Willie Blair to his 16th win Monday night as the Detroit Tigers handed the Texas Rangers their fourth straight loss, 6-2.

Ivan Rodriguez hit a two-run homer for the Rangers, who have dropped 14 of 22 overall and are 10-3 in their last 13 road games.

Blair (16-6) won his third straight start and fourth in his last five. He allowed two runs on five hits, walked two and matched his season high with seven strikeouts in seven innings.

Bobby Witt (11-10) fell to 1-6 in his last 11 starts, allowing five earned runs on six hits in 6 1-3 innings. He is 0-3 this year and 5-13 in his career against Detroit, including 3-7 and a 5.88 ERA in Tiger Stadium.

Witt trailed 5-0 after two innings. He has not won since Aug. 12 at Boston, his only victory since the All-Star break.

Easley was 3-for-3 with three RBIs. His 20th homer made him just the fourth Tiger with at least 20 home runs and 20 stolen bases in a season. Kirk Gibson did it three times, Alan Trammell twice and Chad Curnutt once.

Detroit got its fourth win in five games and has won eight of 11.

Brian Hunter led off the first with a walk before Easley went the other way and homered to right. Two outs later, back-to-back doubles by Travis Fryman and Bob Hamelin made it 3-0.

The Tigers added two more in the second after Raul Casanova walked and took second on a wild pitch. Witt then dropped Deivi Cruz's sacrifice bunt for an error. Hunter singled to score Casanova and send Cruz to third, and Cruz came home on Easley's sacrifice fly.

Rodriguez hit his 16th homer off the right-field foul pole after Tom Goodwin walked with two out in the fifth.

Easley singled in the seventh, took third on Tony Clark's double and scored on Travis Fryman's sacrifice fly.

Notes: The Tigers announced they have extended the contract of general manager Randy Smith for three years, through 2001. ... The Rangers activated left-handed pitcher Eric Gunderson. He went on the 15-day disabled list Aug. 26 with a strained rib cage. ... Hunter has led off the Tigers' first with a hit or a walk and scored in four straight games. He's now scored 100 runs, the first Tiger to score that many since Tony Phillips had 113 in 1993.

■ NFL

Steeler defense shows inconsistent play

By ALAN ROBINSON

Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH

Troy Aikman and Michael Irvin played an uncontested game of pitch-and-catch against them. Gus Frerotte had so many open receivers, he almost seemed confused at times which one to throw to.

Stewart

Remember Blitzburgh?

Rod Woodson? Chad Brown? The zone blitzes copied by so many teams? They're just a memory now in Pittsburgh, where the Steelers are putting up their best defense not on the field, but in post-game interviews.

For all of the attention being paid to the up-and-down travails of new quarterback Kordell Stewart, the Steelers' biggest problem is on the other side of the ball. They're not sacking anybody, they're not stopping anybody and even they confess to feeling fortunate to be 1-1, not 0-2.

The Steelers will take this week off following two of the most uneven defensive performances of Bill Cowher's coaching tenure. Some might contend it will be the third consecutive week off for a defense that is missing not only Woodson and Brown, but the chemistry and combativeness that made it one of the NFL's best for years.

"I think we're just not executing the defenses," Cowher said after the Steelers withstood Frerotte's 270 passing yards to beat the Washington Redskins 14-13 Sunday.

Last week, Aikman threw four touchdowns in a Dallas' 37-7 romp that became all the more puzzling to dissect when Arizona's defense held the Cowboys' offense without a touchdown Sunday night.

But the Steelers' statistics are not so difficult to comprehend. They have allowed an average of 367 total yards and 285 passing yards per game, as opposed to 273 total and 184 passing yards last year when they were the NFL's No. 2 defense.

After leading the league in sacks last year with 51, Pittsburgh has none this year. "Some of it has been those guys throwing it quick," Cowher said. "But there's also times we sat back there and gave them way too much time to throw. We've got to look at it as a coaching staff."

New defensive coordinator Jim Haslett is trying to get by at cornerback with Donnell Woolford, rookie Chad Scott, and, after Scott sprained an ankle Sunday, Randy Fuller, instead of Woodson and Willie Williams.

Be a part of the LIVE video taping!

