

Religious Bulletin
November 14, 1927.

What Sorin Hall Did For The Team.

There were ten Communiones at three Masses in Sorin Hall Saturday morning.

What Corby Hall Did For The Team.

There were seventeen Communiones in the Corby Hall chapel Saturday morning.

What Badin Hall Did For The Team.

There were twenty-one Communiones in the Badin Hall chapel Saturday morning.

What Walsh Hall Did For The Team.

There were forty Communiones in the Walsh Hall chapel Saturday morning.

What Lyons Hall Did For The Team.

There were sixty-three Communiones in the Lyons Hall chapel Saturday Morning.

What Sophomore Hall Did For The Team.

There were sixty-five Communiones in the Sophomore Hall chapel Saturday Morning.

What Morrissey Hall Did For The Team.

There were seventy Communiones in the Morrissey Hall chapel Saturday Morning.

What Howard Hall Did For The Team.

There were eighty-five Communiones in the Howard Hall Chapels Saturday Morning.

What Freshman Hall Did For The Team.

There were one hundred and thirty-three Communiones in the Freshman Hall chapel Saturday

What Others Did For The Team.

There were 260 Communiones in the basement chapel Saturday morning, and the communicants were students from Brownson and Carroll Halls, plus individuals and groups from other halls and three or four off-campus students. Not many heard Mass.

There were 153 Communiones distributed in the Sorin Hall chapel after seven o'clock; the communicants were off-campus students and campus stragglers.

What You Can Do For The Team.

Offer Holy Communion for the boys Monday morning, as suggested on the Bulletin for October 14 and November 12. Meet the team at the post office immediately after breakfast and yell yourselves hoarse. And give the boys this message: "You gave the best that was in you after the bruising of the Saturday before, and you met a fine team, the best you have met this year, keyed to the point of brilliancy. You are still a great team. It isn't that the Notre Dame standard of football is lowered, any; the standard of other teams, taught by Notre Dame, is coming closer. We fans sometimes need a lesson in Faith. Let us both offer it for the Poor Souls. It is their month."