

Freshman Drops to Fourth Place.

The last collection of questionnaires brought Freshman Hall down two places and Howard up two. The largest number of new questionnaires came from off campus -- 24. The number of questionnaires returned thus far is 659; the standing of the halls follows:

Brownson.....101	Badin.....43
Off-campus.....87	Garby.....27
Morrissey.....79	Walsh.....26
Freshman.....66	Sorin.....24
Carrell.....68	Lyons.....21
Howard.....55	Unclassified..... 3
Sophomore.....47	Exile..... 2

One of the unclassified questionnaires bears the ear-marks of Badin Hall, but it did not turn up in the Badin box.

The Mitchell Letter.

The letter from Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, which appeared on the Bulletin yesterday, is a classic. If it does not reach into your heart and make you pray more for the Mitchells, if it does not prick your conscience to greater appreciation of your own parents, you need a spiritual tonic. -- If you missed yesterday's Bulletin you should call for a copy. It is one of those rare things you cannot afford to miss.

The Second Anniversary of Perseverance.

The pamphlet Perseverance first appeared at this time two years ago, as a series of Bulletins. It was intended to show the reasons for the collapses which occurred during the Easter vacation. The freshmen who tried to pay off the Canadian war debt, the sophomores who danced on Good Friday, the juniors who had ungentlemanly dates, and the seniors who couldn't find a church in Chicago, should all read this pamphlet. It will show them where the trouble lies.

Prayers.

Frank Berkheimer and Leo Faiver lost their grandmothers during the vacation. Francis Creadon's father is not expected to live. Charles O'Connell, former student, writes that his father has shown some improvement lately, but is still very sick. Dr. Dehey, former professor of French, for whom prayers were requested a month ago, has gone through a very serious operation, and is still very low. Three special intentions are recommended to your prayers.

Are the Seniors Bewitched?

Seven seniors have been dropped this year for major infractions of discipline; some others are hanging by a thread. Page 121 of the sixth Survey may give the clue to the trouble.

Correcting a Misapprehension.

A poultry expert says our talented cartoonist it is all wrong -- he has the ostrich coming out of the wrong end of the shell. Our cartoonist is all right -- is subtle: it's a backward ostrich he is depicting; he shows why the poor bird is stuck.

Triduum.

During the next three days ask Our Lady of Good Counsel to help you over the last stretch. The feast is April 26.