For Students, and Families

TOM PAGNA

presents

"UNDERSTANDING FOOTBALL"

6 Monday Evenings, 7-9p.m. starting September 15th Jordan Auditorium, UND

Seminar topics: Offense, Defense, the Kicking Game, Demonstrations & Participation

Former Offensive Backfield Coach

for Reservations Call

219/233-3486

Fee: $60

Sponsored by Home Management Services

Armchair QB's Welcome!

Head for the Hills!

Appalachia Seminar

THE SEMINAR

- Is a one credit Theology course
- Involves orientation & follow-up classes
- Offers service work through various sites in Appalachia
- Past participants in Appalachia Seminar are encouraged to apply as site coordinators
- Presents opportunity to work, laugh, & learn with others

INFORMATION SESSION

Tuesday, September 9, 1997
7:30-8:00 PM
Center for Social Concerns

APPLICATIONS

Available at the Center for Social Concerns
Due date: Thursday, September 11, 1997
$40 deposit with application

FURTHER INFORMATION

Sean Frey, Student Co-chair, 4-4911
Ryan Murphy, Student Co-chair, 4-1980
Rachel Tomas Morgan, Seminar Coordinator, 1-9473
Jay Brandenberger, Faculty Advisor, 1-5293

The University of Notre Dame International Study Program at:

Notre Dame Australia

Information Meeting
With Professor Mike Etzel

Wednesday September 10, 1997
L051 COBA
4:45-5:45 PM

SPRING '98 APPLICATION DEADLINE OCT 1
1998-99 APPLICATION DEADLINE DEC 1

ONE NIGHT SOCCER TOURNAMENT
THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 11
6:00 - STEPAN CENTER

RecSports

OPEN TO ALL NOTRE DAME STUDENTS
FIELD IS 60 YD. BY 40 YD.
5 ON 5 PLUS GOALIE
REGISTER A TEAM IN THE RECSPORTS OFFICE
DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11

TOURNAMENT IS LIMITED TO THE FIRST 12 TEAMS THAT ENTER

FOR MORE INFORMATION
CALL RECSPORTS AT 631-6100

www.nd.edu/~recsport

■ COLLEGE SPORTS

Goss selected to head Michigan athletics

By HARRY ATKINS
Associated Press Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. Accountability, integrity, excellence and tradition. Tom Goss believes in all of that and more, especially where the University of Michigan is concerned.

His great love for his alma mater, coupled with his vast business background, helped Goss become the university's ninth athletic director Monday. His stiff resolve and fierce personal pride make him think he can restore an image many once saw as squeaky clean.

"I'm pretty clear on what I want," Goss said at a news conference in the stately Michigan Union. "There is no gray. And once you know what I want, I hold you accountable."

Goss, 51, will inherit several problems.

He is arriving about the same time that a private law firm is expected to conclude an internal investigation into alleged wrong doings in the basketball program. He also will attempt to halt a series of embarrassing off-campus incidents involving players and coaches.

"Everyone should know the rules," said Goss, an all-Big Ten defensive tackle for the Wolverines in 1968. "They're there in black and white. When I was playing, if you screwed up one of the rules, even if you were a star player, you weren't there. You were gone."

As Goss spoke at a podium in the front of the wood paneled room, Michigan basketball coach Steve Fisher leaned against a wall, listening intently.

The men's basketball program has been under investigation for more than a year as the NCAA and a Kansas law firm — hired by the university — dig into allegations that players received money and other improper benefits from a booster, who now is banned.

"I don't know Tom," Fisher said in the hallway afterward. "But I know of him, and what I know excites me. I like what he stands for and I think it will be good to have him in charge."

In addition to the basketball woes, Goss also may face pressure from alumni if the football program fails to rebound from four consecutive four-loss seasons. The football team hasn't played in a Rose Bowl game since the 1992 season, the longest drought since the 1960s.

Goss made it clear, however, that he admires football coach Lloyd Carr.

"We like to win the Big Ten every year," Goss said. "That's our goal. But if you talk to Lloyd Carr, I'll bet you he wants to win the Big Ten, too. So, with a little support, maybe he will."

Goss said he would not sacrifice the integrity of the university in order to win games. He also said he would see that equity prevailed in the athletic department. Yet he made it clear that the minor sports would be held just as accountable as those that produce the bulk of the revenue for his $38-million budget.

"All the ADs before me had integrity," Goss said. "One of the things we will do is build upon that integrity. There is some confusion between winning and success."

"Winning is winning on the field and in the classroom as well."

