Exams Are Coming!

Don't say it, everyone knows already, that you're tired, run down and need plenty of sleep. It's what old-fashioned people call spring fever.

But the late Easter this year leaves you less than a month before exams. And a month, especially a Spring month, is short time to catch up on duties and reviews.

Every day, every hour, you waste now you'll regret in the even balmy May days just before exams. Better snap out of it and get down to work without the preamble.

May Adoration

Here are some student comments on daily adoration, taken at random from the latest Religious Survey:

- "Daily adoration is one of my highly-valued devotions."
- "I got great benefits from adoration here at Notre Dame."
- "I think such devotion is a means of strength."
- "I would like daily adoration for the entire school year."
- "Adoration gives me a half-hour a week to stop and think."
- "There's nothing so soothing as a half-hour with our King."
- "I think daily adoration is one of the finest of Notre Dame devotions."
- "It helps solve many problems."

Promoters for May adoration will canvass the halls tomorrow and Friday. They have undertaken this work for your convenience. Do them the courtesy of signing up your adoration cards as promptly as possible.

Try to fill out some cards for the afternoon periods. They are most likely to be neglected during the balmy month of May.

All cards should be returned to the Prefect of Religion's office by Saturday night.

Some intentions for May adoration: every-day fidelity (especially during the summer) to Mary's ideals; true peace among nations; success in the final examinations; good positions after Commencement for seniors, and for others who need work; economic improvement throughout the country.

The Holy Father's Triduum.

A triduum of Masses and prayers has been announced by the Holy Father to commemorate the closing of the extended Holy Year.

The faithful of all nations are asked to join together in this triduum in imploring God to enlighten the minds of those who rule the countries of the world.

Next Friday, Saturday, and Sunday are the three days designated by the Most Reverend Bishop of Fort Wayne for the observance of this triduum within this diocese. Offer your Mass and Holy Communion on these three days for the intention of the triduum.

Special services for the triduum will be announced in tomorrow's Bulletin.

PRAYERS: Deceased: Henry G. Clarke, '12; uncle of Henry Gannon '34; aunt of Edward Dahill (Dillon). Ill: mother of Father Hope, C.S.C.; Rocco Schiralli (Sorin) appendectomy; Bob Weaver (St. Eds.). Five special intentions.
