OBJECTIONS TO FATHERS' NOVENA—WITH ANSWERS

I owe my father all upkeep and opportunity between the cradle and commencement; but it's so hard to get up in the morning.
Answer: Oh.

My father needs my prayers, it's true; but he's dead. Answer: Oh.

EDITORIAL ON SPRING

Nobody's gonna cheat old pioneer Sigfried out of his allotted cuts. Nobody, nohow.

Sigfried has saved up for the Spring cutting—and gory it will be.

But watch out, Sigfried; have a care m'fran! The ax you wield is hard to manipulate.

At the least expected moment it may sink into Sigfried's neck!

OUR LADY'S MONTH IS NEAR

Canvassers started today to cover all the halls for May Adoration. They have a big job on their hands. Make up your mind now how many periods of Adoration you will sign for, and, when you are approached, sign promptly as many cards as you possibly can. Your cooperation will save time, trouble, and expense.

Thanks to the efforts of this same group of canvassers—and to your cooperation—Lenten Adoration was conducted this year, for the first time, without a single gap having to be published in the Bulletin. That's a record.

Your cooperation once again, please, for May; and we will have similar results.

HAVE IT OVER WITH!

If the next Student's Survey is to be representative, we must have 300 more questionnaires—20 more from each of the Halls, and three times that many from Off-Campus students. Here are the numbers, according to Halls, of questionnaires so far turned in:

Off-Campus	4	Walsh	23	Badin	33	Corby	39	Brownson	51
Sorin	18	Carroll	26	St. Edward's	34	Freshman	41	Dillon	60
Howard	21	Alumni	33	Lyons	37	Morrissey	46

What do you, personally, get out of answering the questionnaire? Maybe as much as one junior who returned his yesterday with the following comment: "I'm sorry, Father, that I waited so long. Now that I have answered the questionnaire I believe that its searching analysis benefits me more than it can possibly benefit anybody else. It covers just about everything."

A limited number of blanks are provided at the Dillon and Sorin Pamphlet Racks, and at the Prefect of Religion's office. Cease using them for souvenirs! Get a blank, sit down today and fill it out. Let's not putter around all Spring!

A PRIEST COMES HOME!

A Holy Cross priest, Father Boyle, lies today in St. Joseph's Hospital, half-paralyzed, waiting for death. All he asks is to be buried at Notre Dame. To help realize his wishes, two nurses accompanied him all the way from Portland, Oregon. He is President out there—and a highly successful one—of the University of Portland. Previously, he was head of the Holy Cross Mission Band and a prominent leader in the Lay Retreat movement.

Father Boyle used every energy and talent that God gave him, to do the work of the priest—conscientiously and with distinction. In the full power of middle age he has been hopelessly stricken. How he might lament! But he is happy and grateful to be home, to die at Notre Dame which he loves. God could spare Father Boyle. Please give him a special place in your prayers.
