BOBSERVER Friday, October 1, 1993 • Vol. XXVI No. 25

TE INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER SERVING NOTRE DAME AND SAINT MARY'S

Dallmayr speaks on equality

By W.HUDSON GILES News Writer

"Equality without mediation" typifies "Modes of Cross-Cultural Encounter" according to Government Professor Fred Dallmayr in his recent thesis and mono-symposium topic.

Dallmayr spoke at the Hesburgh Center for International Studies on Thursday focusing on the integration of Western cultures during the Age of Exploration. The seminar, conducted and sponsored by the Kroc Institute, directed its attention toward comprehending the attitudes of different cultures

during the exploration period using such examples as the Spanish

Inquisition into Central and South America in the early 1500's

Dallmayr elaborated on the Spanish Inquisition claiming, "Their aim was to create a global empire under a guiding mission, not a haphazard operation

Dallmayr also specified that both Islam and Christianity deeply believed they had a mission to globalize during that expansion era.

Military conquest relating directly to the Spanish

Inquisition, Dallmayr cited, was based on asymmetry or hegemonic power relation with examples such as Columbus' and Cortes' conquest over the Americas and the attempted conquest of the Philippines.

Dallmayr called this "outright domination" and said,

Different cultures have to be assimilated into dominant cultures.

He said that that 70 million Native American inhabitants including those from central and southern regions were killed as a result of violent conflict or indirectly by disease due to the western invasion. "There is a natural superiority between men of different cul-

Bosnian family leaves its war-torn home

By ELIZABETH REGAN Assistant Saint Mary's Editor

The once quiet town of Pesang, Bosnia is now in the front line of the hostile fighting taking place in the former Yugoslavia, forcing over two-hundred fifty thousand Bosnian families to take refuge elsewhere.

Nusret and Jasminka Bahtic and their four-year-old son Denis were not alone when they packed two small satchels with their personal belongings and left their family members behind to pioneer a new life in the United States.

The Bahtics, secretly sponsored by a division of Catholic Charities in Zagreb, Croatia, were able to flee to the safety of South Bend on September 17, where they were met at the airport by many people willing to help, including translator Anne Ivanis, Catholic Charities worker Caroline Nacakanja, and Saint Mary's seniors Ann Grant, Jennifer Toth, and Mollie Wheeler.

"Everyone is so anxious to help out," Ivanis said. "We don't realize the extent of the freedom that we have in this country.

Augusta Hall residents are sponsoring the Bosnian family as their Hall Service Project for the 1993-94 school year.

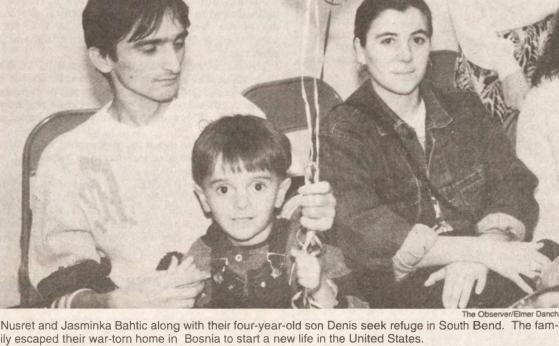

"We are sponsoring our time," Grant said. "We are really excited about this service project and we hope to make their transition form Bosnia to America as smooth as possible.

Augusta board members plan to fit residents into weekly volunteer slots. They will be available for babysitting, tutoring and errand running for the said. The Bahtics are living in a garage apartment in South Bend with host family Dave and Susan Nakielski and their three children. "This has been a very rewarding experience," Mrs. Nakielski said. "They are very appreciative and just a joy to have.'

The Bahtics hope to assimilate to life in the United States by getting their own apartment, learning English and getting jobs, according to Mr.

ily escaped their war-torn home in Bosnia to start a new life in the United States.

Bahtic

family, according to Hank. "We told Catholic Charities that we would help them in any way that we can," Hank

Mr. Bahtic, a former salesman and whole sale dealer in Bosnia, is open to any entry level position. He has had some experience as a painter and a carpenter's apprentice.

"Really, I will take any position available," Mr. Bahtic said "They are such industrious, smart, and hardworking peo-ple," Mrs. Nakeilski said. "I have a lot of admiration for them. Completely starting over is so courageous.

The Bahtics left her parents in Pesang and his mother and sister in Makarska, a coastal town in Croatia, where many

Bosnians have found a somewhat safer environment

Many men have sent the women of their families into safe zones similar to Makarska, due to the number of rapes and killings being committed by the armies on the front line, according to Mr. Bahtic

Although these coastal towns are safer, they are still lacking severely in food, medical care, toiletries, and items that most Americans take for granted.

"At home, almost everyone is mostly worried and sad, and without hope," Mrs. Bahtic

see BOSNIA / page 3

Ruffner and Rafaj win SMC freshmen election

By NICOLE MCGRATH Saint Mary's News Editor

voted Emily Ruffner and Anna idential candidate, Kellogg. Rafaj their new president and vice-president at yesterday's run-off elections, according to Elections Commissioner Elizabeth Broghammer. The Ruffner/ Rafaj ticket secured 45.5 percent of the votes, said Broghammer.

place by gaining 27 percent of the votes, said Broghammer.

"We definitely could have Saint Mary's freshman class done a lot more,"said vice-pres-

SAINT MARY'S ELECTION RESULTS

tures", he went on to say.

Dallmayr touched on other related topics such as assimilation and acculturation, conflict and class struggle, as well as liberalism and minimal engagement including dialogical engagement.

"We are aware of the strains and limitations of the Melting Pot", he said in response to a question regarding the failure of the Melting Pot theory.

Dallmayr attended the University of Munich in Germany and later went on to receive his doctorate degree from Duke University. He has taught at Purdue, Oxford, and the University of Hamburg to name a few. He travels extensively and has spent many years in the Far and Mid-East studying the various cultures, particularly India

His social theory of modernity and post-modernity has been widely acclaimed.

Leslie Field/ Jennifer Augustine 26.5%

> Emily Ruffner 45.5%

Anna Rafaj/

Beth Ann Miller/ Becky Kellogg 27%

'We campaigned until midnight by hitting almost every freshman's room," said Ruffner.

According to Ruffner, she hopes to start an interhall foot-ball program. "We would like to get this project started right away while the weather's still nice," she added.

Other goals include having a SMC/ND freshman women's luncheon in order to better relations between the two freshman classes. Ruffner also hopes to start service projects which involve visiting senior citizens.

The Beth Ann Miller/ Becky Kellogg ticket came in second

"We are disappointed that we lost. Hopefully, we can participate in other ways like hall council or freshman board."

The Leslie Field/ Jennifer Augustine ticket received 26.5 percent of the vote and came in third place, according to Broghammer.

"We gave it our all and we wish them the best," said presi-dential candidate, Field. "We still want to start an environmental club on campus and I think the freshman class is a great group of women."

According to Broghammer, 52 percent of the freshman class voted in today's run-off elections and one percent abstained from voting.

'A lot of the times between first elections and run-offs, it's possible that somebody's original ticket lost and they did not bother to vote,' said Broghammer.

Umarga

Over 3.000 dead. largest reported death toll.

INSIDE COLUMN

Try out the campus bands

Ahhhh...another Friday. What should we do tonight? 10th floor Flanner? A particularly raucous 2nd floor Stanford party? Perhaps one of the women's dorms? Hit.

an off-campus joint or the bars even? Regardless of what you choose, the option of going to the Samples concert is gone...that was last Friday.

The Samples, who were accepted as a "major band" this summer when they toured with the H.O.R.D.E. festival, did not sell out the Notre

Rob Adams Day Editor

Dame show last weekend. In fact, only some 1175 tickets were sold out of a possible 2000 and the SUB Music Committee suffered a 6000-dollar loss.

I can understand that just as there were many reasons to go to the Samples show, there were many reasons not to go: Purdue trips, money problems, big dates, etc. but I don't think that those reasons consumed five-sixths of the Notre Dame undergraduate population.

I can, however, completely sympathize with those who honestly felt that they could not afford to shell out the eight dollars for the Samples show, but believe me when I tell you that eight dollars was about as low as the SUB Music Committee could make it.

Luckily for those of you with the money problems, there is a solution: campus bands. At almost any event where a campus band plays they charge no dollars or cents! And they play a lot more often than the ones who do charge Just because you can't buy one of their CD's over at Camelot does not make it any less of a musical experience. Hey, just think, when you watch a campus band by Stonehenge or out on the quad or on one of the Stepan fields, you won't have to deal with the "killer folding chairs with plastic fasteners."

I am utterly shocked when I see the paltry attendance levels that have become fairly com monplace at campus band events. In all cases they are obviously not "doing it for the money" so their sounds are untamed and raw, the true necessities for college music. These bands are offering much more than their time, money, and effort; they're offering their soul, their music. for an audience, virtually any audience, to appreciate.

Much props have to go out to Kate Babka, Joe Cannon, Robert Johnigan, and a host of oth ers who have put forth a solid effort to unite this sometimes distant campus under one common love, music. Their many attempts to brainstorm ways to bring people to campus band events are very similar to those of the SUB Music Committee...and both are probably reaching a roadblock.

In the next month, dozens of events will hap pen which involve campus bands. If it is at all possible, come to hang, dance, or just listen to the music. And, most likely in less than two months, the SUB Music Committee will sponsor another concert. Give whoever it turns out to be a chance to entertain you...you may be sur prised.

What would it take to increase interest of campus concerts? Do they have to pay the audience to come? I don't know. I guess I just love music a little too much to let a campus concert pass me by ... whether it's U2 or emiLy.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

Quake kills 16,000 people in India

UMARGA

AFGHANISTAN

tate of Maharashtra

Debris crashed down on sleeping residents as the quake ripped through a large area of the state.

PAKISTAN

Killari

Over 1,000

A major earthquake shattered the dawn quiet Thursday, collapsing mud and mortar homes onto sleeping families in villages across southern India. More than 16,000 died and many more cried for help from the wreckage.

Authorities feared the death toll would rise substantially in India's worst quake in a half century

Many villages were leveled so quickly as the earth shook violently and opened crevices that people were crushed inside their homes while sleeping, news agencies reported.

"The rising sun created darkness for us this morning, swallowed up our villages, and made our houses into tombs," a survivor told a reporter

Some survived when frantic rescuers heard them shouting for help beneath toppled walls and roofs or saw a hand reaching out from the wreckage.

Friends, neighbors and police strained to lift stone, brick and wood by hand to free victims.

Soldiers and policemen rushed to the remote area of southwestern India, bringing stretchers, tents, medical supplies, earth movers, bulldozers and mobile hospitals. But relief workers had trouble reaching some villages that recently lost their roads and bridges to heavy monsoon rains.

The quake, which measured at least six on the Richter scale, ripped through southwest India at 3:56 a.m. It was felt at least 400 miles from the epicenter and caused a wide swath of damage.

The death tolls given by state officials and news reports varied from 6,200 to 16,000, and all appeared to be based on confirmed statistics and estimates

By nightfall the death toll was more than 6,200, said N. Raghunathan, chief secretary of Maharashtra, the hardest-hit state, adding that more than 2,000 bodies had been recovered.

State-run Doordarshan TV raised the toll to more than 10,000 and said more than 12,000 people could still be trapped. The United News of India news agency later put the death toll at 16,000

About 10,000 people were injured, said Raghunathan. Telephone, electricity and water lines were cut in many areas.

Gay says Peace Corps forced public goodbye

WASHINGTON

A homosexual Peace Corps volunteer claims in a lawsuit that his former boss ordered him to wave goodbye conspicuously to any male visitor to his home to show neighbors that the caller was not staying overnight. The charge was made in a $5 million lawsuit filed against the Peace Corps in U.S. District Court on Thursday by Paul Correri, a 64-year-old widowed grandfather who is a veteran of the Army and Air Force. He contends that he was fired from the Peace Corps because he is gay and denied reinstatement even though an appeal board found in his favor

Board won't revoke child killer's parole

ANGLETON

A convicted child killer who was hounded out of several communities after his release from prison didn't violate his parole when he was arrested after an argument at his grandparents' home, officials said Thursday. The ruling means Raul Meza, who has been jailed since Aug. 31, will be able to continue his parole under mandatory supervision. Meza pleaded guilty in 1982 to the rapeslaying of an 8-year-old Austin girl. He served 11 years of a 34-year sentence and was released June 21.

Madonna's Frankfurt performance scratched

FRANKFURT

A politician said Madonna's stage show wasn't fit for young eyes, but in the end it was technical difficulties that scotched her performance. Norbert Geis, spokesman for Chancellor Helmut Kohl's conservatives in parliament, said the show "exceeded the bounds of decency' and should be off-limits for children under 16.

INDIANA Weather

Boutros-Ghali warns against withdrawal U.N. Secretary-General Boutros Boutros-Ghali has warned the Clinton administration that withdrawing U.S. peacekeeping troops from Somalia could condemn the people of that African country to a resumption of civil war "and all the horrors that would result." "It would also represent a humbling of the United Nations and of the efforts of the United States and other countries to restore peace and human decency to Somalia," Boutros-Ghali wrote in a letter, according to an account provided

Changes continue despite NAFTA debate

MEXICO CITY

At the grand opening of the world's biggest Wal-Mart, mariachi musicians sing love songs to a pair of women in short purple dresses touting Cannon Mills bath towels. Someone in a penguin costume does the cha-cha-cha across the slippery tile floor of the 244,000-square-foot Wal-Mart Supercenter while amused customers watch. "This place is enormous. You can get anything you want," shopper Julieta Rodriguez said this week. "Free trade has arrived. "

Teen pregnancy rates up again in U.S.

ATLANTA

The rate of American teen-agers having babies rose for the fifth year in a row, federal health officials said Thursday. For every 1,000 women aged 15 to 19 in 1991, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention reported 62.1 births, up from 59.9 births the year before.

Gulbarga during an morning us festival Indian Ocean Major earthquakes in the Indian subcontinent of the 20th century Richter scale Location Bihar-Nepal, India Quetta, India Assam, India India-Nepal border Himalayan foothills, India Jan. 15, 1934 May 31, 1935 Aug. 15, 1950 Aug. 20, 1988 Oct. 20, 1991 10,700 30,000 1,530 1,000 744 6.5 6.1 WASHINGTON by a diplomatic official.

INDIA

The views expressed in the Inside Column ar those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.

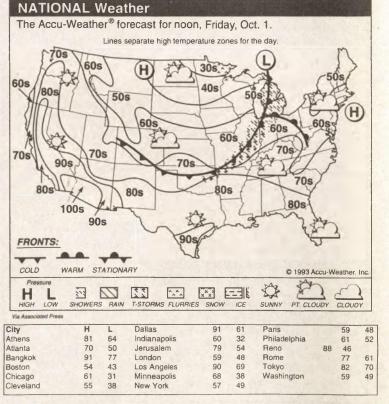

TODAY'S STAFF

News Theresa Aleman Corrine Doran Mike O'Hara Allyson Luck Sports Brain Kubicki Viewpoint Allison Ebel

The Observer (USPS 599 2-4000) is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

BOSNIAN TOWNS WITH Zagreb Pesang Spli

Bosnia

continued from page 1

said, "and many times quite hungry

For the past year and one-half, the Bahtics' meals have consisted of rice and bread for five days days in a row, macaroni and water on the sixth day, and a can of navy beans on the seventh day, according to Mrs. Bahtic.

The Bahtics are spending this week getting immunizations, health care and dental work, according to Hank.

"I cannot realize the wealth and material riches in your society. People walk around with smiles all of the time," Mrs. Bahtic said.

The Observer • CAMPUS NEWS

Haskin speaks on races

By MARGARET VIDA News Writer

It's up to Christians to make an effort to reach out to people outside their ethnicity, according to Glendora Haskin, associate minister with the New Wings of Faith, a non-denominational church in South Bend.

In her presentation at Thursday's Fireside Chat. Haskin offered a message filled with hope, and full of practical ideas.

"We've got integration. What has integration given us?" Haskin said that it is now time for Christians to change the tide of racism in America. because "the sin of racism has never heen addressed."

"A change in legislation doesn't change attitudes. A change in law doesn't cause a change of heart, " said Haskin.

Citing her own church as an example of Christian participation, she referred to the success that they have had in bringing together people of different races at their Sunday morning services. This is to disprove the notion that ,"11:00 on Sunday mornings is the most segregated hour (of the week)," said Haskin.

With regard to New Wings of Faith, she said, "We have not assimilated the culture of the majority; we appreciate the differences (between the minorities)." She said that it is not enough for people just to sit together; people need to make an effort to understand each other.

Haskin described separatism as one of the most distressing forms of racism on college campuses. Referring to the African Americans' position, "we're sick and tired of being sick and tired. We reached out in the Sixties, and you slapped our hand." The new strategy of African American students appears to be "doing their own thing," according to Haskin.

Arguing that separatism is not the answer, she said that people need to leave their "comfort zones" and be "intentional." Haskin called for Christians to make an effort to understand learn about other races. She warned, "Don't abandon your own culture. You have to be understanding and open."

Distributed by:

AP Image Team, Inc.

209 E. Colfax Ave. - 2nd Floor

South Bend, IN 46617

Play Like a Champion Today, ™ pending

The campus-wide problem of incoming telephone call gridlock and busy-ness is not a new obstacle at Saint Mary's, according to the Saint Mary's Telecommunications Coordinator Sandy Handley

This problem occurs when incoming calls utilize all 68 trunks, or lines, servicing the campus. The result is a fast busy signal and the inability to connect calls, regardless if the destination phone extension is in use or not. "During busy periods of calling, incoming calls are blocked because all of the available lines are occupied. When a caller hears the fast busy tone it sometimes indicates that there is congestion anywhere along the way. especially with long distance calls," Handley said.

These busy periods occur after most classes finish at 4 p.m. and more so between 8 p.m. and 2 a.m. However. Handley says that adding more trunks to the existing ones would not help to alleviate phone traffic.

"Sixty-eight trunks is quite enough for any campus comparable in size to Saint Mary's," she said. "Last year, Indiana Bell researched our phone system for two weeks at the beginning of the fall term, one of the busiest seasons. Because the major heavy traffic is concentrated in just a few hours, and not the entire day, they concluded that adding more trunks would not make a sizable difference.

The addition of call waiting would also fail to improve the campus gridlock.

"Call waiting would in fact complicate the problem, not help it. If added, one extension could tie up two incoming trunks instead of one like the current system does." Handley said. "The best way to relieve this phone conges-tion is for students to make more outgoing calls, instead of receiving calls. I suggest that they also make shorter calls in length or call people back on outgoing lines.

According to Handley, students have complained about this for at least the past five years. Usually, phone gridlock is only reported two to per week but last three times year complaints increased dramatically. "We were receiving two or three reports per day." she said. "I do not know why the number of complaints increased so much because there was the same amount of business as in previous years. However, this year the reports have dropped back down to a normal level, said Handley A Le Mans Hall freshmen. Kristin Wisniewski has experienced this gridlock already this year. "Recently, a friend attempted to call 15 times but received the busy tone every time even though no one was on our phone," Wisniewski said. "On another occasion, I waited for a call from the Le Mans lobby so that I could meet a friend, but it took him nearly an hour to get through. He had to wait in the lobby."

Sometimes the right solution isn't obvious. Sometimes the obvious solution isn't right.

Lante Corporation, an industry leader in the design, development and implementation of Client/Server business solutions, will be on campus recruiting Monday October 4, 1993. Lante Corporation invites all interviewees, and any interested students, to an informal presentation from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. on Sunday October 3, 1993 in the Dooley Room, LaFortune Student Center.

> Lante. When the obvious isn't.

Open to all ND students for the development of personal leadership skills

PLAY LIKE

TODAY

Time/Stress Management Oct. 4 Oct. 11 How to Coordinate a Project at ND How to be an Effective Leader Nov. 1 Decision Making/Problem Solving Nov. 8 Nov. 15 Creating Change in an Organization

7:00 PM - 8:00 PM Notre Dame Room (La Fortune Student Center) Refreshments provided

The Observer • NEWS

Canadian court against suicide doc

By JEFFREY ULBRICH Associated Press

TORONTO Canada's Supreme Court ruled narrowly on Thursday that a woman in the terminal stages of Lou Gehrig's disease cannot have a doctor help her commit suicide.

The court's 5-4 decision upheld rulings by two British Columbia courts that laws against assisted suicide do not infringe on the constitutional rights of Sue Rodriguez.

The case recalls the American doctor, Jack Kevorkian, who has been present at 18 suicides and faces trial in Michigan in two cases.

Rodriguez, 42, was diagnosed in August 1991 with amyotrophic lateral sclero-sis, or Lou Gehrig's disease. which causes the cells that control muscle function in the spinal cord and brain stem to degenerate and eventually die.

Rodriguez, who is married and has an eight-year-old son, has been told by her doctors that she has less than a year to live.

She wants the right to have a doctor set up the means by which she might take her own life when she determines it is no longer bearable.

"I want to be in charge of my life," she said in documents presented to the Supreme Court. "I want to be the one who does the final deed. I feel that it's my right."

Her attorney. Christopher Considine, said his client was disappointed by the Supreme Court's decision, but was "pleased that four very strong judges were on her side."

She "feels this should hopefully be an impetus for Parliament to eventually address the issue," he said. In his majority opinion,

Justice John Sopinka wrote: "Given the concerns about abuse and the great difficulty in creating appropriate safeguards, the blanket prohibition on assisted suicide is not arbitrary or unfair."

But Chief Justice Antonio Lamer wrote in his dissenting opinion that ' while at

Lybia works to avoid sanctions for bombing Kong negotiations

By ANDREW KATELL Associated Press

UNITED NATIONS Libya showed no new sign of cooperation Thursday in turning over two suspects in the bombing of Pan Am Flight 103 over Scotland, a day before a deadline to surrender the pair.

But the United States, Britain and France eased pressure on Tripoli, saying they planned to circulate a draft resolution Friday to toughen sanctions against Libya but would not press for its immediate adoption

"We're not pressing for its adoption but we're putting it there for discussion," said France's ambassador, Jean-Bernard Merimee.

Asked when France would start pressing for the resolution's adoption. Merimee told reporters, "We haven't set a time limit."

The three nations had set a deadline of Friday for Libya to surrender the suspects. Merimee explained the delay by citing "good will" and 'encouraging words' from Libya, which said Wednesday it was urging the suspects to

A Real Lady Killer.

Call Us NOW

259-1981

ext. 268 or 544

Free Shuttle

Service!

She's finally met her match.

He's handsome, wealthy, seductive

Rebecca De Mornay · Don Johnson

Friday & Saturday - 7:00 p.m. & 9:30 p.m.

Carroll Auditorium

Admission: $200

agree to a trial in Scotland.

The two are charged with carrying out the December 1988 bombing over Lockerbie, Scotland, that killed 270 people. They are also wanted in connection with a 1988 French airliner bombing.

The Security Council imposed an air and arms embargo and diplomatic sanctions on Libya in 1992 to pressure it to turn over the suspects.

The new sanctions would ban some Libyan oil equipment purchases - except for oil drilling equipment — and freeze some Libyan assets abroad. The new sanctions would also bar sales of equipment used in Libya's terminals and other transportation facilities.

No outright ban on oil imports from Libya was planned, because of objections from Europeans who buy much of Libya's 1.5 million barrels a day in exports. In addition, the freeze on Libya's assets abroad does not apply to the proceeds from future oil sales.

The new sanctions would be unlikely to have much affect on Libya's $9 billion a year in revenue from petroleum exports.

Celia Patawaran

is finally 21!

Нарру

Birthday!

Love,

Livewire

SAB

Hong Kong's leading prodemocracy group said the British government had lost its nerve in talks with China on the colony's future and was "on the brink of total capitulation to Beijing.'

By MARCUS ELIASON

Associated Press

Tempers fray in Hong

HONG KONG

The accusations came in a strongly worded letter to British Foreign Minister Douglas Hurd on the eve of a meeting Friday with his Chinese counterpart, Qian Qichen, at the United Nations in New York.

The letter, made public

Thursday, was from Martin Lee, leader of the United Democrats, and seemed to reflect fraying tempers in Hong Kong. It follows a year of largely futile Anglo-Chinese jousting over how Hong Kong is to be ruled after it reverts to Chinese sovereignty in 1997

"It is now widely suspected in Hong Kong that the British government does not have the backbone to follow through on its moral and political obligations to us and is on the brink of a total capitulation to Beijing," Lee wrote.

Lee is an outspoken campaigner for Western-style democracy and civil liberties.

50¢ OFF YOUR NEXT WAFFLE CONE!

Please present coupon before ordering. One coupon per customer per visit. Offer good only at address above. Not valid in combination with any other offer. Expires 10/31/93

@1992, I Can't Believe It's Yogurt, Ltd.

The India Association of Notre Dame The Asian Indian Classical Music Society of Michiana and the Saint Mary's College Office of Multicultural Affairs present

dance

ensemble

Wednesday, October 6, 7:30 p.m. O'Laughlin Auditorium Tickets $12*

*Discounts for senior citizens, students and groups. Tickets on sale at the Saint Mary's box office, located in O'Laughlin Auditorium, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday-Friday. Visa, MasterCard, Discover orders and ticket information at 219/284-4626.

> Ð Saint Mary's College NOTRE DAME · INDIANA

first sight (the law) is apparently neutral in its application ... it prevents persons physically unable to end their lives unassisted from choosing suicide. when that option is ... available to other members of the public without contravening the law."Suicide is not illegal in Canada

Also joining the dissent. Justice Peter Cory wrote: "Dying is an integral part of living and, as a part of life ... it follows that the right to die with dignity should be as well protected as any other aspect of the right to life."

Sabina McLuhan of Campaign Life Coalition, an anti-abortion group that also opposes doctor-assisted suicide, praised the decision.