Goss' immediate predecessors — Don Canham, Bo Schembechler, Jack Weidenbach and Joe Roberson — all attended the news conference. Several ex-players, including Rick Leach, Jim Brandstatter, John Kolesar and Jim Wangler also attended.

"After you've heard Tom talk, you know he's a tremendously intelligent guy," Schembechler said. "He's good with people. And I like his idea of accountability. I think he's going to be outstanding."

Through the years, Goss has maintained close ties to the university, serving as president of a local alumni club in the 1980s and spending 15 years on a special advisory commission to the Big Ten.

"He has tremendous integrity," Canham said. "I don't think you could find a better candidate than Tom. He's kept in touch with the university and the athletic department. I'm really sold on this guy."

Roberson, who told university president Lee Bollinger several months ago he wanted out, leaves Goss a department revamped in many ways. Before bowing out, Roberson set up a code of conduct for athletes, created a vehicle registration program and tightened the free ticket policy.

Roberson also guided the department through a certification process which means the department, overall, is meeting NCAA standards.

"I knew of Joe before I became president," Bollinger said. "I admired him then, and I admire him today. I thank him for a very fine job."

Goss joins Michigan State's Merritt Norvell as the only black athletic directors in the Big Ten.

"I think it's significant," Goss said. "I'm proud of my race. All my life, I've been a role model."

Goss continues a trend in which university presidents look to people with business backgrounds to run their athletic programs.

A native of Knoxville, Tenn., Goss was recruited to Michigan by then-coach Bump Elliott. He played defensive tackle for three seasons, earning all-Big Ten honors his senior year. The 1968 team, Elliott's last before Schembechler took over, finished 8-2.

"We lost our last game, at Ohio State (50-14)," Goss recalled. "I made 16 tackles in that game. I vowed I never would go to that stadium again, but now I guess I will."

Goss has been in business since graduating with degree in communications. Goss began his business career with Proctor & Gamble in 1969, while playing semi-pro football in northern Michigan. He quickly gave up football and flourished in the business world, rising quickly into management.

Goss became district manager for R.J. Reynolds Foods in Houston, in 1977; he was vice president of sales for Faygo Beverages in 1986; executive vice president and general manager of National Beverage Corp.'s Western Shasco Division in 1989, and president and CEO of PIA Merchandising from 1994 until he left the company.

Top 25 Football Schedule for Saturday, Sept. 13

- No.1 Penn State vs Temple, 1 p.m.
- No.3 Washington vs. San Diego State, 3:30 p.m.
- No.5 Florida State vs Maryland, 3:30 p.m.
- No.6 Nebraska vs. Central Florida, 1:30 p.m.
- No.7 North Carolina vs. No. 17 Stanford, 6 p.m.
- No.8 Colorado at No. 14 Michigan, Noon
- No.9 Ohio State vs. Bowling Green, 1:30 p.m.
- No.10 LSU at Mississippi State, 9 p.m.
- No.12 Texas vs. UCLA, 3:30 p.m.
- No.11 Notre Dame at Purdue, 3:30 p.m.
- No.13 Miami vs. No. 24 Arizona State, 3:30 p.m.
- No.16 Auburn vs. Mississippi, 12:30 p.m.
- No.18 Iowa vs. Tulsa, 2 p.m.
- No.19 Clemson at North Carolina State, Noon
- No.20 Kansas State vs. Ohio U., 7:10 p.m.
- No.21 Michigan State vs. Memphis, 1 p.m.
- No.22 Virginia Tech vs. Syracuse, 6 p.m.
- No.23 Southern California vs. Washington State, 6:30 p.m.
- No.25 Colorado State at Utah State, 9 p.m.

The Observer/Peter Cilella

PRINCIPLES of SOUND RETIREMENT INVESTING

Average annual compound rates of total return (periods ending 6/30/97)*

YOU'RE LOOKING AT TWO COMPLETELY OPPOSITE, FUNDAMENTALLY DIFFERENT WAYS TO INVEST IN STOCKS. WE RECOMMEND BOTH.

Whether you want a fund that selects specific stocks, or one that covers the market, we're on the same page. Our CREF Growth and CREF Equity Index Accounts use two distinct strategies for investing in the stock market, but both aim to provide what every smart investor looks for: long-term growth that outpaces inflation.

