

Death May Come Suddenly.

Bill Daily, of the campus police force, was killed some time Monday night, apparently by a street car. His body was found along the road Tuesday morning. He will be buried Thursday. Your prayers are requested for the repose of his soul. He was a cheerful fellow and popular, and had many friends among the students. He was formerly a janitor in Walsh and Morrissey Halls.

Death may come suddenly. That lesson must be pounded home. The first reports received on the campus stated that the victim was a student -- and the night before, at Rosary Devotions, we had just begun to pray that no student would die this year! And it might have been a student. Three students were struck by automobiles on the roads about the campus last year; last night three more narrowly escaped injury as they walked along the road where cars belong.

There was only one object lying on Bill Daily's desk when it was visited yesterday morning, his little "Key to Heaven." That is a beautiful omen. (Students who knew him and wish to make offerings for Masses or flowers may leave them with their rectors.) From his death learn the following lessons:

1. Don't walk on the road.
2. Be always prepared to die.

The Little Flower Blessings.

As announced yesterday, blessings with the relic of the Little Flower will be given in the Sorin chapel all this morning, and in the church after Benediction this afternoon.

Rosary Devotions.

The Rosary Devotions will be held at five this afternoon and every afternoon during the month of October, except Saturdays, when the hour will be 12:30, and Sundays, when it will be 7:30 p.m. Bear in mind that the first nine days of the month are given to a petition for student health -- that no student will die this year.

What Hour the Mass?

A request for the 7:30 Mass to be moved up to 7:20 has been submitted to a vote of interested students, through the medium of a ballot placed at the door of the Sorin Hall chapel. The results yesterday were as follows:

For a 7:15 Mass.....5
For a 7:20 Mass.....16
For a 7:30 Mass.....6

The seven o'clock Mass in Sorin, which began Monday, has proved popular.

Prayers.

Gerald Desmond is resting satisfactorily after his operation Monday night. A Mrs. Flanagan, of Chicago, died Sunday; prayers for the repose of her soul have been requested by several students. Sister Louis is still quite ill. Two special intentions and two deceased persons are recommended to your prayers. Chas. Baumann's grandmother died a few days ago in an auto accident.

General Confession.

If you feel that you want to make a general confession, ask your confessor about it.