ND Students - We're at your service!

Service Coupon

Your next service visit at Jordan's Prior Offers Excluded. This offer good alone only on next visit to Jordan's only. Offer expires

Ford•Tovota•Volvo•Mitsubishi A, X, Z Grad plan buyers welcome! At Jefferson and Cedar Streets, Mishawaka

We service all Ford, Lincoln-Mercury cars & trucks and all imports

Free Shuttle Service!

Rolling into fall

The Observer/ ScottMendenhali

Flanner Hall junior Mark Carolin and Flanner Hall sophomore Rich Besse spend some quality time rollerblading across campus.

In speaking of the Mexican culture, Beatriz Sen attributes the cultural differences in her native Mexico to the mentality of the people. The psychology of people in Mexico is different," she said. Contrary to some beliefs, there are three classes of society in Mexico - low, middle and high, she said.

The Observer • NEWS

By ANALISE TAYLOR

Cultural differences abounded at last night's "A Night of Storytelling from Mexico. India and Italy" as speakers told stories about religion, ball games and education in their native

News Writer

countries.

Cultural differences

unite storytelling

"The poor, uneducated peo-ple are nicer," she said. "They are more simple, honest and naive, but in a nice way.

Sen has lived in the United States for seven years and her husband is a mechanical engineering professor at Notre Dame.

Students at private universities in Mexico are much like Notre Dame students, according to Sen.

The boys and girls are up-to-aware of other cultures, Sen

"Be tolerant of other people and recognize that some of their ways may be as good or better than yours," she said.

While Mexican students often attend private universities, Indian students' education is subsidized by the government, according to speaker Runa Mozumder who has a long history with Notre Dame.

A major is required of Indian students just like in the United States, she said.

Mozumder has lived away from her native India for over 25 years. She has undergraduate and master's degrees from Notre Dame.Also, her husband is a professor at the radiation lab in the chemistry department.

"India is a diverse country," she said. "We have every religion under the sun.

One of the major religions in India is Hinduism.

Hinduism is more like a philosophical thought, and a social conduct," she said. "It is a manifestation of your imagination because the god is very abstract."

The Italian speaker, professor and speaker Giovanna Lenzi-Sandusky, has lived away from her native Italy for 13 years. She teaches Italian to architecture students going to Rome.

Mexican massacre remembered

By BILL CORMIER Associated Press

MEXICO CITY Vietnam War protests swept the United States in 1968, and France endured a student uprising. In Mexico, a government-instigated massacre of young protesters scarred a generation.

The 25th anniversary Saturday of the Mexico City massacre that killed hundreds of people has prompted an outpouring of newspaper articles and soul-searching about the "Generation of '68." The government, long reticent about its role in the killings, has endorsed an investigation.

'This was our blackest hour. our dark night in modern history when our political system showed its violent side and the people died," said novelist Homero Aridjis, an outspoken social commentator.

Aridjis said the massacre was a watershed event in that the system subsequently allowed public protests and criticism. The ruling Institutional Ruling Party tolerates now freedom of expression — as long as it does not seriously challenge its 64year lock on power.

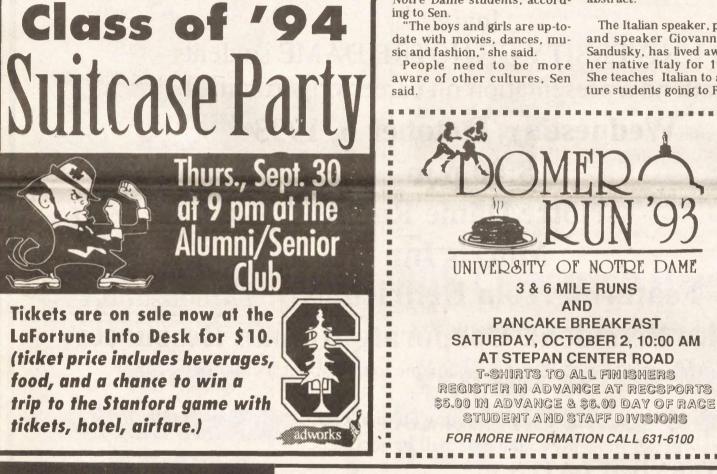

On the night of Oct. 2, 1968, just days before the Summer Olympics opened in Mexico City, some 10,000 students and sympathizers gathered on the Plaza of the Three Cultures in Tlatelolco.

They were demanding more freedom from the government of President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz. Instead, they were met by bullets.

The army was firing on us. It seemed like a war, just a horrendous massacre," said Heberto Castillo, then an engineering professor among the movement leaders, and now a 65-year-old opposition politician.

The students were demanding greater freedom of speech and protesting the money lavished on the Olympics while many Mexicans were going hungry. "There was a real sense among Mexican army and political leaders that this movement had legs and could quickly grow out of control," said Douglas Payne, a Mexico expert at the human rights group Freedom House in New York.

Consultant, Problem Solver, Facilitator

BANKER

Dynamic changes.

Diverse new challenges in the banking industry.

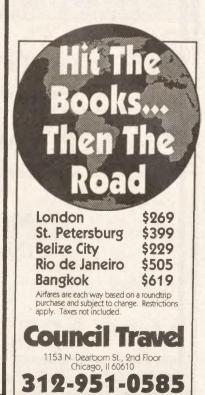

Be part of it. Align yourself with a leader.

Recruiting on campus November 12.

- PNC Bank will be interviewing for Corporate Banking opportunities on Friday, November 12.
- Our pre-night presentation will be held on Thursday, November 11. (Check with the Placement Office for details.)
- PNC Bank is a top superregional bank - the nation's 10th largest - with assets in excess of $53 billion.

PNCBANK

PNC Bank strives to maintain a workplace that is reflective of the communities we serve. An Equal Opportunity Employer M/F/D/V.

The Observer • NATIONAL NEWS'

page 6

President Bill Clinton steps up NAFTA lobbying effort

By JOHN KING Associated Press

WASHINGTON While his wife grabs headlines on health care, President

see BUSINESS, page 9

Clinton is quietly accelerating his lobbying for the North American Free Trade Agreement, courting undecided lawmakers with phone calls and White House meetings.

The effort has stilled some of the criticism from NAFTA supporters who thought the White House was being too lackadaisical in promoting the trade deal, and from many undecided lawmakers who viewed the lack of administration contact as a sign the agreement was not a Clinton priority.But it has yet to produce many high-profile converts.

"If we had the vote today, NAFTA would go down," said

Rep. Joseph Moakley, a Massachusetts Democrat, who despite his position as House Rules Committee chairman had not been lobbied by the administration on NAFTA until this week. "They've been working other things — health insurance, reinventing government," Moakley said Thursday. "I think they're working it hard enough now."

Moakley was invited to a White House NAFTA meeting Friday, the first of several sessions planned with groups of roughly 20 undecided lawmakers. He also had a session Thursday with William Daley, the Chicago banker and political operative leading the ad-ministration's NAFTA campaign.

"My constituents are mostly against it because they fear it will mean more job losses and they don't want their congressman doing anything to make a bad economy worse," Moakley said. "But I'm going to listen. I don't want to cut myself off too early."

Daley's lobbying included an appearance Wednesday before the Democratic Budget Group. a collection of moderates and conservatives that includes Democratic Rep. Martin Frost of Texas. Frost, who is on the White House target list, also was visited recently by U.S. Trade Representative Mickey Kantor.

'I'm still straight up uncommitted, not leaning either way," Frost said.

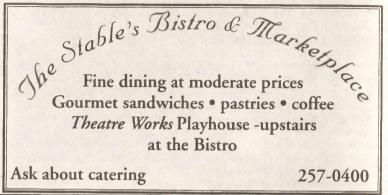

Rep. Bill Richardson, D-N.M., is leading a team of a dozen pro-NAFTA lawmakers helping the administration try to overcome opposition, especially from House Majority Leader Richard Gephardt of Missouri and Democratic Whip David Bonior of Michigan.

"We're not getting any new converts but we are moving people away from the hard 'No' category." Richardson said Thursday.

Rep. Howard Indeed, Berman, D-Calif., a former union lawyer, announced Thursday he would support NAFTA, saying it will create high-wage manufacturing jobs in southern California and slow illegal immigration by Mexicans.

Since Monday, Clinton has tried to place three calls a day to people on a list of 110 undecided lawmakers. Among his early targets: members of the Congressional Black Caucus, including Bill Jefferson of New Orleans and Charles Rangel of New York, whose port cities, the White House says, would benefit from expanded trade with Mexico.

Also on Clinton's call list Thursday was Democratic Rep. Robert Torricelli of New Jersey.

THE TRAVELERS COMPANIES Invite The UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME students to attend a presentation on career opportunities Wednesday, October 6, 1993 8:00 p.m. Notre Dame Room Morris Inn Featuring Tom Helfrich, ND '72 Senior Vice President, Corporate Human Resources

Recent Notre Dame Alumni will also be available to talk about their experiences at The Travelers. All majors encouraged to attend. Refreshments will be served

FALL INTERVIEW DATES:

ACCENT

November 11-12, 1993

(Information Systems Management)

TTMP (Telecommunications)

FMDP (Financial Management)

November 11, 1993

November 12, 1993

MCEBO ASSOCIATES (Managed Care and Employee Benefits)

November 9, 1993

America's Umbrella M

TheTravelers

Will The New York Post picket or will it publish ?

By LARRY McSHANE Associated Press

NEW YORK

The New York Post, the tabloid that has weathered more punches than Rocky Balboa, faced a new fight Thursday before resuming publication: an internal battle among its unions.

Members of the paper's craft unions began crossing picket lines set up by The Newspaper Guild, said Post spokesman Pat Smith. It was the first crack in a united union front that held through five years of financial woes and near extinction.

"In our hearts, we don't want to go in. But we have to save the New York Post," drivers union President Frank Sparacino told his troops in a rally outside the Post building.

Monday's strike by the Guild, which represents 287 newsroom, clerical and advertising workers, silenced the paper when the other unions refused to cross the picket line.

The drivers and members of the pressmen's union — key staffers needed to get a paper out — normally report to work in the late evening.

Earlier, about four dozen union workers, many of them typographers, entered the building through a back door, avoiding a confrontation with the picketers out front.

"We are going in for our jobs," Allied Printing Trades Council President George McDonald said as he walked inside. McDonald helped negotiate the deal to bring the unions back to work.

An agreement with leaders of the nine non-Guild unions to cross the picket line was announced Wednesday evening.

Attorney: attackers part of blind mob

By MICHAEL FLEEMAN Associated Press

LOS ANGELES

Reginald Denny's attackers were part of an unthinking, violent mob reacting almost blindly to the acquittals in the Rodney King case, a defense attorney said Thursday.

After four police officers were found innocent of beating King, the emotional climate on the streets was so volatile that no one could rationally plan and attempt a murder, Edi Faal said in his closing argument. Williams, 20, and Henry Williams, 20, and Henry Watson, 29, are charged with attempted premeditated murder in the Denny attack, which took place in South Central Los Angeles during the opening moments of the Los Angeles riots. They face additional felony charges for other attacks.

"People got caught up in the frenzy, were acting out their frustrations, their disappointments," said Faal, who represents Damian Williams. "They were ... consumed with emotion."

Williams and Watson face life imprisonment if convicted of attempted murder. Williams also is charged with aggravated mayhem in the Denny beating, which carries a life term.

Faal never conceded that Williams committed any crimes during the riots. He said prosecutors couldn't even prove beyond a reasonable doubt that Williams is the man seen on videotape hurling a brick into Denny's head.

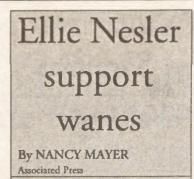

Faal's closing argument took seven hours over two days. Prosecutors were to present a rebuttal case before the judge handed the case to the racially mixed jury of 10 women and two men. Testimony has lasted for six weeks.

The Denny attack came just hours after a state jury in Simi Valley acquitted four white policemen of nearly all charges in the videotaped beating of King, a black motorist.

MUSIC OF

RÓZSA, CASSADÓ

& VILLA-LOBOS

SONORA, Calif.

For six months, a woman who fatally shot her son's alleged molester flashed her now-famous smile for the cameras as she stood trial for murder.

And for six months, many of Ellie Nesler's neighbors watched and became increasingly disillusioned with the woman they had loudly supported after she fired five bullets into admitted child molester Daniel Mark Driver as he sat shackled in a courtroom.

"The glib, carefree, joking attitude was as if she expected nothing to happen to her for taking someone's life." Sonora office worker Debby Chojnacki said Thursday.

A jury convicted Nesler in August of voluntary manslaughter instead of murder, ruling she acted in the heat of passion. On Wednesday, the same jury found that she had been sane during the April 2 shooting. Disenchanted residents Disenchanted residents said their support for Nesler eroded as flaws were revealed in a woman they first honored as a heroine.

"In the beginning, it was like, 'Yeah, get the creeps off the street any way you can." Chojnacki said. It was like. 'More power to her."

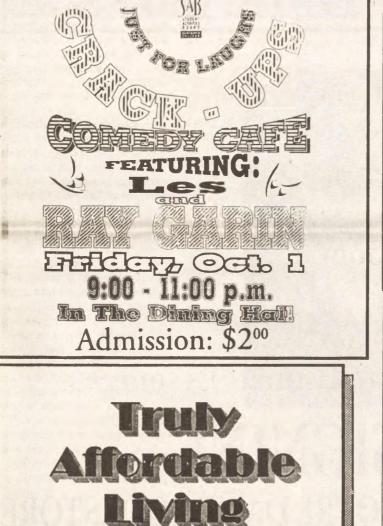

Nesler was at first pursued by movie producers and book publishers. She got more than 5,000 letters of support and more than $40,000 in donations for a defense fund.

Then, troubling details were divulged about the 41year-old former legal secretary.

Nesler told doctors she beat up her mother and high school gym teacher, was convicted of auto theft as a teenager and, prosecutors said, took methamphetamine on roughly 20 occasions, including the day of the shooting.

Criticism flourished as Tuolumne County residents watched their notorious neighbor on television news and talk shows.

"She'd be walking down the street and she'd see a TV camera and then she'd start smiling," said homemaker Esther Hodgson.

Make your next move to Hickory Village and discover affordability, convenience and comfort. We're just minutes from University Park Mall, the toll road, Notre Dame and downtown South Bend. Our beautiful grounds are spacious and well kept... and we have an activities program that includes team sports, free aerobics classes, and much more.

The Department of Music Presents A FACULTY CONCERT

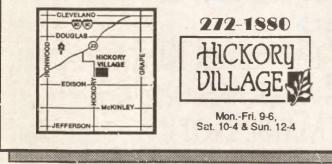

Karen Buranskas, cellist

William Cerny, pianist

Efficiencies from $270 1-Bedrooms from $285 2-Bedrooms from $345

Pool & Clubhouse • Beautifully Landscaped Grounds Laundry Facilities • Balcony or Patio Air Conditioning • Close To Shopping 24-hour Emergency Maintenance Service Planned Activities with Free Aarobics

Stop by today and we'll show you how affordable apartment living can be.

Open 7 Days a Week Mon.-Thur. 10 a.m. – 10 p.m. Fri.-Sat. 10 a.m. – 11 p.m. Sunday 1 p.m. –10 p.m.

Town & Country Shopping Center on Mckinley in Mishawaka

254-0100

Use Your Student Discount Card!

The Observer • INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Friday, October 1, 1993

Winter war in Sarajevo continues

By TONY SMITH Associated Press

SARAJEVO With a second winter of war approaching following the failure of the latest Bosnian peace plan, U.N. officials gave a stark warning Thursday of impending human catastrophe.

"Humanitarian prospects for literally millions of people have never looked so bleak," said U.N. civil affairs chief Cedric Thornberry. "We are looking into an abyss."

Thornberry spoke in Zagreb. Croatia, a day after the Bosnian parliament, for the second time in a month, rejected demands that the Sarajevo government concede military defeat and accept partition of the republic.

U.N. officials have been warning for weeks that the lack of a peace deal will hamper their efforts to reach 2.7 million needy people this winter.

But Bosnian officials maintain they don't believe the international plan would bring lasting peace and are determined to continue pressing for more land in eastern Bosnia. Bosnian leaders also insist that, on moral grounds, the Bosnian Serbs should not be allowed to keep land they took by force.

U.N. officials acknowledged those arguments but said they didn't change reality.

"The idea of breaking up Bosnia into three countries has been criticized as morally repugnant," said Thornberry. "But it is a lot less morally barbaric than the slaughter we have seen for the past 18 months."

He said it was essential for the peace talks to continue.

In Sarajevo, spokesman Ray Wilkinson for the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees, also suggested that there may be tactical motives for politicians' actions.

"For some, it's better to have a political symbol than having their people living on a slightly higher level," he said.

Boris Yeltsin agrees to mediated talks

By JULIA RUBIN Associated Press

MOSCOW President Boris Yeltsin agreed Thursday to churchmediated talks with hard-line lawmakers in an effort to break the siege of parliament and end Russia's 10-day-old political crisis.

Yeltsin's announcement came after a meeting at the Kremlin with Patriarch Alexy II, head of the Russian Orthodox Church. The patriarch's offer to mediate the power struggle underscored the church's growing influence since the decline of Communism.

The president and patriarch agreed that closed-door talks will begin Friday at a Moscow monastery.

There was no immediate comment from the leaders of the 100 or so lawmakers who have holed up in the parliament building with a few hundred volunteer defenders since Yeltsin dissolved parliament on Sept. 21 and called new elections.

Earlier Thursday, Yeltsin's rebellious vice president, Alexander Rutskoi, toted a machine gun at a news conference and vowed no compromise as long as Yeltsin remains president.

Other hard-line lawmakers have said they were willing to negotiate if the church acted as mediator.

Thousands of riot troops continued to ring the building, known as the White House. Power, water and phones have been cut off to the building, and food supplies were running low.

Yeltsin said he disbanded the Soviet-era parliament to break 18 months of political deadlock in which the lawmakers slowed the president's free-market reforms and rolled back his powers.

On Wednesday, Yeltsin gave lawmakers until next Monday to surrender their weapons and leave the White House.

Georgia separatists take control over Abkhazia

By LIAM MCDOWALL Associated Press

TBILISI, Georgia Separatists took control of nearly all of Abkhazia Thursday, and government troops fought to keep a toehold in the region.

The losses in Abkhazia are a humiliating defeat for Georgian leader Eduard Shevardnadze, who has said the region's fall could enflame secessionist movements across Georgia and the whole Caucasus region.

On Thursday, his leadership also came under renewed attack from his arch-rival, former President Zviad Gamsakhurdia. Abkhazian forces, who drove government troops from the regional capital of Sukhumi on Monday, marched southward along the Black Sea coast Thursday into the port cities of Ochamchira and Gali, Georgian officials said.

The tiny Gali district was the last government stronghold in Abkhazia.

Separatists clashed Thursday around Ochamchira with joint forces trying to retake the city on behalf of both Shevardnadze and Gamsakhurdia, who have joined military forces because both oppose the breakup of Georgia. The separatists seek either total independence or annexation to Russia.

The Georgian Defense Ministry said the joint force had entered Ochamchira, 35 miles south of the capital. Fierce street battles were underway as Georgians attempted to retake the port, the ministry said.

Sukhumi's airport, south of the capital, was abandoned Wednesday night by thousands of government soldiers and armed civilian volunteers who fled into the nearby mountains and toward Ochamchira.

They were hoping to be evacuated by Russian and Georgian ships and trains, but it was not immediately known if any were picked up.

The fall of Gali and Sukhumi gave the separatists near-complete control of the region.

Ward, and Werd Seman

BOOK SIGNING OCTOBER 4, 1993 at the NOTRE DAME BOOKSTORE On the campus of the University of Notre Dame 2:00 – 3:30 p.m.

"A Great Way to get together with Friends or spend a Romantic Evening with Someone Special"

WHAT KIND OF FONDUE DO WE OFFER?

cheese•beef•chicken seafood•vegetable• Flaming chocolate

Tues, thus, seating form of the Fit & Sat, seating form, 10 p. (00 CENTER+MISHAWAK V, IN Upper Level Old Brewery Brig.

219-255-1526

ROBERT FUEL Bestselling author of bestselling author of EVERYTHING I NEED TO KNOW I LEARNED IN KINDERGATEN, IT WAS ON FIRE WHEN I LAY DOWN ON IT, UH-OH and MAYBE (MAYBE NOT)

BUSINESS

Friday, October 1, 1993

1

Accounting award given to senior

By KATIE CAPUTO Saint Mary's Business Writer

A Saint Mary's College senior was given The Ernst & Accounting Young Achievement Award at the college's annual Accounting Awards Banquet on Monday, September 20.

Lisa Monahan was acknowledged by the Business Administration faculty for being the most likely to succeed in public accounting, according to Professor Claude Renshaw.

"I am very excited about the idea of being recognized in the department by the faculty." Monahan said.

The accounting firm of Ernst &Young sponsor the award at any college or university that has an accredited accounting program, Renshaw said. It is the faculty, however, who choose the most eligible student

According to Renshaw, the award has been granted to Saint Mary's students every year since the early 1970's. when the accounting program started at the college. "The award is a very prestigious award, and we're delighted to be able to present the award to the outstanding student every year," he stated.

The award is based on academic achievement, personality, and people skills, according to Renshaw.

Lisa is a very remarkable student, and has managed to put it all together very well." Renshaw said. "She was chosen from a very outstanding group of students.

"This year's class of '94 is the best group we've seen here in many years," he added.

According to Monahan, she was offered a position at Ernst & Young after she received the award that night.

"I plan on starting my career in public accounting, most likely with Ernst & Young," Monahan said.

Companies scramble as NAFTA debate rages on By ANITA SNOW

MEXICO CITY At the grand opening of the world's biggest Wal-Mart, mariachi musicians sing love songs to a pair of women in short purple dresses touting Cannon Mills bath towels.

Associated Press

Someone in a penguin costume does the cha-cha-cha across the slippery tile floor of the 244,000-square-foot Wal-Mart Supercenter while amused customers watch.

"This place is enormous. You can get anything you want,' shopper Julieta Rodriguez said this week, motioning toward aisles crammed with tens of thousands of imported products with names like Fischer Price, Sara Lee, American Tourister and Nintendo. "Free trade has arrived."

The new Wal-Mart is a window on the future in Mexico, where relatively free trade already exists, despite the debate in Washington over the proposed North American Free Trade Agreement.

While Ross Perot warns of the "giant sucking sound" of American jobs moving south and environmentalists worry about ecological disaster along the border, much of what the agreement is intended to do has already occurred.

"Under NAFTA, I don't think anyone should expect vast changes in the trade that already is occurring between Mexico and the United States." said Thea Lee, an economist with the Economic Policy Institute in Washington, which is critical of the accords. "Trade barriers already have come down pretty low.'

The agreement among Mexico, the United States and Canada would create the world's largest economic market, with 363 million people and a combined gross domestic product of $6.3 trillion.

If it goes into effect Jan. 1 as scheduled, the agreement over 15 years would phase out most remaining barriers to the free flow of goods, services and investment among the three North American neighbors.

But in many ways, NAFTA will simply be formal recognition of changes that have already occurred, especially during the last five years under President Carlos Salinas de Gortari.

'Much of what the agreement is supposed to accomplish has been attained," said Gary Hufbauer, an economist for the Institute for International Economics, a Washington think-tank that supports NAFTA.

The once-protectionist government has thrown its economy wide open since 1986, when then-President Miguel de la Madrid pushed Mexico into the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, or GATT, a world body that rules on trade disputes.

Mexico has slashed import tariffs from as much as 100 percent to the current average of a little less than 11 percent. Most permits once required on imports were eliminated.

President Carlos Salinas de Gortari of Mexico is one of the leaders in the fight for the ratification of NAFTA among the United States, Canada, and Mexico.

NAFTA is designed to institutionalize those changes, giving greater assurance to foreign investors that the policies are permanent, attracting the foreign capital and technology Mexico needs to grow.

It will also eliminate remaining barriers such as those that make U.S. produced cars prohibitively expensive here.

page 9

Mexico's economy was in crisis when the government began liberalizing the economy by opening to foreign trade and investment, slashing government subsidies, selling off stateowned enterprises.

Budget cuts in defense spending hurt Marietta

By H. JOSEF HEBERT Associated Press

BETHESDA, Md. Martin Marietta Corp., citing cuts in the federal defense budget, said Thursday it has eliminated more than 7,500 jobs this year and will let another 3,500 workers go over the next 15 months. The announcement by the defense contractor came as several other companies announced major layoffs, including USAir, which said it was eliminating 2,500 jobs after a slow summer. Chemical Waste Management Inc., which specializes in hazardous waste disposal, said it would cut a fourth of its work force, affecting 1,200 people.

Beach, Fla., to Burlington, Mass., and Glen Burnie, Md.

The defense industry giant acquired General Electric Co.'s aerospace division last April. About 2,000 of the layoffs are mostly aimed at eliminating duplication created by the merger, company officials said.

The company still employs about 94,000 workers. Its work force now is about 46,000 fewer than both Martin Marietta and GE Aerospace had in 1987

"Today's announcement meets our commitment ... to act quickly and decisively in strengthening the competitive posture of Martin Marietta. These actions recognize the realities of a tough marketplace," said Chairman Norman Augustine. At a news conference at the company's suburban Washington headquarters,

Augustine said layoffs and consolidation were necessary because of "the very serious reductions in the defense budget" in the aftermath of the Cold War

The additional 1,500 layoffs this year were caused by the tightening Pentagon budget, he said. The company depends on defense contracts for about two-thirds of its business.

The company announced defense-related layoffs in Colorado, Florida, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Tennessee. Because of jobs transfers, employment is expected to increase at some facilities, officials said.

will close its former corporate headquarters of GE Aerospace in Valley Forge, Pa., and consolidate its activities at the main headquarters, eliminating 40 percent of the headquarters staff positions.

