Welcome Home.

Notre Dame begins today to welcome her guests for a family reunion. It is Notre Dame's day and it is your day. It is a good day, because it shows Notre Dame in characteristic mood. It is first Friday and it is All Souls Day.

The Spirit of the Team.

Sport critics marvel at the spirit that sends five men on interference, that puts every man in his proper place at the psychological moment, that makes the perfect machine. Step into the church today and tomorrow morning if you want to see what makes ~~that~~ spirit. If eleven men kneel at Holy Communion together every morning, and then one of them is given a job to do, the other ten are going to run interference for him. There can be no jealousy, no littleness, when the game is played for the honor and glory of God.

The Spirit of the School.

The Blessed Sacrament rules Notre Dame, because the Blessed Sacrament rules the hearts of its students. Watch for your son in the sanctuary today; make a few visits with him for the Poor Souls; don't ask your brother or your sweetheart or your chum to break his fast after midnight tonight, because he wants to offer Holy Communion for the team tomorrow so that there will be no injuries in the game. Help him to keep the spirit wholesome.

The Religious Program.

Special services for the week-end are as follows:

Friday, all day: Adoration and Visits.

5:30 p.m.: Closing of October Devotions.

Saturday, 8:30 a.m. Mass for the deceased members of the Monogram Club and football squad.

Landmarks.

Visitors to Notre Dame are invited to visit the following religious landmarks.

1. The Log Chapel, where Father Badin ministered to the Indians in the early days;
2. The Basement Chapel and the Hall chapels, where 800 students receive Holy Communion every morning;
3. The Grotto of Lourdes, where candles burn day and night;
4. The Church, with its frescoes by Gregori and its altar of relics;
5. The Community cemetery, where lie buried Father Sorin and the other simple religious who made Notre Dame what it is today.
