David Goldstein This Afternoon.

At 4:15 this afternoon David Goldstein, famous Catholic lecturer on socialism and communism, and himself a convert from both Judaism and socialism, will lecture from his travelling platform and library - an interesting car in which he makes the rounds on his lecture tours. His car will be parked in front of the University Library. Students who are free at this time should not miss this opportunity to hear Mr. Goldstein, who is doing a unique work in the propagation of Catholic doctrine, on the one hand, and in combatting communism, on the other.

Thanks - Many Thanks.

Under date of Sept. 23, an alumnus writes: "Besides spiritual help the Boy Guidance graduate mentioned in the Religious Bulletin of September 21 certainly deserves material backing." And he enclosed a check for five dollars, which will be forwarded soon. The Bulletin extends thanks in its own name and in the name of the ultimate recipient of this backing.

All of which reminds us that we are behind in our acknowledgements. "Bozo", a frequent contributor to the poor last year, overcame his prejudice against the foreign missions by commencement time, and left five dollars for Bengal "or any other good cause." It went to Bengal - as did ten dollars from a Seattle alumnus, who during the summer duplicated an offering he made last fall. Another dollar for Bengal came in since registration - in payment of a promise made during the June examinations, when a student got into a tight pinch on a certain question. Finally, we acknowledge with thanks the third Sunday collection of $120 or so, which has been credited to Bengal.

We also make belated acknowledgement of some $96 for the Dillon Hall chapel which was received at the end of the last school year - $48 and some cents of which came from students of the hall last year in contributions to the rector, the rest coming from the following contributors: the Senior Class, $33.60; the Grand Rapids Club, $5.10; individual contributors, $10. This money will be used to pay for the crucifix and candlesticks for the Cure of Ars altar, which is used for the frequent distribution of Holy Communion throughout the morning.

Another gift, this time of $200, came from an alumnus at commencement. It will be used for the first stained glass window in the Dillon Hall chapel. All we need now is 17 more windows. Two other alumni have promised to pay for stations for this chapel, the cost of which will be approximately $30 each. The stations desired are wood carvings from Oberammergau; a sample which has met with much favorable comment is on display in the office of the Prefect of Religion, 117 Dillon Hall.

Have we forgotten anyone? If so, we will appreciate having our attention called to the matter.

Rosary Clubs.

The suggestion offered at Mass yesterday is repeated here: if any students wish to form groups for the recitation of the rosary every night during the month of October, they may get together through the office of the Prefect of Religion. There will be public rosary devotions daily during the month, but there is something beautiful and inspiring about the private common recitation; it recalls good Catholic family life. PRAYERS: Deceased - the grandmother of Dick ('32) and Fran Oelrich; James Forrest's father; the father of Al Roach, '31; three friends of students; a priest's mother. Ill - an old West Point friend of Rookne (dying); two friends of students; a friend of a priest. Four special intentions.