Company spokesman Phillip Giaramita said the company expects to reduce its work force by 9,000 this year; about 7,500 of those workers already have left.

Augustine said while defense programs have taken a serious hit, he does not expect significant layoffs in the company's commercial or space-related programs.

Ironically, Martin-Marietta's space program division was

BUSINESS BRIEFS

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. Mercedes-Benz has selected Vance, a hamlet of 250 people in northwestern Alabama, as the site for its first U.S. plant. The decision, announced Thursday, settled a bidding war among five states. The $300 million facility will employ about 1,500 people making 60,000 sport-utility vehicles annually beginning in 1997.

NEW YORK

Last-minute complications in talks between Citibank and Apple Computer Inc. forced the two companies to put off the announcement of a new co-branded credit card. A source familiar with the talks, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Thursday that the two firms had run into "contractual snags."

Martin Marietta said its layoffs of about 11,000 workers were "across the board" though mostly in its defense programs — at facilities in eight states from Daytona

Augustine said the consolidation will save Martin Marietta $1.5 billion over the next five vears

For example, the company linked to three expensive and highly publicized embarrassments earlier this year. A Titan 4 launch vehicle, made by the company, exploded Aug. 2 shortly after liftoff, destroying an expensive military satellite.

US Air to lay off 2,500 jobs

Associated Press

ARLINGTON, Va

USAir will lay off 2,500 workers. or more than 5 percent of its work force, because of expected losses this year including a $180 million pre-tax loss in the third quarter, the airline announced.

The layoffs, which will begin in November and stretch through the first half of next year, are part of a broader cost-cutting effort, airline officials said.

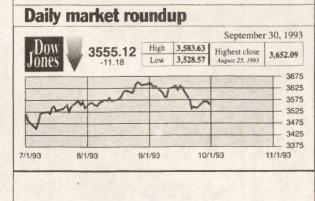

The airline, which employs 46,000, has had net losses of nearly $2 billion since 1990, including $55 million during the first half of this year.

USAir has about 1,000 workers in Indianapolis, including those at an aircraft maintenance base and a telephone reservation center.

USAir spokeswoman Susan Young said it is too early to know say how many Indianapolis employees will be affected.

"I can't give you a total on Indianapolis. It's premature ... but, certainly, there will be some impact," she said.

Seth Schofield, chairman of USAir Group Inc., said that 1993 revenues during the peak summer travel season fell short of expectations and the company expects both operating and net losses for the year.

VIEWPOINT

page 10

THE OBSERVER

NOTRE DAME OFFICE: P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556 (219) 631-7471 SAINT MARY'S OFFICE: 309 Haggar, Notre Dame, IN 46556 (219) 284-5365

1993-94 General Board

Editor-in-Chief David Kinney

Business Manager Brian Kennedy

News EditorMeredith McCullough	Advertising ManagerAnne Heroman
Viewpoint EditorRolando de Aguiar	Ad Design ManagerSteph Goldman
Sports EditorGeorge Dohrmann	Production Manager Cheryl Moser
Accent EditorKenya Johnson	Systems ManagerPatrick Barth
Photo EditorJake Peters	OTS DirectorBrendan Regan
Saint Mary's EditorJennifer Habrych	ControllerMark Meenan

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administra tion of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and objectively as possible. Unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the majority of the Editor-in-Chief, Managing Editor, News Editor, Viewpoint Editor, Accent Editor, Photo Editor, Sports Editor, and Saint Mary's Editor. Commentaries, letters and Inside Columns present the views of the authors, and not necessarily those of The Observer. Viewpoint space is available to all members of the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's community and to all readers. The free expression of varying opinions through letters is encouraged

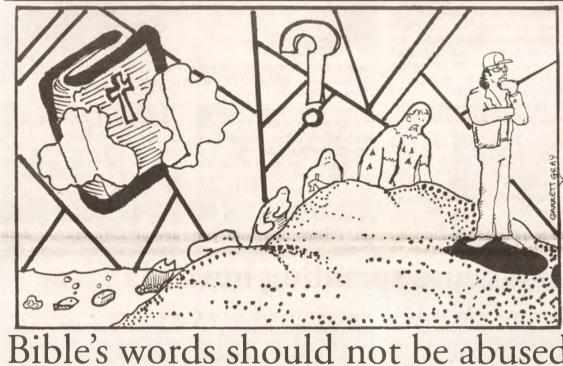

Observer Phone Lines

Editor-in-Chief Managing Editor/Viewpoint Business Office Sports	631-4542 631-4541 631-5313 631-4543 631-4543	Accent/Saint Mary's Day Editor/Production Advertising Systems/OTS	631-4540 631-5303 631-6900/8840 631-8839 631-7471
News/Photo	631-5323	Office Manager	631-7471

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Managing Editor

Kevin Hardman

Dear Editor:

I'm writing in response to an editorial which appeared several days ago entitled "ND's Teaching of Evolution Perpet-uates Racism." The author briefly alludes to racism in the first paragraph as he states, "Evolution dupes both whites and blacks into believing blacks are an evolutionary antecedent to whites. It encourages blacks to stay out of academia.'

What the author fails to mention is that for centuries before evolutionism, white racists believed that whites were the first humans and that the African people of their time had somehow "degenerated" into blacks. Now that science is finding evidence that African people were some of the first to appear, these same racists are changing the their argument to fit the evidence. Racism is a problem of ignorance and reverting to nineteenth-century science won't help the problem one bit.

The author also blames evolutionism for degrading God. He argues that evolution depicts God as a "torturous monger" who has incorporated 'disease, mutation, retardation (and) death" into his Creation. I'm sorry to say that these things are a reality in any world and evolution is the only sense that anyone has made of them.

If God has waved His magic also drags the Bible into this whole argument. He complains, "Evolution should never be taught at an institution which upholds the Bible." OK, the Bible does say that God created all, no questions asked. But two short chapters later it also depicts the serpent as tempting Adam and Eve not with sex or money but with knowledge; to be "like the gods who know good from bad." If the author of the column was really concerned with what the Bible said, he would've never come to an institution of higher

T-shirt sends message that students are 'daddy's little girls'

BOY THESE MOTOR VEHICLE REGISTRATION LINES SURE ARE SLO... THIS IS F

Dear Editor:

"I'm his little girl and he's my hero. He took me to buy my first car . . . actually he bought it for me. He will always do my taxes. He will always take care of everything."

As Saint Mary's Senior Dads' Weekend approaches, many seniors will be wearing Senior Dads' T-shirts which overtly display negative stereotypes of Saint Mary's women. What message is sent via instruments such as the Senior Dads' Tshirt? The Senior Dads' T-shirt reinforces the negative stereotype of Saint Mary's women as "daddy's little girls." This is one example of the many ways people continue to perpetuate harmful stereotypes of themselves

The impact of this stereotype is dangerous. It sends a broader message to women that men, whether fathers or husbands, will always take care of them. Women not only have the responsibility to shatter this image for themselves but for their sisters as well. Women cannot demand respect from men if they do not respect themselves.

When we arrived at Saint Mary's three years, we were not fully aware of the effect and relationship of our actions and inactions. However, thanks to others, we have learned the importance of combating these injustices. It is our goal to raise the consciousness of women everywhere, particularly at Saint Mary's. Therefore, we urge our classmates to consider the impact of their actions. We will not buy the Senior Dads' T-shirt and we strongly discourage others from buying it. While negative stereotypes such as this one persist, we will continue to "let people to know what we stand for and what we won't stand for" (H. Jackson Brown Jr.).

> LAURA NEPPL Le Mans Hall BERNADETTE ROBERTS Le Mans Hall

This Is For

HEALTH CARE

DOONESBURY

world-making wand over the land, why didn't He do away with these things when He had the chance? If anything, Creationism places God to blame for these atrocities. Evolutionism at least acknowledges the fact that God may not have had a choice, if He wanted His world to work. And, of course, the author learning to submerge himself in the evil culture of knowledge.

So, for the last time, stop running to the Bible every time someone presents some new ideas. As Shakespeare once said, "Even Satan can quote the Bible to his own advantage."

TED STETS Stanford Hall

> QUOTE OF THE DAY GARRY TRUDEAU

> > " rvery form of addiction Cis bad, no matter whether the narcotic be alcohol or morphine or idealism."

- Carl Jung, Swiss psychiatrist

VIEWPOINT

GAIA SPEAKS

page 11

STEPHEN ZAVESTOSKI

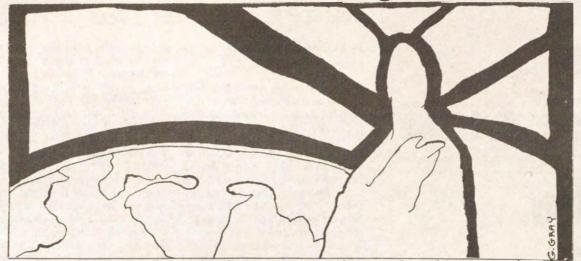

We cannot be healthy humans living within a sick system

The development of new ideas depends upon participation in open dialogue. Unfortunately, open dialogue is all too often hindered by participants failing to realize similar primary principles, and instead focusing on differing secondary principles.

In the pro-life/pro-choice dialogue, no new ideas will ever emerge because the two groups quibble over issues such as whether a fetus can be considered a human when both groups come from the same primary principle that humans ought to be treated with respect and should be granted selfdetermination.

For pro-lifers, the secondary principle established in order to ensure self-determination for all humans is that abortions should be illegal. For prochoicers, the secondary principle conceived to secure selfdetermination for all humans is that women should have control over their reproductive systems

Both groups have valid concerns, but until they can realize the similarity of their primary principles, they might as well

be speaking different languages

Similarly, environmentalists, failing to establish common ground with their opposition, often struggle to create productive dialogue. The two existing sides in the environmental debate are supporters of the Dominant Western Worldview (DWW), and supporters of the New Ecological Worldview (NEW).

The DWW values a high quality of life above all else. Therefore it can be concluded that the guarantee of conditions for a high quality of life for every person is the primary principle of the DWW. The secondary principle, however, holds that every person, through competition in the economic system, has the opportunity and the right to achieve such a high quality of life.

The New Ecological Worldview (NEW), which similarly holds as its primary principle the guarantee of a high quality of life, diverges from the DWW in its secondary principles. The NEW, rather than promising every person the opportunity to compete for a high quality of life, holds as one of its secondary principles that only by working for the high quality of life of other human beings and the rest of the natural world can we ever attain a high quality of life for ourselves

In other words, once we realize that our own quality of life depends on the quality of life of those around us, as well as on the well-being of the environment in which we live, it becomes quite clear that only by working for a high quality of life for all human and otherthan-human beings can we ever hope to achieve a high quality of life for ourselves. We cannot be healthy people living within a sick system. Understanding this, it likewise becomes apparent that no matter how hard we work for physical possessions, no matter how much time and money we devote to charity, we cannot be fully whole people, and we cannot attain a high quality of life, as long as we continue to destroy the life around us that makes us whole.

But until we stop blindly and at all costs defending the Dominant Western Worldview, and come to realize we all seek the same thing, channels for open dialogue will wither. And only through open dialogue can we ever hope to nurture the ideas that will lead to a better future for the earth and its inhabitants.

Stephen Zavestoski, a Notre Dame undergraduate is an Earth dweller from the Pacific coastal bioregion.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR Who does Patty O'Hara think Is evolution part of God's grand plan? she is anyway - Janet Reno? Dear Editor:

Dear Editor:

I could not agree more with Prof. Leslie Martin's astonishment at the vice-president for student affairs' "string of ungrammatical constructions and jargonized redundancies" (The Observer, Sept. 29). For some time now, we law students have privately wondered "where and why" Notre Dame decided to hire Prof. Patricia O'Hara as a University official.

Is she qualified simply because she had graduated from our Law School in 1974 with a 4.0 grade point average. Some suspect that Notre Dame was impressed with her years as an attorney with a high-powered San Francisco law firm. Still others believe that she hoodwinked the University by becoming a popular and masterful professor of corporate law on our Law School faculty for the ten years before she was hired.

Clearly, the University would be better off if its officers were grammatically-correct, linguistically precise sophisticates like Prof. Martin. Someone who knows the definition of "supercilious" without even looking it up and knows that there is a hyphen between the words "anal" and "retentive."

In short, it is high time that O'Hara devoted more energy towards avoiding grammatical redundancies with her trite, insipid, banal, and prosaic cliches and less energy towards making tough policy decisions and hard-line stands for Notre Dame ideals

NEIL BYRON CHAPMAN Law student

I would like to address Pieder Beeli's letter to the editor (Sept. 27) and his condemnation of the Notre Dame Administration for "lacking the courage to teach Biblical creation exclusively," and thereby perpetuating the spread of racism on our campus.

Beeli argues that evolution encourages blacks to stay out of academia...and to pursue instead the athletic arena where blacks can exploit their lingering primitive physical abilities." I won't pretend to have mastered the complexities of Darwinism, but I don't recall having read anything in his theory of evolution about blacks and whites having physical and mental differences which make them better suited to different pursuits.

Even if that were the case, however. I would still take issue with Beeli's claim that "evolution should never be taught at an institution that upholds the Bible." Learning is a process that involves exploring different theories and learning to evalution of higher learning if it "protected" us from theories that challenged us to rethink our understanding of God and our relationship with our Creator.

The mark of an educated person is that he or she is willing to listen to debate and discussion of opposing points of view, while a sign of ignorance is believing one's opinion is the only one worth considering.

Even if one were to accept the Biblical Creation story as providing a complete and accurate account of humankind's origins, it would be ignorant to dismiss the value of Darwin's theory of evolution. Darwinist thought has influenced biology. sociology, and other disciplines, and familiarity with Darwinist thought is central to mastery of these areas

Most offensive is Beeli's contention that the administration 'owes God an apology for following an academic vogue as an alternative to simple belief in His holy word." While Beeli cites Scripture with ease to support his argument, he clear"Do not judge your neighbor" also appear somewhere within the pages of the Bible? It seems a little presumptuous for such a devout Christian as Beeli appears to be to suggest that the Administration owes God anything.

I realize that as a Physics Graduate Student, Pieder Beeli is probably a very busy man. However, if he is open to the idea of learning and discussing ideas which differ from his own, I invite him to attend a Core course lecture, where students discuss fundamental questions that stretch traditional ways of thinking.

Last week after reading Ford's Universe; God, Science and the Human Person, our class entertained the idea that perhaps evolution, with all of it's intricacy and complexity, may be part of God's creative plan, and is therefore not incompatible with the idea that God is our Creator, This week our reading assignment includes passages from the Darwin Reader, and I would be interested in hearing Beeli's com-

"Deux"

Observerse

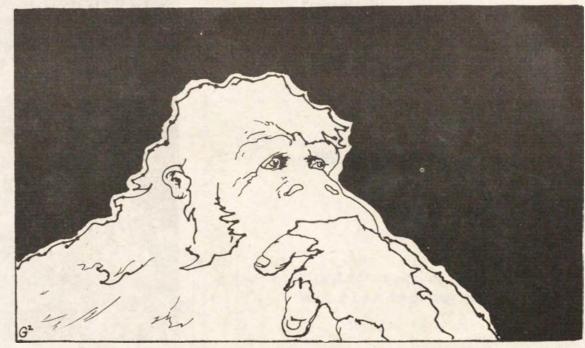

deux, pardieux ils vont ensemble ils s'effraient ils essaient hurlant leur amour en doutant la journée cachant la bestialité le soir tomberait malgré cette chanson trouvère que mon lit épuré libère la grotte s'embrase pleine d'humour prenant le sein de ma mère

> by Jason Thomas Off-campus

ate their strengths and weakly overlooks other biblical pas nesses. The University of Notre sages which do not further his Dame wouldn't be an institu- cause. Doesn't the instruction ments on the CHRIS LENKO Knott Hall

The Observer • ETC. A GUIDE

Friday, October 1, 1993

friday

events

The Funny Bone Comedy Club, featuring Steve Seagren, located in Scottsdale Mall, 8 & 10:15 p.m. Look for coupons in the Observer.

Women's Tennis Eck Classic, 10 a.m.- all day, Courtney Courts Eck Pavilion.

Men's Soccer vs. South Carolina, 8 p.m., Alumni Field. "El Mariachi," Snite Auditorium, 7:30 & 9:30 p.m., $2. "Sliver," Cushing Auditorium, 8 & 10:30 p.m., $2. "Guilty as Sin," Carroll Auditorium SMC, 7 & 9:30 p.m., $2.

saturday

events

Notre Dame vs. Stanford kick-off 2:30p.m. Domer Run '93, RecSports, 10 a.m. at Stepan Center

Rd., 3 & 6 mile runs with a pancake breakfast incentive, $5 or $6 day of race.

Men's Soccer vs. Penn. State, 8 p.m., Alumni Field. "El Mariachi," Snite Auditorium, 7:30 & 9:30 p.m., $2. "Sliver," Cushing Auditorium, 8 & 10:30 p.m., $2. "Guilty as Sin," Carroll Auditorium SMC, 7 & 9:30 p.m., $2.

music

Victoria's Real Secret, Club 23, 10 p.m. Chicago's Barrelhouse Chuck and The Moore Brothers Blues Band, Mishawaka Midway Tavern, 9 p.m.

events

Faculty concert, Karen Buranskas, cellist and William Cerny, pianist. Music of Rozsa Cassado and Villa-Lobos. 2 p.m., Annenberg Auditorium at the Snite, free admission.

- Misa en Espanol, Walsh Hall Chapel, 11:30 a.m., Padre Robert Pelton.
- Margaret Becker, christian rock singer, O'Laughlin Auditorium SMC, 7:30 p.m., $9.50 or $11

Fruits & veggies are beneficial to the body

By ELISABETH HEARD Assistant Accent Editor

What is high in nutrients, low in fat, and can help to protect against heart disease? Better yet, what does it taste like? The immediate image that comes to mind is a bowl of sticks and bark. Surprisingly, the granola and tofu can be put aside and be replaced by something your mother has been urging you to eat for years simple fruits and vegetables.

Fruits and vegetables are an important part of maintaining a healthy diet which is low in fat and high in fiber, and it can also help to prevent cancer and ward off heart attacks. The National Cancer Institute has concluded that more than one third of all cancer deaths are related to diet, while a recent study done by Harvard Medical School showed that women who ate five or more servings of carrots weekly had a 68 percent lower stroke risk than those who ate the vegetable just once a month.

Ideally, it is good to eat at least five servings of certain types of fruits and vegetables a week. Five may sound like a lot, but in reality one serving is just a half a cup of fruit or cooked vegetables, three quarters of a cup of juice, one cup of leafy greens or one quarter cup of dried fruit. Some of the best foods to indulge in are ones which are high in vitamin C, vitamin A, and fiber

Vitamin C has long since been hailed as a cure all wonder vitamin. It has been shown to be able to aid in healing wounds, absorbing iron, curing colds, and even helps fight against cancer. Vitamin C is one of a group of chemicals known as antioxidants, which researchers suspect is instrumental in preventing disease. Some of the best sources of vitamin C are oranges, grapefruits, kiwis, cantaloupe, strawberries, broccoli, cauliflower, tomatoes, and all types of peppers

Beta-carotene, another antioxidant which is converted into vitamin A in the body, is also believed to aid in preventing disease. It can be found in deep yellow and dark green vegetables like apricots, carrots, chili peppers, spinach, squash and yams. Researchers have also found a link between beta-carotene and the prevention of cancer affecting the lungs, breasts, and bladder.

There are many fruit and vegetables which are high in fiber, and help to keep the digestive system healthy. A high fiber diet can also protect against colon cancer, as well as prevent constipation and other bowel disorders. Fiber is also good for the heart. Certain studies have shown that it helps to lower cholesterol in the bloodstream and therefore guards against heart disease. Certain foods which are high in fiber are apples, bananas, berries, figs, pears, prunes, potatoes (with the skin), broccoli, spinach, dried peas, and beans. Even though fruits and vegetables benefit the body, many people still do not eat the amount they should. Here are some tips as to how the busy student can find time to fit fruits and vegetables into the hectic day: 1. At breakfast, drink a glass of juice or put sliced fruit over your cereal. 2. Eat a salad for lunch (hold off on the fatty dressings.) 3. If you can't eat fresh vegetables, buy them frozen instead of canned. Frozen ones have just about the same amount of nu-trition as fresh ones. 4. Add vegetables to your main dish at night, like adding broccoli to pasta sauce. 5. Steam vegetables in the microwave in order to retain the nutrients. 6. Eat an apple before bedtime.

Adding fruits and vegetables to one's meal is a very simple thing to do, and is also very beneficial. So next time you get hungry and go reaching for that Snickers or that piece of Huddle pizza, try an apple instead - your heart, your blood, your teeth, your eyes, your hair and your stomach will thank you later.

Hamburger

calories: 255 total fat: 9g cholesterol: 37mg sodium: 490mg at the door.

movies

University Park West

Age of Innocence 7, 9:45 Rising Sun 9:15 Into the West 6:45, 9

University Park East

The Program 7, 9:20 The Firm 8 Striking Distance 7:25, 9:30 True Romance 7 Undercover Blues 9:35

The Observer • ETC.

page 13 BETTER EATING

Dave Hungeling

McDonald's vs Burger King

Cheeseburger	Big Mac	McChicken	Chicken McNuggets	French fries (medium, salted)	Chocolate shake	Apple pie calories: 305	calories: 500	calories: 415	calories: 270	calories: 320	calories: 320	calories: 260
total fat: 13g	total fat: 26g	total fat: 19g	total fat: 15g	total fat: 17g	total fat: 1.7g	total fat: 15g
cholesterol: 50mg	cholesterol: 100mg	cholesterol: 50mg	cholesterol: 55mg	cholesterol: Omg	cholesterol: 10mg	cholesterol: 6mg
sodium: 725mg	sodium: 890mg	sodium: 830mg	sodium: 580mg	sodium: 150mg	sodium: 240mg	sodium: 240mg and the second

Maintaining a healthy diet

By KENYA JOHNSON Accent Editor

There are many challenges that college students face in today's world — deciding a major, passing a course, getting a job and of course, eating right.

Even in the greasepits of the dining halls, students can find a way to maintain balanced, nutritional daily meals - of course this means foregoing the new hamburger grill section at least once a day.

"There are a wide variety of foods available at the dining halls that can help students plan a sensible dietary plan," said Janice McQuere, marketing and nutritional manager of the University, "We have the lighter fare entrees which contain less fat. There's also always fresh fruit and steamed vegetables available. And now there's fresh bread, plain rice and pasta."

But even with these additions, students still have hard time eating properly. Despite the seemingly badly prepared foods served at the dining halls, there is still a sure-fire plan to maintain a healthy diet: follow the "Eating Plan for Healthy Americans' program created by the American Heart Association (AHA) provided by Notre Dame Student Health Services.

This plan outlines a wholesome eating style for a healthy, active life, while reducing the amount of cholesterol, according to AHA. Some suggested points are as followed:

•Meet your daily needs for protein, vitamins, minerals and other nutrients.

•Achieve and maintain your best weight.

•Reduce your total fat intake to about 30 percent of your calorie intake.

•Avoid eating too many foods containing saturated fat and cholesterol.

•Substitute polyunsaturated and monounsaturated fat for saturated fat wherever possible but be careful not to eat too much of any kind of fat.

•Make these changes gradually over a period of several months so they become a natural part of your permanent eating pattern.

The AHA plan also offers a few tins on how to control the amount and kind of fat: •Limit your intake of meat, seafood and poultry to no more than 6 ounces per day. •Use chicken or turkey (without skin) or fish in most of your main meals.

Cheeseburger	Whopper	BK Broiler chicken sandwich	Chicken Tenders	French fries (medium, salted)	Chocolate shake	Apple pie calories: 300 total fat: 14g cholesterol: 45mg sodium: 660mg	calories: 570 total fat: 31g cholesterol: 80mg sodium: 870mg	calories: 280 total fat: 10g cholesterol: 50mg sodium: 770mg	calories: 236 total fat: 13g cholesterol: 38mg sodium: 541mg	calories: 372 total fat: 20g cholesterol: 0mg sodium: 238mg	calories: 326 total fat: 10g cholesterol: 31mg sodium: 198mg	calories: 320 total fat: 14g cholesterol: 0mg sodium: 420mg
						The Observed Citate Weirup

•Choose lean cuts of meat, trim all the fat you can see, and throw away the fat that cooks out of the meat.

•Substitute meatless or "lowmeat" main dishes for regular entrees.

•Use no more than a total of 5-8 teaspoons of fats and oils per day for cooking, baking and salads.

Another suggestion of AHA is to lower the cholesterol intake. This can be done by using no more that three egg yolks a week, including those used in cooking, and to cut back on shrimp and lobster.

Only you can take charge of your eating style. Make these changes in your eating habits slowly and steadily.

The Observer • LETTERS TO A LONELY GOD

Friday, October 1, 1993

Judaism possesses charm right down to its honey cake

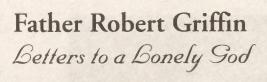

When I was ordained a priest in 1954, the Jewish family living next door to my mother in the old neighborhood up in Maine gave me a honey-flavored cake shaped like the tablets of the Law on which the Ten Commandments in Hebrew had been iced in frosting. If Catholics loved honey as much as Jews do, they'd make it a sacrament. In Israel, the Jews have made the desert bloom, covering it with flowers and clover on which bees can feast. They have cleared rocks and thorn bushes off barren fields, irrigating them and planting grass on which the livestock can feed.

Returning from exile to their ancient homeland which they alone have loved with singular intensity, they have turned worthless real estate -which lay unproductive from the decade when the Temple was destroyed in A.D. 70 and Masada was besieged, until 1948-into the land of milk and honey which the Patriarches were promised.

