

RELIGIOUS BULLETIN.

Sept. 24, 1924.

Of all the Stingy Things!

A group of engineers, classmates of Van Wallace, made up a spiritual bouquet for him - and left the rest of the sophomores out of it. Just like engineers!

Paging Tommy Green.

If you had your neck broken, Tommy, wouldn't you want the president of your class to call the boys together and have a general Communion or Novena, or something of that sort for you? And supposing the class mended your broken neck and set you back on your feet, wouldn't that class be remembered for something more than a dance? So often it happens that some unforeseen circumstance soils the reputation of a dance.

In Stupid Comfort Let Them Lie....

Those who cannot make the sacrifice to be at Mass tomorrow morning--the second anniversary of the death of Herb Culhane. The Mass will be offered for him and for the three boys who died this summer,

Walter Henaghan, C.S.C.,
Bernard Flynn,
Joseph Weinlich.

The Mass begins at 6:15 - in the church.

Prayers.

Raymond Hunt, sophomore in Journalism, asks prayers for his father who was shot last Sunday evening by a fugitive rowdy. Another student requests a remembrance of his grandfather who was injured recently.

Wipe the Slate Clean.

There would seem to be no particular reason why the confessional should be crowded with Trinity Sunday cases next week. There are several priests hearing confessions every day now, at convenient times and places; and if your favorite confessor is not on the list, you have only to leave a written request in the contribution box at the pamphlet rack. Your want will be supplied.

Externals.

After Holy Communion a thanksgiving should be made; unless urged by the strictest necessity, one should not leave the chapel until the Sacred Host is dissolved - and this process usually requires from seven to ten minutes. A prayer book is a help to concentration of thought in making the thanksgiving.-

John F. O'Hara, C.S.C.,
Prefect of Religion.