The CREF Growth Account searches for individual companies that we believe are poised for superior growth. In contrast, the Equity Index Account looks for more diversification, with a portfolio that seeks to mirror the experience of the

CREF GROWTH ACCOUNT
32.03%	28.56%	26.24%
1 year	3 years	Since inception 4/29/94

U.S. stock market as a whole.

Like our CREF Stock Account, the largest singly managed equity fund in America, and our Global Equities Account, which actively seeks opportunities worldwide, our accounts are managed by experienced investment professionals. They're the same experts who have helped make TIAA-CREF the largest pension system in the world, with $190 billion in assets under management.

To find out more about building your portfolio—and your future—with TIAA-CREF, just call 1 800 842-2776. And take your pick.

Visit us on the Internet at www.tiaa-cref.org

Ensuring the future for those who shape it.™

*The total returns shown for CREF variable annuity accounts represent past performance. Total returns and the principal value of investments in the accounts will fluctuate, and yields may vary. Upon redemption, your accumulation units may be worth more or less than their original price. Investment results are after all investment, administrative, and distribution expenses have been deducted. These accounts are available for Retirement Annuities subject to the terms of your institution's plan. They are available for all Supplemental Retirement Annuities. Based on assets under management. CREF certificates are distributed by TIAA-CREF Individual and Institutional Services. For more complete information, including charges and expenses, call 1 800 842-2733, ext. 5509, for a prospectus. Read the prospectus carefully before you invest or send money.

■ SAINT MARY'S SOCCER

Belles weather difficult road trip

By MAHA ZAYED
Sports Writer

The task that faced the Saint Mary's soccer team this weekend could be called anything but easy. With only 13 players able to compete, the Belles went on the road to face Denison University on Saturday and Ohio Wesleyan on Sunday.

Although the Belles played tough, it was not enough to keep up with the experience and depth of the opposing teams. The Belles were beat 7-0 by Denison and 6-0 by Ohio Wesleyan.

"The opposition was well coached and have good programs," said Saint Mary's head coach Bob Sharp. "They have experience and depth which is something we need to gain.

"With more games and more experience, the women will have success because the many inexperienced players are learning more and more each game."

The Belles' next game will be at 4 p.m. on Tuesday at Alma College.

The Irish were able to win the second game of the match against Florida.

V-ball

continued from page 24

18 kills on 38 attempts. Rodriguez was one of four Florida players who had double-digit kills. Senior blocker Nina Foster led the team in blocking, scoring six assists and two solo blocks. With the win, Florida improves its perfect record to 7-0.

The Irish were led once again by Lee, who led both teams with 20 kills and a .375 hitting percentage. She was supported by Leffers and senior hitter Angie Harris, who scored nine and eleven kills, respectively.

Leffers was the leader in the blocking category with five block assists and one solo. Junior Lindsay Treadwell also turned in a solid performance, scoring seven kills on 16 attempts. Freshman setter Denise Boylan again ran the Irish offense, leading the team with 39 assists. Boylan is just 31 assists shy of knocking former player Jenny Birkner from the 10th spot on the Irish record book.

Once again, the team struggled with its serve, giving up 14 serving errors while scoring just two aces. There was also a huge disparity in hitting, as the Gators had a .333 team percentage compared to a .222 for the Irish.

"Overall, I think it was an average performance," Brown remarked. "I'm definitely disappointed, but it's not just the players. As coaches, we need to prepare them better and be more demanding of them in certain aspects. We have a long way to go and a lot of improvements to make."

"I think we had a very strong second game," Lee commented. "But we were not intense enough emotionally throughout the match. I think that's what caused the slip in the third and fourth games."

The English Department
University of Notre Dame

presents

The 1997 Joseph M. Duffy, Jr. Lecture

Njabulo S. Ndebele

THE IMAGING OF SOUTH AFRICA:
Some reflections on the hearings of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission

Wednesday, September 10, 1997

8:00 P.M.

CCE Auditorium

Njabulo Ndebele is president of the Congress of South African Writers and vice-chancellor of the University of the North in Sovenga, South Africa. Among his many writings are Fools and Other Stories (Ravan Press, 1983), which won the NOMA award in 1984, and South African Literature and Culture: Rediscovery of the Ordinary (Manchester University Press, 1994), which Nadine Gordimer has called "an essential book." Hailed as "a prophet of the post-apartheid condition," Doctor Ndebele is primarily concerned with the ways in which literary culture functions in such a rapidly changing political and social world as contemporary South Africa.