In offering me honey cake as a newly-ordained priest, those Jews were offering to make me an heir of their Dream. Accepting their offer and eating the honey cake, I have blessedly dreamed as a brother to the Jews through all my priestly days. I am very conscious of being spiritually a Semite, as the popes have said Catholics should be. Whimsically, I have wondered whether, in the part of me that is Irish, I could also be a Hebrew according to the flesh.

The stage Irish in their cups, insisting that they are de-scended from the Chosen People, argue that Israel's lost tribes migrated to the Hibernian shore, where they preached Deuteronomy to the Druids.

I can picture myself greeting newly-met Jews with the words used by the 11th son of the biblical Jacob when he greeted his siblings who had sold him into slavery: "I am Joseph your brother. Doth my father yet live?" I could wear an amazing techni-colored dream coat to remind them of the story of Joseph in Egypt.

I was charmed with the cake decorated with the Decalogue which I might have been given as a lad making his bar mitzvah.

The Commandments were colored-coded: white icing was used for the mitzvahs prescribing the duties one has toward his neighbors. Gold colored icing was used for the mitzvahs prescribing one's duties to God. The mitzvah which began, "I am the Lord thy God," and the mitzvah which ordained, "Remember the Sabbath Day, to keep it holy," were covered with translucent candies spun from honey, to highlight the holy text, and leave you wondering if each golden stroke forming a word had been inlaid with jewels.

Even as a goy I could figure out the cake was saying that the Jew who loves the Sabbath honors God. The Jew who does not keep the Sabbath has grown luke-warm in his love of God. The Sabbath was given to the Jews when they were slaves in Egypt, so they could have a day of rest. God might turn His back on the Jew who keeps his back to the Sabbath, which he is obliged to love joyously as his heaven-sent bride.

I started going to bar mitzvahs so that I could feast on the cake with the honey Commandments on top, At 67, I'm still hooked on that cake of angels; but at my age, how many lads being "bar mitz-vah'd" do you think I know?

I'm not disposed to think that Judaism is a piece of cake. If you want to know the truth, every September, when I hear the High Holy Days have started with the Jewish New Year, I want to rush to the nearest synagogue, and join the celebration. Putting on the yarmulke and perhaps a prayer shawlthough not the phylacteries, since I don't know what they mean, even when they're explained to me.

I want to join the congregation in reciting the Shema, which begins, "Hear, O Israel, the Lord is our God; the Lord is one,"as though we were Hasidim in Jerusalem, praying at the Wailing Wall. I may be romancing the Jew in me, be-cause I saw "The Jazz Singer

"so often, so I could feel haunted from hearing Al Jolson sing the Kol Nidre.

A few years ago, I went to a synagogue for the Friday night service, so that I could wear a yarmulke, and be uplifted by the service, with which I am unfamiliar. To be honest, I left disappointed, and I understood why.

A priest I know was in a convent, celebrating a liturgy at which incense was used. Halfway through, a young sister in her novice year came on the altar to inform him, "Reverend Mother wants more smoke.' Like Reverend Mother, I was disappointed because I wanted to hear more Kol Nidre, or music that would have touched me in the way that music does. But the Kol Nidre is a hymn of forgiveness which belongs to the liturgy of Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement. I had stumbled that night into a young woman's confirmation, a bat mitzvah. A Jew in attendance at a Catholic wedding, hoping to hear Bach's St. Matthew's Passion, would be disappointed in the same way I was disappointed at not seeing the Jews beautiful in their contrition on the Day of Atonement.

If a Baptist were to ask me if one religion is as good as another, meaning his religion as a Baptist and mine as a Catholic, I wouldn't hesitate to say no But if a Jew were to ask me the same question about his religion as a Jew, and mine as a Catholic, I'd be tempted to say, "Of course.

Would this not be a betrayal of Jesus as Lord? If I thought it were, I'd be very sad. Jesus is always and everywhere present to me as a prayer-partner. He is the Rabbi on Whose word I depend. Does He mind my realizing that Christianity is not alone as a religion inspired by God?

Judaism has a dimension to it which Christianity lacks. Jews have discovered how humor is related to the tears of things, "lacrimae rerum." As an aid to grace under pressure, humor has helped Jews survive. Humor cannot be shallow, Jews have discovered, since it is part of God's mystery.

Christians wonder where the Gospels show that Jesus ever laughed. Chesterton conjectured that He went into the everlasting hills to be alone when He laughed, just as He went there to be alone when He prayed. His laughter would have scandalized the disciples, says Chesterton, and I do be-lieve those lads might have been stymied by a joke.

The Jews, at home with God's native language, have had an advantage This could explain why the Jewish religion is so joyful. At weddings which have become catered affairs at Leonard's in Great Neck, the groom must take time out to interrupt the the general euphoria by crushing the crystal goblet under his foot, to remind his guests of the ways Jews have suffered.

Their Sabbath is so joyful, the rabbis in the shtetls used to stand four inches taller after sunset on Friday, when the Sabbath began. Catholics have statuses of Mary that weep and bleed in their churches. Judaism might not be a bad religion to have, if you're having only one.

The University of Notre Dame Warmly Welcomes

Michael P. Esposito, Jr.

Executive Vice President of

The Chase Manhattan Bank, N.A.

and Alumnus of

The University of Notre Dame

Mr. Esposito is hosting a reception on October 6, 1993 at the University Club, Main Lounge from 6 - 8 pm and warmly extends an invitation to all students and faculty who are interested in a discussion about career opportunities at Chase.

Classifieds

NOTICES

Typing 287-4082

Undergraduate meeting Sunday 7pm glnd/smc. Kelly 289-4063.

GENERAL MEETING Sunday 330 p.m. (Erik 634-3107/Kelly 289-4063) glnd/smc po 194 ND IN 46556.

WANTED: MALE WHO ENJOYS RUNNING AND EATING PAN-CAKES. DOMER RUN - SATUR-DAY, OCTOBER 2. CALL 631-6100 FOR MORE INFO.

Professional Typing Dissertations, Term Papers Reasonable Rates 277-7406

Chicago-based corporation recently Notre Dame licensed seeks local agent to sell T-shirts, sportswear, etc. OFF CAMPUS only; sophomore or junior preferred. Generous commission. Call Tracy @ (800) 551-0035.

WOMEN'S ALTERATIONS. CALL 259-8684.

LOST & FOUND

FOUND: WOMAN'S GOLD HEART RING IN DBRT BATHROOM CALL KRISTEN AT: 4-2780

LOST: Gold Camel Pendant somewhere on North Quad. VERY SEN-TIMENTAL - REWARD! Call Amy @ x1334 Please help!

LOST: VARSITY JACKET AT 200 HAGGAR ON 9/17. REWARD. CALL 4-2915.

Found: Nancy Kim I found your football tickets in the Fischer parking lot. Please call me @ 4-4303 and if you're nice I'll return them.

LOST!!! ND wallet and key holding my entire life!!! Last seen in NSH Room 127. Could have lost in DeBartolo also. Contains ID, cash card, VISA, cash and other miscellaneous items. PLEASE RETURN IF FOUND! REWARD! CALL DEB AT #3707.

Lost: Copy Card. Left on the second floor at noon on Sept. 30. Says "Fraser". Please return to library Lost and Found.

LOST: J-Crew Barn Jacket (Olive green) btw. 9-22 & 9-27. Please contact Mike @x1166

WANTED

FREE SPRING BREAK TRIPS! EARN $2500 & FREE SPRING BREAK TRIPS! SELL ONLY 8 TRIPS & GO FREE! BEST TRIPS & PRICES! BAHAMAS, CANCUN, JAMAICA, PANAMA CITY! 1-800-678-6386!

WE HERE AT STUDIO-5 ARE LOOKING FOR MODELS TO POSE FOR POSTERS-N-CALEN-DARS. THOSE INTERESTED LOOKING FOR MOTHER'S HELPER WHO ENJOYS CHIL-DREN. FLEX HRS (an afternoon & a couple of AM's). CALL 232-6755.

HELP! I NEED A PLACE TO LIVE! If you need a roommate, call Jay — x1714

Help! We have sore butts, so we need a couch or sofa. Do you have an old one? $60 or less? Call us! x3043 or x3041

$$$$$NEED MONEY??$$$ BRUNO'S NEEDS Drivers!!!! PT for Campus Deliveries. Call John 288-3220 $$$$$NEED MONEY??$$$$

Love kids? Would you like to help protect the environment? Join a one-a-month "Kids for Saving Earth"Club sponsored by a local elementary school. Male counselors for 4-5th grade Earth Crusaders: ecology, bicycling, hiking and adventure course program. Call Bill evenings 272-4850

NEEDED: Artist for commercial project. Newspaper ads, b/w drawings. Great resume experience! The Works Bar & Grill 501 N Niles Ave 237-9757

WANTED: 50 people this Sat. am to stand in line. Pays $10/hr up to 5 hrs. Call 634-1477 and leave name & number.

RELIABLE AND HARD WORKING INDIVIDUALS NEEDED TO MAKE EXTRA CASH SELLING UNIVER-SITY RELATED T-SHIRTS. APPLY AT: LINDA'S FLOWER MARKET 1635 EDISON ROAD 272-0902.

Attention - ACDC Students. Part time baby sitter needed for 5 month old and 4 yr old. $5.50 per hr. Must have own transportation. Call Lea 272-5029.

WANTED: A ride to New Jersy for fall break. Will help with gas and driving. Call Beth at X4994.

FOR RENT

HOME-BASED B&B ALLIANCE. NICE ACCOMMODATIONS. 271-0989 24 HOUR ANSWERING MACHINE.

Bed & Breakfast - Riverfront -Private. 257-9101

LARGE 6 BDRM HOME. FURN. SECURITY SYSTEM. WALK TO CAMPUS. 1 BDRM NEAR CAM-PUS $225. MO.272-6306

GRAD HOUSING NOT WORKING OUT? TRY A PLACE IN THE GAR-DEN. ONE ROOM LEFT. $235. EAST RACE AREA. JOG, BIKE, BUS. 232-8444.

Female r-mate needed IMMEDI-

ALUMNI SEEKING GA'S TO ANY HOME GAME. PLEASE CALL JANE AT 1-800-264-3278.

The Observer

CLASSIFIEDS

DESPERATELY SEEKING TICK-ETS! 2 GAs for, FSU, and BC call: A. Raczkowski (800)442-2190 x7296. '91 alums with jobs - will pay big $$$!

FSU TIX NEEDEDIIIIIIII CALL CRAIG @273-3942 PLEASEII

Best offer- call TJ 232-5030 NEED 2 GA'S FOR USC MATT @ 232-3870

Need 2 Fla. St. GA's

ND vs USC - Need tickets for

10/23 game.Chris Marks 800-523-3139. I NEED PITT TICKETS, GA PREF-

ERED call Tim at x1225

WILL PAY $100 A TICKET FOR GOOD USC AND FLORIDA ST. GA:s 2773097

#@#@#@#@#@#@#@#@#@#@#@#@ Help! I need four tickets to the Boston College game.... If you would like to make a hot babe's day with 4 tix, call Elisa at

634-2703

@#@#@#@#@#@#@#@#@#@#@#

EIS NEEDED 2-4 TICKETS ND-FLA PLE STATE CALL COLLECT 502-354-

I NEED 3 PITT GA'S BADLY MIKE x2292

HELP!! NEED 2 GA'S FOR BC WILL SELL 1 PITT GA CALL HELEN x4026

We Need PITT TIX 2 GA's and 3 stud. Call Jeff at 1612 or Kristen at 2812

PITT AND USC GA s WANTED FOR RICH ALUMNI $$$232-1348

NEED4USC2 FSU GASJC X2210 DYING GRANDPARENTS' LAST WISH: SEE PITT VS. ND NEED 2 PITT GA'S DONALD x1724.

NEED 2 GA'S FOR ANY HOME GAME. MIKE @ 1724

Need 2-4 FSU Heather 284-5261

NEED 1 USC GA. CALL ED X1194.

NEED 2-4 GA TIX TO FLORIDA STATE. WILL PAY TOP DOLLAR. GRANDMA WANTS TO GO TO GAME. CALL CHUCK AT 708-479-1429

NEED FLORIDA ST TIX General Adm. only. Call Sam Santo (H) 201-217-0030 (W) 201-992-8700

Need 1 USC G.A.! Will buy or trade for 2 Pitt G.A.s

Call Karen at 4-4987. Need FSU stud tix ALUM needs to trade (2)BC GA's for (2) USC or (2)PITT - call Jim collect 313-478-6028

Need 2-4 Pitt GA's Katie 273-6324 $

I NEED tickets for PITT and FSU student or GA's. Please call Christine at 273-4803.

I have 2 BC GAs and 1 BC stud. I need 2 FSU tix (GAs or studs). Call Theresa before 10pm at x4312.

PLEASE HELP!!! I NEED 1 GA OR STU. TICKET FOR PITT. CALL KELLY @ 4-4270

I need 4 tix for Pitts call 4-2994, ask for Andrea or leave a message !!!!

Heading home? Watching FSU-Miami?

Sell me your PITT stud call Scott 3586

AHOY MATIES!! NEED 2 PITT AND 1 USC (STU OR GA) FOR OLD SHIPMATES COMING TO TOWN, BOB X4529

I NEED ONE BC TIX & MANY PITT TIX- STUDENT OR GA 271-7047

MBA STUDENT SEEKS 2 TICK-ETS FOR FAMILY TO USC GAME. PLEASE CALL RICH X-4-4499

Need FSU Stu. & Ga's Eric x1087

I NEED GA'S FOR PITT, USC & BC NICK X1777

NEED UP TO 6 USC GEN. ADM. TIX. PLEASE CALL KATHY COL-LECT (301) 737-5520.

HELP! I NEED PITT AND BC GA's. CALL AMY X4952

WANTED FOUR TICKETS TO ND FSU. CALL COLLECT 619 942 5030.

STUDS 4 SALE - 2 FL. ST., 3 B.U. BEST OFFER 284-5195.

I need st. tix bks please call Pat 3281

I need 2 pairs of PITT GA's call Tim 237-1012$$$$$

ED X1194. NEED 4-8 USC GA'S

CALL JOE @ X1613

NEED 2 FEMALE STUD. TIX FOR PITT. JAY X1534

I NEED PITT GA TIX

CALL MIKE AT 277-8135

I NEED PITT STDNT TIX CALL 273-6463

I NEED FSU GA's

HELP! I need Pitt GA's-Steve 1217

The Observer accepts classifieds every business day from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at th Notre Dame office, 314 LaFortune and from 12 p.m. to 3 p.m. at 309 Haggar Colle Center. Deadline for next-day classifieds is 3p.m. All classifieds must be prepaid. T charge is 2 cents per character per day, including all spaces.

7207

page 15

Let us take the worry out of your decision. Call to learn about us, t love we have to share, and the li we would like to provide for your baby. Strictly legal. Confidential.

Call Sylvia and Ben. 1 (800) 579

WANTED: ANYONE WHO LOVI

PANCAKES AND IS WILLING T

THEM. DOMER RUN - SATUR-

DAY, OCTOBER 2. CALL 631-6

ATTENTION SOPHOMORES!!!!

Class Mass is Oct. 3, 2:00 p.m. & the Grotto. (If rain: Keenan-

Father Miscamble will preside.

Don't miss this opportunity to cel

brate Mass with friends!

FREE THE NAKED 4 !!

1649 Turtle Creek Ct.

South Bend, IN 46637

$800 WEEKLY POSSIBLE!

Working at home! 37 different opportunities. Rush $1 and self-addressed stamped envelope to:

Sophomores!!!

L. Miko

ND/SMC RTL

107 LaFortune

LIFE CHAIN

Stepan Ctr

INH

Sunday 2:15 pm Rockne

SABOR LATINO

at the 'Taste of Nations'

Saturday Oct. 2 8:30 pm

Come enjoy and dance to

Cumbia, Salsa, Merengue

SABOR LATINO !!!!!!!

the only Latin band on Campus

LYONS VOLLEYBALL TOURN.

SIGN UP AT LUNCH OR DINN (IN BOTH DINING HALLS)

LYONS VOLLEYBALL TOURN.

M.T.: "...and I know it's over stil cling, I don't know where else I c go ... and it never really began b in my heart it was so real." Is thi

Consider a life of patient love fro

Mom, financial security from Dac

how we make up for lost time?

SUNDAY OCTOBER 3RD

THURSDAY AND FRIDAY

TEAMS OF FOUR:

Mon 10/4

7:30-8:30

RUN 3 OR 6 MILES TO GET

FOR MORE INFO.

Stanford Chapel)

TRADE 2 BOSTON GA TIX FOR PREMIER OF RUDY TIX. CALL 288-3028 AFTER 6 PM.

I DESPERATELY need 2 Pitt GA's Please call Josh at x3578. Will pay top dollar.

FSU stu. tix. for sale, only SERIOUS ($$$) INQUIRIES please. Rob-4052

NEED FLORIDA STATE GA'S. MUST HAVE!! CALL 272-7233

FOR SALE: GA'S ALL GAMES 277-1659.

NEED I PITT GA X3533

I NEED 2 GA'S FOR THE PITT GAME. CALL JEFF @273-4867

Looking for 3 Pitt. student or G.As. Call 277.4597 after 6pm or leave a message.

NEED 4 GA TIX FOR PITT., USC & FLA. ST. CALL BOB 232-5297.

PITT,USC,FSU,BC STUD TIX FOR SALE X.2795 LVE MESS. AND BEST OFFER

> NEED PITT TIX STU OR GA AILEEN X4290

Have 2 GA's for FSU and BC games. Leave best offer at 4-3419.

MARRIED STD BKS 4SALE 273-2331

My little brother loves ND football and has never seen a game and will be here for FSU...please call

I need PITT GA's Please HELP!

Mike if you have tix. 271-1706

4-1103 Greg

NEED 2 USC GA's

1 BC & 1FSU stud.

Chi-Chi 1200

name and offer.

457-0486.

Will trade 2 BC stud's or

Two PITT Student tix for sale

We will purchase at handsome price four seats together for the Florida State game. Pls. call (800)

Best offer. x3655 or x4768 leave

Need 4 Pitt Tix

Call 273-6033

Preferablly married

CALL 271-1371 OR COME IN 52029 US 31 N. HOURS ARE 10AM-6PM MON-FRI

CRUISE SHIPS NOW HIRING -Earn up to $2000+/month + world travel (Hawaii, Mexico, the Caribbean, etc.). Summer and Career employment available. No experience necessary. For more information call 1-206-634-0468 ext.C5584

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT - fisheries. Earn up to $2000-$4000 or more per month on fishing vessels or in canneries. Many companies provide transportation and room & board. No experience necessary. Male or Female. For more information call:1-206-545-4155 ext. A5584

FREE TRIPS AND MONEY!! Individuals and Student Organizeations wanted to promote the Hottest Spring Break Destinations, call the nation's leader. Inter-Campus Programs 1-800-327-6013

WANTED: DOMER WHO LIKES TO RUN, DOMER RUN - SATUR-DAY, OCTOBER 2. CALL 631-6100 FOR MORE INFO. ATELY at Turtle Creek! Gina 4-2372

FOR SALE

BEER SIGNS OF ALL KINDS CALL COLIN AT 273-6205

8 AIRLINE TICKETS FOR SALE Orange County to Chicago 10/21 Chicago to Orange County 10/24 Only $333/each round trip Michelle Coleman 800-854-4643 x1515 all hours

Spring Break! Plan Early - Save $30-50 & Get Best Rooms! Prices Increase 11/15! Bahamas Cruise 6 days includes12 meals $279! Panama City room w/ kitchen $129! Cancun from Chicago $439, Jamaica $479, Padre $199, Key West $239, Daytona Room w/ Kitchen $149! 1-800-678-6386

DEPENDABLE 1986 PLYMOUTH DUSTER CALL HOLLY 271-8940

TICKETS

I NEED ND GA FOOTBALL TIXS.272-6306

call Aaron @ 272-3418

Need Pitt GA's Call Andy @3654

Please help my Uncle live a lifelong dream: I need 2 BC GA's and a female student ticket. Call Sean at 4 - 3479

NEED 2 BYU TIX! PLS CALL (801)484-7108

Will give big bucks and parents weekend GA's for FSU GA's. Call Mike at X1620!

I NEED two Pitt GA's Call Matt at x1686

Need 2 GAs for any home game Call Tim at 273-1757

NEED 2 PITT GA OR STUD TIX. JOHN X3403

Wanted: One Gen Ad tix for Pitt and SIX for BC!!!!! Call Colleen x2785 soon! Will pay $$$$$$$

TOM @ 271-2908

N.D. Alumnus has FSU GAs and is looking to trade for USC GAs. Please call (717) 697-2219 and ask for Tom or leave message.

NEED FSU-ND TIX 214/991-0889 (MARK)

$ WILL PAY TOP DOLLAR $ NEED 2 PITT GA'S CALL (614) 459-0074 COLLECT AFTER 4 PM OR CALL SHEILA AT x4072

$Need Pitt GAs$ Angie 273-5805

NEED PITT GA'S & 1 ST TIX LIKE YOU WOULDN'T BELIEVE JIM 232-3807

FOR SALE: REMAINING STUD/TIX BOOKLET. BEST OFFER CALL 234-6037

I NEED stud tix to USC & PITT por favor bitte se vous please call Josh 234-2853

Please call Dave 273-0821

Need Pitt GAs

HELP Mother Theresa needs 2

USC tix. Will trade 2 BC tix. x4340

FOR SALE: USC and BC student tickets. Call Beth at X4994

PERSONAL

SENIOR RAP-UP GROUP SIGN-UPS AT THE CENTER FOR SOCIAL CON-CERNS DEADLINE: OCTOBER 1

Honey, GOD shrunk my hypothalamus! gind/smc po 194 ND IN 46556

ADOPTION: We offer love, encouragement and security to the precious life your are carrying; a fulltime mom and loving dad; married 12 years; promises that your child will have every opportunity. Please call Phil and Maureen at (800)545-8195. laughter and music in a country home for your baby. Please call Lynda and Pat at 1-800-226-517 anytime.

Top 10 Reasons Why the Dillon Scavenger Hunt was a Success: 10-'Cause Alumni Sucks 9-It upheld Dillon's already spotle image

8-What a better way to meet Spe 7-Because a Lyons chick finally some

6-'Cause Fr. Judas IsCAREYot proved his loy

alty to Dillon

5-It improved gender relations ca puswide

4-Smokin' Crack with the Fat Gir 3-Who wanted SYRs, Formals, ε Matching Funds anyway? 2-It made the word, "Slut" politica correct

1-THE JERKER!

-Funding by the Dillon Committ on appropriate behavior-Long Live Dillon!!

To all CLEVELAND ST. IGNATIL WILDCATS: Please contact Bria McDonough'92 (3363) to sign the card for Ms. Gaski

The Observer • WOMEN'S INTERHALL

Badin puts undefeated record on P.W. drops Lewis to remain undefeated the line against Lyons By KELLY CORNELIS Sports Writer

By SCOTT CLEMENTE Sports Writer

page 16

The one o'clock game this Sunday will highlight the day's scedule as undefeated and number one ranked Badin faces Lyons Hall. Badin is coming off an 18-0 victory over Walsh this past Wednesday and is a very confident team.

Lyons is coming off its first victory, at 26-6 win at the expense of Pangborn and is clearly the game's underdog. Badin, however is not taking their opponent lightly.

"Every game we take seriously. How a team performed against others may not show how they will perform against us," stated team captain Shari Shepard. "Our offenses and defenses could match up differently."

The Lyons team is optomistic about the matchup despite the odds being stacked against them. Wendy Holthaus, the team's captain feels that the Lyons team will not be outmatched.

"We've improved a lot since our first game. We were able to step up our defense and that has helped," she said

In their last game, Lyons was able to hold Pangborn to just one touchdown, securing their first victory of the season. Shepard does not think that her team will be outmatched. "As long as we're aggresive I think we'll be alright," she said.

Walsh vs. Breen Phillips Walsh will be looking to get its first win against 5th ranked Breen Phillips, this Sunday.

Both teams are coming off tough losses. Walsh lost18-0 to the league's number one ranked team, Badin, while B.P. was defeated 20-18, by Howard. Missed extra points cost the Blitz the victory.

Howard vs. Pangborn In the last game scheduled for Sunday winless Pangborn takes on fourth ranked Howard. Despite their record the Pangborn team is optomistic about their chances of getting their first win.

The foxes are entering the game with a new game plan, courtesy of their coach Larry Holtz. Captain Kaaren Kolodziej thinks her team has a good shot at victory. "Things are starting to come together and we are very optomistic," she said

P.W. and Lewis, two of four undefeated teams in women's game Thursday night that lived up to its potential. With the 6-0

Both teams played tough defense, but P.W. scored in the first half and held on from there to secure the win. P.W. receiver Jenny Tate caught the game-winning touchdown pass from quarterback Bethany Riddle. After the early score, Lewis kept the game close, pressuring Riddle, and sacking her several times. Lewis fared much better than other teams who have faced Riddle and P.W. this season.

The P.W. defense also shut down the Lewis offense. Lewis threatened to score, but sophomore Heather Hughes had a key sack to stop the drive. Senior Kristen Lefere also contributed to the defensive success when she deflected a pass on a big play.

Heading into Thursday night's game, the women of Farley Hall set a goal for themselves to get on the scoreboard for the first time this season. They succeeded in their goal, and also kept Seigfried off the scoreboard, as they posted their first win, 12-0. Seigfried falls to 1-2 for the season.

