

MAY OPENING--Friday night,
7 and 7:30. Fr. Carroll, editor of Ave Maria, to preach.

University of Notre Dame
Religious Bulletin
April 29, 1937.

You can still start a Novena for your Mother tomorrow or, even, Saturday.

Mother.

You used to bind my finger with a string
Some mornings when you kissed me at the door,
That after school I might not fail to bring
Those little things you wanted from the store;
Sometimes I lost the string when out at play,
Sometimes I purposely untied the knot,
But at the end of almost every day
I somehow had to tell you I forgot.

Long years have passed since then. I can't recall
The House in which we lived, the neighborhood;
I scarce remember the old school at all
That glistened poppy-red beside the wood;
But through those long, long years of broken bliss
I still can taste the sweetness of your kiss.
(By Rev. Thomas E. Burke, O.S.C., in the Ave Maria.)

From Sleepin Missit's Sister
(After Mother's Day.)

Dear Sleepin:

...Mrs. Smithson was over today. She brought with her the Novena Card that Billy sent her for Mother's Day. Two-thirds of the students, she said, made Novenas for their mothers.

Mom seemed embarrassed. But all she said was: "What a beautiful tribute for any boy to pay to his mother!"

Gee, Sleepin, I know you never passed up our mother if two-thirds of those fellows didn't neglect theirs. But how can I explain it to her?...

Your loving sister,
Nevere Missit.

There is only one way for the League to accomplish this end. That way is for everyone who is interested to send all the subversive literature that he is able to procure to the League.....The League hopes that you will cooperate in this attempt to combat Communism....Please address all communications to:

Three Never Will Return.

Remember, three things come not back:
The arrow sent upon its track--
It will not swerve, it will not stay
Its speed; it flies to wound, or slay;
The spoken word so soon forgot
By thee; but it has perished not;
In other hearts 'tis living still
And doing work for good or ill;
And the lost opportunity
That cometh back no more to thee.
In vain you weep, in vain you yearn,
Those three will never more return.
