

Confessions and Communion every morning 7:00 to 9:00 and "late" Mass at 7:20...

University of Notre Dame Religious Bulletin October 24, 1939

Evening confessions-- 7:30 to 9:45.  Informal Inquiry Class, Tues. 6:30 PM

DON'T BE A STRANGER.

Maps fill the newspapers these days, so here's one showing where the Assistant Prefect of Religion for this section of the campus is-- Room 107 Cavanaugh (with hours listed in corners above). Come on over if you want medals, rosaries, pamphlets or wish to unload some worry, whether you are a Catholic or non-Catholic.....

TO "HUDDLE"

Also at 107 Cavanaugh is your library which your collections partly paid for. Every Tuesday evening, 6:30 to 7:30, there are informal sessions for oral or written questions on religious and ethical problems.

Lightning Bug Piety.

That's what one priest of long experience with freshmen wisecracked about you. "Spiritually," he said, "they're a bunch of lightning bugs. They burst bright for a while, then went out cold." And true enough, you have the lowest Communion record for any freshman class in years.

That doesn't apply to St. Ed's, of course. They haven't even a flicker yet! On arrival in September, with few exceptions, they wrapped themselves, cocoon-fashion, in engineering and art blankets and are still there. Hope they'll roll out for us.

Light Up And With It Down.

And so it is. They'll be extra for freshmen, too, in June. They've said they'll be... daily, then, joining from the play-boy atmosphere in the halls, still in milk... of... with... in the dead of night... and... out... to work, spiritually and... from the God-man, Christ, in daily Communion with... and... The state of grace is the thing that counts!

May God bless you -- and put you to work. Yours, John P. Lynch C.S.B.
