Try Again.

Some of the halls, notable Sorin, the Home of the Enlightened, need more time to think over whether it will pay to pray for the repose of the soul of Frank Gallagher. The request for a spiritual bouquet to be sent to the family is herewith repeated. Check the offerings below:

Rosaries:

Sophomore Hall offered a wreath and twenty Masses in addition to a bouquet of Communions and other prayers; the tables Frank waited on in the dining hall made up 47 Holy Communions, 28 Masses heard, 31 Rosaries, 28 visits to the Blessed Sacrament, and 20 visits to the Grotto.

Pray For the Next One.

During the Mission Father O'Donnell said Mass on Wednesday morning for the first one of the crowd to be called to judgment. When Frank Gallagher knelt there at that Mass and prayed he did not think that he was praying for himself; in fact, he would be the last fellow in the world to think of himself first. The harvest from that Mass was reaped Tuesday, when Frank went forth to judgment so beautifully unafraid. That Mass is used up. Next Sunday the seven o'clock Mass will be said for the next one of us, faculty or students, to die.

Prayers.

Father Steiner asks prayers for a relative who will be buried tomorrow. James Rank's sister died last week. A former St. Mary's student wires that her mother died yesterday. Two other students ask prayers for deceased relatives. Wm. Hendricks was called home yesterday by the illness of his father and two brothers. Three special intentions and one act of thanksgiving are recommended.

Servers.

Father Murch will meet servers and prospective servers in the church at 6:30 tonight.

Found.

Two sums of money -- in the church last Sunday.

Tin.

Five dollars for the tin roof came in yesterday. A letter from Fr. Molinie thanking you for your contributions will be printed shortly. He exposes other needs, so his fund will be kept open.