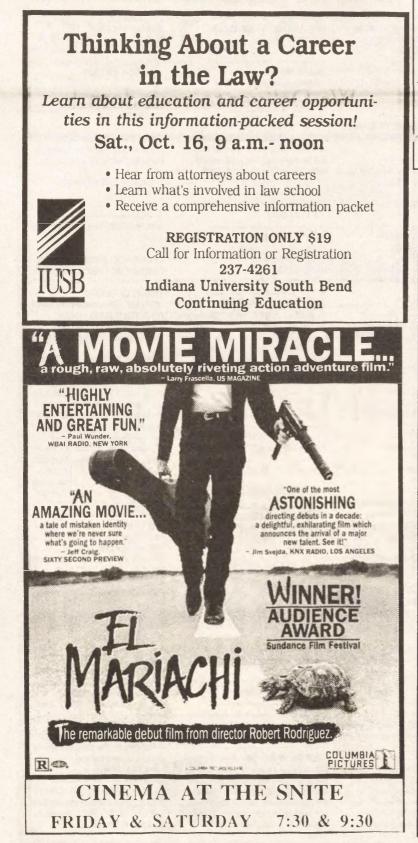

On their first possession, Farley running back Sheila Weigert scurried into the end-The Farley defense held Seigfried at bay for the rest of defense also played tough.

The defensive battle continued into the second half, but Weigert managed to score another touchdown to increase Farley's lead to twelve. Seigfried challenged Farley with a scoring threat late in the game, but the determined defense held them on the goal line

P.E. 19, Knott 0

Pasquerilla East rebounded from their loss to P.W., and came out fighting as they faced Knott Hall last night. They combined a strong rushing attack with a solid defensive effort to beat Knott 19-0.

interhall, played an intense victory, P.W. maintains its spot at the top of the Blue Division, and defends their #2 ranking. Lewis drops to 2-1.

Farley 12, Seigfried 0 zone to make the score 6-0. the half, and the Seigfried is now accepting applications for the following paid positions:

he Ubserver

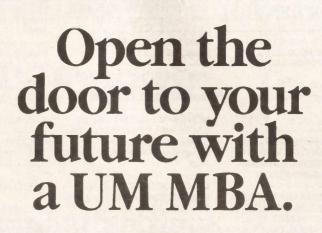

Graduate Page Editor

A Notre Dame graduate student interested in editing a weekly page focusing on graduate issues.

College Page Editor

A Notre Dame or Saint Mary's student interested in editing a page examining other campuses.

Please submit a resume and personal statement to David Kinney by Friday, October 1. Call 631-4542 if you have questions about either position.

Fulfill your dreams with an MBA from UM. We offer flexible and innovative programs such as our one-year MBA for students with an under graduate business degree and our two-year program for bachelors students without a business degree. Both of these programs offer you the opportunity to pursue two complementary specializations such as:

- Finance and International Business
- Marketing and Computer Information Systems
- Health Administration and Human Resource Management
- Marketing and Strategic Management
- Accounting and Computer Information Systems

With our dual degree Masters in International Business (MIBS), you will earn an MBA and a Master of Science in International Business with a guaranteed internship in the country of your selected anguage specialty.

As you approach graduation and complete your program, cur placement office is solely dedicated to finding employment opportunities for our graduate business students

If you are intrigued by these challenging and rewarding oppintumities, call us at 1-800-531-7137, and we will show you how to get started on the rest of your life.

GRADUATE BUSINESS PROGRAMS, P.O. BOX 248505, CORAL GABLES, FL 33124-5524

The Observer • SPORTS

102-year old baseballer visits site

Chet Hoff, the oldest living former major league player. made an unexpected return Thursday to the site of his first big league appearance.

"This is a great memory for me," the 102-year-old Hoff said at a dedication of a home plateshaped plaque on the site of Hilltop Park where the New York Yankees began their team history in 1903.

Hilltop Park was located at 168th Street and Broadway in Manhattan, now the location of

NEW YORK the sprawling Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center, the nation's third-largest hospital complex.

> Hoff, who played four years in the majors, including three with the New York Highlanders - now known as the Yankees - first pitched on the site in 1911. In his second appearance, the left-hander, known as Red Hoff, struck out Ty Cobb of the Detroit Tigers.

> There was a great batter up there," Hoff said, "but I didn't know who he was."

University of Notre Dame International Study Programs

AUSTRIA, AUSTRALIA, CHILE, FRANCE, JAPAN, JERUSALEM, MEXICO, SPAIN

INFORMATION MEETING WITH DR. CLAUDIA KSELMAN ASSISTANT DIRECTOR

MONDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1993 6:30 PM 249 MADELEVA HALL

Application Deadlines: October 15, 1993: Spring 1994 Semester in Jerusalem, Mexico City, Santiago

December 1, 1993 For All Other Program.

Stokes' three TD catches pace UCLA win Wayne Cook.

By BERNIE WILSON Associated Press

SAN DIEGO UCLA's J.J. Stokes pulled up in the corner of the end zone after catching a 50-yard pass and bowed to nobody in particular. He was simply in his element.

Stokes, held in check in the previous three games, caught five passes for 164 yards and three touchdowns and UCLA held Marshall Faulk to only 53 yards in a 52-13 victory over San Diego State Thursday night.

Stokes turned down the hometown Aztecs out of high school because they wanted to make him a tight end.

"I'm not a tight end," Stokes said. "I want to catch the ball, I want to celebrate, I want to do all that. I know how to block, but I don't want to be on the line."

Stokes had only 188 yards and two touchdowns on 16 catches in games against California, Nebraska and Stanford. He broke out against the Aztecs by catching TD passes of 36, 16 and 50 yards from

AUDITIONS for ND Opera Workshop THE MARRIAGE OF FIGARO by W.A. Mozart Performances on Apr. 22 & 23 Casting all Rolls Auditions-Wed. Oct 13, 7:30 p.m. Crowley Hall Room 115

"He's the type of player who can bust open the game with big plays," Cook said. "It's exciting to have him as a receiver and it's exciting to watch him after you throw the ball to him." The Bruins (2-2) improved to 16-0-1 against San Diego State (3-2). Thursday's game was the last of a 10-year contract, during which UCLA outscored the Aztecs 400-153.

"It seems like we've never had a game like this," said coach Terry Donahue, whose Bruins were 0-2 before beating Stanford 28-25 on Saturday.

"It was embarrassing and humiliating," San Diego State coach Al Luginbill said. "For whatever reason, we don't think we can beat those people. So we do what it takes to not be competitive. It's a shame."

San Diego State, of the Western Athletic Conference, is 0-16-1 against Pac-10 teams since beating Stanford in 1985.

Faulk, the two-time national rushing leader and 1992 Heisman runnerup, carried 19 times and was held to his second-lowest output in three seasons, excluding two games cut short by injury. He scored on a 3-yard run 3:44 into the third quarter, and didn't carry the ball in the fourth.

San Diego State had three turnovers early and trailed 24-0 at halftime.

"When things were going bad at the beginning, we just tried to put it in the back of our heads," Faulk said. "But things just kept going bad. I don't know what's the reason, but they did."

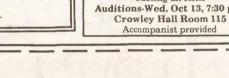

Faulk has been been held under 100 yards in two straight games for the first time in his career, and his Heisman chances take a hit each game.

"I don't care about the Heisman. What you saw happen with our team is more important to me than winning the trophy." Faulk said.

"I don't feel right now that they're able to get him the running lanes and the daylight that he's had the couple years past," Donahue said. "That's not a criticism of anybody. If he had one of their better offensive lines from the past, then I think he'd be ripping it up again."

Stokes caught four passes for 114 yards in the first half, including one for a 36-yard touchdown seven plays into the game. He juked cornerback Leonard Jones after making the catch, then twice evaded free safety Darrell Lewis.

ch

Clark Atlanta University in Atlanta, Georgia

Xavier University in New Orleans, Louisiana

St. Mary's University in San Antonia, Texas

St. Edward's University in Austin, Texas

Informational Meeting Tuesday, October 5, 1993 8:00 - 9:00 p.m. 102 DeBartolo Hall

ALL N.D. JUNIORS WELCOME

The Observer • SPORTS

National League West race still up for grabs

Late Braves' rally falls short

By TOM SALADINO Associated Press

ATLANTA

The Atlanta Braves blew another chance to move closer to their third straight NL West title, losing to the Houston Astros 10-8 Thursday night when their ninth-inning rally fell short.

The loss cut Atlanta's lead to one-half game over San Francisco. The Giants played later at Los Angeles in the opener of a season-ending, fourgame series.

Atlanta scored three runs in the ninth off Doug Jones. But with runners on first and third and two outs, Otis Nixon fouled out to third.

Atlanta finishes its season with three games at home against Colorado.

The Braves lost two of three games to Houston. They had won 14 straight series since dropping two of three to Montreal on Aug. 6-8.

Craig Biggio and Ed Taubensee each drove in three runs for Houston. The loss made Atlanta 4-4 since taking a 3 1/2-game lead over the Giants on Sept. 21.

The Braves trailed 10-5 going to the ninth, but Terry Pendleton hit an RBI single with one out and Damon Berryhill followed with an RBI single. Mark Lemke grounded into a forceout that scored one run and pinch-hitter Ryan Klesko singled.

The Astros took the lead for good at 7-4 with three runs in the fifth.

Giants pull into tie for lead By KEN PETERS

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES Billy Swift pitched the San Francisco Giants back into a tie for first place in the NL West, beating the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-1 Thursday night.

The victory, coupled with Atlanta's 10-8 loss to Houston, left the Giants and Braves tied with 101 victories. San Francisco finishes with three games at Dodger Stadium and Atlanta ends with three games at home against Colorado.

Swift (21-8), tied for the league lead in wins, gave up one run on two hits in seven innings. He walked four and struck out four as the resurgent Giants won for the eighth time in nine games.

Rod Beck pitched 1 1-3 innings for his 46th save.

Tom Candiotti (8-10) gave up three runs, two unearned, on six hits in eight innings. He walked two and struck out six, and was victimized by a pair of errors.

Shortstop Jose Offerman misplayed a routine grounder with two outs in the fourth, helping the Giants take a 2-0 lead.

Barry Bonds walked with one out and went to second on Willie McGee's groundout. Royce Clayton then grounded straight to Offerman, who bobbled the ball.

Waterpolo to host tourney

OBSERVER STAFF REPORT

The Notre Dame men's waterpolo team will host the Great Lakes Waterpolo Conference Tournament this weekend in the Rolfs Aquatic Center.

The Irish, who begin their first year of play in the conference, are led by tri-captains Donald Balhoff, Brian Coughlin, and Eric Shultz.

The young squad will compete in three matches. They will face off with Bowling Green tonight night at 7 pm. Finlay of Ohio tomorrow morning at 10 am. and Eastern Michigan tomorrow afternoon at 1 pm.

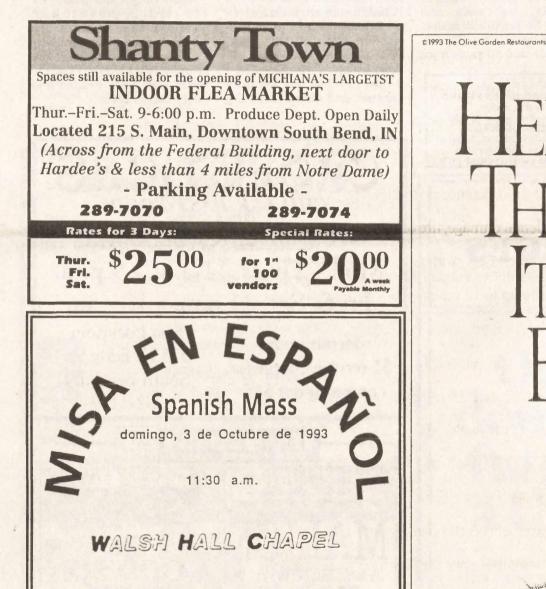

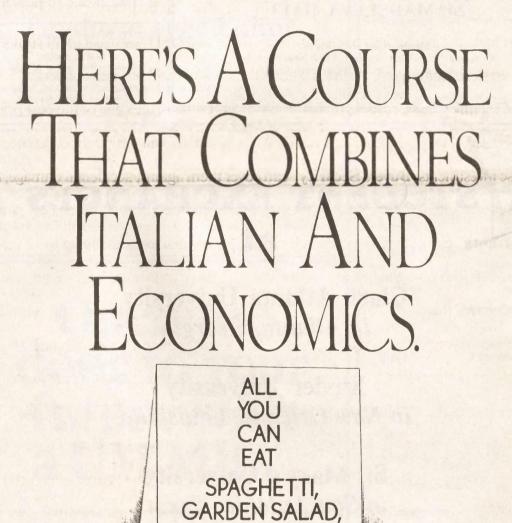

Circulation Drivers Needed For Friday Afternoons

1:30 - 3:30

This is a paid position.

Contact Joe Riley at 634-1780

Celebrante

PADRE ROBERT PELTON, c.s.c.

Todos Estan Invitados All Are Welcome

Sponsored by Campus Ministry Coro Primavera de Nuestra Señora

& BREADSTICKS

Talk about a heavy course load. If you're a Notre Dame or St. Mary's student or staff member, just show us your ID and we'll give you all-youcan-eat spaghetti with your choice of marinara, tomato or meat sauce.

Plus unlimited fresh garden salad and warm garlic breadsticks. It's all just $5.95. And you don't have to be a math major to figure out that that's a great deal.

WHERE ALL THE BEST OF ITALY IS YOURS."

• Opposite University Park Mall, 277-6503.

The Economics of the Citibank Classic Visa card. How Student Discounts and Price Protection contribute to upward growth. A variety of factors have been suggested as contributing to the economic growth of students, including (1) more lottery winners between the ages of 18 and 22, (2) a 37% increase on earnings from bottle and can returns, (3) more students doubling earnings in the lightning round of game shows, and (4) the Citibank Classic Visa® card. It's this last one, however, that affects most students. ¶ The Citibank Classic Visa card offers immediate savings to student cardmembers. You can save up to 26% on long distance calls versus AT&T with the free Citibank Calling Service[™] from MCI! And you can capitalize on a $20 Airfare Discount for domestic flights.² Savings on mail order purchases, sports equipment, magazines and music also abound. Maximize these savings with a low variable interest rate of 15.4%³ and no annual fee, and you can significantly improve your personal bottom line (especially if one's net income tends to be pretty gross). Put another way, one might

No known picture of Washington smiling exists. Economists believe Washington was unhappy because he felt he could have received a better deal on war supplies. If he used a Citibank Classic Visa card, he would have been assured of getting the best price and probably would have been happier (Artist rendering of how he would have appeared on the dollar) even have enough savings to reinvest in a CD or two (the musical kind, of course). I On the way to the record store, or any store for that matter, take stock of the 3 services concerned with purchases made on the Citibank Classic card. Citibank Price Protection assures one of the best prices. See the same item advertised in print for less, within 60 days, and Citibank will refund the difference up to $150.4 To protect these investments, Buyers Security" can cover them against accidental damage, fire or theft (ordinarily causes for Great Depressions) for 90 days from the date of purchase.⁴ And Citibank Lifetime Warranty^m can extend the expected service life of eligible products up to 12 years.⁵ ¶ But perhaps the features which offer the best protection are your eyes, your nose, your mouth, etc.—all featured on The Photocard, the credit card with your photo on it. Carrying it can help prevent fraud or any hostile takeover of your card. (Insiders speculate that it makes quite a good student ID, too.) Even if one's card is stolen, or perhaps lost, The Lost Wallet" Service can replace your card usually within 24 hours. ¶ So never panic. As we all know, panic, such as in the Great Panics of 1837, 1857, and 1929, can cause a downswing in a market. But with 24-hour Customer Service, there's no reason for it. A question about your account is only an 800 number away. (Panic of the sort experienced the night before Finals is something else again.) I Needless to say, building a credit history with the support of such services can only be a boost. You're investing in futures—that future house, that future car, etc. And knowing the Monarch Notes[®] Version: The Citibank Classic Visa card will be there for you with special student discounts, no fee, and a low rate...so your own economy will be more like a boom than a bust. Call 1-800-CITIBANK, ext. 19.

the

Citibank Classic Visa card is there in your wallet should presently give you a sense of security, rare in today's—how shall we say?—fickle market. ¶To apply, call. Students don't need a job or a cosigner. And call if you'd simply like your photo added to your regular Citibank Classic Visa card. Here's the number: 1-800-CITIBANK, extension 19. ¶ The Law of Student Supply and Demand states, "If a credit card satisfies more of a student's unlimited wants and needs, while reducing the Risk Factor in respect to limited and often scarce resources—with the greatest supply of services and savings possible—then students will demand said credit card." So, demand away—call.

Not just Visa. Citibank Visa.

Savings claim is based on a 10-minute night/weekend call in the 1,911 to 3,000 mileage band using MCI's Card Compatibility rates vs. AT&T's standard calling card rates, effective 4/93. Citibank Calling Service long distance usage cannot be applied to obtain benefits under any other MCI partner program or offer, including travel award programs. "Offer expires 6/30/94. Minimum ticket purchase price is $100. Rebates are for Citibank student cardmembers on tickets issued by ISE Flights only." The Annual Percentage Rate for purchases is 154% as of 8/93 and may vary quarterly. The Annual Percentage Rate for cash advance transaction equal to 2% of the amount of each cash advance transaction; however, it will not be less than $2.00 or greater than $10,00. "Certain conditions and exclusions apply. Please refer to your Summary of Additional Program Information. Buyers Security is underwritten by the New Hampshire Insurance Company. Service life expectancy varies by modut and is at least the minimum based on retail industry data. Details of coverage are available in your Summary of Additional Program Information. Monarch Notes are published by Monarch Press, a division of Sichust a Paramount Communications Company. Used by permission of the publisher. Citibank credit cards are issued by Citibank (South Dakota). N.A., @1993 Citibank (South Dakota), N.A. Member FDIC.

The Observer • CROSS COUNTRY

Cross country squads hope to pace home tournament Men look to group strategy

By DYLAN BARMMER Sports Writer

The Notre Dame men's cross country team will have their work cut out for them today, as they play host to several of the nation's top notch teams at the Notre Dame Invitational.

The race is set to begin at 5pm at the Burke Memorial Golf Course, and by the time it is over, the Irish hope to be celebrating their second straight victory

Today's race will not be as easy as last week's, when the Irish grabbed the top four spots in dominating the rest of the field at the National Catholic Invitational. The Irish runners, led by junior Nate Ruder, amassed an incredibly low 21 points in that race, as their "pack" running technique proved to be a great success against the likes of LaSalle, Duquesne, and Canisius.

Today's race will showcase a higher level of competition, as the Irish will lace up against the likes of sixteenth-ranked Eastern Michigan, Auburn, Penn State, and West Virginia.

While the level of competition may be higher at today's meet, the game plan will remain the same. For the Irish team, strength is definitely found in numbers.

"Many of these teams have a few good front runners, but we have a great amount of depth," noted last week's first place finisher, Nate Ruder. "I think we will do well if we run as a group. It helped us greatly last week, and I think it will continue to benefit us throughout the rest of the season."

Today's meet promises to be exciting, and may also prove crucial to the currently ninthranked Irish team. In collegiate cross country, there are nine different sections, and the Irish are in what is arguably the toughest section.

Many of the schools competing in tomorrow's meet are in different sections than Notre Dame, and performances in such "cross-section" matchups are often vital to a school, affecting both their national ranking and their bidding for the NCAA championships.

The importance of today's meet is not lost on the Irish runners. Freshman standout Matt Althoff, who finished eleventh at the National Catholic meet, commented on the importance of today's meet, saying. "This will be an exciting meet, in the sense that we have a lot more at stake than winning or losing. The outcome of this race will have a lot of bearing on the rest of the season. This meet is definitely a crucial stepping stone in our season."

The Irish team hopes that they will avoid slipping on this stepping stone, knowing that doing so may result in a dan-gerous fall. By running as a group, they feel that they will be able to prevent one another from stumbling on any such obstacle.

Mike "Beaver" McWilliams (476) and Nate Ruder (478) hope running as a group will pay off again.

Women want to show potential to ranked teams

By AMY GRIFFIN

Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women's cross-country team hosts the Notre Dame Invitational this afternoon. The 20 team field will consist of some of the top ranked teams in the nation.

Alabama, ranked #11, and Baylor, in the top 20, will be the teams the Irish will try to keep pace with.

"If we run the way we're capable of we can run right with Alabama," junior Sarah Riley said. Auburn and Illinois State will also add to the competitive field.

After winning the National Catholic Invitational last week, the Irish feel this meet will determine how they can compete against the stronger teams.

"I think this race will be better because there's better competition. We'll be pushed more than we were last week, " commented junior Kristine Kramer. The Irish look for strong showing from freshman Emily Hood, who won the invitational last week, in addition to Riley and Kramer, who finished second and third. "We're going to try to run as best as we can as a team. Although these teams are ranked, we believe we can run right with them," Kramer said

There will be some new runners who weren't with the varsity cross country team in the race last week. Sophomore Ann Colonna and freshman Carolyn Long will help the Irish tomorrow.

If the team runs well, they feel it could greatly benefit them in the future.

"This is a good chance for us if we run well against these teams," Riley said. "If we need an at-large bid for the NCAA's at the end of the season, we can use this as an argument for getting into (the NCAA's).

NOW DELIVERS!! Weekend Special: 14 in. 2 item pizza only $10 For Carry Out/Delivery call 273-3890

Come watch the Irish beat Stanford at our Restaurant location...

288-3320

2610 Prairie Ave

If unu are unsure of what career path to follow-this is the place for you. Learn about careers spanning the four business curricula:

marketing, management. accounting and finance.

Education

targer

The Observer • SPORTS

continued from page 24

Men

between the two teams. South Carolina is also one of the only teams in the nation to post a series advantage over Indiana, their opponent on Saturday night. The Gamecocks are 3-1-1 against the Hoosiers.

South Carolina is led offensively by forward Chris Faklaris and midfielder Rob Smith, two of Bill Lanza's teammates on the U.S. Under-20 National Team. Faklaris, last week's Metro Conference Player of the Week, has ten goals and two assists on the year, while Smith has contributed with three goals and six assists.

Defensively, the Gamecocks will need strong play from freshman goalkeeper John Mills, who has recorded one shutout on the season, and senior midfielder Peter Duitsman, the team captain who has also added three goals and an assist offensively.

Penn State, Notre Dame's opponent on Saturday, takes a 6-1 record into the tournament. Their only loss of the season came at the hands of Rutgers, the Irish's first victim, two weeks ago. In their last contest, the Nittany Lions pounded Temple 7-0.

Sophomore forward Stuart Reid, last year's Big 10 Freshman of the Year, leads the Penn State offensive attack with nine goals, while co-captain Chris Kelly has chipped in with five assists. The senior needs just four more assists to break the career record of 29. Freshman standout Richard Wilmot, a soccer giant at 6'3" and 225 lbs., has also accepted a leadership role in his rookie season with five goals and three assists.

The Nittany Lions will need two strong efforts this weekend from goalie Michael Barninger, a 6'4" junior with 19 saves in his seven starts this season. He will be aided defensively by senior co-captain Gavin Reid, a four-year starter, and junior sweeper Joe Corapi.

Penn State lost six starters from last year's team, but this year's recruiting class has exceeded expectations, keeping the Nittany Lions on the winning track. The Irish hold a 1-2 series record against Penn State, though they won their last contest in 1988 by the score of 3-1.

The Observer/John Bingham

Senior captain Mike Palmer (#8) and the Irish will have their hands full this weekend when at least three ranked teams invade Alumni field for the Notre Dame Classic tournament.

Soccer

continued from page 24

"We're lacking something, but I'm not sure what it is," said Irish sophomore Rosella Guerrero. "We need a spark, some intensity, or something."

Guerrero should have no problem finding that spark in herself this weekend as she returns to her home of northern California. It will be the first time in the Sacramento native's collegiate career that she plays before her family and friends.

Renola and sophomore defender Ashley Scharf share Guerrero's enthusiasm.

Renola, who lives twenty five minutes from Stanford in Los Gatos, said she was so excited to go back to California that she was "bouncing off the walls."

She is also excited to play against Stanford, which was her second choice of college. "If we just go out and play our game, then we should beat St. Mary's," she said. "I think if we play well we should beat Stanford as well."

"I just can't wait to get to California," said Scharf. She lives approximately 35 minutes away in Danville.

In addition to the games this weekend, the Irish also have arranged two dining engagement's. The squad enjoyed supper last night in the Renola household, and will travel to Danville on Saturday to eat at the restaurant where Scharf works in the summer.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Anyone interested in coaching youth hockey for the ND youth hockey league call Debbie at 277-7519.

The Domer Run featuring 3 and 6 mile runs will be held on Saturday, October 2, at 10am at Stepan Center. There is a $5 adavance registration fee at the RecSports office and a $6 fee on the day of the race. For more information, call RecSports at 631-6100.

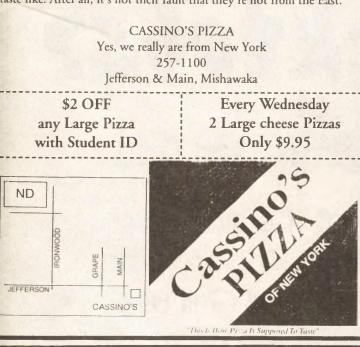

A horseback riding day is planned for Sunday. October 10. A bus will depart every hour from 10:30 until 2:30. The fee is $12 per person which includes transportation. Those interested should register in advance in the RecSports office by 5pm on Thursday. October 7. The maximum number per ride is 10. For more information, call RecSports at 631-6100.

The Women's Lacrosse team will have practice in front of Cushing this Sunday, Oct. 3 at 4pm. If you have any questions, call Emily Hage at 4-2856 or Michelle McQuillan at 4-2894.

Attention ND Students from the East Coast!

By now you have certainly found that what passes for Pizza in the Midwest is NOT the same as you get back home. The thought of 4 years of "Franchise Pizza" must be terrifying! But not to worry, you don't have to transfer to Syracuse. (Whew!)

