

Religious Bulletin.
March 16, 1923.

Hard-Boiled Irishmen, Please Note.

St. Patrick used to pray all night, standing in a tub of freezing-cold water. Every Irish soul saved adds to St. Patrick's glory in heaven. Ask him in Holy Communion tomorrow to obtain for you some of his love of God.

Mass at 8:15 Tomorrow.

Enough students will be at home over the week-end to allow accomodations at one Mass. This will be at 8:15.

The Fortune Teller.

I

"Why are you always finding fault? A word of praise goes a long way." -E.E.

Dear Ease: You have never been a mother, so you can only imagine a mother's chagrin when she finds her child picking its nose.

If you want praise, go to the devil. He spends most of his time patting people on the back -- until they die.

II

"Would it do me any harm to read -----?" -- Freshman.

Recent chemical discoveries have made it practicable to extract gold from low-grade ore previously discarded. Gold-seekers are working over heaps for the yellow metal.

Novelists have found gold in cess-pools. They are screening them -- in books such as the one you mention. There is gold there for authors -- but not for decent boys like you.

III

"I would like to become a daily communicant, but lack of knowledge and assurance have kept me away." --Badin.

Reveal your lack of knowledge to your floor-prefect (if you are on speaking terms with him) and your lack of assurance to your confessor.

IV

"I feel that I haven't the disposition for frequent Communion, as I would get too familiar with it." --Aggie.

What dispositions are required? And since you haven't received Holy Communion this year, you should find out what dispositions are required for the Easter Duty. You lack knowledge that you can have for the asking.

Way of the Cross.

Tonight in the basement and hall chapels.

Rev. John F. O'Hara C.S.C.,
Prefect of Religion.