Track News.

An official handicapper will arrange the start for breakfast hereafter. The number of 10-second men who prefer to stand in the back of the church is incredible.

The Mess of Pottage.

Esau, "red and hairy" sold his birthright for a mess of pottage. You do the same thing if, in your eagerness to be first with your coffee and bun, you miss the morning instruction.

The Dog in the Manger.

Aesop had the right idea. Some three hundred students had to stay away from Notre Dame this year because they could not get accommodations on the campus. And some three hundred Catholic students who are taking their places here are not "making the Mission." The ox should gore the dog for poetic justice.

Telegram.

Have arranged for Mass Saturday Yonkers, New York eight o'clock football team. A priest will call at Biltmore-Westchester Club Friday afternoon or evening.

Rev. M. J. Shea, (N.D., '04.)

That's making the Mission under difficulties. Friday morning the team will receive Holy Communion at the church of Our Lady of Lourdes, 465 West 142 street, as guests of Monsignor McMahon. Are you laying down on the team?

Prayers.

Ted Heuther writes that his father has pneumonia. Two other students ask prayers for sick relatives.

P.S.

About those who are not making the Mission: A casual glance gives the impression that those who are making the Mission don't need it particularly. The direction of the Mission will be requested to devote the latter part to suggestions on the development of spiritual life -- the positive side.

The Candles at the Grotto.

You were asked this week to burn candles at the Grotto for the team. Several times this week their chances looked slim. You ought to pray at least as hard as you root for the team.

"How to make a Good Confession."

You will find this pamphlet at the pamphlet rack.