Our Sensational Outlook Centers Around Your Vision

We're the Information Technology Group (ITG) of NOVUS Services and it's our responsibility to provide the technical support behind Discover, Private Issue, and Bravo credit cards. And with 48 million cardmembers and a large merchant network, this is no small task. But with strong corporate support, a state-of-the-art technical environment, and talented team-oriented professionals who love what they do, we accomplish some pretty amazing feats.

As we move forward, we're looking for you. Currently, our needs call for individuals in the College of Business with experience in any of the following areas:

COBOL • C • C++ • JAVA • HTML • VSAM • DB/2 • CICS
JCL • OS/2 PM • UNIX • AIX • Oracle

Please join us:

September 12th, 9am-4pm
University of Notre Dame

College Of Business Administration Building

We offer excellent salaries and benefits, including 401K, profit sharing, and tuition reimbursement, accompanied by an array of workplace amenities and activities for your enjoyment. Our incredible facility in north suburban Riverwoods features a health club, full-service cafeteria, sundries store with dry cleaning services, ATM, softball field, volleyball court, jogging path, and much more. If unable to attend, please send resume to:

NOVUS Services, Inc., Human Resources,
IT Recruiter, 2500 Lake Cook Road,
Riverwoods, IL 60015,
Fax: (847) 405-1388

Taking charge in a changing world.

www.novusnet.com

Equal Opportunity Employer M/F/V

University of Notre Dame International Study Program at

NOTRE DAME AUSTRALIA

INFORMATION MEETING
with Professor Mike Etzel
Tuesday September 9, 1997
313 DeBartolo
4:45-5:45 pm

SPRING '98 APPLICATION DEADLINE OCT. 1
1998-99 APPLICATION DEADLINE DEC. 1

SPECIAL SET OF NAILS

Just $30
with Coupon
Fill ins $20

During your first-time visit

NAILS

Kim Lee system from California, no glue all acrylic regular $55
limited time $45

With Student ID

closed Mondays

THE NAIL STUDIO
AT THE CASTLE

State Rd. 23 at Ironwood next to Subway
Just minutes from campus!

272-0312
272-8471

Football

continued from page 24

up Lance Legree will fill in for Davie's defense despite not having played a down prior to this season. However, the converted line-backer did come out of spring drills as the starter at nose guard prior to Bennett's move from defensive end.

"I'll try to take advantage of any opportunity I can get," said Legree. "I played a lot in practice and will try not to let my teammates down when my time comes."

The last of the three knee injuries belongs to freshman wide receiver Joey Getherall.

In becoming the first freshman to start for the Irish since inside line-backer Mike Kovalski in 1983, Getherall grabbed five passes for 47 yards against Georgia Tech. However, the 5-foot-7, 165-pound receiver suffered a slight knee injury running for a pass late in the game.

"It was kind of a freak thing that is kind of hard to avoid," said Getherall. "It's disappointing to get hurt especially, but I guess it's better to get hurt in the first game than later in the season."

'Bobbie Howard and Jimmy Friday are great role models and have helped me out a lot. I'll be ready if they need me.'

Grant Irons

Stepping up and Stepping out:

Several knee injuries in last Saturday's game will force Grant Irons (left), Lance Legree, and other members of the Irish to step up their level of play in the up-coming game against Purdue.

Freshmen Joey Getherall (below) and Corey Bennett (95, bottom left) will be unable to play next week-end.

Photos by Brandon Candura

Tickets

Buy•Sell•Trade
Seasons and Individuals
GA's only•Confidential

234-5650

Attention Sophomores!

Get involved in 1997-98 JPW

The committee for this year's Junior Parent's Weekend is looking for a Sophomore Chairperson. This is your chance to get involved in one of the most exciting events of junior year. Don't let this opportunity pass YOU by, apply now!

•Applications are now available at the LaFortune Information Desk.

•Applications must be returned to 315 LaFortune by September 26.

IF YOU HAVE ANY QUESTIONS PLEASE CALL
JEFF JONES AT X1631.

Catch the Action!!

Notre Dame vs. Purdue
Saturday, September 13 Round Trip Bus Transportation to Ross-Ade Stadium

Buses leave at 10:30am from Stepan Center
Tickets: $20.00 at the
LaFortune Information Desk
Bus tickets will go on sale at 10:00am on September 9.

