

Ill, Mr. W. Heidelberg;
George Stoeffel; sister of
Frank Clarke (Dillon)...

University of Notre Dame
Religious Bulletin
November 5, 1937

...Mrs. Frank C. Walker
(appendectomy); father of
Ed. Phelan Jr. (Badin).

-----
Leonard Casassa And Your Prayers.

Leonard's recovery depends on your prayers. He knows of your Communion, attendance at Mass and Adoration for him and sends this message with his gratitude, "Ask the boys to keep on praying." Don't let him down!

Spirit Means Get Up.

Three qualities are almost perfectly present in the man of spirit. One is loyalty. Judas Iscariot, arch-traitor, must have been a sallow pessimist, stingy and begrudging, unable to warm up to any person or cause. Judas Iscariot couldn't have had many friends.

If he were on the campus tomorrow morning he would roll over and take more sleep when the rest hopped out for the team. Outwardly appearing loyal, Judas would really say inside, "Let the team take care of itself."

Small wizened souls don't possess generosity. They are too calculating about spending themselves. If Shylock were on the campus tomorrow morning he would roll over and take more sleep as the rest hopped out for the team. Shylock's alibi would be, "My help won't make much difference one way or the other."

Some, loyal and generous by nature, are too easy-going and pleasure-loving to be men of spirit. They are experts in following the line of least resistance. They can't be depended upon in the clutch. If Aristippus the hedonist were on the campus tomorrow morning he would roll over and take more sleep as the rest hopped out for the team. Aristippus would apologize: "I'd like to do it, but this morning it's just too tough."

If you're interested in your capacity for making and holding friends, measure that capacity by your spirit. Are you loyal, generous, self-sacrificing? This will be the proof: you will, at all costs, get up and be in the chapel praying hard in the morning for that team which in the afternoon will fight it out on the field.

For Visiting Any Cemetery.

For the eight-day period following the feast of All Souls (Nov. 2) you may gain a plenary indulgence once each day for visiting a cemetery and praying, even mentally, for the Poor Souls. This indulgence is applicable to the Poor Souls only.

Any day of the year that you devoutly visit a cemetery and pray for the faithful departed you may gain a partial indulgence of seven years, applicable to the Poor Souls only.

Conditions: a. be in the state of grace; b. receive Holy Communion; c. say six Our Fathers, six Hail Marys, and six Glory-be-to-the-Fathers for the intention of the Holy Father.

Announcement; Correction.

The first copies of Arnold Lunn's new pamphlet, "Spain And The Christian Front" have just reached the campus. Get a copy and read it carefully for a good understanding of the present war in Spain.

Mr. Lunn draws our attention to a misprint which he failed to correct in the proof. On page 7, line 7, the printers transposed the inverted commas. The quotation from Lenin on lines 4 and 5 begins and ends "We must build up Communism with non-Communist hands." The next sentence is Mr. Lunn's, not Lenin's.

PRAYERS: Ill, George Belting; mother of John Coakley; grandmother of Russel Harris.