CASSINO'S PIZZA of NEW YORK makes the only real pizza in town, along with calzones, strombolis, real Philadelphia Cheese Steaks, cold beer and hot & cold subs. Hey, do your Midwest roommates a favor and bring them along. Let them taste what Pizza is supposed to taste like! After all, it's not their fault that they're not from the East.

From your roommates, ASHLEY & CHELLY

Miss Mass?

Don't miss this Mass SOPHOMORES! With Father Miscamble presiding who would miss the Class Mass? October 3, 2:00 pm at the Grotto (if rain: Keenen-Stanford Chapel) Everyone will be at the Grotto on October 3rd. Don't be left out of the service. (Sponsored by the Sophomore Class Council) *Also, the Service Project is beginning, contact dorm service commissioners. Watch for more events sponsored by the Sophomore Council.

Potential Home Buyers

Rough sawn cedar exterior, 2750 sq. ft., one level, 4-year-old home on the St. Joseph River directly across from the ninth tee of Orchard Hills Country Club.

Prime location with quality living, boating, canoeing, kayaking and private tennis court.

$275,000 by Owner 616-695-5958 3000 White Oaks Lane Buchanan, Michigan

Open house every weekend 2pm- 5pm.

Friday, October 1, 1993

Belles even record at 4-4 with win over Hope College

By JENNIFER GUSTAFSON Saint Mary's Sports Editor

The Saint Mary's soccer team, 4-4, ended a frustrating 2-game losing streak yesterday by defeating Hope College, 3-2, in double overtime.

Both goalkeepers proved to be essential in the game, as sophomore Anne Kuehne had eight saves for the Belles, while Paulette Greenfield had 20 for the Flying Dutch. The Belles outshot the Flying Dutch 34-14. The Belles led 2-1 at halftime thanks to goals by sophomore Tina Brockman and freshman Brigid Keyes. Senior Jennifer Kaplan provided the assist for Keyes' goal.

Not to be outdone, the Flying Dutch, now 5-2-2, tied up the score halfway through the second half. This is how regulation play ended, forcing the first of two 15 minute overtimes.

The tie was broken in the second overtime when freshman Lisa Nichols scored what proved to be the game winning goal for the Belles. She was assisted by senior Megan Dalsaso.

Hope coach Stein Sletta was pleased with the way his team performed, but noted that the Belles were more aggressive in taking advantage of opportunities.

"Saint Mary's played a harder game than us," he said. "Both teams had chances, but they used their opportunities better and that's what makes a game.

Hope forward Monika Zwart was also impressed by the Belles, but pointed out that her team did not play up to it's abil-

"Saint Mary's was tough like we knew that they would be," she said. "However, we had trouble communicating in the first half and did not play like we normally do. We were missing a couple key players."

Belles' coach Tom Van Meter was equally impressed by Hope.

"They are a much improved team with a good record," he said. "They're not a fluke team.'

Although he was pleased with the win Van Meter did feel that his team played a little slowly.

"I'm glad to get back up to .500 and it was nice to see others score, but we played a little tired," he said. The Belles have been plagued with slow play in the second half and Van Meter pointed out that this showed again today.

We played lethargically and let them back into the game in the second half, but this time we came back," he said.

Van Meter feels that the come back was important emotionally for his team, who "could have let it get away." Still, he realizes that there is work to be done.

"We haven't turned a corner yet," he explained. "We just have to take it one game at a time.

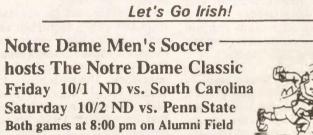

This season has taught Van Meter that the quality of opponents has improved greatly and no one can be taken for granted.

The team will take this philosophy into tomorrow's game against Depauw. Although Depauw has an unimpressive 4-5 record, they took regional leader Denison to overtime earlier in the season. Saint Mary's and Depauw have gone up against many of the same schools, and Van Meter pointed out that these games have produced near identical results.

The game will be at 2:00 on the field behind Angela Athletic Facility.

The Observer/Brian McDonough The Saint Mary's soccer team evened their record at 4-4 with vesterdays win over Hope College.

FREE Admission with Blue and Gold Card #18 Notre Dame Women's Tennis hosts the Eck Classic

