Pray to St. Clare.

The Minnesota game will be under the protection of St. Clare, foundress of the "Poor Clares", a Franciscan Order of women, whose devotion to the Blessed Sacrament makes her a special friend of Notre Dame men. During her sickness of twenty-eight years her sole support was Holy Communion. When the Saracen army of Frederick II besieged Assisi, she caused the Blessed Sacrament to be placed in the monstrance above the gate of the convent, facing the enemy; and the infidels approaching to assault the convent were seized with sudden panic and fled. It is the singular privilege of the Notre Dame football team to carry devotion to the Blessed Sacrament into many infidel camps, to the confusion of lukewarm Catholics as well as infidels.

Reparation is Due.

The trip to town yesterday morning caused a loss of 450 Communion from the day before. This means that four hundred and fifty students heard the bell in the church and saw the lights, and turned away to be first at the station -- to stand around in an hour's wait for the arrival of the team. Keep this in mind: whenever your regular program of devotions is interrupted, a new program will be arranged on a moment's notice, if it means that a priest will have to be up at midnight to serve you. You need not miss your daily Communion unless you want to.

53 Days Without a Bath.

A steamship circular advertises: 53 days $550 to $1300 (without bath). Line forms to the right.

Our Thanks to Father Clifford.

A very cordial letter from the Rev. M. H. Clifford, pastor of St. Peter's Church, Oshkosh, invites the students to hear Mass in his church next Sunday morning, on the return trip from Wisconsin, and states that the parish Mass has been deferred until a later hour for the accommodation of the boys. Greater courtesy could not possibly be shown. Please remember the intentions of Father Clifford in your Holy Communion in his church, to show your appreciation of his fine spirit.

How Much Did You Lose?

Estimates on the amount of money lost by the students betting on the Army game vary from one to five houses for Fr. Brooks in India. But it went in a good cause, if it teaches you not to hamper the team by betting.

It Would Do No Good: He Can't Read.

"Dear Father: You have been razzing the A.B. men and the lawyers on your Bulletin this year. How about getting on the other morons, like the fellow from the third floor of Walsh Hall who disfigures the floor of the toilet?"
"Sanitary Engineer."

$204.78 Plus.

The collection for Father Brooks Sunday amounted to $90.28. This amount added to what was previously collected makes $204.78. The plus consists of 35 car tokens.

Prayers.

Five special intentions have been handed in for prayers, and three sick persons added to the list.
