Father Lahey Tonight.

Few people really know how to pray. Father Lahey preaches on prayer at 7:30 this evening; Listen attentively and see how much you can improve your prayer by what you learn tonight.

What To Do With the Extra Day.

Some representative citizens were interviewed yesterday on what they intended to do on leap year's extra day. Their decisions follow:

Arrah Philbin - "Shut off the alarm and lock the door."
John Burke - "Spend it getting Philbin out of bed."
Doug Daly - "Send it back to California where a day is a day."
Tom Carey - "Go to morning prayer."
T. E. Boyle - "Spend it looking for Berthiaume."
Jack Cannon - "Eat."
Francis Dayton - "Catch up on Accounting."
Bob Brennan - "Argue."
Jerry McGill - "Take off two more pounds."
Moon Mullins - "Look around for a new roommate."
Ed McMahan - "Study."
Freddie Collins - "Breakfast in bed."
Bart McHugh - "Sell out."
John Colerick - "Play the organ for Benediction."
Sam Richards - "Shave."

Don't Be So Ignorant.

The Hotel Monthly is out with 27 pages devoted to the Notre Dame dining halls. This magazine is the official organ of the Hotel Men's Association. Its estimate of the layout and service should carry weight. The article is done by the editor, who spent a day in intensive study of the problem. His conclusion is that the facilities and management are unsurpassed, and that hotel men and restaranteurs will do well to study the plan worked out here.

But in spite of the superlatives of an impartial connoisseur there will always be ignorant kickers, and there will always be sheep to follow them. Someone has the bad manners to turn up his nose at something the next fellow is eating and call it unfit; the latter loses his nerve and stops eating lest he be thought ignorant. Someone starts a yelp and the whole house takes it up.

It is neither good manners nor good Christianity to crab the food. Whether you know it or not you are well taken care of; and your mothers would say so if they had an opportunity to see for themselves. And Lent is a time for restraint of tongue and palate and stomach. The Church enjoins a rest it knows you need.

Prayers.

Arthur Erra, who left school a week ago, underwent an operation yesterday. E. B. Soules, a student of last year, asks prayers for his mother who has recently undergone a serious operation. Eugene Raymond's grandmother is quite ill. John Driscoll, a graduate of last year, is reported dangerously ill. Two other sick persons, a deceased friend, and three special intentions are recommended. Al Taylor's mother is quite ill.

One More Reminder.

Think of your mother now.