This Weekend in Notre Dame Sports

10/1 & 2 Start time: 10:00 amAll Day Courtney Courts/Eck Pavilion

Notre Dame Cross Country hosts the Notre Dame Invitational Friday 10/1 Women 4:15 Men 5:00 Burke Memorial Golf Course

~~~~~~

Rocktobe? The Works Bar and Grill

WAOR and The Works Bar and Grill

Present:

Party at The Works!! TONIGHT, October 1, The Works Bar and Grill and rith Frith Frith Must be 21 to enter. The Works Bar and Grilf 501 N. Niles Ave. 237. WAOR host the party of celebrate Rocktober with

|   | MOWER THEM Thurma                               | 1.6                                                         | 53 Skin 62 Junior                                          | Veal Parmesan            | Beef and Broccoli Stir Fry |
|---|-------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------|----------------------------|
| A | DOREE SHAMBLESENNSYLVANIAAVEuniversi    | 1 101115                                                    | Get answers to any three clues                             | Baked Pollack Jardiniere | Vegetable Lo Mein          |
| 0 | LESEVENTSKEW22 Out of cEYDINKYTENN25 Grew ratio | langer 38 Half of CVIpidly 41 Coal holder | by touch-tone phone: 1-900-420-5656 (75¢ each minute). |                          | Citrus Chicken             |

"SLIVER" FRI. AND SAT. 8PM AND 10:30PM CUSHING AUDITORIUM ADMISSION $2 ROBERT KENNEDY JR. THURSDAY OCT.7

$3 STEPAN

"Our Environmental Destiny"

Tickets Available at the LaFortune Info Desk

لوالا الاخرافي الاخراف الاخراف الدائر الدائر الدائر الدائر المائر ال

SPORTS

Women's soccer puts rank, record to test in California

By BRYAN CONNOLLY Assistant Sports Editor

The 9-0 Notre Dame women's soccer team will attempt to extend its winning streak to sixteen games this weekend when it travels to Stanford University to face off with the Cardinal and the Gaels of St.

Friday, October 1, 1993

Mary's College in California. The Irish, who were 1-5-1 against ranked teams last year, are 3-0 against top 20 teams this season and hope to remain unbeaten after their bout with ninth ranked Stanford.

The 7-1 Cardinal defeated Notre Dame 3-0 in last year's match-up. Although the score was decisive, the playing of the game was much more even. Stanford, which was ranked second at the time, scored two goals in the first ten minutes of the game. The Irish settled down but were unable to recover

The Cardinal can rely on a significant size advantage and the strength of their defense. They also have two very dangerous forwards. The Irish will have to rely on their speed in order to be successful.

"We're going to have to keep the ball on the ground and run past them," said Notre Dame head coach Chris Petrucelli.

"I think our offense can definitely score on them," said freshman Irish goalkeeper Jen Renola. "It's going to come down to how our defense handles their forwards. I feel confident."

"We're definitely confident," Petrucelli said. "We don't feel any of the pressure of being a favorite."

The Irish will wrap up the weekend on Sunday against St. Mary's College. The Gaels are typically a border-line top 20 team, according to Petrucelli. They are led by a potential All-American forward. It will be the first time these teams have met.

"It will be interesting to see how we react after we play Stanford," said Petrucelli. The Irish hope to regain their form of last weekend in time for the Stanford matchup. After rolling over sixth ranked N. C. State and Southern Methodist, the squad faltered against a 2-6 Wright State team.

Rosella Guerrero makes a sort of homecoming this weekend when the women's soccer team travels to California to face ninth ranked Stanford and Saint Mary's of California.

Volleyball makes light weekend trip

By TIMOTHY SEYMOUR Sports Writer

page 24

In continuing its search for consistency, the No. 14 Notre Dame volleyball team faces two different tasks as it goes on the road this weekend, travelling to Ball State tonight and onto Western Michigan Saturday night.

These two opponents mark the beginning of one of the longest stretches in the Irish schedule, as the team faces a series of lightly regarded, nonconference opponents that will test the squad's powers of motiDebbie Brown, whose team now stands 11-3. "They are a strong program that has experience

The Cardinals are led by outside hitter Sharon Knecht, whose 92 kills and 78 digs are both team highs. Cassy Herode is the most effective player from the middle-blocker position, with a .270 percentage and 1.44 blocks per game. Tiffany Stevens runs the offense from her setter position, accumulating 226 assists thus far this season.

Despite the talent, Brown did sense some weaknesses in the Cardinal armor. "Their setter is only 5'3", so we should be able to hit over her," she noted. 'Also, while their middle-blockers are tall, they have trouble moving laterally, so if we spread them out, we should be able to attack."

"We really concentrated on our passing, because we have to get the percentage of good passes up," she explained. "Defensively, we feel pretty confident with where we are."

Against Western Michigan, the Irish will face an even greater motivational test, as the Broncos have struggled to a 2-8 record and should not seriously challenge in the match.

Despite the disparity between the teams, Brown remained cautious. "They have a lot of good athletes, but their program is in disarray because of a coaching change at mid-sea-

Ranked teams will test men's soccer in its own tourney

By MIKE NORBUT Sports Writer

The eyes of the soccer world will be glued to Alumni Field this weekend, as the Irish men's soccer team will host the Notre Bill Dame Classic, featuring No. 3 Indiana, No. 12 Penn State, and No. 14 South Carolina.

need to duplicate this near flawless performance this weekend to pull out victories over some of the premier soccer programs in the nation.

see SOCCER / page 21

"We have to shut down their ability to score goals." said Irish head coach Mike Berticelli, who watched his defensemen and midfielders physically control DePaul's front line Tuesday night. "We're capable of scoring as much as anyone vation.

Against Ball State, the Irish will find a team that doesn't carry the name of a powerhouse but is still regarded as a dangerous adversary in the region. Also, the Cardinals will be looking for an upset, as the Irish are the team to beat in the Midwest region.

"Ball State is a program that has continued to improve, and in fact won a bid to the NCAA tournament last year, losing to UCLA," stated Irish head coach

In order to scatter the Cardinal net players, the Irish will need better passing than they exhibited against DePaul earlier in the week. This has been a priority in practice according to Brown.

son," she stated.

The main challenge for the Irish this weekend will be to keep their focus against lesstalented opponents, and to sustain the pressure of being the team to beat each night on the court.

"It's a new feeling for the team to no longer be the underdog, so I'm not sure how they'll respond," commented Brown. "However, it should serve as added confidence."

Notre Dame, 5-3 on the season, is coming off a 7-0 trouncing of DePaul University Tuesday night. Sophomore Bill Lanza led the team with a record breaking five goals in the match.

The Irish pounded the Blue Demons, allowing them just four shots all game while tallying 27 of their own. They will

South Carolina, Notre Dame's first opponent, will enter tour nament play with a 6-2 record, their last victory coming Tuesday night on their home field, The Graveyard, an 8-0 victory over The Citadel.

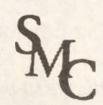

The Gamecocks hold a 1-0 series record against the Irish, their 2-0 victory in 1991 being the only recorded game

see MEN / page 21

Cross Country Sarah Riley and Irish hope for a strong showing today at the Notre Dame Invitational.

see page 20

Inside SPORTS

SMC Soccer The Belles evened their record at 4-4 with a double overtime victory over Hope College.

CERHA MENS

P.W. drops Lewis to remain undefeated, while Badin hopes to do the same against Lyons.

see page 16

The Observer • SPORTS EXTRA

Friday, October 1, 1993

HARDINA

page 2

on a scale of 1 to 5

QUARTERBACKS

Stenstrom is looking like a star in Bill Walsh's offense.

RUNNING BACKS

Weak link in Stanford's otherwise powerful offense.

RECEIVERS

Armour and Cline have shined early in the season.

Talented line will make it a battle for Irish D-Line.

Weak front line is the first step in Stanford's weak defense.

LINEBACKERS

Insided linebackers adequate, but outside is very weak.

Garnett is Stanford's leading tackler and Vaughn Bryant continues to shine.

SPECIAL TEAMS

Diverse Stanford offense presents problems

By JONATHAN JENSEN Associate Sports Editor

The most interesting match-up in this weekend's game may be between Stanford's red-hot signal caller and the experienced Notre Dame secondary.

Stanford Cardinal quarterback Steve Offense Stenstrom has VS. been perhaps the Notre Dame hottest quarter-Defense back in college football the past three weeks, while the Irish deep four of seniors Jeff Burris, John Covington, Greg Lane, and sophomore Bobby Taylor has been nearly impenetrable in the Irish's four wins.

All Stenstrom has done is produce three-straight games with 300 or more yards passing, leading the Cardinal to wins over San Jose State and Colorado, before last week's 28-25 loss to UCLA

In the Cardinal's 31-28 come-frombehind win over San Jose State on September 11th, Stenstrom completed 30 of 39 passes for 330 yards and four touchdowns, including the game-winner, a 14-yarder to David Shaw with 1:43 left.

The next week in Stanford's 41-37 upset of the Buffaloes, Stenstrom shredded the Colorado defense, going 32-46 for 410 yards and five touchdowns, the last being a fiveyarder to Tony Cline with just eight seconds left on the clock.

Last week, Stenstrom went 22-34 for 314 yards and three TD's in the losing cause.

These three big games the last three weeks for Stenstrom add up to one major problem for Irish coach Lou Holtz and the Notre Dame defense.

"With them you see a very sophisticated offense," said Holtz, who knows the potency of the Cardinal offense. In Holtz's two losses to Stanford, the Cardinal has scored 35

Steve Stenstrom is blossoming in Bill Walsh's system.

"Stenstrom may be the best guarterback in the nation, this is his third year as a starter and his fourth year in the program with this offense," added Holtz.

is 2-2 is the lack of a powerful running game. Last year Stanford had gamebreaker Glyn Milburn, who burned the Irish for 119 rushing yards. Milburn has since moved on to the NFL, and the Irish defense will line up against halfback Ellery Roberts and fullback Ethan Allen. Roberts has only rushed for 201 yards on 55 yards.

Still, the Irish will have to eliminate the Cardinal short passing game, which features the passcatching abilities of Roberts and Allen out of the backfield.

"Both Roberts and Allen catch the ball very well out of the backfield," said Holtz, "They mix it up really well and cause problems for the defense

Stenstrom's favorite target is split end Justin Armour, a junior who the Irish recruited heavily coming out of high school.

Armour has caught 30 balls this season for 417 yards (13.9 average), including a 10-catch, 155-yard performance in the Colorado upset.

"We may not face a smarter receiver all year than Justin Armour," noted Holtz, "He makes adjustments to coverages very well."

Another top performer for the Cardinal is tight end Tony Cline.Cline also had a big game against the Buffaloes, with 11 receptions for 120 yards.

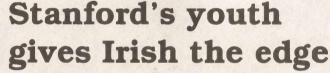

So the obvious key for the Notre Dame defense tomorrow will be to control Stenstrom and the highlyefficient, Bill Walsh-coached short passing game. To do this the Irish will have to shut down a lackluster Cardinal running game, while linebackers and new starters Jeremy Nau and Jeremy Sample will have to help the secondary.

"They're really capable of coming after you," said Walsh of the Irish defense, "We'll have to really be physical if we want to block them."

Despite this praise, Walsh, as always, is confident.

"We know we can play with Notre Dame, since our running and passing games are wide-open," said Walsh. "We'll be out there winging it and coming after them.'

By BRIAN KUBICKI Associate Sports Editor

Francisco.

corner

Having lost both outside linebackers, Ron George

and Dave Garnett,

Stanford's defense was the second ranked defense in the nation last year when they played the Irish. This year they'd be lucky to have the second best defense in San

Purdue may have been a better indication of the Irish's normal performance Although Holtz says that Stanford has a solid defensive football team, it is mostly his offense, not Stanford's defense, that con-

Photo courtesy of Stanford Sports Information Junior linebacker Coy Gibbs leads a youthful Cardinal

on a scale of 1 to 5

QUARTERBACKS

McDougal and Failla looked weak against Purdue.

RUNNING BACKS

The talent is there but they are still looking for consistency.

RECEIVERS

Deep, experienced and sure-handed. Holtz coudln't ask for more from his receivers.

O-LINE

Zeigler and Lyell are improving to add depth.

Pass rush still needs work, but its an intimidating group.

LINEBACKERS

Bercich is out and Peterson will be rusty after his injury.

SECONDARY

Possibly Notre Dame's greatest strength, they continue to improve each week.

SPECIAL TEAMS

McDougal. Against Michigan State, the running game appeared to come of age. But last week's game against and 33 points.

Notre Dame Offense

However, the reason the Cardinal

Abrams is an outstanding kicker and the returners are solid.

COACHING

Walsh is a genius as his college and pro record indicates.

FINAL SCORE

Strong offense and coaching overcomes a weak defense.

Darrien Gordon, and free safety John Lynch, who caused a fumble and picked off a pass against the Irish last season, Stanford has struggled on defense.

back

The Cardinal has given up 31 points per game and 516.8 yards per game this season. They aren't strong against either the run or pass, as their opponents have capitalized for an average of 265.3 yards rushing and 251.5 passing. But the offense they face this week is not as prolific Washington's or as Colorado's. Notre Dame has had some bright spots on offense this season, but they have yet to get on track.

The win against Michigan was spurred by an outstanding individual performance from Kevin cerns him.

Stanford

Defense

"I have some concerns about our ability to move the football," he said.

Those concerns stem mostly from Notre Dame's inability to run the option. Without McDougal's 43yard touchdown run against Michigan, the Irish option attack has been completely unproductive.

"I wish we could (run the option). It presents a lot of problems for the defense,' Holtz said. "If we can get the ball out on the perimeter, it opens things up in the middle."

The middle could be the strongest part of Stanford's 3-4 defensive formation. Coy Gibbs and Toby Norwood return to start at the middle linebacker spots for the Cardinal. They are the second and defense.

third leading tacklers on the team.

The fact that the linebackers are not one and two in tackles but the free safety is instead, is suggestive of the state of Stanford's defense. Kevin Garnett is the team tackling leader, but unless he is a great athlete, that means opposing backs are getting into the secondary and their receivers are catching medium to deep range passes.

Those problems could be the result of inexperience. The Cardinal starts two freshmen, Brian Batson and Nick Watts, at the outside linebacker spots and another one, Eliel Swinton, at corner back. Joining Swinton in the secondary is sophomore David Walker at strong safety.

This youth is not enough to convince Holtz that Stanford's defense is average at best. "We have trouble when people line up and play us in man coverage like Stanford does or Purdue did," the coach said. "If people drop back and play us zone, we can throw the ball."

With all these problems on offense, what exactly does Holtz think he will do against Stanford? "We ran the trap with Ray Zellars (against Purdue), and I thought that looked good." Chances are, however, that will not be the only successful play for the Irish against Stanford's defense.

Sloppy conditions made for some sloppy play last week, but much improvement needed.

COACHING

This is personal to Holtz after an admitted poor performance a week ago.

FINAL SCORE

Notre Dame is superior on paper and they should prove it on the field on Saturday.

Unknown Cline is Stanford's surprise threat

By SWAMINATHA GURUDEVAN Stanford Daily

With twelve seconds left in the game, Stanford trails by three points. It's third down and goal from the Colorado seven-yard line. Stenstrom drops back, fires over the middle, and hits Cline for the game-winning touchdown! Wait a minute, he hit Cline for a touchdown? Who is this guy?

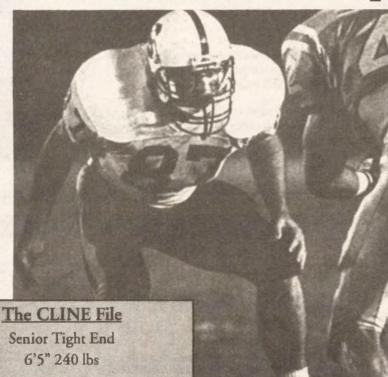

Despite his lack of notoriety, senior tight end Tony Cline has become a valuable receiving threat for the Cardinal this season. Prior to the 1993 campaign, Cline had only nine career receptions for 70 yards in three full seasons, being used primarily as a blocker and a backup tight end.

However, Stanford's 41-37 come-from-behind victory over Colorado last Saturday could have been renamed the Tony Cline show. In the contest, Cline caught 11 pivotal passes for 120 yards and a touchdown.

The 11 receptions against the Buffaloes tied him for 12th place on Stanford's single-game reception list with four other

1993 STATS:

Has caught 20 passes for 236 yards this season, including the controversial game winner against Colorado.

Dame in 1989.

players, and were the most receptions by a single Cardinal receiver since tight end Jim

Price caught 14 passes from

Steve Smith against Notre great win for us, because it re-

'(The Colorado game) was a ally brings (the team) together," Cline said. "It compares to the Notre Dame game last year-it gives us confidence that we can come from behind and win in the end."

Cline's play has impressed Stanford coach Bill Walsh. "he's improved dramatically from a year ago," Walsh said. "This last spring practice he began to catch the ball very well, and his confidence has really improved."

Cline partly attributes his recent success to the fact that the opposition has played loose pass defense against the Cardinal receivers in the first two games, allowing him to get open.

"(Colorado ran) a zone where they dropped their linebackers really deep-it really gives you the opportunity to exploit the middle," Cline said. "As a tight end, you can sit down i the middle of a zone and be open."

Cline said successfully filled the void in the Cardinal offense created by tight end Ryan Wetnight's graduation after last season.

This season, Cline has 18 receptions for 218 yards and a touchdown. He ranks fourth in the Pacific 10 conference and 22nd in the nation with six receptions per game. Also, his 72.3 yards per game places eighth in the Pac-10.

Cline stressed that the Cardinal needs to run the ball better in order to have continued aerial success. "We really need to get our running game going to be a complete offense," Cline said, "As soon as we get our running game going, our passing game will be that much more effective."

And Cline will be over the middle, just waiting to catch the ball.

Others To Watch

STEVE STENSTROM Honorable mention All-Pac 10 QB a year ago, guiding Stanford to a 10-3 mark.

JUSTIN ARMOUR Caught 36 passes for 626 yards from his tight end spot as a sophomore.

KEVIN GARNETT Stanford's leading tackler this season with 46 total stops.

| TOPPINGS      | PIZZAS1-Topping                    | 12" MEDIUM5.95           | 15" X-LARGE6.95             | CRUST                           |
|---------------|----------------------------------------|------------------------------|---------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| ONIONS        | 2-Toppings                             | 6.95                         | 7.95                            | STYLES                          |
| GREEN PEPPER  |                                        | ppings Available - $1       | .00 each                        |                                 |
| PEPPERONI     | GET A 2nd PIZZA (SAM                   | E SIZE) FOR ONLY             | Y $4.00 MORE!!!!!              | THIN                            |
| НАМ           |                                        |                              | 15" X-LARGE                     |                                 |
| MUSHROOMS     | SPECIALTY PIZZAS                       | 12" MEDIUM7.95           | 15 X-LANGE8.95              | HAND                            |
| BLACK OLIVES  | VeggieMeatzza                      | 7.95                         | 8.95                            | TOSSE                           |
| VZZId CHEDDAR | Bacon Cheeseburger                     | 7.95                         | 8.95                            |                                 |
| CHEESE CHEESE | Hawaiian                               | 6.95                         | 8.95                            | PAN                             |
| HOT PEPPERS   | Deluxe                                 | 7.95                         | 7.95                            | PAN                             |
| BACON         | PARTY PACK*                            | 11.99                        | 13.95                           | HOURS:Sun-Thur 11am to Midn |
| PINEAPPLE     | *PARTY PACK includes2 PIZZAS (1-Toppin | ng) + 1 TWISTY BREAD W/SAUCE | + 1 COKE or DIET COKE (2-Liter) | Fri & Sat 11am to 2 ar          |

The Observer • SPORTS EXTRA

Friday, October 1, 1993

CARDINAL

| CARDINALOFFENSE   | TET     | Tony ClineJeff Bailey | Sr.Sr. |                  |
|-----------------------|---------|---------------------------|------------|------------------|
|                       | GQB | Jeff Buckey               | So.        |                  |
|                       | QB      | Steve Stenstrom           | Sr.        |                  |
| States and the second | C       | Glen Cavanaugh            | Sr.        |                  |
|                       | G       | Mike Jerich               | Sr.        |                  |
|                       | T       | Seth Dittman              | Sr.        | and and fail and |
|                       | FL      | David Shaw                | Sr.        |                  |
|                       | SE      | Justin Armour             | Jr.        |                  |
|                       | RB      | Ethan Allen               | Sr.        | CALL NO. 1 THE C |
|                       | TB      | Ellery Roberts            | Sr.        |                  |
|                       |         |                           |            |                  |

Vickers

2

3

0

0

Bill Walsh

Fourth season at Stanford.

Career Records: Overall at Stanford 29-12; vs. Notre Dame, 1-0.

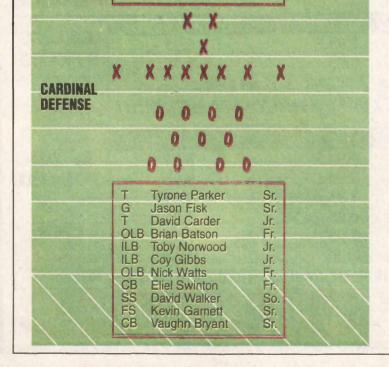

Previous Coaching Experience: head coach at Stanford (2 years before last season's return, 1977-78); head coach of NFL's San Francisco 49ers.

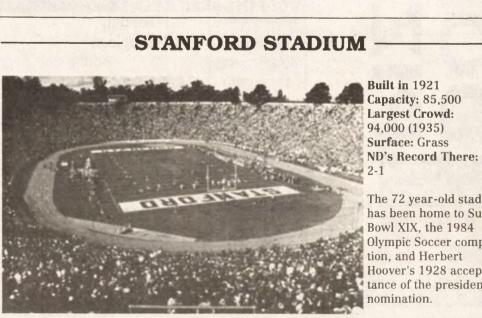

Career Highlights: Has a bowl win in each of his three collegiate coaching seasons; led the 49ers to three Super Bowl wins; 1992 team finished 10-3 and in the top ten of the polls.

1993 Statistics

| RUSH                         | ING                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | North St    | ALC: NO            |             | STATISTICS.     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | ALL-I                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | PIIRP                    | OSE              | -           |                         | 1000                  |                 |
|------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|--------------------|-------------|-----------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------|------------------|-------------|-------------------------|-----------------------|-----------------|
|                              | YDS/GM                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | N           | O YDS              |             | AVG             | TD                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | ORI                      | OOL              | 1994        |                         |                       |                 |
| Roberts                      | 45.5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 5           | 5 182              |             | 3.3             | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                          |                  |             |                         |                       |                 |
| Prost                        | 17.7                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |             | 6 53               |             | 8.8             | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 14 - 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | RUSH                     |                  | RET         | TOT                     | AVG                   | 242.14          |
| MitchellAllen            | 11.511.3                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 1:          |                    |             | 3.83.5      | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Mitchell                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 46                       |                  | 319         | 444                     | 111.0                 | 1.54            |
| Comeila                      | 3.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |             | 4 12               |             | 3.0             | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | ArmourRoberts                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 182                      |                  | 0           | 417308              | 104.377.0         | 21.1            |
| PASSI                        | NC                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 1000        | Contraction of the | Children of | No. of Lot, No. | Contractor in the                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Cline                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | (                        |                  | Ő           | 236                     | 59.0                  |                 |
| PASSI                        | ING                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |             |                    |             | A AF A P        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Allen                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 45                       |                  | 0           | 160                     | 40.0                  |                 |
|                              | COMP                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | ATT P       | CT YDS             |             |                 | LG                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Manning                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 1                        |                  | 0           | 142                     | 35.5                  | 19.7            |
| Stenstrom                    | 99                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |             | 7.3 1216           |             | 13 5            | 51                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | ShawComeila                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 10                       |                  | 096     | 132118              | 33.029.5          | 124             |
| Frost                        | 6                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |             | 5.0 76             |             | 0 0             | 19                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Pruitt                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 14                       |                  | 54          | 60                      | 15.0                  |                 |
| RECE                         | TUTN                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | C           |                    | -           | Constanting of  | and the second second                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                          |                  |             |                         |                       | 17 - 14         |
| RECE                         | I V IIN                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | G           |                    |             |                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | SCOT                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | INC                      | STIMA            |             | 7                       | Concession of the     | -               |
|                              | NO                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | YDS         |                    |             | TD              | LG                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | SCOP                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | ang                      | SUMM             | AR          | ľ                       |                       | 2.4             |
| Armour                       | 30                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 41          |                    |             | 5               | 48                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                          | 1.1.1.2.1.1      |             |                         | 111                   | 1.1.1           |
| ClineRoberts             | 2016                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 23          |                    |             | 1               | 2729                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 1                        | 2                | 3           | 4                       | Т                     | 1.2             |
| Allen                        | 14                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 11          |                    |             | 2               | 19                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | OpponentsStanford                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 1914                 | 3842         | 4116    | 2639                | 124                   | 12.1            |
| Manning                      | 7                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 14          |                    |             | 2               | 37                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Stanioru                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 14                       | 42               | 10          | 39                      |                       | (Add            |
| Shaw                         | 6                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 12          | 2 20.3             |             | 2               | 51                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                          | A.C. M.          | 1. 1        |                         | 1.                    | din.            |
| FIELD                        | GOA                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | LS          | Contraction of     |             |                 | 1.2 ( D.)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 12.12                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Not a start              | SCOF             | RINC        |                         |                       |                 |
| A CONTRACTOR OF THE OWNER OF |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |             |                    |             | 1               | 993 S1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | ANFORD                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                          | 100 100          | 1414        | -PAT-                   |                       |                 |
|                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 0-49        | 50+ LG             |             |                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                          | Armour           | TD          | 2pt 1pt                 |                       | TS              |
| Abrams                       | 1-2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 1-2         | 0-0 42             |             | SCHE            | DULE /                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | AND RES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | JLTS                     | ArmourAbrams | 5           | 0 0 0 13                | 0 2                   | 3019        |
|                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |             |                    |             |                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                          | Roberts          | 3           | 0 0                     | 0                     | 18              |
|                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |             |                    | 9           | Sept. 4         | at Washin                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | naton                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 14-31                    | Manning          | 2           | 0 0                     | 0                     | 12              |
| PUNTI                        | NG                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | ALL PARTY   | 10-11-5            |             | Sept. 11        | SANJOS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 31-28                    | Shaw             | 2           | 0 0                     | 0                     | 12              |
|                              | And in case of the local division of the loc |             |                    |             |                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 10 M 10 M                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                          | Cline            | 1           | 1 0                     | 0                     | 8               |
|                              | NO                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | AVG         | LG                 |             | Sept. 18        | COLOBA                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 41-37                    | Allen            | 1           | 0 0                     | 0                     | 6               |
| Mills                        | 22                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 40.2        | 50                 | 1 5         | Sept. 25        | UCLA 🚍                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 1 A A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 25-28                    | KICK             | OFF         | PFT                     | TURM                  | NG              |
|                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | and the set | 2112832            | (           | Dct. 2          | NOTRE                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | AME                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 12:30                    | INICIA           |             | the state of the second | and the second second |                 |
| INTER                        | CEP'                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | TIOI        | VS                 |             | Dct. 16         | at Arizon                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 3                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | 1:00                     | Mitchell         | NO13    | AVG24.5             | TD0        | LG38 |
|                              | CL1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 1101        | 10                 |             | Oct. 23         | ARIZONA                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 1:00                     | Comeila          | 4           | 24.5                    | 0                     | 47              |
|                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |             |                    |             | Oct. 30         | OBEGON                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 1:05                     |                  |             |                         |                       | -               |
|                              | NO                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | YDS         | TD LG              |             |                 | and the second se | and the second se |                          | PUNT      | ' RE        | TURI                    | NS                    |                 |
| Bryant                       | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 27          | 0 27               |             | lov. 6          | at Southe                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | and the second se | 1:00                     |                  | NO          | AVG                     | TD                    | LG              |
| Knacht                       | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 14          | 0 14               |             | lov. 13         | at Oregon                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 1:00                     | Pruitt           | 6           | 9.0                     | 0                     | 21              |
| Gamett                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 0           | 0 0                | 1           | lov. 20         | CALIFOR                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | NIA                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 1:00                     | Grenardo         | 2           | 1.5                     | Ö                     | 3               |
|                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |             |                    |             |                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                          |                  |             |                         |                       |                 |
|                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |             |                    |             |                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                          |                  |             |                         |                       | 1               |
| 1                            | 1. 1.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |             |                    |             |                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 1.12                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                          |                  |             | 1. C                    | 1. 1. 1.              |                 |
| DEFE                         | NSE                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |             |                    |             |                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | TEAM                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | I STA                    | TISTIC           | CS          |                         |                       |                 |
|                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |             | 1111111            |             | -101            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                          |                  |             |                         |                       |                 |
| Comet                        | T                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | A           |                    | PBU         | SAC             | FR                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                          |                  | 5           | U                       | OPP                   |                 |
| GarnettGibbs             | 3118                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 1520    | 4638           | 1           | 0               | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | First Downs                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                          |                  |             | 78                      | 47                    | 45              |
| Norwood                      | 18                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 18          | 36                 | 1           | 0               | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | by rushir                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | na                       |                  |             | 18                      | 62                    |                 |
| Sims                         | 13                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 13          | 26                 | o           | 0               | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | by passi                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                          |                  |             | 57                      | 36                    |                 |
| Fisk                         | 13                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 13          | 26                 | 0           | 0               | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | by penal                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | ty                       |                  |             | 3                       | 4                     |                 |
| Walker                       | 17                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 7           | 24                 | 0           | 0               | 2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Total yardage                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                          |                  | 15          |                         | 2067                  |                 |
| BryantCarder             | 11                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 7           | 18                 | 6           | 0               | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Offensiv                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                          |                  |             | 72                      | 328                   |                 |
| CarderHatzenbuhler       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 125     | 1615           | 0           | 0               | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | ds per playds / game |                  | 384         | .7                      | 6.3516.8          |                 |
| Batson                       | 8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 6           | 15                 | 0           | 0               | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Rushing yard                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                          |                  |             | 47                      | 1061                  |                 |
| Ellis                        | 7                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 7           | 14                 | 0           | 0               | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Rushing                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |                          |                  |             | 16                      | 211                   |                 |
| Swinton                      | 12                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 1           | 13                 | 1           | 0               | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | yards / gam              | 0                | 61          |                         | 265.3                 |                 |
| Knecht                       | 2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 9           | 11                 | 1           | 0               | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Passing yard                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                          |                  | 129         |                         | 1006                  |                 |
| Parker                       | 5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 6           | 11                 | 0           | 0               | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | completed                |                  |             | 05                      | 65                    | S. r.           |
| Watts                        | 7                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 2           | 9                  | 1           | 1               | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | attempted                |                  | 1!          | 56                      | 117                   |                 |
| Hebert                       | 5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 4           | 9                  | 0           | 0               | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | ntercepted               | - 3 - 1 - 1      |             | 5                       | 3                     |                 |
| Swanson                      | 5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 4           | 9                  | 1           | 0               | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | yards / gam              | 0                | 323         |                         | 251.5                 |                 |
| DavisStrand              | 65                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 1           | 76             | 1           | 0               | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Fumbles - fur                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                          |                  | 7 - 20 - 12 |                         | 13-6                  |                 |
| Wright                       | 3                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 2           | 5                  | 0           | 0               | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | Penalties - pe3rd down cor                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                          |                  | 20 - 1      |                         | 24 - 23132-59     |                 |
| Grable                       | 3                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 2           | 5                  | 0           | 0               | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | percenta                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                          |                  | 45          |                         | 54.2                  | 13              |
| White                        | 2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 2           | 4                  | 0           | õ               | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                          |                  |             | 1                       |                       |                 |
| Phillips                     | 3                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 1           | 4                  | 0           | 1               | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                          |                  |             |                         |                       |                 |

0

The 72 year-old stadium has been home to Super Olympic Soccer competi-Hoover's 1928 acceptance of the presidential

Lou Holtz

Eighth season at Notre Dame.

Records at Notre Dame: Overall 70-18-1; at Home 35-7-1; on the Road 35-11-0; in Bowl Games 4-2-0.

Career Records: Overall 186-83-6; in Bowl Games 9-6-2; vs. Stanford 3-2 -0.

Previous Head Coaching Experience: William & Mary (3 seasons), North Carolina (4 seasons), Arkansas (7 seasons), Minnesota (2 seasons).

Career Highlights: No. 3 ranking with 1977 Arkansas team; Led Notre Dame to 1988 National Championship; Upset No. 3 ranked Florida in 1992 Sugar Bowl. Topped No. 3 Michigan this year.

1993 Statistics -

|                |               |             |           |                    |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | JUCCUL                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | UIC         |                              |        |        |           |      |
|----------------|---------------|-------------|-----------|--------------------|-----------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|------------------------------|--------|--------|-----------|------|
| RUSI           | HING          | ì           |           |                    |           | CALCED ST                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | ALL-F                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | PURP        | OSE                          | 15     | 1.22   | the store | 100  |
| 2              | YDS/GI        | MN          | IO Y      | DS A               | AVG       | TD                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | LG                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | RL          | ISH REC                      | RET    | TOT    | AVG       | à    |
| Becton         | 70.           |             |           | 210                | 4.9       | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 40                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Becton                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |             | 210 45                       | 0      | 255    | 85.0      | )    |
| Zellars        | 49.           |             |           | 197                | 4.6       | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 23                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Miller                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |             | 0 145                        | 187    | 332    | 83.0      | )    |
| Kinder         | 46.           |             |           | 86                 | 5.0       | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 33                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Zellars                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |             | 197 23                       | 0      | 220    | 55.0      |      |
| McDougal       | 15.           |             |           | 61                 | 2.9       | 2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 43                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Kinder                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |             | 186 0                        | 0      | 186    | 46.5      |      |
| Farmer         | 11.           |             |           | 34                 | 3.1       | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 7                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | C. Johnson                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |             | 0 90                         | 53     | 143    | 35.8      |      |
| Clark          | 10.           | 0           | 12        | 40                 | 3.3       | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 8                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Mayes                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |             | 0 134                        | 0      | 134    | 33.5      |      |
| PASS           | INC           |             | 12.00     | Sec. 1             | 1.5       | 17 3 THE P.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Dawson                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |             | 8 82                         | 0      | 90     | 22.5      |      |
| TASS           | ING           | ner kuns    |           |                    |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | McDougal                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |             | 61 0                         | 0      | 61     | 15.2      |      |
|                | RATING        | COMP        | ATT       | PCT Y              | (00       | TD INT                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Clark                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |             | 40 8                         | 0      | 48     | 12.0      |      |
