
Keep Praying For Coach Rockne.

You found Saturday's game hard on your nerves: imagine, then, what it meant to the man who made that team the greatest in the country today. The nervous strain told on Coach Rockne, and he will appreciate your prayers for continued improvement. There are two more hurdles to cross before he will take time out to receive the hospital attention he needs. That's devotion.

A Quiz On Matrimony.

The following questions are proposed to Catholics in the current issue of your Bishop's paper, Our Sunday Visitor. See how many of them you can answer:

1. Does the Catholic Church recognize the marriage of Protestants?
2. Can a Catholic be married validly by a Justice of the Peace or a Protestant minister?
3. Is a civil divorce with the right of re-marriage recognized by Almighty God?
4. If not, is the union during the life time of the person's first partner a marriage at all?
5. Does the Bible allow absolute divorce in any case?
6. Does the Catholic Church ever allow separation through the court, without the privilege of re-marrying?
7. You have heard of Catholics marrying again after a separation. Can you think of a case where this is permissible?
8. Can the Pope annul a marriage which was valid from the beginning?
9. What are some of the grounds upon which a declaration of nullity is based?
10. May a divorced non-Catholic marry again, provided he becomes a Catholic and marries a Catholic?
11. Is a marriage between two unbaptized persons as indissoluble as one between two baptized persons?
12. What do you think of a Catholic woman who keeps company with a divorced man or vice versa?
13. Is a person permitted to keep steady company with any person whom he is not permitted to marry or whom he does not intend to marry?

This is a very sensible list of questions, which every informed Catholic should be able to answer. If you need information on any of them, notify the Bulletin and the correct answer will be published.

Get A Picture For Your Room.

Last Friday's Bulletin would make an excellent decoration for your room, as well as a sound reminder that ingratitude to your Redeemer is a base sin. This picture, and others from previous Bulletins, are available at the pamphlet rack.

PRAYERS: Two sick persons, two deceased, three special intentions. Several persons who lost heavily in the recent stock flurry ask your prayers. The father of the Sidenfaden boys, alumni, died Friday. Frank Pender, '27, is very ill.