For more information, contact
Student Activities at 631-7309

MEN ABOUT CAMPUS

DAN SULLIVAN

YOUR HOROSCOPE

EUGENIA LAST

MOTHER GOOSE & GRIMM

MIKE PETERS

DILBERT

SCOTT ADAMS

CROSSWORD

- ACROSS
- 1 Free ticket
 - 5 Watercress unit
 - 10 Throw off
 - 14 Neighborhood
 - 15 Fraternity
 - 16 Fast feline
 - 17 Cheery tune
 - 18 Bewildered
 - 19 Kind of rain
 - 20 1980 Neil Diamond hit
 - 23 Yalie
 - 24 Barker and Kettle, e.g.
 - 25 "Siddhartha" author
 - 27 _____ car
 - 29 Injure
 - 32 Nickname
 - 33 Creature caught only by a virgin maiden
- DOWN
- 36 Prefix with -gramme
 - 37 Secret competitor
 - 40 Beam
 - 41 Liqueur flavoring
 - 42 Kind of stock: Abbr.
 - 43 Sunrise direction, in Sonora
 - 44 Pre-Revolution leaders
 - 48 Solo in Berlioz's "Harold in Italy"
 - 50 D'Amato or Dodd: Abbr.
 - 52 Formerly
 - 53 1978 Oscar-winning prison documentary
 - 58 Pessimist's comments
- DOWN
- 1 Telemarketer
 - 2 Baltimore bird
 - 3 Litigator Belli
 - 4 Toast topping
 - 5 Alexander, formerly of "60 Minutes"
 - 6 "Designing Women" co-star
 - 7 Hurry
 - 8 Words of understanding
 - 9 Trucker's choice
 - 10 Part of NASA
 - 11 Snake oil salesman
 - 12 Go-between
 - 13 June honoree
 - 21 Saudi neighbor
 - 22 Physicist Georg
 - 26 Bruised item
 - 28 Not go straight
 - 29 Guts
 - 30 Lincoln Center subject
 - 31 Memo starter

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

RULED SHOP SHAG
EPOXY COLA TARA
ELOPE ABEL ARIZ
LIFO BROOM HILDA
STANLEY EIRE
EEG BETS QUA
SHANA AINT SUNS
MOP THE FLOOR WITH UMPS NAGS CANOE
GEL YORE APT
IGOR SUTTERS
VACUUM PACK ERIE
ERAS IOTA RANDED
RENT TROD OMEGA
BATS YEPS ESSEN

Puzzle by Elizabeth C. Gorski

- ACROSS
- 34 Lupino and others
 - 35 Copper
 - 36 Tacks on
 - 37 Masons, coopers and the like
 - 38 Glance
 - 39 Big insurance carrier
 - 40 N.J.'s Whitman, e.g.
 - 43 Pitcher part
 - 45 Bassett of "Waiting to Exhale"
- DOWN
- 46 Warm up, as leftovers
 - 47 Living room piece
 - 49 Rancher's rope
 - 50 Put on
 - 51 Flynn of film
 - 54 Newts
 - 55 "Phooey!"
 - 56 Kind of curve, in math
 - 57 "_____ old cowhand..."
 - 58 Constrictor
- Answers to any three clues in this puzzle are available by touch-tone phone: 1-900-420-5656 (75c per minute). Annual subscriptions are available for the best of Sunday crosswords from the last 50 years: 1-888-7-ACROSS.

■ MENU

Notre Dame

Call 631-0111 for menu information.

Saint Mary's

Call 284-5542 for menu information.

Wanted:
Reporters, photographers and editors.
Join The
Observer staff.

Upcoming Intramural Deadlines

Interhall
Soccer - Men
Cross Country

Campus
(Open to All ND Stud/Fac/Staff)
Outdoor Volleyball
Bowling

Grad/Fac/Staff
Soccer

For More Info. Contact:
Athletic Commissioner or RecSports - 1-6100
www.nd.edu/~recsport

ENTRY DEADLINE: SEPTEMBER 11

■ VOLLEYBALL

Irish fall to second-ranked Florida in four games

By BILL HART
Sports Writer

Any match against a ranked team is difficult, especially when the team is a national powerhouse. While the Notre Dame volleyball team has played against many top teams in recent years, last night's episode proves that it never gets any easier, as the Irish lost a four-set struggle against No. 2 Florida, 15-7, 10-15, 15-6, 15-3.