| McDougal       | 143.9         | 38          | 61        |                    | DS        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | LG                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Farmer                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |             | 34 0                         | 0      | 34     | 11.3      |      |
| Failla         | 143.9         | 5           |           | 62.383.3       | 56228 | 2 2 0 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 50                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Chryplewich                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |             | 0 34                         | 0      | 34     | 8.5       |      |
|                |               |             | 0         | 83.3               | 28        | 0 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 11                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Lytle                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |             | 19 08 0                  | 06     | 19     | 4.6       |      |
| RECI           | EIVI          | NG          |           |                    |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | DavisStafford                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |             | 8 00 12                  | 0      | 14     | 4.7       |      |
|                | N             |             | YDS       | AVG                |           | TD                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | LG                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | the second second                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | INC         | SUMM                         |        |        | 1         |      |
| Miller         |               | 8           | 145       | 18.1               |           | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 50                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | SCOR                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | ind         | SUMIN                        |        |        | 18 A.M.   |      |
| Mayes          |               | 8           | 134       | 16.7               |           | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 42                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 1           | 2                            | 3      | 4      | 1         | -    |
| Zellars        |               | 6           | 23        | 3.8                |           | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 16                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Notre Dame                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 17          | 30                           | 33     | 27     | 107       |      |
| Dawson         |               | 5           | 82        | 16.4               |           | Ó                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 32                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Opponents                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 10          | 13                           | 6      | 20     | 49        |      |
| Becton         |               | 5           | 45        | 9.0                |           | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 12                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | opponents                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 10          | 10                           | 0      | 20     | 49        |      |
| C. Johnson     |               | 4           | 90        | 22.5               |           | o                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 43                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |             |                              |        |        |           |      |
| FIEL           |               | DAL         |           | Chernel and        |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 11 1 31     | SCOF                         | RINC   | 1      | 13.57     |      |
| FIEL           | DG            | UAL         | 3         | $a \sim M_{\odot}$ |           | 199                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 3 NO                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | TRE DAM                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | F           | 0001                         | TD     | 2pt 1p | t FG I    | PTS  |
|                | 17-3          | 39 40-      | 49 50     | + LG               |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |             | Pendergast                   | 0      | 0 1    |           | 35   |
| Pendergas      |               |             | 0-0 0-    |                    |           | SCHED                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | DULE                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | AND RESU                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | LTS         | McDougal                     | 2      | 0      | 0 0       | 12   |
|                | 100 million   |             |           |                    |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |             | Zellars                      | 2      | 0      | 0 0       | 12   |
|                |               |             |           |                    | 1         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Colling and                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |             | Edwards                      | 2      | 0      | 0 0       | 12   |
|                |               |             |           |                    | 1.5       | Sept. 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | NORTH                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | WESTERN                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 27-12       | Becton                       | 1      | 0 1    | 0 0       | 6    |
| PUNT           | TING          | 1           |           |                    |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | and the                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |             | Miller                       | 1      | 0 (    | 0 0       | 6    |
| I OIVI         |               | a deserve a |           |                    | ц.,       | Sept. 11                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | at Mich                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | igan                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 27-23       | Farmer                       | 1      | 0 (    | 0 0       | 6    |
|                | N             | 0           | AVG       | LG                 |           | Sept. 18                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | MICH                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | GAN STATE                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 36-14       | Burris                       | 1      | 0 (    | 0 0       | 6    |
| Leonard        | 1             | 16          | 40.2      | 55                 |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | at Purd                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |             | THE                          | 0.00   |        |           | NO   |
| Jarrel         | gill offender | den anin    | 39.0      | - 33               |           | Sept 25                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2 4                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | a series and a series of the s | 17-0        | KICK                         | OF1    | C RE   | TURI      | NS   |
| August parties | 196 164       | and the     |           |                    |           | Oct. 2                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | at Stan                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 2:30        | 2.200                        | NO     | AVG    | TD        | LG   |
| INTE           | RCE           | PTI         | ON | S                  | 1.0       | Oct. 9                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | PITTSE                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | BURGH                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 12:35       | C. Johnson                   | 1      | 53.0   | 0         | 53   |
|                |               |             |           |                    |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | and the second sec | A REAL PROPERTY AND A REAL |             | Miller                       | 4      | 16.3   | 0         | 20   |
|                |               |             |           |                    | 1.0       | Oct. 16                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | nam Young                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | TBA         | Davis                        | 1      | 6.0    | 0         | 6    |
|                |               | O YI        | DS TI     | D LG               |           | Oct. 23                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | SOUTH                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | EBN CAL                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 12:35       |                              |        |        |           | 0    |
| Burris         | N             |             |           | 0 43               |           | Oct. 30                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | at Navy                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 12:00       |   PUNT                | `RE    | TUR    | NS        | 1000 |
| B. Taylor      |               |             |           | 0 22               |           | Contraction of the local division of the loc |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |             | and the second second second |        | -      |           | -    |
| Bercich        |               |             |           | 1 21               |           | Nov. 13                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | FLORI                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | DA STATE                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 1:35        | Sec. Street                  | NO     | AVG    | TD        | LG   |
| Covington      |               | i           |           | 0 0                |           | Nov. 20                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | BOSTO                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | N COLLEGE                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 1:35        | Miller                       | 11     | 11.1   | 1         | 56   |
|                |               |             |           |                    |           | 1101.20                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 00010                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | OOLLEGE                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 1.00        | 0.0                          |        |        |           |      |
| -              |               |             |           |                    | -         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | _           |                              |        |        | -         | -    |
| DEFI           | ENSI          | £           |           |                    |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | TEAM                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | I STA       | TISTIC                       | CS     |        |           |      |
|                |               |             |           |                    |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |             |                              |        |        |           |      |
| Young          |               | T A         | TO137 |                    | O BU      | SAC3.5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | FR                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |             |                              | N      | ID     | OPP       |      |
| Goheen         |               | 0 15        |           |                    | 2         | 0.5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |             |                              |        |        |           |      |
| Bercich        | 1             |             |           |                    | 1         | 0.5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | First Downs                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |             |                              |        | 75     | 70        |      |
| Lane           | 2             |             |           |                    | 3         | 0.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | by rushin                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |             |                              |        | 41     | 24        |      |
|                |               | 4 8         |           |                    | 0         | 1.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | by passir                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |             |                              | :      | 29     | 42        |      |
| Flanigan       |               |             |           |                    |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | by penalt                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | ty          |                              |        | 5      | 4         |      |
| Hamilton       |               | 3 8         |           |                    | 0         | 1.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 3                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Total yardage                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |             |                              |        | 80     | 1196      |      |
| B. Taylor      |               | 8 26 4  |           |                    | 3         | 1.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Offensive                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |             |                              |        | 57     | 264       |      |
| Gibson         |               | 6 46 4  |           |                    | 2         | 0.5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | ts per play |                              | 5.3    |        | 4.53      |      |
| Covington      |               |             |           |                    | 2         | 2.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | ds / game   |                              | 345    |        | 299.0     |      |
| Burris         |               | 4 50 4  |           |                    | 2         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Rushing yard                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |             |                              |        | 90     | 341       |      |
| Magee          |               |             |           |                    | 0         | 0.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Rushing                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |             |                              |        | 90     | 130       |      |
| Wynn           |               | 8 35 2  |           |                    | 0         | 0.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | yards / gan | 10                           | 197    |        | 85.2      |      |
| KnightNau  |               | 5 2         |           |                    | 2         | 0.5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Passing yards                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |             |                              |        | 90     | 855       |      |
| Sample         |               | 6 0         |           |                    | 0         | 0.5                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | ompleted    |                              |        | 43     | 86        |      |
| Wagsay         |               | 3 2         |           |                    | 0         | 0.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | ttempted    |                              | (      | 67     | 134       |      |
| Wooden         |               | 3 1         |           |                    | 0         | 0.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | ntercepted  |                              |        | 2      | 5         |      |
| Graham         |               | 2 2         |           |                    | o         | 0.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | yards / gam | 10                           | 147    |        | 213.8     |      |
| Clark          |               | 2 1         |           |                    | 0         | 0.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Fumbles - fun                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |             |                              | 4 -    |        | 8-7       |      |
| Peterson       |               | 2 0         |           |                    | 0         | 0.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Penalties - pe                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |             |                              | 21 - 1 |        | 26 - 247  |      |
| Berry          |               | 1 1         |           |                    | o         | 0.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | õ                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 3rd down con                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |             |                              | 19-    |        | 25-58     |      |
| Tatum          |               | 1 1         |           |                    | o         | 0.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | percentar                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |             |                              | 39     |        | 43.1      |      |
| Dansby         |               | 1 1         | -         |                    | õ         | 0.0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 0                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 4th down con                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |             |                              |        | -1     | 3-4       |      |
|                |               |             | 1919      |                    |           |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | percenta                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 90          |                              | 0      | 0.0    | 75.0      |      |

| FIGUTU                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                    |                                            |                                   |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| FIGHTI                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                    |                                            |                                   |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                    |                                            |                                   |
| 1993 R                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                    |                                            |                                   |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                    |                                            |                                   |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                    |                                            |                                   |
| 1. Derrick Mayes                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | SE 6-1 205 So.                     | 45 . Jeff Kilburg                          | LB 6-4 250 Fr.                    |
| 2. Dan Farrell                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | FL 6-0 164 Jr.                     | 45 John Lynch                              | WR 6-2 179 So.FL 5-10 175 So. |
| 2. LeShane Saddler3. Ron Powlus                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | FS 5-11 194 Sr.QB 6-4 210 Fr.  | 46 . Dan McConnell47. Pete Bercich     | FL 5-10 175 SoLB 6-2 237 Sr   |
| 4. Lee Becton                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | TB 6-0 190 Jr.                     | 48. Renaldo Wynn                           | DE 6-3 230 So                     |
| 5. Paul Failla                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | QB 6-2 193 Jr.                     | 49. A. Peterson                            | LB 6-0 223 St.                    |
| 6. Mike Miller                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | FL 5-7 157 Jr.                     | 50. Greg Stec                              | C 6-2 250 Jr.                     |
| 7. Dean Lytie                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | FB 6-3 240 Sr.                     | 51. Melvin Dansby52. G. Holden         | LB 6-4 250 Fr.DT 6-4 245 Jr.  |
| 8. Clint Johnson9. Jeff Burris                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | SE 5-8 180 Sr.FS 6-0 204 Sr.   | 52. G. Holden53 . Jim Kordas           | DT 6-4 245 Jr.OG 6-5 271 Jr.  |
| 10. Adrian Jarrell                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | FL 6-0 194 Sr.                     | 54 Justin Goheen                           | LB 6-2 226 Jr.                    |
| 11 . Tom Krug                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | QB 6-5 210 Fr.                     | 55. Oliver Gibson                          | NE 6-3 275 Sr.                    |
| 11. Tom MacDonald                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | SS 6-0 189 Jr.                     | 56 . S. Armbruster                         | C 6-0 205 Jr.                     |
| 12 . K. Pendergast                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | K 5-10 168 Sr.                     | 56 . Huntley Bakich                        | DE 6-2 203 Jr.                    |
| 13. Brian Ford14. Emmett Mosley                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | K 6-4 190 Fr.WR 5-9 170 Fr.    | 57. R. Kaczenski57. Joseph Adent       | TE 6-4 240 Fr.LB 5-11 200 So. |
| 14. Colin Rittgers                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | P 6-2 210 So                       | 58. Jeremy Nau                             | DE 6-4 234 Jr.                    |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | QB 6-2 194 Sr.                     | 59. Lance Johnson                          | C 6-1 265 St.                     |
| 16. Chris Parenti                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | QB 6-1 193 Sr.                     | 60. Bert Berry                             | LB 6-4 230 Fr.                    |
| 16. Brian Perry                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | DB 6-1 205 Fr.                     | 61. Tim Ruddy                              | C 6-3 286 Sr.                     |
| 17. Brian Magee18. Wade Smith                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | SS 5-10 199 So.QB 6-3 178 So.  | 62. M. McCullough63. Jason Beckwith    | OG 6-3 274 So.OG 6-2 242 Si   |
| 19. Anthony Swiney                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | QB 6-3 178 So.DB 5-11 180 Fr.  | 64. Steve Misetic                          | OG 6-5 266 So.                    |
| 20 . M. Andrzejewski                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | SS 5-7 163 Jr.                     | 65. Lyron Cobbins                          | LB 6-2 230 Fr.                    |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | WR 5-11 170 Fr.                    | 66. Todd Norman                            | OT 6-6 297 Sr.                    |
| 21. Bobby Taylor                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | FS 6-3 191 So.                     | 67. Mark Zataveski                         | OG 6-6 295 Jr.                    |
| 22. Rob Leonard22. Shawn Wooden                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | KP 6-1 186 Sr.CB 5-11 187 Jr.  | 68. Jeff Riney69. David Quist          | OG 6-5 268 Jr.DT 6-5 246 So.  |
| 23 . Brian Baker                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | CB 5-11 187 Jr.SE 5-10 179 Sr. | 70. Mike McGlinn                           | OT 6-6 285 St.                    |
| 24 . C. Stafford                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | FL 5-10 182 Jr.                    | 71. Herbert Gibson                         | OT 6-5 289 Jr.                    |
| 25. Brent Boznanski                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | KP 6-3 174 Sr.                     | 72. Ryan Leahy                             | OT 6-4 290 Jr                     |
| 25. Randy Kinder                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | TB 6-1 205 Fr.                     | 73. Mike Doughty                           | OL 6-8 255 Fr                     |
| 26. Drew Marsh26. Mark Monahan                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | K 6-1 187 Sr.DB 6-0 175 So.    | 74 . Will Lyell75. Aaron Taylor        | OG 6-5 263 So.OT 6-4 299 Sr.  |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | CB 5-10 197 Jr.                    | 76 Jeremy Akers                            | OT 6-5 272 50                     |
| 28. Ron Hardin                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | FB 6-2 227 Fr.                     | 77. Dusty Zeigler                          | OF 6-6 240 So.                    |
| 29 . John Covington                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | SS 6-1 211 Sr.                     | 78. Jordan Halter                          | OT 6-7 295 Sr.                    |
| 30 . Marc Edwards                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | FB 6-2 220 Fr.                     | 79. Chris Kurpeikis80. Oscar McBride   | OL 6-7 290 Ft.TE 6-5 251 Sr   |
| 31 . Robert Farmer32. Willie Clark                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | TB 6-1 215 Fr.CB 5-10 181 Sr.  | 81. Rich Sauget                            | TE 6-4 218 dL                     |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | CB 5-9 180 Sr.                     | 82 . Joe Carroli                           | WR 5-9 160 Jr.                    |
| 34 . Brian Meter                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | CB 5-7 152 Sr.                     | 85. Robert Hughes                          | TE 67 260 St                      |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | FB 5-11 218 Jr.                    | 86. Ben Foos87. Lake Dawson            | DT 6-4 226 So.SE 6-1 202 Sr.  |
| and the second se                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | TB 5-8 186 Jr.WR 6-1 165 So.   | 88 Leon Wallace                            | TE 6-3 268 So.                    |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | LB 5-11 218 Jr.                    | 89. John Kouris                            | TE 6-3 218 So.                    |
| 37. Travis Davis                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | TB 6-0 192 Jr.                     | 90 . Brian Hamilton                        | DE 6-3 275 St.                    |
| 00 01 01 1                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | FB 5-10 189 Sr.                    | 91. Darnell Smith                          | DE 6-5 240 Fr.                    |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | DB 6-2 200 Fr.                     | 92 . John Taliaferro93. Paul Grasmanis | DT 6-3 261 Jr.DT 6-3 265 So.  |
| And I AND INCOME THAT AND AND ADDRESS OF ADDRES                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | DB 6-1 195 Fr.LB 6-0 215 So.   | 94. Reggie Fleurima                        | DT 6-3 262 Jr.                    |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | LB 6-1 207 So.                     | 95 . Chris Clevenger                       | DE 6-7 245 Fr.                    |
| 41. Joe Babey                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | LB 6-2 218 So.                     | 96 . Thomas Knight                         | DE 6-4 231 Se.                    |
| 10 11 11 11                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | WR 5-8 155 Jr.                     | 96. S. Schroffner                          | K 5-9 160 Hr,                     |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | DE 6-4 260 So.                     | 97. Bryant Young98. P. Chryplewicz     | DT 6-3 277 Sr.TE 6-5 233 So.  |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | LB 6-2 224 So.NT 6-2 276 Sr.   | 99. Cliff Stroud                           | DT 6-3 264 50                     |
| and a second sec | OL LIO OI.                         |                                            |                                   |

NOTRE DAME

| Sr.Jr.Sr. |
|-------------------|
|                   |
| Sr.               |
| Sr.Jr.        |
| Jr.               |
| Sr.               |
| Sr.               |
| So.               |
| Jr.               |
|                   |

page 5

The History of the Series

The Last Time:

Stanford 33, Notre Dame 16

Stanford took advantage of five Notre Dame turnovers to come back from a 16-0 deficit.

The Irish offense was frustrated as their vaunted running game behind Jerome Bettis and Reggie Brooks only managed 154 yards, and quarterback Rick Mirer managed only 13-38 passing and an interception.

Glyn Milburn

Stanfoed's offense had little trouble moving against the Irish. Running back Glyn Milburn ran for 119 yards on 20 carries and Steve Stenstrum threw for 215 yards, hitting 21 of 32 attempts.

The Records:

Notre Dame leads 6-3 Last ND Win: 1991 (42-26) Last SUWin: 1992 (33-16) Longest Series Streaks: ND-3 (1964, 1988-1989) SU-1 (1963, 1990, 1992) At Stanford Stadium: Notre Dame leads series 2-1

The Observer • SPORTS EXTRA COVER STORY

Rumble

continued from page 1

Holtz against Bill Walsh. Football games are won on the field, but they are controlled from the sidelines. Saturday, Holtz and Walsh will engage in a giant chessmatch-two grandmasters considered by their fans to be the next Bobby Fischer.

"Football is a vicious sport played by gentleman," said Holtz. Tomorrow it will be a vicious game orchestrated by geniuses.

That is the way the fans see it, the press, maybe even the players. But the two coaches see this game as just that, a game. And the respect they have for one another is overflowing

'I stand in awe of Bill Walsh and what he's done," said Holtz. "I'm very impressed with what he's done and he's done it with class.

"I have known Lou for years, we're not close friends but I've observed him from a close distance," counters Walsh. "I know he stands for the best in college athletics.

Holtz's ego took its lumps last year. Walsh and Stanford came to South Bend and ended Notre Dame's national title hopes with a 33-16 upset.

In the post-game press conference Walsh wanted to make it clear how the game was won.

"Notre Dame did not lose this football game, we won it," he said. "We won it." The Cardinal won because Notre Dame relinquished a 16-0 halftime lead thanks to five turnovers. It was a bitter loss for Holtz, who had to have heard the post game chatter that Walsh bested him in their first matchup.

"Make no mistake about it. They just flat out whipped us last year," said Holtz.

Notre Dame's coach doesn't take too kind to whippings. He thrives on chal-lenges and adversity. Walsh offers both.

"I'm not as good a football coach as Bill Walsh." said Holtz. "I feel lucky to be coaching at Notre Dame. The guy has done wonders. He is amazing.

Whenever someone achieves a certain amount of success they have an ego. I'm no different, but I like to think I keep my ego in check.'

That is easy to do when looking at Walsh's credentials-three super bowl championships and a bowl appearance each of the three years he has coached at Stanford. But it is not the accomplishments as much as the legend which demands respect.

"I don't want our players sitting there and saying, 'Wow they have Bill Walsh,'" said Holtz.

But it may be unavoidable. Walsh created the short passing game which has overcome NFL offenses, and currently is making Cardinal quarterback Steve Stenstrom into an All-American.

"You see more of a sophisticated offense when you face Stanford," commented Holtz. "They are obviously very good teachers out there.

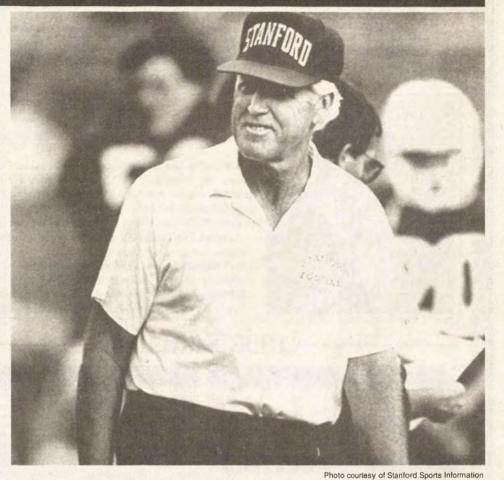

Holtz can teach himself, and he has done plenty this week. Quarterback Kevin McDougal has been getting extra attention (screaming) from his coach this week. McDougal needs the work, but maybe this game is a little more important.

It is difficult to believe that Holtz doesn't put an asterisk next to this game. Stanford has knocked the Irish out of the national championship picture two of the last three years. This game has meant more than others and will again this year.

"We are going to have to play the best game of the year to beat Stanford," said Holtz.

At his weekly press conference Walsh hinted that this game was special for the Irish. He even mentioned that he feels Notre Dame had been waiting for this game for some time. This reasoning a solid explanation for the Irish's poor showing at Purdue last weekend.

But Holtz blamed himself for the lackluster performance.. "I did a poor job preparing the team this week," Holtz said following the game. "We did not execute well. As a teacher, that is my fault."

Bill Walsh feels that his team needs to play its best just to stay with the Irish.

Holtz has made sure that will not be a problem this week. "We will be prepared," he said.

Following the Michigan win two weeks ago, Holtz's ego must have shot to the moon. Notre Dame won because he outcoached Gary Moeller. He gave his team the opportunity to win against a superior team. Walsh would love to do the same this week.

"For Stanford to win over Notre Dame is a tremendous accomplishment, Walsh said. "We have to play well just to hold our own and on the rare occasion win." Holtz's team is unbeaten and No. 4 in then nation. The Cardinal slipped out of the top 25 following a 28-25 loss to UCLA last weekend. Perfect scenario if you're a Cardinal fan. But if the Irish win, what will that mean to Holtz?

Nothing. Because as he puts it this isn't a coaching battle.

"If this is Holtz versus Walsh, Notre Dame will lose," he said. "This game is Stanford versus Notre Dame.

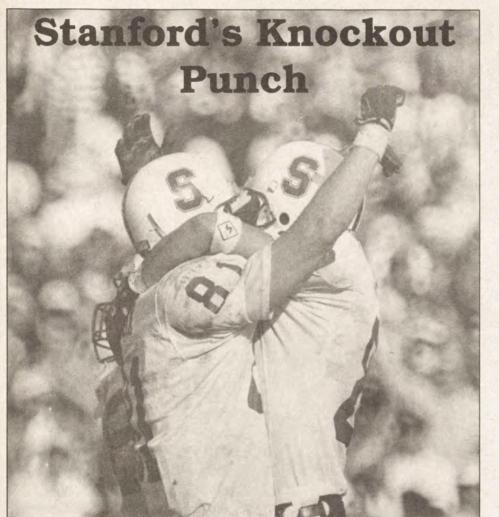

"This game will not be won by outcoaching.

Ding. Round 1.

Friday, October 1, 1993

page 6

In recent years the Cardinal has been the champion at Notre Dame Stadium

wice in the last three seasons, an underdog Stanford team has come into Notre Dame Stadium and defeated the Irish. Both times the Irish were unbeaten and serious national championship contenders. This year the scenario is the same as the Irish travel to Palo Alto to face Bill Walsh and the Cardinal. Stanford's recent success against Notre Dame has turned a once unimportant game into a national event. Saturday, they meet again.

Stanford is hoping for a repeat of its 1990 and 1992 victories that knocked Notre Dame out of the title hunt and brought respect to its once dormant program.

Lou Holtz won't allow the Irish to dwell on the past, but as they prepare for Saturday's game, the memories remain.

Derek Brown drops Notre Dame's chance for victory

erek Brown never felt more alone, but plenty of people shared his anguish.

He watched the ball fall helplessly from his hands to the turf as time expired on that sunny October Saturday in 1990.

Top-ranked Notre Dame's national championship hopes expired with the clock and Stanford escaped with a 36-31 win.

"I couldn't believe I dropped it," said a dejected Brown after the game. "My teammates told me they loved me and it shouldn't have Cardinal Rick Mirer lofted a perfect Irish have no excuses.

pass toward the endzone

that fell within reach of the diving Brown. But the ball—as it had been all day long was a little too slippery for the Irish players to grab.

Tommy Vardell's four touchdowns helped Stanford erase a 17-point deficit on the way to the stunning upset.

"We call No. 44 'Touchdown Tommy," Stanford coach Dennis Green said. "We want you to know he's getting the ball. We know he's getting the ball. Everybody knows he's getting the ball. And now we want you to stop him.

Notre Dame couldn't stop him near the goal line. Vardell managed only 37 yards on 13 carries, but his four touchdowns made the difference in the game.

Stanford quarterback Jason Palumbis set up each of the Cardinal scores with long passes, six of which landed in the hands of the nation's leading rusher Ed McCaffrey.

It was the first home loss for the Irish in four years and it was only the 10th time in 74 games that a top-ranked Notre Dame team was upset.

That it came at the hands of an unranked, 0-3 Stanford team made it even more painful.

The fact that three fumbles led directly to Cardinal scores 36 also didn't ease the pain. But Notre Dame still had a $\mathbf{31}$ chance, although a long shot. Mirer took the controls with 31 seconds to drive 70 yards.

Already a Sports Illustrated "Golden Boy" after choreographing two brilliant and improbable comebacks against Michigan and Michigan State, Mirer led the Irish to within six seconds of another heart-stopping win. Instead, Irish hearts just stopped when the ball slipped through Brown's fingers.

"I don't know if I've ever been in a loss that was this difficult," Irish coach Lou Holtz said after the game. "I liked what I saw on the last drive, the way we battled back. It would have been another miraculous comeback.

It was a miraculous comeback for Stanford. And a monumental collapse for Notre Dame.

Photo courtesy of ND Sports Information Derek Brown's dropped pass on the last play of the game gave Stanford a 36-31 win in 1990

illed as an epic battle between two of the greatest minds in college coaching, many people believed the 1992 Notre Dame-Stanford game would be won on the sidelines. Lou Holtz vs. Bill Walsh.

It didn't turn out that way game and so was the result. Notre Dame's offense, so potent in the first half, stalled in the second half against the nation's second-ranked defense.

The Irish managed just six rushing yards in the third quarter

Notre Dame fumbles big lead away in second half

Leading 9-0 before Holtz even picked his first blade of grass, Notre Dame looked like it would wash away all the ugly memories of the 1990 collapse forever.

The Irish may have forgotten that game, Cardinal but Stanford didn't.

The lead was 16-0 Irish before the Cardinal decided it was time to stir memories of the past.

Again it was turnovers that plagued Notre Dame. The usually sure-handed Irish coughed the ball up four times, allowing Stanford to creep back into the game.

"Stanford's defense banks on causing confusion," Irish quarterback Rick Mirer said. "Their goal is to make you make a mistake."

The Irish offense made plenty of mistakes and Stanford took advantage, scoring 27 second-half points on the way to a 33-16 win.

The Indian summer Saturday afternoon was a carbon copy of the 1990

"They scored 30-some odd point on us," Mirer said. "I didn't think we'd have any trouble scoring. All we needed was one score in there somewhere to stop the whole thing (the Stanford explosion), but we couldn't get it."

 $\mathbf{33}$

Trailing 20-16, Mirer directed the longest 16 Irish drive of the second half early in the fourth quarter. But Stanford's John Lynch spoiled the comeback with an interception on the Cardinal eight yard-line.

"I think the turning point was when we drove all the way down inside their ten yard-line and threw an interception," Holtz said.

But Walsh wouldn't allow Notre Dame's turnovers to taint his team's victory

"The last time (1990), there was an excuse when Stanford beat Notre Dame here," he said. "This year, there is no excuse. We beat Notre Dame pure and simple."

Photo courtesy of Stanford Sports Information Ron George and the Stanford defense shut down the Irish in the second half of Stanford's 33-16 win a year ago.

The Observer • SPORTS EXTRA

Boston College tries to regroup at Syracuse

Boston College at

No. 13 Syracuse

Future Irish opponent Boston

College heads to the Carrier Dome to face Syracuse in a games featuring two teams looking to turn year off with two losses to Miami and Northwestern. Despite a promising season, BC has not gotten enough production and big plays from quarterback Glenn Foley and running backs Dwight Shirley and Darnell Campbell and they miss last year's defensive star, linebacker

However, the Eagles are coming off a 66-14 thrashing of Temple to up their record to 1-2, and Syracuse has been equally unimpressive. In last week's 24-21 win over Cincinnati, where the Orangemen had to score three touchdowns in the second half to avert the upset at home.

The week before Syracuse tied a Texas team that was trounced by

Georgia Tech at

No. 1 Florida State

The Seminole scoring machine rolls on after taking a week off, as

FSU is a 31 1/2-point favorite over a down Georgia Tech(1-2) team. The Yellow Jackets did give Clemson all they could handle in last week's 16-

13 loss in Death Valley, but they lack the firepower that is needed to

Charlie Ward and Co. are in the top-five in the country in nearly every offensive and defensive category, leading the nation in offense,

The Observer

Sports staff tries its luck against a few of the members of the unbeaten and thirdranked women's soccer team. Since no one else can beat them we thought we'd give it a shot.

Sports

Department

Last week: 23-21

VS

keep the Seminoles at bay.

Louisville 41-10 last week.

The Screaming Eagles started the around their seasons.

Tom McManus.

Friday, October 1, 1993

JOCK STRIP National title still far from reach ou Holtz was asked at his Tuesday press conference when he thought one could start thinking about winning the national championship. Without smiling, the coach replied, "When you enter the bowl game undefeated.

Brian Kubicki

Many fans have already gone against the advice of Holtz and started figuring who must beat whom to give Notre Dame a shot. This interesting logic which mixes hope and thought leaves most Irish fans with Notre Dame beating Alabama in the Sugar Bowl on January 1. No matter how they figure it, though, there is one thing that almost always must happen in their scenarios—Notre Dame must go undefeated.

Those fans that have the Irish celebrating in New Orleans have obviously looked ahead to Florida State. It is a home game in November when the weather is unfriendly, even more so to visitors from the sunshine state.

Under these conditions, it is easy to predict an Irish upset of the Seminoles. It's also easy to convince oneself that Notre Dame can breeze through the rest of the schedule. The toughest road game after this weekend is against BYU. But what about this weekend?

The Irish travel to California to face a Stanford team that dropped out of the top 25 just last week. Stanford has had their troubles this season, even if they did upset Colorado. But even a weak Stanford team is dangerous for the Irish.

In the past three years, Stanford has twice marred Notre Dame's (mostly) pristine record and thus their national title hopes.

In 1990, the unranked Cardinal came into South Bend and upset the topranked Irish, 33-31

Last season the Irish had already tied a game with Michigan when they faced Stanford. This hampered Notre Dame's national championship chances, but they remained hopeful without a loss. Stanford erased that hope with a 33-16 rout of the Irish History therefore suggests that Notre Dame cannot overlook Stanford, even if the Cardinal is not playing well. Applied generally, the lesson to be learned from this history is that no team can be overlooked.

That lesson may have already been taught twice this season. Northwestern gave Notre Dame an early scare, and Purdue wasn't ready to roll over for the Irish either.

Despite their big win over Michigan and their impressive offensive showing against Michigan State, Notre Dame has been inconsistent this season, and questions still hover over this season which began amidst controversy.

More than anyone. Holtz is aware of Games of interest rolling up well over 500 yards a game.

Ward has reduced his interceptions as he has grown into one of the nation's top signal-callers, and Derrick Brooks may end up being just as good as Marvin "Shade Tree" Jones.

Northwestern at No. 8 Ohio State

The Wildcats head into what will be a frenzied Ohio Stadium as the Buckeyes have their best team in years and are looking to stay undefeated to set up a battle for the Big Ten title against Michigan on November 20 in Ann Arbor.

Northwestern, to their credit, have bounced back from their loss at Notre Dame to win two over Boston College and Wake Forest, but it looks as if they've met their match.

The Buckeyes boast a passing attack led by quarterback Bob Hoying, big play receiver Derrick Galloway, and tight end Cedric Saunders

However, the strength of the OSU offense may be their running game. Senior fullback Jeff Cothran and senior tailbacks Raymont Harris and Butler By'not'e are top-notch, and have made Buckeye fans forget Robert Smith.

The defense is just as dominating, led by sophomore man-child Dan Wilkinson and senior All-Big Ten selection Jason Simmons.

Ohio State is one of the most complete teams in the country and after feasting on the Wildcats they could give the Wolverines major problems down the road.

| A    | P TO                                                                                                            | P         | 2        | 5     |
|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|----------|-------|
| 9/26 | TEAM (FIRST PLACE VOTES)                                                                                        | RECORD    | POINTS   | 9/19  |
| 1.   | Florida State (57)                                                                                              | 4-0-0     | 1545     | 1     |
| 2.   | Alabama 6                                                                                                       | 400       | 1482     | 2     |
| 3.   | Miami                                                                                                           | 3-0-0     | 1414     | 3     |
| 4.   | Notre Dame                                                                                                      | 4-0-0     | 1361     | 4     |
| 5.   | Florida                                                                                                         | 3-0-0     | 1297     | 5     |
| 6.   | Nebraska                                                                                                        | 00        | 1180     | 6     |
| 7.   | Ohio State                                                                                                      | 3-0-0     | 1157     | 7     |
| 8.   |                                                                                                                 | 2-1-0     |          | 8     |
| 9.   | Penn State                                                                                                      | 4-0-0     | 1058     | 9     |
| 10.  |                                                                                                                 | 3-0-0     | 1006     | 10    |
| 11.  | Tennessee                                                                                                       | 3-1-0     | 943      | 11    |
| 12.  | Arizona                                                                                                         | 4-0-0     | 782      | 15    |
|      | Syracuse CRIMSON                                                                                                | 73-0-1    | 750      | 12    |
|      | Texas A&M                                                                                                       | 2-1-0     | 718      | 14    |
|      | Washington                                                                                                      | 2-1-0     | 688      | 16    |
| 16.  | A CONTRACTOR OF | 4-1-0     | 648      | 18    |
| 17.  |                                                                                                                 | 4-0-0     | 514      | 20    |
| 18.  |                                                                                                                 | 4-0-0     | 429      | 24    |
|      | Colorado                                                                                                        | -2-2-0    | 426      |       |
|      | Brigham Young                                                                                                   | 4-0-0     | 415      | 21    |
|      | Virginia                                                                                                        | 4-0-0     | 390      | 22    |
| 22.  | Wisconsin                                                                                                       | 4-0-0     | 338      | 23    |
| 23.  |                                                                                                                 | 4-0-0     | 188      | 25    |
|      | North Carolina State                                                                                            |           | 73       | 19    |
| 25.  | West Virginia                                                                                                   | 3-0-0     | 71       | -     |
| Othe | ers receiving voles: Sta                                                                                        | anford 39 | Missis   | sippi |
| 34,  | Virginia Tech 25, Sol                                                                                           | uthern Ca | al 17, U | CLA   |
| 17,  | Northwestern 13, Bay                                                                                            | lor 11, 0 | Georgia  | Tech  |
|      | Fresno State 7, Hawa                                                                                            |           |          |       |
|      | Diego State 6, Or                                                                                               |           |          |       |

The Observer/Brendan Rega

PEERLESS PROGNOSTICATORS

Clemson 1.

Overall: 28-16 Last Week: 5-6

Notre Dame Florida State Michigan Syracuse Clemson Ohio State Vanderbilt

USC

Indiana

Virginia Tech

Mississippi

Chris Petrucelli

Head coach

Notre Dame

Florida State

Michigan

Syracuse

Clemson

Ohio State

Auburn

Arizona

Indiana

Virginia Tech

Kentucky

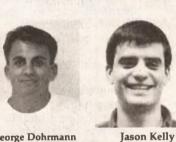

Jonathan Jensen Overall: 27-17 Last Week: 5-6

Notre Dame Florida State Michigan Syracuse N.C. State Ohio State Auburn Arizona Indiana

West Virginia

Mississippi

Notre Dame Florida State Michigan Syracuse Clemson Ohio State Auburn USC Indiana

Virginia Tech

Mississippi

Last Week: -

Notre Dame Florida State Michigan Syracuse N.C. State Ohio State Auburn Arizona Indiana

this."We're not in the championship race, we're running for our lives," he said. "All we want to do is survive each and every week and have someone fall on the hand grenade and save the group.

Whatever optimism has been fueled by Notre Dame's early performance should be tempered by Holtz's own reservations as well as each opponent the Irish must face up to January 1, starting with Stanford.

At least this year, the game isn't at home.

SPORTS EXTRA STAFF

EDITOR: George Dorhmann GRAPHICS: Brendan Regan CONTRIBUTING WRITERS: Jason Kelly, Brian Kubicki, Jonathan Jensen

TT 1 Unbeaten Women's Soccer Team

Last week's guests: 24-20

#4 Notre Dame at Stanford Georgia Tech at #1 Florida St. Iowa at #8 Michigan Boston Coll. at #13 Syracuse #24 N.C. State at Clemson Northwestern at #7 Ohio St. Vanderbilt at #23 Auburn USC at #12 Arizona Indiana at Minnesota Virginia Tech at W. Virginia Mississippi at Kentucky

Alison Lester Senior forward

Notre Dame Florida State Michigan Syracuse N.C. State Ohio State Auburn USC Indiana West Virginia Mississippi

Michelle McCarthy Sophomore midfielder

Notre Dame Florida State Michigan Boston College Clemson Ohio State Auburn USC Indiana West Virginia Mississippi

Sophomore midfielder

Michigan

Clemson

Ohio State

Auburn

USC

Minnesota

Mississippi

Overall: 27-17

Last Week: 7-4

Notre Dame

Florida State

Michigan

Syracuse

N.C. State

Ohio State

Vanderbilt

Arizona

Indiana

West Virginia

Mississippi

Ashley Sharff Sophomore defender

Notre Dame Florida State Michigan Syracuse Clemson Ohio State Auburn Arizona Minnesota Virginia Tech Mississippi

Notre Dame Florida State Boston College West Virginia

Virginia Tech Mississippi