For a Great Notre Dame President.

Father Cavanaugh belonged to the Wranglers' Club, often took part in its activities. The Wranglers, to show appreciation, asked that the 8 o'clock Mass yesterday be offered for him.

Unfortunately, previous arrangements made it impossible. The Mass, however, will be said in the Dillon Hall Chapel tomorrow morning, at 7:15.

A guard of honor will be maintained in the University parlors, until the funeral, by the Wranglers, and by the local Fourth-Degree Knights of Columbus in full regalia. Father Cavanaugh, in his latter years, had also made warm friends among the K. of C's.

Office of the Dead for Father Cavanaugh will begin at 9:00 tomorrow morning. The funeral Mass will be at 9:45. No class all morning. Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament begins at 1 p.m.

It would be a splendid act of loyalty and of Notre Dame charity if students would offer Mass and Holy Communion tomorrow morning for Father Cavanaugh's soul.

A Protestant Minister's Tribute.

The Rev. Charles A. Thompson, South Bend minister, recently had a leg amputated and awaits now a second operation for the removal of his other leg. In this condition he writes Jim Costin, sports editor of the South Bend News-Times, the following letter:

"Dear Sir:--I enjoy reading your articles in the News-Times, and followed each article you wrote about the late Joseph Sullivan. One thing you wrote about him was that he was invited by a friend to go out for an evening's entertainment, and when he saw what kind of an entertainment it was he reached for his hat and coat and left. To me, that in itself goes to show he was a very clean-cut fellow, and would make me love and respect him. With all of his Notre Dame friends, I want to express my love and sympathy to his parents and all his relatives, and to say out of the depth of my heart that I know his soul will rest in peace. As you have said, he was loyal and true to 'Our Lady of the Lake,' and I am quite sure she was hovering around during his illness to guide and protect him. I hope we all can feel and know that he has fought a good fight and kept the faith.

"Yours sincerely,

"Charles A. Thompson."

Say a prayer that Our Lady may bless and comfort this noble minister in his own trying misfortune. And never forget that momentous lesson which Joe Sullivan taught you only a few weeks before God took his soul.

Feast of the Annunciation.

Today is the feast of the Incarnation of Our Lord in the womb of the Virgin Mary. It is the day that commemorates the coming of divinity to humanity for the salvation of the world. Did you think of this staggering fact at your Mass and Holy Communion this morning? Have you congratulated your heavenly Mother on the great honor that God conferred upon her?

PRAYERS: Deceased, father of William Roach '29; friend of student, Ill, uncle of Prof. Paul Bartholomew; mother of Ed Krusic (Off-Campus); cousin of Ray Oakos (Walsh). Five special intentions.