At the start, the Gators took a quick 5-0 lead before the Irish called their first time out. Florida continued to dominate the game, taking another 7-2 run to set the game at match point. Despite battling back from three match points, an Irish rally fell short.

In the second set, the Irish bounced back with strong hitting and heavy blocking. In the set, the Irish had a hitting percentage of .426, scoring 22 kills on 39 attempts. They also had four of their nine blocks in the set, mostly due to sophomore blocker Mary Leffers.

"We were having trouble containing Aurymar Rodriguez, the outside hitter, so we rotated Leffers in order to block her out," head coach Debbie Brown said. "I think our comeback was a combination of seeing them in game one and getting to know their patterns and then responding properly in game two."

Despite a strong rally from four points down, the Gators' offense was completely shut down, as the Irish had a 4-0 run to even the match at one game apiece.

"I think in the second game," senior hitter and co-captain Jaimie Lee said, "we were able to take them out of their offense by making our serves a little tougher, while our offense became fairly diversified."

"We were able to get the ball to our middles, and because of that, combined with blocking out some of the key Florida players, we were able to play a solid second game."

In the third game, the Gators composed themselves, getting off to a 3-0 start before Notre Dame got on the board. A quick 4-0 run following that gave Florida a five-point lead. It was stretched to seven before the Irish started to rally, bringing the score to 9-5 before the Gators called a time-out. Regrouped, the Gators went on to win the game and take a 2-1 lead.

In the fourth game, an early 2-1 lead by the Irish was quickly nullified by a rally which quickly turned into a 10-0 Florida run. Despite a half-hearted Irish rally, the Gators went on to take the fourth game and the match.

The Gators were led by Aurymar Rodriguez, who had

The national powerhouse Florida proved to be too much for the Irish. Notre Dame fell 15-7, 10-15, 15-6, 15-3.

see V-BALL / page 21

■ FOOTBALL

Knee injuries knock off three key Irish performers

Bobbie Howard, a leader for the Irish, will be out for at least the next six games, leaving large shoes to fill.

Reggie McKnight, a freshman mid-fielder on the Irish soccer team, was named Big East Rookie of the Week.

page 18

By MIKE DAY
Sports Editor

Now that the first victory of the season is officially in the books, it's time for the bad news. And unfortunately for the Irish, there's plenty of it. Knee injuries will sideline three starters for this Saturday's match-up with Purdue.

Junior inside linebacker Bobbie Howard will most likely miss the next six weeks after suffering a knee injury late in the third quarter on Saturday. While the coaching staff is waiting on further tests, the prognosis does not look good for Howard and the Irish.

"That could be a big injury for us, especially with his experience and the leadership he brings to this team," said defensive coordinator Greg Mattison following the game. "Bobbie Howard is a guy who does a lot for us, so we can't afford to lose a player like him."

With Howard out, Mattison will most likely turn to true freshman Grant Irons or sophomore Ronnie Nicks as a replacement. Irons filled in for Howard in the fourth quarter against Georgia Tech.

"For his first game, I think Grant Irons did a great job for us," said Mattison. "He's big, strong, and a quick learner. If we need him, he'll do a good job filling in for us on Saturday."

Although he did not expect to be pressed into duty this early in the season, Irons is confident that he will be able to help ease the loss of Howard come Saturday.

"I know I've only been here a short time, but I've been able to learn from the older guys on the team," said Irons. "Bobbie Howard and Jimmy Friday are great role models and have helped me out a lot. I'll be ready if they need me."

If losing Howard wasn't enough, the Irish will also be without the services of nose guard Corey Bennett for this Saturday's game against the Boilermakers. The 6-foot-1, 255-pound senior also injured his knee against the Yellow Jackets and will need at least a week of rest.

"Corey Bennett will not play against Purdue, but hopefully, he'll be back for Michigan State," said Davie.

Bennett's injury means back-

see FOOTBALL / page 22

at Pittsburgh,
September 12, 7:15 p.m.

vs. Valparaiso,
September 10, 4 p.m.

vs. Purdue,
September 13

Soccer at Alma,
Today, 4 p.m.

Inside

■ Michigan chooses athletic director

see page 20

■ Ohio State basketball loses three

see page 18