Change...Change...Change.

Charley Hodierne's Day will be Friday instead of Saturday. Everybody on the campus hear Mass and offer Holy Communion for Charley. The mission Mass Friday will be for him.

For the Team.

Saturday morning the mission Mass will be for the team. It's an old Notre Dame custom for the entire student body to hear Mass and receive Holy Communion for the coaches and players on the mornings of the games.

For Doctor Powers.

The seven-o'clock Mass Sunday will be for Doctor Powers. Unite your intention at Mass and Holy Communion Sunday morning with that of the celebrant of the seven-o'clock Mass.

Nose Around!

There's a pamphlet rack--always open--in Dillon, another in Sorin.

Crucifixes, rosaries, prayer books, varieties of religious literature, are always kept in stock.

If you can't find what you want, inquire at the Prefect of Religion's Office, 117 Dillon between 7 and 12 any morning, or between 8 and 10 any night.

Sacred Heart badges, scapular medals, and sissy chains, St. Joseph's cords, Eucharistic Calendars, working schedules, extra Bulletins, can be had for the asking at 117 Dillon Hall.

No charge for anything. This service is maintained by the Sunday collections and by your voluntary contributions at the pamphlet racks.

Gloomy Religion.

....."I don't imagine you would recognize me by my new signature--a signature of which I am very proud, because it has brought the habit of religion, a spiritual consolation that I guess only religious can fully appreciate, and with it a happiness and peace of mind that I have never known before....."

....."What I cannot understand, and I guess it is a puzzle to all young religious, is why I did not discover the secret before, because like so many other secrets, it isn't a secret at all. I believe our late, beloved Father John expressed it simply as: 'star-eyed faith, which finds in simple hearts and simple living the secret of laughter and the wells of joy.'"

....."I owe no little of my vocation, and hence my happiness, to Notre Dame and to the graciousness of Our Blessed Mother. It is a generosity that I wholly undeserve, but that is what comes of having a Mother who is a Queen."

....."Again my sincer good wishes to you for this new school year. Notre Dame is ever in my prayers. I need yours badly, too, so as not to throw away my pearl of great price."
